WHAT CAN YOU DO?

On one occasion the writer was present when a young man presented himself to the manager of a show and said he wanted to be employed to go with the show. 'All right,' said the manager, 'we wish to add some new features—what can you do?' This question startled the young man, who stood for a moment in silence, and then replied by the question, 'What do you want me to do?'

How applicable to the case of the average young man in this instance. 'What can you do?' is a question most of them have never asked themselves, nor will they do so until they are informed by parties to whom they apply for jobs that they are not teaching, but practicing their business and wish none but specialists in it.

Young man, 'what can you do?' What have you studied, and what is your specialty? Parents, what can your sons and daughters do, that they may earn livings, and demand of the individual, or the world, good jobs or good wages? You may have sent them to school, that is a part of your duty, but it is only a means to an end, and will not answer the question. What can your girl or boy do? Are you learning them a trade? Are you schooling them in the line of business they are to follow? If not, who is to do so? Will it ever be done, before they are faced with the question. What is your specialty? 'What can you do?' This is the question of all questions and will be sure to present itself. People having jobs to give, will remind your boys that it is men with specialties wanted; and that they spent one, two, five or twenty years to earn the positions they apply to fill.

Pleasant manners go a long ways toward carrying a person through the world. Without them the more solid qualities are rarely appreciated at their true value. It has been said of a brave North Carolina soldier that his weak point was a lack of gentleness, and if he had not been deficient in that particular he might have won the highest renown. A man of superb intellect in one of our Southern States failed for years to realize his ambition on account of his coldness. Nothing could be said against him, but his manners were not popular. He is now spoken of as one of the courtliest of men. But it is almost impossible for some men to be pleasant—it is not in them. They don't mean to be unpleasant. They should be judged charitably.

It May Do as Much for You. Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a Severe Kidney Trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so called Kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure of all Kidney and Liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50c. for large bottle. At John L. Wooten's Drug Store.

A Story About Sam Jones.

An unusual incident occurred at the close of Sam Jones' sermon at Palaski the other day. Stepping down from the pulpit, folding his hands across his breast and looking solemnly over the audience, the great revivalist said: 'I want all the women in this crowd who have not spoken a harsh word or harbored an unkind thought toward their husbands for a month past to stand up.'

One old woman, apparently on the shady side of 60, stood up. 'Come forward and give me your hand,' said the preacher. The woman did so, whereupon Jones said: 'Now turn around and let this audience see the best looking woman in the county.'

Charles Broadway Rous, the ex-Confederate millionaire of New York, has addressed a circular letter to all the Confederate camps in the South, suggesting a plan for preserving the records, relics and mementoes of the Southern struggle for independence.

Kindness is that gloriously tuned heart which God places in human hearts and when rightly touched by gentle fingers it breathes those imperishable melodies, which listening angels hear with rapture and delight.

John Sherman says he is not inclined to believe the recent Republican victory will be permanent, and does not regard the result as an endorsement of the McKinley bill. He does not favor any great increase of duties.

The estimate of the cotton crop made on Change in Charleston varies from 6,000,000 to 10,000,000 bales.

Good Advice For Greenville.

In setting down to business for the winter it should be the duty of all to bend every energy for the advancement of our town and county. There is something for us all to be doing, and if every one will do his or her part, we can accomplish much. Bury all political differences and petty jealousies, and join hands in the spiritual, moral and financial welfare of our town. There is much to be done. One, two or three cannot do anything, nor can a dozen. It will take us all. We have too many fainthearted people who have no confidence in the town, the people, or themselves for that matter. Too many of us are trying to make all, and in our attempts to be selfish we are losing more than we are making. We do not in the start expect any great things, with the return of prosperity, coupled with the many advantages of our town and county, we are bound to accomplish something. We have been imitating Micawber long enough. Instead of waiting for something to turn up, let us put our shoulders to the wheel and make something turn up. Think on these things, and by a calm reflection you will find that there is nothing to be made by holding back. When one man makes a step forward, get behind him and push him on instead of pulling him back. Burn up the dry goods boxes and make fires out of them and stop whittling your time away.—Durham Sun.

Rev. J. W. Wheeler, of this city, received a telegram last night announcing the death of his father, Rev. Joseph H. Wheeler, in Charleston, S. C.

Mr. Wheeler was born in Newark, N. J., September 17, 1810. He came South at 13 years of age, going to Charleston, S. C., and from there to Camden, where he married Miss Anna Warren in 1832. He entered the ministry and joined the South Carolina Conference in 1834, was transferred to the North Carolina Conference in 1850 and was stationed at Fayetteville. He continued in active service until the close of 1883, when he took a superannuated relation, returning to Charleston where he has since resided with his daughter, Mrs. H. T. McGee. His active life in the ministry covered a period of 50 years.

This grand old man of God 'Father' Wheeler, as everybody loved to call him, has led many to know the Saviour, and as his pure spirit passed from earth to the presence of the King, one can imagine hearing the greeting coming from Him who sits on the throne, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord.'—Charlotte Chronicle.

Good temper is the philosophy of the heart—a gem in the treasury within whose rays are reflected on all outward objects—a perpetual sunshine imparting warmth, light and life to all within the sphere of its influence.

John Sherman says he is not inclined to believe the recent Republican victory will be permanent, and does not regard the result as an endorsement of the McKinley bill. He does not favor any great increase of duties.

STATE NEWS. Things Mentioned in our State. Changes are of General Interest. The Cream of the News.

The annual meeting of the North Carolina State Grange will be held at Lasker, N. C., December 11th.

A convict just arrived at the penitentiary is 70 years old, and gets five years for horse-stealing. He is white.

Superintendent Leazer says the decline in cotton means a loss of $3,000 to the penitentiary, which is mostly supported by the State farms.

Washington Gazette: On Monday night last Mr. John Perry, of Old Ford, lost his barn and its entire contents by fire. Supposed to be of incendiary origin.

The Patron and Gleaner says that a few days ago two little sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wade were drowned in a pond in Northampton county. The boys were aged 10 and 7 years.

The N. C. Board of Pharmacy will meet in the city of Raleigh on Wednesday, Dec. 12th, 1894, at 9 o'clock A. M. for the examination of such candidates for license to practice pharmacy as may appear.

A fire at Marion, N. C., Sunday week, destroyed every business house but one. A drunken negro, a match and a cigarette did the work. It originated in an old frame building known as 'the ark.' Loss, about $100,000.

The Newton Enterprise says that Mr. D. P. Yount, of Catawba, has raised this year 1124 bushels of corn on one and a half acres of bottom land, and that Mr. M. M. Cline, of the same county, made this year a corn crop of 3,440 bushels.

Old Fort Johnson, at Southport, which up to the end of the war was a fortification, has again passed under the control of the War Department. The first fort was built there in 1740. It was at this place that the first Confederate flag seen in North Carolina was hoisted in April, 1861.

Goldsboro Headlight: We learn that the grist mill and gin-house of Mr. Robert Moore, in Brogden township, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning together with about 15 bales of cotton. We could not hear of any insurance on the burnt property, nor the origin of the fire.

Charlotte Observer: Mr. W. D. Smith is a farmer of this county. He has a pretty good record, one hard to beat. With one mule he made 20 bales of cotton, plenty of corn and turnips, and sweet potatoes in abundance. His son, a lad of eight years, also can make a good showing in the cotton picking line. He averaged 125 pounds a day.

An amusing instance of a person who took the local Republican speakers at their word before the election, when they told their hearers that wages would be higher in the event of Republican success, is told by an Owensboro, Ky., paper. The chief female colored cook at the Owens House, as soon as Republican success was assured after the election, made a demand on the landlady for an increase of wages, remarking that she was told by the Republican speakers that Republican triumph meant higher wages. She didn't get an increase. Nor is any one else likely to get an increase by reason of Republican success. These promises will act as a boomerang to knock the promisers' own heads, likely as not.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, and in this way positively cures catarrh.

An Old Craze Breaks out Again.

The Second Adventists are putting in their work in the new State of Washington.

Many people around Tacoma have become convinced that the United States will be destroyed by revolution and fire inside of a few days, and that the entire world will be destroyed inside of a year.

Two Adventists are organizing a colony at Tacoma to fly to British Columbia before the trouble comes. They say that the United States will be destroyed first but that all who leave the country will be temporarily saved. Later all the people of the world will be destroyed except 12,000 of each of the twelve tribes of Israel, who will be caught up in the clouds while the earth is devastated, and will afterwards be allowed to return and inhabit it.

The teachings of these cranks have caused many families to destroy their pictures, bric-a-brac and furniture and other articles which they cannot carry off in their flight. The craze is said to be widespread, and the people are very much excited.

It is pressing strange that people should give themselves up to such delusions in this enlightened age, but in every generation prophets appear who predict the speedy end of the world, and they always find followers. Any man with the gift of gab who is apparently in earnest can exploit the most absurd theory and find followers who will take stock in it.—Atlanta Constitution.

THE REFLECTOR
Greenville, N. C.

D. J. WHITCHARD, Editor and Proprietor

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1894

Entered at the post-office at Greenville N. C., as second-class mail matter.

During the session of the Western N. C. Conference at Statesville, last week, the Landmark issued a splendid daily edition. To say that it was fully in keeping with the weekly Landmark is high enough compliment to pay it.

That brightest and best of North Carolina daily papers, the Charlotte Observer, took its readers by surprise, last week, in greeting them arrayed in a new dress of type. The Observer is accustomed to doing nice, agreeable things.

The REFLECTOR has been approached so many times on the subject and the question asked, why don't you give Greenville a daily paper, that we have almost concluded to make a venture on a small scale, in that direction, for a while at least. The people have stood handsomely by the REFLECTOR in making it what it is to-day, and Greenville folks are the kind that usually have what they get their heads set right down on having. So if they want a daily paper they can have it—that's all that needs to be said from this side of the house. A canvass of the town will be made this week and if sufficient patronage can be secured to make a start, you need not be surprised at seeing a DAILY REFLECTOR before many days.

There is more notice abroad being taken of Greenville and her progress than people here at home are aware of. One has to go away occasionally to realize this. While in Norfolk recently we had chats with several business men of that city and the expression was almost general among them that drummers and others who travel about a good deal say there is more life and activity in Greenville than any other town in Eastern North Carolina. We have also heard men who stop here say that some others are dead towns compared to Greenville. Now this should mean something for Greenville. If it is in the lead of other towns it ought by all means to stay in the lead. The best way to do this is to have, in addition to our present interests, such enterprises established here as will draw people to town. Every family that comes here will increase the business of the community proportionally. Have the enterprises that will give people employment and there is no question about getting them here. If Greenville would take advantage of and improve the opportunities to become a great business centre that surround the town, people would come here faster than houses could be built to make homes for them. The REFLECTOR urges the business men to think on these things.

The Sunday's News and Observer states that the decision of the State Board of Canvassers in reference to counting the returns from Nash county elects Mr. Woodard Solicitor instead of Mr. Bernard. There were two documents from this county before the Board purporting to be the correct election returns from Nash county. The first was a certified copy of the returns signed by the chairman of the Board of County Canvassers and duly certified to by the Clerk of the Superior Court. The second was a copy signed by the same clerk which certified that the said clerk had ascertained that the former returns were fraudulent, and that it was not a copy of the original returns, that this copy had been stolen from his office and the fraudulent one left in its stead, and that the copy enclosed last was a true copy of the original returns. These copies differed materially as to the facts stated. The first copy signed by the chairman of the County Board of Canvassers stated that the votes cast for Bernard read—"for Solicitor of the fourth Judicial District, Claude M. Bernard."

After hearing arguments from Judge Whitaker representing Mr. Bernard and Frank S. Spruill representing Mr. Woodard the Board decided that they were compelled to accept the copy signed both by the chairman of the County Board of Canvassers and the Clerk of the Court and not the second copy signed only by the Clerk.

Cane and Sugar.
On Monday Mr. Calvin Mills, one of the best farmers of Chicod township, brought the REFLECTOR a large stalk of West Indies sugar cane and also a package of sugar made out of some of this cane. Mr. Mills obtained a seeding of the cane three years ago and has since been cultivating a small crop of it each year. He says that taking his yield as an estimate one acre in this cane will produce 572 gallons of syrup, three-fourths of which can be converted into sugar. We were surprised to see that such excellent sugar could be made right here in Pitt county. With such good results made by Mr. Mills, we think if all our farmers would put in a small crop of this cane they would find it to pay a long ways better than cotton.

The attention of the REFLECTOR readers is called to the new advertisement of Frank Wilson in this issue. He is offering his stock of Fine Clothing, Dry Goods, Shoes, &c, at greatly reduced prices and intends to close them out as nearly as possible by the first of January, 1895, to make room for spring goods.

The total number of licenses issued for the fiscal year ending Dec. 3rd, was 236.

County Commissioners.

The first Monday in June last the Magistrates of this county re-elected Council Dawson, T. E. Keel, Leonidas Fleming, Jesse L. Smith and S. A. Gainer as a Board of County Commissioners to serve two years from the first Monday in December. Since then Mr. Gainer received the appointment as Postmaster of Bethel and tendered his resignation as a Commissioner. On Monday morning the other four were sworn in by Clerk E. A. Moye, and at the election which followed the taking of the oath Council Dawson was re-elected chairman of the Board. Mr. Dawson has served as a Commissioner for sixteen years and for fourteen years of this time has been chairman. His long service shows what entire confidence the people of the county have in him and the esteem in which he is held by his fellow Commissioners. Mr. Keel has faithfully served the county for eight years, Mr. Fleming for four years and Mr. Smith for two years. The Magistrates also met Monday to fill the vacancy on the Board caused by Mr. Gainer's resignation and unanimously elected S. M. Jones as his successor. Mr. Jones qualified and entered at once upon his duties. He was one of the Democratic candidates for the Legislature at the late election and is well known to the people of the county. Pitt county can rest assured that her finances will be well guarded and faithfully administered by such capable men as compose her Board of Commissioners.

The Mistake of the South.

When the cotton states raise their own meat and breadstuffs and manufacture their own surplus raw material they will occupy a respectable position in the world of exchange. Until then they will be at the mercy of English financiers and mill owners.—New York World.
