A COINCIDENCE.

Novelists are often blamed for a too frequent use of coincidence in their works of fiction, yet in real life nothing is so common as coincidence.

LAUD.

Learn to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine. Learn how to tell a story. A well told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sick room.

True Definition of Culture.

There is a mistaken idea that "culture" means to paint a little, to sing a little, to dance a little, and to quote passages from late popular books.

What a Happy World it Would be if all Discontent were Thrown out.

Many young people complain about their work, that it is menial and beneath persons of their talents and training.

Mary M. Seely and Jason Hodges, of Provincetown, Cape Cod, were engaged to be married for forty three years.

One of the most interesting things that happened to me during my school days was the day when I was asked to give some reasonable explanation, while sitting in my office, fired out after the afternoon's shopping.

The desire for popularity is to a certain extent a laudable ambition, but it is better to have some enemies and a conscience than to stand the search light of truth than to be popular at the expense of your self-respect.

The Jackson, Miss., Clarion-Ledger reports that one Mississippian farmer produced 300 bales of cotton on 300 acres at a cost of 2 1/2 cents per pound.

If the government would put a stop to allowing $2,000 to every man who wants to contest his election, you would hereafter hear very little about contested election cases.

A Good Fit.

May He Never Die.

A man in Bay City, Mich., has written 749 poems, which are not to be published till after his death.

Some Curious Trees.

There are many vegetable wonders in this world of ours. Certain tropical trees furnish clothes as well as food, and the inner bark of others is as smooth and flexible enough for writing paper.

Boston Women Withdraw to Weep.

It is a tribute to Mr. Irving's genius that when he acted "The Story of Waterloo" the other day, so great was the emotion that men wept and women fainted.

Mrs. Grannis' "Little Brown Rose."

Mrs. Elizabeth Grannis, the advocate of rescue homes, social purity leagues, Christian temperance and dress reform, one day not long ago received a caller, who found her sitting complacently adorned by a three-months-old colored baby with kinky hair, pink face and a mouth like a heart.

Parole Felons.

Under an English law of not very old date, felons who were well behaved while in prison, and whose offenses were not of the gravest, were ticketed and given their liberty.

The Piedmont Headlight, of Sparta, N.C., one of the "reform" papers of South Carolina, and, if we are not mistaken, an Alliance organ, has this paragraph in its last issue:

Whether right or wrong makes no difference, the fact nevertheless exists that at this day every body goes to the columns of the newspaper to find out what he wants to know about politics, religion, trade and almost everything else.

Another conclusion they come to, and it is an entirely legitimate conclusion, is that a business man who has not enterprise and liberality enough to advertise his business is so close fitted that it would be dangerous to trade with him.

Don't be a Grumbler.

What a happy world it would be if all discontent were thrown out. Many young people complain about their work, that it is menial and beneath persons of their talents and training.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 6th '06.

An afternoon paper called the Star was started last week at Elizabeth City.

Mr. Moody says the Legislature will probably adjourn by the 15th of February to which the people of North Carolina would say, amen.

Something must be going wrong at Raleigh, the Legislature has not turned out a Democrat and put in a Fusionist in two or three days.

There seems to be some delay in introducing the election law and the county government bill in the Legislature. It may be that some of the fellows won't agree.

It is now hoped that the Legislature will not disturb the State Guard further than to withdraw the five thousand dollars appropriated for the encampment.

President Cleveland has sent a message to Congress in reference to the condition of the Treasury with suggestions of means of relief. Now let Congress do its part.

The financial tangle at Washington does not seem to be improving. What a pity it is that Senators cannot rise above sectional interest and legislate for the country at large.

Dr. S. A. Williams, Representative from Warren county, died last Friday morning in Raleigh. He had been very sick for some days and his death was not unexpected. In consequence of his death nothing was done by the legislature on Friday.

It is said that various counties have been sent out to the various counties to be appointed by the Legislature. Not much will be known about these lists until they are read in the Legislature but they will be "dassies."

A good part of a day was wasted in the Legislature Saturday discussing a proposition to add one woman to a school committee making it stand two men and one woman. It is surprising what ideas can enter the heads of the members of the present legislature to read the arguments advanced in favor of this proposition one would think that this would be the panacea for all the ills of the public schools.

A declaration of war is expected to be made by Mexico in a few days. She is already conscripting men. In an address to the people General Diaz said he thought the dispute with Guatemala might remain in the boundaries of diplomacy and be settled without the spilling of Mexican blood, but this did not detract from the pleasure it gave him to feel that, come what might, government and people would stand together in a common cause and for a common defense.

The Raleigh News and Observer says that in the State Senate there are 14 Baptists; 9 Methodists; 3 Disciples; 3 Quakers; 2 Lutherans; 2 Episcopalians; and 2 Presbyterians. One of the Methodists (Senator Hoover, of Wilson) is a preacher and two of the Baptists (Senator Ammons, of Madison, and Senator Norris, of Wake) are preachers. This leaves 16 not reported as church members.

Morehead City and Beaufort have for years been popular places for summer visitors, but we had no idea that the latter town was so much of a winter resort as was shown during our recent brief visit there. Quite a large number of northern sportsmen make Beaufort their headquarters and hunt in the headquarter for fifty miles around. Several were there from as far north as Canada. With such an excellent hotel as Miss Sarah Davis keeps it is no wonder that people love to go there.

Senator Moody says that the bill changing the county government is now ready and would be introduced yesterday. He says that the office of Commissioner will not be abolished but the present boards will be allowed to hold on until their terms expire. He says that the Commissioners will be elected just like members of the Legislature with this exception, that a voter instead of voting for five men will be allowed to vote five times for one man. The magistrates are to be appointed pointed as now by the Legislature. So it seems that the much "censured" boards of County Commissioners are not to be abolished. May be some credit would have been given the august body now in session in Raleigh for not doing this if Major Guthrie had not let the cat out of the bag when he said in an interview that the office of Commissioners would not be abolished because there was "constitutional impediment." The credit due them is this it seems. They don't do it because they cannot. It is a good thing that we have a constitution and it is to be hoped that this Legislature will not abolish it. However, we are daily looking for a bill to be introduced to this end.

Professional Beggars
A man with a wife and seven children moved to Winston a few days ago from Yadkin county. The husband and father called upon the chief of police and asked for help, saying that he had been reliably informed before coming that the authorities of Winston recently passed a law to take care of all the poor people living in the side of the corporate limits. The man said that he sold his farm in Yadkin and came believing that the town would take care of him and his family. Strangely to say, several families have moved to town from the country for the same purpose as the Yadkin man. They all appear to be indolent and care little about work.—Cor. News and Observer.

Greenville has also had a little experience along this line, people coming here from neighboring counties to do their begging. One man who said he had a large family was recently going around begging for money to move his family here. Greenville don't need any citizens of that character. We have plenty of our own poor to look after, without the paupers and loafing beggars of other counties being dumped down on us.

The total amount of school fund received from all sources is $13,551.37, and the amount appropriated to Districts $13,551.00. It will be seen that the Board retained only $37.37 out of the total amount this year as a contingent fund, which added to what was left over last year out of this fund gives the Board sufficient for their expenses another year. Last year the amount apportioned was nearly a thousand dollars more than the previous year, and this year is a thousand dollars more than last. We doubt if another Board in the State can make a better showing according to the amount of money received.

The REFLECTOR has received from the Cone Export and Commission Co. of New York, a lead pencil that we prize very highly. The pencil is a mammoth one, twelve inches long, nearly an inch in diameter and mounted with a large metal cap. The Cone Company are the largest cotton millers in the country. Mr. Gaston Heilbronner, who is a brother of our townsman, Mr. Larry Heilbronner, has a position with them.

During last week the Register of Deeds issued only four marriage licenses, three for white couples and one for colored. They were Johnnie Branch and Laura Hare, John Gladson and Emma Hardy, J. K. Gregory and Dora Davenport, Dim Ward and Jennie Hall.
The total number issued during the month of January was nineteen for white couples and fifteen for colored couples.

Masquerade Party.

The party Tuesday night, under auspices of Miss Jennie James and Lillie Cherry was a perfect success. In fact we do not remember one where there was more genuine fun. The grand march was started about 8:30 o'clock led by Misses Lillie Cherry and Jennie J. James and Messrs. W. B. James and R. D. Cherry. The surprises were many when they unmasked and some of the costumes were beautiful. The following are the maskers:

It is Needed.
At this meeting of the Board of Commissioners' recommendations were presented that were embodied in the reports of the Solicitor and Foreman of the Grand Jury at the last term of Court, urging the necessity of providing a vault for the protection and safe keeping of the books and records in the offices of the Clerk and Register of Deeds. The Board could take no action in the matter, as to build a vault would require an outlay larger than can be made without the concurrence of the Magistrates of the county.

TOBACCO PLANTERS AND FARMERS OF PITT AND GREENE.

The planting season is again at hand and the question that is of most interest to you is what shall I plant, where shall I plant it, and how shall I plant it. After determining what to plant and when to plant, it is of equal importance how you plant and cultivate. From past experience it is conceded by all that no land will make a good crop unless properly cultivated, and that a judicious use of commercial Fertilizer pays on the lands in this section. It is with much pleasure and satisfaction that we offer for sale the following High Grade and Reliable Brands of Fertilizers named below. The past results from their use being endorsed by the leading farmers in this section justify us in saying they are all well adapted to our soil. We will sell for CASH or on TIME upon usual terms, and we believe we can give you a better grade of goods as cheap or cheaper than you can buy elsewhere. We offer for your consideration and choice the following well established brands of Fertilizers:

National Tobacco Fertilizer.

As a moderate priced fertilizer is equal by few and excelled by none. These goods have been thoroughly tested the past four seasons for Tobacco and in no case has it failed to give entire satisfaction. It is also good for Potatoes.

Capital Tobacco Fertilizer.

Not including a few brands of fertilizer made especially for early truck, this is the richest, highest grade brand of goods offered for sale in the State and is made especially for Tobacco.

Farmers Alliance Official.

It is useless to speak of the merits of this well-known brand as it was made by a formula selected by some of the leading farmers of the State and has been thoroughly tested. We can sell you these goods for $23.50 cash or 8 per cent. interest payable November 1st. A reasonable discount for spot cash in car lots.

Pocomoke Guano.

It is too well-known all over the State to need any recommendation at our hands. It has been tested on all crops and never found wanting. It is one of the best Potato fertilizer on the market and for Cotton it stands at the head of the list.

Beef, Blood & Bone Fertilizer.

This brand of goods as its name implies is composed of animal flesh, blood and bone and all farmers know these contain the best fertilizing properties of anything known.

FREEMAN'S HIGH GRADE IRISH POTATO GROWER.

This goods is for trucking and contains 7 per cent. ammonia, and for reference you may ask most any potato planter east, for all who have tried it wish it again.

DURHAM BULL FERTILIZER.

A new fertilizer that comes in this section highly endorsed by tobacco men from Winston and other sections of this State and is manufactured by the Durham Fertilizer Company.

PERUVIAN MIXTURE FERTILIZER.

The Coming Fair.

NEWBERN, N. C., Jan. 30.—This city is making extensive preparation for the coming fair, and the progress so far made indicates that it is going to be the best exhibit the Association has yet made. I have just had a long talk with the enterprising secretary, Mr. Charles Reizenstein, and he tells me a great many new and interesting attractions have been secured. The exhibits will be numerous and varied, and the racing will be fine. The railroads will give lower excursion rates than for any of the former fairs which will greatly increase the crowd. Everything points to a good fair. D.

THE MODERN BICYCLE.

The Story of its Invention by the Two Michaux.

A monument has recently been erected at Bar-le-Duc to the two Michaux, father and son, who are credited with the invention of the modern bicycle. The Petit Lyonnais, Lyons, tells the story of the invention as follows:

"The Michaux had a small locksmith shop in Paris. One day a bizarre machine was given them to repair—a small saddle resting on a snake-like frame and holding together two light wheels. The machine was put in motion by the 'rider' striking the ground with the tips of his toes. The queer thing was painted yellow, and called a draisine, from its inventor, the German forster, K. V. Drais. A 'ride out' for this very thing, impossible uphill, and, above all, very ungraceful. But the young bloods of the time of the second empire managed very well with it, and got lots of fun out of the machine. Young Ernest Michaux conceived the idea of adding pedals to the front wheel and became thus the inventor of the modern velocipede. His idea found little favor at first, more attention was given to the tricycle; as early as 1863 a Paris hatter named Brunel visited his customers on a tricycle. The international exhibition of 1867, however, gave an impulse to bicycle riding, by drawing the attention of the public to several new improvements added by the Michaux. The prince imperial learned to ride, and the aristocracy, with the prince of Sagan at their head, followed his example. The latter had two high-wheeled machines built to order. One was of aluminum bronze with wheels of rosewood; the other was built entirely of steel, beautifully engraved with hunting scenes. The bicycle school of the Michaux was now always full. They could no longer fill all orders, and formed a company for the manufacture of their machines. They also built a 'velodrome,' with an asphalted track, on which also a kind of hurdle race could be run. Here was a ditch, which had to be crossed on a narrow plank, and a kind of Irish bank. Lawsuits among the partners broke up the concern, the war of 1870 came, and people had other things to speak about. It is the meantime the English and Americans improved the invention, and it was reintroduced into France from across the sea."

Lincoln's Joke on Seward.

On the 9th of the first corps, commanded by Gen. Reynolds, was reviewed by the president on a beautiful plain at the north of Potomac creek, about eight miles from Hooker's headquarters. We rode thither in an ambulance over a rough corduroy road, and, as we passed over some of the more difficult portions of the jolting way, the ambulance driver, who sat well in front, occasionally let fly a volley of suppressed oaths at his wild team of six mules. Finally Mr. Lincoln leaned forward, touched the man on the shoulder and said: "Excuse me, my friend, are you an Episcopalian?" The man, greatly startled, looked around and replied: "No, Mr. President, I am a Methodist."

"Well," said Lincoln, "I thought you must be an Episcopalian, because you swear like Gov. Seward, who is a churchwarden."

The driver swore no more.—Century.

No Wasted Moments.

An anecdote of Gladstone is going the rounds which shows how carefully he makes use of every moment of his time. One day the great Englishman went to visit a friend, and after an interesting conversation of an hour or so, the host left the room for a few minutes. On returning he found Gladstone deeply immersed in a book, which was carried for use at just such spare moments as this. This was Gladstone's method of utilizing every minute; but it is not fair to conclude that every man should do the same. It is not often a wise use of time to spend one's odd moments in thought. If a man is apparently idle, that is no evidence that his brain is idle. Some men can think more in five minutes than they can read in an hour.—Boston Transcript.

Pussy's Great Catch.

We disapprove of cats catching birds, but where they take such chances as did the Lewiston pussy that leaped from a third-story window, snatched an English sparrow from a telegraph wire and struck the ground right side up and safely, we are almost glad to learn she kept her prey.—Kennebec Journal.

Her Fortune.

Pearl Passé—Yes; dear papa is very generous. On my birthday anniversary he always gives me a dollar for each year I have lived.

Yulie Younger—Indeed? That must have been the money Charley Gay boy meant when he said you had a fortune in your own right.—Buffalo Courier.

President Scott at a meeting of the Cold Spring Business Men's association told a funny story about ministers who preach long sermons. A stranger occupied the pulpit of one of them one Sunday and at the close of an unusually brief discourse made his apologies to one of the vestrymen.

"I hope you will excuse my brevity this morning," said the crest-fallen clergyman.

"No excuse necessary," was the cheerful reply. "Your sermon was delightful."

"Well," said the reverend gentleman, "I'm glad to hear you say so, but to tell the truth I never preached under greater difficulties. When I started I was horrified to find that my dog had got hold of my MS. and chewed most of it beyond recognition."

"Is that so?" queried the astonished vestryman. "Well, your sermon was excellent and I can only say that you will confer a great favor on this parish by sending us one of those pulpits.—Boston Courier.

THE NEW JAPANESE.

These Orientals Are Looming Up a Little Larger Than Ever.

With the bursting of the New Year from its shell there has emerged before the eyes of astonished Europe and America a new figure in the orient—the new Japanese. Old Japan, which has hitherto been seen only in the aesthetic world, has suddenly been metamorphosed from the paradise of bric-a-brac into the thunderland of the war dragon, and the meek and polite little Jap has turned from an oriental butterfly into an Asiatic wasp. He has laid down his graceful fan and lifted on high the sword, and has deserted his fantastic screens for modern ships of war.

The eastern question does not bother us over here in America very much; but what a revolution this new year's reform is destined to effect in our literary ideals! Pierre Loti's smiling little Madame Chrysalis must vanish with her cherry blossoms from the pages of the novel; Koko, Poobah and Nan-kipoo must skip in their old-fashioned "artless Japanese way" from the stage. Gilbert and Sullivan seem doomed. No more will their Japanese gentlemen be able to sing: "On many a green and fair, On many a screen and fan, We figure in the lively page, Our attitude's queer and quaint; Yet we're wrong if you think it's a sin."

Even when the delicate and lithe Japanese juggler shall hereafter balance a dainty sword on the end of his fan the spectator will shivering see in the nimble Jap the grim beholder of some immense Chinese with his dreadful sickle.—Philadelphia Record.

ROB ROY'S CLAYMORRE.

A Historic Weapon Appears on an Opera Stage in New York.

When William Pruette marched onto the stage of the Herald Square theater, recently, he had the ancient claymorce of the original Rob Roy slung over his shoulder. This gigantic weapon, which is more than four feet long and weighs some twelve or fourteen pounds, was actually carried in battle by several generations of chiefs of the MacGregor clan, and was originally owned by Donald MacGregor, the father of Rob Roy, who lived two hundred and fifty years ago.

It was brought to this country by one of the family, who migrated to these shores some time in the last century, and is now the property of one of the descendants of this man, George MacGregor, who is a civil engineer living in Brooklyn. Mr. MacGregor lent the claymorce to Mr. Pruette to be worn on the night of the one hundredth performance of the pretty Scotch opera.

The weapon has a big basket hilt of iron, and its blade is nearly three inches wide. It would take a man of more than ordinary strength to flourish it in the air, and one of marvelous muscular power to use it in battle. The claymorce itself is in excellent condition, but the leather sheath is fast falling to pieces. The sword was on exhibition during the Centennial exposition at Philadelphia, and has also been in the rooms of the Long Island Historical society, in Brooklyn. There is no doubt of its perfect genuineness.—N. Y. Advertiser.

HE REMEMBERED IT.

Mrs. Crandall recently gave Mr. Crandall a sealed letter, begging him not to open it till he got to his office. When Crandall did so he read as follows:

"I am compelled to tell you something that I know will trouble you, but feel I ought to do so. I am determined you shall know, let the result be what it may. I have known you for a week or more that it was coming slowly but surely, but kept it to myself until to-day, when it has reached a crisis, and I cannot keep it any longer. You must not censure me too harshly, for you must read the results as well as myself. I do hope it won't crush you."

By the time Crandall had read this much the cold perspiration stood on his forehead with the fear that some terrible unknown calamity was to be made known to him. He turned the page, his hair slowly rising, and his eyes bulging out of their sockets. He read:

"The coal is all used up; please call and ask for some to be sent this afternoon. I thought this method would help you not to forget it."

And Crandall didn't.—Truth.

Old People in England.

Forty-two centenarians, thirty women and twelve men, were discovered in Great Britain last year by the St. James Gazette. Among them were Dowager Viscountess Sidmouth, 100, 44 years a wife and 30 years a widow; Ewan Baines, in Wales, at 106, whose birth is entered in the parish register for 1788; Mrs. Sarah Thomas, who on her one hundred and sixth birthday received 100 shillings from the prince of Wales, and who is an inveterate smoker; and Ellen Roche, who died in County Cork at the reputed age of 115, and was an ardent smoker and snuff taker.

How Casimir-Perier is Protected.

The most minute precautions are taken for the protection of the new president of the French republic. There is not in Europe a sovereign better guarded than M. Casimir-Perier. A flying brigade of police in civilian costume has been created to follow the president step by step wherever he goes. When M. Casimir-Perier is about to start from the Elysee, the prefecture of police is apprised by telephone of the place to which he is going, as well as to the route he is to take. Before he has crossed the gate of the palace a carriage is already on the street with orders to follow the presidential conveyance, and not to lose sight of it. This maneuver is repeated several times daily, for the president goes out frequently, either in a carriage or on foot. M. Casimir-Perier often goes to the Bois de Boulogne, like M. Carnot, and thus gives a great deal of work to the police service at the Elysee.

Didn't Cost Very Much.

It was not as colossal a sum as one would think, especially in comparison with money values to-day, that is, if we are to judge at all from the items of Columbus' expedition.

THE PERIODOT.

A Precious Stone of Which Fashion Is Now Fond.

A precious stone on which the deprecate of fashion has, at the present moment, set a fancy value is the periodot, or "evening emerald," as it has been called. It is certainly a lovely stone, with its exquisite shades of transparent green, the suggestion of whose hue is the effect produced by looking at the light through a delicate leaf.

Jewelers say that the periodot is a species of olivine, of the same class as the beryl, aquamarine and topaz, and that it is, in fact, the ancient "topazion," otherwise known as the chrysolite. It is found in Ceylon, Peru and Brazil—good crystals being extremely rare. Of its various shades of green—olive, leaf, pistachio or leaf—the clear leaf green is the most admired, as a rule.

At a fashionable wedding one of the most beautiful and costly of the presents was a set of ornaments composed of periodots set in amethysts; the blending of the soft mauve green was exquisitely artistic.

Of all the precious stones the periodot is the most difficult to polish. The final touch is given on a copper wheel, moistened with sulphuric acid—a process which requires the greatest care, for, if dipped into the acid, the stone has the peculiarity of becoming soluble. Sometimes it is cut in rose form, or en cabochon, like the caruncule, but it is better and more valuable when worked in small steps, as the brilliance is thereby increased.—Philadelphia Times.

A DELICATE INSTRUMENT.

Measuring the Speed with Which Earthquake Waves Travel.

Some readers may know that the pulsations of the great earthquake in Greece last April were perceived in England and it was believed, at the Cape of Good Hope, by means of very delicate instruments contrived for the purpose of registering any slight shaking of the earth's crust. In like manner the shock of the Constantinople earthquake of July last was perceived at various meteorological observatories in Austria, Russia, Germany, Holland, France and England.

By a comparison of times, combined with the distances from Constantinople of the places where pulsations were observed, a fairly accurate estimate of the velocity with which the earthquake waves traveled was obtained.

The average speed was about two miles per second. This is almost exactly the same velocity as that which was calculated for the pulsations of the Greek earthquake in April. At this rate, if it were continued without diminution, the wave would pass completely round the earth, along a great circle, in about three hours and a half.

One of the English instruments which registered these pulsations is at the bottom of a deep mine near Newcastle-on-Tyne, and its delicacy may be judged from the fact that it has recorded the beating of the waves on the sea coast ten miles away.—Scientific American.

CLOSES ITS FIRST CYCLE.

The Thirteen Club Records Thirteen Years of History.

The thirteenth annual meeting and dinner of the Thirteen club, which curiously enough took place on the 12th instead of the 13th of January, was one of the most notable affairs in the history of this anti-superstitious club. The members of the club met at the Old Knickerbocker cottage (now Jacquins'), on Sixth avenue, New York, in the room in which the club was born thirteen years ago. The founder of the club, Capt. William Fowler, gave a historical review of its organization and career. Past Chief Ruler Hon. David McAdam, justice of the superior court, and Hon. J. H. V. Arnold, surrogate, delivered addresses.

With this meeting and banquet closed the first cycle in the club's calendar, which reckons everything by thirteens. The business transacted and the speeches prolonged the festivities past the midnight hour, and precisely at 13 minutes past 12 on the morning of January 13 all present rose and toasted the thirteenth birthday of the Thirteen club.

A Great Cathedral.

Roman Catholics in London will soon have a cathedral of an architecture unique in that city. It will be a basilica, built on the model of Constantine's original church of St. Peter at Rome, 350 feet long by 170 wide and 100 high, and it will hold 10,000 people. Attached to it is to be a monastery for thirty monks and forty-five lay brethren, to which the Benedictines, who for centuries served Westminster abbey, are to be invited. The land was bought by Cardinal Manning nearly thirty years ago for $55,000 and is now worth $300,000. The buildings will cost $250,000, toward which one contributor has already given $20,000.—N. Y. Sun.

Lincoln Relics.

Among the Lincoln relics disposed of at a recent sale in Philadelphia was Lincoln's autograph copy of his bill for legal services for the Illinois Central Railroad company. The bill was for $900, and Lincoln had all members of the Illinois bar certify that the amount was not unreasonable. Another was the check for $250 given to him as a retainer. If successful Mr. Lincoln was to receive a fee of $1,000. After carrying the suit through the supreme court and winning it he presented a bill for the balance of his fee. It happened that President Brayman was absent and Mr. Lincoln was referred with his bill to the superintendent of the company, who refused to pay it, remarking: "This is as much as a first-class lawyer would charge." The man who spoke thus disparagingly of a future president of the United States was Gen. George B. McClellan, who at that time was superintendent of the Illinois Central railroad.

North German Superstitions.

If you are superstitious there are many things you must not do, says the New Orleans Picayune. In north Germany you must not spin during the twelve nights of Christmas, lest you should walk after your death, nor after sunset on Saturday, for then mice will eat your work. Speaking of eating, if you want to have money and luck all the year round you must not fail to eat herrings on New Year's day; nor, if you wish to be lucky, must you rock an empty cradle or spill wantonly or cross knives or point at the stars. If you leave a dirty cloth on the table overnight you will make the angels weep; and if you talk of cabbages while looking at the moon you will hurt the feelings of the man in it, who was a cabbage stealer in his salad days.

This Reminds You every day in the month of January that if you have your Printing done at the REFLECTOR JOB OFFICE. It will be done right, and it always suits. These points are well worth weighing in any sort of work, but above all things in Your Job Printing.

POPULAR ILLUSTRATION.

How Pictures Are Made for Papers and Magazines.

Photographing the Original "Copy"—Re-mounting the Film—Making the Impression on a Zinc Plate—Ready for the Printer.

Pictures for the illustration of magazines and some newspapers are now, says the Pacific American, made direct from photographs. A glass screen with diamond scratched lines ruled at right angles so closely together that the spaces can hardly be distinguished is placed one-eighth of an inch in front of the sensitive plate in the photographic camera. Looked through, the effect is much the same as gazing through a sieve. These lines reappear in the half tone engraving when printed.

The photograph or wash drawing from which the photo-engraving is taken is photographed in the usual way and with the usual sensitive plate, with the previously described screen in the camera between the plate and the picture. This produces a negative of the picture, showing the fine cross lines represented by clear glass. Now, in order to have the same position of the object of the engraving as in the original the film of the negative is treated to one or two coats of collodion, which gives it a sufficient consistency to permit of its being removed. The film is then stripped, reversed and secured to another glass with the aid of collodion. After careful mounting this new negative is ready to be used as a medium for printing on the zinc plate.

The face of the plate is buffed to the highest degree of polish, then coated with a solution of albumen and gelatin, then sensitized with bichromate of ammonia. It is then dried and placed in the printing frame, the coated side next to the negative film. The case is then exposed to the sun or light three to five minutes or to an electric light for fifteen to twenty minutes. The light passes through the heavy inch thick glass of the printing frame, then through the negative, striking the sensitized plate and decomposing the chemicals wherever it may fall. Where the plate is protected by the shadows and half tones of the negative the sunlight has less effect, and where the shadows are dense it has no effect.

This plate is then removed from the frame in a dark room and carefully washed under running water for several minutes, then dried and heated until the picture appears of a dark brown color. The back of the plate is rubbed with wax which is made from perchloride of iron. The picture on the plate is acid proof, and the etching solution eats only where the plate is unprotected, that part which is blank in the finished engraving. The plate is allowed to remain in the acid bath for about fifteen minutes, or until sufficient depth is obtained. It is then washed and is ready for the roller and the printer.

A NEW RAILWAY FOR LONDON.

A railroad enterprise of considerable extent and importance, which has been held in check for many years by great conflicting interests, will soon be brought to completion in England. This is the extension of the Manchester, Sheffield & Lincolnshire railroad to London. More than twenty years have elapsed since the scheme was first broached, but it was not until last year that the necessary authorization of parliament could be obtained. The new road will be about one hundred miles

CHANGED HIS MIND.

Wanted to Be Shot Until a Pistol Was Pointed at Him.

Herman K. Abraham, an eccentric second-hand clothes dealer of the Heights, rang the bell at the county jail the other morning, and when the door was opened, forced his way in regardless of remonstrances.

"What do you want?" asked Keeper Eltringham.

"I want to die; shoot me," said Abraham, throwing open his coat.

"Well, go and die," replied Eltringham, testily, "but don't do it here. This isn't a morgue."

"But I don't want to kill myself," said Abraham; "I want some one to do it for me."

"Do you want me to do the job?" asked Eltringham, as he opened a drawer in a big desk and took out a revolver.

"Yes, aim right here," replied Abraham, placing his hand over his heart.

"Don't you want to say a prayer before you die?"

"No, I did that home. I am ready to go."

Eltringham pointed the revolver at Abraham's breast, but when the latter saw the gleam of the weapon he changed his mind and put himself outside the door at a bound. He was still running at the top of his speed when he turned into Oakland avenue and disappeared.

Cleaning Jewelry.

The care of jewelry is very simple. With the exception of pearls, it may be washed with warm water and any pure soap. It should then be put into boxwood sawdust to dry. If this is done it will not need to be polished. Boxwood sawdust is very fine, and will therefore not scratch what is put into it, and, moreover, it absorbs the moisture quickly, thus helping to give the jewels a quick polish. Boxwood may be obtained from any dealer in jewelers' supplies, or could be ordered through a jeweler. When you cannot get boxwood the jewels may be polished by rubbing hard with flannel or chamois. Unless you are sure that your pearls have never been cut and that they are without flaw do not run the risk of wetting. Brush the settings and let them go. Mournful jewelry is practically obsolete. Diamonds are permissible with everything but crape, and this concession has banished jet and onyx.—Philadelphia Ledger.
