EVERY BOY.

Wants or should want an Education.

And The Eastern Reflector is Going to help one Boy in that direction.

We will give absolutely free of charge a scholarship entitling the holder to free tuition in all the English branches for the entire spring term, 1896 (6 months) of the Greenville Male Academy.

This is the best school for boys in Eastern North Carolina, and the boy will be fortunate who wins this prize.

CONDITIONS.

This 5 months scholarship is to be given to the boy who will get the largest number of yearly subscribers for The Eastern Reflector between now and 6 o'clock P. M. on Jan. 11th, 1896. Two subscribers for 6 months or four subscribers for 3 months will count the same as one yearly subscriber.

FRITCHARD FOR FULL FUSION.

ASHEVILLE, Oct. 17.—In the course of a speech at Hendersonville to-day, Senator Fritchard, speaking on the question of fusion said: "A great deal is being said in regard to the policy the Republican party will pursue in North Carolina at the next election. I am in favor of honorable co-operation on the electoral ticket, as on the State and county tickets. That is, I favor a division of the electoral ticket in such a way as to secure the election of so many Republican electors pledged to vote for the nominee of the Republican party and of so many Populist electors pledged to vote for the nominee of the Populist party.

In the selection of electors individual views in regard to silver or any other matter ought not to be considered. I am unalterably opposed to what is known as "independence for the silver ticket."

While I am in favor of the free coinage of silver, and shall work and vote for it in Congress, at the same time I am not in favor of abandoning our national Republican organization in the State and adopting any one specific issue. It is the patriotic duty of every loyal Republican and Populist in North Carolina to see to it that the Democrats are defeated in the State at the next election.

Should we fail to co-operate and thereby give the Democrats the advantage of us, the result will be the enactment of election laws similar to those in force in South Carolina and Mississippi, and it will be impossible for Republicans or Populists in the future to secure fair treatment at the polls.

With co-operation from top to bottom victory will be easy, certain and overwhelming. With co-operation on the State ticket only, and three competing electoral tickets in the field, the result would be doubtful, particularly on account of the new election law, which requires that there be only two ballots and that the names of electors and State officers shall be on the same ballot, and the further fact that it will cause more or less confusion in each one of counties where we have co-operation and in every congressional district where there is co-operation on the electoral as well as on the State ticket.

The adoption of the policy of some of our friends would simply mean the abandonment of those Republicans who were elected to Congress at the last election by means of co-operation. It is a fact that there was not a single Republican elected to Congress at the last election without the aid of Populist votes.

A New Antidote.

It would be well, say the Petersburg Express, for every reader of the following paragraphs, to cut them out and preserve them.

The white ash is abundant in many parts of this and the adjoining state, and it would be advisable to keep the drug stores supplied with the leaves.

A little girl of this vicinity was cured of a rattlesnake bite recently, by the use of a strong decoction of white ash leaves, taken internally, and also applied to the wound.

The decoction was not used until the day after she was bitten. Had it been used immediately after receiving the bite, there would probably have been no swelling at all.

There is a species of black snake not poisonous, which always fights the rattlesnake when he meets him, and always kills him.

But in the encounter, he generally receives many wounds from the fangs of his poisonous antagonist.

These he cures by chewing white ash leaves and supplying his saliva, charged with the pulp juice as a sort of liniment.

The instinct of the reptile suggested the remedy to man.

The case wherein the Fusion Directors are suing for the possession of the Penitentiary is now being tried in Raleigh. One day has already been consumed by arguments on the legal points involved and there will doubtless be lots of cross firing before the case is concluded. Plaintiffs were allowed to amend their complaint by paying up all cost to date. Judge Coble is the judge presiding, and very able counsel represent both sides.

Col. J. S. Carr, who for the past two years has been the efficient President of the Board of Agriculture and in consequence of the State Fair, declined a reelection. His business engagements were such that he could not afford to make the sacrifice of time which it required to perform the duties of the office. Col. Carr has certainly done much during his term of office for the State Fair. Had it not been for his personal efforts and contributions during the past two years we would not have had any fairs. Everybody will regret that he could no longer serve as the president. The Board elected as his successor Col. Cameron, of Durham. He will doubtless make as worthy and successful successor of Col. Carr as could have been gotten. He is a large farmer, an active and energetic man, and besides he is from Durham. This means much toward the success of the fair. This town always stands by its citizens in their efforts anywhere.

England has her back up and the British lion is watching his tail over toward Venezuela and trying to force that country into submission. It seems that Venezuelan soldiers had murdered and robbed some of England's subjects and the latter is trying to get satisfaction and Venezuela says she has made reparation and will make no more. England claim certain boundaries and Venezuela says they are going beyond the line and called a halt. Uncle Sam has some claim over there and may take a hand and if the old man reaches back in his coat-tail pocket, pulls out his red bandana, gives his nose a blow, England will hear that blow, and it will mean you had better look out how you tread on my toes or you will hear something sharp. The United States navy will compute favorably with almost any navy in the world and we believe she has the backbone to stand square up to Johnny Bull.

The great Corbett-Fitzsimons fight has been declared off. They were to fight in Dallas, Texas, on October 23rd, and then it was transferred to Hot Springs, Arkansas, but the Governors of those States put a veto to any such performances. At a conference between the Florida Athletic club officials and the managers of Corbett and Fitzsimons, the Club asked for a postponement of the contest to November 11th. Brady, Corbett's manager, agreed to this, but Julian, Fitzsimons' manager, steadfastly refused to consent. There was a wondrous wrangle and finally the club declared the fight off. Brady then announced that Corbett was prepared to fight any man in the world on November 11th. Robert Fitzsimons preferred, the man to be named within twenty-four hours. The outcome of the middle cannot be foretold but it looks as if there would be a fight of some kind on November 11th.

The Tobacco Department.

Conducted by O. L. Joyner, Proprietor Eastern Tobacco Warehouse

Friday's break was quite a large one and prices for good tobacco were rather better than usual.

Rountree, Brown & Co., the leading warehouse firm of Greenville, N. C., under the management of Mr. Ed M. Pace is doing a big business.—National Tobacco and Grocer.

They say, said the prudent man, that a man who never drinks nor smokes nor stays up late at night always lives to a great age. Yes, replied his very wise friend, with a yeoman that is his punishment.—Washington Star.

Good tobacco is selling high just now. We have seen several farmers recently who have been selling tobacco on other markets and all of them that we have seen are selling as well in Greenville as anywhere they have been.

The National Tobacco and Grocer published at Durham, N. C., is a bright clear and newsy trade journal. Two or three enterprises of this kind have been without success. Durham is well backed and it should encourage and support the Tobacco and Grocer.

Mr. B. Ernest Parham who was married in Durham on Wednesday morning to Miss O. Jones, of that city, will reach Greenville with his bride on the 6 o'clock train this evening. For the past two years we have been thrown in close companionship with Mr. Parham and know him to be a young man of striking business qualifications and for the young couple in Greenville we predict a happy, prosperous future. Mr. Parham is a successful young tobaccoist of only a year in our town but in that time he has made many warm friends all of whom wish him a happy future.

The loose tobacco sales on the Richmond market for the year ending September 1st, 1895, was nearly four million pounds less than for the year ending September 1st, 1894. Four million pounds is a considerable fall off with a market like Richmond that never sold at its best, but about eleven millions pounds. There are some facts on record concerning the origin and growth of the Richmond market that would be interesting reading matter to some of our North Carolina tobaccoists.

There is a considerable squabble now going on between the South Carolina markets, and the Danville Va., markets, or rather by the newspapers of these places. The Florence, South Carolina, Messenger has some very card things to say about the Danville warehousemen. It makes some allegations about the Danville people that we don't believe are true, and the Danville Journal retorts back in very plain language to the South Carolina editors. All of this kind of stuff will not aid the South Carolina markets at all in building themselves up nor does Danville in our opinion need such notoriety and the Journal need not remind the world that Danville is the largest tobacco centre in it. The people already know it.

We have been to the Atlanta Exposition and have returned all safe and sound. Aside from the pleasure of the trip in traveling through the splendid country traversed by the Atlantic Coast Line in reaching the Gate City we saw nothing that impressed us so much in the way of an exhibit as that made by the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., of Winston N. C.

No North Carolinian that loves home and is proud of the great State of his birth will visit the Exposition without feeling ashamed that North Carolina has no building in which to make an exhibit, a creditable exhibit, to the world of her varied industries and inexhaustible resources. As we stood at the entrance and surveyed the Exposition grounds just in front of us was the Georgia building, to our left and slightly on a summit the New York and Pennsylvania rose in commanding appearance, and in our front dotted here and there were the buildings of the various Southern and Western States. To all of these we went and for the time being, so to speak, lived as it was, in the grain fields of the Mississippi valley, then in a few mountains, then were traversing the cotton fields of the black lands of Arkansas. Getting tired of this we stepped into the land of sunshine and flowers. Florida truly has placed its great natural advantages before the world by the creditable exhibit that it is making at the Cotton States and International Exposition.

After making a partial tour of the different States and seeing the attractive products of North Carolina scattered around here and there, anywhere, among the rush of thoughts that come to our mind was what a golden opportunity of advertising our natural advantages to the world has been neglected. But notwithstanding the disadvantages under which our people who made exhibits labored, the products of the State and the individual exhibits were equal to those of any other State and it was frequently remarked that if we had had a building ours would have been the best exhibit there.

We have frequently noticed a tendency on the part of some farmers to want to ship their tobacco away from the home market, a great many times when their judgment dictates a different course. A good many do this because they think they will get more money for their product but a good many times they go just to take the trip. On Friday a very good and quite an extensive farmer told the writer that while he thought he could get just as much money in Greenville for the tobacco as anywhere else on the whole, yet sometimes, said he, by taking a lot off I may get some fancy prices as an inducement to get me and others to continue patronizing the market. This may be done sometimes by some warehousemen with certain men, but take our word for what it is worth we have watched closely the shipped tobacco for the past three years and we are yet to hear the first man who is a regular patron of any house in Greenville say that he made money on the whole by shipping his tobacco. Now just one word here to those who are in the habit of shipping occasionally. Suppose every man were to treat his home market that way how long would we be giving an established home market for your products. And we want to say further that a tobacco market as most readers know is not built in a day. It takes time and perseverance to build up a good tobacco market and when a man firmly believes that he can get as much money at home as he can by shipping it is not much encouragement to those who have labored to get the market. Of course if a man thinks he can get more money for his stuff by shipping it then an entirely different question is presented. We don't ask any man to sell his tobacco in Greenville unless he is confident that our market is as good as any of them. The writer for one would not rest contented to report a warehouse and a market unless we had as good buyers as there were to be found and if we didn't have them why we would go to work and get them. Greenville has good a corps of buyers as there are in the State and we make this appeal to every farmer to give his home market a chance at his tobacco. If you don't like our warehouse carry it to another. We have four here as good as there are in the State and among us we know you can be satisfied. Let's all push for Greenville and make it the largest market in the State.

There will be no tobacco sales on Friday, circus day.

There are more regular buyers following the sales in Greenville than any other eastern North Carolina market.

Tobacco is selling well and good tobacco especially is away up during the last few days. Those who have wrappers can now begin bringing them on.

We are frequently asked what per cent. of the crop has been sold, and we have frequently asked that question. From the points of information we should say that about 50 per cent. of the crop has been sold, and our candid judgment is that 75 per cent. of the brightest has already been marketed.

For the past few years we have been telling our people that we had the finest bright tobacco growing section in the world. Now read what some of the best judges in Virginia say about it. More will follow later.

Mr. O. L. Joyner, Greenville, N. C.

Your favor of the 7th inst. is found on my return this A. M. The bright tobacco sold on the Greenville, N. C. market suits our purposes well and I know of no section, or market which supplies a better quality of goods for our purposes.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Oct. 26th, '95.

Mr. O. L. Joyner, Greenville, N. C.

Yours of the 23rd duly to hand. We consider the tobacco from the Greenville section as good or better color and flavor than any other section in North Carolina. It is noted for fine Cutters and Smokers.

Yours truly,

CLARK & COLLINS.

DANVILLE, Va., Oct. 8th, 1895.

O. L. Joyner, Greenville, N. C.

We have your favor of the 7th, and in reply, beg to state that we regard the tobacco peculiar to your section of the Bright Belt very highly, particularly the class of goods grown around Greenville. These we think of all the North Carolina Brights are the choicest, the color and texture being well nigh perfect.

Yours truly,

C. D. NOELL & Co.

TO THE TOBACCO FARMERS

Just stop, think, consider where you can best protect your interest in disposing of your Tobacco crop.

For four years we have worked hard and spent our money in building and placing the Greenville Tobacco Market in the front rank of the leading Tobacco Markets of the world. Since Greenville first had a Tobacco Warehouse we have been on the grounds working day and night to acquire the best possible knowledge of how to sell the farmers tobacco to the best advantage and now after four years of difficult toil we want to say to all who have tobacco to sell that we believe we are in a better position than any Warehouse firm in Eastern North Carolina to get the highest market price for your product. So with this we make our politest bow asking for a continuance and an increase of your patronage, only upon the strictest business merit. We have no special pets to whom fancy prices are given at the expense of less favored ones but our undivided personal attention is given to every pile of your tobacco and if your interest should at any time be neglected our attention only needs to be called to it and cheerfully and willingly all wrongs will be righted. Our opinion is that Tobacco is selling very well for the quality offered and from now on we expect a lively market. So when you get ready to sell just hook up and drive straight to the old reliable Eastern, headquarters for high prices, good averages and all round courteous treatment.

DEATH OF MARGARET BELL

I write the obituary of our beloved cousin, Peggie Bell as she was generally called. She was born on the 14th day of January 1815 and died the 14th day of October 1895. She had many friends and was loved by them all. She never made any open profession of religion. She was a strong believer in the old school Baptists. She had a hope. She believed if she saved it would be a poor sinner saved by grace alone. Her disease was lung trouble. She leaves two nephews behind, the nearest relatives to mourn her loss. May the Lord comfort the bereaved. E. J. HARDEE.

Man Killed.

Marcellus Hall, a colored man who drives for F. W. J. Carr, of Greene county, was here this morning after a load of goods for Mr. Carr. He had loaded his wagon on an elevated car and when turning the corner at Five Points the wagon slightly careened throwing Marcellus off the sack of coffee upon which he was sitting. He fell on the tongue of the wagon against the mules frightening them into a canter. When the team had gone about 30 yards down the avenue the man fell to the ground, two wheels of the heavily loaded wagon passing over his face and neck, killing him almost instantly. The man's right jaw was badly crushed and his neck broken. The Coroner, Dr. Laughlinhouse, was notified and viewed the body but deemed an inquest unnecessary. Marcellus had been driving for Mr. Carr for many years.

ATLANTA'S ATTRACTION.

The Great Exposition Increases in Interest.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 21st, 1895.—After enjoying the chimes musical after the close of our last letter from Atlanta, we next visited the Woman's building in which the fair women of the South have displayed their handiwork and ingenuity. No building in the grounds surpasses this in beauty and interest.

Then on around lake Clara Meer to the left the Electrical building is reached. This contains every imaginable piece of mechanism used in the varied work done by electricity.

Passing on the Transportation building is next reached, where are all manner of riding vehicles and an almost endless display of bicycles. Of course we were interested in the latter, and being a champion of the Victor were not long in hunting up the representative and going through the superb exhibit of wheels and sporting goods made by the Overman Wheel Co. Other manufacturers also had fine displays.

A little further on is the handsome building of the Southern Railway, a system that has done much for Atlanta in particular and the South in general. By the way, most of our trip to and from Atlanta was over this system and its trains on the through line were exquisite and its service excellent.

On beyond the Southern building is the Georgia Manufacturer's building containing varied displays by the manufacturers of the Empire State.

The next is the Negro building containing exhibits made by the negroes of the South. These are highly creditable to the colored people and speak stronger than can be told in words the great advancement this race has made. No one who goes to the Exposition should fail to spend some time in this building.

Passing on you come to a large shed under which several railroads had full trains on exhibition. Talk about "palaces on wheels" they were there in some of the vestibule cars.

From the train exhibit one sees the door of the California building standing open invitingly, and upon entering you feel like you could just stay there always. The Golden Gate State fairly does herself proud. Beside occupying a large apartment in the Manufacturers building with a number of county exhibits of the finest fruits of all kinds we ever beheld, in this special building was a marvelous display showing what the State as a whole can produce. Outside of Georgia, to our mind California was the best represent State at the Exposition.

As we lingered in this building so long we will leave the reader here for our rounds to be further described in articles that will follow.

From the California building where our last article closed one can next visit the Machinery building. Here are hundreds of different pieces of machinery in motion, making almost everything that can be imagined from a common brass pin up. Type setting machines and printing presses caught the eyes of the newspaper folks.

The next building is the Mineral and Forestry. This is a rustic structure the outside covered with sections of many varieties of trees just as cut from the Georgia forests. Within is a vast collection of minerals and woods from various States. Here North Carolina is well represented, her display of minerals being the best in the building. The huge gold nuggets attract the attention of every one.

Then on around the south west end of lake Clara Meer the Agricultural building is reached. Here the States vie with each other in showing products of the soil and orchard. This building alone is worth a trip to Atlanta to see. A striking feature of it is the display made by the Seaboard Air Line of the resources along its road.

This completes the list of buildings containing general exhibits, but there is yet one other large structure situated just to the right of the Georgia building and main entrance. This is the auditorium with a seating capacity reaching the thousands. In this concert and public meetings are held. During our stay Gibbons's famous band—40 pieces—of New York, gave several concert nights.

Following the course in which we have briefly mentioned the different buildings, one gets a fair idea of how to visit the Exposition proper to advantage. And it is far better to have system about it, following a continuous route, than to wander aim-

SCENE AT THE TELEPHONE.

Mary Ann Tackles One Wire That He Can't Pull.

A very amusing incident occurred in the office of Alhambra Hotel, at Atlanta, while the North Carolina editors were down there last week. A man wearing a "know-it-all" air walked very pompously up to the telephone, consulted the directory, put the phone to his ear, pulled the signal button, and one side of a conversation that ran like this was heard:

"Hello, central, put No. so and so on No. so and so."

"Ting-a-ling-ling."

"Hello! Is that so and so?"

"Butler."

"Senator Butler."

BRUTAL MURDER.

Man Killed in Broad Day Light—Murderer Caught.

Our neighbor town, Tarboro, was the scene of a most brutal murder Wednesday morning. The Atlantic Coast Line pay train had just been along and one of the employes settled with was a white man named Nevell, keeper of the water tank just on the outskirts of town. Soon after the pay train passed and while Nevell was at his post he was assaulted, murdered and robbed by a negro. No one saw the murder, but when the deed was discovered a telegram was sent to Norfolk for blood hounds. The dogs arrived on the evening train and search was started for the murderer. He was tracked over a circuitous route and located in his home at 5 o'clock this morning. The negro's name was George Washington and Nevell's knife and $51 in money were found in his pockets. There was a general rejoicing throughout the town when the murderer was found and arrested.

The Big Circus.

F. W. Busey, in charge of advertising car No. 2 of Sells Bros' circus, arrived here with Thursday evening train to have new bills put up and distributed. Like all the others connected with Sells' circus, we found Mr. Busey an exceedingly clever and pleasant gentleman. He says the circus will be here in splendid shape next Friday and will give our people a great day. We have talked with a number of traveling men who have recently seen Sells' circus and they all say it is the best on the road.

As the man at the other end, if there was any, could not be heard, the reader can do his own imagining as to the questions these interrogations mark represent. But the conversation had not proceeded half way when all eyes in the office had turned toward the phone, and when snickers began to break the silence that pervaded all other parts of the room, the compositist at the phone gave way to an awfully subdued expression, and turning to the clerk, who like the others could scarce restrain his laughter, he said in almost pleading tones "won't you please work this thing or me? I can't manage it."

LAND SALE.

By virtue of the power in me vested as Commissioner by a decree in the case of Susan Kisan and Wm. L. Elliott, Jos. P. Elliott, John Nicholson trading as Elliott Brothers, against Jesse P. Brown and wife Laura Brown, and T. F. Smaw, Trustee, which decree was made by His Honor Albert L. Cobb, Judge, at the April Term, 1895 of Pitt Superior Court and duly docketed in Judgment Docket No. 11 page 241 in said Court I will sell at public sale to the highest bidder at the Court House at Greenville, N. C., on Monday the 4th day of September 1895, two certain tracts of land situated in Belvoir township Pitt County and described as follows, to-wit: One tract, known as the "Warren land," adjoining the lands of Betsy Phillips, Benj. Cobb, John A. Cobb, O. B. Hathaway and others, containing 1300 One Hundred and thirty acres.

Also one other tract of land adjoining the said Warren tract, O. B. Hathaway, J. H. Clark and others known as the Brown land containing (300) two hundred and three acres or less.

Terms of sale, one-third cash, balance in two equal installments due and payable in one and two years respectively, secured by notes of the purchaser with interest at 6 per cent on the purchase price until all of purchase price is paid.

W. H. LONG, Commissioner.

How to Market Cotton.

Upon the subject of when to market your cotton, a very eminent authority gives the following advice: "If they would only market a part of it from time to time along through the winter months - if they would devote nine months to marketing, instead of four, they would get better prices for their cotton. I believe they will be able to do this now, for they have made good grain crops and can live without the hasty sale of their cotton. If they will practice this caution and not flood the market with cotton during October and November, the price is going to be much higher than it has been for two or three or four years, in my opinion." - Spartanburg (S. C.) Herald.

Every Man Has a Chance.

Every man endowed with common sense and reasonable health has a competence within his grasp, if he is only willing to pay the price. To do this he need not be as cunning as Jay Gould, nor as stingy as Russell Sage, nor must he baffle the world as he earns little he must save a portion; if he earns much he must save much. It is better to have a few per cent. faculty for saving than a one hundred per cent. faculty for earning, without it. A competence does not require great self-sacrifice - great wealth requires parsimony and a heart of iron. We have abundant examples of these.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh, Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The statement is made that the sales of commercial fertilizers in North Carolina this year decreased 15 per cent as compared with last year's sales. This is not in proportion. The acreage in cotton is supposed to have decreased more than that. In the process of cheapening the production of cotton it would seem necessary that the use of commercial fertilizers would have to decline. It is a pity to see that this year this use has actually increased over last. - Statesville Landmark.

Perhaps this can be explained from the fact that when the cotton acreage declined, especially in the eastern counties, the acreage in tobacco increased, and tobacco requiring more fertilizer than cotton kept the sale of that article from falling off in proportion with the decrease in the cotton acreage.

The city of Milwaukee, Wis., celebrated its 50th anniversary a few days ago. In connection with this attention is called to the fact that sixty four years ago there was no city in the United States that had the population (249,290) that Milwaukee has now. New York came nearest to it with a population of 203,000 and Philadelphia next with 167,000.

George Liddell, a sailor from the British ship Arior, was found by some negroes in a swamp near Wilmington. He was up to his neck in water, was crazy, half starved, and torn badly by thorns and briars. For two weeks, while insane, he had thus wandered.
