between now and 6 o'clock P. M. on Jan 11th, 1896. Two subscribers for 6 months or four subscribers for 3 months will count the same as one yearly subscriber. This is no catch penny device but a bona-fide offer, and if only one subscriber be brought during the time specified the boy who brings it will get the scholarship. Of course we expect more than one subscriber to be brought in, for this is a prize worth winning and many boys will work for it.

In order that there may be an incentive for every boy who wishes to enter this contest, we offer a cash commission of 10 per cent on all subscribers, so that those who fail to get the scholarship will be paid for their work, but the one who wins the scholarship will not get the commission. Now boys get to work with the determination to win this prize. You can get as many sample copies of the REFLECTOR as you need by applying to the office. If you decide to enter this contest send us your name as we wish to know how many boys are working for the prize. We will publish the result of the contest with the name of winner in the issue of the REFLECTOR of Jan. 15th, 1896, giving the successful boy time to enter school on the opening day of spring term Monday, Jan. 20th.

THE N. C. CONFERENCE.

In Session at Elizabeth City.

FIFTH DAY.

Minutes of Saturday and Sunday afternoon sessions were read and approved. Revs. T. Page Ricard and J. C. McCall were placed on the supernumerary list.

The hour of 10 o'clock having arrived the special order relating to the conference organ, the North Carolina Advocate, came up. Rev. W. L. Grissom, half owner of the paper, offered through Rev. F. D. Swindell to sell his stock at one thousand dollars less than cost. Referred to committee on Books and Periodicals.

The statistical secretaries made their reports which showed considerable increase in church membership and erection of new churches.

The total white membership is 63,299; colored 22, total 85,321. Infants baptized 1,050, adults 1,896, Sunday-schools 659, teachers 4,789, scholars 38,303. Amount paid conference claimants $5,499.76, members of societies 656, church edifices 644, value of church property $778,209.

The committee on Books and Periodicals brought in their report, rejecting the offer of Rev. L. W. Grissom to sell his interest in the Advocate to the conference. A lively discussion took place, participated in by Revs. F. D. Swindell and R. B. John. Rev. J. T. Gibbs moved the previous question, and the substitute offered by Rev. R. B. John to not adopt the North Carolina Advocate as the organ of the conference, was adopted by a vote of 89 to 52. A committee consisting of S. Black, R. A. Willis, R. B. John, T. J. Jarvis, T. H. Gatling and Q. H. Nimrock were appointed to confer with the Western Conference to take charge of the paper question.

The Philadelphia Times reports an official of the Pennsylvania Railroad, speaking recently of the difference in railroad traffic since one year ago, as saying that "on the 1st of December, 1894, that company had 18,000 cars stowed away in sheds because not wanted, while to-day they are not only using every car they own, but could use over 30,000 more cars than they have at their command. When asked whether it was not possible to obtain cars from other railways to bridge over the emergency, the answer was that every other railroad of the country has use for more cars than it now possesses." The business of the railroads is universally regarded as an infallible barometer of the general business of a country. If this be true and if the Pennsylvania is a type of the other railroad lines, then the country's business must be righting itself rapidly—must, indeed, have reached already a basis of prosperity.—Charlotte Observer.

THE LITTLE PATCHED TROUSERS.

How dear to my heart are the pants of my childhood.

When fond recollection presents them to view, The pants that I wore in the deep tangled wild wood, And likewise the groves where the crab apple grew, The wide spreading seat with its little square patches, The pockets that bulged with my luncheon for noon, And also with marbles and fish-worms and matches And gumdrops and kite strings from March until June, The little patched trousers, the made over trousers, The high water trousers that fit me too soon.

No pantaloons ever performed greater service In filling the hearts of us youngsters with joy; They made the descent from Adolphus to Jarvis, Right down through a family of ten little boys, Through no fault of mine, known to me or to others, I'm the tenderest branch on our big family tree; And having done service for nine older brothers, They came down to me slightly bagged at the knee, The little patched trousers, the second-hand trousers, The old family trousers that bagged at the knee.

The faculty of the Agricultural and Mechanical College has expelled several students, two of them for making a bon fire out of materials owned by a contractor. The fire was made as a mark of disapproval of the action of the faculty in prohibiting games of football off the college grounds.

Mrs. J. H. Shumate, of Wilks county, is peculiarly afflicted. It is stated that blood will suddenly break through the pores of the skin just like perspiration, and stand in great beads on the face. She is able to be up most of the time and tend to her domestic affairs. This sweating of blood comes on once or twice a day and lasts only a short time, when she will bathe her face and no sign is left, until it suddenly breaks out again.

The Wrought Iron Range folks, who took in this country about a year ago, sold a range to Major W. A. Graham, of Lincoln county. Shortly after the range was set up Major Graham's house was burned and he used the range folks for damages, claiming that the fire was caused by the range being improperly put up. The case was tried in the Federal Court in Charlotte last week and the major was awarded $3,600. The company appealed.—Statesville Landmark.

A negro preacher addressed his flock with great earnestness on the subject of "Miracles" as follows: "My beloved friends, de greatest of all miracles was 'bout the loaves and fishes. Dey was five thousand loaves and two thousand fishes, and de twelve 'postles had to eat 'em all. De miracle is, dey didn't bust."—Atlanta Constitution.

OUR DEFENCES.

Suppose that war between the United States and Great Britain should occur, or between this country and any other great power, in what condition would it find this vast country? Are the United States prepared for war on land or sea? There is but one answer. Gen. Miles says that the entire Atlantic coast cities south of New York are in a defenceless condition. It is then an excellent time to improve the defences. There is no sounder adage applicable to our country than in time of peace prepare for war. We must maintain the Monroe Doctrine, and yet our seacoast cities will be at the mercy of the great navies. In ten or fifteen days after war was declared with England, her great armored vessels could be battering down the cities that lie at their mercy. Is this a pleasant thing to have, or a desirable condition for the great Republic to be in? How can it enforce the Monroe Doctrine with such a navy? Senator Cullen, of Illinois, voiced public sentiment on the 10th inst. in addressing the Senate when he said: "We have reached the time when it becomes our bounden duty to say to the world with dignity and firmness, that thus far, but no further, shall foreign systems of government be permitted to approach. Our policy is the American policy, our doctrine is the protection of American interests, and our motto is America for Americans. We do not claim that the world is ours, but we insist on our right to be consulted upon affairs pertaining to the American continent. Let us build strongly and speak so plainly that the way of the future Executives, Prime Ministers and Ambassadors of our country shall be undoubted."

The Congress should take steps to protect the cities and seaports on the long Atlantic coast and speedily. The leading Powers in Europe have larger, more powerful navies than our country has. There is, therefore no Jingoism or patriotic gush in insisting upon the defences demanded. It is a case of necessity. While we have no idea that war will occur between Great Britain and the United States soon, either growing out of the Venezuelan embargo or Behring Straits or any other question to the front now, it is not an impossible thing. In fact, war with some other European Power might occur in any year. While this country can take care of itself, so far as an invasion is concerned, it is very different in so far as the navy is involved. If war does occur the injuries inflicted will not be all on one side. England may capture vessels and even bombard or destroy our cities and towns near the coast, but she cannot invade with any safety to her armies. On the other hand, it would be Ireland's opportunity to throw off the British yoke, or secure her full rights, and Canada might too fall a prey to our invading armies. A million of men in Canada would make quick work of the job.—Wilmington Messenger.

Cotton manufacturing interests are interesting reading just now. In brief, they show the following figures: The spindles of the world increased from nearly 79,000,000 in 1888 to a little over 94,000,000 in 1895, Great Britain gaining less than 1-12th on 42,000,000; Europe a little over 1-5th on 22,500,000; the Northern States a little more than 1-5th on nearly 12,000,000; India nearly doubling its 1,800,000; and the Southern States gaining nearly 240 per cent. on 800,000 spindles. The same rate of gain continued for 24 years would give the South more than double as many spindles as India; 75 per cent. more than the Northern States; over 80 per cent. of the number in Europe, and within 50 per cent. of the number in Great Britain. The handwriting on the wall clearly foretells the destiny of the South as the great manufacturing section of the world and that in the next half century.—Charlotte Observer.

It is nearly Christmas and the Fusion Congressmen haven't given the people free coinage yet. Pritchard is too busy hobnobbing with John Sherman, and Butler wrote Jim Young that he was too busy getting to house-keeping to think of politics. Harry Skinner has a Biblical excuse, Linney wants to limit it to the product of American mines, Pearson is too busy playing leader of society, Strowd and Shuford have not learned the ropes yet, and Settle hasn't finished fixing up Tom Reed's committee. It begins to look like these new Congressmen will have to postpone free coinage till New Year's day.—Raleigh News and Observer.

HE'D DONE DONE IT.

The Brilliant Performance of a Fool Fusionist.

We have had occasions from time to time to give instances showing the utter incompetence of many of those fools whom the late Fred Douglass Memorial Association created magistrates. One of the most ridiculous occurrences that we have yet heard of, comes to our ears this week.

It seems that some days ago, a couple bearing a license to marry, issued by the register of deeds of Rutherford county, went before a Fusion magistrate in McDowell county and invoked his services. The ignoramus read over the marriage service and pronounced them man and wife.

After wrestling with the blank for several days and being too ignorant to make the proper return, the Fusionist called upon a Democratic magistrate of this county and asked him to help make a return of the license. Upon investigation, the Democrat learned that the license was issued in Rutherford county and that there were no witnesses to the marriage.

"Why," said he to the Fusionist, "you can't marry these people."

"But, by G-d, I've done done it!" exclaimed the Fusionist.

The democrat gravely advised him to summon the pair before him and undo his illegal work by reading the marriage ceremony "backwards."

The Fusionist took the advice, unmarried the couple he had married a week or ten days before, then escorted them to the Democratic magistrate who married them legally.

If Jesse Holmes, the fool killer, should visit North Carolina about this time, there would be many vacancies on the bench magisterial to be filled.—Rutherford Democrat.

OUT OF THE ORDINARY.

The letter "O" sounds odd for a name, but there is a distinguished family in Belgium whose name is O, no more and no less.

A collection of over 100 Saxon and Merovingian coins found at Crossdale, in Hampshire, in 1828, was recently sold in London in one block for $2,450.

Sarah Bernhardt's last gown cost $7,500. It is decorated with diamonds and turquoises and the skins of 200 ermines were required to line the train.

Tramps in Holland are put in a system which has a pump in the bottom. Water is turned on in sufficient volume to keep them pumping briskly to keep from drowning. One dose is generally sufficient.

The length of the day varies in different places. In London the longest day has sixteen and a half hours; at St. Petersburg, nineteen, and in Spitzbergen, the longest day lasts three months and a half.

A new lead for deep-sea sounding carried a cartridge which explodes on touching the bottom. A submerged microphone receives the sound and the depth is estimated from the time occupied by the lead in sinking to the bottom.

The Great Hatters Light. Though the endeavor to construct a light-house at Diamond shoals, seven miles beyond Hatteras, has been a failure thus far, it is believed the new plan reported by the engineers will be a success. An account of it says that the plan contemplates a skeleton structure resting on eight great iron tubes, which are to be driven to a depth of thirty feet. They are to form a circle sixty feet in diameter, and to be of such a length that the floor resting upon them will be about fifty feet above high water. On this floor a structure of cast steel will be raised to provide quarters for the three keepers, and above will be the light and the steam siren. The lens is to be the most powerful in existence, throwing the light, which is to be electric, to a distance of twenty-three miles.

The engineers believe that the plan of having the light rest on pillars, between which the winds and waves can pass, promises better success than one for a solid structure that would offer more resistance to the elements. The cost of the light house is to be a million of dollars.

If you want to succeed in this world you must make your own opportunities as you go on. The man who waits for some seventh wave to toss him on the day land will find that the seventh wave is a long time coming. You can commit no greater folly than to sit by the roadside until some one comes along and invites you to ride with him to wealth or influence.—Durham Sun.

Finding Fault.

The winds refused to blow; "No use," said they, "to try. 'From north, or south, or east, or west, These folks to satisfy. The north wind, 'is too cold! The west wind, 'hold and rough.' The east is chilly, they complain; The south, 'not cool enough.'"

And so the windmills stopped, The ships lay idly by, The sun beat down from morn till night Because no clouds could fly. The people sighed for wind; "Blow hot or cold," said they, "From north, or south, or east, or west, 'Twill be the wisest way!" —Youth's Companion.

Don't You Do It.

Don't leave the Christmas shopping until the day before Christmas.

Don't worry and fret when you find such a crowd about the Christmas counters, that it is almost impossible to make the desired purchases.

Don't neglect the little tots in the home, nor any of the home duties in your anxiety to finish some elaborate Christmas finery.

Don't plan some gorgeous Christmas entertainment with extravagant refreshments, at the expense of the comfort of the home loved ones.

Don't forget that it is an insult to an acquaintance to send him a gift which is not accompanied by friendly affection.

Don't let your Christmas be spoiled through selfishness, envy, resentment or any bitter feelings; but hold fast to the love and simple sweetness belonging to the day.

Don't belong to that class who are trying to make it a day for the exchange of gifts by which the giver's social standing is to be determined.

Don't forget that it is wrong to give more than one can well afford simply for the sake of making a costly present, or to give to anyone simply because it is customary to give gifts on that day.

Don't discard the dainty white table linen for more elaborate dining table display. However fashionable unwashable materials may be for table use they certainly are not in good taste.

Don't fail to leave the plush and satin and ribbons to their proper places—keep them off of the dining table, and use instead, dainty floral decorations and fresh green ferns.

Don't forget that in striving to make the Christmas season beautiful to others we will find that unconsciously we have made it perfect to ourselves.

Benefit of Thorough Business Organizations.

Active Boards of Trade and similar organizations are by no means useless in any city. When each business man is content to "go it alone" and take what comes to him, there can never be the same results as when the business men unite, consult together as to plans for advancing the general interests of the community and act according to their combined wisdom.

The Durham Sun in speaking of this, well says that no city has ever become actively progressive unless she organized and united her strength. We all remember the old story of how the giant laughed at the single string in a cord, snatching it asunder in an instant and defying his persecutors. But the cords were combined and interwoven, and when placed around his neck, was irresistible and caused his death. This but illustrates the old adage, that "in unity there is strength."

Let our merchants study this fact that in unity of action there is power, and as a unit all work together for the common good of town and county.—Newbern Journal.

Pitt County Stock.

For many years under a Democratic official Mr. A. W. Moyer, a Pitt county boy, held the position of chief clerk in the Superior Court Clerk's office of Wake county. In the election last year Wake county, like many others, got caught in the slump and went down under the fusion landslide. D. H. Young was elected clerk, but notwithstanding Mr. Moyer was a Democrat Young could not run the office without him, and though Republicans kept throwing it up at Young it was not until last week that a successor to Mr. Moyer was named. Speaking of him the Raleigh Press-Visitor says:

"Mr. Moyer, the gentleman who retires, obtains the best testimonial that could be paid him, from the fact that he has continuously held his office under Mr. Young since that gentleman assumed office more than a year ago."

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Death of a Most Estimable Young Man.

Several weeks ago Robert Wilson, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Wilson, of Grimesland, was stricken with pneumonia. He was a student at the Greenville Male Academy here and many were the anxious enquiries in respect to his condition. The disease proved to be very severe, and his friends soon became alarmed as to his condition. About ten days ago there was some improvement, and hopes were entertained that he might recover.

The sad news, however, reached here last night that he died on Monday night at ten minutes to nine o'clock. He was just budding into young manhood and no young man in the writer's acquaintance had seemingly brighter prospects. He had been for several years past a student at Chocowinity school but came here last September to pursue his studies. He was studious, intelligent, honest, truthful, upright and persevering, and his instructor has had no boy in his fifteen years in the school room for whom he had more respect than Robert Wilson. This confidence and respect had already ripened into affection, and no one outside of his relatives mourns more sorrowfully his seeming untimely death. It ought to be said also that there was not a single one of his fellow students that he did not number among his friends in truth and in deed.

Robert was just sixteen years old and was the ideal of father, mother, sister and brother all of whom are grieved beyond expression that one so young and so promising should be taken away from them. He was a member of the Episcopal church and every act of his known to the writer was that of a consecrated Christian young man. He was buried Wednesday at Trinity church in Beaufort county. To the sorrowing father, mother, sister and brother can come only the consolation that "the Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away" and may the Holy Spirit enable them to see His hand in this bereavement and say "Thy will be done." The sympathy of many friends in town and in the country go out to the bereaved ones, and his teacher especially would assure them that their sorrow is his, and that as long as life lasts he shall remember Robert as one well worthy to be loved.

Transplanted from earth to Heaven our loss is his gain. To us it is left to so live that we shall meet him again in "The Sweet By-and-By." May the great comforter give to the aged parents grace to bare this sore trial and see in it the hand of Him who loved us and gave himself for us. W. H. R.

Ode to the Calamity Howler.

Bury the calamity howler out in the woods, in a beautiful hole in the ground, where the wood-pecker pecks and the straddle bug straddles around. He is no good in the city of push; too impractical, stingy and dead; but he wants the whole earth and the crust, and the stars that shine overhead. Then hush him off to the bumble bee's roost, and bury him deep in the ground; he's no use to us here; get him out of the way, and make room for a man that is sound.—Louisville Times.

England Must Take Notice.

The President's message on the boundary dispute between Venezuela and Great Britain is uncompromising in tone in regard to the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine. He recommends that a committee be sent to investigate the dispute and locate the "true division line." This he says is made necessary by the failure of the effort of the United States to secure arbitration.

THE REFLECTOR

Greenville, N. C.

D. J. WILSON, Editor and Proprietor

Entered at the postoffice at Greenville, N. C., as second-class matter.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 25TH, 1895.

A few days ago there was a terrible explosion at a coal mine in Chatham county in which forty three people lost their lives. It is the most horrible disaster that has ever occurred in North Carolina.

Senator Hill has introduced a bill in the Senate to repeal the law which prohibits those who served in the Confederate army and navy from holding commissions in the U. S. army or navy, and he will push it when Congress reassembles, January 3rd, after the holiday recess.

Last Thursday was a memorable day in Washington City. It was a day of excitement and surprises. The Senate passed the Venezuelan Commission bill just as it came from the House. The President sent a special message to Congress urging them not to adjourn for the holidays. There were two meetings of the cabinet and the announcement made that the country is threatened with another financial panic.

Rumors have already reached Washington of the intention of English financiers to frighten the administration by attempting to bring on a money panic by unloading American securities held by them. Those rumors cause no uneasiness here; such action would be more costly to the British than to a war would be. The silver men in Congress would welcome such a move on the part of the British, as they believe it would result in the United States setting up an independent financial policy of its own. This country has too many resources which its patriotic citizens would place at the disposal of the government to be frightened by such rumors.

One can but notice the difference in the verdicts of the juries of Jones county and Carteret county in the trial of the "Graveyard" insurance cases now being tried in the former county. Last fall every case tried at Beaufort resulted in a verdict of acquittal. Every case so far tried at Trenton has resulted in a verdict of guilty. If one half of the evidence introduced is true it could only be expected that all of the parties will be convicted. At last three of the parties have turned state's evidence and the state of facts narrated by them show that Col. Hinsdale was not far wrong when he said at Beaufort last fall: "I propose if your worship will permit me to unearth and expose to the people of this state one of the vilest conspiracies ever concocted in North Carolina."

Not infrequently there is much talk about war when there is little prospect of one. For some months there has been much discussion about war clouds in the old country but talk is about all. Now it has shifted and we have the discussion on our own soil and not without cause. For the only thing which can prevent war now is that England shall back down. The United States has spoken and there is no backward step she can take. President Cleveland's message to Congress commits unreservedly this country to war if its demands are acceded to. Congress without a dissenting vote has said you are right, we are with you. Now what will England say? This is the question. We have spoken and done a no uncertain sound. It is now England's time to respond. We have already commenced preparations for war. The session of the Senate Wednesday was devoted entirely to the matter of arranging for these preparations. The House passed a resolution appropriating $100,000 to defray the expenses of a commission to be appointed by the President to proceed at once to Venezuela to establish the line between it and British Guiana and when this is done the United States has already said to England, you come this far and no farther, and we mean what we say. I remain to be seen what she will say. She has already refused positively to have the dispute settled in this way. Will she stand by this or will she find some excuse to say, well, this is all we demanded? Let the answer be what it may the course of the United States is already marked out. We mean to enforce the Monroe doctrine peacefully if possible, if not by force and arms. The near future will decide which we will have to do.

EX-MINISTER THOS. J. JARVIS INTERVIEWED.

Expresses His Approval of the President's Message—A Firm Supporter of the Monroe Doctrine—What He Advised the English Consul General.

War Preferable to a Surrender of One iota of the Monroe Doctrine.

The recent message of President Cleveland bearing upon the dispute between Venezuela and Great Britain being the chief topic of conversation just now, and recognizing that no man within our knowledge is better prepared to give an opinion on foreign affairs than our townsman, ex-Minister Thos. J. Jarvis, and that whatever he might say would be read with more than ordinary interest, the REFLECTOR had an interview with him and his views are given in the conversation that follows:

REPORTER.—As you spent four years in South America, it may be of interest to REFLECTOR readers to have an expression of your views on the President's recent message on Venezuelan affairs, and we will be glad to publish them if you have no objection.

"I have no objection to giving them. I have read the message with great pleasure and hearty approval. I am delighted to see the President take so bold a stand in affirmation and support of the Monroe doctrine."

R.—Did you give any special attention to the Monroe doctrine while you were a Minister of the United States in South America?

"Yes, immediately after my appointment I devoted myself to the study of International Law and especially to the Monroe doctrine in its applications to South American relations with the South American countries."

R.—Did you have any occasion to assert the Monroe doctrine while you were representing this country at the government of Brazil?

"Yes. The English government was pressing the collection of a claim against the government of Brazil. The English Minister addressed a very tart note to the Brazilian Minister of Foreign Affairs which created intense excitement in the Brazilian Parliament which was then in session. The situation became so acute that it looked for some days as if the English Minister's passport would be sent to him and diplomatic relations broken off. It was at this stage of the proceedings that the English Consul General, who was a man of long experience and fine ability, had an interview with me in which these laconic and pointed questions and answers were asked and given:

English Consul General.—Are your people in earnest about the Monroe doctrine?

American Minister.—I think so.

English Consul General.—If we were to take possession of two of the Brazilian Provinces and hold them till our claims are paid, do you think your government, in the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine, would interfere?

American Minister.—Yes. My government will not permit it, and if your country does not desire to come in conflict with mine you had better not attempt it."

"In a few days the English Minister modified his attitude and the matter was amicably settled. I do not say my position on the Monroe doctrine had anything to do with the amicable adjustment of the controversy, but I will say that I heard no more of seizing Brazilian territory."

R.—Do you think a war is imminent between this country and England?

"I do not. If the President maintains his firm attitude and Congress stands up to him, I think England will find some way to adjust her difficulties with Venezuela without involving the United States in the matter. If, however, war should come, as much as it is to be deplored, it will not be as calamitous to us as a Nation as a surrender of one iota of the Monroe doctrine as Americans interpret it."

CANADA TAKES UP THE CHORUS.

Says it is an Attempt to Fasten a Quarrel on Great Britain.

St. Johns, N. B., Dec. 19.—The Daily Telegraph says: "No one who reads the Venezuelan correspondence can come to any other conclusion than that a deliberate attempt is being made by the Government of the United States to fasten a quarrel upon Great Britain. The dispatch of Mr. Olney is in tone and manner as insulting as if it had been written by the late James G. Blaine, and we may say, as illogical and unreasonable."

The Montreal Herald says of the President's message: "In the discussion of the application of the Monroe doctrine to the Venezuelan question, Lord Salisbury has achieved a signal victory over Cleveland and his cabinet. The matter will probably be amicably adjusted on the basis originally laid down by Great Britain. Mr. Cleveland has not often yielded to the demands of American politics. It is regrettable that he should have done so on the present occasion."

The Toronto Mail concludes a long article on the President's message as follows: "The commission is a very good device from Mr. Cleveland's point of view, which is evidently that of the politician who is out of votes. It would probably be long before the commission could report, but in the meantime Mr. Cleveland's firm vindication of the doctrine would be winning votes for his third term election. We may be sure, however, that whoever wins or loses in that election, not a foot of British territory will be transferred to a foreign flag by any ruling of his bluster and Monroe doctrine."

HINT ON LETTER.

Cleveland's Message—Secretary Olney

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 20.—Such a wave of enthusiastic patriotism as has greeted President Cleveland's message notifying Great Britain that the Monroe doctrine is not a historical myth, but a tangible policy that the United States is prepared to maintain by force of arms, has not been seen by the present generation. The White House has been flooded with messages by wire and mail from all sections of the country, containing not only congratulations, but offers of volunteers by thousands from organizations of veterans, both Union and Confederate. Congress forgot its past antagonism towards the President and gave him the authority to appoint a commission to investigate and report the true boundary between Venezuela and British Guiana and appropriated the money to pay its expenses, and to show Great Britain that no bluff was being made a bill has been introduced in both branches of Congress appropriating $100,000,000, to be immediately available, for strengthening the military armament on our sea-coast and the Canadian frontier. Congress, like the President, fully recognizes the tendency of European governments to make light of the Monroe doctrine, and is determined to let them learn differently, if it takes a war to teach them the lesson.

Whatever may be the opinion of people as to President Cleveland's past acts it is universally believed that his Monroe doctrine message will be known in history as the second Declaration of Independence.

Secretary Olney is also getting high commendation from all quarters. His masterly communication to Lord Salisbury is justly regarded as the best interpretation of the Monroe doctrine ever printed, one which should be used as a text book in every school in the United States. It has placed him at one bound in the front rank of American Statesmen, and was never excelled by anything written by his great predecessor in the office of Secretary of State, Daniel Webster. It has also caused his name to be very frequently mentioned as the democratic candidate for President next year.

President Cleveland has followed up his message on the Venezuelan question with another startling one upon the present apparently financial crisis, which seems now to threaten this country. He urges Congress not to adjourn for anything until they have given some financial relief which they can give. He says that there is only one way left for him to sustain the credit of this great nation and that is by issuing bonds, and that as long as he is President this credit shall be maintained at all hazards. He says our entire financial system must be changed. The President very timely puts upon Congress the responsibility of giving relief. It remains to be seen what they will do. Are they equal to the occasion?

THE SITUATION IS SERIOUS.

England Will Remain Firm in the Position She Has Taken.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—In commenting to-day upon the Venezuelan question the newspapers generally agree that the situation is much more serious than they thought it to be yesterday. In the public mind also there is a general feeling of disappointment at the action of Congress in supporting the stand taken by the President in his message to that body.

The stock exchange here and the exchanges throughout the country continue under the influence of the difficulty which has arisen between Great Britain and the United States. At the same time there is no excitement. Consols declined $\frac{1}{2}$, foreign funds were lower and Canadian stocks were lower on continued selling. The Pall Mall Gazette's money article says:

"Of course, whatever happens America will lose credit over the affair. It is particularly inopportune when many of her railways need money."

The afternoon papers all contain long editorial articles on the Venezuelan question, the general tenor of their utterances being the same as yesterday, though all agree that the matter is becoming much graver.

The Globe, a high conservative organ and a newspaper which may be supposed to be on terms of intimacy with the government, gives warning that Great Britain will remain firm, saying: "President Cleveland may appoint a dozen commissions, but England will remain firm in her refusal to recognize them and jurisdiction of this sort. This is our unalterable position, and the consequences what they may. We will never submit to such unparalleled dictation."

The Globe is also late at the recent utterances of Dr. Chauncey M. Depew, especially his references to the easy manner in which the United States could conquer Canada, remarking: "The overwhelming naval strength of England would enable her to pour troops into Canada at any sign of danger and small warships could be sent to the lakes and Chicago, Detroit and Buffalo would be utterly at their mercy."

"'Tis sweet to look back," says an exchange. Not always. Remember Lot's wife. But perhaps Lot thought it was sweet. Lot's of men would.

Of Interest to Hunters.

It is said that when the sun is visible a watch may take the place of a compass. This information will be of value to anglers and other sportsmen in emergency. Point the hour hand of a watch to the sun, and south is exactly half way between the hour and figure 12 on the watch. For example, if it be 4 o'clock point the hand indicating 4 to the sun, and the 2 on the watch indicates due south. If it be 8 o'clock in the morning point the hand indicating 8 to the sun, and the 2 on the watch indicates due south. If the hour hand be at 3, due south will be exactly half-way between 1 and 2, and so on.

What use is there in eating food when does you no good—in fact, when it does you more harm than good, for such is the case if it is not digested.

If you have a long haul for food there is no use of forcing it down, for it will not be digested. You must restore the digestive organ to their natural strength and cause the food to be digested when an appetite will come, and with it a relish for food.

Too Tired to Smile

Weak, Weary and Worn

Dizziness, Impure Blood—Cured by Hood's

Many weak and worn-out women know just what this means. In totally unfit condition for work, they force themselves through the daily routine of duties, almost too discouraged to even look for relief. But it is to be found in Hood's Sarsaparilla, which makes the blood pure, builds up the nerves, makes the weak strong and gives a cheerful spirit. Read this:

"I have suffered more than tongue can tell from dizziness and severe pains in my head. I also felt so low spirited that I often said I wished I was dead. A friend suggested that I try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I gave it a trial and was more than surprised to see what a great change came over me after I had taken the first bottle. I felt better right away. I have now taken nearly five bottles and am happy to say I am entirely cured. I would advise all suffering on account of impure blood to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It will cure." Mrs. Wm. Smith, 319 E. 88th St., N. Y. City.

The Musical.

There is a rare treat in store for those who attend the musical under the management of Miss Ione May, in the Opera House Friday evening, 27th. She will be assisted by Mr. and Miss Swan, of New York, as well as by the best home talent. Miss Swan has participated in a number of entertainments at the north, and the press spoke in highest terms of her. The Jefferson County (N. Y.) Journal says: "Miss Swan has a rich, powerful voice of sympathetic quality to which is added thorough cultivation and perfect articulation."

The Watertown (N. Y.) Times, speaking of an entertainment, says: "The crowning delight of the evening was a fine rendering of the solo, 'Give ear, O Israel,' by Miss Marietta Swan, which she sang with such power and sweetness gave us a new revelation of the possibilities of her glorious voice."

For the closing piece Miss Swan surprised the audience by appearing in a new role, that of elocutionist. In this also she surpassed herself. Miss Swan has surely the elements of success in her make up in that she adds to natural gifts of a high order, intense and persistent application to her studies, and a determination to reach the highest point of excellence in anything she undertakes.

Fine Tobacco.

The lot of tobacco 125 pounds, that sold on the Star Warehouse floor on Friday at 93 cents a pound, was resold and on the second sale brought $1.50 a pound. There has never been any finer tobacco on the market.

Good Man For The Place.

Mr. Editor:—It is currently circulated from the postoffice authority that our townsman, Hon. G. B. King, is in Washington City conferring with President Cleveland and expects to be appointed one of the commission to establish the Venezuela boundary. Pitt county is proud of her sons and she can furnish men capable for any position in the gift of the country. We congratulate Mr. King.

Off for the Holidays.

Several of the tobacco boys left Saturday to spend the holidays at home, or at the home of their best girl.

Capt. E. M. Pace went to Wilson to play Santa Claus for the children.

N. H. Whitfield went to Oxford. "Uncle Sandy" Andrews, D. J. Walker and E. R. Aiken went to Durham.

The REFLECTOR wishes all the boys a merry Christmas.

The Benefit Sale.

At Friday's tobacco sale two of the warehouses devoted a part of the proceeds for benevolent purposes. The Star gave one-half its net commissions to the Oxford Orphan Asylum, and the amount is $20. The Eastern gave one-fourth its gross commissions to the King's Daughters, amounting to about $38. These are good contributions and make nice Christmas offerings to the objects for which they go. The proceeds at the Star Warehouse would have been much larger but they had the last sale on Friday.

Mighty True.

We overheard an old colored man lecturing his son a few days ago. It seemed as if his son wanted to get married. It was in this wise:

"You is a fool nigger. De idee of you getting married and settling down. Why it is all an unnecessary expense. About three months ago I married as pretty a gal as ever broke into a chicken coop, about two weeks ago she laid right down and died and I never felt so shame in all my life. Now look er here boy, if you got an idee of getting married and settling down, take my advice, stay single and settle up first."

Home From School.

There was a large, jolly crowd around the depot Friday evening, many having gone up to meet the boys and girls who were coming home from school to spend the holidays, and when the train rolled in there were many joyous greetings exchanged. Those who returned were Misses Bettie Tyson and Myra Skinner, from Salem; Misses Rosalind Rountree and Rosa Hooker, from Richmond; Misses Bessie Harding, Mand Blow and Ada Tyson, from Greensboro; Miss Mattie Hearn, from Littleton; Charlie O'Hagan, Preston Cotten and Julius Fleming, from Oxford; J. B. Jarvis and J. F. Davenport, from Chapel Hill; E. F. Mumford, J. B. Jackson and Fountain Cox, from Wake Forest; S. W. Erwin, from Trinity; J. M. Moore, from Raleigh.

College Entertainment.

The entertainment Friday evening by the pupils of the Collegiate Institute was a very interesting and enjoyable occasion. All the pieces were so well rendered that we do not make special mention of any but give the full programme. Some of the participants who were only beginners did remarkably well.

This is About Pencils.

When a business man uses a lead pencil he wants a good one. The Reflector Book Store offers the largest variety in town to select from, all the way from 5 cents a dozen to 10 cents each. Try a "Triangular" or "Diamond" and you have something good.

Advertising Sells the Goods.

A gentleman who had just called for an article he saw advertised remarked yesterday, that people now-a-days look to the columns of the newspaper to learn where such articles as they wish to purchase are kept, and he is right. The day of walking from store to store in search of an article wanted is a thing of the past, and the wise business man is the one who keeps his advertisement in the paper.

Obstructs the Crossing.

We hear some complaint about the length of time freight cars are allowed to stand on the Dickerson avenue crossing near the depot. One gentleman says he was kept waiting three fully half an hour before he could get by. The railroad people could easily remedy this by uncoupling the cars and leaving the crossing open when it is necessary for the train to stand down the track. Then people could not complain.

Haydn-Boyd.

At 6 o'clock this morning at the home of Mr. John F. Boyd, father of the bride, near Greenville, Mr. W. T. Haydn, of Washington City, and Miss Elizabeth Boyd were married by Rev. A. Greaves. The couple took the morning train for a few days at Norfolk and Old Point, and will reach their home in Washington Saturday. Mr. Haydn is a very popular drummer and well known in mercantile circles. The bride is one of Pitt's handsomest young women.

His Skull Cracked.

There was trouble between two negroes out in Carolina township, a few days ago, that may cost one of them his life. One went to the house of the other on Sunday and appropriated a suit of clothes to use that day. He went back later and started to put the suit on again to wear it off. The other negro and his wife were both home then and the latter told him to let the clothes alone. He threw a brick at her, striking her in the face when her husband picked up an axe and cracked the assailant's skull with it. The wounded man was still in a critical condition at last accounts.

Bethel Items.

BETHEL, N. C., Dec. 19.—Rev. W. A. Forbes returned from the Methodist conference at Elizabeth City yesterday.

J. L. Sugg and J. A. Dupree, of Greenville and N. B. Dawson of Conetoe, spent to-day in town.

P. J. White, of Richmond, Va., is here adjusting the loss of S. T. Carson caused by the fire last week.

At the residence of Mr. M. D. Whitehurst the bride's father, on Wednesday, December 18th, 1895, Herbert Brown was married to Miss Agnes Whitehurst, Elder Samuel Moore officiating.

JIMMIEBOY'S LETTER TO SANTA CLAUS.

Dear Santa Claus, if you could bring A patent doll to dance and sing, A five-pound box of caramels, A set of reins with silver bells; An elephant that roars and walks, A Brownie doll that laughs and talks, A humming top that I can spin, A desk to keep my treasures in, A boat or two that I can sail, A dog to bark and wag his tail, A pair of little bantam chicks, A chest of tools, a box of tricks; A scarlet suit of soldier's togs, A spear and net for catching frogs, A bicycle and a silver watch, A pound or two of butterscotch; A small toy farm with lots of fress, A gun to load with beans and peas; An orange and a music box, A double set of building blocks— If you will bring me these I say, Before the coming Christmas day, I sort of think, perhaps, that I'd Be pretty nearly satisfied.

—Harper's Young People.

There is a great deal of sumnens in our lives. We go through the regular daily routine of work, we walk the same streets, we see the same faces, we idle away time at the same stores, we tell the same jokes, hear the same funny stories, and such is the story of life in a country town.—Orange (Va.) Tobacco.

No crop varies more in quality according to grade of fertilizers used than tobacco. Potash is its most important requirement, producing a large yield of finest grade leaf. Use only fertilizers containing at least 10% actual

Our pamphlets are not advertising circulars. They are practical works, containing latest researches on the subject of fertilization, and are really helpful to farmers. They are sent free to the address.
