CARD FROM MR. C. C. MOORE.

How the Nomination Was Taken From Him.

Charlotte, N. C., July 6th, 1908. EDITOR REFLECTOR:

It certainly is comforting to a defeated candidate to know how deeply concerned so many friends are in the case.

My friends in Pitt county want to know how a candidate, going into the convention with the large instructed vote and backed by more votes at the polls than was any other candidate, as was my case, how could such backing be defeated?

Before giving any reason for my defeat, I want to tell my friends in Pitt, that I am not in the least sore, I am not sulking, I am not abusing any body, and I am not to support with all my might our State ticket, and we must elect every man on it.

But I am for clearing out of our party all fraud and all appearance of fraud, I want the farmers especially to read this carefully and ponder on what I write.

There was held a ballot primary in several counties, nearly every county precinct, the farmers gave me a large majority over other candidates, three counties respected the vote of the farmers and cast it for my nomination at the convention, the delegates from other counties disregarded the vote of the farmers and gave my vote to another candidate who was nominated.

The most outrageous insult to the farmers was from the Catawba county delegation.

At the primary in that county my majority was as three-fourths of the convention vote of the county.

On Saturday June 27th, the delegation from Catawba came and divided the vote and entered into an agreement to cast the vote as follows, one for Scott, two for Graham, seven for Moore, if Scott drops out, Moore to have 8 and Graham 2 votes.

My friends on the delegation were called away, when the vote was taken, the remaining delegate voted the full 10 votes for Graham.

On his return to Catawba county he was asked why he had broken faith with his fellow delegates? His answer was "I expected nothing from Mecklenburg, and being the nominee for the senate from the district, composed of Catawba and Lincoln (Maj. Graham's home county) I gave the vote to Maj. Graham."

Now my Pitt county friends, you see that our convention system will not accomplish the expressed wishes of the farmer, even though he cast a ballot in the box, making a choice of candidates.

What we want and must have is a State wide legalized primary all over the State on the same day. The farmers can force the adoption of the primary and I hope they will demand it.

I am pleased to tell my Pitt friends that Mecklenburg gave your candidate, Col. Grims, a handsome vote, both in the primary and in the convention.

My friends in Pitt will be surprised and disappointed when I tell them that not one vote of Pitt county was cast for my nomination—why this was I do not know, but I do know that I have many friends in the county who wished that I should have the nomination.

Now with all the political forces against me, with the rebuke of me of my primary vote, with many delegates voting quite contrary to what they knew

RECKLESS AARON BURR.

The Dramatic Story of His Marriage in Old Age.

The story of Aaron Burr's marriage in his old age to the widow of Stephen James, who was well known in the early history of New York city, is a dramatic one.

Conceive, if you will, the picture of Burr, gifted, adventurous, that he was, broken in health, branded in the popular mind as the murderer of Alexander Hamilton, and surrounded by a long and gloomy past.

He had once been the political monarch of all he surveyed and a distinguished figure in society and in the law. Conceive, if you can, this illustrious old man, standing through his wrinkles, bowing and leaning on a cane, with his mouth full of pretty platitudes, paying court to the widow of Stephen James, herself in the prime of years and health. Remove from the picture its surface incongruities, and you have a bit of pure pathos in the annals of old-time great men.

But something of his old-time power to charm the gayer set must have stood by him in his years of mental and physical misery, for in his suit for the widow James' hand and fortune he was gloriously triumphant. He had been rejected repeatedly, Burr finally given a glacial day he would arrive at the James mansion, accompanied by a clerk, and he would marry them on the spot. He would have his prospective bride no quarrel, no chance of escape from the fastidious.

Was he amused at the threat and dismissed the old man with more than his usual courtesy of dismissal. Burr stuck to his avowed and one July day rolled up in a carriage, and with him was a minister, the same who fifty years before performed the marriage ceremony for Burr and the mother of his daughter, the beautiful Theodosia. There was something of a scene in the old house on that day. There were tears of anger on the part of Burr. Relatives remonstrated. Burr remained unmoved. He had a right to marry the minister, who in hand, stood unflinchingly in the background. There were more tears, more declarations of undying love between the bride and groom. Burr was married.

BIG RENT FOR MARKET STALLS.

This Bit of W. N. Froerty in Demand.

Bids at Auction Run Prices Away Up Yonder and Bidders Don't Want to Pay—Aldermen to Consider.

That parcel of town property known as the market house has once more bobbed up in a way that has put folks to talking while some of the aldermen are thinking over just what is best to do in the situation.

The town some years ago built a market house on the corner of Cotach and Fifth streets, and allowed fresh meats to be sold from the stalls of the market. Of course this was to return some revenue in return for the town's investment, but at the same time it created a monopoly in the market business that has $14,825. In 1908 the value is imposed a much larger tax on the consumers than the town treasury has realized from rentals.

And the market business has been to be looked upon as quite lucrative, those engaged in it charging any price they pleased for what was on sale, and the consumer had to come down with the price or not consume, as there was no where else to buy.

The four front stalls have been renting for $10 per month, but Friday when the chairman of the market committee went to let out the stalls, a auction he found something doing that swelled the town's prospective income from market rents away on yonder. There were some bidders on hand, and the way they bid on those front stalls showed that some other folks wanted to get in the market business. For instance stall No. 1 was bid off to the present occupant at $26.75, No. 2 at $20.25, No. 3 at $15.25, and No. 4 at $12.75. It was a big jump, but the bidders run it up to these figures.

When the clerk went down this morning to collect the rents he was at first confronted with a refusal to pay on the ground that the price was too high. That put a new face on the situation, for the price the clerk demanded was just what the occupants had bid in open contest.

It is high for a fact, but low come it high? And if it has to be paid who will foot the bill? It looks like another case "in the neck" for the consumer. Again if a man bids so much for a thing have the aldermen a right to make it less? And why not do away with the whole thing and let anybody sell meats under proper regulations so the people can get something to eat at living prices?

These are just a few of the questions now heard on the street, and which we understand the board of aldermen will meet in special session Monday to consider. You can take the case, gentlemen, and we hope you will come out of the knotty proposition in the way that is best for the town.

BRICK TALK NO 1

If pressed brick has beauty and costs too much. Cost is the objection, but if common brick has less and has not beauty in the objection. But if you could get a pressed brick appearance with every advantage with a quality pressed brick, it would be a great thing. Well, that is the kind of brick we have. Write us for samples, prices, freight rates or come to see us and convince your self. If we have what you want you'll be saved. If not by the other fellow and you'll be lost. Place your order for quick delivery.
We are located on East Carolina St. R. R. and also have good rates to points on A. T. L. and N. & S.

Cannon Balls.

A pile of some forty odd cannon balls weighing about 40 pounds each, attracted much attention around the court house square today. These cannon balls were sent here by Congressman John R. Small to be used in connection with the Confederate memorial. At present they form a mound about the center of the court house square.

KERN FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

Indiana Man Put on the Ticket With Bryan.

Denver, Col., July 10.—The Democratic National convention concluded its labor here this afternoon by the nomination of John Worth Kern, of Indiana, for vice president, completing the ticket on which William Jennings Bryan was made the nominee during the early hours of this morning. The nomination of Kern was made by acclamation and the resounding cheers of delegates and spectators. No ballot was necessary as the tide of sentiment had set irresistibly toward the Indiana statesman, state after state registering their votes in his favor and all other candidates withdrawing before the universal demand for his nomination.

The convention, after adjourning at daylight with the nomination of Mr. Bryan resumed its session at 1 p. m. with a powerful undercurrent already in motion toward the nomination of Kern for the second place. On the call of states Indiana presented the name of Kern. Colorado through former Governor Thomas, placed in nomination Charles A. Towne, of New York; Connecticut placed Archibald McNeill, and Georgia, Clark Howell. The names of Judge George Gray, of Delaware and of John Mitchell, of Illinois, were not presented, owing to the explicit requests of these gentlemen not to have their names go before the convention.

For a time it looked as though a ballot would be required. But the steady line of States which joined in seconding Kern's nomination soon made it apparent that the chances of all other candidates had been extinguished. Mr. Towne in person was the first candidate to recognize the decisive nature of the Kern movement, and in a ringing speech withdrew his name and pledged his support to the ticket of Bryan and Kern. Withdrawals quickly followed from the supporters of Howell, of Georgia, and McNeill, of Connecticut, leaving the Indiana candidate alone in the field.

The withdrawal of the Connecticut candidate was accompanied by a motion that the nomination of Kern be by acclamation. The motion was carried with a deafening shout and the great assemblage broke into clamorous demonstration on the accomplishment of its work and the completion of the Democratic National ticket.

Notice to Subscribers.
Subscribers to The Daily Reflector are asked to bear in mind that the postal laws do not allow daily papers to be mailed longer than three months on credit. This law went into effect April 1st, so those who paid up to that time should now make another remittance. We hope all who are as much as three months in arrears will make a remittance promptly without waiting for a statement to be mailed them, and thus avoid the necessity of any money being dropped from the list. You all want to keep up with the news now, so do not let your subscription get behind enough to cut your paper from the list.

It Can't Be Beat.
The best of all teachers is experience. C. M. Harden, of Silver City, N. C., writes: "I have found that Electric Bitters does what is claimed for it. The fare for the round trip will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children between the ages of 6 and 12 years. Everybody is invited to go with the Sunday school and enjoy this excursion.

Children Should Learn
Use of Money—Begin Teaching Them at an Early Age.
I believe in teaching children at an early age to financiers; or, you may term it, to use money properly, says a contributor to the August Designer. We have made it a practice for two years to give our boy, who is now eight years old, a certain stipulated sum every week for his spending-money. We find he has become a splendid "banker." Out of this fund he is required to buy all his incidentals, such as tablets, colors and pencils. In two years he has managed to save six dollars, which he has out on interest. Of course, we buy his shoes and clothes and pay his big expenses. It is certainly surprising how well he has learned to compute interest and to "count well the cost" before he spends money.

More Convenient to Meet Early.
There being doubt in the minds of some as to the reason for calling the congressional convention together at the early hour of 9 a. m., the chairman deems it proper to announce that upon this hour in order that the delegates from the north side of the sound could leave for their homes on the same day after the convention adjourned.

The Remedy That Does.
"Dr. King's New Discovery is the remedy that does the best for me. I have tried many others, but this is the only one that has cured me. It is a most excellent medicine. Mr. Harden is right. It is the best of all medicines also for women's, lame back, and all run down conditions. Best tonic for children and adults. Sold under guarantee at J. L. Wooten's drug store. 50c."

Best The World Affords.
"It gives me unbounded pleasure to recommend Bucklen's 'Ain't a Salve,' says J. W. Jenkins, of Chapel Hill, N. C. 'I am convinced it's the best salve the world affords. It cured a felon on my thumb, and it never fails to heal every sore burn or wound to which it is applied. 25c at Wooten's drug store.'

HE STOPPED HIS PAPER.
Because Something That Was in it Didn't Please Him.
Some time ago a cranky sort of an old man came into this office and stopped his paper because something in it did not just suit his fancy. We have met him several times since on the street and it is interesting to see the surprised look on the old fellow's face that we are still in existence regardless of his paper. Some day—and that will not be long either—that old gentleman will turn up his toes. Neighbors and friends will follow his lifeless clay to the silent city and lay it among the flowers. An obituary will be published in these columns telling what a good neighbor and beloved citizen he was, which the recording angel will overlook for charity's sake, and in a short time he will be forgotten. As he lies out there in the cold, cold ground, wrapped in the silent slumber of death, he will never know the last kind word spoken of him by the editor of the paper which in life he so spitefully "stopped."

Did you ever pause, reader, for a moment and think of the editor of your paper, who ever he may be, will write your obituary some day? If the writing of the obituary, a class who never have a right to say, nor the price of a word, was all, many editors would be that the barons of the press, light.—Snow Hill Localist.

CHAS. G. JOYNER DEAD. GIRL MURDERED IN NEW YORK.

One of the Most Prominent Native North Carolinians in Baltimore. Another horrible murder has been committed in the state of New York, this time near Troy. Hazel Drew, a beautiful young governess, died while fighting for her honor at the hands of a scoundrel who is yet unknown. Miss Drew's body was thrown in a small pond to convey the impression that she committed suicide. The clues of her murder were carefully concealed, but the authorities think they will soon have enough evidence to make arrest as they have several clues leading to the guilty party. Evidence at the coroner's autopsy shows that the girl had not been ravished but died fighting for her honor.

United States to Spend $75,000,000.

Washington, D. C., July.—Plans are going forward with all haste for the expenditure of $75,000,000 by the government for necessary supplies.

That amount was voted to be disbursed for necessities in every department controlled by federal power and it is thought the disbursement will do much toward restoring good times.

Ice by New Process.

Charlotte is soon to have an ice machine manufacturing plant. The machine will make ice by a new process which will greatly reduce the price and will enable every family to have a plant at home. The machine that they have turned out will have capacities ranging from five tons to 100 tons. An ordinary 16 candle current will operate the 100 pound capacity machine.

You Must Register.

Candidates for county offices should bear in mind that they must register their names with the chairman or secretary of the executive committee, and pay the prescribed fee, or their names will not be voted in the primary.

Salt is a Necessary.

"Salt is a most necessary article of food," says a well known scientist. "All races of mankind, either civilized or in a savage state, have the same regard for salt. In parts of central Africa the natives regard salt as a luxury and will willingly do much to obtain it. So much do they like the taste of salt that the ashes of the burnt wild grass are used to season their meat. These ashes contain sulphate, which imparts the coveted flavor to food. Animals, too, are fond of salt. In a wild state they will readily go to a spring of water which has been salted. So, too, men know this and use it as a salt."

The Cotton Plant.

So far as we know, the cotton plant originated in India, probably in Malabar. The earliest writings of that country, dating back as far as 600 B. C., speak of the manufacture of cotton cloth. Herodotus speaks of "trees in India that bear a white fleece like wool." He had in mind the cotton plant. Cotton was cultivated by the Peruvians and Mexicans before the discovery of America, as the records clearly show.—New York American.

Men's Dress.

Men are dressed as they are chiefly because of their look. Modern dress is a result of modern dress. It gives no undue advantage to the well built and handsome. It detracts from their appearance and modifies the figures of those not blessed with a fine physique.—Court Journal.

Small Fire at Winterville.

This morning about 11 o'clock fire broke out in the boiler room of the A. G. Cox Mfg. Co., at Winterville. The alarm was turned in and aid came promptly. After about an hour or more of desperate fighting by the employees of the company and citizens of the town the fire was extinguished. The loss is estimated about $40.

This is the second fire that has occurred there in the past ten days.

Alta, Priest's Slayer, Tries to Escape Death.

Canon City, Col., July 14.—Seizing a moment when his guard's back was turned toward him and the door of his cell was unlocked, Giuseppe Alta, slayer of Father Leo, of Denver, felled the man he thought the only barrier between himself and liberty and made an attempt to fight his way out of the penitentiary.

The Italian was immediately overpowered by the men on the death watch seated in front of the cell door, and the almost unconscious deputy warden was taken from the cell. The door was closed on Alta and he remained in his usual phlegmatic demeanor.

IMPROVEMENT OF COUNTY ROADS. CONGRESSMAN SMALL WORKING TO GET GOV. ENGINEER HERE.

The Opportunity Offered to Have Better Public Roads Throughout Pitt County.

On the first Monday in this month Congressman John H. Small appeared before the board of commissioners of Pitt county relative to the acceptance of an offer made by the director of public roads of the United States department of agriculture, to the effect that the director would furnish the services of a consulting and advising road engineer for one year if the commissioners would employ a competent person to have immediate charge and supervision of the construction and maintenance of the roads of the county.

The matter was discussed at some length between the congressman and the commissioners, when it was agreed to have a government road engineer appear before the commissioners at the meeting of the board the first Monday in August. Congressman Small accordingly made application to the department for the engineer to be sent here, but has received a letter from the director of public roads advising that as this is the busiest season of the year with the department the engineer could not be sent here to confer with the commissioners earlier than the September meeting of the board.

This is a matter in which the entire county should be greatly interested, as every citizen feels the need of better public roads. The chamber of commerce at its last meeting appointed a committee to confer with the county commissioners relative to road improvements, and to urge the acceptance of the offer made through Congressman Small for the services of the government engineer. The need of better roads is too apparent for argument, and this proposition affords an opportunity of getting our roads improved at less cost than ever has been presented or may be presented again. All interested should talk with the commissioners and urge the acceptance of the offer.

HAD A CLOSE CALL.

Almost Drowned in the Sound While Returning From Surf.

Mr. T. D. Blackburn, a tobacco auctioneer of Greenville, was among the excursionists to Morehead last Sunday and had a thrilling experience. He was on one of the sharpies returning from a trip over to the surf, and was reclining very carelessly on the deck rail. He was cautioned as to his position but did not heed the warning. As the pilot of the sharpie was about to shift course the boat took a sudden dip and overboard Mr. Blackburn went into the sound where the water was very deep.

Instantly the boat turned about to rescue the man overboard and for a time all was excitement. A box was first thrown him and this helped to keep him afloat. The boat was difficult to manage on such short turns and Mr. Blackburn was run over several times before he was finally picked up and hauled back on board. He was pretty well used up and has not yet fully recovered from his experience.

Democratic Executive Committee Adopts Resolutions Concerning Its Policy.

Lincoln, Neb., July 14.—The appointment of a sub-committee of eleven to meet at the Auditorium Annex in Chicago on July 25 to name a chairman of the Democratic National committee and the adoption of a resolution providing for making public campaign contributions were the principal accomplishments of the national committee meeting with W. J. Bryan and J. W. Kern at Fair View today. Democrats the country over were called upon to form clubs immediately to aid the campaign work.

"The resolution concerning campaign contributions is outlined as follows:

No contributions shall be accepted from corporations.

No contribution over $10,000 shall be accepted.

All contributions over $100 will be made public October 15, thereafter immediate publication will be given.

Contributions over $100 will not be published.

No money will be received after November 1st.

An Inspiring Record.

It is generally understood that in a mutual life insurance company the insured are partners engaged in the business of providing indemnity, and sharing the profits that may be derived. Unlike many business enterprises in this there is little danger of the investor losing the capital he has invested. If the recent examination of the New York insurance companies had accomplished nothing more than to furnish the assurance that the great institutions were "absolutely sound" the work should be commended. There never has been a question that the original amount of the insurance expressed in a Mutual Life contract would be paid at its maturity.

The question of the amount of profits to be divided among the "partners" however, is another matter. These are decided by the methods of the management or the general success of the business. An extravagant management is likely to result in a decreasing rate of dividend, while careful and economic methods are likely to result in an increased amount of profits to be divided. Under its present management the financial reports of The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York have shown a constantly increasing sum to be distributed as dividends among the insured, as will be seen by the following record taken from the reports issued by the State department:

Dividends paid in 1905, $2,758,008.99.

Dividends paid in 1906, $2,785,919.15.

Dividends paid in 1907, $4,381,483.34.

MR. H. B. HARRISS PROMOTED. High Compliment From Company is Represented.

Mr. E. R. Ferguson, the new general agent for North Carolina with headquarters at Charlotte of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, was in Greenville Friday to see the local agent, Mr. H. B. Harriess. While here the congressman highly complimented Mr. Harriess, saying he made the deepest and best record in the reports of any agent in the State, in consequence of his good record and loyalty to the company. Mr. Harriess, who heretofore had charge of only Pitt county, has been made superintendent of a district embracing this and several neighboring counties.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, the Great Spirit has seen fit to call away the brother of Brother W. L. Patrick, be it resolved:

1st. That we the members of Winterville Tribe No. 35, do sympathize with Brother Patrick in his distress and commend him to the Great Spirit, our comforter and only refuge.

2nd. While we sympathize with Brother Patrick in his sad hours of bereavement, may he find comfort in the meeting in the Hanting Grounds of the Great Spirit, whence no traveler returns.

3rd. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to Brother Patrick, a copy be spread upon the records and a copy sent to the Reflector, with request that they be published.

HEADS VERSUS LUNGS.

Some Sensible Observations on the Men in the Convention.

The average delegate to a State political convention is not himself. He says and does things in the wild passion of the hour that will bring the blush to his cheek when reason returns. The fact is, the devil is much at home in a political convention. There is not the air of influence that is not wholesome for the soul. At the late Charlotte meeting many foul things were done and said, and by men who ought to have known better and who did know better, but who turned themselves loose and let the devil lead them captive at his will. To be perfectly plain, the average delegate, after he has become intoxicated with the convention spirit, has no more sense than a goat. He throws reason to the winds and devotes himself to the winds of trying to make more noise than the man who sits beside him with a voice like a fog-horn. Lung power is the main thing with these delegates, and all their braying only adds to the confusion and obstructs the run of the business. But there are a few men, blessings on them, who work their heads rather than their lungs. They restrain their passions, as a trained horseman does his steeds; they keep their heads cool and clear. They have no time to shout—they are too busy controlling the shouters. After the turmoil has subsided and the clouds have cleared away, it is easy to look back and see these captains looming large above the lung artists who, sensible enough at home, are wild as bucks in Charlotte. Here, as elsewhere, these superior men attain their power by first conquering themselves, and after that it is easy enough to conquer others.—Charity and Children.
