GREENVILLE'S TRADE CONDITIONS

Abound in Money Saving Opportunities for Securing Home, Farm, and Personal Needs.

AMONG VERY BEST IN EAST NORTH CAROLINA

Large Stocks, Ample Variety of Standard Productions, Bed Rock Prices, Reliable Methods and a Courteous and an Attentive Service Maintains Unsurpassed Buying Conditions---Sketches of Greenville's Popular and Progressive Institutions and the Reasons given for their Constantly Increasing Popularity all Over Pitt County.

As has been heretofore indicated the purpose of this Trade Edition of The Reflector is in no wise historical. It's aim is to set forth and give the widest possible publicity to the advantages that prevail among Greenville's many establishments to secure all needs for the home, farm and individual uses at figures that are money saving. Figures that are the result of the efforts of progressive business men to lay down goods on their counters from the manufacturers and wholesale markets of the country at prices that stand the test of the most aggressive competition, no matter when or where it comes.

This is not mere declamation or an exaggerated or an extravagant statement. It is based on the facts as they appeal to the senses in any of Greenville's establishments. Visit a number of the stores, and one at once secures the impression of the metropolitan methods in which business is conducted. Ask for any of the standard goods that are in the market and which are the same price in New York, Philadelphia or any of the large cities and a Greenville merchant will at once produce them at their established figures. Ask for variety of make or quality or price in any of the lines, and conditions will be revealed that will convince anyone that every advantage prevails to secure satisfaction, and that there is no need whatever to go away or send away for any article whatever that is manufactured. The Greenville merchant can as a matter of fact secure for his patron anything made, and he is only too glad to procure any special needs when once assured of the earnestness and integrity of purpose of the patron.

At this particular time the stocks in all lines contain the very latest and best productions on the market, special efforts having been made for the holiday season, and the exhibits in the many stores are highly attractive and interesting, the stocks abounding in an array of appropriate and useful gifts for old and young alike.

Then, again, the great feature of reliability is the feature of all trading done in Greenville. The merchants as a class pride themselves on their reputations in this one respect and they correctly regard this reputation for reliability as their most valuable asset. Goods are sold for just exactly what they are in Greenville, there is no desire to misinform or misrepresent, for the open and candid way is the way to create satisfaction in the end, the satisfied customer is the best trade builder for any enterprise. Another consideration, and one that is not accorded with the importance that it deserves, and that is beneficial advantages that accrue to all as a community by keeping every dollar possible at home. Remember every dollar is a power in itself for development, and dollars kept at home with home merchants mean home development. The same dollars sent away mean in the same manner the development of the cities or towns to which they are sent. Remember, too, the home merchants' taxes goes to the support of schools, churches and public institutions generally, such as, for instance the building of bridges and roads and all alike share in their benefits. So that in the last analysis in patronizing the home merchant we indirectly benefit ourselves and in view of this fact he should be given the preference to supply our every need, for it is, after all, his right to expect, it is for him the SQUARE DEAL pure and simple.

Besides growing in popularity daily as a trade center in the retail lines Greenville keeps up its reputation as being one of the leading tobacco markets of the country, its warehouses are conducted by men of the utmost reliability and buyers representing all the important lines, being present at all sales to offer the highest market prices.

As an industrial location Greenville has within the past decade defined its present and future possibilities along this line, the several plants which have been located here have had successful careers and with the return of prosperity, which is now at hand, a number of improvements looking to increased capacity, hitherto contemplated, will be made.

The municipal improvements which have recently been made in brick pavements and cement sidewalks are certainly a credit to the home pride, public spirit and progressive tendencies to Greenville's citizens and for its population these improvements have placed it in a class by itself. These improvements skirting pretty homes surrounded by beautiful lawns and refreshing shade compel the admiration of the visitor and he can be excused should he profuse in compliments for they are highly appropriate and deservedly merited. As business people and as citizens the spirit of progress prevails in Greenville and with this spirit present, nothing, barring Providential visitations, can check Greenville's onward course in mercantile and industrial pursuits, for present advantages and future possibilities have given it the distinction of being the Queen City of Eastern Carolina--a town where enterprise is welcomed and where alertness and industry crowd the hours with moments of activity. Come to Greenville and get in the push.

THE JOHN FLANNAGAN BUGGY CO.

Manufacturers of Buggies, Phaetons, Carriages, Etc.

It is a pleasure to note the presence in Greenville of an establishment which is representative of the best ideals in its business, in character of operative facilities and productions; a concern whose nameplate is the assurance and guarantee of first class workmanship and prime quality material, an enterprise which has reached a position of popularity and distinction along the path of merit and, although not classed among the largest manufacturing industries of its kind in the country, still what is lacking in magnitude is made up in superiority. These remarks may sound as being idly complimentary, but, nevertheless, they are but the cold record of a fact, and they apply with special emphasis and appropriateness to the John Flannagan Buggy Co., founded by the late John Flannagan in 1866, and whose policies are enforced down to their very details by its present owners and managers. Today, as for the past forty-two years of its career, this concern responds to every demand in the construction of first quality vehicles comprising buggies, carriages, phaetons, runabouts, both steel and rubber-tired. These vehicles are shipped to points all over the entire South, being sold largely through the medium of catalogues. The enviable reputation of the concern for superior work, all of which is guaranteed for one year, and the absolute reliability of its prices making this a successful sales method as a result of the constant inquiry and demand for the Flannagan vehicle. Traveling representatives visit the trade in Georgia and Florida in which territory a constantly increasing business is being done. The John Flannagan Buggy Co. occupy their own newly constructed and modernly appointed three story brick factory and office building which is located at the corner of Cotnam and Fourth streets. This building is equipped throughout with the very latest machinery and appliances for the needs of the business and which are all operated by electric power. This substantial structure is 65x155 feet in dimensions and has a total floor area aggregating 20,025 square feet, and which, with a well equipped blacksmith shop in the rear, supplies facilities for the select force of workmen employed to turn out in the neighborhood of three thousand vehicles per annum.

In the construction of these vehicles only first-class iron, steel, wood, points and trimmings are used and only the best of mechanical skill employed. Every detail of construction receives the closest and constant supervision, for the Flannagan Buggy Co. standard can only be reached through vigilance, expertness and prime quality material. Since the business was incorporated in 1904, the officers are and have been E. G. Flannagan, President and General Manager; T. M. Hooker, Secretary, and W. E. Hooker, Treasurer. As, at present organized, the spirit and policy of its executive officers has been of a truly progressive character in new factory buildings, the best mechanical equipment and methods of conducting the business generally. They are all among the esteemed citizens and business men of Eastern North Carolina and are certainly to be commended for their enterprise in their identity with an industry which is and ought to be a credit in its line and which is a constant source of pride to the community in which it flourishes. Mr. E. G. Flannagan, the President and General Manager of the business, is the son of its founder, John Flannagan, under whose immediate guidance he has acquired pronounced mechanical ability in all the departments of manufacture. He is connected with several successful enterprises, being a director of the Greenville Banking and Trust Co., one of Eastern North Carolina's prosperous monetary institutions.

GREENVILLE LUMBER AND VENEER COMPANY.

Manufacturers of Rough and Dressed North Carolina Pine Lumber, Box Shooks, Truck Barrels, Baskets and Crates.

In the magnitude of its operations and in its standing among the industries in North Carolina in its line the Greenville Lumber and Veneer Company enjoys the distinction of being amongst the first in importance. This concern was established in 1903 by a group of enterprising men who saw the present and future possibilities for milling operations to supply packages of all kinds for the shipment of truck productions, the cultivation of which is increasing yearly throughout this entire section. They secured several acres of land near the Coast Line and the Norfolk & Southern tracks, and with the best possible railway facilities assured they erected on the property a saw mill having a daily capacity of 12,000 feet, a box factory with capacity equipment for 3000 feet, a veneer factory with a combined output of 1,500 barrels and 1,500 baskets daily, dry kilns with a capacity of 10,000 feet of lumber, and a lumber shed 500 feet in length. Being practically of recent construction, the mechanical equipment is of the very latest type for quick work and labor saving methods, so that in this important feature the facilities possessed are unsurpassed. Then, again, this concern has secured a position which enables it to control all the conditions from the stump to the finished product, and to quote constantly on this basis bed rock prices on quantity consignments, guaranteeing a prompt and reliable delivery and conforming in every particular to the letter of the agreement. The Greenville Lumber and Veneer Company make a specialty of box shooks, truck barrels, baskets and crates, which are shipped to all points in Virginia and North Carolina to supply the needs of the truck farmers of that section. All these goods are made to resist the rough usage incident to the marketing of productions by the various methods of transportation, and their strength and durability are the features which commend them to patrons season after season and increases the demand from all directions when once their merits are introduced and established. This concern manufactures and ships constantly rough and dressed lumber in general to the leading markets of the North and East where a select patronage has already been established. Employment as it does in busy seasons, nearly 100 persons in the departments the inception of this enterprise was a valuable acquisition to Greenville, and has been all along a pronounced source of the progress which marks itself in every direction, for it is a well known fact that the development of every community of the permanent character comes only through industrial operations which employ large forces of workmen. The pay roll of these establishments goes out in all directions, so that its influences are far reaching in the substantial benefits conferred. The officers of the Greenville Lumber & Veneer Co. are: A. B. Miner, President; O. G. Calhoun, Vice-President; W. M. Pugh, General Manager and Geo. H. Cole, Secretary. As General Manager, Mr. Pugh is burdened with all the responsibilities of the business. Since his connection with the company he has discharged efficiently the duties of book-keeper and lumber inspector, in both of which positions he acquired valuable knowledge and experience preliminary to his acceptance of the office of general manager in September, 1906, in which he has demonstrated pronounced executive ability in carrying out successfully settled plans and policies in the interests of the business.

THE REFLECTOR'S ANNIVERSARY.

This trade edition of The Reflector is issued on the date of the anniversary of the paper so we are letting it celebrate this occasion by calling it our anniversary-holiday edition, therefore will mix a little shop talk with the good things this number contains.

The Eastern Reflector, our weekly edition, began its career in January, 1882, hence is now closing its 27th year. The Daily Reflector was started December 10th, 1894, and is just fourteen years old. The history of the two papers is well known to our readers, as there are some names now on our subscription list that started with the first issue of the weekly back in 1882.

Through these years we have never found the newspaper business a gold mine, as we started with less than nothing—that is in debt—and had to work our way up as best we could with many difficulties to overcome and all kinds of obstacles to encounter. But we loved the work, and we loved the town, the county and the people the paper served, and by sticking to it and being content with the little return for the effort and energy put into it, we are here yet. We never expected people to be appreciative—that does not come in this world—but we resolved to do our duty as best we could, be the result what may.

Has the paper been worth any thing to its community? The people can be judges of this. Those who have followed its pages day by day and week by week know. The paper has never been what we wanted it to be, but just what the people helped to make it. It has always tried to be a faithful index of Greenville and Pitt county; it has never taken any man's dollar that it did not earn, but it has given the value of many dollars for which there was no return.

As in the past, The Reflector will be just what its patrons make it—that is all we can promise and all our ability will permit. If you want the paper to be better, help us to make it better. There are many ways in which this can be done. The Reflector is not ashamed of its record or of the service it has rendered its community. So we will only say now that we trust every reader and patron will get pleasure and benefit out of this anniversary-holiday edition, and that all will enjoy the coming Christmas holidays to the fullest.

BEST TOWN IN EAST CAROLINA.

This was not said in Greenville nor intended specially for Greenville to hear, but it has come to The Reflector's ear and we feel like telling the home folks about it. A man who has traveled much over Eastern North Carolina and knows all the towns hotel of another town talking about things he had run up with in his travels. Part of what he said run something like this:

"When it comes to towns, Greenville is decidedly the best town in Eastern North Carolina, and the thing that puzzles me most is that her own people don't believe it. The main trouble is the people there don't get together and stand together like they ought to. They do not seem to realize what possibilities they have in their grasp. Why, some other towns I might name have practically reached their growth, while Greenville is yet in the dawn of development. First thing you know you will see her people get together in earnest and the town will go forward almost by leaps and bounds. When those people set their heads on a thing there is no stopping them. Look what they did that training school! I told some of my friends in another town trying to get the school that it was a waste of time to be in the race with Greenville. Get the people there aroused and they are invincible. They just need to get together and grasp their opportunities. Yes, sir, you are going to see that town do wonders in the next ten years."

That is talk straight from the shoulder. It makes us feel good that the gentleman has such faith in Greenville—and his faith is well founded—but it makes us feel not so good when he says our own people do not believe in the town as they ought, and do not stand together like they should do. Yet, he spoke the truth, every word of it. The indifference of our home folks, and their disinclination to get together and stick together have done much to hold the town back. But we are beginning to get away from this backward policy, and are going to show that as a united populace we are indeed invincible. Greenville is the best town in Eastern North Carolina, and we thank the gentleman for saying this much and also for pointing out some of our short comings.

WHAT GREENVILLE HAS.

Throughout the pages of this anniversary-holiday edition of The Reflector you will find told in interesting manner what many of our business men and enterprises have done and are doing. But, kind reader, the half has not been told. Why, Greenville is just teeming with good things—it is the best town in Eastern Carolina—and the opportunities of investment here in business enterprises and manufacturing interests are many. For the home seeker and the business man this is the place. Here are a few of the things Greenville already has, and this list does not tell all:

- Population, 5,000 of the best people on the globe.
- Bank, 3.
- Building and loan association, 1.
- Buggy factories, 2; and 1 vehicle repair shop.
- Cotton ginners.
- Daily and weekly newspaper, and well equipped job printing plant.
- Hotels, 2; and 5 transient boarding houses.
- Ice plant.
- Knitting mill.
- Livery, feed and sales stables, 7.

H. L. SMITH.

Dealer in Horses and Mules, Feed Stable, Horse Shoeing.

The sales stables conducted by H. L. Smith at Greenville, are among the well known and popular enterprises of Pitt county, for on many of the farms of this section can be found horses and mules transferred from the Western stock farms through the medium of this agency.

The Smith stables are the largest and most commodious in Pitt county, being 60x275 feet, in dimensions, and fronting on two streets, are well lighted and well ventilated. Because of the excellent facilities possessed, a large business is done in feeding and stabling horses, this department being in charge of A. L. Griffin, who has had over twenty years experience in this branch of the business.

The Smith sales stables also conduct a horse shoeing shop, where attention is given to the shoeing of horses exclusively. These shops are in charge of mechanical ability of pronounced skill, horses being shod scientifically and with direct reference to any defect or weakness in the hoof or action, the purpose being always to keep the animal on his feet and in first class condition for service. In this department the patronage of leading horse owners has been secured, for they do not underestimate the importance of intelligent effort in the shoeing of their stock. In the sales department throughout the busy season there is constant business, and the Smith Sales Stables a collection of from 50 to 100 head of horses and mules in all weights, ages and prices, so that it is an easy matter for the purchaser to make a selection. These sales are held every day, and the plant when working up to its full capacity gives employment to thirty experienced workmen and their combined efforts turn out daily twenty-five thousand of the best produced goods, a ready market in Greenville and the immediate section. W. H. Hall, Jr., the promoter and owner of this enterprise is the Secretary and Auditor and one of the promoters with C. L. Joyce, President, and Z. V. Murphy, Secretary and Treasurer. Mr. Murphy is the manager of the business at Greenville, the president of the concern being engaged in a similar line on an extensive scale at Winston-Salem, N. C. Since its inception the Hines-Murphy Company has been a thoroughly progressive enterprise, and with its established policy to manufacture only high grade goods and to handle the markets of the South, it has been able to reach and preserve the established standard.

DALL'S BRICK WORKS.

A new enterprise for Greenville, having begun operations in May, 1907, the Dall Brick Works has already secured a position of prominence and importance among architects and builders, the excellence of its productions giving this concern preference in an exhibit comprising the best efforts of twelve brick departments in the contest for supplying the brick to be used in the construction of the East Carolina Teachers Training School, work on the interior of which structure is now in progress.

The committee to assist in the building lines, so that the preference for the Dall brick is a substantial endorsement of their merits, than which no stronger could possibly be made. To turn out the Dall brick the best possible conditions have been secured in a high quality of blue clay, in the latest mechanical equipment and in expert knowledge and skill. The Dall brick is produced by means of a ready-made plant when working up to its full capacity gives employment to thirty experienced workmen and their combined efforts turn out daily twenty-five thousand of the best produced goods, a ready market in Greenville and the immediate section. W. H. Hall, Jr., the promoter and owner of this enterprise is the Secretary and Auditor and one of the promoters with C. L. Joyce, President, and Z. V. Murphy, Secretary and Treasurer. Mr. Murphy is the manager of the business at Greenville, the president of the concern being engaged in a similar line on an extensive scale at Winston-Salem, N. C. Since its inception the Hines-Murphy Company has been a thoroughly progressive enterprise, and with its established policy to manufacture only high grade goods and to handle the markets of the South, it has been able to reach and preserve the established standard.

Proprietors of Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Wholesale Dealers in Fruits and Produce.

The proprietors of the Coca-Cola Bottling Works and as wholesale dealers in fruits and produce the Hines-Murphy Company, succeeding Edward H. Besides the celebrated beverage, Coca-Cola, which is received in bulk direct from the manufacturers, the Hines-Murphy Company are the exclusive distributors in this territory for the Cascade ginger ale and for Hop ale, two productions of established merit and popularity. Since locating in Greenville this firm has introduced and marketed the retail trade of this entire section a splendid wholesale market for fruits and produce, and because of the established superiority of the facilities possessed and methods enforced the foundation for which must eventually develop into a large business has already been laid. The Hines-Murphy Company buy fruits and produce in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other leading eastern markets, and consignments of such magnitude as secure best prices and inside wholesale figures, so that conditions prevail to quote to patrons guaranteed prices. THE REFLECTOR'S ANNIVERSARY.

This trade edition of The Reflector is issued on the date of the anniversary of the paper so we are letting it celebrate this occasion by calling it our anniversary-edition, therefore will mix a little shop talk with the good things this number contains. The Eastern Reflector, our weekly edition, began its career in January, 1882, hence is now closing its 27th year. The Daily Reflector was started December 10th, 1891, and is just fourteen years old. The history of the two papers is well known to our readers, as there are some names now on our subscription list that started with the first issue of the weekly back in 1882.

Through these years we have never found the newspaper business a gold mine, as we started with a little more than that in debt—and had to work our way up as best we could with many difficulties to overcome and all kinds of obstacles to encounter. But we loved the work, we loved the town, the county and the people the paper served, and by sticking to it and being content with the little return for the effort and energy put into it, we are here yet. We never expected people to be appreciative—that does not come in this world—but we resolved to do our duty as best we could, be the result what it may.

Has the paper been worth any thing to its community? The people can be judges of this. Those who have followed its pages day by day and week by week know. The paper has never been what we wanted it to be, but just what the people helped to make it. It has always tried to be a faithful index of Greenville and Pitt county; it has never taken any man's dollar that it did not earn, but it has given the value of many dollars for which there was no return.

As in the past, The Reflector will be just what its patrons make it—that is all we can promise and all our ability will permit. If you want the paper to be better, help us to make it better. There are many ways in which this can be done. The Reflector is not ashamed of its record or of the service it has rendered its community. So we will only say now that we trust every reader and patron will get pleasure and benefit out of this anniversary-edition, and that all will enjoy the coming Christmas holidays to the fullest.

BEST TOWN IN EAST CAROLINA.

This was not said in Greenville nor intended specially for Greenville to hear, but it has come to the Reflector's ear and we feel like telling the home folks about it. A man who has traveled much over Eastern North Carolina and knows all the towns hotel of another town talking about things he had run up with in his travels. Part of what he said run something like this: "When it comes to towns, Greenville is decidedly the best town in Eastern North Carolina, but the thing that puzzles me most is that her own people don't believe it. The main trouble is the people there don't get together and stand together like they ought to. They do not seem to realize what possibilities they have in their grasp. Why, some other towns I might name have practically reached their growth, while Greenville is yet in the dawn of development. First thing you know you will see her people get together in earnest and the town will go forward almost by leaps and bounds. When those people set their heads on a thing there is no stopping them. Look what they did when they got together about that training school! I told some of my friends in another town trying to get the school that it was a waste of time to be in the race with Greenville. Get the people there aroused and they are invincible. They just need to get together and grasp their opportunities. Yes, sir, you are going to see that town do wonders in the next ten years."

That is talk straight from the shoulder. It makes us feel good that the gentleman has such faith in Greenville—and his faith is well founded—but it makes us feel not so good when he says our own people do not believe in the town as they ought, and do not stand together like they should do. Yet, he spoke the truth, every word of it. The indifference of our home folks, and their disinclination to get together and stick together has done much to hold the town back. But we are beginning to get away from this backward policy, and are going to show that as a united populace we are indeed invincible. Greenville is the best town in Eastern North Carolina, and we thank the gentleman for saying this much and also for pointing out some of our short comings.

WHAT GREENVILLE HAS.

Throughout the pages of this anniversary-edition of The Reflector you will find told in interesting manner what many of our business men and enterprises have done and are doing. But, kind reader, the half has not been told. Why, Greenville is just teeming with good things—it is the best town in Eastern Carolina—and the opportunities of investment here in business enterprises and manufacturing interests are many. For the home seeker and the business man this is the place. Here are a few of the things Greenville already has, and this list does not tell all:

Population, 5,000 of the best people on the globe.
Banks, 3.
Building and loan association, 12.
Buggy factories, 2, and 1 vehicle repair shop.
Cotton ginners.
Daily and weekly newspaper, and well equipped job-printing plant.

Trainers in Horses and Mules.

Since their introduction into horse raising, the sales stables conducted by J. E. Windlow have grown constantly in popularity among the farmers and horse owners of Pitt county, because there is to be found ready for the training of horses in any age, weight and price to suit almost every condition and purpose, because, too, representations are reliable, and the terms as liberal as possible for the training of horses and mules. From this stock farm of Missouri, Kansas, Illinois and other Western States and horse markets a car load of horses and mules arrive every week, so that the advantages are offered of supply direct from the original sources of supply, thereby eliminating the traders' profit, or the speculative features of the average horse trade. At J. E. Windlow's stables the selling of horses and mules is conducted on the high plane characteristic of every legitimate business, for the purpose sought is to please and satisfy patrons, and this is done by honest representation, satisfactory trial tests, and prices that are invariably honest equivalents. At any time there is to be found in the Windlow stables from fifty to one hundred head of horses and mules, so that conditions are the most favorable to respond promptly to every demand. Since beginning business in Greenville Mr. Windlow's reliable methods of doing business has built up a patronage which includes many of the leading farmers and prominent business men throughout this section, who depend solely on his advantages and efforts to supply their needs when the demand arises for horses and mules. Mr. Windlow also handles a line of medium to high grade bugles and wagons, also light harness. These are sold at guaranteed prices, and on the most liberal terms. Mr. J. E. Windlow is a native of North Carolina, in the vicinity of Raleigh, where he grew up in the horse business and has followed it successfully all his life. In the leading horse markets of the Western States the Windlow stables are thoroughly established for the training of horses and mules. Twenty-five scattered throughout the South. One can at a glance see the advantages possessed as large buyers, for some one or more of them are certain in this market for car load shipments, and the patronage secured exceptional inducements which are always secured in Windlow's patrons.

I. H. PENDER.

Plumbing, Steam and Hot Water Heating.

Confiding his efforts exclusively to the installation of plumbing, steam heating and hot water heating, in homes and buildings generally and to all the trades for the farmers of this section. I. H. Pender maintains in this important department of the structural lines the very best and latest methods, and has the experience and skill to render a service noted for its experienced workmanship and durability. In practically all the homes and buildings using the municipal water supply he has installed plumbing systems including closets, lavatories and bath tubs, so that his ability as a contractor and mechanic could scarcely be more thoroughly established. The same statement holds good with respect to steam and hot water heating, for his work in this line can be multiplied in and around Greenville. Mr. Pender is now at work on the installation of the plumbing, sanitary appointments and heating in the new Carolina Teachers Training School, now under construction at Greenville, and the very fact of his being awarded this large contract being in itself a substantial recognition of his expert mechanical and executive ability coming as it does from eminent authorities in architecture and building construction. The specifications on which Mr. Pender's contract is based calls for the most approved materials and appointments in plumbing and heating for the entire school building, which will require for its satisfactory execution workmanship of the highest order. In the manufacture of tobacco pipes, nice business has been done, and the business of being headquarters for the trade for this entire section.

GREENVILLE SUPPLY CO.

Wholesale Groceries.

The establishment of wholesale grocery houses at convenient distributing points has created more favorable buying advantages among retailers, for by being brought closer to the wholesale source of supply a number of money-saving advantages are constantly at hand. To be sure, the Greenville Supply Co. offers constantly the inducements of fresh goods, a reliable service and best prices. This establishment carries in its stock a large variety of meats, canned and bottled goods, extracts and spices, teas and coffee, bakers' light goods and confections, cigars and tobacco, soap, laundry supplies, and staple groceries, etc., generally. The Greenville Supply Co. has a telephone service prompt attention, and goods are shipped promptly to destination. J. W. J. and E. B. Higgins are the owners and founders of the business, which was established here in 1897, and which has since that time been a profitable and successful enterprise to introduce wholesale advantage to the retailers of this territory. They are large landowners within the corporate limits of Greenville, and have a choice of land for a new and more profitable investment. To increase their profits they are bound to increase in value constantly with its growth in business and in population.

Third Largest in North Carolina.

Pitt is the largest bright tobacco producing county in the world. Greenville is the third largest leaf tobacco market in the state, and there are two other large markets in the county, one at Ayden and one at Farmville.

HOME BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION.

One of the most potent factors in Greenville's recent development and an organization whose far reaching influences have raised economic conditions to a higher level generally is to be found in the Home Building and Loan Association of Greenville.

From this stock farm of Missouri, Kansas, Illinois and other Western States and horse markets a car load of horses and mules arrive every week, so that the advantages are offered of supply direct from the original sources of supply, thereby eliminating the traders' profit, or the speculative features of the average horse trade. At J. E. W. H. KILPATRICK.

cotton and Insurance.

As the representative of the large cotton exporting firm of Alexander Sprunt & Son, of Wilmington, N. C., W. H. Kilpatrick, through his superior facilities of being in close and constant touch with the leading foreign and domestic cotton markets has introduced and constantly maintained to the farmers throughout this section of Eastern North Carolina, unexcelled opportunities and advantages for the sale of cotton. By long distance telephone, mail and by telegraph Mr. Kilpatrick is informed constantly of the state of the market both in this country and in Europe. He is daily sales in the leading markets of total consumption by manufacturing industries from time to time and of whatever other conditions that may have any influence on present and future prices. So that with all these advantages at hand he is in a position to quote the top of the market on cotton at all times, added to which is his reputation for reliability and his disposition and ability to grade offerings strictly according to their classification in the leading markets. For several years Mr. Kilpatrick has been a successful buyer of cotton at Grifton, N. C., but established himself eighteen months ago in Greenville in order to enlarge the scope of his operations in a wider field. His advent as a buyer, representing as he does large and important cotton interests in the export trade, has been without question a valuable acquisition to Greenville. Mr. Kilpatrick's operations, adding as its importance and popularity as a selling market. Mr. Kilpatrick also conducts a general insurance agency, which is composed of several of the leading insuring organizations of the country leading fire, life and liability policies of insurance. In this department he is prepared to offer protection on terms as liberal as can be secured from companies of this position. Mr. Kilpatrick is the representative of their contract obligations, and their financial standing and past records of performance guarantee absolute security. On his books Mr. Kilpatrick has written the names of many of the leading farmers of this territory, who have demonstrated a preference for his agency because of the reliable advantages it offers in the insurance line. Mr. Kilpatrick is a native of Pitt county, in the neighborhood of Grifton, where for several years he was engaged in merchandising, and for two years in cotton buying exclusively, and in which section he is well known. Since locating in Greenville Mr. Hardee has done his full share of business in both cotton and insurance, and reports as a result of his experience at this location a profitable and encouraging future.

J. C. LANIER.

Marble Works.

The great advantage of the products of the Lanier Marble Works is its complete creative equipment that it controls at home, all the conditions to give to patrons just what they want in a tombstone, or monument, and to deliver and erect the same as they want it done. In a word the plant is in close touch with local conditions and demands in the best, most satisfactory and the most reliable service can always be rendered. The Lanier Marble Works make monuments and tombstones in all the leading and artistic designs from the humble grave marker up to the elaborate memorial, matching prices and a class of workmanship in carving, engraving and setting up that stand the test invariably of being honest equivalents. During its seventeen years career in business monuments, tombstones and every other work, in one form or another, has been done for hundreds of the leading families throughout Eastern North Carolina, and these can be found in cemeteries and private burial plots scattered all over the country. The Lanier Marble Works is represented in a number of places in Eastern North Carolina by men of standing in their several communities who offer the valuable inducement, and which in the policy of the company is carried out in every instance, of personal delivery and setting up in the cemetery by Mr. Lanier, or one of his experienced workmen, of every order sold. Mr. J. C. Lanier, the founder and owner of the business, is a native of North Carolina and from early manhood has followed the marble cutting trade, in which he enjoys the reputation of possessing expert ability. Since the inception of the business in 1891 Mr. Lanier has built up an established patronage and an excellent reputation for reliability. He renders a great deal of time in supervising the setting up and delivery of orders, leaving the shop in charge of Mr. J. B. Johnson, a mechanic of pronounced skill in all the departments of his trade.

R. H. RICKS & CO.

Staple and Fancy Groceries.

In the neatness and attractiveness of its interior arrangement and stock exhibits and in the high character and comprehensiveness of the stock equipment there is revealed the fact that the Ricks Grocery Store contains in its appointments the very best of metropolitan features and that the patronage enjoyed is select. Discriminating and extensive. This business was established about two years ago by R. H. Ricks, who conducted it in his individual capacity for one year, when W. H. Ricks acquired an interest and the style of the firm became R. H. Ricks & Co. Since its very inception the policy of the management in buying for the trade has been "not how cheap, but how good," for only goods of established purity and general excellence find a place on the shelves of counters. This policy is a sufficient explanation for the presence in the stocks of Gilbey's celebrated coffee, the Obelisk, Royal and Dunlop's Superfine flour, the F. V. Van's, the Swift Premium Beans, the Willow Farm butter, the Clara Belle cheese, the Mecklenburg ginger ale, of which latter beverage this firm is sole distributor in this section.

Many other national trade marks of high class productions in confections, delicatessen foods and fancy groceries could be given, but enough has been mentioned to define the high character of the stocks carried and the admirable style of the management to handle only the best. For this reason it is becoming a settled conviction in the community that whatever comes from the Ricks' store must be good, and that reputation simply regards the efforts of the management in maintaining conditions than which there can be no better anywhere, for there is always reward in popular appreciation. R. H. Ricks & Co. carry constantly the best of goods in the fruit and vegetable, and frequent arrivals in these lines maintain the most favorable advantages constantly. The store, the stocks and the patronage reflect a live, wide awake and a progressive management and the establishment is a valuable acquisition to any community.

SOIL MAP OF PITT COUNTY.

Government and State Representatives Are Here for the Work.

Our readers will remember that a few months ago through the efforts of Congressman John H. Small in conjunction with Dr. B. W. Kilgore, State chemist, the government ordered that a soil map of Pitt county be made. Messrs. W. E. Heern, J. C. Britton and R. B. Hardison, with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, bureau of soils, and Mr. V. P. Drane, with the N. C. Department of Agriculture, are now here to do the work of gathering the facts and statistics necessary to the publication of this county soil map. This map will contain a complete topographical description of the county. The location of different soils will be shown by different colors on the map, and samples of the different soils and sub-soils will be collected and sent to both the government and state laboratories. The map will show the location of all streams, every public road, railroads, towns, the location of all buildings of every kind and all postoffices, and also show the area of swamp lands.

In addition to this topographical information which these gentlemen will gather, they will prepare a report describing each soil type in the county, the crops grown and yields per acre, kinds of fertilizer used and quantity, prices of land, methods of cultivation, and any other useful information that can be had. The chapter on agriculture will also deal with marketing, transportation facilities, amount of land under cultivation and the amount that could be easily brought under cultivation.

This map with the reports will be published by the government and distributed free to the people of Pitt county.

The gentlemen who have come here to do this work will enter upon it at once and continue to Christmas, when they will stop until the middle of February, then beginning again and completing their investigation in April. What they have gathered will be placed with the department for publication and it will require several months more to get the maps completed. The map will be of inestimable value to the county.

To double your money in a few years, buy some lots in Glenwood Park, where the great terminals of the Virginian (Tidewater) Railway are located.

PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

Opportunity to Secure Most Valuable Norfolk Property.

One of the finest investments ever offered to the people of Greenville and Pitt county is the purchase of lots in Glenwood Park, Norfolk.

Mr. E. K. Zirkle, one of Norfolk's enterprising real estate men, and secretary of the Glenwood Park Corporation has been in Greenville for several days and has sold lots to many prominent business men, who recognize the investment as being the best they have ever known. Glenwood Park is located at Sewell's Point, Norfolk, and comprises that beautiful section of property almost immediately adjoining the terminals of the Virginia (Tidewater) Railway, (that wonderful railroad we read so much about and being owned and built, it is said, by Henry H. Rogers of the Standard Oil fame) extending from the great docks of the North, down to the sea at Sewell's Point, where the largest coal piers and grain elevators in the world are being built.

Over two millions of dollars have already been spent on the terminals in preparing the foundation for the piers and in grading the yards and shipping various buildings necessary for such a great enterprise, and it is said that the work, when completed will cost upwards of ten million dollars and will give employment to possibly 1,000 or more, skilled workmen.

There must necessarily be a demand for homes near such a great development, and to meet this demand the Glenwood Park corporation is offering lots for sale in a beautiful residential section, fronting on the Jamestown boulevard, and will install city improvements, such as nicely graded curbed streets, shade trees, granolithic sidewalks, electric lights and telephones, and residences to cost $2,000 or more, each.

It is a matter of history that wherever terminals of a great railway are located the property around it quickly builds up in homes and business houses.

Lambert's Point, Norfolk, where the terminals of the Norfolk & Western railway are located, is an example of this, for when the N. & W. railway decided to locate at Lambert's Point there was only one or two farm houses there, while today it boasts of a population of 12,000 people and points with pride to its beautiful homes and schools and churches.

The same changes, and even greater, will take place at Sewell's Point where the Virginia railway terminals are located, and what now is vacant property will soon be built up into a thriving city.

Glenwood park is located in what will be the very center of the new city, and lots that can now be purchased at $350 and $400 on easy payments, will soon be worth double that amount and be in great demand.

Several Greenville men have been up to look over the investment, and they recommend it very highly.

No lot can be sold, leased or given to any negro or person of African descent, and no spirituous liquors can be sold on the property.

Lots are sold on payments of $10 cash and $5 per month without interest or taxes.

Notice the advertisement on another page of this paper and write the company before the choicest lots have been taken.

"Marked Copy" Did the Trick.

"MARKED COPY" on a newspaper wrapper is sure to make the reader open and read.

Last year a southern man bought fifty copies of his local paper containing a suggestion for a factory location, marked them and mailed them to fifty individuals or concerns that might be interested.

Result: Twelve immediate inquiries, three propositions for the factory site, one thriving factory located which today pays wages to 175 persons living in that town.

WATCH IT PILE UP

You will never know how rapidly your money will pile up until you have purchased some lots in GLENWOOD PARK.

The greatest development ever seen is taking place at Sewell's Point, Norfolk, where the great Terminals of The Virginian (Tidewater) Railway are located and what now is vacant property will in the course of only a few years be a thriving city of beautiful homes, schools and churches.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY

To share in this great development is now offered in the purchase of one or more beautiful lots in GLENWOOD PARK and those who purchase before the prices are advanced will make money from the very start.

The Virginian Railway is working night and day building the largest terminals in the United States on its property at Sewell's Point, Norfolk, where its great Coal Piers, Warehouses and Grain Elevators are being constructed and where thousands of men will be permanently employed. A great demand for homes will quickly arise and those who own properties convenient to this work will find ready sale at profitable prices. Houses will be built for sale or rent and the sections will build up rapidly. Over 200 lots have been sold already to prominent business and professional men, not only in Norfolk, but from various sections of Virginia and North Carolina.

GLENWOOD PARK, is located adjacent to these great terminals and will meet the demand for a nice resident section. Lots are sold on payment of $10.00 cash and $5.00 per month, without interest or taxes, and all city improvements will be installed free to the purchaser. Beautiful graded streets with parks in their center, granolithic side walks, shade trees, electric lights, telephones, city water and a nice class of residences will be built. No lot can be sold, leased or given to a negro, and no intoxicating liquors can be sold on the property.

Cut out the coupon and mail to us and we will send you a map and tell you how you can double your money by buying lots in GLENWOOD PARK.

Remember that the information is cheerfully given whether you decide to purchase or not.
