

ASHEVILLE GIRL FOUND.

Mourning as Dead for Several Years—Mother Gave to Bring her Home.

Asheville, N. C., Feb. 10.—Mourning as dead since soon after her fatal wedding, December 16, 1905, to John Cavendish, alias "Lord" Percy Reginald Sholto Douglas, the notorious bigamist, who it is said married more than half a dozen young women in Virginia and North Carolina, Miss Josephine Hood, of Asheville, has been located in Tucuman, New Mexico.

Too proud to return to her family after she found she had been duped by the man who posed as the third son of the Marquis of Queensberry, Miss Hood began the struggle for her livelihood, and determined to bear her suffering alone. It was by the merest accident that her family located her after a search over the United States and Mexico, participated in by Secretary Root, of the state department; the American consul at Vera Cruz and police officers in many cities of the south and west.

Mrs. John N. Hood, the mother of the young woman, will leave at once for New Mexico and return with her daughter to Asheville. Miss Hood was married to the notorious bigamist at New Orleans, La., after a short courtship, and went with him to Mexico, where he told her that he owned vast mines and fruit properties. There Miss Hood was deserted.

Stray Taken Up.

I have taken up one cow, which about 10 months ago was lost in black country, marked with white patches. Owner can get same by paying ownership and paying a reward. R. F. D. No. 2, Greenville, N. C. 28101.

Strayed.

One heifer, about two years old, color of bay, with white patches, lost in black country, marked with white patches. Owner can get same by paying ownership and paying a reward. R. F. D. No. 2, Greenville, N. C. 28101.

CAN YOU SPELL?

Test Your Ability by Writing This Jumble From Dictation.

It is some time ago since spelling been more popular forms of entertainment in this country, but still one occasionally comes across the very superior person who tells you he cannot spell any word ever printed in a dictionary. If ever you meet this type of man, just ask somebody to dictate the following jumble to him and see how many mistakes he will make:

"Antinous, a disappointed, desiccated physicist, was peeling potatoes in an embarrassing and harassing way. His idiosyncrasy and privilege was to eat mayonnaise and mussels while staring at the Pielades and seeing people's tricycles and velocipedes. He was an erring testator and had been on a picnic jamboree. He rode a paltry stallion and carried a suitable panache bouquet of caters, plums, mulch chrysanthemums, rhododendrons, fuchsias and nasturtiums.

"He wore a shifty respondent turquoise napierella, an ornate yashmak and astrakhan chaparale. He drank crystallizable and disagreeable curacao juleps through a sieve. He stole some moneys and hid them under a peddler's mahogany bedstead and mattress.

"Like a fiend in an ecstasy of glee, I rushed after him into the maelstrom, or melee, and held him as in a vise. I could not fense him, however, and he addressed me, with autonomy, in the following imbecile words, which sounded like a soliloquy or a supersublimation, a salivating viator, an equinoctial corpeuse and an isosceles daggeredoute?"—New York Mail.

ELECTRICITY.

Why It Is Difficult For the Layman to Understand What It Is.

"What is electricity?" is a favorite query with people who desire to "get a fix" out of a scientific man. And when he fails to answer it in the same simple fashion that he might treat the question "What is a biscuit?" the questioner cries out: "What! You profess to know all about electricity. Why, you can't even tell what it is!"

Now, to "tell what a thing is"—that is, to define it—is to state its relations with something more familiar. The particular familiar thing that the questioner is thinking of in this case is ordinary matter. Heat has been explained to him as a vibration of material particles. Light, he has been told, is a wave motion in the ether, and he understands the ether to be a kind of matter or a substance resembling matter in some particulars.

It is not to be denied that no such simple general relationship can be stated between electricity and matter. But, this being so, it would be just as correct to say that we do not know what matter is as that we do not know what electricity is. As a matter of fact, we do not know what matter is, and the latest plausible theory of it builds it up on an electric basis, so that on this theory the idea of electricity is more fundamental than that of matter. Unfortunately our senses have been evolved by contact with matter and are trained to detect only matter. Electricity they know only secondarily, through its action upon matter—the light or heat that it causes matter to give out, the attraction that it causes certain substances to exert, and so on. To the man in the street, therefore, matter is familiar, and he demands a statement of the latter in terms of the former, illogical though this may be. After the scientist has stated all this the reply comes back, "Yes, I understand all that, and it is most clear, I am sure, but tell me then, what is electricity anyway?"

Another source of confusion to the lay mind is that scientific men do not always use the word "electricity" to mean the same thing. The engineer often employs it to express the thing that the theoretical electrician calls "electric energy."

To find the energy of electricity—the electricity multiplies the quantity of electricity by the potential or tension under which it exists. But to the engineer this product itself measures the thing that he calls "electricity."

The work that a pound of water may do by falling a foot is one foot pound. The water is the same after falling as before, though its energy is less. So to the electrician a quantity of electricity at 100 volts is precisely the same as at one volt, though the former is able to do a hundred times as much work.

This difference in meaning causes thousands of disputes among students. "Electricity is a form of energy," says one, "just like light or heat." "Oh, no!" is the reply. "It is not energy at all, though it may possess or convey energy." One disputant is talking about the electricity of the physical and the other about that of the engineer; hence their dispute is merely a matter of definition, though they do not know it. What wonder that some people are still content to regard the whole subject as a civilized Mumbo Jumbo?—St. Louis Republic.

FRIDAY FEB. 19 1909.

Knox has got his knuckles.

Washington's birthday next.

Yes, it has turned colder, and you will see more of it.

Col. Ground Hog is preparing to grunt a laugh at his traducers.

The legislature is getting down to politics now.

Added to her other causes of excitement, Charlotte now has a mad dog scare.

This legislature does not seem to have much idea of making any new counties.

If you want to see a boy entirely changed put him in long pants and a plug hat.

Mr. Taft is keeping his own counsel well and yet has them guessing as to who will compose his cabinet.

They are actually going to have a fight for prohibition in Kentucky. There is yet hope for the country.

Even if we should get some of the other kind from now on, down this way this will have to go on record as a mild winter.

At last they have got the jury in that Cooper case at Nashville, Tenn., and if there is no other hitch the trial may proceed.

Charlotte is still wrestling with that charter. The people may decide what they want by the time the next legislature meets.

The Vicar of the Catholic diocese of Wilmington, Del., has issued an order prohibiting the use of flowers or decorations at funerals.

President Roosevelt is keeping up the special message business to the end. Guess he will send one in on the last day of his term.

Governor Kitchin has cracked his whip at the General Assembly on the trust question. Are we to have an imitation of the "big stick"?

Nine thousand policemen in New York are looking for a man who with an automobile run over and killed a woman. That many ought to find him.

With Seawell and Crum both left until Mr. Taft takes charge looks like they are going to give him trouble at the very beginning of his term.

Hon. J. B. ReSpain, a prominent figure in the politics of the first district in years gone by, died Thursday at an advanced age at his home in Beaufort county.

Don't fret if you think you are not appreciated now—people will be saying nice things about you after you are dead, even if it is too late for you to hear them.

The farmer loses, the merchant loses, and everybody else loses by bad roads. In fact bad roads levy a tax that none can escape. It is much cheaper to have good roads.

Even though he had no idea the State capital will be moved to his town, Senator Barringer took advantage of the opportunity to make a good advertisement for Greensboro.

Compare the statements of Greenville's banking institutions and her building and loan association with those of other towns and you will find nothing to be ashamed of.

As an analysis has disclosed that nearly all the mineral waters contain typhoid germs, let's all keep our minds to stay home next summer and drink pure city water.

If every other enterprise here was doing as much for the up-building of the town as The Home Building & Loan Association, you would see Greenville going forward much faster.

The days of train robberies are being revived in the West. Near Dunn, Col., a few nights ago, two masked men held up a train and robbed the mail car of packages to the value of $75,000.

Something that occurs but seldom in any county is now the condition in Granville, the jail at Oxford being without a prisoner. That looks like an improvement in criminal conditions.

We do not know what is to come out of it, but the agitation of changing the affairs in this county from the fee system to a salary basis is certainly giving the people something to talk about.

Fire starting from a moving picture machine in a crowded theatre in the City of Mexico destroyed the building and three hundred people lost their lives. Several Americans were among those killed.

Notwithstanding what some might have feared in that particular, we believe the present legislature is going to adjourn without doing a thing rash. Conservatism and care has been the key note so far.

Down in Georgia they convicted a United States Commissioner of running a blind tiger. He was buying the whiskey under a fictitious name and had the modest supply of five barrels on hand when caught.

Because of a misunderstanding of rules by an agent and the subsequent holding up of a corpse in transit through Rocky Mount, it is said the Atlantic Coast Line has a mental anguish suit on its hands.

Some of the papers say that the recently discovered pellagra is just a new name for cramp colic, and the Durham Sun wants to know if by that name it will hurt more or cost more. Likely the latter, Jim.

They did not quite get a scrap in the Monday night session of house of the General Assembly, but came pretty close to it. Representatives Morton, of New Hanover, and Underwood, of Cumberland, were the worthy combatants.

The business men of Greenville took the right step Tuesday night in reorganizing the local branch of the Retail Merchants' Association. A working organization of this kind will help their business and be beneficial to the town.

Though the general election was held three months ago, Mr. Taft was not really elected president until Wednesday, Feb. 10th. The electoral vote of the several States was read in congress that day and he was declared elected.

The fleet of battleships has about completed the cruise around the world and will reach Hampton Roads on the return home by the last of this week. Norfolk and adjacent vicinity has prepared to welcome the fleet in becoming style.

Greenville started The Central Mercantile Company in January. The Taft & Boyd Furniture Co. was organized early in February, and now the Retail Merchants' Association is reorganized. Let's keep up the work and get something good every month of this year.

Texas is trying to keep a fellow from getting a matrimonial drop on his rival. A trade bill has been introduced in the legislature of that State to make persons contemplating matrimony give ten days public notice that they intend to apply for license.

If you folks up there in the General Assembly decide to break up the seat of government in Raleigh and transfer it to some other town, Greenville will get right in the race for it. See? There are plenty of folks who think this is the best town in the State.

That petition sent up to a legislator from certain citizens of Pitt county, asking that a law be enacted to prohibit barbecuing pigs for public occasions, and to make wives be obedient to their husbands, is hardly more ludicrous than some other matters that get before the law making body.

Mr. Taft told the negroes in his speech to them at New Orleans, that what they needed was to practice hard work and thrift and to make themselves indispensable to the community in which they live. But one great drawback to the negro is that he will not heed good advice when it is given to him.

An occasion of much interest to the State in the last few days was the celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Wake Forest College. Dr. David R. Wallace, once a citizen of Greenville but for many years a resident of Waco, Texas, is the oldest living graduate of the institution.

The government department of agricultures that the savages of field mice and rats cause a loss of $20,000,000 annually, and want to exterminate these pests. If the government will investigate some on the annual loss caused by whiskey and take steps to eradicate that evil it would be equally as timely.

This way of different people having the same name causes trouble sometime. A Colorado young woman committed suicide because she thought her affianced had obtained license to marry another than herself. It developed that another young man of the same name as her affianced had obtained a license to marry, and the young lady reading of this jumped out a six story window.

Good business days like Saturday show the advantage of having people come to Greenville. The teachers of the county were here that day, as well as many other people attracted from one cause or another, and all did more or less trading. It pays the merchants and every other business to induce people to come to town, and every opportunity in this particular should be improved.

Opinions of eminent sculptors and architects that the beauty of the North Carolina State house at Raleigh should not be spoiled by remodeling the building, is for the time being checking the sentiment that has been looking to that end. However, it is apparent that more room for conducting the State business, and better protection against the destruction of valuable records by fire is much needed. Perhaps a better solution of the matter will be to erect elsewhere such buildings as are needed and not mar the beauty of the capitol and grounds by making any change in that immediate locality.

Our town and country merchants ensure people for dealing with big mail order houses in the great cities, and thereby depleting the amount of money that otherwise would be in circulation, but do not seem to understand why it is done. But there is at least one reason for it, if no more. Most of the people take advantage of the mail facilities, and have their boxes visited by the R. F. D. man every day, and into these boxes are placed lots and scores of catalogues, circulars, newspapers &c.; itemizing and giving in detail an outline of their wares. People read these ads, select what they desire, send their money and have the goods delivered. At the same time, the nearly merchant has the same or better quality of goods, at the same cost, but he fails to advertise; while the other fellows keep the public posted.

Colds contracted at this season of the year are quickly relieved with Bees Laxative Cough Syrup. Its laxative quality rids the system of the cold. Pleasant to take. Best for children for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Sold by John L. Wooten.

ROCHDALE SPROUTS

Rochdale, N. C., Feb. 17, 1909.

The young people of our town gathered up two wagon loads of themselves and took a hay ride or a serenade, don't know which they called it, but any way they went to Farmville and paraded the town. It was Wednesday night, the night of the fire there, and next morning some of the neighbors told them that the sheriff was coming in the evening to take them under arrest for setting the town on fire. I don't think they were scared much, for they left Farmville before the fire broke out.

Ivy Smith went to Greenville Friday to suit tobacco.

Mills Smith and T. E. Little went to Greenville Saturday.

Misses May Brooks and Trilby Smith went to Greenville Saturday.

Miss Mattie Little went to A. J. Flanagan's Saturday to spend some time with the family.

Miss Anna Willoughby and T. E. Little were visiting at A. J. Flanagan's Saturday evening and Sunday and returned in time for Sunday school.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Smith went to J. H. Flanagan's Sunday evening to visit his sister.

THE SECRET OF LONG LIFE.

A French scientist has discovered one secret of long life. His method deals with the blood. But long ago millions of Americans had proved Electric Bitters prolongs life and makes it worth living. It purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood, rebuilds wasted nerve cells imparts life and to the entire system. It is a potent tonic, sick and debilitated people. "Kidney trouble," writes Dr. J. Sherman, of Cushing, Mo., "but Electric Bitters cured me entirely." Only 60c. at all Druggists.

To Married Men.

The life of a married man is the capital of his family; his earnings are its income, and they should be guaranteed by life insurance. The Old Mutual Life of N. Y. is alright. See H. Bentley Harris about its new low rate premium policies. It's many sleepless nights, owing to a persistent cough. RELIEF FOUND AT LAST.

"For several winters past my wife has been troubled with a most persistent and disagreeable cough, which invariably existed during the period of several weeks and caused her many sleepless nights," writes Will J. Hyatt, editor of the Raleigh News and Observer. "Various remedies were tried each year, with no beneficial results. In November last the cough again put in appearance and my wife, acting on the suggestion of a friend, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The result was, indeed, marvelous. After three days the cough entirely disappeared and has not manifested since." This remedy is for sale by J. L. Wooten and Coward & Wood.

Land Sale.

By virtue of the powers contained in a certain mortgage executed by G. W. Venters to Oscar Hooker, on the 19th day of December 1905, which said mortgage deed is duly recorded in the register of deeds of Pitt county, in book H-5, page 252, the undersigned will expose to public sale before the court house at the town of Greenville, N. C., on Saturday, February 13, 1909, the following described tract or parcel of land lying in the county of Pitt and State of North Carolina, and in Chatham township, which was conveyed to said Oscar Hooker by deed from David C. Adams and wife, Mary Adams, and fully described as follows: Adjoining the lands of David C. Adams, sec'd, G. W. Venters and others beginning at a certain street corner in or near the town of Clay Hook swamp, thence to the corner of a pitch pine, thence to Geo. W. Venters corner, thence west to the corner of a pitch pine, thence to Geo. W. Venters line to the corner in Clay Hook swamp, thence to the beginning, containing 2 1/2 (two hundred and twenty) acres more or less. This mortgage covers the whole of said tract except about 1/2 acre lying on the east side of the main road leading from Greenville to Calico Hill which has heretofore been conveyed to Ray Ellis, to satisfy said mortgage. Terms of sale cash.

Oscar Hooker, Attorney, 113 1/2 W. Main.

Rape seed at J. R. Smith Mer. Co.

It seems to be the prevailing disposition among many of our legislators to have changed several sections of our constitution. Should there be any changes, in our opinion, there could be none better than that relating to the "cham and delivery proceedings" where a magistrate has only fifty dollars jurisdiction. There may have been a time when this was sufficient but at this time and in this day of advancement and business hustle it is a good deal of a handicap. Justice meets the requirements. Justice should have two hundred dollars jurisdiction, just as in other civil proceedings, and if the change is made we believe it will not only result in much good to all classes but the farmer and merchant, the sinner of the land, would derive special benefit.

Those who have not paid their State and county taxes do so by calling on Standell Hodges at the bank. He represents the Sheriff in this particular at this point.

Wednesday night W. E. Worthington, living about four miles from Ayden, had the misfortune to lose his residence and smoke house with entire contents by fire. His barns, stables and fire out buildings caught fire several times and it was only by the most heroic efforts these were saved. Mr. Worthington is a very poor man and this loss falls heavily on him, leaving him and family, consisting of wife and three small children, entirely homeless. His loss is about $800, with an insurance of about $200 in the Pitt county insurance company.
