A. W. Ange & Co. Snakes in the Bellows.

Mr. W. F. Hegler, of Lancaster county, had a unique experience on Wednesday last week. He went to his blacksmith shop to do some work, and on undertaking to operate the bellows he found that it wouldn't work. While trying to ascertain the cause of the trouble a snake stuck its head out of the hole. Mr. Hegler secured a pair of tongs and withdrew the reptile and killed it. It was a large chicken snake about 5 feet long. Returning to his bellows, Mr. Hegler found that it still would not work, and while examining it, another snake's head was thrust out of the hole. The astonished farmer pulled it out also and killed it. The snakes were both of the same kind and size. There is now a very offensive odor about the bellows, and Mr. Hegler thinks that there is one or more dead snakes in it.—Waxhaw Enterprise.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Negro Woman Instantly Killed While Chopping Corn.

Wednesday afternoon, about three o'clock, while chopping corn in Mr. Juba Bailey's field, near Goose Swamp church, three-and-a-half miles north of the city, Martha Little, colored, was instantly killed by lightning. The bolt struck her on the head, leaving her hat literally to pieces, but made no marks on the flesh. Blood came from the left ear and a slightly scored place was found on her left hip, which were the only visible signs left by the great force. Mr. Bailey, who was working right near her, was knocked down and rendered unconscious for ten or fifteen minutes, but he is alright today. Several other hands working in the adjoining field were badly frightened, but no one was hurt. The storm was not severe in that vicinity and but little rain fell.

LASSITER-BEAMAN.

Beautiful Church Wedding, in Snow Hill, N. C.

St Barnabas Episcopal church, Snow Hill, N. C., was the scene of the most beautiful wedding ever held in this place, when Miss Mary Lassiter became the bride of Mr. E. C. Beaman.

The color scheme throughout was pink and white. The church was tastefully decorated with festoons of evergreens and a background of ferns, capesamine and pink geraniums enhanced the beauty of the scene.

As Miss Rosa Dail rendered Lohengrin's wedding march the attendants came in as follows:

Miss Mary Harper, gown in white messaline carrying pink carnations tied with pink chiffon.

Miss Pearl Herring, wearing pink sash and carrying white carnations tied with chiffon.

Mr. H. L. Lister, brother of the bride, and Mr. J. Y. Monk, Miss Lena Mae Potter, who wore a level gown of white messaline with pink carnations, Miss Rosabelle Lassiter with a gown of pink sash and with white carnations. Following came Mr. Carl L. Beaman, brother of the groom, with Mr. J. A. Alb, then little Miss Catherine Dail carrying the ring on a silver tray in shape of heart with cupid.

Then came the bride gown in white satin with trimmings of point lace, her veil looped with white Palmer violets carrying bride roses tied with white chiffon, leaning on the arm of her sister, Miss Maud Lassiter, who wore an exquisite gown of blue satin with a robe of blue net embroidered with pearls and silver cloth, carrying white carnations. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Dr. James H. Harper, who came from the vestry. Rev. John H. Griffith read the impressive and ancient marriage service of the Episcopal church from a beautifully bound copy of the ceremony which he presented to the bride. After the ceremony the bridal party left the church by the strains of Mendelssohn's march.

The church was filled with the many friends of the popular couple who showed their best wishes for them by the many handsome and beautiful presents received. Mr. and Mrs. Beaman will make their home in Farmville, N. C.

Over the Telephone.

Hello! Have you got any beefsteak?

No mam, not a bit. What have you got?

Nothing but dry salt side meat and salt herrings.

Who is that, anyway?

This is the Norfolk & Southern depot.

Oh! I asked for the market.

Hello! Send me two pounds of beefsteak.

This is not the market, it's the Western Union Telegraph office.

The third trial found the market house.

June a Wet Month.

Mr. C. V. York, who keeps a rain record here for the government weather bureau, tells us that the total rain fall at this point for the month of June was 11.35 inches. The heaviest fall in any one day of the month was on the 30th when it reached 3.34 inches. Greenville was worse flooded on that day than has been known in many years.

All policy holders who have not paid their last assessment in the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Association are hereby notified that the time for the payment of this assessment expires July 12th.

James L. Little, Sec. & Treas.

DEATH OF MRS. B. P. SMITH.

Last Sunday evening June 27th, 1909, between the hours of three and four o'clock, the spirit of Mrs. Ella H. Smith took its flight to that unknown country beyond.

Her death was almost sudden, she was taken sick about four o'clock in the morning. About four weeks ago she was sick but all thought she was well as she had been for a long while. She said Friday before her death she felt as well as she had this year but she seemed to think her time was short, so she told her brother's wife she would not live this year out. She was the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Walker, of Pin

FRIDAY JULY 9 1909.

No more general holiday until Thanksgiving.

Sending money away from home is not helping your home town.

The patter of rain has been heard until it has become monotonous.

When a rain item is inserted in the papers now it might be marked "H."

If you have not faith in Greenville, move out and let somebody else take you.

Maybe when the senate and congress get tired of the game they will vote.

Another earthquake shock at Messina is enough to give the people of that city the shakes.

If the comet is responsible for all this rain, we would like for the comet to go back into hiding.

The flying machine which the Wright brothers are trying near Washington City, is behaving its ugliest.

A New York grand jury is after the sugar trust, but it is not expected to squeeze much sweetness out of it.

By the fourth of July coming on Sunday those sections that take holiday get Saturday and Monday back.

We have not yet noticed a single paper express the opinion that the recent Beggars' verdict in Charlotte was right.

Durham has joined the rank of first-class postoffices in North Carolina, making seven that are now in the State.

Now if you failed to list your taxes, and find yourself confronted with double tax, you have only yourself to blame.

The Tennessee convicted night riders have been granted a new trial, which means that they will get off clear next time.

One way to help your home town is to keep business at home. Send off for nothing that your home people can supply.

From the talk we hear of contemplated new buildings, there will be something doing in Greenville before a great while.

The investigation to prove "what is whiskey" may not produce any more real results than the tariff tinkering that is going on.

The Wrights are hard to discourage with mishaps to their flying machine. The kind of persistence they have may yet win.

Don't ask the editor to do your kicking for you. If you have not the courage to say a thing yourself, nobody else should say it for you.

Read The Reflector news columns today and get some idea of what Greenville is doing. And remember it is "Our Greenville, yours if you come."

A Boston scientist sends out a warning that a snow will fall before July is gone. A snow in this sort of weather would soon find itself stuck in the mud.

The press dispatches lately seem to have overlooked hunter T. Roosevelt in the African jungles. He has not had a top of column mention in some time.

Since the hot spell has been broken and some cooler weather taken its place, congress may take a new grip and decide to stay in Washington longer, even if it is not classed as a summer resort.

July ought to be made to bring things to pass for Greenville. In fact, we should keep everlastingly at it and make every month better than the preceding one.

Just as if Raleigh had not had trouble enough along that line, the News and Observer is advising the folks to kill the first man who asks "Is it hot enough for you?"

Greensboro is determined to get her share and will celebrate both Saturday and Monday for the 4th of July. It is not said what they will do on the Sunday that comes between.

The press dispatches contain a long list of 4th of July fatalities. When people go on risking their lives just for a little noise and so called fun, they may expect to take the consequences.

Editor R. N. Ransom, of the Spring Hope Leader, has been elected superintendent of education for Nash county. He has been a teacher for some years and is well qualified for his new duties.

The Durham Herald well suggests that the reform administration of Raleigh might have given attention to some of the real evils existing in that city before raising such a commotion over street preachers.

Announcement is made that Governor Kitchen will appoint Maj. Charles M. Stedman, of Greensboro, as president of the North Carolina railroad to succeed Mr. Hugh G. Chatham. This road is owned by the State but leased to the Southern.

Charlotte is certainly looking higher. Last year it built a 12-story building that was then dubbed a skyscraper, and now there is a plan on foot to double that and build one of 24 stories. "Watch Charlotte grow" upward and outward.

Greenville people discredit the town by the way they treat high-class attractions of real merit when they appear in the opera house. Let a cheap vaudeville show come along and the folks flock to it, but an attraction of merit appears before many empty seats. The better class of attraction cut the town that treats them so indifferently.

John S. Early the alleged North Carolina leper who for several months was isolated near Washington City, is now in a New York hospital and will be turned loose in a short while. Physicians there say he did not have the leprosy but only a skin disease, and that he is entirely cured of that.

Prohibition went into effect in the State of Tennessee on the night of June 30th. At the hour of midnight there was a ringing of bells in the cities and towns marking the passing of saloons. The law in that State makes it illegal to sell any alcoholic beverages within two miles of a school house, and only two points about twelve miles from Memphis escape this restriction.

The negroes in the South who have had their mouths puckered for census jobs will likely be given a lemon to suck. Congressmen are urging President Taft to give instructions that only white enumerators shall be employed in districts south of the Mason and Dixon line. If the president looks at the situation right, as is very probable, he will heed the requests of the congressmen in this matter.

President Taft sounds a note of warning to his party, saying if it fails to live up to its promises and the expectations of the people it will be relegated to the minority. No such danger of that while Democrats are dropping over to the support of Republican measures instead of standing on the platform of their party. There would have been danger for the Republicans in the next election if Democrats had stood together.

While "Central" is enforcing the "call by number" rule, it will help the cause along if some of the operators are drilled a little in catching the number asked for without having to be told as many as half a dozen times and then be given the name also to be sure of correctness. For our part we like the calling by number, but for efficiency there must be some improvement at both ends of the line.

What possesses the people of Greenville to dig up the grass on their sidewalks? During the recent heavy rains the sidewalks on some of our streets were washed into great gullies and almost washed them completely away. This was caused by the grass being dug away. In most places people plant grass on the bare spots and keep it well mowed which makes a very pretty sight; but here they seem to have a mania for digging it up and having the spots bare, making very unsightly places as well as causing sand to wash into the gutters on the streets to be shoveled out. Plant grass and keep it mowed; don't dig it up. A town ordinance says keep your sidewalks clean of weeds and grass, but it would be far better to let a grass strip remain next to the curb line to prevent washing. The aldermen might well make such amendment to the ordinance.

The Council of State is having some trouble over the half million dollar bond issue authorized by the last legislature. A Raleigh bank made a bid for the bonds that was accepted, but a question having arisen over the legality of an amendment to the bond bill passed by the legislature, the issue of the bonds is being held up until the courts can pass upon the matter. While the purchasers of bonds naturally want to be satisfied that they are legally issued, there is no need for embarrassing the State. The legislature acted in good faith and there is not the slightest danger of the act being repudiated.

Mr. E. E. Hilliard, who last fall was forced by ill health to give up the active editorship of his paper, the Scotland Neck Commonwealth, has now sold to Mr. J. C. Hardy, former editor of the Warrenton Record. Mr. Hilliard was an able editor and made The Commonwealth an excellent paper. We regret that the journalism of the State has lost him. Mr. Hardy, who has had much newspaper experience, will take charge at once and we feel sure he will keep The Commonwealth up to its high standard.

GOVERNMENT COMPETING WITH JOB PRINTERS.

The government is in the printing business in a way that competes with the job printers of the country much to the disadvantage of the latter. It is in the matter of envelopes, the government furnishing the stamped envelopes practically at cost above the stamps and printing the return card thereon free of charge. In order to get more of this business the government has inaugurated a systematic canvass among business men to secure it. Printers throughout the country are protesting against this practice of the government, and at the recent meeting of the North Carolina Press Association the following was adopted:

"Resolved, That we most emphatically protest against the custom of the Postoffice Department of printing the return card on stamped envelopes free of cost, and of charge to the customer, as thereby the government becomes a direct competitor of the individual citizen, and that without profit to the government."

"Resolved, That this is intended to express our disapproval of the course of the Third Assistant Postmaster General in advertising this feature by means of alluring circulars sent through the mail free of postage to every postoffice in the country to be distributed to business men generally."

"Resolved, That we respectfully ask that steps be taken at once to discontinue this unwarranted interference with the legitimate printing business, as it is obviously unfair for officials to use the machinery of the government of the people to solicit business from our customers, especially when this business is done without charge and delivered free to the customer, thus making it impossible for us to compete for it."

The secretary, Mr. J. B. Sherrill, was instructed to forward a copy to each of the senators and representatives from North Carolina, with the request that they do all in their power to have the custom referred to discontinued.

The Council of State is having some trouble over the half million dollar bond issue authorized by the last legislature. A Raleigh bank made a bid for the bonds that was accepted, but a question having arisen over the legality of an amendment to the bond bill passed by the legislature, the issue of the bonds is being held up until the courts can pass upon the matter. While the purchasers of bonds naturally want to be satisfied that they are legally issued, there is no need for embarrassing the State. The legislature acted in good faith and there is not the slightest danger of the act being repudiated.

Mr. E. E. Hilliard, who last fall was forced by ill health to give up the active editorship of his paper, the Scotland Neck Commonwealth, has now sold to Mr. J. C. Hardy, former editor of the Warrenton Record. Mr. Hilliard was an able editor and made The Commonwealth an excellent paper. We regret that the journalism of the State has lost him. Mr. Hardy, who has had much newspaper experience, will take charge at once and we feel sure he will keep The Commonwealth up to its high standard.

BLUEMONT.

On the homeward trip from the press convention at Hendersonville last week the editor of The Reflector stopped over at Blumont for a few hours Saturday afternoon. We had heard much of this place and had a desire to see it. Blumont is to be known as the Baptist summer retreat. It is located on the Southern Railway at the west end of Swannanoa tunnel and 18 miles below Asheville. About two square miles, or some over 1200 acres, of land was procured and laid off in half acre lots which are being sold at $100. A large number of lots have been sold and already more than twenty cottages have been built and others are going up as fast as material can be collected. Work has begun on a large open air tabernacle for assembly purposes, as a number of meetings are arranged to be held there this summer. By next summer an immense auditorium will be provided, also a hotel large enough to accommodate several hundred people. While many people are waiting for cottages they occupy tents on the site. It is intended that Blumont shall be a retreat to which people may go for the summer at little cost, and a place for assemblies and conventions. Rev. B. W. Spillman is in charge of the property and has an office there for looking after the sale of lots and superintending the erection of buildings. He is very enthusiastic over the future of Blumont and expects it to become a popular retreat. There is every prospect that his expectations will be fully realized, for the location is a beautiful one. It is right at the summit of the Blue Ridge with a much higher altitude than Asheville. The plan of laying off the lots provides for wide streets and parks. Blumont is an ideal place for rest and recreation.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES.

At Greenville July 28th and Grimsland 30th.

Recently The Reflector had a letter from Mr. T. B. Parker, director of farmers' institutes in connection with the State Department of Agriculture, stating that two such institutes were soon to be held in Pitt county. Another letter from Mr. Parker gives the date for these institutes as follows:

At Greenville, Wednesday July 28th and at Grimsland, Friday, July 30th.

Every farmer in Pitt county who can do so should attend these institutes and take their wives with them, for the meetings will be interesting and helpful to women as well as to men. They should also take note books and pencils along so as to make note of what transpires and preserve it for their future guidance.

There is a bright future for agriculture in North Carolina, but to obtain the best results from their labor many farmers must supplant their antiquated methods with ideas that are more rational and in keeping with present day progress. This is the purpose of these institutes, to educate the farmers to better and more advanced methods of agriculture and enable them to reap larger benefits from their work.

Bear in mind the dates on which the two institutes are to be held in Pitt county and let the attendance at both of them be large.

Why RALSTON SHOES are non-wrinkling

It is not always safe to meddle with the unfamiliar. Mr. James Russell in "Reminiscences of Yarrow" gives the following story as illustrating the simplicity of the Scotch farmers of the vicinity:

A well-to-do tenant bought a barometer at a public sale. Soon after the minister asked him how he liked it.

"Not at all," returned the honest farmer. "It's no' the thing."

"In what way is it not the thing?"

"Well," replied the worthy parishioner, more at home with sheep than science, "it was nae casting up the weather as I had have liked. So, thinking there was something wrong, I took it down and examined it outside and in."

"At last I discovered a long glass tube with a hole in the end of it. Niver dooting that was the matter, I stopped up the hole. But if it did nae, it did nae nothing at all after that!"

RALSTON shoes in this regard are just the opposite. Most shoes have a hole in the sole and "leak up" across the sole. RALSTON shoes have been worn a few times, and the leather is wrinkled. RALSTON shoes, however, no wrinkles, because every part of the vamp fits the last perfectly without straining the leather at any point. This adds to the wear of the shoe. It also explains the reason why RALSTON shoes retain their smart appearance until worn out.

There are other unusual features of RALSTON SHOES construction which will appeal to you. Come in and look over our new styles.

The Difference Between Poor and Good Cabinet Work

It is a fact not generally known that very few sewing machine manufacturers produce their own cabinet work. This is a distinct industry in itself.

The Singer Company owns and operates the largest and best equipped factory in the world, exclusively devoted to the production of the highest grade sewing machine cabinet work.

Only the finest woods procurable are used. To insure the proper selection of these woods, a corps of expert wood rangers is employed, whose duty it is to purchase individual trees, the grain and growth of which entitle them to use in Singer cabinet work.

This is why Singer cabinet work, besides being the most durable, is also the most beautiful,—the Singer process brings out all the richness and natural beauty of the wood.

A WARNING DREAM.
The Vision Lincoln Saw Several Times in His Sleep.

Napoleon believed devoutly in dreams as warnings or even as forecasts of what was to come, and even he who most prides himself upon his freedom from superstition knows of or has experienced at least one dream that cannot be explained as a mere result of overthinking.

When we contemplate dreams and their ramifications science can help us but little in their explanation. While Collins showed this to be so in one of his most ingenious novels, "Armstrong," Warning dreams or premonitions may be the result of natural laws which we do not understand.

Lincoln was not counted superstitious because he had some confidence in the prophetic character of one dream, at least, for he visited his sleep on several occasions, and upon his return he seriously to members of his family and to his closest friends. In telling of this vision he said he seemed to be in "a singular, indescribable vessel, but always the same, moving with great rapidity toward a dark and indefinite shore."

The dream preceded several marked incidents during his occupancy of the presidential chair, notably before the battles of Antietam, Fredericksburg and Gettysburg.

On the morning of the memorable 14th of April he informed members of his cabinet that he had dreamed this same thing the night before and believed that they were on the threshold of some momentous issue. So impressive were his remarks that his auditors were profoundly moved, but no one among them could read the warning aright and foresee the awful news of his assassination which should be flashed that night to a stunned and horrified people!—Philadelphia Ledger

In his better moments stormy Carlyle used to say, "Kindness is the sum of life, the charm to captivate and the sword with which to conquer."

THE BOTTLE CONJURER.
An Old Time Hoax That Caused a Riot in a London Theater.

In 1748 there appeared in the newspapers of London an advertisement stating that on a certain night a remarkable conjurer would perform in the Haymarket theater. He would, the advertisement boasted, guarantee to take an ordinary wine bottle, place it on a table in the middle of the stage, get into it "in the sight of all the audience," and sit down in it. In the same issue of the newspaper was a second advertisement announcing the arrival of Signor Capitello d'Amore, "a surprising dwarf" no taller than a tobacco pipe, who engaged to perform with and outdo the "bottle conjurer," contorting himself in all manner of shapes and finally "spitting his mouth wide and jumping down with his own throat." This feat, not without reason, Signor Capitello described as the "most wonderful wonder of all wonders as ever the world wondered at."

The night set for this dual display of "wonderful" wonders found the theater packed from roof to pit. But as the time passed and the curtain remained down catcalls and hisses began to be heard. Then a man in the pit stood up and in a calm voice announced that if double prices were paid the conjurer would get into a pint instead of a quart bottle. At once the audience realized that they were being hoaxed. Somebody threw a lighted candle into a box, and this was the signal for a riot. Benches were torn up and boxes pulled down, while the throng rushed for the doors, with great loss of wigs, hats, swords and canes. Those who remained, rendered by roughs from outside, completely destroyed the interior of the theater and finished up by dragging the scenery into the street, where it was burned in a huge bonfire. Nor was the author of this imposture ever discovered, although it was commonly attributed either to an actor who had been discharged or to a mischievous nobleman bent on winning a wager.—New York Tribune.

GOOD EFFECTS OF PROHIBITION. Large Decrease in Cases Before the Mayor.

On the first of July prohibition under the state law had been in effect only six months. For some years previous to that time saloons had been closed in Greenville and the town had a dispensary. Even that change had brought about a noticeable difference in the sobriety of the people, and this has been all the more pronounced since the dispensary was closed and prohibition has prevailed.

To get at some statistics bearing upon the improved conditions. The Reflector called upon Mayor H. W. Whidbee to ascertain what his court docket shows before and since prohibition went into effect.

The result of this investigation was marvelous and show an improvement that is most gratifying. The period of examination covered the last six months that the dispensary was in operation, from July 1 to December 31st, 1908, compared with the first six months under prohibition, from January 1st to June 30th, 1909. The figures speak for themselves.

For the six months in 1908, July to December inclusive, the total amount of fines imposed by the mayor in cases before him was $210.88, while for the six months in 1909, January to June inclusive, the amount was only $23.15. For the same six months in 1908 the number of cases tried by the mayor that were for drunkenness or known to be caused solely by liquor was 30, while for the same six months in 1909, the number was only 20 including "blind tiger" cases.

The total number of cases of all kinds tried by the mayor during the six months of 1908 were 238, and the six months in 1909 they were only 71.

Thus it will be seen that there has not only been a large falling off in whiskey cases, but the decrease in all manner of offenses against the law has been almost as great. It was also noticeable that of the cases the mayor has tried since prohibition went into effect, a large majority of them were of such minor gravity that he did not impose fines exceeding a penny, deeming the payment of costs sufficient punishment for the offense.

An unexpected condition of the temporary restraining order by United States Judge J. C. Pritchard in the suit by the independent oil companies in legislation for the inspection of illuminating oils is that it suspends the collection of the one-half cent per gallon tax on all oils offered for sale in the State as well as the regulations for the inspection of the oil. There was a copy of the petition by the oil companies that provided for the payment of the tax to continue pending the termination of the litigation, but it seems that it was found that Judge Pritchard would sign an order that suspended the payment of the tax as well as all other provisions of the act. So this was done, All ord.

WORKMEN WANT A REST DAY. With the Continental Sabbath Has Come Extra Labor for Thousands.

Not so long since it was the workingman with the slogan of personal liberty on his lips who demanded Sunday for his recreation, says Mabel Potter Daggett in The Delinquent for August. "Yes," public sentiment said, he's worked six days; let him enjoy the seventh. So there were handed over to him, seldom legally, but rather by common consent to his need, the Sunday saloon and the Sunday excursion and the Sunday theater. Now witness the anomaly: He brings these privileges back, urging, "Take them away!" And lo, it is the church militant that leads him.

To the ordinary citizen who carries neither a dinner-pail nor a Bible, the paradox demands explanation. It was the laboring man who sent the Sunday cigar and the Sunday drink, who runs the Sunday train and the Sunday steamboat, and who does the Sunday vaudeville turn, who first began to ask the others, where he get off of pleasures? For a while his brothers in other callings ignored these petulant queries of protest. But of late they have been increasing in volume. Larger and larger have been the numbers drawn into the ranks of Sunday labor to make the holiday of the others.

To take care of the crowds abroad on Sunday, one industry after another has been summoned; employees of hotels, restaurants and eating houses, butchers and bakers, confectioners, florists, candy and popcorn vendors, barbers, druggists and small shopkeepers. And since the community has lost the habit of providing for itself in advance on Saturday, there are others—janitors, milkmen, coalmen and druggatessen dealers. Thus the list widens until so many laborers were employed on Sunday that it seemed that a few more might as well be. Then the factory bells began to turn.

How large do you suppose is become this army of Sunday laborers in the United States? In the last ten years they have increased fifty-eight per cent. Statistics probably haven't counted them all, but it is known that they are more than four million. And these are four million men who want their Sunday back.

A fowl with four legs and feet is a freak, although they are sometimes seen. Mr. R. W. Brewer, of Aurelian Springs, Halifax county, has a turkey with four well developed legs and feet, and makes use of all of them in the act of locomotion. The fowl is two months old and with the exception of the excess of feet and legs is not unlike the other members of the brood and is perfectly well and hearty.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

The chief went to the scene and picked up a leg. There was no blood nor signs of an accident, but the gruesome find annoyed him. No one could explain the extra leg. An investigation was instituted and it was learned that recently at one of the city hospitals a leg had been amputated from a patient. The head nurse had turned the superfluous limb over to a rusty negro who was directed to bury it. The funeral service were duly held and the leg placed under soil, but the hole made was not deep enough and a vagabond dog had unearthed the thing and dragged it to the place above named.
