An Apology?

A London Journal says that a lively discussion once took place in a town council in the north of England. One thing led to another till one of the disputants gave another the lie direct. The insulted party rushed forward, and the pair clashed. At that moment the first man exclaimed, "I reiterate that you are a liar!" To the astonishment of every one, the aggrieved party let go his hold. "Oh, well," he said, "in that case I accept the apology. If a man says he reiterates, that is all any gentleman can ask." He did not understand why the bystanders laughed, but the fight was off.

Anything to Oblige.

While crossing the ocean the two sprightly children of very sensible parents were crampering round the deck. "Tom, dear," said the mother in a weary voice, "the children are too near the railing." But he was too ill to resist, and in sheer desperation his wife nudged him on the arm. "Speak to them, Tom," she said faintly. "With a wan smile he lifted his head and said, "Oh, how do you do?" "Ladies' Home Journal."

The Turkish Fez.

The use of the fez is not controlled by religious faith, for it is worn by all classes in the Turkish empire and even beyond its limits. It is said to derive its name from the African city of Fez. In the Levant it is more commonly known under the modern designation of tarboosh. While the fez is now distinctly Turkish or Mussulman, its use is by no means confined to the Ottomans. It is said that it was introduced to Turkey by the Sultan Mahmud II, who banished it from the Greeks.

Hilarious.

Charles, the son of an old Vermont farmer, is a dandy. When a small boy, he was very mischievous, and one day he was seen to be laughing at a man who was talking to him. "What are you laughing at?" asked the man. "I don't know how he treats you," answered Charles. "But he certainly speaks mighty kind of you when he says you are a dandy." "What is his name?" asked the man. "I don't know," answered Charles. "But he certainly speaks mighty kind of you when he says you are a dandy." "What is his name?" asked the man. "I don't know," answered Charles.

TOWER OF LONDON.

The Perfect System by which the Tower of London has the most perfect system of burglar alarms that has yet been devised. From Scotland Yard, from the governor's headquarters and from other places known only to a few responsible officials the whole Tower can be closed electrically within a few seconds. Even the numerous gates at the middle tower, which weigh some tons and through which visitors pass, swing automatically, and the great doors of every one within is instantly barred. At the same time an alarm bell rings to warn wardens, police and soldiers. In particular the precautions in the apartment containing the crown jewels are of a most scientifically elaborate kind. One of the beaters on duty in the room is merely to press a button, whereupon the heavy door closes, the alarm bell below rings, the other gates slam to and lock, and every person within the tower is instantly cut off from the outer world. "The man who can get away with any of the crown jewels deserves them," observed a Tower official. "From where I am standing I could close every important door and gate in the Tower in as short a time as it takes to utter these words." It was mainly to insure the safety of the crown jewels that the system was installed. No order had been issued for the closing of the Tower on a recent Sunday when, shortly after the closing, the visitors found doors locked, bolted and barred against them for about ten minutes, preventing any one leaving the Tower. "The Tower simply closed—that is all," rejoined an official. "Who caused it to do so we do not know. It might have been some of our own men, or a burglar who had broken in, or a man who had been in the Tower until the police gave the signal for their release, or it might have been the governor, anxious to learn whether we were all at our posts. At any rate, it was none of the minor officials. "In fact, who closed the Tower and why is a secret known only to the highest authorities. There was no alarm, no attempt to seize the crown jewels."—London Mail.

Clever Tactics When William Gilt Uses Tobacco. An excerpt from Gilt's letter: "And oh, Will, if you weren't the dearest boy! You often told me that you would do anything in the world for me, and now you write for my sake you've quit smoking. I'll have you sent me if I see you to tell you what a dear I think you are." From James: "You write that out of consideration for me you have been smoking for me. That was just lovely of you, William, and you may depend that I really appreciate it." From Herbert: "Will, boy, it's just splendid! You're the dearest kid! Just to think that you would swear off using the weed just for me! It was mighty dear of you, Billy, and it makes me all the more love for you." From Marjorie: "To think that you've quit smoking, William! I was so surprised; of course I always knew that you care for me, but to think that, as you say, you've made this sacrifice on my account—why, it's positively noble of you!" From his mother: "Will, my son, this proves your love for me. Father is including a check to show that he appreciates the fact that you think enough of your parents to give up smoking for them." From his doctor: "Your letter advising me that you have obeyed my orders and stopped the use of tobacco is at hand. As I said, your compliance ."—Puck.

FRIDAY SEPT. 10, 1909.

When he gets back home Dr. Cook will be in much demand by the lecture bureaus.

We have seen no account of what Walter Wellman thinks of Dr. Cook making the pole.

Ardship pictures look tame now along with North Pole scenes.

There is a disposition on the part of scientists to make Dr. Cook prove it.

Doctors are now saying that pellagra is caused by a germ and not by corn meal.

Now that they have found the North pole, we are anxious to know what it looks like.

Uncle Sam can take another loop in his vest, as one of his children has found the North pole.

The umpire can now retire and live on his laurels, and the big salary received will patch up his wounds.

The heading to a news item says "President Taft has taken a hand." It is to be hoped he will play it well.

In a few days more it will be time to announce that somebody else has discovered the North Pole.

Teddy in Africa pales into insignificance along side of Cook at the North Pole.

Now listen out for somebody to say the North Pole had already been discovered hundreds of years ago.

The discovery of the North Pole has made a fertile subject for the cartoonists. "Tige" should get in the push.

North Carolina has plenty of Cooks. Wonder if any of them are related to the doctor who discovered the North Pole.

Greenville capitalists should be looking into the matter of establishing a flour mill here. It would be a profitable industry.

If Mississippi has her way there will be nothing left for the colored man in that State but to work in the field.

Even if they never get Breeze and Dickinson in the penitentiary, they will give them a lot of punishment trying them.

The only observance Greenville made of Labor Day was those who usually labor going right along with their usual labor.

If the big ocean steamers keep on lowering record trips across the Atlantic, flying machines will be able to cut no figure with them.

As long as her husband did not find the North Pole, Mrs. Peary does not believe Dr. Cook's story about it. Nice bit of jealousy, that.

The Supreme court of the State this week licensed fifty new lawyers. There were sixty-two applicants for licenses but twelve failed to pass.

A colored undertaker of Greensboro was arrested for running a blind tiger. He used a coffin for a storage place for his bottles of whiskey.

Sunday's News and Observer says there are fully a thousand cases of pellagra in North Carolina, and only one county in the State, Onslow, is free from it.

If the North Pole is ours wonder what we can do with it. There seems to be little there but ice, and it is too far away to haul a crop of that home.

Now comes the news that Commodore Peary has also found the North Pole. It is to be hoped that he and Dr. Cook will not get into a squabble over it.

Floods, wrecks, fires, automobile accidents and other casualties have largely filled the news columns of the papers the past week. Verily we have an age that kills people faster than war.

Peary says he found no trace of Cook at the pole. May be the next man will say he found no trace of Peary. The jealousies may lead to such a squabble that folks will not know if the pole has been found at all.

A government expert gives out the information that the supply of oysters for this season will be abundant. If the price of the bivalves is not out of reach, they will help folks knock the beef trust.

The North Carolina pie hunters who failed to land on the census enumerating list might hurry along their application to Uncle Sam for a job guarding the North Pole against foreign invasion.

The Greensboro Record puts it up to the Raleigh News and Observer to quit so much talking on the trust law and do a little acting. If the News and Observer is consistent the suggestion of The Record opens the way to show it.

With moving pictures every night, a week of tent shows, a theatrical company for a week and a week of carnival, all booked for this month, it is not likely that Greenville's pleasure seekers can complain of dullness during September.

A single bandit held up and robbed a train on the Pennsylvania railroad, within fifty miles of the State capital, in real Western style and got away with a lot of money from the express car. It was not creditable to the crew that one man bluffed the whole bunch of them.

Durham seems to be an inviting field for evangelists. One from Texas closed a two week's meeting there last Sunday, and another one has just begun a meeting. From all that has been read in the papers about Durham the city needs evangelizing.

Drainage is yet an unsolved problem in many sections of Eastern North Carolina. We have thousands of acres of fertile lands which are uncertain in crop production, because they are not sufficiently drained. One of the most important movements which has ever been initiated in our section, is the one for drainage, which was started several years ago. Our people are upon inquiry and wish to learn more. Every farmer interested in this subject (and who is not interested) should attend the farmers' meeting next Monday, Sept. 13th.

A gentleman in Virginia is corresponding with parties here relative to establishing a steam laundry in Greenville. We do not know a more inviting location for an enterprise of this kind, and one that would do general household laundrying at a reasonable price would be well patronized.

There are people who pick out and magnify a few bad things that exist in a town or community, and overlook the many good things therein. Just like the lizzard that is never attracted by the beauties to be found on the face of the earth, but will pass all these unnoticed and pounce down with relish on a purring crease.

The farmers of the county are to be congratulated in having an opportunity to attend the farmers' meeting in Greenville on next Monday, the 13th inst. Among other lecturers will be Prof. C. L. Goodrich who is one of the best equipped and most attractive talkers on farm management. His talk alone will be worth the trip to Greenville.

Reports of August tobacco sales at the various markets show that tobacco has averaged from 5-12 to 6-12 cents a pound. Of course farmers could not raise tobacco at this figure if they could not realize any more on their crop. However, we believe, the bulk of the tobacco sold was of a low grade and farmers will undoubtedly bring the general average up when they market their better grades during this month and later on in the season. Though the leaf has sold for less during the past month, as a rule, than during August 1908.

Not only the prosperity of the farmer but that of tobacco sections generally is affected adversely when the farmer does not get an adequate return for his labor. So far as the farmer is concerned we believe that he can do nothing better than to follow the advice of tobacco men as published in the Free Press from time to time. And this may be summarized: Improve the type of your leaf. Do not waste time, labor and money on the common, thin primings. And to this we would add: Reduce your tobacco acreage and make your supplies, including a large part of your fertilizer. While the outlook for tobacco this year cannot on the whole be called discouraging, we believe that if growers will follow the lines indicated there will be greater prosperity in the tobacco sections than ever before.

This seems to be the practical remedy for such averages as have been made in August.—Kinston Free Press.

This is good advice to the farmers, and is along the same line as has been given for some time through the columns of The Reflector.

Miss Shields Entertains.

Scotland Neck, Sept. 7.—On Thursday evening Miss Nannie D. Shields gave an "at home" in honor of her friend, Miss Margaret Higgs, of Greenville.

A special feature of the evening was a drawing contest. Mr. Mills Kitchen was awarded the first prize and the booty went to Mr. Allison McDowell. Delicious refreshment were served by Miss Shields Lucile Kitchen and Mary Lamb and Mr. Dupree Shield.

The evening's enjoyment was closed with a dance.

ROCHDALE ITEMS. Rochdale, N. C., Sept. 7, 1909. The meeting at Smith's school house closed Friday night with eight additions, six baptised, one from another church and one moved membership. The Rev. Speigle did some of the best preaching that has been done at this place. The congregations were large at every service. The baptism took place at Blue Banks in Tar river Friday evening at 4 o'clock by the Rev. S. P. Speigle. Rev. G. Hinton Crupler assisted in the meeting and Miss Harriet Settle, of Wilson, was a great help in the singing. She rendered several beautiful solos.

Misses Ellen and Ada Tyson, of Farmville, were visiting in Smithtown last week and returned home Sunday evening.

Dr. Hudson, of Standard, was visiting in Smithtown a portion of last week.

Miss Harriet Settle went to Greenville Saturday morning and returned to her home at Wilson in the evening.

THE PRIZE WINNERS. Drawing for Gold Abstracts Immense Crowds. One of the greatest crowds that Greenville has ever seen assembled at the big store of C. T. Manford last Saturday afternoon, the occasion being the awarding of the $25,000 in gold to those who had patronized the great strike sale.

The award was conducted by F. A. Springer, manager of the National Social Sales Co., who requested several prominent citizens of Greenville and vicinity to ascend to the platform in the rear of the store and superintend the drawing of prize numbers.

The committee was W. M. McArthur, E. E. James, D. J. Zieley, J. W. Bellamy, J. H. Whitaker, J. W. Bellamy, J. H. Smith, C. W. Starvo, W. H. Crawford, W. P. Beck and B. Tucker.

Duplicates of the coupons held by the purchasers were placed in a large box and thoroughly mixed by the gentlemen after which the coupons were drawn from the box one by one. After each drawing the coupons were thoroughly shaken and mixed.

The following persons held the lucky numbers: 1st prize $10,000 in gold, Mrs. Josephine Flynn, of Farmville, coupon number 8157.

2nd prize $5,000 in gold, J. H. Norris, of Greenville, coupon number 13429.

3rd prize $2,500 in gold, W. L. King, of Greenville, coupon number 9399.

4th prize $2,500 in gold, Mrs. T. W. Whitehurst, of Greenville, coupon 32650.

Young Men at University. To the parents and pastors of young men who will be at the University of North Carolina during the coming year:

The Young Men's Christian Association wishes to join the pastors of the churches of Chapel Hill in urging you to encourage the young men you will send to the University to bring with them their certificates of church membership to be placed in the University churches. This is their home for three-fourths of the year; it should be their "church home" during that time. During this critical period of their lives—the formative days of college life—it is exceedingly important that they be intimately connected with the church, rather than remotely related to a distant church in which they inevitably have a nagging interest and little, if any, responsibility. Furthermore, the churches of Chapel Hill which are trying to serve your boys, need the support of your boys and should not be denied it.

The Y. M. C. A. is not a rival in any sense of the churches. The sole purpose of its existence is to co-operate with the churches in effectively reaching and helping the men. Its best support, on the other hand, comes from the churches. For this reason we feel justified in making this appeal. Eugene E. Barnett, Gen. Sec. Y. M. C. A. U. N. C.

The Crime of Idleness. Idleness means trouble for any one. It's the same with a "lazy liver". TEMPERANCE FORCES.

Next Eighteen Months Will Mark the Most Critical Period. To the People of North Carolina: Approved by the hearts and minds of an even larger majority of the people of the State than the forty-thousand majority by which it was ratified last May.

Prohibition is a success—there is no question as to this; and yet we must not let our gratification over its achievements or over the public opinion of the State keep us from recognizing the dangers of indifference on the part of temperance advocates.

It is of the greatest importance, therefore, that our local Anti-Saloon Leagues keep themselves intact and that new leagues be organized wherever there is danger to our cause.

It was not long to have been expected that perfect machinery for the enforcement of our prohibition laws would be immediately developed.

We should not be true to our trust, however, if we did not remind our people—the churches, the advocates of temperance, and good citizens of all classes—of the imperative importance of strict law enforcement and of undiminished activity in preaching temperance doctrine.

Caution in dealing with the near-by sellers. If license is to be granted at all, there should be most careful scrutiny of applicants, and most careful inquiry into their conduct.

EDUCATIONAL MEETING.

Discussion of Several Matters Interesting to Farmers. There was a large attendance of representative farmers from various sections of the county in attendance upon the farmers' educational meeting held in the court house today.

The meeting was arranged by Congressman John H. Small, was called to order by him; J. D. Cox was chosen chairman and D. J. Whitchard secretary.

The question has been asked, what has a member of congress to do with farmers' educational meetings? If it is a congressman's duty to look after the promotion of rivers and harbors in his district, to look after proper mail routes and facilities, why should he not be interested in looking after farming interests when 75 per cent of the people of his district are engaged in this pursuit?

S. C. Thompson, of the Government Bureau of Animal Industry, spoke on cattle and dairy industries. He emphasized the value of cattle for dairying, which aside from the profit of dairy products helps the farmer in improving his soils and brings advantage to him in many ways.

He exhibited a stock law map of North Carolina showing that three-fifths of the State had adopted stock law. He explained that the farmer who raised stock made two profits, one from producing crops and the other from feeding the roughage and forage and surplus grain to the stock.

In addition with free range it is impossible to eradicate ticks from cattle. These produce what is known as tick or Texas cattle fever. Our native cattle do not die because they have been inoculated when young and thereby made immune, but if you bring in cattle from free territory they will soon get the fever and die.

AGRICULTURE.

Man falls overboard, no bones are broken, his body is all there, but by his lungs getting filled with water the body ceases to perform its functions and is dead.

Tell a man that a flood is coming and his low land pasture will overflow, and he hastens to lead his cows out to high land. He is anxious to rescue $100 worth of cows, but will let several hundred dollars worth of corn get "drowned out" every year.

One crop drowned out means taking the profit off of two or three succeeding crops. The land must be drained. We cannot control the rains, but we can provide to take care of it when it comes.

Dr. Cooper Curdies, of the Bureau of Animal Industry, spoke on the subject of stock raising and how to find a market. He advocated the raising of stock. Those sections are the most prosperous where each farmer raises stock both for his own use and for market.

Mr. Wright then gave several illustrations of good drainage and pointed out how under the State drainage laws sections can come together and have their lands drained.

C. R. Hudson, of Co-operative Demonstration Work, made an interesting short talk on this work. He emphasized the value of deep soil and building up fertility with clover crops.

GREENVILLE STORAGE HOUSE.

A New Enterprise That Will Prove a Convenience. On Saturday the Greenville Storage House, W. H. Dail, Jr., proprietor, began business here, and the first day started off with large storage receipts.

Some time last spring Messrs. C. W. Harvey and J. W. Ferrell began the erection of the storage house for this business on the lot between the Liberty warehouse and the Norfolk & Southern railroad, fronting on Pitt street.

There has been much demand here for a building of this kind for storing tobacco, and Mr. Dail has supplied this need. The usual storage house charges are made, and the tobacco, after being packed in hoops, is kept in store until the owners are ready to ship it.
