Consolation.
There was once a Bilville citizen who could never rid himself of the chills, but went shivering through the hottest days of summer. When at last it seemed that all was well with him, his royal wife to comfort him said: "John, you've been a-shakin' an' a-shiverin' all yer life, but you'll get warm over there!" "For the Lord's sake, Mary," said the shivering man, "don't talk so! Which way do you think I'm a-goin'?" —Atlanta Constitution.

Music Hath Charms.
"So you are fond of music?" "Yes," answered Senator Storchum. "I have the highest regard for it. When you go home and meet a crowd of constituents there is nothing like a brass band to take their minds off the explanation they have been looking for." —Washington Star.

An Inference.
"Eveler, this is a very strange creature. He is the boy whose mother said that when she wash his back grows red and hot, and when she washes his chest it grows cold." —Boston Herald.

The Old Man's Tale.
"I heard a man talking of a political candidate the other day say, 'If he only takes this stand when he runs he will have a walkover.'" —Baltimore American.

An Egg Test.
Placed in a bowl of water an egg if fresh will remain resting at the bottom of the vessel; if not quite fresh it will rest with the big end raised higher than the small end, and the higher the big end is raised the older is the egg. As an egg gets older, says the Spatula, the water contained in the white of an egg evaporates, and this causes the empty space at the thick end of every egg to become enlarged. The larger that empty space becomes, the more the egg rises in the water till in course of time it floats.

Washed Ashore.
A sober resident in a small village on the east coast occasionally quite a commotion by saying that the bodies of three children had just been washed ashore. The citizens were indignant when after much inquiry the sober resident said: "I tell you they were. They were washed ashore by their mother. You don't suppose she could take 'em out into the middle of the ocean to wash 'em, do you?"

Blowing His Own Nose.
When George IV. was prince regent he visited Doneaster, and at the time his royal highness was suffering from a cold. One day the royal party were showing themselves to the people from a balcony. "Which is the prince? I must see the prince!" cried an excited old Yorkshire woman who had come to see the "first gentleman of Europe." "That's him," said a bystander, pointing upward, "him with a handkerchief in his hand." "Him!" cried the old lady in profound contempt. "That the prince? Why, he blows his own nose!"

The Oddities of Language.
"English is a funny language, after all, isn't it?" "Why so?" "I heard a man talking of a political candidate the other day say, 'If he only takes this stand when he runs he will have a walkover.'" —Baltimore American.

OUR PIANO WAREROOM

Now Open.

WITH the exception of two makes which have not reached us yet, the most of the makes which we intend to handle are now on our floor, next to Carr & Atkins Hardware Co. The grandest display ever shown. In this magnificent group of pianos can be seen, the artistic Lester. This strictly high grade piano is used in the Leading Conservatories of the U. S., among them in the New England Conservatory, Boston, largest musical institution in the U. S. The East Carolina Teachers' Training School, Greenville, N. C., has also equipped its music departments with these famous instruments. The renowned Henry and S. G. Lindeman Pianos, this concern is one of the most noted of the pioneers in the piano industry in this country. Of this piano we quote from the music trades: "Mr. Henry Lindeman is considered to be one of the few really scientific and expert piano makers we have living today. He is also recognized as an expert scale drawer and his reputation for developing the same is second to none in the trade. He stands pre-eminent as a maker of scales of pianos." Six other makes are all standard and legitimate. Among those "the Boudoir pianos" known as the smallest high grade, upright, ever manufactured "Nothing ever like it" A truly artistic little piano and is the artists' favorite of the little pianos. We thus quote the celebrated Madam Emma Calve: "Relative to the Boudoir Piano, which I purchased for my private use last February and used by me in my Trans-Continental Tour. I desire to say that this piano has certainly proved itself to be a little jewel. To state the whole truth, I am enthusiastic over this little piano. It possesses a quality of tone that is sweet and sympathetic, being practically well adapted to accompanying my voice, and a volume that is the equal of, if not surpassing, pianos of usual size. It is truly a wonderful little piano, and I would not dispose of mine for any consideration."

We invite the public to visit our wareroom. Are you considering the purchase of pianos, or have you one in your home on trial? Come and look at ours, and your home will be made happier and your pocket book will remain decidedly in a healthier condition. Terms to suit your convenience. SOME FACTS ABOUT TOBACCO.

Since the new tobacco season opened August first, much has been said and written regarding the low price of tobacco, especially the common grades. Some newspapers have shown a disposition to put all the blame for the low prices on the American Tobacco Company, and have even been more or less incendiary in expressions of denunciation of the trust.

The Reflector is not a defender of trusts, and the purpose of this article is not to speak in their defense, but the paper believes in fair play and thinks it serves its patrons better, and does the farmers a greater kindness, to state facts just as they are and show the real conditions, instead of by abuse and the cry of "trust, trust" arouse in them a spirit of discontent and animosity.

Now what are the facts? Common grades of tobacco are low in price, too low, in fact, to give the farmers a profit. But is the A. T. Co. alone responsible for this low price? Let's see what any tobacco market you please and you find the American buyers, the Imperial buyers, and the independent buyers, the latter largely in the majority. The bidding is open, fair and without restraint. Do the independent buyers pay any more than the trust buyers? Not at all. Why? Because they cannot dispose of the common tobacco to advantage and do not want it except at a low enough price to leave them some profit. The why should the trust be expected to take it, and denounce for not doing so, when they, likewise, have no channel through which to dispose of so much common tobacco? On the other hand you will see good tobacco bid on eagerly and bring satisfactory prices.

Early in the present season The Reflector copied an article from the Southern Tobacco Journal, of Winston-Salem, showing, from government reports, how the loss of Japanese trade had greatly decreased the demand for low grades of tobacco grown in America. Elsewhere in this issue will be found another article, copied from the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, also taken from the government reports, hence without bias, which tells further of American losses in trade with other foreign countries, because those countries, either by home product or purchases elsewhere, have found substitutes better to their liking for the grades they formerly bought in America. This article we commend to the careful consideration of every reader of the Reflector who is interested in tobacco and wants to know the real facts as they exist.

The Reflector has tried to make a study of conditions in the tobacco trade for the purpose of giving its readers such information as could be obtained, and with that view the articles referred to have been published. Another matter coming under our observation that more or less affects the low price of tobacco, is the government tax on cigarettes. Heretofore the government levied a tax of 54 cents per thousand on cigarettes of the quality that sold 20 for 5 cents, and $1.08 per thousand on those selling 10 for 5 cents. Now this tax is changed to $1.25 per thousand, regardless of cost to manufacture or price at which they sell. The common grades of tobacco grown in Eastern North Carolina went largely into the manufacture of these cheap cigarettes, 8,000,000 pounds being so used in the year 1900. With these cheap cigarettes selling at $2.50 per thousand, and a tax on them of $1.25 per thousand, it can be seen that the remaining $1.25 will not cover the cost of carrying this tobacco through the various stages between the producer and the consumer, hence this year only about 2,500,000 pounds will be used in making these cheap cigarettes, and there is that much less demand for common tobacco.

With these facts we are unable to see why the A. T. Co. or anybody else should be abused for not buying what they have no use for and cannot dispose of. Men engaged in tobacco manufacturing, whether in the trust or independent concerns, are men of business judgment, or supposed to be, and are not going to carry on that part of business that loses money for them, and they cannot be expected to put money in a lot of stuff for which they have no use just because somebody has it to sell.

Now, why cannot the farmers use the same judgment in their business? They can control the situation if they will. Farming is a business that should have as much care and study as any other pursuit. Then if the farmers find one part of their business is losing them money, they should stop that part of it. If they are raising more common tobacco than there is a demand for, they should stop raising that kind.

The Reflector believes that the farmers should organize and stick to their organization. Here in Eastern North Carolina they already have the best farmers organization in existence, or that ever existed, but the organization is not as large nor as strong as it should be. We refer to the Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company, that is doing its members more good than anything we know of. Mr. O. L. Joyner, president of the company, is constantly advising the farmers to keep down their tobacco acreage, and shoot to kill, intimating that he would pardon any who might be convicted for following his advice. That is one time the governor had better not spoken, even if he did feel that way about it.

As an example of what a determined woman can do, the completion of the $1,000,000 endowment to Greenville College can be pointed to. A woman, Mrs. Lucy Robertson, is president of that college and set her heart on getting an endowment for it. Mr. Carnegie of Talk good roads and you will be on a live subject. The Reflector went to press at 12 o'clock today so "the force" could go to the circus.

When Thaw settles down to the fact that he is there to stay, he may have less to worry about.

Looks like the smaller census jobs are going begging, and people will have to be begged to stand the required examination for qualification.

When the street and road from Evans street to the training school is completed, there will be another good road object lesson for the people to look at.

Governor Ansell, of South Carolina, says "he sold South with the solidly prohibition with in the next five years." It looks like his prediction will hit right.

Hearst has decided to try it some more. The Independence party in New York City has nominated him for mayor. He ought to learn something when he has had enough.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Beavitt, daughter of presidential candidate W. J. Bryan, is a candidate for congress from Colorado. Somebody in the family is constantly before the people.

Another thing that Greenville must have is more manufacturing enterprises. There is every opportunity here for these, and they are needed to help the business and development of the town.

Tennessee seems to have made a mess of her prohibition law. While no liquor can be sold in the state, it can be made, and distilleries are running right along. That looks like simply playing over the matter.

The State fair will be held in Raleigh Oct. 18th to 23rd, and the outlook is that it is to be the best yet held. Many applications for space for exhibits have been made, and the attractions for visitors will be numerous.

A cordial welcome to Pitt county teachers as they come back today to begin their association work for the new school year. The Reflector is glad to recognize many familiar faces among them and also to see many new ones. Remember it is "Our Greenville, yours if you come," and come as often as you can.

Governor Wilson, of Kentucky, has come right out and advised tobacco planters in his State to shoot night robbers who attack them, and shoot to kill, intimating that he would pardon any who might be convicted for following his advice. That is one time the governor had better not spoken, even if he did feel that way about it.

ferred to give $25,000 if the other $75,000 was first raised, and the full amount has been secured.

On the 25th inst. the Norfolk & Southern Railway will put the 21 cent passenger fare rate in force over its lines. Since the rate was established by the legislature, the Norfolk & Southern has come under the provision which exempted new lines for a certain time. That time having now expired the Norfolk & Southern comes within the law.

On Wednesday at New Bern the governor of Rhode Island and his staff, accompanied by many people from that State, unveiled and dedicated a monument to the memory of the Rhode Island veterans who were buried in the national cemetery there. New Bern entertained the visitors handsomely and Secretary of State J. Bryan Grimes represented Governor Kitchin in an address of welcome.

Yes, there are some people who had rather trudge along over bad roads than to pay a little tax to have good ones. They were the same way about education—rather be themselves, and keep their children, in ignorance than to pay a little school tax. But the school tax came and you see what education is doing for Pitt county. Still greater improvement will follow when the entire county has good roads.

The National Farmers' Congress will meet in Raleigh November 23d to 28th, bringing to gether representative men from every part of the United States. At the same time exhibits of North Carolina crops will be made to show the visitors the advantages of this as an agricultural State. For these exhibits premiums have been offered, a list of which can be had by writing W. A. Graham, commissioner of agriculture, Raleigh, N. C. The Reflector would like to see Pitt county make exhibits and win some of the premiums.

The Board of Aldermen have not done a better thing than the action in calling for a statement of receipts and expenses of the water and light plants to be made public. The law under which the Water and Light Commission was created provided that such statements be made to the aldermen every three months, but the law in this respect has not been complied with. The water and light service is costing the town and the consumers much money, and there has been criticism that the financial part of it is not made public just the same as other departments of the town's affairs. The people should be advised just what the receipts and disbursements are, so they may know whether the town is losing or gaining by owning such plants.

In South Carolina reports are given as to the price that tobacco brought as well as the quantity sold on each market. In North Carolina the reports only give the quantity. Let us have the price also.—Raleigh News and Observer.

It looks like the News and Observer might get its facts straight if it wanted to. We have noticed reports from a number of markets in North Carolina that gave the total number of pounds sold, the amount in dollars and cents that was paid, and the average price per pound. That is the way the secretary of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade has made his reports, and on many other markets similar reports have been made.

Why one Man Lost the Chance of His Life. Not long ago there was an opening for a bright man with a jaw firm in a distant city, says Jane Lee in The Designer for November. In our office was the very man who, we thought was peculiarly suited for the work. We all urged him to go West and make application, but he refused to do it. I think even the members of his own firm were anxious to see him take advantage of the opportunity. Some of us in talking it over, were a bit resentful of his attitude. We thought him lacking in ambition and courage. He was afraid to strike out and take the chance. And then one day—these things happen so unexpectedly—that man and I had a heart to heart talk, and I learned why he had not gone.

He had lacked the funds! The trip to the distant city meant the money due that week for life insurance premiums. And then the new firm wanted well dressed, prosperous looking men on its staff.

"I'd have looked fine in my last year's overcoat and this season's cheap business suit. I should have had to buy a decent outfit to make a good impression, and if I had failed to get the place then some one at home would have had to suffer for my plunge. It's all very well for men without family ties to strike out on new lines, but a man with a wife and children must keep things moving at home. He can take no chances."

The entire production, including many sets of scenery, all Venetian furniture and furnishings, all special music and elaborate costumes of the Elizabethan period, as carried by Mr. Gregg, the local theatre furnishing nothing from the drop-curtain back.

The management announces the appearance of Mr. D'Ooze and company with great pleasure and with the assurance that the production is complete. He asks the consideration and attendance of the citizens of Greenville that Mr. D'Ooze's may be reckoned amongst the first class attractions of annual visitation.

POSTER-DECLAWED. Shortly after the radiant sun rose above the eastern hill tops to face the eyes of a sleeping world a host of friends gathered at the home of the bride to witness the solemn occasion. The bride was beautifully adorned in a blue traveling outfit. Shortly before the morning train the marriage was solemnized by Rev. H. L. Goodwin, a school mate of the groom. After the ceremony the couple drove to the depot where they were congratulated by their many friends when they took their departure for their future home in South Carolina. We all wish them a happy future.

Miss Rosa Fleming returned Monday from a few days trip to Tarboro and other places. C. L. Cannon and wife left Tuesday afternoon. W. E. Patrick spent a part of the day in Greenville Tuesday. Miss Blanche Cannon spent a part of Monday in Greenville. The sermon preached by Bishop Strange on last Friday night was much enjoyed by every one who was present. Miss Esther Blount, who has been very ill with typhoid fever, is recovering very rapidly. Mrs. J. R. Tingle has been very sick for the past few days. E. L. Turnage went to Greenville this morning. John C. Nobles, of this place, has closed out his brokerage and insurance business to E. W. Tingle. Over 100 bales of cotton was sold on the Ayden cotton market Saturday. Milton Taylor has returned once more and taken his old position again in Tripp, Hart & Co's office. George Worthington will soon have his new work shop so he can do his repair work in it. WATCH THE PIANO CONTEST. And See How the Candidates Run Up Their Votes.

On Christmas Eve The Reflector is going to give away a handsome baby upright Boudoir piano that is on exhibition at the music store of Fineman & White, and somebody is going to have a very happy Christmas over the possession of an instrument of such excellence and value. A number of people are at work in the effort to win this prize, and if you do not think they are hustling you only have to watch the list of votes as they are published. Others are going to enter the contest, as it is open to everybody, and make it all the more interesting. As only one of the contestants can win the piano, all the others who work for it will be given a cash commission according to the number of subscribers each secures for The Reflector. So every candidate will get something, and we hope every one will work to win. That is the purpose of the contest, to increase the subscription list of the paper. Every person not taking the paper can help some candidate by subscribing, and every one already taking it can help by paying up what is already due and making another payment in advance. Every payment counts votes.

Look over the list and decide who you wish to vote for and help get the beautiful piano. At present the list is published only twice a week, but later will appear more frequently. Here is how the vote stands now: Miss Mary Johnston 5000, Miss Lillie R. Tucker 3275, Miss Lottie How 3175, Miss Mavis Belle Evans 3050, James Tingle 2950, Miss Jessie Hodges 1000, Mrs. Christian Johnston 1000, Mrs. John H. Cheek 1000.

If you want to nominate some one, or yourself, in this contest send in the name and the nomination will count 1,000 votes to begin with. Get to work for your choice and see the votes pile up.

GREAT CROWDS AT CIRCUS.

Many People Here Plan to See Barum and Bailey at Rocky Mount.

Greenville will be well represented at Rocky Mount on Thursday, Oct. 21st, when the Barum & Bailey greatest show on earth exhibits there on that date, for a great many of our citizens have already expressed themselves as having made up their minds to attend. A glance at the list of wonders to be seen will show you would least one to believe that the limit in tremendous size as well as number of novelties to be seen has finally been reached. Barum & Bailey present this year under their city of 14 acres of tents more things new than have been offered by any other shows in years. "Mupier, the balloon horse," Karnally's troupe of 16 Hungarian coal back stallions, the musical elephants, celebrated Kosoyt troupe of equestrians, seven troupes of foreign acrobats, four troupes of aerialists and hundreds of other aerial novelties all go to complete a circus performance that has never been equaled. The big menagerie has been augmented by the addition of many new strange beasts and is larger than all the zoological gardens in this country combined. The street parade so gorgeous and so tremendous in size, by-gones description and in all is a fair index to the wonderful performances that follow.

MASONIC OPERA HOUSE. Thursday Evening, October 14.—"The Merchant of Venice." Special engagement of Mr. Edward D'Ooze, assisted by Miss Eugenia Flagg and a company of players in Shakespeare's masterpiece comedy, "The Merchant of Venice"—Mr. D'Ooze as Shylock, Miss Flagg as Portia—Under the management of Guy F. Gregg.

The entire production, including many sets of scenery, all Venetian furniture and furnishings, all special music and elaborate costumes of the Elizabethan period, as carried by Mr. Gregg, the local theatre furnishing nothing from the drop-curtain back.

The management announces the appearance of Mr. D'Ooze and company with great pleasure and with the assurance that the production is complete. DEATH OF MRS. TOD ALLEN. Mrs. Allen had been suffering for several years with a cancer on the breast. She was a member of the Christian church at Rountrees and a very faithful worker. She leaves a husband and several small children, who have our deepest sympathy in their sad hour of bereavement.

Mrs. Joe Persons' remedies, Perkins Tablets and other patent medicines at J. R. Smith Co. Mill supplies, belts and a full line of hardware at J. R. Smith Co. School books, Bibles and Testaments at J. R. Smith Co. K. Elita, a good top dresser for coat, at J. R. Smith Co. Seta royal blue shoes for ladies and gentlemen at J. R. Smith Co. J. R. Smith Co. & Dixon will furnish your bargains and the rest gratis for nothing and give you cotton for the twentieth bush and pay you 30 cents per bush for your seed. The proposition is very popular and people from quite a distance are hauling their cotton to them.

POSTER-DECLAWED. Shortly after the radiant sun rose above the eastern hill tops to face the eyes of a sleeping world a host of friends gathered at the home of the bride to witness the solemn occasion. The bride was beautifully adorned in a blue traveling outfit. Shortly before the morning train the marriage was solemnized by Rev. H. L. Goodwin, a school mate of the groom. After the ceremony the couple drove to the depot where they were congratulated by their many friends when they took their departure for their future home in South Carolina. We all wish them a happy future.

Miss Rosa Fleming returned Monday from a few days trip to Tarboro and other places. C. L. Cannon and wife left Tuesday afternoon. W. E. Patrick spent a part of the day in Greenville Tuesday. Miss Blanche Cannon spent a part of Monday in Greenville. The sermon preached by Bishop Strange on last Friday night was much enjoyed by every one who was present. Miss Esther Blount, who has been very ill with typhoid fever, is recovering very rapidly. Mrs. J. R. Tingle has been very sick for the past few days. E. L. Turnage went to Greenville this morning. John C. Nobles, of this place, has closed out his brokerage and insurance business to E. W. Tingle. Over 100 bales of cotton was sold on the Ayden cotton market Saturday. Milton Taylor has returned once more and taken his old position again in Tripp, Hart & Co's office. George Worthington will soon have his new work shop so he can do his repair work in it. WATCH THE PIANO CONTEST. And See How the Candidates Run Up Their Votes.

On Christmas Eve The Reflector is going to give away a handsome baby upright Boudoir piano that is on exhibition at the music store of Fineman & White, and somebody is going to have a very happy Christmas over the possession of an instrument of such excellence and value. A number of people are at work in the effort to win this prize, and if you do not think they are hustling you only have to watch the list of votes as they are published. Others are going to enter the contest, as it is open to everybody, and make it all the more interesting. As only one of the contestants can win the piano, all the others who work for it will be given a cash commission according to the number of subscribers each secures for The Reflector. So every candidate will get something, and we hope every one will work to win. That is the purpose of the contest, to increase the subscription list of the paper. Every person not taking the paper can help some candidate by subscribing, and every one already taking it can help by paying up what is already due and making another payment in advance. Every payment counts votes.

Look over the list and decide who you wish to vote for and help get the beautiful piano. At present the list is published only twice a week, but later will appear more frequently. Here is how the vote stands now: Miss Mary Johnston 5000, Miss Lillie R. Tucker 3275, Miss Lottie How 3175, Miss Mavis Belle Evans 3050, James Tingle 2950, Miss Jessie Hodges 1000, Mrs. Christian Johnston 1000, Mrs. John H. Cheek 1000.

If you want to nominate some one, or yourself, in this contest send in the name and the nomination will count 1,000 votes to begin with. Get to work for your choice and see the votes pile up.

BETHEL ITEMS

Bethel, N. C., Oct. 13, 1909.

The death angel visited our town last Friday night and took from us Mr. George Whitfield, one of our best Christian men. He was fifty years old and had been a faithful member of the Methodist church most of his life. Several years ago he had a severe case of typhoid fever which left him totally blind, but he has borne this affliction without a murmur. He is survived by a wife, four children a number of grand children, and a host of friends and relatives.

Rev. J. W. Aubrey has taken up the study of the Bible of the Apostle Paul in his weekly prayer meetings. It promises to be interesting as instructive. He will go well to it.

Rev. C. A. James, of Scotland, N. C., was a present at the meeting last week. He spent several days here last week, happy in a meeting, and he once welcomed him at a meeting. W. J. Robertson and Miss Arnold, and J. D. Brown, and Miss Wright went to tarboro agency night to see "The Lion and the Mouse."

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Taylor and their daughter, Margaret, assisting A. O. Gault and family. I. R. Andrews and Mrs. L. P. Parke, J. D. Brown, and Miss Grude Wright, W. J. Robertson, and Miss M. J. Gault, and F. A. Manning went out to Miss Lucy Manning's Sunday, and report a pleasant trip.

Dr. Ward and Miss Elizabeth Jones had a very pleasant drive out to Miss A. H. Little's Sunday. Angus Worsley of Tarboro, spent Sunday night here with friends and relatives. W. J. Mayo and Leslie Triggner, of Coletto, were callers in our town Sunday. Mrs. John Lindsay, of West-ports, was called home by the death of her uncle, Mr. George Whitfield. Miss Mattie Starcell, of Hill, was a pleasant visitor here last week. Miss Christine Starnell spent Saturday and Sunday at her home at Hill. John Sherrod, of Whiters, spent Sunday and Monday here.

Prominent Colored Man Dead. Moses King, a well known colored man here, died Monday and was buried Tuesday evening. For a long time he carried on a market business. In the days of Fusion rule which put negroes practically in control of several Eastern towns, Moses was one of Greenville's police officers.

Can't Be Cut Off With a Shilling. There's no person in all of North Carolina who has more than 2 shillings to dispose of at will as provided from the graduation of entering a military school. A shilling is a reserve of cash that he will be holding on to until he has the opportunity to invest it in a business. A shilling is a small amount of money, but it is a shilling that he will be holding on to until he has the opportunity to invest it in a business.

For a few years, when a young man Mr. Moses King, died Monday and was buried Tuesday evening. For a long time he carried on a market business. In the days of Fusion rule which put negroes practically in control of several Eastern towns, Moses was one of Greenville's police officers.

PERUMA TABLETS TESTED.

What are the Peruma Tablets good for? How can they be used? Do you know what they will do? Read the following letter and see. If you have any doubts as to the genuineness of the Peruma Tablets, please send a stamped envelope for reply, and see whether the testimonials are genuine or not.

Ravenna, Mich., June 15, 1908. The Peruma Tablets. I have used about ten boxes in all. While I was in Chicago my oldest daughter was bothered with a cough. She has had it for four years. Sometimes it would go away, but in the winter time it was so bad that she could not go to school. I had heard of the Peruma Tablets, and I bought a box. I gave her one and she was better in ten days. I have since bought several more boxes, and I have given them to my other children. I have never seen a child get better so fast. I have given them to my other children, and they are all well now. I have never seen a child get better so fast. I have given them to my other children, and they are all well now.

My oldest son who is bothered with his stomach, throwing up, and he has had it for four months. I have given him one and he was better in ten days. I have since bought several more boxes, and I have given them to my other children. I have never seen a child get better so fast. I have given them to my other children, and they are all well now.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Whereas, The Great Architect of the universe, has in the providence of His ministrations seen fit to remove from the terrestrial lodge on earth to the celestial lodge above, our brother, Willis R. Williams, and

Whereas, Greenville Lodge No. 284 A. F. & A. M. of which Brother Williams was a member, desires to pay its simple tribute to his merits, honesty, his integrity and his fidelity to the tenets of Masonry in general, therefore

Resolved, That in his death Greenville lodge has lost an exemplary member who was held in high esteem by every member of the lodge. We therefore tender our deep and sincere sympathy to his children and to every one connected with his family who are left to mourn his death.

Resolved, That the death of Brother Williams, whose lodge has lost a valuable member whose wisdom and counsel, whose loveable character and integrity of virtue will be hard to supply.

That the whole people of Pitt county have lost a faithful, old public servant who was always their friend and who in the councils of State was ever attentive to their interest, and animated only by the desire to faithfully serve his people.

Resolved, That we will cherish, and ever keep green the memory of his many virtues, among which were his uniform suavity of manners and his courteous affability towards all with whom he came in contact.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon a separate page of our minutes and that a copy of the same be sent to the representatives of the family of our deceased brother and that a copy be published in the papers of Pitt county.

R. Williams, C. B. Whitchard, H. Harding, Com.

THE REFLECTOR PIANO CONTEST.

More Candidates Wanted and Now is a Good Time to Enter.

The Reflector contest is going some, and every day it grows more interesting. It was just two weeks ago that the contest started, and in that time some of the candidates have been doing active work, securing a good number of votes. All of them can do the same thing if they plenty of time for new candidates to enter now and catch up with those in the lead.

Remember the prize is something worth working for. On Christmas eve The Reflector will give the handsome baby upright Boudoir piano, now on exhibition at the music room of Fineman & White, to the person who has the largest vote in this popularity contest. This piano is no toy, but an elegant instrument, equal in tone and volume to the best made. All who have been to examine it are delighted with it. Even if you do not get a large enough vote to win the piano, every contestant will be paid a cash commission according to the number of subscribers secured for The Reflector, so the work done will not be thrown away.

We want more contestants to enter the race, and every one of them work earnestly to get new subscribers for The Reflector and make collections from those who are already subscribers. The best worker will get the prize, but all of them will be paid for what they do. Now do not hold back longer, but enter the race and get to work, and those already in it work all the harder.

Here is the standing of the vote today, and so some contestants have votes not yet turned in:

- Miss Mary Johnson 10,000
Miss Lottie Blow 6,000
Miss Mavis Belle Evans 4,050
Miss Lillie R. Tucker 3,500
James Tingle 2,050
Quinerly School 1,225
Miss Jessie Hodges 1,000
Miss Christine Johnson 1,000
Mrs. John Cheek 1,000
Miss Beulah Mumford 1,000

Go out among your friends or write to them, get them to subscribe to The Reflector and vote for you.

Quinerly school, near Grifton, is one of the new candidates. The friends of any school or church can enter them for the race.

A Large Family. A. A. Smith, who lives near Grifton, dropped in Friday to get a Reflector subscription receipt, and while here told us there are four generations of his people living. He says his father, J. B. Smith, now living at Clay Root, is 76 years old, and had married three times. He had 11 children, all born by his first wife, and 10 of them are now living. There are also 50 grand-children and 5 great-grand-children. This is certainly a large family.

Does Farming Pay. James Lewis, a young man of Chicod township, planted one acre of tobacco on land rented from Israel Edwards, and his crop weighed, when ready for market, 84 pounds. He sold it at the Star Warehouse in Greenville for $231.62. After paying all expenses of cultivation, rent, etc., he has the nucleus of a very nice little bank account to his credit. Go thou and do likewise.

ASSAULTED FOR WHISKEY.

Colored Man While Delivering Package is Attacked and Ripped of it.

Early Saturday night a man asked Lawrence Norcott, colored, to go with him to the express office to get a package which he wanted delivered. Lawrence went with the man as requested, the package, which contained a gallon of liquor, was turned over to him and he started away to deliver it at the place designated. It seems that somebody overthrusty for a drink saw Lawrence leave the express office with the package and followed him. When around on Cotnach street going toward Third street, Lawrence was almost struck by a brick striking him on the head and cutting his head severely. He turned around to see why he was thus attacked when he saw a man throw a short distance away through another brick at him which grazed his pocket knife in the effort to defend himself when a third brick struck him a heavy blow on the side, cutting off his breath and causing him to drop the package. His assailant grabbed the package and fled.

Lawrence's cry for help brought assistance and he was carried to Dr. Skinner's office for attention. No bones were broken in the assault, but several stitches had to be taken to close the ugly wound on his head. He is laid up at his home from the injury.

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION. Editor Reflector: The negro is learning the power of organization, Chas. H. Moore, national organizer of the local negro business leagues, came to this city on Friday, the 15th, for the purpose of organizing a league among his people here. By some misunderstanding his coming had not been publicly announced, but when the matter was brought to the attention of the pastor of the A. M. E. Zion church through the cooperation of his board of trustees, arrangements were soon made to hold the meeting at the above named church at 8 p. m., and those interested got busy and talked it up, so that there was an appreciative audience of both sexes to greet this cultured negro. He is easily one of the most learned and best informed negroes of his race. He is the first negro graduate from Amhurst college in Massachusetts, and during the administration of President Arthur he filled a government position in his State, and since that time his life has been devoted to the educational work of his race.

When the hour arrived for opening the meeting, Rev. Jas. T. Gaskill, pastor of the church, in a few well chosen words, introduced Prof. Epps as chairman of the meeting, who, in his introductory remarks, emphasized the necessity of the negro going into business, and becoming producers as well as consumers. (Organizer Moore, then addressing his audience, held it spell-bound for more than an hour, telling of the progress the race has made along business lines since the league was first organized by Booker T. Washington in Boston ten years ago. At the conclusion of this splendid address, an organization was effected, with W. P. Norcott, president; William Harris, vice president; Lizzie Norcott, secretary, and Lida J. Jones, treasurer.
