RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Whereas, The Great Architect of the universe, has in the providence of His ministrations seen fit to remove from the terrestrial lodge on earth to the celestial lodge above, our brother, Willis R. Williams, and

Whereas, Greenville Lodge No. 284 A. F. & A. M. of which Brother Williams was a member, desires to pay its simple tribute to his merits, honesty, his integrity and his fidelity to the lodge in particular and to the tenets of Masonry in general, therefore

Resolved, That in his death Greenville lodge has lost an exemplary member who was held in high esteem by every member of the lodge. We therefore tender our deep and sincere sympathy to his children and to every one connected with his family who are left to mourn his death.

Resolved, That in the death of Brother Williams, the lodge has lost a valuable member whose wisdom and counsel, whose loveable character and integrity of virtue will be hard to supply.

That the whole people of Pitt county have lost a faithful, old public servant who was always their friend and who in the councils of State was ever attentive to their interest, and animated only by the desire to faithfully serve his people.

Resolved, That we will cherish, and ever keep green the memory of his many virtues, among which were his uniform suavity of manners and his courteous affability towards all with whom he came in contact.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon a separate page of our minutes and that a copy of the same be sent to the representatives of the family of our deceased brother and that a copy be published in the papers of Pitt county.

R. Williams, C. B. Wichard, Com. H. Harding.

Attractive Advertisements.

There has been more or less comment recently upon the attractive advertisements appearing in The Reflector, which shows that our many readers watch what goes in this paper.

Especially has the one of C. T. Munford, in connection with the opening of the school, been complimented for its appropriate wording and style. This also reflects credit upon A. E. Tucker, who gets up the advertisements for the big store and does his work well.

The R-reflector likes to have attractive advertisements, and with our ample type equipment and good ad-setters we are always ready to help the business people when they do their part in furnishing the advertisements.

The Wednesday morning session began at 9 o'clock with devotion by Rev. T. B. Hill, of Louisville, Ky.

Prayer by Rev. J. G. Blalock, Rev. B. F. Huske, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, was recognized and introduced to the association, making a brief response of greeting and good wishes.

The time, place and preacher for the next association was referred to a committee consisting of E. C. Andrews, I. C. Sledge, J. W. Robbins, E. E. Hilliard and W. H. Ragsdale.

Thursday at 4 o'clock p. m. was selected as the time for making a visit to East Carolina Teachers' Training School.

T. L. Vernon read the report on periodicals which was discussed by himself and M. L. Kesler and adopted.

Dr. L. Johnson, secretary of the State Mission Board, was recognized.

Historian T. M. Arrington presented his report which was read and adopted.

R. A. McFarland made the report on associational missions which was discussed by himself, Jesse McCarter, J. D. Huffman and L. Johnson.

The report showed the great mission work that had been in the bounds of the association the past year and the need of enlarged effort.

Treasurer N. Biggs stated that $3,000 was needed to carry on the work planned for the coming year. The roll of churches was called for pledges and the first call showed $2,633.50.

It was announced that the remainder would be pledged before the association closed.

T. B. Hill, representative of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, spoke with much interest on the work of the seminary and the need of a larger endowment.

R. A. McFarland offered a resolution endorsing the movement to raise the endowment for the seminary which was unanimously adopted.

The following new ministers in the association were recognized, each responding briefly: J. M. Dunningway, Wilson; J. G. Blalock, Weldon; Jesse McCarter, Farmville; J. B. Cook, Greenville; D. F. Putnam, Spring Hope.

After benediction by W. G. Hall recess was taken to 2 o'clock p. m.

Delegates from this and the two churches received at the afternoon session were asked to come forward and the moderator extended them the hand of fellowship.

Noah Biggs made a statement in regard to the church building at Farmville and asked for help in paying off the indebtedness incurred. Jesse McCarter, the Farmville pastor, and Governor Jarvis both spoke of the importance of the Farmville work, the latter making the strong point that the Baptists had never done for Pitt county what they have for some other counties, while there was no more inviting field for them than this county offered.

Dr. Huffman brought tears to many eyes as he spoke of his own work in the past fifty years.

J. G. Blalock read the report on Sunday schools, and E. L. Middleton, secretary of the State Sunday School Board, was introduced and addressed the association on Sunday schools. He emphasized this work as the most important the church is doing, as impressions made upon the mind of the child are the ones that stick through life. He ENDOCARDITIS.

Forms and Dangers of This Affection of the Heart

By "endocarditis" is meant an inflammation of the endocardium or membrane lining the cavities of the heart. It is caused by the presence of poisonous bacteria in the blood stream. These bacteria are usually introduced into the system through a wound, or by the action of a diseased valve of the heart. The disease is characterized by a fever, a rapid pulse, and a general prostration of the system. It is a very serious condition, and if not treated promptly, it may lead to death.

The danger of endocarditis is twofold—danger to the heart itself and danger to the brain or lungs or one of the other organs of the body. The danger to the heart is from injury to one of the valves. This almost always happens except in the mildest form of endocarditis, because the inflammation most often affects the edges of the valves. Even when the disease subsides without giving any sign of valvular injury at first, this often appears later through a fibrous thickening or scarlike contraction of the part originally inflamed. This interferes with the complete closure of the valve, and the result is a heart permanently crippled by valvular disease.

When there is actual ulceration of the valves injury is inevitable. The danger to the brain or other organ is from detachment of the little blood clot from the inflamed spot and its carriage into the general circulation, where it plugs one of the smaller arteries. If this happens in the brain it gives rise to symptoms of apoplexy. The first principle of treatment is absolute rest in bed, and this incision must be insisted upon long after the patient feels well and is well, and for the rest of life anything that may cause heart strain must be carefully avoided.—Youth's Companion.

ROSEBERY'S TIPS.

The Traveler Wouldn't Take It and Voted Himself a Champ.

"When Lord Rosebery was a young man," said a London sporting man, "he was on a journey to a race meeting at Ayr, and for his companion in the railway carriage had a remarkable pushing species of commercial traveler, who at once found to force a speaking acquaintance. Seeing his lordship perusing the racing calendar, he 'broke earth' with the remark: 'Racing is a great institution. Suppose you're going to the Ayr meeting?'"

"I am going as far as Ayr," replied his lordship.
"Pity young swells get fleeced by blacklegs. Some noblemen, I hear, drop fortunes on the turf."
"Indeed!"
"Do a bit myself sometime—a tinner on a pony about my cut. Know anything good for today worth my white touching?"
"I am not a tipster."
"Beg pardon. Saw you reading the racing calendar. Thought you might know."
"Well," replied his lordship, "if I give you the straight tip will it be of service to you?"
"Depends if I fancy it."
"Put your tinner or pony on Lord Rosebery's Cheviot for the Welter cup."

"Not for Joseph! I never back Lord Rosebery's horses. They say he's a regular chumpkin."
"Indeed! Perhaps they're right. However, you asked me. I can only add that I heard Lord Rosebery himself tell what you term a chumpkin to back his horse."
"I beg pardon, but if it was all right he would not let you overhear his conversation. Mum would then be his game. Why, there's a lot in that race. I'll bet you a pony Lord Rosebery don't win it."
"Jeally! I am not accustomed to bet in railway carriages with strangers."
"There's my card. Fact is you ain't game to bet."
"I think you'll lose your money. But, as you challenge me, let it be a bet. You'll see me in the stewards' enclosure at the course. I have no cards with me."
"Agreed! It's a bet. I bet you an even pony against Cheviot for the Welter cup. But what's your name, young fellow?"
"Primrose. Sometimes I'm otherwise addressed."
"All right, young Primrose. Pay and receive after the race."
"The companions separated at the station. Cheviot won in a canter, and the commercial traveler received the following morning a short note by a messenger from the stewards' stand: "Mr. Primrose (Lord Rosebery) would feel obliged by Mr. ——— handing to his servant £25, which his lordship will have much pleasure in forwarding as a donation to the Commercial Travelers' Orphan asylum."

Just the Thing.
The poet took his silver mounted pistol from the bureau drawer.
"What are you going to do with that?" asked his timid wife.
"I'm going to use it to drive the wolf from the door," he answered.
Ten minutes later the paravertor had advanced $2 on it.—Chicago News.
