J. F. DAVENPORT, Manager,

For months we have been keeping an eye on the production of the greatest garment manufacturers and style originators, both in this country and abroad, watching for the distinctive, out of he ordinary the up his which spring up as it were, the multitude of handsome stamped out designs, which mark the display of ready - to - wear garments. We have been studying the style affects for fall at close range, too--drinking in some fashion messages of what is to be needed in voman's wearables and watching our selection of suits with first hand knowledge of your needs.

in developing this special line we have anticipated every whim-every need of the young men was care for their dress. They are better suits than you'll find most any where else this season. Cut on vigorous lines and finished with due details -- those details that young man are so keen about-shown in a wice range of styles, fine, fancy Warsted and Navy Eluc Serge.

OYS' SCHOOL SUITS-TIMELY VALUES.

Our complete fall line of school clothes has arrived and when we say school clothes, we mean something more than substantial knockabout clothes. These new suits enlist the same pains-taking care of the designers as do the suits for young men, and that is saying a great deal. Why shouldn't our boys have clothes full of class and style as well as we grown up folks?

STYLISH MILLINERY.

For more than a decade this store's Millinery has been the premier event of the season. Each season they've grown nearer to perfection. In the great numbers, the vanity, the exclusiveness, and artistic elegance of the Hats assembled for this fall's exhibit, all our previous similar displays have been far out classed. Our Millinery Department with its magnificient settings of new fall Millinery will present a marvelously interesting and beautiful picture.

OUR OWN DESIGNERS

have had in view for the last several months the requirements of this event, and their contributions are equally praise-worthy. The prestige of this store as a style source will be immeasurably increased by the many beautiful creations and adoptions in the present exhibit. So elaborate presentation of fascinating modes has never before hament at changed conditions; not in denying the attractiveness of the varied possibilities develvoped by civilization, but, as Dr. Crooker tells us in "The Church of Today," in insisting and demonstrating that the church also is permanent because it, too, meets a genuine human need and is highest of all; because that need is the deepest, and is "the supreme element which all other institutions need in order to reach their greatest worth and highest efficiency."

Just because the motives to worldliness have been strengthened, it is not enough for the church to do as well today as it did in the past. "What is needed is a church as far ahead of its predecessor as the railroad is a church as far ahead of its predecessor as the railroad is a church as far ahead of its predecessor as the railroad is a church as far ahead of its predecessor as the railroad is a church as far ahead of its predecessor as the railroad is which will bring the most money.
