ROCHDALE ITEMS.

What is Going on in That Section of the County.

Rochdale, N. C., Sept. 27.—Mrs. Anna Willoughby went to Farmville last Tuesday evening to spend some time with friends and returned home Thursday evening.

Mrs. R. M. Starkey, of Kinston, was visiting at Mr. Mills Smith's last Wednesday.

The meeting at Free Will Baptist church at Arthur closed Wednesday night with three additions. It was to close Thursday night, but on account of rain there was no services that night. Guess that baptism will be administered on the first Sunday in October.

Elder R. F. Pitman left Friday for his home in Johnston county.

We told you about some large pepper two weeks ago, but now will tell you of some larger pepper. I measured a pod the other day that was 153 inches in circumference, nearly 3 inches larger than the other.

Mrs. L. W. Smith, who had spent nearly three weeks with her people at Henderson, returned home Monday evening.

Get the Most for Your Money.

Like the best!

This is especially good advice when one comes to buy a big Sunday newspaper. Aside from its many departments of news, romance, fiction, art, comedy, politics, etc., the words and music of a late song success will go free as a feature of next Sunday's New York World. The song in question is "The Gay Gossoon," made famous by Fisk O'Hara in the new Irish musical romance, "The Wearing of the Green." Add this popular song to your musical collection. But it will be best to order next Sunday's New York World from your newsdealer to-day.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF TRAINING SCHOOL.

APPROPRIATE ADDRESSES ON THE OCCASION.

Growth of Institution Requires Additions to Faculty—All Instructors of First Rank.

Today was the first anniversary of East Carolina Teachers' Training School, the institution being first opened to students October 5th, 1909. While there was no special pre-arrangement for celebrating the anniversary, the chapel exercises this morning bore reminders of the event and were in keeping with the occasion.

After the usual devotional exercises had been conducted by President Wright, an interesting talk was made by Prof. W. H. Ragsdale on "Educational Progress in Eastern North Carolina for Ten Years." He showed the wonderful progress that had been made not only in the schools of Pitt county, but also throughout all the eastern section of the state.

Ex-Governor T. J. Jarvis was also present, and gave a history of the establishment of the Training school that was both interesting and amusing. He referred to the hard and faithful work done in getting the school located in Greenville and pointed numerous obstacles that were overcome.

This school grows better all the time, and its excellent work is inspiring. Mention was made at the opening of this, the second session, of the faculty at that time, but the student body has so grown in numbers that additions had to be made to the faculty, and the new ones, like those coming before them, are instructors of the very highest rank in their respective lines.

Miss May R. B. Huffy, of Baltimore, a graduate of Peabody Institute, has arrived to take charge of the department of public school music and voice culture. She was here during the summer school, and her work then charmed all who saw it.

Miss Elizabeth Pugh, of Gallon, La., has come to take charge of the do-

TWO LARGE DOCUMENTS.

To Be Recorded in Pitt County—Several Days Work.

Register of Deeds W. M. Moore, has just received two large documents to be registered, that will require several days to get them properly entered upon the records of the county.

One of these is a mortgage covering 80 printed pages and is from the Norfolk Southern Railroad to the Central Trust Company of New York as trustee, and is to secure $12,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds payable in January, 1960.

The other is a deed of 13 printed pages from the United States Trust Company of New York to the Farmers Loan & Trust Company. The Atlantic Coast Line being a party to this deed and the conveyance covering property of the latter, it had to be recorded in this county.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

First Meeting to be Held Saturday, October 8th.

The first meeting of the Teachers' association will be held Saturday of this week. There will be no regular program. The purpose of the meeting will be to organize and plan for the year's work. This makes it an important meeting and I earnestly request every teacher in the county to be present. If you will meet promptly at 11 o'clock the work of the day can be completed by 12 o'clock.

domestic science department. She is a graduate of Stout Institute, at Menomonee, Wisconsin.

Miss Orpah Dabney, a graduate of the teachers' college of Columbia University, New York, will have charge of the department of primary methods and give special training in this work.

There is not an institution anywhere that has a better equipped faculty than East Carolina Teachers' Training School, and it is sure to rank as North Carolina's leading school.

LIEUT. COTTEN AND BRIDE.

Arrive in New York on Lapland—Will Go to Their Home in Baltimore.

New York, Oct. 4.—Among the passengers on the Lapland, arriving in New York harbor today, were Lieutenant Bruce Cotten and his bride, who was Mrs. Edith Johns Tyson.

Lieutenant Cotten is wealthy but likes the army. He was stationed in the coast artillery at Fort McHenry, near Baltimore, when he met the beautiful and rich Mrs. Tyson. Last July Mrs. Tyson sailed for England. There was no engagement between them. Lieutenant Cotten got leave of absence and followed her in a week. He courted her so ardently in England that she finally consented to marry him. They were married at Tunbridge Wells. Lieutenant and Mrs. Cotten will go immediately to their home in Baltimore.

SEPTEMBER TOBACCO SALES.

Small Decrease in Pounds but Large Increase in Price Over Last Year

Secretary C. W. Harvey of the Greenville tobacco board of trade, gives us the following figures of the sales of leaf tobacco on the Greenville market:

For the month of September 3,415,031 pounds, at an average price of $10.06 per hundred pounds.

For August and September combined 3,742,144 pounds at an average price of $9.77 per hundred pounds.

For the months of August and September last year the sales were 4,423,011 pounds, at an average price of $7.65 per hundred pounds.

These figures show a decrease in pounds from last year of 680,867, but an increase in average price of $2.12 per hundred pounds. The smaller quantity of pounds sold this year than last is due to the fact that last year the market opened on the 3rd of August, while this year it did not open until the 18th, two weeks later.

PORTUGAL MONARCHY FALLS BEFORE INSURRECTIONISTS.

FLAG OF REPUBLIC FLOATS IN PUBLIC PLACES.

Army and Navy Deserts and Joins Insurrectionists—Many Dead and Wounded.

By Cable to The Reflector.

Paris, Oct. 5.—The Portugal monarchy has fallen, and the green and blue flag of the republic floats over the palace of Barganosa. Information that a short and bitter revolution in Portugal has resulted in victory for the insurrectionists, and that the Portuguese army and navy had deserted the royal standard and joined the uprising, was brought here today by automobile from the frontier. All telegraphic communication with Lisbon was cut off. Many are reported dead, not only in Lisbon, but in other cities where outbreaks of violence occurred.

A wireless report from Santander said the warships had hauled down their own colors and raised the flag of the republic, and then bombarded the city. The same wireless message also says the flag of the republic floats above the arsenal barracks and other public buildings in Lisbon. The fate of King Manuel and the Queen is unknown. Apparently the insurrection was a direct result of the murder of Prof. Bombarde. He died yesterday after being shot by a lieutenant in the army. The revolutionists became frenzied and swept the city, soldiers joining them when they saw the strength of the movement.

Paris, Oct. 5.—Lisbon, the capital of Portugal, fell into the hands of the revolutionists at 3 p. m. yesterday. King Manuel, according to the latest reports, fled from his palace and took refuge on the Brazilian gunboat San Paula. The revolution today is sweeping the nation like wild fire and the conflagration threatens any minute to sweep over the border and engulf the neighboring kingdom of Spain.

Love starts a family; it takes cash to keep it going.

KEHUKEE PRIMITIVE BAPTIST ASSOCIATION. BRIERY SWAMP.

Holds Three Days' Session—Large Attendance of Elders, Delegates and Visitors.

The 145th annual session of the Kehukee Primitive Baptist association met with the church at Briery Swamp, this county, on Saturday morning, October 1st, and continued in session three days. Elder Sylvester Hassell, of Williamston, is moderator of the association and Elder T. M. Lawrence, of Hamilton, clerk. Elder Hassell has been moderator for twenty-five consecutive years, and Elder Lawrence clerk for twenty-one years.

The association is composed of forty five churches, and embraces that section of the State lying east of the old Wilmington and Weldon railroad and north of Tar river. Forty-three of the churches of the association were represented by delegates or letters at this session. About twenty elders of the association were present, as were also the following visitors: Elders J. A. Mansees, of Macon, Ga.; J. E. Adams, of Harnett county; P. D. Gold, of Wilson; L. A. Hardy, of Reidsville; L. E. Lundy, of Wilmington; C. C. Bland, of Ayden; G. W. Stokes, of Greenville.

The introductory sermon was preached Saturday morning by Elder G. A. Robertson, who was followed with sermons by Elders G. W. Stokes and J. E. Adams. The remainder of the first day was devoted to receiving and reading the letters from the various churches and compiling their statistics. A number of the churches showed gratifying increase in membership.

Sunday was the big day of the association and a great throng of people were there, the attendance being estimated at fully 4,000. The day was given entirely to preaching, with an intermission for dinner served on the grounds. The sermons that day were by some of the ablest men of the denomination, Elders L. H. Hardy and P. D. Gold preaching in the forenoon, and Elders J. A. Mansees and L. E. Lundy in the afternoon.

Today, Monday, there were also two sermons which were preached by Elders C. C. Bland and J. A. Mansees. Following these the association concluded its business and adjourned at one o'clock to meet next year with the church at Flat Swamp, in Martin county.

The business of the association was marked with utmost peace and harmony, and the entertainment was all that could be wished for. The people throughout that section took care of the association handsomely, and left nothing undone that would add to the comfort and convenience of all present. While the attendance was large, the people had made ample preparation for many more. Every home for miles around was thrown open to the visitors. The association expressed its appreciation of the cordial hospitality extended.

The Atlantic Coast Line handled well the large crowds who went to and from the association by rail.

The candidate must be between the ages of 16 and twenty years at the time of admission. I shall be glad to forward to any young man a pamphlet containing regulations governing admission of candidates. Before any young man decides to make formal application, he should inform himself as to the probability of his being able to stand the mental and physical examinations which are quite rigid. I invite correspondence.

Cotton Seed May Fetch a Dollar.

They are just monkeying with cotton seed now. We laugh when we think of how our laddies dumped cotton seed in the fields in winter time, and considered the price of eight cents a bushel for cotton seed ridiculous, but in a few years from now, when you read these lines and he who writes them is pointed out as one of the oldest inhabitants, we will talk of the time when cotton seed brought the low price of 50 cents a bushel.

Not long from now the cotton farmer can get a good big price to allow some one to haul his seed away, bring back every pound of hulls and meal these seed make—will be paid a good big price, we say, for the privilege of extracting the oil from the seed.

A few years ago the Western grain grower had a dream of "dollar wheat." The Southern cotton farmer is sitting up and looking for the day of "dollar cotton seed." It is coming—Monroes Journal.

Third Raters.
Discussing the progress of advertising from the earliest days, when the benefits of publicity were monopolized by charlatans and fakers to the present when charlatans and fakers are practically driven out of print, Ashbaugh's Magazine says that "thirty years ago a good merchant in the middle West didn't dare advertise for fear of being classed with his third-rate brothers in trade," so complete has been the revolution since that time, however, that even if there were no questions of profit and ambition involved, but only a question of pride good business men would feel impelled to advertise to prevent themselves from being classed with the third-raters. The columns of the leading daily newspapers in any community are an accurate index to the activities of its merchants. The public has confidence in the merchant who has confidence in himself. The dealer who does not deem his store and his goods worth talking about usually finds that the consumers do not deem him worth thinking about when they make their purchases.—Ex.

Notice to Bondholders.
The holders of "Masonic Temple bonds" issued by Greenville lodge No. 284, A. F. & A. M., are requested to notify the undersigned or A. L. Blow of the number of bonds, and the serial number of each bond held by them. This is important to the holders of such bonds.
This October 1, 1910.
R. WILLIAMS,
Secretary of Greenville lodge No. 284, 341w.

A traveling man who has been going up and down the country for many years said yesterday that there was more corn, more wheat and more fruit of all sorts this year than he had ever seen before. He was speaking with especial reference to North and South Carolina and Virginia, in which states he says the farmers are especially well off this year. Of the three states he says that South Carolina has the best farming prevails. In that state much of the farming is of the "intensive" variety. The gentleman expressed himself as believing that scientific farming could be done more generally in Guilford than is the case and that Guilford county farmers should bestir themselves and be leaders in the "new" farming of the present day.—Greensboro Telegram.

Admirable Sermons.
Rev. Hight C. Moore, editor of the Biblical Recorder, Raleigh, occupied the pulpit of Memorial Baptist church here Sunday morning and night. Both sermons were admirable and delighted the large congregations. Mr. Moore is one of the ablest speakers and writers that the denomination has in the State.

Those who heard ex-Senator Marlon Butler speak here yesterday went away with a considerably reduced estimate of his formidableness to the Democratic party in North Carolina. Riding a whirlwind of ready-made discontent eighteen years ago was one thing; the present enterprise is quite another.—Charlotte Observer

RESOLUTIONS.

Adopted by Republicans in Convention, October 1st.

We, Republicans of Pitt county, in convention assembled, do hereby adopt the following statement of our belief and purpose concerning national, state and county affairs:

1. We endorse the national Republican platform adopted at Chicago, in 1908, and the wise and progressive administration of President Taft.
2. We endorse the Republican platform adopted at Greensboro, August 10, 1910.
3. We specially direct the attention of the people of Pitt county to the following:
  - (a). We re-affirm our allegiance to the time honored principles of local self-government, and we denounce the successive betrayals of the Democratic party.
  - (b). We demand a fair election and honest count which shall permit every voter to cast his vote voluntarily, prevent dictation and bribery, and make a free expansion of the people's will.
  - (c). We favor the policy of the State's furnishing free of charge and under proper regulations, to every child in public school, all necessary text-books.
  - (d). We view with alarm the sentiment being manufactured to issue bonds to build public roads, and we pledge ourselves to oppose bonds for any such purposes.
  - (e). It is with regret that we again call attention to the insufficient provision made for the county poor, and we pledge our united effort to cause to be purchased a proper location and cause suitable buildings to be constructed thereon to care for our unfortunate poor in a manner in keeping with the advancing Christian civilization of the age.
  - (f). Believing as we do, in State and national alike, the policies of the Republican party are right and wise and for the best interest of our Southern people, we invite all patriotic citizens, whatever their party affiliations in the past may have been, to join with us, in supporting the measures announced above. We welcome all such citizens to our ranks that we may work together to restore local self-government and the continued prosperity of our Southern people.

NEW INVASION OF CITY.

Second Half of the 12,000 Bluejackets Loaded With Money.

The second half of the 12,000 blue jackets of the battleship fleet were let out on shore leave yesterday, invading Manhattan and Brooklyn and bringing with them the other half of the $800,000 which Uncle Sam handed out to his sailor boys after two strenuous months on the high seas.

And not all of the squad who swarmed over New York on Wednesday night with their $400,000 were back in their hammocks last night when taps sounded. Breaking liberty is a serious offense but the lure of the Great White Way and the confusing routes of the subway will result in many of the sailor boys being brought before the mast for various fines.—New York World.

What affects a man's judgment is not so much what she knows as what he doesn't know, but he never can see it.

The Real Road Problem.

"We hear," says The Laurinburg Exchange, "a great deal said about the delay on the part of our road-builders in building much-needed new roads throughout various sections of the county. There is some merit in these contentions because, if the money is in hand with which to build the roads, it ought to be put to its intended use so that it will be of service to the public. But the thing which, it seems to us, should at this time call forth more serious discussion is the fact that many of the roads which have been constructed at considerable public expense are being permitted to go to ruin for lack of attention. It is a fact that some of the roads of Scotland county which have been considered among our best, have been in so great need of repairs for so long a time that they have become practically lost to the county and before they can be made good roads again it will be necessary to rebuild a great part of them."

We feel that The Exchange is far from exaggerating the importance of this point when it calls it "the real road problem." The best of good roads is, under modern conditions of traveling, by no means an eternal possession unless it is looked after with the greatest diligence. It is of great importance that the people of North Carolina be thoroughly aroused to the necessity of constructing highways in every direction, and we believe the progress which is being made furnishes the soundest basis for gratification. It is of at least equal importance that they should be keenly alert to the necessity of maintaining these highways at the highest standard possible, and the thoroughness with which this phase of the question is understood is a matter of speculation. "If the proceeds from a bond issue," asserts The Exchange, "be used in the building of good roads it will prove in the end a waste of money unless the roads are cared for and not permitted to disintegrate."

The enthusiasm which is so noticeable throughout the State just now should not be allowed to confine itself exclusively to the driving of new routes of communication. The movement is spreading every month and now is emphatically the season for encouraging the people of North Carolina in the habit of looking at the subject of good roads from the broadest standpoint. To this end the doctrine of keeping up to the standard those highways already constructed must be insisted upon until it assumes its proper position with reference to the other phases of the situation.—Charlotte Observer.

Witnesses so summoned go before the grand jury at Elizabeth City, but all defendants will appear at Washington as recognized and ordered.

THE COMING WINTER.

Prediction That it Will be The Worst Since 1857.

Weather predictions are interesting hit or miss. Mr. James Abbott, of Greensboro, a man whose business keeps him out doors the year round, has been hitting it very well on what the winters bring forth. Last September he made a bet of a suit of clothes that there would not be a fall of snow as much as three inches all winter. He won. Last week he wanted to wager a bet with the same man but he declined.

However, he made this prediction, and I'm standing by it to wit: That the coming winter will be the worst since 1857. This will do as a starter, for this was the worst winter ever, with snow on top of snow each from one to four feet deep on a level. Mr. Abbott puts down that there will be at least six snows of six inches deep each before the birds sing again next spring. This is quite enough, but six snows only six inches deep will not compare with the winter of '57. However, it is hoped it will not be any worse than six inches, even if there should be six snows.—Greensboro Record.

Rev. Mr. Bridgers, of Kentucky, who was to begin a meeting in the Methodist church Tuesday was detained by a washout on the road and arrived Wednesday to begin the meeting that night.

Presiding Elder A. McCullen of Washington, will preach in the Methodist church Sunday night.

Remember, should you need any hardware, grass blades, mill fittings, belting, rubber, pipe, galvanized or crimp roofing, see us.—J. R. Smith Company.

Mr. C. S. Surrall has purchased the W. C. Buhmann lot in South Ayden.

When it comes to fighting fire, our people are a unit. Even the small children can be seen carrying water during a fire like an organized fire company.

We are glad to see Mr. J. T. Keel able to be out on the streets, though he can't talk but very little and that not distinct.

Our 5, 10 and 15 cents counters are full of bargains. We will open the clock tomorrow at 3 o'clock.—J. R. Smith Company.

Ayden, N. C., Oct. 4.—Mr. Elias Turnage has purchased of Mr. J. H. Cobb the commodious two story residence on S-second street.

Mr. James Dougherty, of Terrapin, spent Sunday in town.

Rev. A. M. McCullough spent Sunday night in town and preached in the Methodist church, where there is a evival in progress. Much interest is being manifested. Large crowds attend. Services will be held this week in the day as well as night. Rev. Luther Bridgers is doing the preaching.

Dr. Joseph Dixon left Monday to visit his ranch and stock farm in the alleys of Virginia. There seems to be a mania for Dr. Dixon's to succeed each other, as Dr. Harvey Dixon, of Beaufort county, has succeeded Dr. Joseph Dixon, of Ayden, and will move here as soon as he well can.

Mrs. Sallie Garris, wife of Mr. R. H. Garris, died Sunday morning after an illness of a few weeks. She suffered stroke of paralysis from which she never recovered after a complication of diseases developed. She was laid to rest in the beautiful cemetery adjacent the church which her husband built himself after the death of her only son, Luther, a few years ago.

The funeral services were held from their church, Luther's Chapel, by Rev. R. Tingle and we think in our judgment, as impressive as the writer ever heard.

Mr. Stancil Hodges spent Sunday in Washington.

We are glad to see Mrs. Annie Toward able to be out in an easy chair since her attack of paralysis a few weeks ago.

We will gin your cotton, give you a full set of bagging and ties for the twentieth, and pay you spot cash for our seed.—J. R. Smith Company.

Mr. Elias Leslie Turnage has moved his family on Lee street, near Mr. Quinerly.

While making a trip to Greenville Sunday with our hearse, a rosette was lost from top. Will pay for its return.—J. R. Smith Company.

As Complete as Large Papers.

A subscriber to The Daily Reflector who lives in a distant town, in sending a check for renewal, takes occasion to compliment the paper on its improved appearance. He says that it now looks as well as the city papers, and that he has compared its telegraphic service with other and large papers and finds, that in point of news, it is as complete as any.

Be sure your sins will find you out if they don't your neighbor will.

Thinks The Clubs Will Lose.

Judge Long has put it on the Colonial Club in Charlotte for handling the booze problem. A case agreed was made up and on the facts Judge Long adjudge it guilty and put a fine of $500 on it. The case of course, goes to the Supreme court. In substance the statement of facts is that a member makes out a bill for beer or liquors that he wants, addressed to a home outside of the State, gives it with the money, to the secretary of the club, asks him to order it and it comes addressed to the party, in care of the club. It is then put away and the party ordering it is given a book of tickets covering his purchase and he thus gets his liquor by presenting a ticket covering the amount. On its face, this seems to be a smooth proposition, but very little of it will be left when the Supreme court gets through with it. It is quite likely the court will "go prohibition."—Greensboro Record.

Pack House Burned.

Monday night, Mr. E. A. Moye, sr., received a telephone message saying that a pack house on his farm about 12 miles from Greenville, was burned. Ten barns of tobacco and 3,200 pounds of seed cotton which was stored away in the building was also burned. It was a total loss, with no insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

THE RECKONING HOUR

Matthew 25:14-30—October 9

"His Lord said unto him, Well done, thou good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

THIS study follows the one of last week. It also illustrates the fact that Messiah in the Second Advent, before appearing to the world in power and great glory and in the time of trouble, will be present amongst his consecrated people and many of them will know of his parousia, or "presence." In this time, He will do amongst them a judging work—deciding their rewards in proportion to their faithfulness. It is well that we keep in memory the difference between the parable of the pounds and the parable of the talents. Both represented money. But a talent is sixty times as valuable as a pound. In the parable of the pound each servant got one pound, but in the parable of the talents the numbers given varied. In some respects all of God's people have one common footing and common privilege of service, as represented by the pound. In another respect their opportunities, privileges and advantages vary, as represented in the present study, the parable of the talents.

This is another parable of the Kingdom. The Great Teacher himself went into the far country, even heaven; but before departing he delivered unto his servants certain blessings, privileges, opportunities—"to each according to his several abilities." The beginning of this parable was in the days of the Apostles when Jesus ascended up on high and at Pentecost shed forth in the Father's name the holy spirit, communicating a blessing upon each one of his followers, as represented in the talents and opportunities of each follower. All through this Gospel Age these servants have been making more or less use of their privileges and more or less wisely exercising themselves to serve the Master. Some traded with their talents, or used them in preaching, teaching, etc. And others hid them in the earth, perhaps under cares and responsibilities. After a long time the Lord of these servants cometh and reckoneth with them. This long time is this Gospel Age, and the presence of the King in the end of the Age to hear the report of his servants and to reward them represents the parousia (or presence) of Messiah and his testing, sifting work in his Church. We should distinctly note that this testing and proving is not of the world, for

KING OF THE METALS.

The importance of iron to the Electrical Industry.

The very root of the electrical industry is iron. Without iron it is doubtful if the larger generators and the mighty motors could be built, for these powerful magnets upon which these inventions depend for their power are all made of soft iron either in the form of thin plates or long wires covered with insulation.

Nearly every one is familiar with the common horseshoe magnet, which is but a piece of steel bent in the shape of a horseshoe and charged with magnetism. When a steel bar of this shape is rubbed against another magnet it is "charged" and will remain so for a long time. The magnets used in electrical machinery are of the induction type—that is, the magnetism vanishes just as soon as the current is taken away from them. If you wind a long insulated wire tightly around a soft iron core and send through this wire a weak current of electricity the core will be instantly possessed of strong magnetic qualities. This fact is the basis of all electric motors and generators. The field coils are usually made of a soft iron core wound with yards and yards of insulated wire. When the current is sent through this wire the soft iron core is turned into a powerful magnet, and this magnetic power is used to drive motors or to generate more electricity.—Electrical Bulletin.

Elephants in Captivity.
The trainer flashed for an instant his dark lantern on the long line of elephants.
"They are asleep," he said. "In captivity elephants always sleep standing."
"Why is that?" the visitor asked.
"They lie down to sleep in the jungle."
"Yes," said the trainer. "I don't know why it is. But you'll never see a captive elephant sleep lying down. Some people say a captive elephant never really sleeps—sleeps sound, I mean—at all. He never has complete confidence, you know. He grieves. He longs to be free. Why, as a matter of fact, this light, standing sleep of his only lasts about three hours at that. All the rest of the night he rocks from side to side in the dark."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Hopl Courtship.
When a Hopi maiden decides which of the eligible young men of the tribe she wishes to marry she goes and sits in his house and grinds corn until he is sufficiently impressed by her industry to marry her. After the ceremony, which is an elaborate one, the couple go to live in the wife's house. If she times of her husband she can obtain a divorce by merely throwing his saddle out of the house. After marriage the house, fields and all their property except the herds belong to the wife. The Hopis are indulgent parents. The right of the children to do as they please is never questioned.

Odd Way to Rest.
There is nothing that will rest you so quickly as to sit on a straight back chair and, lifting the feet from the floor, push them out in front of you as far as possible, stretch the arms, put the head back, open the mouth wide and make yourself yawn.—Family Doctor.

A Vanishing Tip.
When varnishing wood the work must be done in a warm room at a temperature of at least 75 degrees F. At a lower temperature the moisture in the air will give a milky and cloudy appearance to the varnish. On the other hand, at the higher temperature the moisture is not precipitated until the alcohol of the varnish has sufficiently evaporated to leave a thin smooth film of shellac. The durability and gloss are dependent on this.

His Reason.
"You say Colonel Dawson can't see me?" demanded little Blinks indignantly.
"I do," returned the colonel's secretary.
"And may I ask if he gives any reason for this extraordinary behavior?" said Blinks, trembling with emotion.
"Yes," replied the secretary coldly. "He says he doesn't want to strain his eyes."—Harper's Weekly.

CONFEDERATE MONUMENT.

Daughters of Confederacy Appoint Monument Committee.

The Singletary Chapter of the Daughters of Confederacy held a meeting in the music store of Fineman & White, Thursday afternoon, to look at designs of a Confederate Monument and discuss means of completing the raising of sufficient funds to erect a monument in Greenville. At this meeting a monument committee was appointed consisting of the following: Mrs. J. G. Moye, chairman, Mesdames, J. L. Little, F. G. James, R. J. Cobb, L. C. Arthur, and T. A. Person.

In this laudable enterprise the ladies should have the co-operation not only of all Confederate veterans of the county, but also of the citizens generally. Pitt county has long failed to honor her heroes of the Confederacy with the erection of a monument, and the movement now to perform that neglected duty should be carried to early completion. Another meeting for that purpose will be held in a short while.

Mr. A. S. Blount, of Suffolk Marble Works, had monument designs at the meeting Thursday, and the chapter made a selection and gave him the exclusive contract for the monument. It is to be of Confederate gray granite and the design selected is a handsome one.

HONOR OF MISS BENNETT.

Kitchen Shower Given by Mrs. A. H. Motley at Reidsville.

Saturday afternoon from 4.30 to 6.30, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Motley, on East Market street, Mrs. F. T. Preddy entertained with a "Kitchen Shower" complimentary to Miss Lillie M. Bennett, whose marriage to Mr. E. W. Harvey, of Greenville, N. C., takes place tomorrow.

The color scheme was yellow and white, and the house was handsomely decorated from "kitchen to parlor," with the season's yellow flowers, golden rod predominating, while everywhere were pinned yellow and white hearts. The effect was charming.

One of the first duties assigned to the guests was the writing of a recipe for the bride for use in after life. The prize, a key ring was won by Miss Annie Womack and was in turn bestowed upon the guest of honor. The "booby," a miniature coffee pot, was won by Miss Ida Womack.

A delightful two-course luncheon, consisting of chicken salad, tomatoes with mayonaise, pepper sandwiches, olives, sherry cream and cake, and mints, was served by Misses Sasie Stokes, Marion and Myrtle Oliver. The guests wrote original toasts to the groom and these were read aloud. These toasts were gushingly sentimental, full of good advice to the absent one, and provoked no end of merriment.

All sorts of useful things for the kitchen had been sent the day previous and these were brought into the parlor in a large market basket and presented to Miss Bennett, who with her own hands untied the wrappings. Little Miss Margaret Oliver presented each of the guests with souvenirs, miniature knives, forks and spoons, with fortunes attached.

Mrs. Preddy was assisted in receiving by Miss Bennett and Mrs. A. H. Motley.

Miss Bennett was the recipient of many hearty congratulations and wishes for a blissful wedded life. Mrs. Preddy has added no little to the coming event.—Reidsville Weekly, 27th.

Mr. Harvey and Miss Bennett were married in Reidsville, the home of the bride, on Wednesday, and reached Greenville on the midnight train that night. Both are very popular here and have the best wishes of a host of friends. Miss Bennett has been a teacher in Greenville graded school for the last few years. Mr. Harvey is a member of the firm of the Greenville Ice and Coal Company.

"BACK TO THE FARM"

IX.—The City Man as a Farmer.

By C. V. GREGORY.

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

THE "back to the land" movement is not confined merely to keeping the people on the farms who are already there, although this is the most important part of the problem. The boys and girls born and reared in the country have a better appreciation of its problems and its possibilities than a city bred man or woman could ever have. Yet there are many country boys born with a taste for machinery that nothing but a factory can ever satisfy. There are many born with the ability to handle men that might make them the head of a great mercantile establishment. The city needs men of this kind, and the country can well afford to spare them, for it is for the good of the nation that they should go.

At the same time there are many city born boys and girls to whom the air of the crowded streets seems stifling. They love the country, and they belong there. There are others who through no fault of their own have never been able to get higher than the first round of the ladder. The fierce competition for places has left them well high stranded. With them it is a question of staying in the city at a pittance that scarcely suffices to maintain life in decency or of going to the country and making a comfortable living.

The fable of the daisy who tried to change places with the rose is often quoted to discourage such people from casting their fortunes in with the country. The cases where the city man and his family have been successfully transplanted to the country are too numerous to warrant the assumption that it cannot be done. At the same time it must be admitted that there are difficulties in the way. The easiest transition is made by the country boy who has grown tired of city life. He is used to the ways of the farm, and it will be a short task for him to learn the new methods and take up the furrow at the point where he left it a few years ago.

For the man who has lived all his life in the city the proposition is altogether different and much more difficult. He has all the ways of the new life to learn. He is unused to country life, and country customs.

work of all, he is unused to country methods. If a man listens too credulously to the land shark who tells him that on the farm he proposes to sell conditions are all so perfect that a gentle tilling of the soil will bring forth bountiful results disappointment is almost sure to follow. The real estate men are in the business for money, and if they can make a sale by minimizing the need of training for farming they are going to do it.

Farming is composed of three parts—the art, the science and the business. Of the three the latter is the only one that the average city man knows anything about. The same business principles that apply to any line of business hold good on the farm. Common sense and a fair amount of business ability comprise the chief essentials to success in handling the business end of farming.

There remain the art and the science. For a young man undoubtedly the best place to learn the science of farming is in a school or college. The agricultural college offers the most complete course of instruction along this line. A considerable share of the enrollment at the agricultural college is made up of city boys who are there to learn the science of farming. I have known many of these college made city farmers—a combination that would have shocked the practical man of the past generation into insensibility. I have known many of them to go to farming or to follow some line of work closely related to farming, and I have yet to see the first failure.

A college education means a considerable cost in both time and money. The city man who wants to turn farmer seldom has a very large supply of the latter. To such men the secondary courses in agriculture, or "short courses," make a special appeal. A short course of a year or two years in one of these schools will go a long way toward grounding the city farmer in the principles of scientific agriculture. Even such a course is impossible for the greater share of the city men who see the opportunities of farm life and would like to become farmers. The next best thing is a course of home study. A number of agricultural colleges offer correspondence courses in agriculture, by means of which the science of agriculture can be learned quite thoroughly. Then there are a great number of experiment station and government bulletins which may be had for the asking. There are many good books on agriculture in its various branches. Last, but by no means least, there is the agricultural press. Much of the advancement that has been made in agriculture is due to the agricultural papers. They stand for all that is best and most progressive in rural life, and they contain a fund of information on methods of farm practice that are invaluable to a beginner.

There yet remains the art of farming—that is, the art of handling the plow, of caring for the horses, of feeding the cows, of regulating the machinery and the thousand and one other things that the farmer must know how to do. The only way the art of farming can be learned is by practice. The best way for the city man with limited capital to learn is to hire out to some good farmer by the month. Farm help is scarce, and farmers are always glad to get faithful men at fair wages. They prefer skilled men, but these are often impossible to obtain. It is not at all difficult for a sober, industrious city man who really wants to learn farming to get a job with a good farmer. In each place he can learn how to meet all the emergencies that come up on a farm. It is even easier for a married man to get this sort of job than it is for a single man. Farmers have a theory, which is generally correct, that married men are more to be depended upon. Many of them are willing to furnish a house and garden to a man for the sake of getting one with a family.

After spending a year or two working for some one else the would be farmer will have a fairly good idea of the art of farming. If he has been putting in his spare moments studying he will have a fair understanding of the science of farming. His own common sense and the training he has received in town will fit him to handle the business end. He is now in a position where he can plan on going to work for himself. He will have saved something from his wages while on the farm, and he probably had a little money saved up before. Then comes the question of whether to buy or to rent. A good many beginners in farming make the mistake of tying all their capital up in land and having nothing left for stock and equipment. In order to make the farm pay the farmer must have plenty of working capital. It is usually better to rent for a few years until enough money has been saved to make a fair payment on the land. Then a farm can be bought without robbing the equipment fund.

The question of where to locate is an important one and one which the conflicting mass of evidence makes hard to decide. The irrigated districts of the west offer some of the best opportunities to be found anywhere. The country is new, and settlers are welcome. Land is high, but it does not take much of it to yield a good living. The dry farming districts of the west have been loudly boomed. This dry farming land can be bought very cheaply. It costs little to get a start. At the same time the man who goes on a dry farm must remember that only half of his land will yield a crop each year, sometimes not more than a third of it. The principle of dry farming is to cultivate the land for a year or two without sowing a crop. This prevents the rain which falls from evaporating, and by the second or third year enough moisture will have been stored up to raise a crop. No one should think of going on a dry farm without having enough money laid by to pay expenses for two or three years without any income. Dry farming means many losses and much discouragement, but the success of many dry farmers proves that it offers opportunities to the man who has the courage to stick.

The fertile lands of the middle west have been little advertised of late, and many people are of the opinion that this part of the country is already fully settled. This is far from being the case. The Mississippi valley could support four or five times its present farming population with ease. Land is high, but it is worth the price. The middle west offers the advantage of progressive neighbors, good churches, schools and colleges and modern conveniences of every sort. There are thousands of chances for the city man in this section.

In the east probably the best opportunities are found in truck farming. Only a small tract of land is required, and the returns are large. The abandoned farms of New England can be purchased very cheaply. They can never be made as productive as the lands farther west, but under proper treatment the fertility can be restored and a very comfortable profit secured from them.

The agricultural opportunities of the south have been little advertised, yet there is no section of the country where the opportunities of the small farmer are greater. Diversified farming and stock raising are a comparatively new thing in this section. The men who are growing less cotton and more corn and hogs and dairy cows are getting ahead. Land is cheaper here than in many parts of the country and can be made very productive.

Entered as second class matter August 20, 1910, at the post office at Greenville, North Carolina, under act of March 3, 1879.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1910.

While some cotton is being sold, much of it is being held for a higher price.

They are now at work trying to invent slot machines that will dispense groceries and lunches.

It makes little difference what the census report says about it—every one in Greenville is here.

If Greenville even had a near-factory feeling there would be more to brag about.

It does not take much to provoke a bad negro. One stepped on another's toe in Charlotte, and bang went the gun.

If the government keeps up the scrubbing it may succeed in cleaning out the bucket shops.

We see no use of Mr. Hearst entering a denial that he is a Republican. The general public cares little about what he is.

The Reflector is of the opinion that Greenville is making better progress today than any town in Eastern North Carolina.

The Charlotte News uttered this in re breath: "Today we have cloudy weather, mosquitoes, bill collectors and Marion Butler to contend with."

Wilmington has gone gunning after near-beer joints in that city. We hope they will get winged.

Mr. Roosevelt is about to embark on a trip through the South. Just watch and see if it don't mean Roosevelt delegates to the next Republican national convention.

The Democratic candidate for governor of New York has a short name, just Dix.

Guess Mr. Roosevelt enjoyed his Sunday rest after the strenuous convention week.

The chicken at large is the reputed cause of neighborhood disturbances, Charlotte is having a wrangle over the coop.

About all the North Carolina Republicans hope to do is keep their names before the administration and line for the Federal pie counter.

Between the automobile and the flying machine people are being sublimed off this mundane sphere at a rapid rate. Both are reaping a big harvest.

The Republicans claim to be a progressive party, but a reading of the platform adopted by their convention in Pitt county shows that they are not.

One of Charlotte's social clubs has been fined $500 for selling liquor. That is going the right way to stop it.

Col. Harry Skinner said in his speech Saturday that the Republican ticket just nominated would not be elected. Of course not, nobody expected it would be.

There are plenty of them who want the place of State auditor to succeed Dr. Dixon, and which his son fills temporarily until the election.

The county ticket the Republicans put up Saturday is as good as any other they could name for the Democrats to beat. Of course that is all it was put up for.

The administration is getting much absorbed in the study of economy as the election draws near.

Stimson, the Republican candidate for governor of New York, might be called Roosevelt's man Friday.

Roosevelt came about as near being the whole thing at the New York State Republican convention as it was possible for one man to be.

The big percentage of growth some of the cities are showing in the census returns is accounted for in their taking in the surrounding suburbs since the previous census.

If there was co-operation among the business interests of Greenville, and all work to draw trade, you would see more of it coming here.

If the lateness of cotton is going to make it bring a better price, then it is worth while for it to be late.

The Greensboro News is calling for pumpkin pie. Getting ready for what is going to be left for you after the election, eh?

The president and his cabinet have declared in favor of Governor Hughes for chief justice of the United States Supreme court.

When the Sultan of Sulu struck Washington he drew the line on elevators preferring to climb the stairs rather than be pulled up the "shoots."

The Republicans of this congressional district nominated Mr. H. T. King, of Greenville, as their candidate for congress Congressman Small has nothing to fear when voting time comes.

The fact that the government authorities are moving to place sixteen thousand post office department clerks under the civil service regulation, is a strong indication that they are looking for a Democratic victory.

The president of Tufts College, in Massachusetts, has come out with the assertion that unmarried women teachers should be barred from girls' colleges because their influence is harmful. Wonder if he is an old bachelor.

What Atlanta cannot figure in is hardly worth noting. It is claimed that one of the recent battleship victims had relatives living in that city. If the Los Angeles dynamiters are ever captured, it may develop that once upon a time they passed through or near Atlanta.

If men have so little judgment as to drive an automobile in a race with death for no other reason than to make a speed record and get the plaudits of a gaping crowd, their friends left behind need not be surprised if death wins.

There has been no more infamous act of anarchism in this country than the recent wrecking with dynamite of the building of the Los Angeles Times, in which a score of people lost their lives. Rewards aggregating one hundred thousand dollars have been offered for the perpetrators of these crimes, and police and detectives are making every effort to find them.

Democrats who voted for Roosevelt wish they had voted for Bryan. Democrats who voted for Taft wish they hadn't. The Democrats who voted for Senator Lorimer wish they hadn't been caught at it. The best way to do is to keep your politics straight and have fewer regrets as the result of inconsistency. Fewer men will want to kick themselves if they remain true to their political principles—if they have any. If they haven't got any they ought to get some and keep them.

WHO ARE TO BLAME?

You sometimes hear men of intelligence, men who really prefer morality to evil, say that "prohibition does not prohibit," and it would be better to return to the dispensary or to bar-rooms than to see liquor sold as it is through blind tigers. This is a strange sentiment for such men to express, and it would be equally as reasonable for them to argue that the laws against murder and stealing and other offenses should be repealed because they do not prohibit the commission of crime and crimes occur regardless of the laws against them. Who are the persons who engage in blind digger selling of liquor? They are principally a horde of negroes and a few characterless white men. Because these negroes and sorry white men set a law at naught by violating it, and intelligent men give them encouragement in this by saying it is not a good law and should be repealed? If they will think a moment we believe they will see such an attitude is wrong.

Who are responsible that "prohibition does not prohibit? Are they not those same intelligent men, the better class of citizens, even the church members, who know the violations are going on yet take no part in enforcing the prohibition laws? The violations would stop, and that very quickly, if these people would just make up their minds that they should stop. Public sentiment should be so strong behind officials that they would be impelled to do their duty and enforce the law. It is a reflection on a community, or on the state, when the better element of people keep silent and let the class that operate blind tigers set the prohibition law at naught.

A Chinese prince visiting in Philadelphia wanted to take a nap in the day time, but the noise of vehicles on the streets disturbed his slumber. He sent a request to the mayor, and that official immediately ordered all traffic to stop on streets within four blocks of the hotel in which the prince had quarters so that his royal highness would not be disturbed. That was, certainly an accommodating mayor.

The Raleigh Times wants to know, "Why is it that the farmers of Wake county are going to near-by towns to do their trading, instead of coming to Raleigh?" Perhaps it is for the same reason that the farmers of Pitt county go to the near-by towns to do their trading, instead of coming to Greenville, to-wit: The merchants of the county seat make no special combined effort to bring in the farmers of the surrounding country to do their trading.

A man makes his mark and then his wife is apt to make him toe it.

How long since you quit talking for Greenville? Get back on the habit and keep it going.

The committee favored Sherman, but the convention favored Roosevelt, which goes to show that a committee cannot always boss the party.

With the good season for making hay, there ought to be enough of it in Pitt county this winter to cut off the usual large importations from the West.

Mr. Roosevelt seems to have whipped out the Shermanites from start to finish in the New York Republican State convention.

A close friend of Hon. Locke Craig has given out the statement that he will certainly be a candidate for the nomination of governor at the next Democratic State convention. He ought to be given a clear chance for no man is more entitled to be than Mr. Craig.

The pastor of a Methodist church in Georgia headed a posse of members of his church in raiding a still that had set up operations near the church. That was an effective way to get rid of it.

The Pennsylvania railroad has brought up an unpaid transportation bill against ex-President Roosevelt for junketing over its lines while in office, and is insisting on its being paid. If the former president does not pay the bill, an effort will be made to get congress to do so.

Government officials of the treasury department are puzzled to know where all the pennies go and why they disappear so rapidly from circulation. Last year 146,000,000 of them were coined, and 100,000,000 are to be coined this year, yet with this large coinage and the many millions already made, there are not enough to be found to meet the demands of trade in making change.

Mysterious Pellagra.

Possibly the most pressing problem which confronts the medical profession in the two Carolinas today is the proper treatment of that mysterious affliction known as pellagra. In the search for such a treatment, the doctors endeavor first to discover the cause of the ailment. Thus far the origin of pellagra has baffled discovery, although several hypotheses have been put forward, the best known tracing the disease from the use of inferior or spoiled corn. Unmeasured up to all that was hoped for it, and more. It cannot fail to gain strength and impetus. The antiquated and cumbersome system that now obtains in most of the municipalities of the country has been shown by a thousand examples to be ill-fated for modern conditions and for the purpose of municipal government. Our own Virginia municipalities have been infinitely better and more efficient than the great bulk of the mu-for laughter. When the announcement was first made that the South-Atlantic States were afflicted with this disease which for nearly two centuries had proven so fatal in southern Europe, very little attention was paid. Careful study by public health officials has changed this attitude to a great degree by producing evidence which admits no shadow of a doubt and the farther the investigation has been carried the more serious is the situation seen to be. A recent bulletin of the North Carolina state board of health presents figures showing that the annual death rate within the state from pellagra cannot be much less than 1,000. This figure goes to show that the medical profession did not go upon a wild goose chase in taking up the serious study of the disease.

The bulletin just mentioned calls attention to another feature of the pellagra agitation the importance of which can scarcely be exaggerated. Some protests from influential quarters have been heard, urging that the publication of the facts about pellagra will have a tendency to hurt the state, by giving people elsewhere the idea that North Carolina is unhealthy, and consequently that any investigation attended with publicity is unbecomingly bluish, it is quite untenable in the face of 1,000 deaths a year from the spread of information is the main cause about which so little is known. The spread of information is the main weapon in the fight against tuberculosis; it will be the main weapon in the fight against pellagra. The two things which first that the scientific aspect of the disease shall be thoroughly studied by experts, and second that such of their results as bear directly upon general sanitation be given the greatest possible publicity.—Charlotte Observer.

Good For North Carolina.

This is cheering news that comes from our next door southern neighbor. The Charlotte (N. C.) Observer tells us that probably not less than fifteen counties in North Carolina will change from the free system of paying county officers to the plan of paying every officer a straight salary when the next legislative meets. This is what we in Virginia are striving to bring about, and the success of this change. The success of the movement in North Carolina is therefore encouraging to us, who hope to do even better things in Virginia when our legislature meets.

We are also told in the same editorial that the sentiment for the commission for of government for cities is going hand in hand with that for the abolition of the fee system in North Carolina. We believe that there is a strong growth of the same sentiment here, and we are grateful to see that at the convention of municipalities of this state to meet in Charlotteville, in October, the chief matter under discussion, according to the schedule will be the question of the commission form of government. Wherever the commission form of government has been tried it has measured up to all that was hoped for it, and more. It cannot fail to gain strength and impetus. The antiquated and cumbersome system that now obtains in most of the municipalities of the country has been shown by a thousand examples to be ill-fated for modern conditions and for the purpose of municipal government. Our own Virginia municipalities have been infinitely better and more efficient than the great bulk of the mu-

An Appeal.

Last week the secretary of the State board of health received a letter in which the following facts were set forth: The writer was an orphan and judging from neatness, arrangement, and the general tone of the letter, she is a lady of refinement and nicipal governments in other states; but they, from the very nature of things, cannot perform the necessary functions with the same promptness, economy and success as has been shown to be easily within the reach of the commission form.

A city is not a state; it is essentially a business organization; it is the business affairs of the city that should be looked after and attended to by the city government and not the affairs of the state or the nation. We are persuaded that the commission form of government is coming, and when it comes it will stay, and we are glad to know that our neighbor on the south is as deeply interested in the subject as we are.—Times Dispatch.

The fact that the home-coming jubilee and re-union of people who have moved from North Carolina to other states is to be held during the week of the state fair, October 17-22, at Raleigh, very naturally attracts a great deal of attention to the capital city, which is so distinctively North Carolina because it was bought and is yet owned by the state. The place will be a mecca of North Carolinians from other states and from this state during the notable week of October. Visitors will see by far the biggest and best fair yet held in this state, but better still, they will see thousands of their friends, old and young, for the people are coming from far and near.

Raleigh is full of attractions. Its parks impress a visitor at once, notably the capitol square, and its noble fountains, two centuries old, its stately and completed seventy years ago; the imposing Confederate monument, 75 feet high, of native granite; the bronze statues of Washington, Vance and Worth Bagley outside of the building; inside being the cast of the famous statue of Washington, by Canova, the bust of W. A. Graham and the bronze tablet to the women of the Edenton Tea Party. Then there are the cannons of the Revolution, the Civil War and the war with Spain. From the roof of the capitol the view is very impressive. In sight are state buildings and grounds representing more than three millions of dollars, Mason's temple, many notable schools, the state fair grounds, etc. Among the attractions are the State Museum, with its 150,000 objects, so well illustrating North Carolina, and Hall of History, the Supreme court library; the State library and Confederate soldiers home; the State school for the blind; the Central Hospital for the insane and epileptics; the State Agricultural and Mechanical College; the State's prison; the Racey library; the Executive mansion, in which Governor Kitchin lives; Rex in which the Confederate cemetery; Hospital; the National cemetery; the public graves of a dozen governors; the graves of a great electric power plant, using water and steam power; the Methodist public schools; the orphanages; the textile mills; Pul-Country club; the State poultry farm and its zoo, containing many birds and animals; the State test farms. These are really only a few of the many attractions.

Difference Between "Or" and "And."

"This is all foolishness," declared a lawyer, waving five copies of a land sale notice, meaning the law which requires that in addition to publication of such sale in a newspaper, there must be a copy stuck up at the court house and at four other places in the county. "And is due to a mistake," he went on, "that nobody ever thinks to correct. The old law required that the notice be published in a newspaper 'or' posted at the court house and four other places; but when the revival was made, it read 'and' instead of 'or' and so we've got to publish it in a newspaper 'and' five other places. I wish some legislature would change it.—Catawba County News.

culture. She is a daughter by birth and a true residence of North Carolina. A little over a year ago a relative with whom she was living fell a victim of consumption. The young lady, then forced to earn her own living, moved to another state. She is now, herself, in the early or curable stage of the disease, which she undoubtedly contracted while nursing her relative.

Why does she write? What does she want? Simply to live. She has the dollar a day which it is necessary for her to pay in order to enter the State sanatorium for the treatment of tuberculosis.

But why write the secretary of the State board of health for this vitally necessary help? Because that official is commanded to discharge to public-health obligations of something like 200,000 able-bodied men. In this capacity, he is personal representative of each of them, and his orphan girl's appeal is, therefore, to every North Carolina man. Then it is to you, able-bodied man, that this North Carolina woman comes for help.

Woman appealing to man to save her life! A man, too, who claims the inspiration of a noble parentage, a man who considers himself a pure-blooded patriot, ready to die if necessary, for North Carolina or for North Carolina womanhood. All that is asked is a mere pittance in the form of a health appropriation. Five or ten cents to the average man would be enough. But oh, the horror of that word tax! Is it more horrible than the unnecessary death of a helpless woman?

So far, North Carolina manhood speaking through their representatives, has seen fit to make so small a public health appropriation that our State, which is fourteenth in population, stands about thirty in public-health appropriation. At present we are spending only six mills per capita which means a tax of only one-fourth of a cent on every one hundred dollars worth of the State's property. Our appropriation to the State sanatorium for the treatment of tuberculosis is so small that it is necessary for the few who enter to pay a dollar a day for treatment. The appeal of this woman is only one of many such appeals; she simply represents a class. It is hoped that the State press will bring this vital matter to the attention of those whom it concerns. It is really every man's business whose heart is warmed with a real sympathy for suffering, helpless humanity. If it is your duty to help save these lives, tell your representative in the next legislature to assist in making adequate provision for the public health.—State Board of Health Bulletin.

What will you have your State do? If it is your duty to help save these lives, tell your representative in the next legislature to assist in making adequate provision for the public health.—State Board of Health Bulletin.

HIGSON DAMAGE SUIT.

Judgment by Default Affirmed by the Supreme Court.

A year or two ago Mr. W. B. Higson had a suit against the North River Fire Insurance Company, of New York, for the loss of a steamboat by fire. In the case, charges and reflections against Mr. Higson, led a suit by him against that company for $25,000 damages. Judgment by default was had in the Superior court here, which the company appealed. The Supreme court has confirmed the judgment by default, and now it comes back to the Superior court for final settlement.

His Profits from One Hog $324.45.

W. E. Duke, a Logan county Ok. farmer believes he has made a record in raising hogs. Fourteen months ago he paid $12 for a sow that shortly afterwards brought a litter of nine pigs, three of which were killed for meat and six were sold for $105. From a second litter of nine pigs Darke sold eight for $116.47, keeping the extra hog. The sow now has a third litter of nine pigs, weighing about fifty pounds each, and worth not less than $4 apiece. Counting the sow's progeny that he did not sell as being worth as much as those that were sold Darke has received in fourteen months $324.45. The sow has brought him a gross income of $23.17 for each of the fourteen months.—Monroe Journal.

LEG WAS CUT OFF.

Boy Gets in The Way of a Mowing Machine.

Mention was made in Wednesday's paper of a telephone message coming to Dr. Laughinghouse to go out to the home of Mr. F. M. Smith, in Beaver Dam township, to amputate the leg of his son, the only information at the time being that the boy had been caught in a mowing machine.

The boy who met with this misfortune was about 10 years of age. He was out in the field watching an older brother cut hay with a mowing machine, and it was not thought that he was near enough to be in any danger. Going about watching the work, in an unguarded moment he got too near the machine as it was turning and the end of the blade caught his leg above the ankle, cutting the bone in two and leaving the foot hanging by a part of the flesh. Dr. Laughinghouse took the foot off.

The Strong Man.

Says Asbaugh's Magazine: You've heard of Eugene Sandow, haven't you?

You've never heard of Peter Treeter, have you?

Well, Peter Teeter can do everything that Sandow can and then some.

Sandow came to this country about twelve years ago as a vaudeville headliner—lifting cannons, horses, and things. He soon made a fortune and retired to old-world obscurity.

Peter Treeter drove wells for farmers around Indianapolis, chopped down trees, and when business was dull moved a house or two. His feats of strength attracted the attention of some local sports and he did stunts at local burlesque theatres, but his fame never got beyond the county line.

Still he could do all that Sandow could and then some yet at last accounts he was still driving wells.

Now, what's the difference between Sandow and Treeter?

SUPERIOR COURT.

Too Frequently Congested by Petty Litigation.

The superior court dockets are being too frequently crowded with small and frivolous cases which should never reach court. The principal time of our superior courts is taken up with cases that should have been settled in the magistrate's court, or, better still, should never have been instituted. These little cases in the superior court pile up immense cost against the people and often the important cases must be postponed and dragged from court to court. This is not only the case in Wilkes, but in most of the other counties. The same condition existing in Caldwell county. There is something wrong somewhere of the court dockets would not be crowded with these frivolous prosecutions. The biggest fault probably lies with justices of the peace. Most of these cases could be settled easily by the right sort of justices of the peace. Very few people are fit to be justices, and under the present system of purchasing political support with offices, even the few fit persons rarely get to be justices. The people should be more careful in selecting their magistrates. It is an important office and should be properly filled regardless of politics.—Wilkesboro Chronicle.

HORSES ARE HIGH PRICED.

From Shetlands to the Great Percherons, None Are Cheap.

Horses in the West continue to command high prices. There was a speed sale held at Chicago recently at which 471 horses were sold, and the prices paid seemed to the old-time horseman something outrageous, but they all went like hot cakes. Horses from Kentucky with a bit of saddling breeding in them that were anything but good-looking, brought $300 and $400 apiece. The 471 horses sold realized almost $40,000.

An auction sale of Shetland ponies was held under the auspices of the Shetland Pony Association, about a dozen members contributing 100 ponies. These men did not put the pick of their farms in the sale, but notwithstanding this the average price was over $100.

Draught horses are selling still higher, a pair of gray grade Percherons realizing $1,000 a short time ago. These prices hold good all over the country and are not confined to any particular breed of horses. Any useful kind of animal brings much more money than he would have brought years ago, and you cannot look at any of the better individuals of the fashionable breeds without being staggered at the prices asked. A number of polo ponies were sold in New York the other day in the rough and realized exceptionally good prices, and so it is all down the line.

Of course, the automobile is usurping a great deal of the work that is done in the large cities, and has also done away with a tremendous lot of horses for fashionable driving purposes, but this, except in the cases of non-horsey people and for those whose business requires rapid conveyance from place to place, will right itself as time goes on.

In England, although the trade in automobiles is booming, a great many ladies are returning to carriages for afternoon calls and for driving in the parks. There has not yet been a marked increase in the purchase of carriages, but this is largely due to the fact that fashionable people have still a variety of conveyances which they have not sold and which they are now beginning to use again.

She went head first into an embankment and her neck was broken.

Some of the cotton coming a long ways to get here.

Meal Better Than Cash.

One would think that with the high prices of cotton seed, the farmer would want nothing better for his seed than cash, but The Carolina Union Farmer is advising that meal in exchange for seed is better than cash paid for it. Some of the cotton oil mills have been offering 2,200 pounds of cotton seed meal for a ton of seed. The Carolina Union Farmer advises the farmers to take the meal in preference to the cash. Its explanation is interesting. It says that the only way to get commercial fertilizers at reasonable prices is to adopt the Union policy of home-mixing. If the farmer provides cotton seed meal as the source of nitrogen he will have no difficulty in getting the phosphate and potash. The fertilizer trust has adopted the plan of buying up the tankage, dried blood, etc., to defeat the farmers in their determination to adopt the business method of home-mixing and last year those who sold their cotton seed for cash were put to a great deal of trouble in getting a good ingredient as a source of nitrogen and many were compelled to choose either between the expensive ready-mixed brands of fertilizers or the abandonment of the use of fertilizers containing nitrogen. Speaking to the farmer, it says: "You have the control of the cotton seed now. If you sell that for cash the trust gets control of the meal. When you get a ton or more of meal for a ton of seed, by all means make the exchange if you get more meal on hand than you need. You can sell it at a big profit next spring. Get ready for home-mixing by getting possession of some cotton seed meal. This is the only sane and sensible course to take. It's the only way to fortify yourself against the trust method of covering the ingredients from which nitrogen is obtained in commercial fertilizers. After you get the meal you'll be independent then. If you find later on that tankage or dried blood can be used more economically in your mixture than cotton seed meal you can easily make the change with a sure profit on your cotton seed meal. Again we urge strongly upon Union men the importance of getting possession of some cotton seed meal by exchanging seed for it."—Charlotte Chronicle.

Waynesville, Oct. 3.—Last evening about 6 o'clock a very brutal homicide occurred on Main street, almost in front of the Bank of Waynesville, where Green killed Browning last January. Five shots were fired from a Smith and Wesson 32-calibre pistol by the enraged negro, each one taking effect in the neck and chest of Wright.

THIRTEEN PITT COUNTY BOYS ENROLLED.

AT THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Pitt County Club Elects Officers—Self Development in Newspaper Correspondence.

Chapel Hill Oct. 1.—The Pitt county club met Friday night for the usual election of officers. The meeting was called to order by vice-President C. O. Armstrong, and nominations for president, vice-president and secretary and treasurer were declared in order. The following men were elected for the coming year: President, J. C. Lanier, jr.; vice-president, D. L. Turnage; secretary and treasurer, C. W. Haskett. After deciding to have a banquet some time this fall the club adjourned.

Pitt county is unusually well represented this year at the University, there being thirteen enrolled from the county. They are: L. Ames Brown, Bruce Hooker, C. O. Armstrong, David Turnage, Conrad Lanier Carl Wilson, Joe Anderson, Charles Haskett, Alfred Schultz, Loyd Horton, John Moore, Howard House and J. A. Clark.

Chapel Hill, Oct. 3.—The press association at the University has come to be an important student activity. The membership of the association includes all the editors of the different student publications and all of the correspondents of the county and state papers. The students now publish, entirely with their own editing and business management, the semi-weekly newspaper, The Tar Heel, and the Monthly University Magazine, and among them are correspondents for all the state morning and evening papers of any importance and for over fifty county weeklies and semi-weeklies. The college publications keep the general student body and the alumni subscribers informed about what is happening in Chapel Hill and afford an interesting means for the self development of the student editors and contributors. The men who are corresponding for the county and state papers have the same opportunity for self development and also help to keep the work of the State University before the eyes of the people to whom it belongs.

The history of the University Magazine is an interesting chapter in the history of the University. Begun in 1844, it attained a state wide importance as a literary periodical. Its editorial staffs have included many of the most distinguished men whom the University has ever sent out. Its tables of contents have included articles by men of national reputations. Among its editors have been such men as Zebulon Baird Vance, Samuel F. Phillips, one time attorney general of the United States, Robert Pell, president of Converse College. Among its contributors have been Chief Justice John Marshall and Dr. Kemp Plummer Battle.

It is a surprising fact that among the 750 students now registered at the University more than one-third are in some way practically or entirely supporting themselves. One method of self help that has developed in the past few years is the way several of the students have of earning their clothes is by being local agents for clothing and haberdashery firms. The student agents do the advertising and delivering of the goods. Already this fall over fifty students have been

PROJECT NEARS COMPLETION.

Inland Waterway From Beaufort to Pamlico Sound to be Opened.

Information received at the office of the United States engineer in this city is to the effect that at the present rate of progress, the inland waterway project from Beaufort to Pamlico Sound will be completed about November 15th at which time the canal will be formally opened. Citizens of Carteret county are planning a big celebration on the date of the opening of the canal and it will be a great occasion for the people of that section.

The distance from Beaufort harbor to Pamlico Sound is about 18 miles and all but about 4,000 feet of the canal has been completed. Two dredges are now busy cutting away rapidly the 4,000 remaining feet. One is on the Adams' creek end and the other on the Core creek end, going toward each other just as rapidly as possible, and if the present fine progress keeps up the two will meet about the 15th of November. The exact date upon which the waters will be connected cannot be told yet, for unforeseen delays may be occasioned on the work.

The canal that will connect the two waters is 125 feet in width and at high tide will have a depth of 12 feet and a depth of 10 feet at mean low water—sufficient to float a good sized vessel—and answer all purposes for which the big ditch is being dug.

Capt. Earl I. Brown, United States engineer in charge of this district and his secretary, Mr. H. H. Ford, and probably others from the Wilmington office, will be present when the two dredges and the canal is declared completed.—Wilmington Star.

Thirtieth Anniversary.

Today thirty years ago, Mr. C. E. Leens, the efficient engineer on the Atlantic Coast Line train between here and Parneto, received his first order as a railroad engineer. Since that time he has handled the throttle ever since with satisfaction to himself, and to his employers. For the past twenty-one years he has been in the employ of the Atlantic Coast Line and for the past nineteen years he has been a resident of Washington running the passenger train between this city and Parneto. There is no more popular engineer to be found anywhere and his many friends wish him many more years of usefulness. Congratulations are in order.—Washington News.

Judge Cook on Bad Boye.

The boy who attacks a teacher is in a small way a criminal, and punishment should be meted out to him in a manner never-to-be-forgotten. Judge Charles M. Cook says:

"You had as well undertake to break a herd of bull yearlings with small twine in the place of rope, as to try to control many hard headed boys in the public schools, white as well as the negro, without allowing the teacher to use the lash."

As an exchange says, we agree: "The sickly sentiment that has gained currency of late that no teacher should ever administer corporal punishment, has wrecked the discipline in many a school.

In the matter of discipline, the present system of training teachers is wrong in this state. The folly of trying to control boys, or girls either, by love has been tested and found to be a failure. Now it is time to return to the proper method and our schools will not be breeding places for insubordination and pernicious conduct.

Judge Cook has the right view on the teachers in the state will be glad to have so strong an advocate.—Williamston Enterprise.

Heavy Bale of Cotton.

Mr. T. M. Hooker has the credit of selling the heaviest bale of cotton ever sold on this market. It was so large that he requested Speight & Co. to send it to Norfolk to be weighed there. They paid him for 887 pounds.

CANNOT DEAL WITH THE TOWN.

Decision in Case of New Bern Aldermen Has Far-Reaching Effect.

The Supreme court handed down last week, in the case of state vs. Williams, from Craven county, a most important decision affecting State, county, and municipal governments. The Revisal of 1905, section 3572, provides as follows: "Any person, appointed or elected a commissioner or director to discharge any trust wherein the State or any county, city or town, may be in any manner interested, shall become an undertaker, or make any contract for his own benefit, under such authority, or be in any manner concerned or interested in making such contract, or in the profits thereof, either privately or openly, singly or jointly with another, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor." This provision was substantially enacted in 1825, but "whether the law has been scrupulously obeyed or has gone into innocuous desuetude" is a matter of conjecture," says the court.

Mr. Williams was an alderman of the city of New Bern, and also president and stockholder in the New Bern Iron Works, and was convicted of violating the law given above. A contract was entered into between the city of New Bern and the Iron Works, but Mr. Williams took no part in the making, auditing or paying of the contract. Judge Brown, in the opinion for the Supreme court, says, "While we are glad to concede that there is no evidence of moral turpitude upon the part of the defendant, we cannot concur with his counsel that a finding to that effect is necessary to conviction, and that the act does not extend to an officer of a corporation when the dealing is between the corporation and the municipality."

The court does not decide the question whether a person who is merely a stockholder of a company dealing with a municipality of which he is an officer would be guilty of violating this law, because in the present case Mr. Williams was president and director and also manager of the mechanical department of the shop of the Iron Works, as well as city alderman.

The court further decides that it is immaterial whether the defendant had actual knowledge of the transaction, because occupying the official position he did, the law will hold him to a knowledge of the transaction and the fact that he retired from the aldermanic meeting when the bill was presented and paid is also immaterial.

Again, the court decided that it is not necessary that the defendant directly profit by the contract the fact that he occupied a public office, also an official of the company dealing with the city makes him guilty of violating the law.

Happiness.

The Chronicle has been attracted by the fine philosophy of Orison Sweet Marden, a writer in Success Magazine, and it would pass to parents this writer's suggestions as to happiness. Marden says there is nothing better we can do for our children than to train them from infancy to form a habit of always being happy, cheerful and hopeful, and of making this life a principle. The habit of optimism, of facing life the right way will be worth infinitely more to them than the greatest fortune they may inherit without it. Children should be given a bright outlook upon life. There is nothing like a sunny disposition, a happy temperament, and if they are not inherited, they may be cultivated. Happiness is a great stimulator of growth. Nothing grows when discordant. When we shall have learned how to conserve our energies by getting our minds into harmony, even the hardest day's work will not tire us. It is nerve exhaustion, wasted energy through unnatural, discordant conditions, that makes us jaded and tired out, the result of friction in our machinery. If we could keep our selves in a happy condition all day, we should be fresh at night. It is by keeping ourselves in perfect harmony that we become more efficient and get the most out of life.—Charlotte Chronicle.

is Business Better.

While one claims that business is booming or in a satisfactory condition there are many who report to us a decided improvement in business.

Oneingham mill states that they are selling fair sized orders at a very good profit, a mill making tickings say they have a reasonable profit today and a number of yarn mills report orders which we know permit a margin.

Cotton can be purchased in many towns at approximately thirteen cents as against fifteen cent a short time ago and as a general rule there has been some advance in the price of yarns and goods.

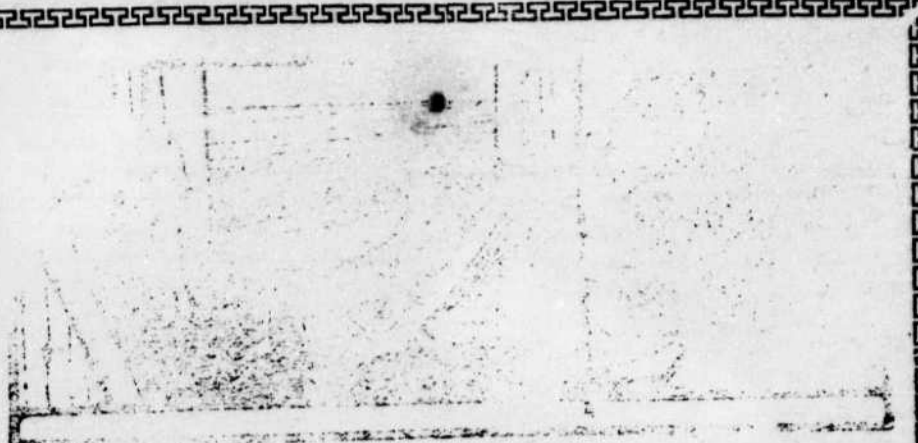

One selling agent stated on yesterday that prices are softer and the demand less than two weeks ago, but this is hard to believe in the face of statements that have been made to us by cotton manufacturers.

Even at the best figures named for recent orders there is not a legitimate price for the cotton manufacturer and the policy of continuing the curtailment is certainly wise.—American Textile Manufacturer.

Booker T. Washington in Parmele.

Professor W. C. Chance is in receipt of a letter to the effect that Dr. Booker T. Washington, in his tour throughout North Carolina, will pass through Parmele about the first of November and stop long enough to speak. The exact date is not definitely fixed yet. Prof. Chance expects to know in a few days and intends to advertise thoroughly the coming of this foremost negro in America. He will urge upon all the citizens of both races to turn out and hear the great message of one who has done so much to raise his people to a higher plane.

"Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. Sold by all druggists.

Demonstration Results.

The Southern Pine Tourist did a little figuring on the subject of Moore's Dainty corn the other day which is of interest to the many counties already having or intending to establish farm demonstration work. "Ten years ago," says The Tourist, "the Moore county farmer who was getting anywhere from 8 to 12 bushels of corn to the acre was fairly well satisfied while the man who was engaged to coax 15 or 20 bushels from a single acre thought he had done a big thing and no one disputed him." In contrast to this condition, The Tourist cites a particular case which this season will produce between 25 and 40 bushels but whose owner thinks it necessary to apologize for such a poor yield. "What has wrought the change?" asks The Tourist, and proceeds to explain it as follows: "It has followed deep plowing, generous fertilization and shallow but frequent cultivation. The old shallow plowing gave the soil but half a chance and the deep cultivation ripped them loose and spoiled whatever chance they had. For the general improvement the farm papers and the state and national Agricultural departments should have the credit, while the farm demonstration agents working under joint local and national auspices are bringing the latest methods of the department to the farmer's door. Not only does the demonstrator tell him what to do but shows him how to do it and explains just why he does it."

At present there are in Moore county some 85 widely scattered acres under the direction of the demonstrator. Naturally farming methods which produce results are contagious and these 85 acres are calculated to be the result of progressive farming but the actual increase in yield runs into more money than one would suppose. The difference between the old good yield of 15 bushels and the present by means of unusual figures of 50 bushels is $75. At 30 cents such an increase on 85 acres means a profit of just $2,380, an alluring amount to result from the $300 which represents the county's share of the demonstrator's salary.

With these figures in mind there can be no surprise that the progressive farmers of Robeson are raising a private subscription to insure an early establishment of such demonstration work in that county, or that from one end of the State to the other, the agricultural leaders are urging the farmers to support similar movement. By the time the generation now represented in the boy's corn clubs has reached its prime, North Carolina's corn crop figures will have reached proportions which would have been simply incredible if made the subject of a prediction a dozen or fifteen years ago.—Charlotte Observer.

The White Man in the Tropics.

When completed the Panama canal will be the greatest physical triumph in the history of the human race. Its measures of success as a commercial project time will demonstrate. The greatest good, however, which has come with the construction of this canal has been the opportunity it gave the medical profession to prove in a way that would attract the attention of the civilized world that the white man could live and work in the tropics and maintain his health at the same efficiency as at work in the temperate zone.

Dr. William C. Gorges in a recent report shows that the annual death rate of 600 eight thousand white Americans connected with the commission was four in 1,000, while by comparison the death rate in a population such as New York would be fifteen in 1,000. He may well claim that such a mortality ratio as this among North Americans living at Panama demonstrates a sanitary revolution which can be done in the tropics by special care and especial effort by a population entirely unaccustomed.

In certain newspapers where sensational articles are wont to appear criticism has been made of the great expense which the work of sanitation has entailed upon the government. In a careful analysis and presentation of the actual facts in the management of the sanitation department of the Isthmian Canal zone the physician in charge shows beyond the possibility of successful contradiction that the necessary sanitation for the protection of the health and life in the tropics can be so economically done that it is within the reach of any community.—New York Sun.

It appears that Chairman Morehead has adopted the late Senator Ransom's plan—never write a letter and never burn one. It's a good practice if he knows how to work it. The anti-slavery league wrote Mr. Morehead to know the meaning of its self-governed plank. The first letter was answered, informing the league that a committee was soon to meet to make a pronouncement. After the committee had met a second letter was sent to him to know what was done, but Mr. Morehead has never answered it. The truth is that his committee, with the exception of the Hon. Thomas Settle, who is in reality the author of the plank, got scared and would make no formal announcement as to what the plank meant. Mr. Settle, it is understood, wanted to come out and say frankly what was meant, but the others got a bad case of cold feet. The Pure in Heart brethren are after Mr. Morehead and he had as well come out like a man and state the position of his party. This thing of trying to ride two horses going in opposite directions cannot be done. Had the party come out plain and without the least evasion in a statement favoring local option and opposed root and branch to State-wide prohibition, it would have made more votes, but by its tactics of evasion and cowardice it has lost more than it can regain. The honest voter hates a coward.—Greensboro Record.

Greenville was largely represented at the Kehukee Association at Briery Swamp church Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Fleming, of Hamlet, came in Sunday evening to visit relatives.

MRS. L. F. LEE & CO'S. OPENING

One That has Never Been Surpassed in Greenville.

Those who visited the fall millinery opening of Mrs. L. F. Lee & Co., today, saw marvels of beauty in the milliner's art. There was the largest and most attractive display of hats that have been shown here in any season, and they are of the very latest models and styles. The opera caps, Hindu caps, feather turbans, white beavers, and the Persian and tapestry trimmings were certainly beautiful, and the various varieties of children's headwear were dreams. Mrs. Lee certainly chose well in selecting styles for the season and is to be congratulated upon this excellent display.

Frost.

The great shows will be here Friday. Take notice and govern your hay operations accordingly. A light frost will follow the show in less than a week. Just wait and see.

ROCHDALE ITEMS.

The News Going in Beaver Dam Township.

Rochdale, N. C., Oct. 5.—Little Jack Smith, between nine and ten years of age, and son of Mr. F. M. Smith, of Smithtown, met the misfortune of getting his left foot cut off by a mowing machine last Wednesday, while his brother, Leslie, was cutting hay. Amputation was necessary and was performed by Doctors Patrick, of Farmville, and Laughinghouse, of Greenville that evening. The little fellow has been and is getting along very well.

Eld. W. F. Waters, of Ayden, came Saturday morning and held his yearly meeting at Arthur, in the Free Will Baptist church Saturday and Sunday. He baptized one candidate Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, at Blue Banks, in Tar river.

Mr. Garris, of Ayden, brought the preacher over here Saturday morning and returned Sunday evening.

The Rochdale boys went Saturday evening and crossed bats with the Glendale boys and came off wearing the laurels. The game stood 6 to 7 in favor of Rochdale.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McLawhorn, from near Ayden, were visiting their son, Mr. C. E. McLawhorn Sunday.

Mr. C. L. Tyson and two children were visiting at C. E. McLawhorn's Sunday.

Miss Rebecca Evans, of Tiner, who was appointed principal teacher for Smiths' school house, opened school there Monday morning with a goodly number of pupils. Mrs. D. K. Smith has charge of the primary department.

Miss. Bettie Taylor, of Kinston, has been visiting at Mr. Ivey Smiths' for some time.

Miss Minnie Belle Alston, of Warrenton, who has spent a week with Mrs. Lloyd Smith, returned home on Monday morning.

Mr. T. E. Little went to Farmville this morning and from there to A. J. Flanagan's.

PULLEY & BOWEN'S OPENING.

Exquisite Display of the Season's Styles.

There are hats and hats, but they alone do not make up the beauty of woman's adornment. So at Pulley & Bowen's opening fall display today there were not alone the very newest designs in trimmed hats of all shapes but also an array of elegant silk dresses and tailor-made suits that would do credit to a city store. This enterprising firm knows the needs of their trade, and in selections have an eye to get the very best that the fashion centres can produce.

Mrs. Garris Dead—Mr. Garris Sick.

Mrs. Sallie Garris, wife of Mr. R. H. Garris, of Swift creek, died at a short illness. She was about 60 years old and leaves several children. She was buried Monday in the family burying ground, Rev. J. R. Tingle conducting the services.

Mr. Garris is now very sick. He had three bad chills in succession Monday night and Tuesday morning and at last reports was very sick.

FORTY KILLED IN COLLISION OF TRAINS.

DUE TO EMPLOYMENT OF GREEN CREWS.

Old Employees Apprehended Accident and Refused to Take Out Trains While the Green Crews Were On.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Stanton, Ills., Oct. 5.—From the meagre information that has oozed out of Illinois Traction Co's office at Springfield it appears that a crash, which occurred between two trains near here late yesterday, in which forty people were killed, was due to the employment of green crew, which either did not know the signal system or disregarded it. The crew failed to wait at the siding as ordered for another car. It is said the old employees have been expecting an accident for several days and some of them had refused to take out cars while the green crews due to handling fair traffic were on.

THE BOYS MUST HUSTLE.

Here is a Corn Contest Record Hard to Beat.

Mr. T. R. Moore, one of the committee for measuring one acre crops in the boys' corn growing contest in this county, tells us that he went out in Beaver Dam township, Monday, to measure an acre for G. T. Tyson, Jr. An accurate measurement of an acre cultivated by young Tyson showed a yield of 69 bushels. This is a record that is going to be hard to beat.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Greenville People Know How to Save It.

Many Greenville people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. The following statement leaves no ground for doubt.

Mrs. S. A. Stumons, 504 Heritage St., Kinston, N. C., says: "I found Doan's Kidney Pills to be an effective remedy for kidney trouble and headache. My back pained me for a long time and my kidneys were much disordered. I happened to read about Doan's Kidney Pills, and procuring a box, I began using them. They benefited me in every way and I am now free from backache and am able to rest well; in fact, I feel better in every way. I am glad to give Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Good Way to Use Hyomei for Catarrh.

Besides breathing through the inhaler a few times a day, many catarrh sufferers write that they find inhaling HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) from a bowl of steaming water each night before retiring a great aid in curing stubborn cases. Try it: it's very simple, gives quick relief and makes you breathe easier. Fill a bowl half full of boiling water; pour into the water a teaspoonful of HYOMEI, cover head and bowl with a towel, and breathe through nose and mouth the pleasant, medicated, antiseptic and healing vapor that arises. This method relieves that stiffness at once, and makes your head feel fine. You can get a bottle of HYOMEI at druggists everywhere or at Coward & Wooten's for only 75 cents. Ask for extra bottle HYOMEI Inhaler. But bear in mind that a HYOMEI outfit which includes inhaler and bottle of HYOMEI costs $1.00.

But, as stated before, if you already own an inhaler, a bottle of HYOMEI costs but 50 cents.

HYOMEI is guaranteed by Coward & Wooten and druggists everywhere to cure catarrh, sore throat, coughs, colds, asthma and croup, or money back. Try it on that generous basis.

A Wild Exploit.

A singular character was the spendthrift James Rhodes, who dug money up and down the Great White Way, in New York, for months. His crowning exploit occurred in London, where he went to finish a spree. Rhodes dropped into the Prince of Wales the other one evening while the orchestra was playing "God Save the King." From his box he ordered the leader to render the "Star Spangled Banner." The musician ignored him, and Rhodes drew a six shooter and began shooting out the lights. He went to jail for awhile. When, a little later, he returned to New York the remnants of his fortune had disappeared.—Chicago Record-Herald.

TWENTY YEARS HAVE BROUGHT MANY CHANGES.

IN GREENVILLE THEY ARE ALL FOR PROGRESS.

A Visitor Gives His Impressions After an Absence of Two Decades—Factories Needed to Keep Growing.

The Reflector has a weakness for printing anything good that is said about Greenville, hence may be pardoned for using some extracts taken from a personal letter written by a business man of another state who left here twenty years ago, and recently spent a day here. We hope what he says about factories will especially put our business people to thinking. He says:

"I enjoyed my little stay in Greenville more than I can tell you. It has been twenty years since I left there, and I saw more of the place last Thursday than I had seen during my little trip in the twenty years. I could hardly realize the changes that had taken place and am sure I would get lost if I should try to find some of the places I used to visit, among them the old Greenville college and other places where some of my good friends lived.

"You have some as pretty streets as will be found anywhere, and all together the old town presents quite a city appearance. In talking with some friends here who visited Greenville recently, the first and only time we decided you have some as handsome residences as will be seen in any town.

"You all are justly proud of your Training school. I was glad to get a glimpse of the buildings and sorry that I could not see more of their interior. This school is a big thing for Greenville, but am sure Greenville will measure up to the responsibility of having it there.

"The Reflector, which has done so much for all these improvements, should feel duly proud of the results of its efforts, and the people should show their appreciation, as I am sure they do and always will by liberal patronage in every way. I notice you are still on the trail when you are talking factories. With so many

CRUISER DEMANDS SURRENDER.

Of Honduran Port—Washington Authorities Have no Information.

By Cable to The Reflector. San Salvador, Oct. 12.—The Commandant of the United States cruiser Princeton today demanded the surrender of Gen. Jose Maria Valladoras, governor of Amapola, Honduras. The commandant of the fort defied the Princeton and sent word that he would fight to the death before giving up. It was reported that a detachment of marines would be landed to seize Valladoras. President Diavella, of Honduras, declared that he would move against the commandant, but failed to do so.

Nothing Known at Washington. Washington, Oct. 12.—Acting Secretary of the Navy Wainwright, says he knows nothing of the demand by the United States gunboat for the evacuation of Gen. Valladoras at Amapola. He says the Princeton had been ordered to Amapola, but had not yet reached there.

French Singer Dies.

By Wire to The Reflector. New York, Oct. 12.—Charles Gilbert, a famous French opera singer, died suddenly here last night in a hotel. He had recently arrived from France to fill an engagement in the Metropolitan Theatre.

Judge Harry W. Whedbee came in Tuesday night from Wilmington, where he had been holding court, to spend the remainder of the week at home.

Wilson Oct. 11.—Junius Potter, the young man who was arrested in Wilson yesterday morning and held for the Kinston authorities, took a ride through the country this morning with a police officer of that town. The same horse that was stolen from a tobacco warehouse, in Kinston took the prisoner back to answer to the charge. Besides being wanted in Wayne county he is wanted in Lenoir on five different warrants, in which county he has served time on the roads.

Tobacco Sales for Sept.—School Committeeman Shot—Kinston Horse Thief Caught.

The tobacco sales in North Carolina for September, according to the reports made to the North Carolina Department of Agriculture amounted to 21,906,833 pounds at first hand and with re-sales to 24,315,135 pounds. Wilson led in the sales, its first hand sales being 4,323,498 pounds, with Greenville second, first hand sales of 3,168,574 pounds and Kinston third with 3,073,885 pounds. —Raleigh News and Observer.

Waynesville, Oct. 11.—At Hemphill ten miles north of here, Allen Birchfield, a school teacher, shot Lark Cagle, a school committeeman. The ball took effect just above the waist band and lodged under the spine. Cagle is in a precarious condition and is not expected to live. Allen Birchfield, the teacher, took to the tall timber and as yet has not been arrested. It is reported the trouble culminated over School Committeeman Cagle reproving the teacher, Birchfield, for some fault.

Ex-Sheriff J. T. Ellington, of Johnston county, is dead. The news of the death of this splendid type of North Carolina manhood, a leading figure among the Democracy of the State will be heard with the deepest regret. He passed away yesterday afternoon at his home at Clayton.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Wilson Oct. 11.—Junius Potter, the young man who was arrested in Wilson yesterday morning and held for the Kinston authorities, took a ride through the country this morning with a police officer of that town. WILL TIE UP FRANCE RAILROADS

Railway Unions Make Determined Move Against the Strikers.

By Cable to The Reflector. Paris, Oct. 12.—The confederation of railway unions today voted to tie up every railway system in France, thus forcing a stagnation of strikers from northern and western railways to all lines owned by the state. More than a quarter million men and 25,000 miles of railroad are affected. Instructions were given that the vote should be made effective immediately, and it is believed that Paris will shortly be isolated. Soldiers will be used in moving trains as far as possible. President Fallieres reached the city today from his country seat and will deal personally with the crisis. More than 80,000 men were affected early today with the number being constantly augmented. Violence is anticipated here and elsewhere.

FREIGHT RATE QUESTION.

Railroads Are Asking to Make an Increase.

By Wire to The Reflector. Washington, Oct. 12.—Presidents of several of the largest eastern railroads, attorneys and others representing various shipping interests, were witnesses before the inter-state commerce commission in important rate hearing today. The questions as finally determined will change railroad transportation and commodities from Chicago east and as far south as the Potomac river. President McRae of the Pennsylvania road was the first witness. He said net savings of the Pennsylvania was 5 1-2 per cent and he thought an increase was justified.

Grand Jury Finds Bill.

By Cable to The Reflector. London, Oct. 12.—The grand jury sitting at Old Bailey court today returned a bill of indictment against Ethel LeNeve charging her with being accessory after the fact in the murder of Belle Elmore. It is likely both Dr. Crippen and Miss LeNeve will be tried jointly.
