

CHRISTIAN CHURCH DEDICATED SUNDAY

ABLE DEDICATORY SERMON BY DR. J. C. CALDWELL

BUILDING ENTIRELY FREE OF DEBT

Large Congregation Attend the Exercises—Splendid Singing by Local Choir and Quartette From Atlantic Christian College—Brief History of The Church in Greenville.

Yesterday was a day of much importance to the local Christian church. Since the church was built in the early summer of 1901, there has been an indebtedness upon the building. The liquidation of the debt was practically provided for, before yesterday, but it remained to complete the debt actually yesterday, and in addition to provide practically for all other outstanding indebtedness. This aim was so nearly reached that it is believed that it will be but a short time until all the indebtedness of the church shall have been wiped out.

The Christian church was organized in Greenville, on October 18th, 1900, at the home of Mr. Travis Hooker, which was at that time on Dickinson avenue, near where the church now stands. Rev. Dennis W. Davis was called as minister at that time, and preached the first sermon in the present building, the first Sunday in June, 1901.

Rev. Chas. C. Ware, Pastor.

Following the pastorate of Mr. Davis was that of W. E. Powell, of Newport News, Va. In October 1904, Mr. H. H. Moore was called to their ministry. In November 1906, he was succeeded by D. W. Arnold, who served three years and a half. Three months ago the congregation called Chas. C. Ware, of Lexington, Ky., a graduate of Kentucky University, class of '07, and who has preached for seven years in the South.

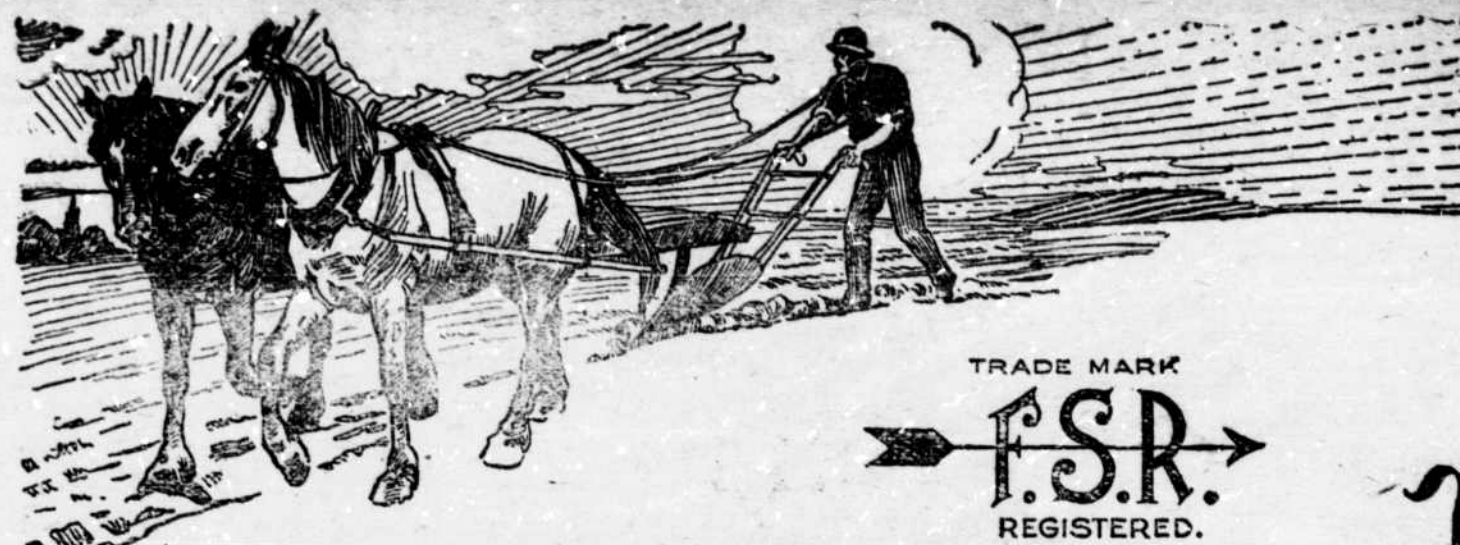

The auditorium of the church yesterday was crowded to the limit and as many more were turned away. The sermon by Dr. J. C. Caldwell was listened to with rapt attention. His text, "I came to bear witness of the Truth."

The building is now entirely free from debt, in which fact the congregation and their many friends rejoice.

Many people from the country and neighboring towns were here to attend the dedicatory exercises.

GREENVILLE TOBACCO SALES.

Comparison of This Season With Last.

Secretary C. W. Harvey, of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, presents the following figures of the sales of leaf tobacco on the Greenville market:

Sales for the month of January 1904, 1,000 pounds at an average of $9.42
per hundred. For the corresponding month of last year the sales
were 439,704 pounds at an average of $8.27.

For the season up to February 1st the sales were 8,013,094 pounds
at an average of $11 per hundred.
For the same date the previous year
the sales were 10,742,410 at an average of $8.01.

These figures show a decrease in pounds the present season of 2,729,- 316, and an increase in price of $1.99
per hundred.

One-Sided Agitation.

It is to be regretted that the child labor reform should be in the hands
of those who seem to be capable of seeing but one side of the question,
and who do not scruple to discredit
the whole South by extreme and exaggerated representations of prevailing conditions. We believe that a 60-four week should be adopted and we trust that mill men will agree to this. But to say that no child under 14 should under any conditions
be allowed to work in a mill is absurd, and that this is the condition
of so-called educators is the more surprising. An educator ought to know that the period in which a child acquires quickly the mastery of an art antedates the age of 14, and it is cruel to deprive him of the best chance for practical education which is to fit him to be a bread-winner.
What sane legislation will do it not
to shut the child out of the mill, but give him a chance to learn without subjecting him to long hours or long and over-taxing periods of toil. This country is beginning to suffer in some communities from the "all school and no work" sentiment. Let us mix school and work from the time a child is old enough to begin the process of education and we shall have a sturdier and more reliable citizenship.—North Carolina Christian Advocate.

INSURANCE METHODS

Mr. Willard's Underranted Attack
on Mr. Laughinghouse

To the Editor:

I must say I was shocked when I read in Mr. M. S. Willard's insurance article in the News and Observer of the 23th, the following paragraph.

"The next gentleman who appeared before the committee is captain Laughinghouse, superintendent of the penitentiary, who wrongly
urged the necessity of an investigation and goes on to tell, the report says, of the number of times he has been burned out, thereby raising the presumption in some people's minds
that captain Laughinghouse by his fines was adding to the cost of the insurance of other property owners
in the state, and seems to be in need of investigation himself to a very much greater extent than the insurance companies.

The purpose and meaning of this is perfectly plain. It is an effort to weaken the effect of his testimony at a public hearing before a legislative committee by attacking his character. This is done by base insinuation that he may have burned his property and suggested the need of an investigation. It is not necessary for me to defend captain Laughinghouse, he is able to defend himself when necessary. He has lived to a ripe age and gained the respect and confidence of the public. He has been a member of the legislature and now holds one of the most important administrative offices in the state government.
This attack on his character is unwarranted and unjustifiable from every standpoint and is resented by fair-minded people.

The point I wish to make is this:
A cause must be had indeed, if its advocates have to resort to such methods as this to strangle in the committee a resolution which does not ask for any affirmative action against fire insurance companies, but only seeks information as to their
rate of charges and methods of dealing with the public. If suspicion is cast upon captain Laughinghouse's
character, when, forsooth, he insures
his property and it burns, whose character is safe when it is weighed
in the balances, against the dollars?
Who knows how many losses are settled at a discount with timid or ignorant people under a threat, more or less veiled, of an indictment for arson? Surely it is not unreasonable to suppose that such settlements are sometimes made in view of the attack on captain Laughinghouse. It would seem that our insurance department should be able to tell us
what losses are settled at a discount
and why, but I understand it cannot.

It would have been fairer to the public had Mr. Willard disclosed his own interest in this matter by stating that he is the secretary of a fire
insurance company; and his article
would have carried more weight had
he stated facts to show the justice
of his own side of the controversy
instead of attacking, without the slightest justification the character
of a high-toned gentleman who opposed him. Why did he not answer
the charge of unjust discrimination
by showing the rates in this and other states on the same class of property
and the compensation paid agents in this and other states for performing the same service? Only those whose souls are evil prefer darkness to

THE CROSSTIE.

The Cheapest Thing on the Market
To-Day.

Do you know what is the cheapest thing sold on the market today, a thing the price of which has not at all followed the upward tendency of the price of things? Well, with the exception of a newspaper which is published at a dollar a year and a good premium thrown in, it is a crosstie. That sells lower than anything else on the market, taking into consideration the value of the tree
as it stands in the forest and the work done on the timber before it is ready to be put on the market.
Just take a look at a first-class crosstie, a splendid piece of post oak or white oak timber, clear of knots and other defects, a stick of timber large enough to make good plank of—think
of the labor it took to fell the timber,
to score and hew it on two sides and strip it of the bark on the other two sides, and the hewing must not be roughly done, either, and then take into consideration that, that crosstie was hauled anywhere from five to ten miles to the railroad, eight of them making a good load, and was sold for only 35 cents, or three dollars and eighty cents for the whole load. Notwithstanding the scarcity of timber, notwithstanding the fact that everything else is going up in price, a crosstie can be bought now
for just about what it could when the railroad was built through this section nearly forty years ago.—
Monroe Enquirer.

DESTROYS SLEEP.

Many Greenville People Testify to This.

You can't sleep at night,
With aches and pains of a bad back.

When you have to get up from urinary troubles.

All on account of the kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills bring peaceful slumber.

They are for:
They are for kidney ills.

Mrs. James Harris, 12th street, Greenville, N. C., says: "I am pleased to add my endorsement to the many already given in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills. For a long time I was troubled by my kidneys and I suffered intensely from backache and pains in my shoulders. Headaches and dizzy spells bothered me and I rested so poorly that when I got up in the morning, I was in no fit condition to begin my work. When I read of Doan's Kidney Pills, I immediately got a supply from the John L. Wooten Drug Co., and to my delight, they did me a world of good.
I can rest much better at night and
my back and kidneys do not bother
me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo,
New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Light. The necessity for an investigation need not longer be doubted;
the conduct of the fire insurance interests in resisting a disclosure has made the necessity plain.

Advertising a Section.

This is pre-eminently a day of advertising. Whatever a man has,
whether it be a stock of groceries or
a desire for political honors, he sets forth his possession by means of the widest possible publicity. It is natural, therefore, that this proven method of obtaining results should have been suggested in connection with the problem of the building up of this section. Cities have long advertised; the adoption of slogans is one of their many channels. But the idea referred to contemplates a publicity campaign covering considerably
wider ground and aiming to reach
people in all sections of the country.
The "back-home" movement is to be pushed with great energy, various railroads co-operating in the work.

This movement, however, is but a phase of a general one. The item about Jerry Moore's phenomenal corn acre has been copied from ocean to ocean and has given not only South Carolina but this entire section invaluable publicity. Young Moore himself is this week accompanying a delegation from Columbia which is raising heaven and earth to secure the next National Corn Exposition for that city. We hope very much that this effort will be successful; but in any case the expedition will serve to put the advantages under discussion
before the minds of hundreds of people from all quarters of the United States, and it is to be expected that these folks will not be silent
when they get back to their widely-separated homes.

There is advertising and advertising. Take as an example of another kind the publicity which Adams county, Ohio, and Vermilion county, Illinois have recently received. The two names are in people's mouths
everywhere, but the talk is not of any value to its subjects. Yet a conservative observer, certainly at this distance, should hesitate to condemn unreservedly either community.
Such situations have an inevitable tendency to exaggeration. The facts
may be as stated and yet the proportion very much out of focus are represented in the dispatches. With due discrimination which shall exclude this undesirable mention, every means whereby a community can get its name before the great public is to be sought. It is likely that there are many as yet undiscovered means
which might be utilized by this section.—Charlotte Observer.

The Near Beer Evil.

Quite recently in review of the near-beer situation in the State. The Chronicle took the ground that its worst feature is the fact that country
cross roads, rather than policed
towns, are the favored localities for the operation of the business. In the cities and towns where heavy license tax is imposed and the business in under official supervision
these near-beer shops are productive
of the minimum amount of harm.
In the country districts they cannot be other than a very serious menace
to the morals, safety and peace of the community. The affair out on a public road near Concord, Saturday night, in which murder was committed, is a case in point. Citizens who ought to have been at home with their families, were there in vicious carousal and the proceedings and the tragic termination were entirely
similar to some of the old bar room
days. The slaying of the Cabarrus county man will settle its business,
a little bit more expeditiously, perhaps, than otherwise might have been the case.

It is conceivable how some sort of a compromise might be made for the regulation of near-beer traffic in territory under police supervision, but that the legislature will permit it to go on unlicensed and untrammelled in country districts is not to be thought of. Out in the country (Mecklenburg an exception) and in the suburbs of town, some shack is to be seen with its front ornamented with a near-beer
sign. The State should have riddance
of these places and there need be no fear that the legislature will fail in its duty.—Charlotte Chronicle.

What is Lost by Burning the Cotton Stalks.

Dr. B. W. Kilgore, State Chemist,
of North Carolina, states that: "The roots, stems, bolls and leaves corresponding to (or which produce)
five hundred pounds of lint cotton,
are around 2,145 pounds, or more than one and one-half tons containing 67.7 pounds of nitrogen, 26.5
pounds of phosphoric acid, 59.3
pounds of potash, and 59.3 pounds of lime; or the equivalent of five tons
of good manure."

These figures are the results of actual weighing and analyzing and not guess-work.

North Carolina, for the past of it,
where these tests were made, is not very well toward the northern limit of the cotton belt and the proportion of roots, stems, bolls and leaves to lint
produced, is smaller than in more southern portions of the cotton belt.
Hence it would seem quite probable that the figures obtained in North Carolina are under, rather than over,
the average for the cotton belt. If this be true, and we have no reason to doubt it, the acre of land which produces a 500-pound bale of cotton also produces, on an average, approximately one and one-half tons of humus-
forming material which is destroyed
when the stalks are burned. This is the greatest need of southern soils,
even the supposedly rich Milledgeville Delta soils showing large increase in crops from the addition of humusforming materials. In addition to this,
keeping in mind that the next greatest need of Southern soils is nitrogen, it must not be forgotten that when the stalks which produce 500
pounds of lint are burned, there is a complete loss of 67.7 pounds of nitrogen, which at 18 cents a pound is worth $12.18.

Fire has ever been the bane of Southern agriculture, and every scientific fact and all intelligent experience dictates that it must cease.
We must use the implements and team force necessary to plow under all the vegetable matter that can not be used for feeding live stock or without humus. Southern soils are poor, while with it, they will produce
most abundantly.—Progressive Farmer.

Love Your Work.

You may rest assured that if you do not feel yourself growing in your work and your life broadening and deepening; if your task is not a perpetual tonic, you have not found your place. If your work is drudgery to you; if you are always longing for
the lunch hour, or the closing hour,
to release you from the work that bores, you may be sure that you have not found the right niche. Unless you can go to a task with much greater delight than when you leave,
it belongs to some other person—

WINTERVILLE DEPARTMENT

IN CHARGE OF PAUL N. STROTHER.

Authorized Agent of The Carolina Home and Farm and The Eastern Reflector for Winterville and vicinity
Advertising Rates on Application

Winterville, N. C., Feb. 4.—There was a very large crowd of people in town yesterday to attend the big land sale. People from the adjoining towns and from the community at large were present. The real estate company which sold the land, had an excellent band from Aurora and two fine auctioneers from Wilson. We had very good music the lots sold well, and every body present seemed to enjoy the day.

A lot of new shoes just in at Harrington, Barber & Company's. Mr. P. T. Anthony, of Greenville was in town on business yesterday evening.

We are all grieved very much by learning that Mrs. Elliott, an old lady of our town, while going to the door yesterday evening fell down and broke both arms just above the wrist. Dr. Laughlinhouse, of Greenville, was at once summoned. We all hope Mrs. Elliott will soon recover. Mr. J. B. Kittrell, of Greenville was in town yesterday.

Special sale on clothing at Harrington, Barber & Company's.

The stockholders of the Winterville bank were very much surprised when holding a meeting Thursday night, they found that the bank had earned a dividend of twenty-four per cent. This shows that the Winterville bank has been doing more and better business for the past year than it ever has before.

Harrington, Barber & Company are adding new items to their 5 and 6 cents counters.

Mr. John C. Duffy left for Wilson yesterday evening to visit his parents.

Miss Elizabeth Boushall went to Belcross yesterday evening to visit her father.

Miss Addie Copeland went to Grainger last night to visit Miss Eva Langston.

Prof. Brinson went to Ahoskie to spend last night.

Mr. D. B. Forest is all smiles this morning—it is a girl.

In the auditorium of Winterville High School Friday morning a most interesting and practical lecture was delivered by Rev. C. A. Upchurch of Kinston. The subject of his address was "Dreams," or "He can who thinks he can." He showed what dreams had meant to the world in bringing to pass their dreams, though scoffed at and ridiculed before their ideals were perfected. He referred to the struggles of Columbus in his dreams of finding the great western world, of Elias Howe, the inventor of the sewing machine, of Westinghouse, the inventor of the air brake, who went to Vanderbilt to ask aid of him and was called a fool. He spoke of the attitude of the world toward her dreams before and after accomplishment of their dreams.

Mr. Upchurch made a fine impression upon the student and he will always have a hearty welcome in our town. While here he also lectured to the Bible class, which was very much enjoyed. He returned to Kinston on the 1.25 train.

Winterville, N. C., Feb. 8.—Rev. M. A. Adams filled his regular appointment Sunday and Sunday night. He reached very fine sermons to large congregations.

Harrington, Barber & Company have a beautiful line of gingham for spring or immediate use.

When the weather is damp and cold, shoe your feet at Harrington, Barber & Company's.

Miss Laura Salisbury, of Hassel, spent Sunday and Sunday night with Miss Myrtle McGlohorn.

The town officers are improving the looks of Winterville by having the trees, posts and electric light poles whitewashed.

Miss Alex. Bradley, of Greenville, who has been out of school for a few weeks, entered school again Monday.

Prof. F. C. Nye is having his house repainted.

Rev. M. A. Adams went to Grifton yesterday evening.

A large quantity of dry goods and notions just received at A. W. Ange & Company's.

Miss Martha Cherry, of Greenville, who has been spending a few weeks at home, returned to school Monday.

If you are needing shoes, we have them to fit any foot at the right price.—A. W. Ange & Company.

Mr. A. G. Cox hurt his back very bad yesterday evening while lifting a stump puller.

A nice line of ladies' misses', and children's hose at the right price at W. Ange & Company's.

Tortured for 15 Years.

By a cure-defying stomach trouble that baffled doctors, and resisted all remedies he tried, John M. Modders, of Moddersville, Mich., seemed doomed. He had to sell his farm and give up work. His neighbors said, "he can't live much longer." Whatever I ate distressed me," he wrote, "till I tried Electric Bitters, which worked such wonders for me that I can now eat things I could not take for years. Its surely a grand remedy for stomach troubles" just as good for the liver and kidneys. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c at all druggists.

Yes, Bury Him.

Bury the croaker out in the wood in a beautiful hole in the ground, where the woodpecker pecks and the bumblebee hums and the straddlebug straddles around. He is no good to the city push, too impractical, stinky and dead; but he wants the whole earth, and all of its crust, and the stars that shine overhead. Then hustle him off to the bumblebees' roost and bury him deep in the ground; he's of no use here, get him out of the way and make room for the man that is sound—Ex.

The average woman worries more about the furnace than her husband does about the hereafter.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA.

If You Have It, Read This Letter—MI-O-NA is Guaranteed.

"I was taken last August with a severe stomach trouble. The doctor said it was nervous dyspepsia. I took his treatment four weeks, but did not feel any better. I took everything I heard of. The first day of December, I got a box of MI-O-NA. I took them that afternoon and the next day and haven't had one bit of pain in my stomach since the 2nd of December. Feel well now, and sleep sound."—Mrs. M. E. Maxfield, R. F. D. 2, Avoca, N. Y.

MI-O-NA is surely the best prescription for indigestion ever written.

It relieves after dinner distress, belching of gas, foul breath, heartburn and all stomach misery in five minutes.

It is guaranteed to permanently cure indigestion, acute or chronic, or any disease of the stomach, or money back.

MI-O-NA stomach tablets are sold by Coward & Wooten and leading druggists everywhere at 50 cents a large box. Trial samples free on request from Booth's MI-O-NA, Buffalo N. Y.

SOUTHERN COM. CONGRESS.

Congressman Small Will be Among the Speakers.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—The land reclamation section of the Southern Commercial Congress at Atlanta, March 8th, 9th and 10th, will be addressed by Representative Small, of North Carolina. His subject will be "Recent Progress in Drainage Legislation," and he will bring out, for the use of the Southern States, the good points of the North Carolina, Arkansas and Louisiana law.

Hon. Joseph H. Ransdell, president of the national rivers and harbors congress will address the same section on "The Undrained Empire of the South." He will deal with the wonderful resources of the South yet remaining undeveloped in lands suitable for drainage.

Professor Geo. A. Cole, president of the Arkansas land congress, will address the section on the subject of "A Federal Survey of the Wet Lands of the South as an aid in Establishing Drainage Areas Affecting More than one State."

The chairman of the section will be Mr. Edward Wisner, of New Orleans, president of the Louisiana meadows company.

A Change of Name.

There is a North Carolina Agricultural and Mechanical College at Greensboro. This is for the colored race. There is a North Carolina Agricultural and Mechanical College at Raleigh. This is for the white race. A proposition will go before the legislature for a change in the name of one or the other of these institutions. It is a good move. The Chronicle would suggest that the Greensboro institution be allowed to retain its name. Its scope is more nearly confined to agriculture and mechanic arts. The scope of the Raleigh institution has been broadened and tends more to mechanical and electrical engineering. It is suggested that its name be changed to the North Carolina Institute of Agriculture and Engineering. That would come nearer covering the case than the old name.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Good Roads.

Here are some facts we commend to our farmer friends:

Bad road-making costs us directly $40,000,000 a year. Indirectly through unnecessary cost of transportation, bad road making costs us approximately $250,000,000 a year.

It costs the American farmer two or three times as much to haul his truck to market as it does the farmer of Europe, where roads are good.

In France the highways carry one and a third times as much freight as do the railroads.

In America it is just the other way. The railroads carry three times as much produce as do the public roads.

Farmers, it is for you to become advocates of what will benefit you. Be persistent advocates of good roads. And speak to your neighbors about it.

The above suggestions and good advice is given by the Winston Sentinel. The great need of our farmers today is better roads, and the farmer who is opposed to good roads, even at any cost, is simply standing in his own light.—Salisbury Post.

Two Bills.

It seems that there are two bills for the regulation of land titles under the Torrens system, now in the committee, at Raleigh. One of these is that fathered by Mr. Cotten and endorsed by the bankers and Farmers' Union. The other is a bill advocated by the lawyers. We are not familiar with the provisions of the lawyers' bill, but it is reasonable to suppose that it is not in harmony with the Cotten bill. Sentiment all over the state is unanimous for the Torrens system. The legislator who may be seeking popularity would find it thrust upon him were he to take up this measure and put it through.

That this popular movement has not yet developed a vigorous champion is a matter for surprise. In the meantime, the public would no doubt be pleased to have some light on the main points of these two bills. It would be particularly interesting to learn what the lawyers are driving at.—Charlotte Observer.

OUR HOME DEPARTMENT

BY REFLECTOR READERS

Our readers are invited to exchange ideas about home under this department.

Our Home.

"There is a land, of every land the pride,
Beloved by Heaven o'er all the world beside;
Where brighter suns dispense softer light,
And milder moons imparadise the night;
Oh, thou shalt find how e'er thy footsteps roam,
That land—thy country and that spot—
—thy home."

Beginning with this week The Reflector will give its readers a Home Department. Now the very word home, has a significance all its own. We know its meaning, and most of us appreciate its joys and comforts, its pleasures and sorrows. This department will seek to help us add both to its comforts and pleasures.

The real home maker must be endowed with a gift peculiarly her own—the ability to select the true and discard the false; to exclude everything that tends to corrupt; to welcome and nurture all that tends to elevate. She must have a high standard and live up to it.

So much has been written on this very subject—so much dogmatic advice to the farm housewife has been poured of late into the columns of the agricultural papers—that it has become quite wearisome to say the least.

Now, I believe I know my readers and many of them know me, and I know the wives and mothers, and daughters who read "The Carolina Home and Farm and Eastern Reflector" have both common sense and culture sufficient to make their homes comfortable and attractive, yet it will be well for us to come together and discuss ways and means. To learn from others. There are few of us who have not a superior way of doing something that is unknown to our neighbors, then let us meet here for mutual help.

Come with your bit of useful information, an inspiring poem (either original or from your scrap book), anything that will contribute to the uplift of our homelife. Make your letters clear, write only on one side of the paper with pen and ink; sign real name (it will not be published unless you so desire). Send all communications to "Box 43, R. F. D. 3, Farmville, N. C."

As no home is complete without children, we are to divide our space with them, seeking to instruct and entertain; to lead their thoughts into channels of wisdom and usefulness.

Now let us see how many of our "Reflector" girls and boys can answer these questions. Any bright child of the sixth or seventh grade ought to answer them without help. If you find them too hard get mother, sister or teacher to assist you in giving the answers. Send all answers, neatly numbered on a card with real name and address.

1st. What noted author was born a slave?

2nd. Name the work which made him famous?
3rd. Name the old blind poet of whom it was said,
"Seven cities contested for.....dead,
Through which living....begged his bread."
4th. Name his two great poems and two noted characters of each?
5th. What English poet was blind? Name his greatest poem.

6th. —An Enigma—
My first is in evening but not in morn,
My second in flour but not in corn;
My third is in leisure but not in play,
My fourth is in white but not in gray;

My fifth is in halt but not in lame;
My sixth is in wild but not in tame;
My seventh is in might but not in power,
My eighth is in minute but not in hour,
My ninth is in weary and also in rest,
My tenth is in enjoy but not in nest.

The whole the name of a noted inventor.

Now, who will be the very first to send in correct answers? I shall await them with much interest.

SOUTHERN PROGRESS.

Annual Blue Book for 1911 Published by Manufacturers Record.

All men of affairs who wish to have in form handy for ready reference the facts of what the South has done in the past 30 years, what it is doing now and what it possesses for greater doing will find them in the "Manufacturers Record Annual Blue Book of Southern Progress" for 1911. This pamphlet of 64 pages is the most compact and convenient source of information about material development in the South that has ever been given to the public. It is the statistical epitome of the past and present of the South, and bristles with information about the elements of certainty as to the South's great future.

In this comprehensive volume are the records showing that 41 cities in the South, each now having a population of more than 25,000, have in the past 30 years increased their aggregate population from 1,506,915 to 3,570,770, or by nearly 137 per cent, an index to the growth of industry in the South, that of 9,000,000 estimated horse-power in Southern streams only about 1,000,000 horse-power has been developed, and that the value of the cotton crop of the South in 10 years has exceeded by more than $1,761,000,000 the value of the gold and silver produced by all the mines of the world in the same period, while the value of exports of raw cotton has exceeded the value of all the gold mined in the same time. The cotton crop, with its seed, now approaches $1,000,000,000 in value a year, and yet that amount is less than 40 per cent, of the total value of all agricultural products of the South, $730,000,000, for instance, being the value of 1-104,000,000 bushels of cereals harvested in 1910. Comparison of the progress of the South and that of the country marks the industrial advancement of the South, shown in more active cotton spindles in the South now than were in the whole country in 1880, in a greater cut of lumber in the South by more than 5,000,000,000 feet, in pig-iron production and in petroleum output nearly equal the country's 30 years ago, and in the greater amount by 30,000,000 tons of coal mined. Increased in 30 years in railroad mileage from 20,612 to 71,907 miles, in the value of exports from $265,000,000 to $628,000,000 and in resources of national banks from $171,000,000 to $1,371,000,000, are among other items treated in the "Blue Book of Southern Progress" by States and in comparison with the rest of the country.

Among the special new features in this issue are the figures of live stock in the South, while to all the statistics of the 14 Southern States have been added, where possible, the figures of Oklahoma and Mississippi, without, however, including them in the Southern totals.

For each of these 16 states and the District of Columbia is presented a separate table summarizing the facts of 30 years set forth in the tropical tables. In the statistics generally the latest and most authoritative figures available have been used, and where estimates have been made, the effort has been to give conservative results.

For nearly thirty years the Manufacturers Record has published as quickly as they have become accessible the magnificent facts of Southern achievement, upon which these latest and most up-to-date statistics are based, and has in addition issued from time to time more or less elaborate summaries, which have carried to the four quarters of civilization the knowledge about the South which has been so effective in hastening its material development. Coincidentally the Manufacturers Record has furnished in printed matter or in personal correspondence to thousands of statesmen, educators, business men, newspapers and magazines similar material for orations, essays, editorials and other articles in the desire to neglect no opportunity or means of furthering the work and keeping the South and the rest of the world informed of the vast possibilities within the area stretching from Maryland to Texas.

This pamphlet contains the cream of all these efforts. Copies of the "Annual Blue Book of Southern Progress" can be had of the Manufacturers Record of Baltimore, for 25c each.

ANTI BONDS FOR GOOD ROADS MEETING

HELD IN THE CITY HALL SATURDAY AFTERNOON

SPEECHES AGAINST THE MEASURE

Resolution Adopted Asking the Legislature Not to Pass the Bill That Has Been Introduced to Permit People of the Township to Vote on The Question.

Enough people gathered in the city hall Saturday afternoon, to practically fill the room at the meeting called for those opposed to the bill pending in the legislature to submit to the voters of Greenville township the question of issuing bonds in an amount not exceeding $50,000 to build good roads in the township. Among those present were also advocates of the bill, but these took no part in the proceedings as it was a meeting called by opponents for action against the measure.

The meeting organized by the selection of Dr. E. A. Moye as chairman and Mr. Julius Brown as secretary.

A statement was made by Mr. A. L. Blow that he thought if petitions containing the signatures of a majority of the voters of the township were sent to our representatives in the legislature the pending bill would not be passed.

Mr. W. F. Evans stated that petitions had been and were being circulated for signatures. He read one of these petitions, following it with a speech against the bill that had been sent to the legislature, in which he criticised the action of those who had prepared the bill, and also told why this meeting was called to oppose it.

Col. Harry Skinner followed in a speech against the bill, attacking it vigorously and impugning the motives of those who fathered it. He offered a motion that the sense of the meeting be taken on the pending bill.

Mr. J. L. Evans also spoke against the bill, saying he did so in justice to himself, as having been named as one of the road trustees in the bill sent to the legislature his position might be misunderstood.

Following up the suggestion of Col. Skinner for taking sense of the meeting, Mr. W. F. Evans offered the following resolution, which was adopted, only those favoring it voting:

We, a body of the citizenship of Greenville township, Pitt county, in meeting assembled, deeming it wise and within the proprieties of a free people to meet and discuss matters of importance concerning ourselves, and our prosperity, and feeling that upon questions of legislation and government the entire voice of the people affected by such legislation should be heard, and that no small minority should be allowed to override or rule the majority, and believing a reversion to the time honored principles of our constitution and theories of government to be healthful at this time, do present:

1. That all elections ought to be free, that the prime object of the ballot is the determination of the desires of the people and that all qualified persons should be allowed to vote, that hindrances and stumbling blocks placed to retard a free expression of the electorate is wrong and contrary to the spirit of a free people and that frequent and unnecessary registrations as a qualification to vote constitutes an offense against our views as above expressed.

2. That while, as provided in our constitution, elections should be frequent in order that the wishes of the people may be known, yet such elections should be regular and orderly, both as to time and measures. We acquiesce in the occasional necessity for special elections by legislative enactment to decide a given proposition, and we assert that the will of the people thereupon expressed at the ballot box should abide the issue; but we recognize that a continual or automatic reference to the electorate of any given measure can make that measure apathetic to the sinking confidence of an outraged people, and we denounce as tyrannical and unjust any law which places the ballot box at the beck and call of any man or set of men.

3. We believe that all measures or laws which are to be enacted as affecting any special community or portion of the State should be in each and every part in conformity with the desires and wishes of a majority of that people to be affected and that such proposed legislation should not be cloaked or hidden, but should be openly espoused and agitated and an opportunity be given for the free expression of opinion thereon, and that our representatives in the legislature should refrain from passing laws of a local nature framed without the knowledge of the whole people and fathered by a small faction of the community.

Believing that the bill now pending in the general assembly in regard to the roads of Greenville township, and providing for a vote on the issuance of bonds for the purpose of road building, was in its framing, and is now in its form and provisions in conflict and contrary to the principles above expressed; therefore, be it

Resolved: First, That we call upon our representatives in the general assembly not to fasten upon this bill as above referred to, for it is the sense of this meeting that a majority of the citizens of the township are opposed to a bond issue, and that under the provisions of the said bill undue authority and advantage is given to those who desire the enactment of the proposed law.

Second, That for the defeat of said bill and its vicious and obnoxious provisions we pledge to each other our time, our labor, and our resources.

Third, That we appoint a township committee, consisting of ten, to fight the proposed bill in the legislature and at the election, if the same is called.

The appointment of the committee of ten as stated in the resolution, was deferred by the chairman, the names to be announced later, and the meeting adjourned.

Anyway, the water pipes never freeze up in our air castles.

VISITING PREACHERS SUNDAY.

Three of The Churches Have Out of Town Speakers.

The pulpits of three of the local churches were occupied Sunday by visitors, and it was an interesting day for the worshippers at all of them.

Rev. L. S. Massey, of Raleigh, editor of the Christian Advocate, preached in the Methodist church both morning and night and was heard with great pleasure. Mr. Massey also spent today here in the interest of his paper among the membership of the church.

Dr. W. H. McGlaughlin, general superintendent of the Universalist churches, preached Sunday morning in the Universalist church, and his sermon was one of beauty and eloquence.

Dr. M. L. Hooper, of Goldsboro, spoke in the Baptist church at the morning service, giving an excellent talk on "The Consecrated Life."

TWO OLD COLORED MEN.

Father One Hundred and Five Years Old and Son Seventy-Six.

Appearing before the county commissioners today in application for aid for the elder, were two old colored men, father and son. They came from the Clay Root section of the county and were Slade Venters, who said he was 105 years of age, and his son Fred, who is now 76. The old man talked intelligently for his remarkable age, and said he is able to get about and do a little work. He was admitted to the county home. Before the Civil war both these men were slaves belonging to the late Mr. G. W. Venters.

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY AT WILSON

NEGRO KILLS DEPUTY SHERIFF
AND CHIEF POLICE

POSSES ARE SCOURING COUNTRY

The Feeling is High That if the Negro is Caught A Lynching is Feared, and to Prevent Such an Occurrence Troops Are on Duty.

Wilson, N. C., Feb. 4.—Deputy Sheriff George Mumford was shot and killed, and Chief of Police A. O. Glover probably fatally wounded yesterday, while with other officers, they were attempting to arrest a negro wanted by the Dunn authorities for breaking into a hardware store.

The Wilson county and city officials received notice to be on the lookout for a gang of negroes who had broken into stores in the towns of Fayetteville and Dunn. At once, when it was learned that the desperadoes had arrived in Wilson, county and city officials, jointly, began to devise ways and means to apprehend the rascals.

Officer Wynne was the first to get a glimpse of them going in the direction of a near-by joint, known as the "Bell Place," on South Goldsboro street, about half a mile from the court house. He communicated his find to Chief Glover and Deputy Mumford, and these three, with Police Officer Wynne soon started on the trail, and learned while near the Norfolk Southern depot that two of the gang had just gone into the home of a negro woman near the depot.

Quickly the house was surrounded. Officers Warren and Wynne guarding the back way while Deputy Mumford and Chief Glover entered the front way. When the door was entered the brave officers met a fusillade of bullets (parties who heard the firing say that least 25 shots were exchanged). The officers came out and covered the exits, though badly wounded. Louis West, the most desperate of the pair, went to the back window, when officer Wynne shot at him. He then dashed out of the front door, when Deputy Mumford sent two balls in his direction.

From loss of blood from wounds this brave and fearless officer sank to the ground, when the brute passed by him and said: "Damn you, you are not dead yet, but I'll finish you," and shot him in the head two or three times.

Chief Glover was shot in the shoulder, and it is thought, through the lungs. Both were taken to the Wilson Sanatorium. It is said that the deputy died before reaching this institution.

The woman, Mary Young, in whose house the tragedy occurred, is under arrest.

Both parties evaded the angry crowd and made their escape, going past the Contentnea Guano Factory. John D. Mercer's bloodhounds were sent for.

Lewis West is a tall yellow negro, and wore, when he committed the crime, a red sweater and a cap. Officer Warren shot at him four times when he dashed from the house.

The other negro, according to Mary

Young, answers to no other name than "Stetson."

Several negroes, one said to be from South Carolina, have been committing depredations at Dunn. They broke into a hardware store at that place, and it was for that crime that they were wanted.

The Wilson Military scoured the woods in every direction soon after the tragedy, but could find no trace of either of the gang. Six arrests have been made, three women, who may be able to throw some light on the matter as to the identity of the gang, and three men—one at Middlesex and two at Baileys. A negro from Edmondson's bridge reported that a negro answering the description of West was in that neighborhood when he left, and that he was badly wounded. Sheriff Sharp and a posse in automobiles left at once. There is no clue as to the whereabouts of any of the others of the gang. West is an escaped convict from the South Carolina penitentiary.

Bloodhounds from Tarboro arrived at 9.25 and started on the hunt.

Description of Murderer.

The description of the murderer is as follows: Ginger cake color, 5 feet 8 inches high, weight 160 pounds, even on neck, wore red sweater when the tragedy was committed.

Still Searching for West.

Wilson, Feb. 4.—Louis West, the negro who shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Mumford and wounded Chief of Police Glover yesterday has not been apprehended. He was seen near Fremont this morning and parties are scouring the woods in that section. Governor Kitchin offered $250 reward for his capture this morning. The military is still on duty here, but everything is quiet. Chief Glover will recover it is thought.

FLAISTED, OF MAINE.

Attending to State Business and Letting National Politics Alone.

Democrats, insurgent Republicans, and tariff reformers generally still feel grateful to Maine, because the Democratic victory won there in September was advertised as an overthrow for "Hale and high prices." Politicians have speculated curiously on what figure Gov. Plaisted might try to cut in the national political game on the strength of this.

But Gov. Plaisted and his associates hadn't heard about all this, except in a vague way, when I saw them recently. Nor did they show much interest. An Ohio politician of deputy sheriff grade, let loose in Maine, would have had a first-class Plaisted vice presidential boom flourishing before this. A New England candidate would be very available, say, with a Harmon nomination. Gov. Foss, of Massachusetts, has seen this possibility.

It was a novel emotion to Gov. Plaisted's friends. The fact is that many Maine is minding its own business politically. Gov. Plaisted, elected on local issues, is inclined to look strictly after Maine's business and to leave national problems to congress.

"You see, I am governor of Maine," he says.

"Did your campaign have any national significance, then?" I asked the governor.

"Well, no; perhaps not," he said, slowly, and then he smiled. "To have 'national significance' seems to us in Maine rather a large order. We haven't bothered much about it, haven't gone after it, and whether we have it or not is for the rest of the country to judge, I guess."

"The young men of Maine supported us, voted for us, and put us in power. It was their campaign, their election, and they won it. That means that the young men of Maine—and I suppose the young men of the rest of the country are like them—can't be delivered. They won't be slaves to partisanship as the older generation has been. They refuse to be herded submissively into the Republican pasture because their fathers have always stayed there. Nor is it any guarantee that they will vote the Democratic ticket next time because they stood with us in this campaign. We'll have to make good on our promises to keep their support."

"Did it look like a miracle to you folks outside when we Democrats carried Maine? Well, with Maine's young men in their present temper that miracle is apt to be repeated pretty frequently. The Republican solidity of this State is gone. I imagine 'solid' States will get more and more uncommon in the next few years. You can say this election puts Maine in the line of States which are no longer 'sheep States,' ready to follow blindly the party bellwether. Maine is progressive, and she will continue to be progressive and independent."

"You might put that fact down as of 'national significance,' even if our campaign issues were local. Eh, what do you think?"—W. S. Couch, in the New York World.

BIG CORN DAY FOR PITT COUNTY

TO BE HELD IN GREENVILLE SATURDAY, FEB. 18.

MESSRS. HUDSON AND SCHAWB

Every Day in Last Year's Contest, and All Who Will Enter This Year, Should be Present, as Well as Every Farmer Interested in Corn Raising.

Greenville, N. C., Feb. 4, 1911.

Editor Reflector:

There never was as much interest in corn raising in Pitt county as was created last year by the "boys' corn contest club," composed of about sixty boys in the county. We wish to increase this interest the present year. Already a suggestion has been made in your paper by Mr. A. J. Moye as to a plan to do this. After consideration we have thought it best to call a meeting in Greenville on Saturday, February the 18th, to mature plans whereby we can arouse the entire county to the opportunity we have of creating enthusiasm and interest in the matter of corn raising.

Mr. Hudson and Mr. Schawb, from the agricultural department, will be in Greenville on the 18th and we desire to invite every boy who was in the corn club last year to enter this year, together with every man in the county, who is interested in the matter of corn growing, to be with us on the 18th. You are requested also to bring some corn with you and Mr. Hudson and Mr. Schawb will aid you in seed selections that day.

We propose also at this meeting to arrange premiums to be offered in every township in the county so that each boy will have a chance to win one. The territory of his contest being no larger than his own township.

Committees to put the plan in operation will be appointed at this meeting and it is therefore exceedingly important that you be here. This county won more certificates, signed by the governor, as expert corn raisers, than any other county in the state with probably one exception last year. If these are not delivered before, they will be presented to the successful boys at this meeting.

There were some prizes offered last year here in the county, and these will be delivered at this meeting.

In our judgment, the meeting to be held here on Saturday, February 18th, if properly attended, will mean much towards awakening our people to a conception of the possibilities of the county from an agricultural standpoint. Let every one who is interested be present.

W. H. RAGSDALE,
County Superintendent of Schools.

THE MEN GIVE THEIR

PERSONAL TESTIMONY

Prayer League Has a Meeting Filled With Inspiring Interest.

Sunday afternoon in the Baptist church the men's prayer league had an inspiring meeting with a very large attendance. This service was of the nature of giving experience, and the number of speakers was larger than that at any previous service. "Personal Testimony" was the subject and after the leaders, Messrs. J. S. Cockrell and W. J. Peel, had spoken, several others also gave experiences from their lives. With many it was their first effort to speak in a religious meeting, and this development is one of the good things resulting from these services. It is telling on the lives of the men and through them having an effect upon the community. Another outgrowth of these services is the requests for the prayers of Christians by those who are unconverted or whose lives are not what they should be.

It is remembered that this prayer league came as a result of the meeting held here by Dr. Black in November. This and the indebtedness felt to him was referred to Sunday and a committee consisting of Messrs. A. L. Moseley, W. E. Hooker and B. S. Warren, was appointed to write a testimonial to Dr. Black expressing appreciation of his work here.

The meeting next Sunday afternoon will be held in the Methodist church. Subject: "Sabbath Observation." Text, Ex. 20:8-11 and Isa. 58:13-14. Leaders, Messrs. E. G. Flanagan, Harry White and F. M. Wooten.

All men who want to spend an hour Sunday afternoons with interest and profit should attend these meetings.

MRS. CHERRY IN KINSTON

Delights the People with Her Dialect Entertainment.

Mrs. Ada Cherry, of Greenville, gave one of her dialect entertainments in Kinston, Friday night, and the Free Press makes the following reference to it:

Those who failed to attend the library benefit last night in the opera house missed one of the best entertainments that has been given in Kinston in many a day. Mrs. Cherry as an interpreter of the negro, proved herself a master hand and had those who knew the negro but closed their eyes they had not been able to tell but that a real "fore de war" darkey was taking. She showed not only a knowledge of the dialect, but a keen insight into the negro character that rendered her sketches all the more natural. It was really the best thing in the line that has ever been given in Kinston. One sat and wondered, as Mrs. Cherry was reading, whether one's eyes were telling the truth or not for the days of some time since with the true old character, seemed too real and close. Her work is truly marvelous and that of a genius.

The funniest thing about some people is the fact that they think they are funny.

Hanging to your own money first and next to other people's is being a genius at finance.

Ignorance always seems to think that the knowledge which disagrees with it is just prejudice.

ROBBEY CATARRH.

Steals Energy and Will Power From its Victims.

Catarrh robs its victims of energy—some physicians say of will power. That may be the reason why thousands of catarrh sufferers haven't ambition enough to accept this fair and square offer by Coward & Wooten makes without any whys and wherefores or red tape of any kind. Coward & Wooten guarantees HYOMEI to cure catarrh, acute or chronic, or money back, and that offer is open to every reader of The Reflector.

HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) is the purest Australian Eucalyptus combined with Thymol and other germ killing antiseptics.

Pour a few drops into the small test pocket HYOMEI inhaler and then breathe it into the lungs over the inflamed membrane infested with catarrh germs.

It is pleasant to use—it kills the germs, soothes the sore membrane, and cures catarrh; if it doesn't your money back.

A bottle of HYOMEI costs 50 cents at Coward & Wooten's and druggists everywhere. A complete outfit, which includes a bottle of HYOMEI, a hard rubber inhaler and simple instructions for use costs $1.00.

A New Industry.

The prospect is that the next few years will see a new industry assume considerable proportions in this great southern country. This will mean a vast improvement in conditions, mean large financial gain for southern farmers, who are beginning to be interested in cattle feeding. For the past few years, especially since something of the value of cotton seed meal and hulls as feed has become generally recognized, cattle growing has been on the increase on the farms of this section and more and more farmers are breeding pure-bred cattle. As a natural result, the farmers who are raising cattle are the owners of the most productive farms, the manure from cow stables being the best manure procurable anywhere. The fattening of cattle for the market, however, is something comparatively new here and is attracting not a little attention.

The results of long and careful investigation of the question of animal nutrition show that as a score of digestible protein and fat cotton seed meal stands unrivaled. In proportion to its cost per ton it furnishes these elements in the cheapest form available to the farmer. While it is now always desirable with any of the foodstuffs mentioned, improving the feeding qualities of both and providing a more efficient ration than is now generally utilized. It is only a matter of a little time until every pound of this splendid food-stuff is used at home as it should be, and when this is done our live stock industries will receive a new impulse and the fertility of our lands be increased by reason of the rich manure secured from feeding all the cotton seed meal produced here at home—Durham Sun.

Wife Got Top Advice.

"My wife wanted me to take our boy to the doctor to cure an ugly boil," writes D. Frankel, of Stroud, Okla., "I said put Bucklen's Arnica Salve on it." She did so, and it cured the boil in a short time." Quickest healer of burns, scalds, cuts, corns, bruises, sprains, swellings. Best Pile cure on earth. Try it. Only 25 cents at all druggists.

Force Them to Speak Out.

The people should awake from their condition of slumber and force from all legislative and congressional candidates an expression of their views upon the important question pressing for consideration. The canvass for the United States senate will, we may rest assured, bring that out. But in regard to candidates for the legislature it will not apply unless the people are heard from in demand. Among the questions prominent are a legalized primary and votes on that proposition are of vital importance to the public welfare. We need a legalized primary modeled after that of the middle West, paid for by the state, protected by statute and open to all parties. We should also determine in the selection of candidates how this old Democratic state is going to stand on the income tax, now presented in the form of a constitutional amendment, a measure approved by Grover Cleveland warmly advocated by William J. Bryan, and to often favored in Democratic national and state platforms. There are other questions only less important which candidate should speak out on.—Rockbridge (Va.)

So he was put to calling trains in the station.

Mr. W. W. Moore Dead.

Information came to relatives by wire this morning announcing the death of Mr. W. W. Moore in Asheville. He was a native of Greenville, and a son of the late Mr. Marcellus Moore. He moved to Asheville several years ago, and is survived by one sister, Mrs. J. D. Murphy, who lives in that city. Many relatives and friends in Greenville regret his death.—Daily Reflector, Wednesday.

After hearing the opponents to the Greenville township road bill, Wednesday afternoon, the finance committee of the house voted to report the bill favorably. ## NOTES FROM THE UNIVERSITY.

Degrees to be Conferred Upon Survivors of the War.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Feb. 7.—At the 1911 commencement degrees will be conferred on those surviving students of the University of North Carolina who left Chapel Hill to enter the Confederate army before completing the course for the baccalaureate diploma. Of the 1331 men who matriculated at the University from 1851 to 1860, 759 are known to have been in the Confederate army and it is probable that there was not a single one of the 1331 who was physically incapacitated who did not see service. The freshman class of 1860 numbered 50 men and every one went into the war, one returning for his diploma after having been discharged because of physical inability. Thirty per cent. of the University men who went into the army were killed in service. Time has taken away many others in the years that have elapsed since 1865; but on the few remaining, their alma mater will honor herself by conferring the degrees for which they were candidates when they abandoned the college campus for the tented field.

Dr. J. H. Pratt has been active before the present legislature in the interest of good road legislation.

Mr. Frank Hough, of Birmingham, Ala., has been elected editor-in-chief of The Tar Heel to succeed Mr. W. H. Jones, resigned.

The report of the University librarian, Dr. L. R. Wilson, shows the library to be in the most useful period of its existence.

Every member of last year's track team is back with the exception of Captain MacGregor Williams. Coach Cartmell will have the men hard at work in a few days in the effort to put out a victorious team.

Carolina won from Wake Forest Friday night 31 to 23 in a game of basketball that was fierce from start to finish. Throughout the second half it was anybody's game. The score was in two points of a tie more than once. Wake Forest knew more basket ball but Carolina seemed to get the points when they had to have them.

FOUR TO DIE THIS MONTH.

February Will See the Execution of Four Condemned Criminals.

There are in the death list at the State's prison four men to be electrocuted this month. Philip Mills, on next Friday, February ten; Nathan Montague, on Wednesday February fifteen; Charles B. Pyle, on Friday, February seventeen; James B. Allison, on Friday, February twenty-four. Norman Lewis has taken an appeal in his case and the death roll was increased on Friday, when J. C. Holly of Wilmington, was sentenced to be electrocuted on April seven for murdering Edward Cromwell by giving him strychnine.

Philip Mills, who is to be electrocuted on Friday next, is a negro of Transylvania county. He was convicted of killing his wife on September 23, 1910, and was sentenced on November 23. He followed his wife into the home of their cousin, where there were some words, and the woman, with her baby in her arms, ran from the house. Mills followed and picked up his gun, which he had set down at the door. He ran down the woman and struck her over the head with his gun, breaking off the stock. Then he crushed her skull with the Charles B. Pyle, of Union county, a white man, convicted of murder, is to be electrocuted on Friday, February seventeen.

James B. Allison, white, of Buncombe county, convicted of murder, is to be electrocuted on Friday, February twenty-four. He is the man who has stated that he desired to have the date of his death advanced.

Norman Lewis, the negro who killed the chief of police of Spring Hope, was to have been electrocuted this month, but an appeal is pending in the Supreme court.—News and Observer.

JEHOSEPHAT'S ONE MISTAKE

II Chronicles 17:1-13—January 29

"Seek ye first the Kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."—Matt. 6:33.

W HILE Ahab was king of Israel, Jehoshaphat succeeded to the throne of Judah. He had the advantage that his parents were godly people—a great advantage. As suggested in our last study, the iniquity and idolatry of Israel reacted favorably upon Judah, just as the drunkenness and profligacy of a parent sometimes reacts upon his children, who perceive his folly and learn by mistakes. Moreover the idolatry of Israel, which drove its most saintly characters of all the tribes to Judah, carried a latter notion in moral tone and character. This included all of the priests and evites who were still loyal to God and to the worship which he had established.

Encouraged thus, the young king began a general crusade against every idolous place and custom in his kingdom. Ahab exceeded his father Omri as an idolater, so Jehoshaphat exceeded his father Asa as an upholder of the Divine law. Indeed we remember that in Asa's ten years he became proud and self-sufficient and in a measure for a time rebelled against the Divine arrangements.

Prosperity in Divine Favor
Jehoshaphat's kingdom prospered. He fortified his various boundaries, especially toward the land of Israel, Judah's nearest neighbor. Neighboring smaller nations sought Judah's favor and for it paid tribute and presents.

Our Golden Rule refers to the Kingdom to which spiritual Israelites are now invited. To seek it means to seek a place with the Redeemer in the glory and power of his coming Kingdom. Those who seek it may apparently lose in temporal advantages, but by faith they recognize that all things, even trials, difficulties and privations, are working together for good to their spiritual advantage, preparing them for the Kingdom.

The fortifying of Judah.
Jehoshaphat and his kingdom, however, prosperity was a sign of favor because Judah still represented God's chosen nation in a special manner. According to God's Covenant with them they would be blessed in proportion as they maintained their loyalty to their agreement—their loyalty to God.

But this promise or Covenant was not made with mankind in general, but merely with the one nation of Israel, which, at the time of our study, was specially represented by the Kingdom of Judah. If we would see that righteousness does not always bring peace and worldly prosperity, we have only to look at the Master himself and at his most faithful followers to see the contrary. Moreover this is the Master's assurance to his followers: "In the world ye shall have tribulation, but in me ye shall have peace."

But when Messiah's reign shall begin, all this will be changed and every wrong act and word and thought will receive prompt punishment, and every good effort will be rewarded and encouraged. Thus the Scriptures declare, "When the judgments (righteous dealings) of the Lord are abroad in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness." The blessed opportunity of that time will belong to all mankind except the Church. The specially called class of this Age have the special blessing of hearing ears and understanding hearts and a call to the heavenly portion—the "High Calling."

Thus, my dear readers, we see that our trials and difficulties, rightly appreciated and accepted, are blessings for us, because they thus work out for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory—than the world will receive. The highest rewards for the world will be resurrection, earthly—to attain perfect manhood. Thus we see God's promise in Christ to be eternal human life for mankind in general, and eternal life for one spirit plane for the elect Church, and eternal death for those who, after experiencing to the full Divine mercy and opportunity, shall sin wilfully.

Jehoshaphat's One Mistake

Like others, this king, no doubt, made many mistakes, blunders, but his most important mistake was in affiliating with Ahab, king of Israel. There is a lesson here for all of God's people.

Do not unceremoniously yoked together with unbelievers—neither by marriage ties nor by business, partnership and close friendships. "What communion hath light with darkness?"—2 Cor. 6:14-18.

Ahab made war and invited Jehoshaphat to go with him. It was expected to be an easy conquest, but the Lord's blessing was not with it, as Jehoshaphat later learned, especially largely with his life. But his still earlier mistake was in affiliating between his son and the daughter of Ahab and Jezebel. No doubt he considered this a wise method of ultimately reunifying the two kingdoms—but it was worldly wisdom—foolishness—contrary to the wisdom from above. The Lord's disapproval of Jehoshaphat's fellowship with Ahab was indicated. The Prophet was sent to him, saying, "Shouldst thou help the ungodly and love them that hate the Lord? Therefore wroth is upon thee from before the Lord."—2 Chron. 19:2.

Our Golden Rule refers to the Kingdom to which spiritual Israelites are now invited. To seek it means to seek a place with the Redeemer in the glory and power of his coming Kingdom. Those who seek it may apparently lose in temporal advantages, but by faith they recognize that all things, even trials, difficulties and privations, are working together for good to their spiritual advantage, preparing them for the Kingdom.

OFFICERS ARREST NEGRO
THEY WERE AFTER

But He Is John Teel and Not Louis West.

Policeman George Clark, who was with the posse over in Greene county searching for the negro supposed to be Louis West, the Wilson murderer, telephoned Sheriff S. I. Dudley this afternoon that the negro had been captured and he was now on the way with him to Greenville. But the negro captured is not Louis West but is John Teel. Teel is the negro who tried to escape from Deputy Sheriff Dudley in the court house, about three years ago and was shot in the heel by the officer. After serving a term of imprisonment then he got this county, and last week he escaped from the Perquimans county jail, where he was serving a term. He will be sent back there.

The Silo for Dairyman.

Says H. E. McNatt, of the dairy department of the University of Missouri:

This is the time of year when the dairyman or dairy farmers, who own a silo likes to talk about silage. Good silage comes as near being pure pasture in January, as any feed with which the dairyman is familiar, is succulent or juicy nature especially fit it for stimulating the milk flow, and keeping the cow in vigorous health.

Probably the most important rule in the profitable dairy is to keep the cows' milk flowing as freely as possible after the flow has once been started by parturition or calf-birth. To do this demands right feeding and good care. Silage is almost necessary to right feeding. Silage is a

The Facts About Pe-ru-na.

Is Peruna an alcoholic beverage in disguise? Is it possible to use Peruna as a substitute for whiskey? Do people buy Peruna and use it as a toddy or a bitters, or a brewer?

It would be the easiest thing in the world for any one to demonstrate the falsity of such statements. Let any one go to the drug store and purchase a bottle of Peruna. Let him undertake to use it as a beverage, or take this remedy in doses considerably larger than those prescribed on the bottle. Would the result be alcoholic intoxication? Nothing of the sort. Let any one try it and see.

Peruna is a medical compound quite heavily loaded with medicinal ingredients. If taken in doses larger than prescribed it would produce a positive drug effect. No one could take it as a beverage. If any one doubts these statements, try it and see. We know that Peruna cannot be used as a beverage; that it will not intoxicate; that it cannot be used as a substitute for Hooch. We guarantee that PERUNA CONTAINS NO CHEAP WHISKEY—OR ANY OTHER WHISKEY, for that matter.

It contains a small per cent. of cognole spirits, absolutely essential to dissolve and hold in solution medicinal ingredients, but the drugs contained in Peruna prohibit its use as a beverage. It would be the easiest thing in the world for any one to demonstrate this if they chose to do so.

Peruna is sold everywhere. THE INGREDIENTS ARE PLAINLY PRINTED ON EACH BOTTLE. It has been said over and over again that chemists have analyzed Peruna and found it to contain only cubeb and whiskey. Now we challenge any chemist to demonstrate any such statement. Let any one who has even a smattering knowledge of chemistry purchase a bottle of Peruna and see whether or not it contains whiskey, find out for himself whether or not it is composed of cheap whiskey and cubeb. Of course, cubeb is one of the ingredients of Peruna, but there are many other ingredients. It contains hydrastis canadensis, corydalis formosa, collinsonia, and at least four other medicinal ingredients. To be sure, no chemist could so analyze Peruna as to be able to identify the various medicinal ingredients. This is beyond the ability of any chemist. But any ordinary chemist would be able to say that Peruna is heavily loaded with medicinal ingredients of some kind in addition to cubeb.

Now why are these statements repeated when their falsity could be so easily demonstrated? Simply because there is continued hostility toward Peruna on the part of the medical profession. Very likely the magazines which took up the crusade against Peruna and denounced it as a cheap beverage were misled by statements of the medical profession. Probably they were sincere in their attitude towards it. But now, after all these things have been said and refuted, it would seem to be in order for such people to use a little fairness and common sense in the matter.

Every time any one says that Peruna is nothing but cheap whiskey and cubeb he is telling a lie, an absolute falsehood. Most people intend to speak the truth. But the prevalent habit of repeating other people's statements, without investigation as to their truth, has led many well-meaning people to say these false things about Peruna.

Used according to the directions on the bottle, PERUNA IS A SAFE AND RELIABLE CATARRH REMEDY, but, like any other good medicine, if taken in excess of those doses, it will produce drug effects very unpleasant to the person who takes it.

It is therefore up to every honest person to quit making such statements concerning Peruna, or acknowledge that he is repeating slanders about which he knows nothing. One might just as well say that Castor Oil is an intoxicant; that if taken in large enough doses it will operate as a "bacco." If people never tried to see, but simply repeated such statements about Castor Oil, the majority of people would come to believe them. It is no easier to demonstrate such a statement about Castor Oil than it would be about Peruna.

Any one who takes Peruna knows that such statements are false. Today that Peruna is cheap whiskey and cubeb may constitute good material for jokes on the vaudeville stage, but there is no excuse for any one who pretends to be truthful saying over again this oft-repeated falsehood.

cheap feed to put up, and valuable to use. It is grown on the farm, other way we know.—Baltimore Sun

This fact is of importance in this day of high-priced feeds.

Feed what a few Missouri dairymen have recently said about silos and silage.

Messrs. J. R. White & Son, near Aurora, Missouri, say: "We consider silage one of the best feeds we ever used to keep up the milk flow in winter. Since we began feeding silage we have never had a cow off feed and we are feeding a cow all she will eat."

Mr. John Heamer, proprietor of the well known Heamer farm near Marshfield, Mo., has to say: "Have a silo by all means. If intending to get into the dairy business and don't have a silo, stay out. If dairying and are not figuring on a silo, get out. For in either case, the modern dairy methods of the fellow who has and uses the silo will put you out."

Shopard Brothers, of Hughesville, Mo., say this: "A silo is one of the very best things a man can invest his money in if he is in the dairy business. You can get more feed for

Good Roads and Incomes.

In the educational campaign which is now being conducted in favor of good roads the very freest discussion of ways and means of attaining the desired end should be invited. The issue of bonds for road purposes by any particular county is a subject which should be discussed with reference to local circumstances and not along the lines of glittering generalities. Advocates and opponents of such issues are rendering important public service when they give their neighbors the results of careful observation and sound reasoning. In this connection an interesting communication appeared recently in the Lumberton Robesonian from the pen of a citizen who appears to endorse the plan of the rural letter carriers' association, which contemplates the division of the road into short sections to be let to responsible bidders to maintain in first-class condition. The Robesonian's correspondent prefers this plan to that which calls for bonds, believing that such oversight would result in better roads and vastly less disturbance of labor.

In support of this contention it is argued that increased value of farm lands may be a burden rather than an assistance to the agricultural proprietor. "As to the increased valuation of farmers' land, taxes are high enough now and if the value is doubled will not the tax be doubled? If a farm is now valued at $1,000 and the value is increased to $2,000 will not the owner have to pay tax on $2,000? Will the doubling of the valuation increase the production any? Such an increase in valuation will increase taxes but not income."

This argument overlooks the fact that income may be increased by a diminution of expenses as well as by an actual increase in the crops. Pushed to its logical extreme it would offer a barrier to all improvements which might increase taxable values. The crops raised upon the farm may not vary greatly in size whether its money value is $1,000 or $2,000 but cost of production and cost of marketing will influence net income quite as materially as the number of bushels raised. With modern highways, we believe that such an increase in taxable values would result in benefit to the farmer rather than the contrary. The initial cost of raising the crop would be lowered by the greater facility with which his necessary traveling would be done. His net profit from its sales would be enhanced by the lessening of the expense of marketing.—Charlotte Observer.

Treason to One's Conscience.

Here is something from the Greensboro Daily News that is well worth pondering over:

"We heard several members of the legislature say they were opposed to the income tax amendment; but they voted for it because it was the party program. Partisanship fits too tight when it prevents a man doing what he believes is honest and right."

Rather a serious charge made by our contemporary, and its deductions are also rather serious. We know nothing of the former, but, in our opinion, our friend is unequivocally right in the latter. We believe in a legislator, or a congressman or any other individual standing by his pledges, and standing-up for his party, but we can't conceive of any man, feeling right in his own mind in voting for some measure he does not believe is right. This does not apply to the man who makes promises, or who stands on a platform, which has explicit planks relative to different matters because a man who would make such promises and stand on such a platform when he thinks another way would vote anyway he pleased without regard to right and wrong and with no attention to his conscience, although his conscience must prick him sorely in the days that follow. But it does apply to any one who views new matters, not explicitly specified before hand, in a portlan light. There are many matters that come-up before legislatures and before congress upon which party lines are tightly drawn, merely because of antagonism, and when such is done the interest of the people suffers. Whatever promises Democratic legislators made to their constituents, whatever the Democratic platform stands for Democratic legislators should try to fulfill, and the same applies to Republican legislators, but on other questions—and there are numerous ones—political capital should not be tried for. What all Tar Heels should desire, without regard to drawing party lines, should be the advancement of the Old North State.—Wilmington Dispatch.

How Senators Are Actually Made.

There are those who fall back upon the constitution provision and declare that the plan devised by the founders of the government is still good enough. But they forget the fact—or choose to ignore it—that our present way of electing senators is grotesquely different from that which the constitution prescribes and intends. The constitution intends, and means to prescribe, that the entire legislature, including every individual member of it, shall take part in the actual choice of a United States senator. As a matter of fact, under the existing system, a senator is usually not chosen by the legislature in any true sense. He is chosen by the party caucus of the party which has a majority of the members of the two houses of the legislature on joint ballot. It is regarded, under the present system, as virtually necessary for legislators elected in the usual way on a party ticket to enter the party caucus and to abide by the result. Thus, is the legislature has 150 members, of whom 76 are Democrats and 74 are Republicans, it is the almost invariable opinion of strict party men that the majority choice of the Democratic caucus ought to be promptly accepted by the entire legislature. Under this system, every one of the 74 Republican votes must be thrown away. They will be expanded upon a complimentary vote for some Republican who cannot by any chance be elected. If the Democratic caucus should be closely divided between two candidates—the one representing, as is so frequently the case, the private choice of the machine or boss, and the other representing a decent public opinion and some regard for the traditions of statesmanship—it is nevertheless the doctrine of the party man that if the machine candidate can be forced through the caucus by a majority of a single vote, every man who has gone into the caucus must accept the result and the man must be elected in the face of an outraged public opinion. Thus 39 men would control a legislature of 150 men.—Review of Reviews.

ONE FOR GOOD ROADS OTHER SAYS "QUIRKS"

TWO COMMUNICATIONS ON THIS IMPORTANT QUESTION

SHOULD BE SERIOUSLY CONSIDERED

Mr. Jenkins Strongly Points Out the Advantages of Good Roads With Reasons—Mr. King Says Proposed Bill Has "Quirks," Principally the New Registration.

Greenville, N. C., Feb. 2, 1911.

Editor Reflector:

I wish to give, through the columns of your paper, a few reasons, which I consider sound, in favor of the bond issue for the improvement of the public roads of Greenville township.

1st—As to the value of the proposed sand-clay road, a sample of which we have leading about two miles out on the old plank road. I have been living on this road for several years prior and subsequent to the improvement of it, and while it has had practically no attention since it was built, there has never been a day but what it was a very good road. Before this road was improved, the teams with heavy loads coming in were usually wringing wet, or covered with foam, whereas now the same teams come along in a trot with the heaviest loads easier than they could with empty wagons before.

2nd—As to the cost to the tax payers between the present system and the one proposed, the present road tax is 15c for $100 valuation, and every able-bodied man living in the county is subject also to work the public roads 6 days every year, or pay from $6 to $9 for a man to take his place. In addition to having roads of untold value to the community, the average country citizen will actually get out cheaper in dollars and cents than under the present system.

3rd—As to the objections advanced by so many of our most substantial business men. One of the most frequently heard of these is the possibility of the extravagant expenditure of the money, and consequent doubtful benefit to the community. The high character and undoubted business ability of the men elected to manage the funds, given it seems to me, all reasonable assurance of its honest and intelligent expenditure. In addition to this, practically all of this money will be spent for material and labor in the township, and will stay here for the use and benefit of the community, and in this one item alone, will be of enough benefit to our section to pay double the interest on the improvement bonds. In proof of the value of money when in active use, witness the splendid showing made by the three strong banks in our city.

4th—It is absolutely necessary to be progressive to keep up in this age of progress. Wilson county is building roads from that city to its borders in every direction, and these roads draw produce, travel and commerce of every description to their central point like a load stone. This is universally the effect which good roads, either rail or country, have upon their converging point.

J. J. JENKINS.

Bond Quicks.

Editor Reflector:

The proposed bond bill for Greenville township good (?) roads, contains a number of "quirks" and I ask space in your paper to say a few words about only one. Now, I want to state a few plain facts:

The "quirk" which I refer to is the registration. There is neither fairness nor justice in that provision. It is simply a method of getting rid of a large number of voters. Thousands and thousands of promises were made in 1909, that no white man should be disfranchised, etc. Now it is said a man disfranchises himself, when a stumbling block that he fails to overcome, is put between him and the ballot.

Despite all the publishing, talking speaking and discussion of the bond matter, many will never know they must register again if they wish to vote. In fact, unless all precedents stand for naught, efforts may be expected to be made along this line. At practically every election since the amendment requiring new registrars many have been thus disfranchised.

I am familiar with all the rot about a man disfranchises himself, and how it is worked. And if it is to be another "dozen eggs" tax, why not incorporate in the bill that every man who takes a dozen eggs to the tax collector should have a clear receipt from all road bond tax?

If the promoters want to be fair, strike out that new register business. Now, I am just writing in the interest of the poor, working, non-reading man, and am not asking any controversy. I may not ask to trespass upon your space again.

VIEWED FROM THE OTHER SIDE.

Opposed to Election on Bond Issue For Good Roads.

Editor Reflector:

The writer has hesitated to mix in with the Reflector on a question which seems to be pretty well fixed with the sentiment of its editorial columns, well knowing that it is bad policy to try to shoot an assailant with his own gun, but it seems to me that the position of the bond agitators is soaring into such ethereal atmosphere that something ought to be done to call their attention to a few facts before they melt their wax in the rays of the evening sun.

The writer also recognizes that an argument with a newspaper is not unlike one with a woman, and therefore is prepared to have the paper say the last word.

It sounds somewhat strange to hear the advocates of the bond bill accusing those who oppose it of being afraid of the electorate—especially so, when in the meeting that brought forth the bill and a motion was made to defer the matter until the general public could be apprised of the step proposed, those who dad-died the bill voted the motion down, and that, too, in face of the fact that only forty-eight hours notice had been given of the meeting and half of that time extended over a Sunday. On the other hand when those who opposed the measure called a meeting, there assembled in the town hall in response thereto about the largest crowd exclusively of white people that has ever assembled therein since it was built, and no one seemed to be afraid of the people gathered there. In the light of all this, who is it that is afraid of the people?

How really amusing it is to look at the pious attitude of the bond bill advocates, after they have loaded the pistols—one with paper wads for the use of the people and the other with lead which they propose to fight with, parading before the camp of the Israelites and loudly challenging them to battle!

In order to have a fair fight, Mr. Editor, why not give both sides the same weapons? Why should a new registration be required for the election proposed, when it has been so short a time since the general election? Men who voted then, are certainly qualified now. Why should the trouble and expense of a new registration be incurred? And further, Mr. Editor if we lick you fair in one battle, why should the county be put to the cost of holding elections for your convenience just to see if your fever has gone up since the last walloping?

It seems to me that your idea of a fair fight to decide a matter, is to give you the best and most advantageous weapon, and then amend the usual rules of combat so as to give you as many trials at the plum as suits your desires. This is sometimes done when a big boy jumps on a little one, for the little fellow's benefit, but it is a new wrinkle in the code of grown folks to follow any such procedure, especially when the fellow who starts the fight claims to have the best side.

If the daddies of the bond bill will please come down off their lofty perch at the top of the hen house, and wait a fair fight, and will take the responsibility of putting the county to the useless expense of calling the election, let them take out of the bill now pending before the legislature the clause that calls

The Origin of Royster Fertilizers.

Mr. Royster believed that success awaited the Manufacturer of Fertilizers who would place quality above other considerations. This was Mr. Royster's idea Twenty-seven years ago and this is his idea to-day; the result has been that it requires Eight Factories to supply the demand for Royster Fertilizers.

MEETING

Of County Teachers Next Saturday, February 11th.

The Teachers' Association of Pitt county will hold its February meeting next Saturday. The meeting will be held in the auditorium of the East Carolina Teachers' Training School.

The officers of the association take much pleasure in announcing the program, as it is the best one we have yet been able to arrange. It will be composed of two addresses, one by Dr. George D. Strayer, of the department of education in Teachers' College of Columbia University, New York. The other address will be by Mr. A. S. Cook, superintendent of schools, Baltimore county, Baltimore, Md.

It is very seldom that we have the opportunity of having such men as Dr. Strayer and Supt. Cook. Dr. Strayer enjoys a national reputation in the sphere of education. His books have a wide sale, and his opinions are respected and quoted throughout the United States.

Superintendent Cook, of the Baltimore county schools, is well known as one of the ablest county superintendents in America. His count is regarded as having among the best organized and managed schools in the country.

We cannot too strongly urge upon the teachers of the county the importance of this meeting. If you have never before attended a county teachers' meeting, be sure to attend the meeting next Saturday. It will be a splendid opportunity to hear two of the best educators in the United States.

We are hopeful of having all of the teachers present. Visitors will be welcome and we hope to have many of our citizens with us.

H. B. SMITH,
Pres. Pitt Co. Teachers' Association.
W. H. RAGSDALE,
County Superintendent of Schools

STUDYING DRAINAGE.

Young Man Preparing Along Practical Lines.

Mr. B. B. Everett, brother of R. O. Everett, former city attorney and law partner of Judge James S. Manning, has been here on a visit preparatory to going to the University of Wisconsin for the purpose of studying the subject of drainage. Mr. Everett has attended the A. and M. and is a graduate of that school. He desires to pursue a subject that is interesting the east a great deal. He is a farmer, the son of a farmer, and one who means to make the most of a technical education.—Durham Cor. News and Observer.

The young man referred to is also a brother of Mr. S. J. Everett, of Greenville, and has visited here. The knowledge of drainage he is seeking will put him in position to be of great service to his section when he returns.

DEATH OF WILLIAM W. MOORE.

Popular Young Man Succumbs After Brave Battle.

The death at 3 o'clock this morning of William Wallace Moore at the home of his sister, Mrs. J. D. Murphy on Montford avenue came as a shock to a large circle of friends in Asheville. Mr. Moore had been in failing health for the past several years and while some of his intimate friends realized that he was a very sick man others were not aware that his condition was so critical. Mr. Moore came to Asheville from eastern North Carolina nearly 20 years ago. He was appointed a clerk in the Asheville post-office by former Postmaster J. P. Kerr in 1893, and had been in the service here continuously for almost 18 years. At the time of his death Mr. Moore was superintendent of city carriers and city distributors.

"Billy" Moore, as he was familiarly known among a large circle of friends, was a fine fellow. He was a gentleman in every sense of the word; a friend, one might say, to everyone. His was a gentle nature. He was free from malice or hatred and ever delighted to do a friend a service. In June, 1908, when the great struggle for the Democratic nomination for governor of North Carolina between Mr. Craig and Mr. Kitchin was on at Charlotte, Mr. Moore over-exerted himself in the cause of Mr. Craig. He became enthusiastic, as almost everybody else did at that time, and his vocal organs practically gave way. For months and months after the convention Mr. Moore could not speak above a whisper. In fact, he never entirely regained his voice. The strain during those convention days evidently weakened his constitution and at times since then Mr. Moore found it necessary to cease work for days at a time. However, he was on duty not so long ago, and as usual, was cheerful and hopeful. Mr. Moore was born March 26, 1872, and was therefore almost 39 years of age. He was a staunch and sterling Democrat. His friends in Asheville were numbered by the hundreds.—Asheville Citizen, Feb. 8th.

SUGGESTIONS ON CORN CROP WORK

How Our Farmers Can Obtain the Best Results the Coming Year in Selection and Cultivation

Editor Reflector:

I read in the Daily Reflector recently a call from Prof. W. H. Ragsdale to all the boys, members of the corn club of 1910, and those who desire to become members in 1911, to a meeting to be held in Greenville on February 18th. I wish to add to that call an invitation to the fathers of the boys. We want to give all the encouragement to the boys that we can, for the boys of today are to be the men of tomorrow. As agriculture is the foundation of our future prosperity, it is essential that we do all we can to educate our boys along that line.

The great American grain food for men and stock is corn, and by using good methods in preparing and cultivating our lands, we can very easily make all the corn we need on our farms. I have been in the demonstration work in this county two years, and my observation and experience has taught me that we can make 50 bushels of corn where we are now making 15 bushels. I had numbers of men on my work last year who made 75 bushels, and some as high as 110 bushels on high land.

There are four things that are essential to good farming:

1. Drainage. Where land is full of water it shuts out the sun and air, and no plant can grow in cold, wet seed bed.

2. Deep Breaking. When we break to 3 or 4 inches we may expect a 3 or 4 inch crop. Experiments have shown that corn sends some of its roots 3 or 4 feet deep where the soil is porous. Furthermore, in case of excessive rains the water sinks below the roots of the plants, and in dry seasons allows the roots to go down and get moisture.

3. Humus. Without humus we can never get the results our lands are capable of producing. It is especially necessary to have humus in our soil to get the best results from commercial fertilizers. I believe the farmers of our county use every year thousands of dollars' worth of fertilizers that does them practically no good, because of not using it intelligently. Right here I want to say we should study the fertilizer problem more, and the practical application of fertilizers to the soil.

4. Last, but not least, the selection of good seed. I have men on my work in this county who in paying close attention to the selection of their seed have improved their corn from an ordinary one-eared variety to a very good two-eared variety. We should always select our seed corn from the field, for then we can get the right type of ear from the right type of stalk. When we select our corn from the barn, we do not know whether it grew on a one-eared stalk or a two-eared stalk. In my work I have gotten the best results in every instance where the prolific corn was planted.

We will have with us the 18, Mr. C. R. Hudson, the head of the demonstration work in this State and Mr. I. O. Schaub, the head of the boys' corn club work. We desire that the boys and men will bring with them some corn, and the gentlemen above mentioned will go over the exhibits and help them select the best ears for planting.

JOHN EVANS.

GREETINGS FROM CALIFORNIA.

Mr. T. F. Christman Writes From the Golden State.

The editor is in receipt of a letter from Mr. T. F. Christman, at Taolunmo, Cal., and while it is mainly personal, we know his host of friends here will be glad to read the extracts from it given below:

"I have been receiving The Reflector for sometime, and enjoy it more than I have words to tell. It carries me back to the good old times when I was there and spent some of the happiest days of my life. I was very sorry to learn of the death of 'Hen.' Blow. With all his faults, he had some noble traits of character. There are not many of the boys left now that were members of the band when I joined it in 1880.

"I am glad to see that Greenville is still improving, and if you can only get a few factories there to give employment to your people, which you are advocating so earnestly, you will be right up with the best of them.

"Now that I am settled for some time to come, you will please continue to send me The Reflector to January 1st, 1912. Trusting this will find you well and prosperous, and wishing you success in making The Reflector still better as the years go by, I will close with regards to the force and best wishes to all."

MONTAGUE ELECTROCUTED.

Pays The Penalty of His Most Brutal Crime.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 15.—Nathan Montague, a negro, was electrocuted in the State penitentiary here at 10.30 o'clock this morning. The negro's crime was a most brutal one. He murdered J. L. Sanders, of Granville county, his daughter, Mary Sanders, and little grand daughter, Irene Overton, also committing criminal assault upon Miss Sanders. After the murder and assault he robbed and burned the house. The crime was committed in December.
