Community Spirit Would Help Pitt County

by A. J. MOYE

Farmville, N. C., April 18, 1911
Editor Reflector:
As I think the line of co-operation suggested by me in my last article to you is really important to the well being of our county, I desire to explain it more fully
Those who live in, say, Smithtown might devote their energies to raising Poland China hogs and Rhode Island Red chickens. Those upon the New Road might busy themselves with Tomroth hogs and Brown Leghorn chickens.
The people of Marlton and vicinity might fancy Denoc Jersey hogs, Angus cattle and black Minorca chickens.

Grimesland might devote her energies to raising, Berkshire hogs Jersey cattle and Barred Plymouth Rock chickens and a few bronze turkeys.
Up in Lewiston, Holstein cattle, Yorkshire hogs, white Wyandotte chickens and Pekin ducks might commend themselves to their energetic people.
Over the creek might prefer native hogs, scrub cattle, a variety of chickens and geese.
Each community might strive to out-do the others, and at the county fair put some choice animals and fowls upon exhibition. Would not the rivalry be more intense and the enjoyment of the visitors and the exhibitors be keener and more uplifting?

Don't you know if these people could be induced to do as I have suggested that we would soon have one of the best county fairs in the state, and that buyers of good stock would be on hand to secure our best specimens at fancy prices?
Besides the community spirit, would be developed pride in one's surroundings would grow. The boys and girls would take an interest in the farm, in the school, in the church, and I assure you that things would move and move in the proper direction.

I am exceedingly anxious for Pitt county to take the lead in some good thing, and that is why I am such an advocate of the boys' corn clubs and why I wish at least eleven of them be furnished a free trip to Washington City for honest endeavor.
I realize that this idea will die unless some assistance is rendered. Will not some one who sees possibilities in it please write an article commending it? If there is such a one, please come to my rescue. I would be pleased to have some wise patriotic lady write a short piece along the same line.
A. J. MOYE.

PROGRAM FOR N. C. U. 1911 COMMENCEMENT

GOVERNOR WOODROW WILSON, And Other Prominent Men Are the Speakers.

Chapel Hill, N. C., April 17.—The University of North Carolina Record for April containing Alumni Bulletin No. 7, just issued, has the program for the 1911 commencement, which is as follows: Commencement exercises will begin on Saturday May 27, and end on Tuesday, May 30. The order of exercises will be as follows: Saturday, May 27, 10:30, Senior class day exercises; 12:00, senior orations; 7:30 joint banquet of the Literary societies Sunday, May 28, 11:00, Baccalaureate sermon by the Right Rev. Collins Denry, bishop of the M. E. church south. Monday, May 29, 10:30, Alumni reunions. The following classes will hold their reunions at this time: 1896, 1901, 1896, 1891, 1886, 1861, and the "war classes" (1862-1868), on whose members who left the University without graduating to enter the war degrees will be conferred; 12:30, business meeting of the Alumni; 1:30, Alumni luncheon; 8:00, meeting of the board of trustees; 8:30, annual commencement debate between representatives of the Philanthropic and Dialectic debating societies; 10:00, faculty reception. Tuesday, May 30, 10:30, Graduating exercises, including conferring of degrees on war classes; 12:00, commencement addresses by Woodrow Wilson, Governor of New Jersey.

This commencement will be notable for the presence and address of Gov. Wilson, who is so politically prominent that North Carolinians from all over the State are expected to attend for the prime purpose of forming first hand impression of their probable candidate for president of the United States next year. Ample provisions is being made to care for the expected crowd, and special and convenient schedules of trains are being arranged. A feature scarcely less noteworthy and attractive will be the presence of many of those students of the University who left to take part in the Civil war without completing their courses. In all, 120 men are known to be eligible for the degrees offered, and of these about 80 have signified their intention of being present. On account of the extra time thus necessitated in the graduating exercises, a slight change in the program provides that the senior orations on Saturday instead of forming a part shall come with the senior exercises of the graduating exercises as heretofore.

President Hadley of Yale has been selected to deliver the lectures on the McNair foundation next year. A very high standard has been set for these lectures by the men who have hitherto given them, and in this selection of the next lecturer the managers of the foundation evidently intend that the high standard shall be maintained. President Hadley was head of the scientific department of Yale before he became Yale's president, and contrasts in this respect with Dr. VanDyke, who delivered the lectures for 1911, and whose interests are purely literary.
Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, President of Cornell University, who is now in the South visiting Southern educational institutions, is expected to come to Chapel Hill next week and speak before the students and faculty of the University.
Rev. R. W. Hogue, pastor of the Episcopal church, has received a call to the pastorate of the church of the Ascension, Baltimore, and it is believed by many of his close friends that he will accept this flattering though merited offer. In his work among the University students Mr.

Hogue has made himself immensely popular, identifying himself closely with students interests, and it is only with great regret that his present charge will release him.
Big Cotton Crop Needed.
The New Orleans Picayune says that although the last cotton crop was approximately 12,000,000 bales, it has utterly failed to provide the supplies which the world's mills have required except at prices which have made it impossible for many of the mills, particularly those in the United States, to operate at a profit.
The short crops of recent years have not been the result of concerted curtailment of acreage. Unfavorable weather and the boll weevil have been mainly responsible for the short yield's. It is certain that farmers are determined to plant a large acreage this spring, and nothing on their part will be done to stand in the way of a large yield.
A large crop this year is actually and seriously needed to restore normal conditions in the cotton trade of the world particularly the manufacturing branch.—Charlotte Chronicle.

PITT COUNTY BOY WINS ORATORICAL MEDAL

LEADS A. & M. COLLEGE CONTEST

His Subject, "The Greatest Asset" Handled Admirably.

The Pullen and Leazer Literary societies of the A. and M. College held their annual oratorical contest yesterday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. J. L. Martin, of the Pullen Society, was president, and Mr. C. W. Lee, of the Leazer, was secretary.

The first speaker was Mr. W. R. Mann, whose subject was "The Defenselessness of the Pacific Coast." He discussed the present weakness, or rather unpreparedness of our coast defenses, and was in favor of stationing permanent troops along the Pacific Coast.

Mr. C. L. Cruse, of the Leazer, spoke on the subject "The Awakening of the South," especially the South, was his theme.

The development of the new world, especially the South, was his theme. The awakening along the lines of commercial and interior development were discussed, as well as the building up of the South after the Civil war.

"The Need of More Rapid Increase of Our Navy" was very convincingly discussed by Mr. T. H. Stafford, of the Pullen Society. He told of the development of the navies of other countries, and argued for a stronger navy, not only as a guarantee against invasion of American soil, but also as a protection of our commerce.

The medal for the best oration delivered, which is offered annually by President Hill, was won by Mr. J. P. Quinerly, of the Leazer Society. His subject was "The Greatest Asset," and in his oration he discussed the growth of our medical research—the discovery of the germ theory and other important strides in the improvement of public health.

At a meeting of the fans recently, George Dunkel was elected manager-captain and R. C. McCotter, treasurer.

SHOOTS NEGRO ON HIGHWAY.

Assailant Said He Thought He Was Shooting The Sheriff.

A few nights ago some negroes were engaged in a crap game in the shanty near the north end of the river bridge that was once used as a market. Another negro named Price was on his way home from town, and when about opposite the shanty, Fred Dixon, one of the crap shooters, opened fire on him with a pistol, striking him in the arm.

Mr. Quinerly, the winner of the medal, is a son of Mr. J. P. Quinerly, chairman of the board of county commissioners. He is one of the leading students of the A. and M. College and a boy of whom his county has the right to feel proud.

FREE LIST TARIFF BILL
REPORTED IN CONGRESS

THESE WILL HELP THE FARMER
Articles Named Are in Most Ordinary Use

By Wire to The Reflector.
Washington April 19.—Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee, today reported the house a free list tariff bill with favorable recommendation of the committee which contains one hundred or more articles. The items include agricultural implements, cotton, flour, bread, lumber, cereals, salt, saddles and harness, sewing machines and practically all important articles used by the farmer. The bill was reported from the ways and means committee by a strict party vote without amendment. The report charges the Republican party with having failed to keep its tariff pledges in support of the free list bill, in addition to Canadian reciprocity. It says while the Canadian reciprocity agreement is a desirable beginning of the greatly needed work of revising injurious tariff provisions, it cannot be expected unaided to afford more than a fragmentary and partial relief to the people. The report takes up item by item the articles put on the free list together with statistical data to show that the Democratic free list bill is in the interest of the farmer and will recompense him for any inequalities that may exist in the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

City Corporations.

After its first day's work the new commission government of Birmingham announced changes which mean an annual saving to the city treasury of about $32,000. The commissioners have not curtailed any administrative department and have cut no wages; they have simply eliminated sheer waste such as exists in all American city governments under the old plan but which no intelligently managed business concern would tolerate for a moment. In other words, they take the view that city administration is essentially a business affair, with the citizens as the stockholders. This is the position toward which the whole country has begun gradually coming around. Commission government without the right men and the right spirit may be no better than the plan which succeeds. Its adoption always means, however, that the citizens have awakened to the need of better things, and, with simplified machinery as the first requisite, are endeavoring to bring them about.—Charlotte Observer.

OLD TESTAMENT TIMES
BROOKLYN TABERNACLE
BIBLE STUDIES

TOO MUCH MONEY—FREE-WILL OFFERINGS ONLY
11 Kings 12:1-16—April 23
"Then the people rejoiced, for they offered willingly."—1 Chron. 29:2.

SIXTEEN years passed after the incidents of our previous study and found King Josiah in his twenty-third year. Already he had made suggestions to the priests respecting the repairs of the temple, which was considerably dilapidated, because the people were still half-hearted in the worship of Jehovah. The influence of the idolatry of surrounding nations was still upon them. Some of them still burned incense upon the altars of Baal.

Priests Poor Business Men
King Josiah found that allowing the priests to collect the money and therewith to repair the temple showed no results. Not every good-hearted man has executive ability. The record does not tell that the priests were dishonest in the use of the money collected for their affairs. Nor does it say that they spent the money unwisely. Possibly the people did not have confidence in the priests and did not give so freely on that account. However, the King noted the fact that the temple continued to be dilapidated and called for the priests and said to them, "Why repair ye not the breaches of the temple?" The answer of the priests is not given, but the King's mandate was, "Now, therefore take no more money from your acquaintances." The King passed over the matter as lightly and courteously as possible, without charging the priests with embezzlement or neglect.

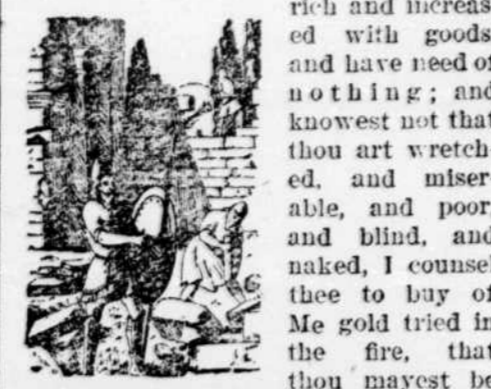

King Josiah repairing the temple.

Church Begging Doing Harm.
There is a lesson in this matter for us. The people like to see results. (1) They want to know that monies that are donated for benevolent purposes are not all absorbed for office expenses. (2) Voluntary offerings have the approval of both God and men, rather than offerings that are impudently, coaxed, begged, wheedled from saints and sinners. Everybody who gives to the Lord's cause is advantaged thereby; he not only forwards a benevolent cause, but stimulates and cultivates generosity in his own heart. It was our Lord who said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive"—where the giving is willing and voluntary.

Church begging is undoubtedly doing great harm. The remark has been made that the chief item of religion in some churches is begging for money—private solicitation, and also public solicitation, by the passing around of the collection box. Church fairs, church suppers, grab-bags, etc., etc., are still more reprehensible than the collection box and private solicitation. Some one has called such efforts the "milking of the goats." The Lord's people are supposed to be sheep; the world's people, goats.

Breaks in the Temple Wall
Viewing the spiritual temple we perceive that, outwardly, as represented by the magnificent churches of metropolitan cities, nothing more could be desired than what is now enjoyed. Describing the Church conditions of our day, the Scriptures portray our condition under the figure of the Laodicean Church, thus: "I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot; would thou wert cold or hot. So, then, because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spew thee out of My mouth. Because thou sayest, I am rich and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked, I counsel thee to buy of Me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich, and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eyesalve, that thou mayest see."—Rev. 3:15-18.

Joshua repairing the temple.

It is from the spiritual standpoint, therefore, that the temple of today needs to have repairs. Outwardly, the Church is rich; spiritually, she is poor. The majority of her educated, including ministers, have abandoned all faith in the Bible as the Word of God. Yet they are not known as infidels, but by the less harsh term, "Higher Critics," "Evolutionists."

The Duty of the Hour
Noting the spiritual impairment of the House of God, the Church, all who love the Lord and who worship Him should do their part, make their contribution, toward the improvement of these spiritual conditions. It is not to be left wholly in the hands of the clerical or priestly class. The people in general are to appreciate the situation and each delight to do his part in the rebuilding of the spiritual walls of Zion. Those spiritual walls consist of "the faith that was once delivered to the saints."

WASHINGTONIAN WINS
GREENVILLE BRIDE

THE ELLISON-BURCH MARRIAGE.
Beautiful Ceremony in Memorial Baptist Church.

At 8 o'clock this morning in Memorial Baptist church was solemnized a beautiful marriage in the joining of hearts and hands for life of Mr. James Ellison, of Washington and Miss Maida Lillian Burch, of Greenville, the ceremony being impressively performed by the pastor, Rev. C. M. Rock.

The church was tastily decorated with Easter lilies, potted plants and ferns. The windows were darkened and electric lights gave a soft glow to the pretty scene.

Just before the bridal party entered Mrs. W. L. Hall sang "Because" Then to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Lillian Carr, the bridal party marched up the aisle to their respective positions in the following order.

First came the ushers, Dr. A. C. Hoyt and Mr. E. K. Willis, Jr., of Washington, Mr. C. M. Warren, of Greenville and Mr. T. M. Owen, of Norfolk.

Following these were the bride's maids, Misses Hennie Whichard, Nancy Coward and Mattie Moye King, of Greenville and Susie Perry, of Kinston. These were each attired in dresses of white lingerie over blue messaline, with white hats, and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Next were the two dames of honor, Mrs. J. H. Hillary, of Philadelphia and Mrs. T. M. Hooker, of Greenville. Mrs. Hillary wore a costume of blue silk and carried white carnations. Mrs. Hooker wore her recent wedding dress of brocaded silk and carried white carnations.

Miss Helen Forbes, the maid of honor, wore white marquisette over blue messaline, with white hat, and carried white carnations.

As the bride with her brother, Master Ferral Burch, came up the aisle, the groom with his best man and brother, Mr. W. H. Ellison, of Washington, entered through the choir door and they met at the altar where their vows were exchanged and sealed with a ring.

The bride wore a handsome tan cloth suit with brown hat, gloves and shoes, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

The couple left on the 8:32 A. C. L. train for Norfolk, Baltimore and New York on a bridal tour before going to their home in Washington. The number of bridal presents they received was large and exceedingly beautiful and valuable.

The bride was one of Greenville's most attractive young ladies who is a favorite with every one, and the groom a popular young business man of Washington.

After a rehearsal in the church, Tuesday night, the bridal party was entertained by Mrs. W. L. Best at the home of her mother, Mrs. C. J. Forbes, on Evans street.

The home was prettily decorated, the hall in red and white and the various rooms in pink and white.

The guests were met at the front door by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Best, and were served with punch in the hall by Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Moye.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Forbes, and Mr. T. M. Owen, of Norfolk with Mrs. Helen Forbes received in the parlor, and here all were entertained with delightful music.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. B. Hadley received in the setting room, and in the dining room refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Quinerly and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Forbes. After the refreshments, the bride's cake was cut, this proving an event of much merriment. Miss Betsy Greene, of LaGrange, cut the thimble, Miss Hennie Whichard the dime and Mr. C. M. Warren the ring.

The Dangerous Fly.

A fly in a house is as dangerous as a rattlesnake, as filthy as a louse, as disgraceful as a bedbug. The cleanly home, will feel itself ashamed and disgraced by the presence of a fly, and when every housekeeper upon whose premises a brood of flies is detected will be fined heavily and sent to jail. The fly is a literal "eye of the Lord" because he is in every place, beholding evil and the good, especially the evil, for he loves to lay eggs in it. You can't hide dirt from a fly. He is also the most intimate and domestic animal we breed and keep. An ounce of cleanliness is worth a ton of fly paper and wire screens. One-half the money wasted on fly traps and window screens one-fourth the energy squandered in sloping and profanity would clean up the back yard and wipe out the filth.—EN.

THE VALUE OF GOOD SEED TO THE FARMER

PLANTING AFFECTS HARVEST.

Agricultural Department Will Make Free Tests of Seed Samples.

Now is the time the farmers of the state are preparing for the harvest time, which means the money they shall realize and upon which their living depends.

That there is a great difference in the farm seeds sold in the state is forcibly shown by the difference in the results of the analyses made at the seed testing laboratory of the department of agriculture, co-operating with the United States department.

Not only the loss of money paid for the seeds, which is really a small item, but the failure to obtain crops can be prevented by knowing the value of the seed which is planted.

Address all samples to the Seed Testing Laboratory, Department of Agriculture, Raleigh, N. C., with the retail price of seed and name and address of dealer from whom it was purchased.

Get A Victor.

The advertisement of A. B. Ellington tells you how, by the saving of the price of a few theatre tickets, you can hear the noted singers of the world, and entertain yourself and friends right in your home.

New Press Arrived.

The Reflector's new press arrived today by the Atlantic Coast Line. As soon as the tractor can get here the press will be installed on the ground floor of the building.

INTERESTING NEWS AROUND GRIMESLAND

A GRAND EASTER CANTATA.

School Tax Election Carried by Almost Unanimous Vote.

Grimesland, N. C., April 17.—Last night in the Disciple church the pupils of our Sunday school rendered a beautiful program in an Easter cantata "The Easter Heart."

Grimesland is full of consecrated women, who are known by their works, and their sacrifice of time and service, in everything tending to a moral and religious uplift of our people.

Grimesland took a forward step last Friday. Our special school tax election held on that day was carried by an overwhelming majority in favor of the tax.

Several ladies from this place went to Washington Friday to purchase spring hats and incidentally took in the carnival there last week.

Misses Earl and Susie Proctor came home Friday evening from Carolina Christian College, where they are attending school, to spend Easter.

Mr. W. T. Sledge, superintendent of the Beaufort County Lumber Company, of Fairmont, was visiting at the home of Dr. C. M. Jones yesterday.

Our school is not in session today. It being Easter Manday, the teachers know they will enjoy. In this connection, we will say that under the management of Miss Ferebee and Parker, we have one of the best schools in Pitt county.

Saturday evening, April 8th, the music departments gave an informal musical in the auditorium. The music was especially good and the program was well rendered.

Mr. C. W. Wilson attended the Wayne county commencement at Goldsboro, Friday, March 31st.

The singing class from the Oxford Orphanage gave a concert in the auditorium Saturday evening, March 25th.

Recently on Sunday evenings the services of the Y. W. C. A. have been conducted by pastors from the churches in Greenville—Mr. C. M. Rock, of the Baptist church, and Mr. J. H. Shore, of the Methodist church.

On Saturday evening, April 1st, the young men of the Jarvis Memorial Literary Society, gave a public debate. The query was, "Resolved, That Women Should Have the Right of Suffrage in North Carolina."

The affirmative was ably supported by Messrs. Rowe and Harper, and the negative by Messrs. Rawls and Linton. The judges, Messrs. F. C. Harding, H. B. Smith and F. M. Wooten, decided that the negative won and that Mr. Harper had the best speech.

Sunday evening, April 2nd, the Y. W. C. A. had its annual service for the installation of new officers. President Wright conducted the service and made a remarkably clear and impressive talk, defining the spirit that had characterized the association and outlining the mission: The outgoing president, Miss Pattie Dowell, made an excellent talk in resigning her office to Miss Agnes Smith. Miss Smith then graciously accepted the office and its responsibilities.

The officers for the coming year are as follows: Miss Agnes Smith, president. Miss Minnie B. Dail, vice-president. Miss Willie G. Day, secretary. Miss Ruth Dowell, treasurer.

The following are the names of the faculty for the summer course, which begins June 1st:

Cure backache and urinary ills. Good proof in the following statement.

Jackson Baxter, 424 Bonner street, Washington, N. C., says: "I suffered from kidney and bladder trouble for a long time. The kidney secretions were scanty at times, while at others profuse, and the passages were attended with pain. I had severe backaches and constant, gnawing pains through my kidneys. I was feeling miserable when I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and began their use. They gave me such great relief that I obtained a further supply and since using this, the pains across my back have disappeared. I can heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone troubled by kidney complaint."

BOY'S CORN CONTEST.

Also Movement for a Pitt County Fair.

The county committee with several of the township committees on the boy's corn contest, held an enthusiastic meeting here today going into the details of the contest and the prizes to be awarded. It was so late when the meeting finished its work that we cannot give a full report until tomorrow.

In addition to the interest shown in the boy's corn contest, the meeting took a turn for a county fair next fall, and this was also enthusiastically discussed, resulting in the appointment of township committees to come together two weeks hence to confer as to the organization of a county fair association.

This is a move in the right direction and we expect to see great things for Pitt county come out of it.

Rates Suspended.

Washington, April 14.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today suspended through rates on 250 railroads, in Southeastern territory, with tap line connections, until June 1st, pending an inquiry as to their reasonableness.

He was in the mountains on the advice of five doctors, who said he had consumption, but found no help in the climate, and started home, hearing of Dr. King's New Discovery, he began to use it. "I believe it saved my life," he writes, "for it made a new man of me, so that I can now do good work again." THE MEN WHO COUNT.

Often the man who is worth much in dollars is not worth a cent to the community in which he lives, and just as frequently the fellow who is not worth a penny, outside of his salary, which he has to hand out soon after his pay envelope is passed over to him, is worth much to the community in actual work and in enthusiasm. But there are many of the latter class, however, who are absolutely worthless, besides they are pessimistical and discontented. In other words, they have a grouch. So this calibre of man, is a drawback to the community in which he lives and he should either get out of the shadows, or get out of the town. No man should want to live in a town which he doesn't care a rap for, which he thinks is no good, and certainly the town would be better off without him. But as damaging as this type, the man who has money and poses before people as a successful man of affairs and yet is so stingy as not to help build up his town is not much better. There are lots of folks in every town who have money, but never move save to clip coupons and they always desire to shout, or have lackies shout about their greatness. Such kind may be enjoying himself and be happy under the influence of "where ignorance is bliss, etc.," but the people at large are not paying him tribute, and his supposed friends, who go in that disguise by reason of his money, are thinking, deep down in their hearts, what a travesty he is on success and what a skinflint he is as a benefactor. The man who has money and yet does not help build up his town is a mighty poor sort of man. Give to a town the poor man who is enthusiastic any day, because in time he will, perhaps, accumulate money and when he does he will benefit his community in a financial way. The rich man who will invest his money in manufacturing enterprises, or who is willing to lose a few thousand dollars (as all probability he wouldn't feel the loss) on some public project is the man who counts for his community and who will be appreciated. The other brand is simply a bluff, and he may well enjoy his own conceit, because he is not enjoying the good opinion of others.—Wilmington Dispatch.

The above fits some folks in Greenville so precisely that it sounds just like it was written for them.

GREENVILLE'S POPULATION

Greenville has no sore toe over the last census returns giving the town 4,101 population. It is really just a little bit better than The Reflector had expected, our estimate being that there were approximately 4,000 people in the incorporated portion of the town and 1,000 in the suburbs, making a total of about 5,000 here. The census returns giving us 101 more than estimated shows that our figures had not been placed too high, and Greenville is really a 5,000 town as claimed. That sounds good. It is an increase of 1,536, or 60 per cent. over the population of 1900 when the returns gave us 2,565. If this rate of increase continues through the next decade, as it doubtless will, the census of 1920 will find Greenville crowding the 10,000 class.

The Reflector has no patience with cotton contracts, that is selling cotton for future delivery, and thinks it is wrong for men to thus deal. But when men enter into such contracts they should be made to live up to them. Because the price of cotton goes contrary to what the seller expected it to do, is no reason for his violating his contract. It is wrong to enter into such a contract in the first place, but more wrong to try to violate it after it is made. It strikes a blow at the foundation of business confidence for men not to live up to their obligations.

Inasmuch as his brother, Governor Kitchin, is a candidate for the United States senate against Senator F. M. Simmons, it would have sounded better if Congressman Claude Kitchin's speech in congress Saturday had been less drastic on Senator Simmons' position on reciprocity. There are many people disagreeing with Senator Simmons who will nevertheless think some of the congressman's utterances were for effect on the senatorial contest.

On Saturday in congress Hon. Claude Kitchin, member from the second North Carolina district, made the first speech in the debate on the question of reciprocity with Canada. He spoke for three hours and his speech was regarded as one of the ablest delivered in congress in a quarter of a century, being so pronounced by the old members and by the Associated Press. It was a great credit to the talented North Carolina congressman.

The tide of progress seems to be on in earnest in North Carolina. Capitalists are realizing the opportunities afforded by the water powers of the state, and the development of these for generating electric power, means that at no far distant day every section of the state will be reached and supplied with cheap power for all electric uses.

A mistake was made in registering negroes for the primary in Raleigh because they professed to be Democrats. It is as much a violation of the constitutional amendment to register Democratic negroes as it is Republican negroes. It is not unusual, however, for things to be done in Raleigh that ought not to be done.

Talk about going forward some, here is one that is a step over anything on this side of the pond. In London they have automobile horns that play tunes. No more of the "honk, honk", if you please, but a snatch of rag time or some popular air to charm those being passed on the road.

In another letter Mr. A. J. Moyer again calls attention to the matter of community spirit or co-operation among farmers. It is really one of the most practical suggestions that has been made to the farmers of the county, and they could benefit themselves greatly by adopting it.

Pitt is one of the best agricultural counties in the world, and there is no reason why the county cannot make a creditable exhibit of her products. A meeting is to be held here on Friday, April 28th, looking to that end. Every one interested should attend that meeting.

The owners of the shirt waist factory in New York in which so many girls recently lost their lives, have been indicted for manslaughter. Money will help them escape punishment, except the expense of standing trial and lawyers for defense.

Another summer is nearly here without Greenville getting interested in having a pavilion, bath houses and a pleasure resort on the river front. The river would afford much recreation if it was taken advantage of.

Some papers that use such big head lines as to make their news pages look like fire sale hand bills, might look at the Statesville Landmark as a model of neatness when it comes to news headings.

The Reflector acknowledges an invitation to the ceremonies attending the unveiling of the statue of Hon. George Davis by the Cape Fear Chapter North Carolina Division, U. D. C., in Wilmington on Thursday, April 20th.

The more business you do with The Reflector, the more you help The Reflector do business in bringing more business to the town for you to get the benefit of. So it works to mutual advantage all around.

The Charlotte Observer wanted to know how it was with eight newspapers in Robeson county, they ever manage to keep the peace, and the Maxton Scottish Chief explains that it is "by whipping the fellow who drops in to break it." With this warning the Observer should try to be good.

If the issuing of bonds to build good roads in Greenville township is carried in the election, you will pay no more road tax than at present and will have good roads. If the bonds are defeated you will pay just as much tax but have no good roads.

For a time it looked like the matter of issuing bonds to erect a graded school building in Ayden would be defeated in the election, but the result shows that the people of that town have enterprise of the right kind.

If they carry the investigation further there will no doubt be found many others hanging on to salaries for doing nothing, who could be prized off with great benefit to the government.

The Anderson, S. C., Mail says that Josephus Daniels, of the Raleigh News and Observer, "edited his paper from a jail cell for about a month's time." Now, Josephus, is your chance to go for the Blease-ite.

If those park strips between the concrete pavements and curb line were sown in grass now, they would be pretty spots a little later. Cannot the property owners or somebody get interested in beautifying these strips?

Some of these days you are going to hear bigger things about Greenville than you have ever heard yet. The town is getting close to the point of making more big strides forward.

With work in progress on the new court house and jail, two new office buildings, a ball park and several residences, it looks like something is doing in Greenville.

The outlook for a county fair next fall for Pitt county is good. It only needs the people to make up their minds in that direction for the movement to be a success.

Mr. Bryan is keeping his eye on it just the same, and if he does not try it himself he is going to see how it goes.

The Wilmington Star says there is a remedy for fish bite. Wonder if it is the same as they use for snakes?

THE FARMERS CONSOLIDATED TOBACCO COMPANY

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Farmers' Consolidated Tobacco Company, held here Tuesday, and the showing made in the report of the company's business for the past year, gives abundant cause to reiterate opinions heretofore expressed concerning this organization of farmers. That they are doing a great work is evidenced in results. Organized as they are on business principles, and carrying on their operations in a business like way in their own interests, success was sure to come with proper co-operation and that is what has come out of it—a success that should make every one interested in it proud of the organization.

Readers of The Reflector are aware of its faith in the Farmers' Consolidated Tobacco Company. Because of faith in the men who promoted it, and a belief that the principles of the organization were right and intended to advance the interests of the farmers who raise tobacco, we have not hesitated as occasion called for to commend it, and to advise the farmers to give the organizations their co-operation. In the face of hard, bitter and even malicious opposition, the company has pursued the even tenor of its way, proving by its work that it was entitled to confidence, until today it stands upon the pinnacle of success, the institution that is recognized as having done more for the tobacco farmers of Eastern North Carolina than any organization ever undertaken.

In the eight years the company has been in operation it has saved the farmers thousands of dollars in enabling them to get better prices for their tobacco than they otherwise would have obtained, and in addition to this it has paid the stockholders dividends amounting to 149 per cent besides constantly enlarging its business and improving the value of its property holdings.

The report of the secretary at this annual meeting showed the property holdings of the company worth $67,741.56, with a stock issue of $39,800 and an indebtedness of $25,000, making its property worth nearly $4,000 more than its entire stock issue and indebtedness combined. Few corporations anywhere can make a better showing than this.

The net earnings of the company the past year was 12-1-2 per cent, and this in the face of the fact that the tobacco crop last year was the poorest ever raised in Eastern North Carolina and was 20,000,000 pounds short of the previous year. Of this earning 8 per cent in cash was paid to the stockholders, and the balance carried to the surplus.

The company has a board of directors composed of business farmers, men who have made a success of their individual business and in whom every one has the utmost confidence. They are Messrs. O. L. Joyner, J. J. Turnage, S. M. Jones, J. Marshall Cox, C. D. Smith, R. J. Cobb, S. V. Joyner, W. H. Dail, Jr., E. E. Dail, A. A. Forbes and T. R. Hodges. These directors showed wisdom in re-electing Mr. O. L. Joyner, president of the company. While each officer of the company is faithful to every duty—Mr. T. R. Hodges as vice president, Mr. R. J. Cobb as treasurer, Mr. W. H. Dail, Jr., as secretary and Mr. B. B. Sugg as auditor—rendering the president loyal support in managing its large business, Mr. Joyner as the executive head has proven himself a man of ability and sterling qualities, and worthy of all confidence. The company is fortunate in having such men to manage its affairs, and that its business should meet with the highest success is what might be expected.

Once more our good friend Cowan, of the Wilmington Dispatch, deposes and says:

After reading the following from the Greenville Reflector we are here to state that should Whichard, of The Reflector, even get into trouble we are prepared to walk several hundred miles to take the witness stand in his behalf and swear, until we are black in the face, that he is subject to "brain storm":

"A rich woman arrested in New York was found to have a lot of stolen goods concealed in her muff. As Colonel Robinson, of the Durham Sun would remark: In her muff? Wonder what fur?—Wilmington Dispatch. You otter not be talking that way, Cowan. First thing you know that mink of a woman will be calling you a skunk."

Raleigh started split and continues split. The municipal primary there Monday was about a half-and-half break, the "good government" ticket winning five of the eight aldermen and the opposition getting all the balance of the city officers. It will continue to be a divided house and there may be lots of squabbling.

Out in California if a man will not support his family he is put to work on the roads and the money for his labor paid to his wife. That is a law that ought to be universal.

Hail stones seem to be growing, too. Out in Illinois some 18-inches in circumference are reported. May be they will be as large as hogsheads after a while.

Mrs. Hetty Green is going to establish a string of banks from New York to San Francisco. Why not stirring some of them down South, sister?

Charlotte had one—a harem skirt. From the account in the Observer it must have been equal to a circus parade.

WHEN LATTER GOES FOR TAXES
Officer Surprises Him and Brings Him To Jail.

Wednesday Sheriff S. I. Dudley was out in Belvoir township and went to the home of Allen Tyson, colored, to collect his taxes due for last year. The colored man told the sheriff his taxes were already paid and that he had the receipt. He went in his house and got a receipt, but it was for the year 1909. The sheriff explained to him that the receipt he had was for 1909, but that his taxes for 1910 were not paid and must be paid.

At this the colored man became very insolent and cursed the sheriff. Mr. Dudley told the negro it was useless to go on that way about it, that the taxes must be paid or he would have to levy on enough of his household effects to cover what was due. At this the negro ran into his house, came back to the door with a double barrel gun in his hands, and said: "Now, come on, d--n you, and I'll kill you." "No, I'm not coming," the sheriff replied, as he turned and walked off toward his buggy which had been left at a house in the neighborhood.

After the sheriff had gone the negro seemed to realize he had made a mistake, put down his gun and going on to where the sheriff was apologized for the language he had used. Sheriff Dudley watched for his opportunity, and covering Allen with his gun said: "You made me change my mind just now about going into your house, but now I am going to make you change yours; I am going to carry you to town and put you in jail."

Allen was a much surprised negro at the turn the affair took, and put up a lot of begging as he was being tied and put in the buggy to be brought to jail. He will hardly be drawing a gun on any more officers who go to his house to collect his taxes.

BASE BALL MEETING

Athletic Association Organized to Arrange Details.

An enthusiastic meeting was held in the city hall Friday night looking to preparations for the coming base ball season in Greenville in connection with the Coast Line League. Dr. E. A. Moye presided over the meeting with Mr. Tom Dupree secretary.

After discussing the situation it was decided to organize an athletic association to take charge of all the details. The officers of this association were chosen as follows:

- Dr. E. A. Moye, President
- Aibion Dunn, Vice-President
- G. J. Woodward, Sec. and Treas.
- Dr. E. A. Moye, Aibion Dunn, G. J. Woodward, J. B. James and R. C. Flanagan, directors.

The directors will appoint committees to solicit subscriptions for the purpose of procuring uniforms and equipments for the ball team. It will take some funds to do this, and if the citizens do their part when called upon they may expect Greenville to have some good ball games this season. They should want Greenville to have a well equipped team and win the league pennant.

THE MEN OF GREENVILLE USING THEIR TALENTS

IN THE MEN'S PRAYER LEAGUE.

The Meetings Every Sunday Are Well Worth While.

That the men of Greenville, at least a large number of them, are rightly using their talents is shown by the attendance and interest in the Men's Prayer League that meets every Sunday afternoon, and the good work the league is doing. It is not merely a gathering to pass away time, but the hour is spent profitably and all who attend are helped.

The subject discussed in the Methodist church Sunday afternoon was "Using Our Talents," and the leaders, Messrs W. M. Pugh and E. A. Moye, made talks that left a deep impression for good. They showed how all should rightly use the talent God has given to His glory and to helping our fellow man, the greatest reward coming through our service to others.

Some others of the members also made short talks, the suggestion being brought out that the league interest itself in the establishment of a Y. M. C. A. or some similar organization for the benefit of the men and boys of the community. This is to come up for consideration later.

The meeting next Sunday will be in the Presbyterian church. That day being Easter Sunday the subject will be "The Risen Christ." Text, Matt. 28:6; Mark 16:6; Luke 24:6; Acts 17:3; I Cor. 15:13, 14, 20; Col. 3:1. Leaders, Messrs. F. R. Stretch, W. S. Moye and H. B. Smith.

Ayden, N. C., April 13.—Mrs. Laker, our town and community can appreciate.

Mr. W. A. Darden was hauling his cotton Tuesday and Wednesday and our cotton exchange had the appearance of harvesting time.

Mr. John Hatton sold a bird dog Wednesday for $25. This shows that this is a thriving country and money plentiful some where.

Found—A brooch. Owner can have same by identifying it and paying for this notice.

The wood work on the hotel at St. Abram's spring is nearly completed. The low water in Contentnea creek has caused a great many of our farmers to haul their fertilizers up in Greene from Ayden, as the boats could not run.

We think the peach and pear crop is a total failure, but from all indications we will have an abundant apple crop and huckleberries.

The ladies of the Christian church are practicing the children for an Easter entertainment in their church Sunday night. The public is cordially invited.

Prof. Koonce and his able teachers are preparing the children for a commencement. Prof. M. C. S. Noble, of Chapel Hill, will deliver the annual address in the Imperial Tobacco warehouse. Our school has done splendid work this year and the patrons would be glad to have Prof. Koonce and his teachers again another year.

Ayden, N. C., April 13, 1911. Mr. J. Olen Wingate, who has been out on the estate of Dr. Jos. Dixon in Virginia, came home Friday to see his people.

Messrs. C. E. Gardner and Wade McCotter, of Grifton, spent Friday in town.

Mrs. Woolford and Mrs. Burroughs, of Scotland Neck, are visiting in Ghent.

Dr. Leary McCall of South Carolina, has accepted a position at Dr. Wm. McKinney's pharmacy.

Mrs. Jno. Cannon left Monday for John Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, for an operation. Dr. M. T. Prizzelle and her son, Mr. Will Cannon accompanied her.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harris left Saturday for Rocky Mount to visit their daughter, Mrs. E. M. Davenport.

Mr. A. L. Harrington, of Kinston, spent Thursday and Friday in town.

Saturday some colored people brought a child here to the office of Dr. Dixon for treatment, and while there the child died in the mother's arms. The scene was pathetic, a mother, with her dead baby in her arms, away from home.

This is a good market for anything you have to sell; chickens are bringing from 45 to 65 cents or 12 1/2 a pound.

Mr. L. L. Kittrell is making some much needed improvements at his electric plant, and installing a boiler near the power house, which will prove quite a fuel saver.

Mr. J. J. Smith, who suffered a stroke of paralysis on March 12th and has since been lingering in an unconscious state, passed away Sunday evening just at twilight. His remains were laid to rest in cemetery Monday evening. Rev. Mr. Caraway of the M. E. church conducted the funeral service, and the Masons buried him with honors. Mr. Smith though only about 44 years old, was one of Ayden's old land marks and was the first mayor of Ayden. He was agent for the A. C. L. until about five years ago, he resigned that position and sold fertilizers and bought cotton until last year, when he devoted his entire attention to farming. He leaves a widow and four children. Mr. Smith was educated at Bingham's after going through the country schools. He had acquired a neat little fortune by his close application of economy and toil. He was a Mason, and Modern Woodman, and was a strong believer in life insurance, and by so believing left his family well provided for.

Quite a number of our young people drove down to Grifton Monday morning, joined a lot more, and took a pleasant ride down the river to Maple Cypress, where they had an Easter picnic.

Mr. Lewis Braxton and Miss Malissie Everett were married on Easter. J. F. Barwick, Esq., officiated.

The wife of Alonzo Smith, colored, swallowed an open safety pin Saturday. She appealed to our local physician, and then went to the Kinston hospital, we interviewed her and she said the pin was never located. Her throat was irritated, from trying for it. She can eat and she suffers no inconvenience from it.

The town board of education, held a special session Monday evening getting in readiness to plan and build, how when, and where.

There was quite a number of Masons from Greenville, Winterville, and Robersonville here Monday.

Rev. Mr. Cole, superintendent of the Methodist orphanage, preached here Sunday and made an appeal, and our good people responded most liberally.

While pic-nicing Monday at Maple Cypress, Miss Jennie Davis was frightened at an eel and jumped over-board, she was rescued; no damage done, except a good ducking. All reported a pleasant occasion.

A STRONG SERMON ON VOTE BUYING

CHARLOTTE MINISTER CONDEMNS DEBAUCHERS OF MEN

SUBJECT 'THE ELECTION AFTERMATH'

Quotes Law Against Vote Buying and Liquor Distribution at Elections—Sermon Applicable to Greenville and Pitt County—Sounds a Note of Warning to All Good Men.

Rev. Dr. Herman H. Hulten, pastor of the First Baptist church, Charlotte, preached a sermon Sunday night on "The Election Aftermath."

The sermon was frank, clear and being so, was regarded as not a little sensational, the use of liquor and money for the purchase of votes in the recent city primaries being discussed with gloves off.

The subject had been announced beforehand and the church was crowded to and beyond the doors with a congregation in which men and voters predominated.

Dr. Hulten's remarks so nearly fit the rottenness existing at the last election held in Greenville and Pitt county, we reprint the following report of his sermon taken from the above-named paper:

"Ever since the announcement that I would speak tonight on the subject, 'The Election Aftermath,' said Dr. Hulten, in beginning, 'there has been not a little comment, both pro and con, but I feel sure that after I have finished this address on this somewhat politico-social subject you will agree that I have not departed from my rightful sphere. And hence if there are any of those present who would abridge my liberty, or in other words, shut my mouth, it is evident that you do not apprehend the full sphere of a minister's influence. I shall not permit this church or any church to place me in a separate class from other men. I am a citizen as you are a citizen. I am a man as you are a man, enjoying the possession of the ballot just as do you and I have a right to do whatever you have the right to do. Why, then, all this twaddling talk about minister's seeming intrusion into public affairs if he is only seeking to apply moral standards to the conduct of our political institutions.

"We are all one great brotherhood," he continued, "affected by the same influences, nominated by the same passions, and God has seen fit to endow us with the same faculties and we are obedient to the same laws. Hence our religion is justly as truly social in its character as it is spiritual. And you, brother, have no right to draw your skirts about you and remain in aloofness from the things of public life because there may be some thing about them which is repugnant to your nature. You must make your life one great contribution to every life with which it comes in contact and enlarge the waves of your influence until they encompass the men, women and children of your city. Whatever I shall say tonight—and I hope to speak hot from the anvil—is not to be constructed as an espousal of the cause of any man and is not to be taken as a cause of offense by any one. I have not yet so far lost sight of the dignity of the pulpit as to use it for indulgence in personalities. My lecture tonight is not a man's performance. It is a message from God."

Dr. Hulten explained how in this form of government it has been arranged that the will of the people shall be expressed by the ballot and that expression shall take from in an administration clothed with sovereignty and surrounded by dignity. The ballot is the startling point. No other part of the government can so ill afford to be corrupt. The courts may be corrupt, and have been, the legislature may be corrupt, and they have been, but the power of the people's ballot has eventually corrected those evils. But when you strike at the ballot itself, you have a case of heart disease on hand. Here is where the mighty propulsive power of our government is propagated. No other part of our government is so vital and yet so full of death when tampered with.

"But, you ask me, 'What has all this to do with our recent municipal election?' I leave a sigh of vain regret and his answer, 'I have much to do. Last Tuesday in Charlotte was a day of excessive debauch, made by so election money and election whiskey, confessedly used for the purpose of prostituting manhood and perverting the ballot, and our fair city is suffering today from the stain put upon her name."

After reading comments from a newspaper whose reliability he commended, Dr. Hulten said: "But it is not necessary for me to turn to it, if you please. If I can believe in my own eyes, I have a few remarks to make."

The stillness of the congregation assured an increased intensity, if possible. The preacher continued: "Tuesday afternoon about 4 o'clock I had occasion to pass through one of the polling places. I was not on my way to vote, because I was out of the city when registration was in progress. I was on my way to visit a man who is ill with typhoid fever. As I approached, I saw about it a motley crowd. By whose authority, or by whose permission, are profane and drunken men allowed to congregate in front of the polling places of this city?"

At this point the speaker digressed for a moment to quote a conversation with a deacon of his church who told him of his strenuous though good-natured clash of effort with a man of the rival persuasion in endeavoring to convert to his own side a voter, whom he boasted of having landed. "I voted my man." The speaker declared that the deacon had violated the fundamental principle of that man's manhood when he took him by the arm and told him for whom he should cast his vote. "And when any man attempts in like manner to inform me for whom and for what I shall cast my ballot, I tell you you have flung an insult into my face. My ballot is the expression of my mind-life. My ballot is the expression of my heart-life. My ballot is the expression of my soul-life, and being such it is a sacred thing to me."

The deacon had violated the principle of his own manhood when he spent two hours "in the midst of that motley crowd of drunken sots." He told of one brave minister who went to the place to vote, but so rank was the profanity and so rank the drunkenness that he turned around, walked out and did not vote at all.

"But I walked on into the crowd.

I saw a man standing there. And when I saw him reel I could feel my heartstrings snap. Men, it was a member of my congregation. With these hands I had baptized him. I had knelt by the side of his wife and prayed for him and I had kept him straight for months, but when the election came some of you men poured red-hot liquor into him, debauched him and broke the heart of his wife."

"I've given you the religion. Now for the law," said the speaker. He had read the North Carolina statute providing that any person who sells or gives another liquor within five miles of a polling place within twelve hours of an election, municipal, state or national, shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $1,000.

"Is there any man here who will say that whiskey was not used for such purposes? If not, then I say that the grand jury ought to begin to grind."

"I went a little further and half-intoxicated man stopped me. 'Hello, there, dectah,' he exclaimed. 'Who yer goin' a vote for? I think you ought to vote for my man. He's the pore man's friend. The time's comin' when the rich man must keep his feet off the poor man's neck. He never named his man and for the life of me I don't know which one he was for. My understanding is that both candidates are amply able to keep the wolf from the door. But what of that man's spirit and words? That is approaching socialism. That is incipient anarchy. Where did he get that conception? Did he conceive it in his own heart? Did he pluck it from his own brain? I tell you no, a thousand times no. He went to some ward meeting and heard a political demagogue utter it. And that speaker, who ought to have known better and who ought to have done better, fired the heart of that man with incipient anarchy! How many of you made ward speeches like that? A man in whose word I have confidence tells me that he went to one one night and every speech he heard was after that fashion. My word for it, when you have arrayed the masses against the classes, you will be face to face with a frightful condition. Milwaukee is just paying the penalty for that sort of thing today."

"I saw two men, strangers to me, talking and overheard one say, 'It's only 4 o'clock I got $5 for mine. Don't be in a hurry, you can get $10 for yours.'"

The minister read the law making the selling or buying of a vote a misdemeanor.

"Were any votes sold at the recent election? You answer, 'Yes' Then the grand jury ought to grind. Any man who bought a vote by a drink of whiskey or with $5 or $10 has got the traitor in his soul and has driven a dagger into the heart of democracy."

In regard to the distribution of the "slush fund" Dr. Hulten said that a campaign manager would get a ward politician and pay him $50 for his time and service, and that crooked ward politician would go out and fire the hearts of men with whiskey. "Then you go to the man who is responsible for the campaign and ask him about it and he throws up his hands in horror and says, 'I don't know anything about it'. If he does not know, then he ought to know. Suppose you try this method: Let some one go to him and suggest, 'Will you make an affidavit that so far as you know neither money nor whiskey was used to purchase votes?'

Is there a man who believes they would do it? And if they don't, then the grand jury ought to begin to grind.

"It's time to stop so much talk about disfranchising the negroes and disfranchise somebody else, the men who buy and sell votes. Between the two, I'd take the negro every time. I'm not one-half so much afraid of the floating vote—the ignorant vote you call it down here—as I am of the crafty, designing men who control the floating vote by whiskey or money and who combine in every city and every state in the Union to secure legislation favorable to their interests. You who are before me have not sold your votes, but some of you have done what is infinitely worse. You have bought the votes of others"

The speaker recognized the necessity of campaign funds to meet the expenses of keeping the issues before the voters, but a distinct line of demarcation must be drawn between legitimate and illegitimate expense. "Unless it is drawn, then our institutions, private and public, must fall, honey combed with insanity."

"My wife has been in a very bad state of health for several years, and nothing seemed to do her any good until she began to use Peruna one month ago. Since then the color has returned to her face, and she is gaining in flesh every day, and I believe she is a well woman to-day.

"My little boy, ten years old, was pale and had but little life. He began to use Peruna the day his mother began. To-day his face is rosy, and he is out in the yard running and jumping with the rest of the children."

GREENVILLE TOWN HAS 4,101 POPULATION THIRTEENTH CENSUS RETURNS

Including the Suburbs There are 5,000 People Here. The latter part of February The Reflector wrote to Director Durand of the census department, asking him for the returns of the population of Greenville. He replied that the figures were not then available, but would be furnished us as soon as obtained. The letter below brings the information asked for: Washington, D. C., April 13.—Mr. D. J. Whichard, President of The Reflector Company, Greenville, N. C. In further reply to your letter of February 25, you are advised that, according to the returns of the thirteenth census, the population of Greenville town, Pitt county, North Carolina, is 4,101.

Very respectfully, E. Dana Durand, Director This is an increase of 1,536, or 60 per cent. over the census of 1900 when Greenville was given 2,565.

GRIMESLAND VOTES THE SCHOOL TAX

CHICOD FOLKS FALL IN LINE They Start Early and Carry the Election Before Breakfast.

You just can't get ahead of our Chicod folks. They are up and at it soon, and when they start to do a thing, it is done and over with. They held an election at Grimesland today on the question of establishing a local tax school district for the purpose of lengthening the public school term, and a telephone message to The Reflector by Dr. C. M. Jones says, "we carried it before breakfast." At the time he phoned there had been 45 votes cast for the tax and only one vote against it, the vote then cast being a good majority of the registered voters of the district, leaving the votes that come in later to swell the majority that much larger. Good for Grimesland.

From London to Paris by Air.

Sensations come thick and fast in the flying world. At last an aviator has made the flight of 290 miles from Paris without landing, and an unknown man at that. Where the unluckily Moisant last year began so promisingly and then for all his pluck and persistence was defeated by a series of tedious accidents, Prier, as little known as Moisant was when he started in the opposite direction, succeeded the first trial. Audacity wins. At one stroke to the French capital and sets a new record for a continuous flight. The cross-country flight from Paris to the top of the Puy-de-Dome, the weight-carrying tests in France when ten and again twelve passengers were transported short distances, Curtiss' success in rising from and alighting in the water, and Ely's cross-country flight, where he landed and ascended from the deck of a warship are all substantial proofs of the rapid progress that is being made in the science of aviation.—New York World.

ENCOURAGING BRIGHT PUPILS.

Classroom Established at Cincinnati For Especially Diligent Scholars

Parents and educators everywhere will be interested in the experiment now being tried in the Cincinnati public schools of establishing a classroom for especially bright pupils, which would appear to be the logical accompaniment of the classroom for backward pupils. The proposition that it is as unfair to hold back the apt or clever child in the ranks of the mediocre as it is to speed the dull pupil to a pace he cannot maintain appeals as reasonable and common sense. It will be argued with much force that the system which makes provision for caring for the backward pupil can not be justified without provision is made for accompanying the needs of those who can advance more rapidly than the average. The proposition simply provides for the application to schooling of the plan that is generally adopted and followed in the business world, where wage scales, chances of promotion and all the advantages are based on the ability of those employed to advance rapidly in one line or other. This has not been the rule in the schools where the system has been adjusted to meet the requirements of the average pupil, with special provision made for those below the average. The net result of this system has been retardation for which the pupils are not to blame. The Cincinnati educators have decided that the old system of trying to make all children fit the same educational pattern is unsatisfactory in general and particularly unfair to the bright pupils, who are to be given special attention under a more sensible and equitable method.

NEWSPAPER PRESS FOR SALE.

Having placed an order for a new fast newspaper and book press, to be installed the middle of April, we have a newspaper press that will be sold at a bargain for delivery May 1st.

It is a Monona Leverless Press, large enough to print four 6-column pages, or two 9-column pages and has steam fixtures so that it can be run either by hand or power. Been in use six years.

It is a splendid press for a weekly paper and is in good condition to do many years good service. We used a press from the same factory for 17 years before installing this one, printing a daily paper with small circulation about 10 years of that time. Its speed, 800 an hour, is too slow for a daily paper with the present circulation of The Reflector, and for that reason we are having to displace it with a faster press.

Any one interested and wanting a good press for a weekly newspaper, can see this press at work every day in the Reflector building, before our new press is installed. Any one who cannot come to see it at work and examine it, can get particulars by addressing

CHILDREN FAVOR GOOD ROADS.

"Build the Roads, We'll Pay for Them," is Slogan of Delegation.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch contained the following account of a good roads meeting recently held in Tazewell, Va.:

"Build the roads, we'll pay for them," was the slogan of a large delegation of school children and young folks who came to the road meeting here today on a special train from Fossilontas and intermediate points.

The crowds was augmented here by the addition of the pupils from the Tazewell High School, who were dismissed from lessons today to engage in the festivities. There were over 250 children in the parade. The fact was remarked upon that the educational advantages which are afforded these children many of whom are poor, were only brought about through the issuing of bonds for building the fine school houses at Tazewell and the other points. It was very significant in view of the fact that battle is on in the county for a bond issue of $625,000, the election to occur next Tuesday.

"Build the roads, and we will pay for them," the slogan of the children who represent the posterity whom those against bonds are so afraid to burden with debt, was certainly a most striking feature of the meeting today. The teachers of the schools and many others wore badges inscribed "Civilization," the issuing of bonds for road improvement being considered one of the strong arguments of a civilized community.

Able and strong bond issue speeches were made in the tent of the Tazewell Amusement Company by several men of the community, who are in favor of the bond issue. In the courthouse a handful of people listened to those who are opposed to the bond issue. Among the speakers was Judge Coultling, who stated that the proposed bond-issue was beyond the demand and need of the community. The people and sentiment of the community, in a large measure, were bond issuing people, and the general feeling was bond issue or no roads.

Found the Boy.

The announcement in The Reflector a few days ago inquiring for Herbert Owens, one of the prize winners in the boy's corn contest last year, brought him in today, and the State diploma and cash premium were delivered to him. Herbert lives near Fountain, in the western end of the county. He made 97.1 bushels of corn on his acre last year, and says he is in the contest to be a winner again this year.

FARMERS' CONSOLIDATED TOBACCO COMPANY

STOCKHOLDERS AN. MEETING.

Earns 12½ Per Cent. Pays Cash Dividend, Making Total of 149 Per Cent in Eight Years.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Farmers' Consolidated Tobacco Company was held today in the Star warehouse, about two hundred farmers being present.

In calling the meeting to order President O. L. Joyner spoke of work of the company in the past, how it had overcome the difficulties and opposition encountered, and showed where it had made money for the farmers of Eastern North Carolina. He gave the status of the tobacco farmers now as compared with the last few years: the attitude of the company in urging reduction of acreage and control of production as a means of controlling prices, and what the farmers should do in this direction in future. He predicted that if the farmers use wise judgment this season, they will get the best prices for the next crop they have ever received. As he always does, Mr. Joyner gave the farmer good advice, and the close attention they gave all he said showed their interest.

Secretary W. H. Dail, Jr., then made his annual report. This in brief shows that the property of the company located in Greenville, Robersonville, Kinston and Wilson, is valued at $67,741.56. The stock issued is $39,800 and the indebtedness of the company $25,000. This makes the property of the company worth nearly $4,000 more than its entire outstanding stock and indebtedness combined, which is a fine showing for the corporation.

The earnings for the past year were a fraction over 12 per cent, and of this directors ordered that a cash dividend of 8 per cent be paid to the stockholders, the balance to be carried to the surplus. This makes a total of 149 per cent the company has paid in dividends during the eight years of its operation, an average of more than 13 per cent.

Taking into consideration that the crop in Eastern North Carolina last year was 20,000,000 pounds short, that the company was able to make 12 per cent is remarkable and shows how well its business is managed.

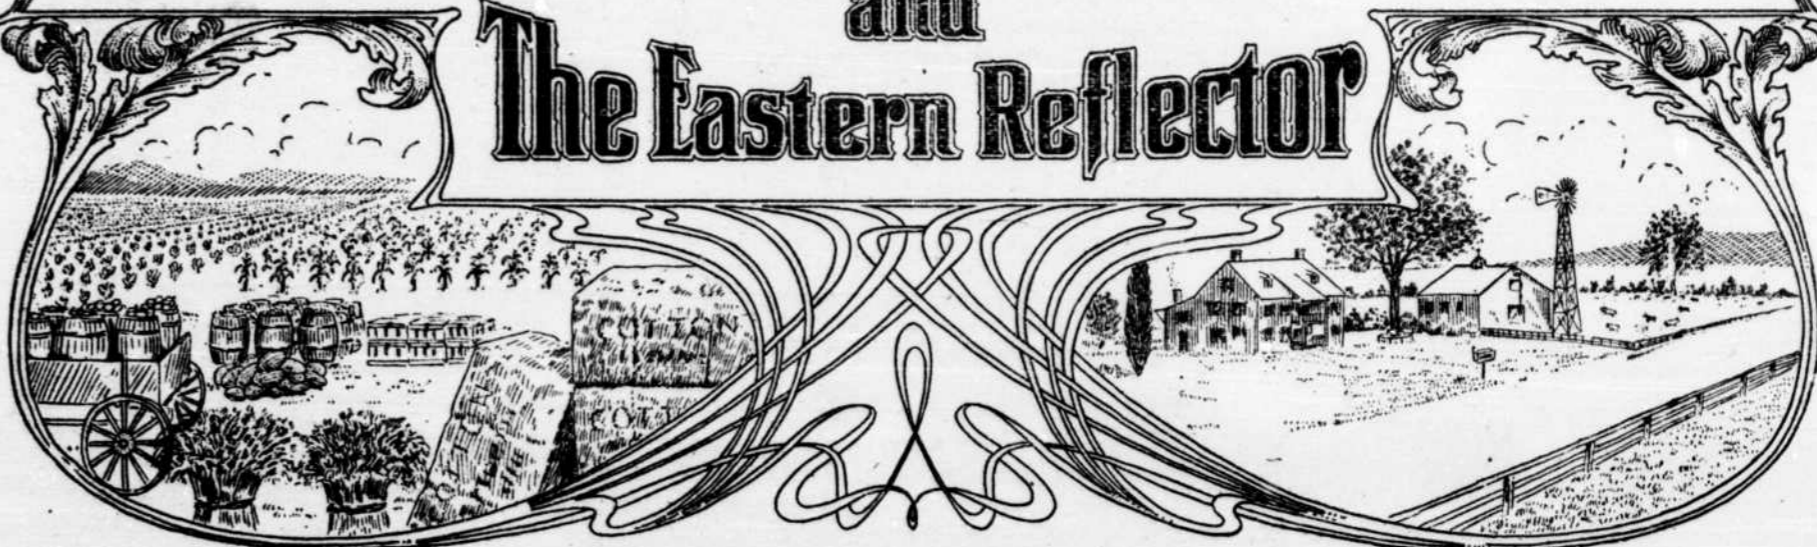

An expression of opinion as to what date the markets should open next season was taken, and by almost unanimous vote the tobacco boards of trade of Eastern North Carolina were requested to open the markets on September 1st.

The terms of Messrs. A. A. Forbes and S. V. Joyner as directors having expired, they were both re-elected for five years.

Before adjourning President Joyner spoke a few words more, urging the farmers to give the company their hearty co-operation, showing them the necessity of some organization based on business principles by which they can make their needs and requirements effectively felt, and best promote their own interests.

Following the meeting of the stockholders there was a meeting of the board of directors at which they re-elected O. L. Joyner, president; T. R. Hodges, vice president, R. J. Cobb, treasurer and W. H. Dail, Jr., secretary.

Some Good Advice to Corn Contest Boys of Pitt

By A. J. MOYE

Farmville, N. C., April 26, 1911.
 Editor Reflector:

It is a source of pleasure to me to be able to truthfully say that Pitt county was ahead in the boys' corn contest last year, inasmuch as 'Pitt had nine successful ones and no other county above five. It is true that several boys reported having made more corn than our boys, but this was due to the corn having been planted upon land which had received previously an abundance of fertilizer for other crops. Nine out of forty is not a very large per cent, especially as we want eleven out of a total of forty-four this year. If you try and fail, do not be discouraged, but profit by your failure and try again.

There is one thing that I wish all to know right now, and that is that guano, as usually put up, will not make a profitable crop of corn, no matter how much you may use; and also you must remember that poor land without excessive quantities of animal manure cannot produce as much as sixty-five bushels of corn.

With these two facts well established, lets see if we can, what is necessary for success in producing a large crop of corn. After the land has been well prepared and well planted to a good variety of corn, provided the seasons are normal, we should be able to forecast with tolerable accuracy how much corn we may expect.

I learn it from good authority that a crop of thirty-five bushels will move from the land 58 pounds of nitrogen, 28 pounds of phosphoric acid and 36 pounds of potash. Now if you have planted land that without any fertilizer would produce thirty-five bushels of corn, in order to make thirty-five bushels more doesn't it seem reasonable that we should apply to the land in some form 58 lbs. of nitrogen, 28 pounds phosphoric acid and 36 pounds of potash?

A ton of first rate horse or cow manure will contain approximately 16 pounds of nitrogen and will be as valuable as 100 pounds of nitrate of soda. If you use stable manure to furnish the nitrogen, you should apply three and six-tenths tons. If you prefer nitrate of soda you will need 375 pounds, or if you prefer cotton seed meal it will take 750 pounds.

If you have used two tons of stable manure then you might use only 175 pounds of nitrate of soda. Two hundred pounds of acid phosphate and three hundred of kainit should supply the need, 28 pounds of phosphoric acid and 36 pounds of potash.

Now, boys, do not expect seventy bushels of corn with any less fertilizing, and do not be too sure of making the seventy bushels with even that much.

In this contest not over ten dollars of bought fertilizer should be used, so continue every week to put on all the hen house manure and all the ashes raised upon the place. Stir your land about two inches deep every week and keep all the weeds and grass out, and I believe you will make a fine crop of corn.

Of course if your land, unaided by fertilizer, will make only fifteen bushels of corn, then the amount suggested by me should be doubled.

You see it takes nearly one pound of nitrogen, one half pound of phosphoric acid and three-fourths pound of potash to make a bushel of corn.

If I am correct 8-2-2 or 8-4-4 goods are not properly balanced for corn, but we should have 4-3-6.

Furthermore, I believe one hundred bushels of shell marl applied to an acre would supply sufficient phosphoric acid, and one might cut out that much bought fertilizer.

My son has not planted his corn yet, but he has put out about three tons of manure and is mixing it and grazing it with sheep, hogs and calves.

JUDGE FURGERSON'S CHARGE.

The Grand Jury—Not A Large Docket At This Term.

The April criminal term of Pitt Superior court convened in the city hall this morning with Judge E. B. Furgerson presiding and Solicitor C. L. Abernethy representing the state.

The following were drawn as grand jurors for the term: J. F. Barwick, foreman; H. A. Gray, J. B. Carroll, G. T. Evans, W. Harvey Allen, W. A. Pierce, W. W. Whitehurst, James H. Cox, Frank Lilly, J. H. Laughinghouse, W. S. May, A. B. Congleton, B. O. Turnage, J. O. Johnson, G. G. Ward, J. E. Barnhill, C. D. Smith, E. P. Stokes.

In his charge to the grand jury Judge Furgerson said the proclamation assembling the court called all persons having complaints to come forward and they should be heard. It matters not how humble a citizen may be, he has a right to be heard before the tribunal of justice. An innocent man has nothing to fear by the assembling of a court, but the guilty should have justice merited to them. To let the guilty escape may be merciful to them, but it is not justice to the body politic. The courts are for the protection of the rights of the citizens. It matters not how strong a man may be and able to protect himself, there is a time in every twenty-four hours that he is absolutely helpless. He cannot stand around his property or his home to protect it, therefore he needs protection of the law. The best protection we have is good citizenship.

Every law has a penalty attached. Without a penalty the law is worthless, and he that violates the law must pay the penalty. It is so in the laws of nature, it is so in the laws of property. But for this there would be no reward for industry. The man who would be happy must conform to the rules of happiness.

To have good citizenship every man should cheerfully obey the law, and those who fail to do so should have the penalty of the law enforced against them. It is for that purpose that we come together in courts of justice.

There is no more important officer in any county than the justice of the peace or magistrate, and his duties should be performed justly and impartially. To him the people of his community come for a protection of their rights and a redress of their wrongs so far as the magistrate may have jurisdiction. It is wrong for a magistrate to take jurisdiction beyond his authority, but should send such matters to the higher courts.

Judge Furgerson also made reference to the importance of officers properly handling the public funds coming into their hands.

As to the general list of crimes he deemed it useless to go into these, as the attention of the grand jurors has been often called to them, so he laid down only a few general principles for their guidance.

Generally speaking, Judge Furgerson's charge was an excellent lecture on good citizenship and right living, things that make for the uplift of the people in morality, home government, education and happiness. His words carried weight with them and all who heard them were helped by them. Two standards he laid down as the best deterrent of crime

It's queer how much interest a dignified man can generate in a dog fight.
