

OUR GREATEST MENACE.

Extract From Judge W. J. Adams' Charge to Surry Grand Jury.

The greatest menace to North Carolina today is a spirit of lawlessness among certain classes. It is such that it demands the attention of every good citizen. During the past three years as many as 500 people have been killed in this state and nearly every one killed without any adequate reason. There is such a thing as making violation of the law respectable. Man, some one has said, is a bundle of habits and many men get to be confirmed criminals, utterly regardless of law, and this state comes about gradually. The child contracts the criminal habit and by the time he is a man he develops into a confirmed criminal. The greatest lesson the people of this state have to learn is the spirit of obedience. Which makes the best citizen, the best neighbor—the man who obeys the laws or the man who violates them?

There is much criminal negligence in this state, due to the small value placed upon human life. There seems to be an idea in the minds of many that a man is none the worse after he takes the life of his fellowman just so he escapes the penalties of the law. Some even think of him as something of a hero. The man who keeps a vicious animal that is known to be dangerous, and should this animal kill a man, his owner is guilty and should be punished. Any kind of conduct that is likely to cause the loss of life needlessly is a violation of the law.—Reported by Mt. Airy News.

Some of Them Here.

The proposition to vote a bond issue for good roads in Anson county was defeated. In speaking of the result, The Wadesboro Ansonian says: "Not a few of those who voted against road improvement yesterday did so because they wanted to hit the automobile a blow, but they have hit the poor old mule the hardest blow of all. It doesn't hurt the inanimate machine to run over rough roads or to climb a telephone post, but the mule gets it in the shoulder pulling heavy wagons over muddy roads and steep grades." It is a fact that in some sections of the state, the people are laboring under the impression that the good roads are built for the benefit of automobiles. The truth is that good roads are a permanent benefit to the farmers, many of whom are themselves becoming automobile owners.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Thrilling Detective Story Free.

There are three reasons why you should read "The Adventures of Black Peter," the great Sherlock Holmes detective story, to be given free, in booklet form, with copies of next Sunday's New York World. In the first place it is a rattling good story; secondly, it is an extraordinarily great story; thirdly, it is one of the best detective narratives ever written by Sir A. Conan Doyle, the most famous author of "mystery fiction" of modern times. Their demand is so great Sunday Worlds should be ordered from newsdealers in advance.

ERROR IN STATEMENT.

Concerning the Earnings of Greenville Banking and Trust Co.

An error crept into the article in Friday's Reflector regarding the enlargement of the Greenville Banking and Trust Co., that was due to a misunderstanding. It was stated that the bank since its organization in 1903 "had paid dividends aggregating 142 per cent. besides creating a surplus almost as large as its capital stock". It should have been that the 142 per cent. was the aggregate earnings of the bank during that period which includes the surplus.

Former Greenville Boy Weds Virginia Girl.

One of the prettiest of the marriages this far this spring took place at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Ramsburg No. 23 Peyton street, when their eldest daughter, Miss Lillian Love Ramsburg, became the bride of Mr. Roland Cooper Ryan, the youngest son of Mrs. Nettie R. Ryan and the late Mr. Arthur Ryan, of Winchester. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. J. H. Lacy, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of which the bride is a member, and he was assisted by Rev. Dr. George S. Bowers, pastor of Grace Lutheran church, which the members of the groom's family are prominently connected. The marriage was attended by a large number of family connections and friends of the bride and groom from a distance and this city.

The front and rear parlors of the Ramsburg home were elaborately and beautifully decorated for the occasion in white, yellow and green, and the young couple plighted their troth under a huge marriage bell of field daisies, wild apple blossoms and honeysuckle, the ring ceremony being performed by the officiating clergyman.

The wedding march was rendered by Prof. J. A. Ide, the well-known composer and music master, as the bridal party entered the parlors. The bride wore a handsome gown of white messaline with crystal trimmings and diamond ornaments, her veil was caught with bride roses and she carried a large bunch of the same flowers. She came in on the arm of the groom.

The maid of honor, who was her younger sister, Miss Elsie Ramsburg, wore baby blue satin and silver trimmings and pearl ornaments and she carried bride roses. Mr. William B. Ryan, of this city, a brother of the groom, served as best man.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony, and later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Ryan motored to Martinsburg, W. Va., where they boarded a main line Baltimore and Ohio Railroad train for an extended wedding journey, which will terminate at Buffalo, New York, where they will make their future home.

The bride is a native of Winchester, and is a very pretty and winsome girl, being a general favorite among all her friends and acquaintances. She was graduated several years ago from the Episcopal Female Institute, and is an accomplished musician, having won high honors in the music class of the institute. She will be missed greatly by the young people of Winchester. The very large number of handsome and costly presents of gold and silver, cut glass, fine linens and other gifts she received as expressions of

THE HOME BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

ANNUAL MEETING LAST NIGHT.

Board of Directors and Officers Elected for Next Year.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Home Building and Loan Association was held Tuesday night in the city hall, and heard the report of the secretary and treasurer as checked up and verified by the auditor. There were many expressions of gratification at the good showing the association is making.

The only business to be done by the shareholders after hearing the report, was the election of a board of directors for the next year. So much satisfaction was expressed at the service of the former directors, that the motion was made to unanimously re-elect all of them. This was done with the exception of Mr. R. O. Jeffries who asked to be relieved of this duty as he could not serve longer, and Mr. E. G. Flanagan was elected in his place. The directors are R. C. Flanagan, D. J. Whichard, H. A. White, J. B. James, D. C. Moore, S. T. White, C. T. Munford, W. A. Bowen, B. W. Moseley, C. C. Vines, C. O'H. Laughinghouse, and E. G. Flanagan.

The directors met immediately after the adjournment of the shareholders and unanimously re-elected the following officers:

R. C. Flanagan, president.
D. J. Whichard, vice-president.
H. A. White, secretary and treasurer.

J. B. James, attorney.
The board extended a rising vote of thanks to the president and secretary for their faithful services.

BASE BALL MONDAY.

Greenville Defeats Tarboro in Score 6 to 5.

The Tarboro high school ball team, accompanied by a number of rooters, came down Monday to play a game with the Greenville high school boys. The game was called at 2:30 p. m., but owing to a lot of contention on the part of the visitors as to who should play on the home team, about an hour was lost.

When they did "play ball" the game went through with vim and interest, there being good playing on the part of both teams. The score was as follows:

	R.	H.	E.
Tarboro	001	100 300—5 6 9
Greenville	210	200 001—6 9 6

"WHO IS WHO?" NO LONGER A MYSTERY

MANY COMPETE FOR THE PRIZES

Key to the Puzzle and List of Prize Winners Given.

The page advertisement of "Who is Who?" published in The Reflector a week ago, attracted much interest among our readers, and many have been at work on the puzzle getting their answers ready to be placed in the hands of the judges today. There were twenty-six lists handed in, and out of these two gave every advertisement correctly and one third missed only one name.

The judges, Messrs. F. M. Wooten, W. S. Atkins, C. S. Forbes and A. M. Moseley, went carefully over the lists this morning. Finding that Mr. B. F. Taylor and Miss Ward Moore both had correct lists, the judges lumped the first and second prizes together and awarded these $6 each. Mrs. J. Hillary's list won the third prize of $2.

Here is the answer to the puzzle advertisements that tell you "Who is Who?":

1. The National Bank of Greenville.
2. Hines-Murphy Company, bottling works.
3. Greenville Banking and Trust Company.
4. Moseley Bros. Insurance and real estate.
5. J. E. Williams, the grocery man.
6. J. L. Starkey, groceries.
7. L. M. Savage, feed and groceries.

One Negro Strikes Another On Head.

Thursday afternoon two negro youths, Freeman Hemby and John Robbins, who worked at the plant of the Greenville Lumber and Veneer Company, got in a difficulty, in which Hemby struck Robbins on the head with a brick, severely fracturing his skull. Physicians operated on Robbins, finding it necessary to remove a part of the broken bone, and he is in a critical condition.

Hemby's version of the difficulty is that Robbins was advancing on him with a drawn axe, when he picked up a brick and threw it at Robbins. This seems hardly plausible, as the blow was on the back of the head and indicated that Robbins had his back to him at the time the brick was thrown. Hemby was arrested and held to await developments of Robbins' injury.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

Carolina Wins From Guilford—Football Schedule for 1911.

Chapel Hill, N. C., May 2.—Carolina won from Guilford Friday 3 to 2 and so doing put the championship of the South Atlantic States in such a fix that, despite Carolina's failure to appropriate it, no other college in North Carolina or Virginia will venture to claim it.

The student body held a big mass meeting Friday night to welcome the team back from its victorious Northern trip on which it defeated Virginia, LaFayette and Georgetown. Speeches were made by several members of the faculty, notably Professor "Billy" Noble and afterwards the students gathered around a huge bonfire on the campus, singing the college hymn with more feeling than at any time in the past five years.

In the annual Fresh-Soph debate between the Philanthropic and Dialectic literary societies held in Gerard hall Wednesday, the Dialectic was the winner. The Phi men were S. W. Whiting and L. B. Gunter, the Di's were G. W. Ward and J. C. Busbee. The question was: "Resolved, That the Legislature Initiative and Referendum Should be Adopted in Several States of the Union." These inter-society debates, besides their importance for the debating training they give the participants, are valuable from an educational standpoint for the whole college. They are always on some question of present day importance and go a long way to keep the University men well informed on current events.

The Yackety Yack which will be circulated in a few days is said to be, for taste in color work, arrangement and picture grouping, the finest annual the University has ever produced.

Manager W. F. Hendricks has completed the following schedule for the 1911 football team:

October 7—Wake Forest at Chapel Hill.

October 14—Bingham (Asheville) at Chapel Hill.

October 21—Davidson at Charlotte.

October 28—U. S. S. Franklin at Durham or Chapel Hill.

November 4—V. P. I. at Richmond.

November 11—U. of S. C. at Chapel Hill.

November 18—Washington and Lee at Norfolk.

Thanksgiving Day—University of Virginia at Richmond.

The schedule which was supervised in large part by Mr. Branch Bock, who will coach the team, is much lighter than that of last season. The prospects are that only four or five letter men will be back. Captain Winston will lead a practically new team and many people regard this as a fortunate circumstance. The squad last fall was if anything a little too experienced. They did not catch on to the new suits of the faster game as it was played under new rules. Encouraged by the fine showing of the other athletic teams of 1911 and coached by a man who was a fine record of success behind him at V. P. I., the Carolina team for 1911 will make a fresh start and it is hoped a new record for Carolina.

FARMING IMPLEMENTS

The Most of them Should Last 15 or 20 Years.

Even where there has been a considerable investment in improved implements, it is very rare that any thing like adequate buildings and sheds have been provided for their protection, and it is a distressingly common thing to see implements, even such expensive ones as mowers, and binders, left in the field where they were last used, until the season comes around for use again. As a consequence, there is a delay in starting the next time. Some of the parts are found to have rotted or rusted so badly that they will not do their work, and a repair bill is necessary.

The necessity for these repairs not only involves a delay in doing the work, but an additional expense. So well is this habit of neglecting the implements understood by many manufacturers that they can well afford to sell the original implement at cost, knowing that they will soon reap a rich reward in the profits from the sale repairs.

Of all the leaks on our Southern farms this is one for which there can be the least excuse and which can be most readily remedied. The most of the farm implements on the market today are well made of the most lasting material and in the main should last from 15 to 20 years if given even moderate care. The first step toward giving this care should be the providing of ample sheds and houses to protect them from the weather when not in use.—D. N. Barrow, in Progressive Farmer.

including attractive side trips, to Virginia Beach, Mount Vernon and Arlington, Prof. Frank M. Harper, Supt., Raleigh, Schools, will take a party of students of the Senior Grades of the Raleigh Public Schools to Washington, D. C., for an Educational Tour on May 29. Prof. Harper will not restrict his party to any locality, but invites any one of good character to join.

The purpose of the Tour is Educational—a trip to no other place is as instructive and interesting as to the beautiful City of Washington, the seat of our National Government. The Congress will be in (extraordinary) session.

Interesting features of the program will be a reception at the White House, by President Taft, and a visit to the Capitol of the United States, where the North Carolina Senators and Representatives will welcome the party.

A side trip will be made to Mount Vernon the Home of our first President.

Still another equally interesting side trip will be to Arlington, the home of the great Southern Chieftain—General Robert Edward Lee.

The journey up and down the historic Potomac River on the palatial new steamer, "Southland", of the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company, will be one delight after another. The entire trip will be full of interest.

OVERCROWDED SCHOOL.

The more The Reflector sees of the overcrowded condition of East Carolina Teachers' Training School in accommodation of students who desire to enter and obtain the benefits to be derived at this excellent institution, the more impatient we become at the short-sightedness of the last legislature in not making an appropriation for the enlargement and equipment of the school. Notwithstanding the needs of this school was called to the attention of the legislature, that body made liberal appropriations to every other state school for additional buildings and equipment, while the school here was given not a penny except for maintenance. And this in the face of the fact that the town of Greenville gave the school within $16,000 of the total sum the state has put into it, and the town and county of Pitt together $33,000 more than the entire state appropriations for it. Such treatment is a shame to the state.

Now what are the conditions? This school, which occupies a hitherto practically untouched field by a state educational institution, a section, too, where the need of such a school was greater than in any other section, finds itself in the second year of its existence overcrowded beyond its capacity. For the spring teachers' course that is now in progress there were more applications than could be accommodated, and twenty-five were turned away for want of room. It is yet a month to the beginning of the summer course, which starts June 6th, and already every applicant that can be accommodated for that course has been registered. Two weeks ago President Wright saw that the applications would exceed the number that could be taken in the dormitories, so he appealed to the people of Green-vile to open their homes and take students to board for a few weeks. While the response to this appeal was generous, enough names have come in to fill every home that was offered and this source of assistance has about reached its limit.

With such a condition existing there is nothing left to do but deny admission to further applicants, and this alternative has already begun, though every denial is made with regret. And with applications averaging twenty a week, by the time the summer course begins fully one hundred public school teachers seeking the advantages of this splendid school will be denied admission. As these teachers have an average of thirty pupils in their respective schools, and want to better equip themselves for teaching these, it means that three thousand children throughout Eastern North Carolina will be deprived of advantages that by good right belong to them.

Oh, the short-sightedness and nigardliness of the last legislature in its treatment of East Carolina Teachers' Training School, the school that, without exception, is doing better work for teachers than any other in North Carolina.

JUDGED BY ADVERTISING.

Wholesalers and manufacturers in the cities who do business with merchants throughout the towns of the country, frequently watch the newspapers of those towns to see how the merchants advertise and judge them accordingly. The Reflector has frequently been written for with that object in view, as well as received letters about certain advertisers. A few days ago a representative of a Northern firm interested in a special line called in person to examine the files of The Reflector in search of certain advertisements. Inquiring as to the circulation and advertising rates of The Reflector, he added, "with such a circulation every inch of space you have for sale ought to be taken at that price. We people up North would jump at such an opportunity for advertising as you offer the business men here."

MEMORIAL DAY.

Once more has come the day that brings together in annual reunion the veterans of the Confederacy. Their ranks grow thinner as each year goes by, and it touches the heart to see how few are remaining, and some of these feeble with age, as they come together on these annual occasions to place flowers on the graves of their departed comrades, and to mingle once more with those yet living and together talk over the things of the past. Death has preyed heavily upon Bryan Grimes' camp during the past year, taking away more of its members than in any one recent year. And some here today will have answered the last roll call before the next annual reunion, and before many years all of them will have passed over the river. These thoughts should inspire us to do all we can to fill their remaining days with brightness and cheer. We can never do too much for the old soldiers nor heap too great honors upon them.

MUST HAVE THE PASS.

Says The Wilmington Dispatch: "They are going to make seamless hosiery in Concord. How about seamless hosiery?" Nobody would buy the latter. Hosiery is worn to be seen. At least, that is the impression most of the female wearers seem to be endeavoring to create.—Greensboro Telegram.

Ha, ha! Ho, ho! Kindly excuse our merriment, but it does seem awfully funny to realize that Fain, of The Telegram, is as big and as brazen a rubber-neck as Whichard, of the Reflector. We never thought there could be such another.—Wilmington Dispatch.

Don't shout too quick, my boy. Fain can't come in our class if his head is off color. Let him send in his credentials for examination. As to rubber-necking, we are out of that.

We took a trip down Tar river Monday, for the first time in several years, and could not fail to observe the bad condition for navigation that has recently come from neglect. The government has done no work on this river in the last few years, and congress ought to hurry to make an appropriation for it. The river is too valuable a stream to neglect, and the longer work on it is delayed the more it will cost to do the work. The river should be put in condition for a channel 8 feet deep all the way to Greenville.

Detective Burns, like a great many other human beings, seems to care more about getting his name and picture in print than he does about what he says. He is making some very strong charges, and whether he can prove them remains to be seen. One thing, he has made an ass of Gompers. Silence is the best policy, and both men are losing the respect of the people because they don't see it that way.

You can talk to people about it and they will tell you Greenville is missing much in not taking advantage of using the river front. Yet nobody makes a move to that end. It offers opportunities for pavilions, bath houses, and even a park, if advantages were only taken of it. Some of these days the mistake of delay may be realized.

Congressman Mondell, of Wyoming, has introduced a resolution for general woman suffrage. He wants to amend the constitution to read: "Rights of citizens shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

If a good thing costs no more than a bad thing, it looks like the part of wisdom to have the good thing. Yet there are people who prefer to have bad roads, when it would cost them less to have good roads.

This being the "day after," there need not be much surprise that The Reflector is a little shy on editorial. As Jim Robinson once remarked, we spent last night filling up on "inside plate matter."

Judging from the amount of Mexican money Diaz is having made into gold bullion, he is determined that if the revolutionist get control they will not have enough coin to operate with.

One of the drawbacks to Greenville is the lack of ample hotel accommodation. We hope this year will supply this need, or at least have plans perfected looking to that end.

If there was as much co-operation for manufacturing enterprises in Greenville as there is for some other things, you would see this town hum.

Next Friday, 12th, will be the meeting of the board of governors of Pitt County Fair Association. Every member of the board should be present.

What is the use of passing that two ticket window law if every place in the state except seven is to be excepted from its operations?

Greenville could not complain that Thursday night was a dull one, with a ten cents show, a minstrel and a banquet all going on.

According to weather bureau forecasts, there will be summer weather sometime this week. Here's hoping they have guessed right.

As long as he don't Diaz Madero asks him to, there will continue to be trouble in Mexico.

Greenville's hotel needs have not yet been supplied, but there is talk of doing something in that direction.

The way the months are slipping by it will not take long to get to the other end of 1911.

The free list bill does not mean that you are going to get anything free if it passes.

The electric service people are thinking they will not get a chance to run fans.

Miss May is certainly treating us coolly.

The tax assessor is on to his job.

If you see a good thing head it towards Greenville.

If spring has been backward, the leaves are nearly grown.

It might not be bad policy to place your order for June coal.

You must either take the flies or the flies will take you.

Overcoats and fires are back for a return engagement.

The thing that beats the air most now is the base ball bat.

News from Mexico continues to be about as changeable as the weather.

If you want to talk about a good thing, let Greenville be your subject.

The right kind of advertising, the kind that pays, is in the newspapers.

The leaves are not all grown by the 10th of May this time, but most of them are.

If a man and his wife are really one, and she calls him a fool, who is she talking about?

The free list bill has got through the lower house of congress by a vote of 236 to 109.

Work Dishonorable!

The great majority of human beings in civilized lands have to work, and for earning an honest living by more or less expert handicraft there is a measly, snobbish element of idlers with more money than brains who would put the taboo mark of the thing called "society" upon them. An editorial in the Pensacola Journal says:

In this country, which is supposed to be the "land of the free and the home of the brave," comes the report from one of the government schools that a young man was told to discontinue his attentions to a young woman because she was only a working girl.

The outcome has not been reached, but it will unquestionably end in the young man winning out and exercising the privilege of choosing the companions he wishes to take to the entertainments, regardless of what the custom and precedent has been.

Army and navy officers have no reason to feel above the common workman in the streets, of the workman in any line of trade, for it is these workers that pay their salaries and it is a pity that there are such pin-headed, contemptible and foolish men in charge of the school at Annapolis as to object to the working people being on friendly terms with the students.

In the departments of the government is where true democracy and friendly feeling should prevail. When the superior officers assume to dictate the associates of those under them this ceases to be a free country.

The working classes are just as good as the members of other more fortunate classes, and this is being demonstrated every day when cases like that of the young man in question arise. In this case he will take for a life companion one of the working classes who has the qualities and courage of a gentlewoman.

That the young woman was denied recognition in Annapolis society is a disgrace to the institution, a disgrace to the nation, and a disgrace to our civilization. The young man is to be commended for the attitude he assumed and those responsible for the insult should be given several swift kicks and debarred from the society of respectable people.

Assuming that our contemporary has its premises correct, we heartily endorse what it has said. A working girl can be a gentlewoman and a lady in America, no less than those who spend their days in changing fine dresses, attending teas, card parties and tilting their haughty noses with scorn if they happen to pass in the street or see an honest work-girl. The commander-in-chief of the army would be justified in summarily removing any officer whose foppishness and snobbery would lead him to take such a stand as is quoted in the foregoing, assuming the only criticism that could be made of the young woman was that she was a "working girl." To do otherwise would dishonor thousands of good mothers, and outrage the virtue of a vast majority of American girls—the girls who will be the mothers of the future greatness of this country. Glory to the young man who would slap such silly twaddle and foppish tommyrot in the face and stand by his "working girl." He is more fit for an army officer than his scramble-brained chief—who is his superior by sufferance and not on merit.—Greensboro News.

Cotton As An Asset.

A British expert at Manchester writes to the Department of Commerce and Labor that "any material reduction in the cotton crop of the United States through vagaries of weather, attack of parasites or other causes would be followed by disaster to the cotton trade and great loss and suffering to the people. A crop of 12,000,000 bales in the United States added to 8,000,000 produced elsewhere is now regarded as necessary to meet normal requirements and every successive year increases the world's mill capacity. In less than ten years at the present rate of natural increase in the demand, the requirements of the mills may be 28,000,000 to 30,000,000 bales per annum."

The New Orleans Picayune figures it out that last year, our cotton crop brought into this country $550,000,000. "But the Picayune does well to explain that "this amount represents the raw cotton sold abroad, and since manufacturing increases its value according to the character of the articles made from it from ten to one hundred fold, think what that $550,000,000 worth of raw cotton would be valued at if manufactured." As to the future, The Picayune says that one day last week, in an address before the South Carolina Bankers' Association at Charleston, Mr. John M. Gardin, vice-president of the National City Bank of New York, is reported to have made the statement that in the not distant future no American cotton in the raw state will be shipped because it will be found more profitable to manufacture it at home and ship the woven fabrics to the world's trade. It is said that every sagacious man of business who has recently been in the South has been impressed with the belief that cotton manufacturing is to be greatly increased in the South soon after the opening of the Panama canal. That artificial ocean highway will make it possible for American manufacturers to reach the foreign markets much more speedily and economically than the cotton manufacturers of Europe can do—at least the markets of South America and the Orient.

It is with this increase of cotton manufacture in the South in view, that already capital in large amounts has been invested in the development of water powers whose energies is to be converted into electricity and utilized in the operation of cotton mills.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Wireless On All Steamships.

It is barely five years since the wireless telegraph passed out of the experimental stage and was universally recognized as a practical means of long-distance communication. By July 1 every ocean-going steamship leaving an American port that carries fifty persons, including passengers and crew, by law must be equipped with a wireless-telegraph outfit capable of sending messages 100 miles.

Nothing more important has been done in many years to increase the safety of travel at sea than the general installation of wireless. Under the new system not only will every steamship be provided with better means of self-protection, but it will be a means of protection for other ships. The quickness with which relief arrived from different quarters at the time of the collision that resulted in the sinking of the Republic demonstrated once for all how hereafter the ocean is to be dotted with life-saving stations.

Other uses of the wireless at sea are to be regarded as a convenience for passengers and owners that could be dispensed with without great loss. The compulsory adoption of it by all passenger-carrying steamships has now become almost as much of a safeguard against disaster as a proper equipment of life-boats.—New York World.

The Recall.

It is probable that the experience of Greensboro with the recall may be a reputation of that of Tacoma. The Pacific coast city has already had four recall elections, resulting in the retirement of a mayor and four commissioners, and a fifth election has been scheduled to keep the ball moving. It seems that under the recall, a new election can be held under petition of a certain per cent of citizens. In Greensboro the percentage is 25. Obviously, it is easy to get 25 per cent of the people of a town to sign any sort of a petition, especially one aimed at the ruling members of an administration. In the Greensboro case the new administration is charged with having violated the charter in holding a secret session. Wherefore, petitions, it is said, are being circulated for another election. Greensboro might simplify matters by coming to an understanding to swap mayors and commissioners every month, so that during the term provided for by its commission form of government, all of its ambitious citizens may have had a whack at municipal management.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Not Forgiven.

The work, which is being accomplished at the Eastern Carolina Teachers' Training School may be gauged by the report that although the beginning of the summer term is yet a month off the utmost capacity of the institution will be taxed to handle applications already made, and in addition President Wright has secured board and lodgings in Greenville for as many as is possible. The Greenville Reflector has never forgiven the late legislature for failing to increase the equipment and facilities of this school.—Charlotte Observer.

VERY HANDSOME BAY STEAMERS

CITY OF BALTIMORE AND CITY OF NORFOLK

PLY BETWEEN NORFOLK, BALTIMORE

Chesapeake Steamship Co. Put Into Service Finest Steamers on the Bay —Has 148 Staterooms, Equipped With Wireless Telegraph and Extensive System of Telephones—Sunday Service.

The steamer City of Norfolk, the newest steamer of the Chesapeake Steamship Company, is due to arrive from Baltimore on her maiden trip between Norfolk and Baltimore this morning, (May 1).

With a large number of passengers and a large cargo of freight the new steamer in command of Captain Thomas, who is well known here, owing to his frequent visits here in command of other vessels of the Chesapeake Steamship Company, left Baltimore at 6:30 o'clock last night.
As she has not had her trial trip in Baltimore, it is thought that she will be let out on her trip down the Chesapeake Bay, to see what she really can do.

Her contract calls for her to make the trip between Norfolk and Baltimore, a distance of 185 miles, in ten hours, which is at the rate of eight-teen-and-a-half miles an hour, and if the performance of her sister ship the City of Baltimore can be used as a comparison, she will have no trouble in filling contract requirements.

Mr. Key Compton, president of the Chesapeake Steamship Company and a large party of Baltimoreans are coming down on the vessel, and will remain over here until she sails on return to Baltimore on Monday night.

Miss Celestine Finley, who christened the boat with the proverbial bottle of champagne, when she was launched at the ship yard of the Maryland Steel Company, at Sparrow's Point, Md., on December 3, last, is also on board the vessel.

Telephone System and Wireless.
With her big sister ship, the City of Baltimore, the City of Norfolk will be one of the finest vessels plying in the bay trade, not only in construction, but also in accommodations and comfort for the passengers.

These two vessels have all modern arrangements and besides having wireless, have a private branch telephone exchange, extending to all staterooms on the vessel.

Upon the arrival of the vessel at either Norfolk or Baltimore, the telephone lines are connected up with the switchboard at the telephone exchange there, so any one can telephone from the boat to his home, announcing his arrival, or for them to send his automobile or cab to meet him.

The City of Norfolk and the City of Baltimore Sister Ships.

The City of Norfolk and the City of Baltimore are sister ships and are of the same design and construction.
Their dimensions are as follows:
Length over all, 310 feet; length between perpendiculars, 296 feet; beam moulded at deck, 46 feet 6 inches; beam moulded at water line, 42 feet;
beam moulded over guards, 60 feet;

depth of hold, 18 feet; draft at ordinary trim, 13 feet 3 inches.
The machinery will consist of a four-cylinder, triple-expansion, surface condensing engine, cylinders measuring 24-40-47-47 inches by 24 inch stroke. There will be four slug-le and Scotch boilers, 13 feet 6 inches diameter by 11 feet 4 inches long, and 190 pound pressure.

Each vessel will have a licensed passenger capacity of 400 people and a carrying capacity of 650 tons of high-class merchandise freight. The latest type refrigerating plant with a capacity of 6,000 cubic feet will be installed on each vessel.

New Steamer Has 148 Staterooms.

There are 148 staterooms, located as follows: seven on the main deck, 83 on the saloon deck, and 58 on the gallery deck. Twelve of the rooms will connect with baths, which will have hot and cold, fresh and salt water, when ten additional rooms will have hot and cold, fresh and salt shower baths.

They will be lighted throughout by electricity. The main saloon is furnished in mahogany, while the gallery deck and staterooms are in white and old ivory. An attractive feature of the new vessel is the dining room, which is located on the gallery deck forward. This enables the passengers to have a view of the harbors of Norfolk and Baltimore while they are enjoying their meals and the outbound trip.

Another innovation to be installed by the Chesapeake Steamship Company is a Sunday boat on the trip between the two largest cities on the Chesapeake Bay and tributaries—
Norfolk and Baltimore.

As both of the new vessels of the company, the City of Norfolk and the City of Baltimore are in commission the Sunday service will be inaugurated on next Sunday night.—Norfolk Landmark, April 30th.

Yes, dear reader, catarrh can be cured; but not by pouring vile, nauseating drugs into the stomach.

and multiply in the nose and throat.

Can you kill these tough and perswallowing pills or nostrum? Any physician will tell you it cannot be done.

HYOMEI (pronounced High-o-me) is a germ killing vaporized air which, when breathed either through the mouth or nose, will kill catarrh germs and soothe and heal the inflamed and mutilated membrane promptly. It gives relief in two minutes.

HYOMEI is such a powerful germ destroyer that it penetrates every fold and crevice of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat.

A Liberal Supply to be Planted in the River Here.

Mr. H. A. White, president of the chamber of commerce, is in receipt of a letter from Congressman John H.
Small advising that the United States commissioner of fisheries has agreed to make a liberal planting of young shad in Tar river at Greenville. The young shad will be taken from the shad hatchery at Edenton and shipped here in charge of a messenger.
Planting these young shad here will increase the run of shad up Tar river in the next few years.

Specimen of What a Farmer Makes.

There is nothing like having the proof of a thing. Reflector readers have learned something about what an excellent farmer Mr. W. A. Darden is, and that he makes the best of everything about his place. He lives in the Willow Green section of Greene county, not far from the Pitt line, and frequently comes over this way. He was here Thursday and calling around to see The Reflector man handed him a tin bucket with the remark "Here is something to put on your biscuits." It did not take long to find that the bucket contained some of the finest butter that can be made, and it was made right on Mr. Darden's farm.

Its Effect On The Present High Cost Of Living.

In discussing the little phrase
'cost of high living' we want to identify it with 'waste' as it exists in the American home of moderate means.
Folly causes waste among the idle rich; ignorance causes it among the wretchedly poor. But in the home over which there presides an apparently intelligent, earnest woman, why should there be waste? Because intelligence and earnestness go down before three factors of modern life—haste, false values and false pride.
The little leaks which in the end represent the cost of high living can be traced to one of these three causes.
Of late years the American woman has adopted the slogan of her husband and son, 'Time is Money.' She seizes upon every time-saving device. She rushes her housekeeping as her husband rushes his employees.
The result is a peculiar form of high living in the home that did not exist when more time was given to its management," says Woman's Home Companion.

"Take the single item of marketing.
Investigators have reported that only one-third of the housekeepers in American cities and towns do their own marketing. The other two-thirds intrust it, save on special occasions, to servants, children and the telephone. In the average town where the telephone service is unlimited three-fourths of the ordering at the butcher shops and groceries is done over the wire. Dealers all approve the telephone method because it is a timesaver for them as well as the customer. Many of them maintain that it is fully as economical for the housewife, but actual investigation proves that this is not true. The housewife who selects her meals and green vegetables with personal care and discusses comparative prices of different brands in groceries saves from five to fifteen per cent. on her orders. These figures were furnished by representatives of three reliable firms in as many typical American cities: New York, Detroit and Baltimore, and the same figures have been found to hold good in smaller cities and towns. Yours may be the exception to the rule, but find out for yourself if this is so; don't take any body's word for it."

"At The Door."

I thought myself indeed secure,
So fast the door, so firm the lock;
But lo! the toddling comes to lure
My parent ear with timorous knock.

My heart were stone could it withstand
The sweetness of my baby's plea—
That timorous, baby knocking and
"Please let me in—it's only me."

I threw aside the unfinished book,
Regardless of its tempting charms,
And opening wide the door I took My laughing darling in my arms.

Who knows but in eternity,
I, like a truant child, shall wait
The glories of a life to be,
Beyond the Heavenly Father's gate?

And will that Heavenly Father heed
The truant's supplicating cry,
As at the outer door I plead,
"Tis I, O Father! only I?"

OVER IN CHINA

Where The Elephants Are Made To Do The Work.

One morning I got up early and went to McGregor & Co.'s lumber yard at Ahloon to see the trained elephants there handle the heavy saw-logs which it is necessary to move from place to place. It beats a circus. It is very clear that My Lord, the Elephant, like most other beings in the tropics, doesn't entirely approve of work. What he did did with infinite deliberation, and he stopped much to rest between tugs. Also when some enormous log, thirty or forty feet long and two or three feet thick, was given him to pull through the mire, he would roar mightily at each hard place, getting down on his knees sometimes to use his strength to better advantage, and we could hardly escape the conclusion that at times he "cussed" in violent Elephantese. The king of the group, a magnificent tusker, pushed the logs with his snout and tusks, while the others pulled them with chains. But the most marvelous thing is how the barefooted, half-naked driver of mahout, astride the great giant's shoulders, makes him understand what to do in each case by merely kicking his neck or prodding his ears.

At one time while I watched a tuskerless elephant or mutna got his log stuck in the mud and was tugging and roaring profanely at his trials, when the tusker's mahout bid that royal beasts go help his troubled brother. Straightway, therefore, went the tusker, leaving great holes in the mud at each footprint as if a tree had been uprooted there, gave a mighty shove to the recalcitrant log, and there was peace again in the camp.

For stacking lumber the elephant is especially useful. Any ordinary-sized log, tree or piece of lumber he will pick up as if it were a piece of stovewood and tote with his snout, and in piling heavy plank he is remarkably careful about matching. Eyeing the pile at a distance he looks to see if it is uneven or any single piece out of place, in which case he is quick to make it right. The young lady in our party was also much amused when the mahout called out, Salaam to Memsahib. ("Salute the lady"), and his lordship bowed and made his salutation as gracefully as his enormous head and forelegs would permit.—Clarence Poe, in Progressive Farmer.

WASHINGTON CONGRESSIONAL NEWS

SCHEDULE "K" IS THE NEXT IN ORDER

TAFT ANTAGONIZES PROGRESSIVES

Aldrich is Senator—DeFacto Keeps in Close Touch With Protégés—Progressives Given One-Fourth Representation on Committees—Wickersham is Worried.

(By Clyde Tavenner).

Washington, May 9.—(Special).—The group of Senate Tories is still able to exert a tremendous influence upon legislation. Having packed the important committees with men who take the corporation attitude toward the particular legislation to come before those committees, the reactionaries are in a position to continue serving special privilege by obstructing, and perhaps preventing, the passage of legislation desired by the people.

Among those whom the public may safely rely upon to oppose most of the progressive house measures are Gallinger, Smoot, Lorimer, Gugenheim, Stephenson, Lodge, Oliver, Warren, Perkins and a dozen others, who will at all times have the hearty co-operation of Vice-President Sherman.

Back of this group of reactionaries are arrayed the tariff trusts, the railroads, Wall street, Standard Oil and the balance of the organized wealth of the country.

The Democrats and Progressive Republicans are pitted against this combination. The two forces will, when necessary, combine to prevent the passage of a bad bill, but they will be helpless at times to prevent the Tories from obstructing the passage of Democratic legislation such as the free list bill.

About the only thing the average citizen can do is to keep tab on the votes of his individual representative in both houses and senate, noting particularly whether they vote for or against measures desired by the people, and when election, times rolls around to act accordingly.

Aldrich Senator De Facto.

Cooperating with the senate reactionaries who are planning to kill the free list bill and other similar anti-trust measures, is Nelson William Aldrich, of Rhode Island. Not only Mr. Aldrich is connected with an institution of his own creation, called the monetary commission. The commission has a suite of rooms adjoining the rooms occupied by the finance committee, to which the free list bill will go.

If it should happen, opines the Cleveland Press, that the door were open between the rooms of the finance committee and the rooms of the monetary commission, it might happen that former Senator Aldrich might communicate with Senator Penrose, the new chairman of the finance committee, and thus the titular head of the senate majority might have the benefit of the views of the ex-leader (and possibly leader de facto) of the United States senate.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Aldrich keeps in as close touch with the men he trained to be reactionaries as when he was actually a member of the senate.

Taft Antagonizes Progressives.

President Taft took the leading part in the fight against giving the progressive Republicans of the senate the committee places they demanded, which fight resulted in leaving all the big senate committees the same citadels of special privilege that they were in the previous congress.

Before the Republican caucus was held the regular Republicans of the senate signed an agreement by which they agreed to give the progressives a one-fourth representation on all the committees. Senator Penrose, who signed the agreement for the regulars, is said to have bitterly arraigned his regular colleagues for putting him in the position of breaking his political word, which he declared he had always especially prided himself upon keeping inviolate.

It now develops that Penrose's breach of faith with the progressives was forced by white house pressure. President Taft considers progressives like La Follette his personal enemies and he does not want them in a position to assist in bringing about the passage of legislation like the farmers' free list bill, which they could do by combining with the Democrats if given the representation on the big committees to which their numerical strength entitles them.

Schedule "K" Is Next.

Schedule K, the joker-filled wool schedule of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, will be the subject of the first general tariff revision of the Democratic house.

All the jokers by which rates have been piled one upon another until the total has been far in excess of 100 per cent. are to be abolished.

Likewise there will be abolished the infamous provisions of the Payne-Aldrich law, by which material containing wool, but really made of cotton, is taxed as wool. The average reduction on all items in the woolen schedule is expected to reach at least 25 per cent.

What the Democrats propose will cause a tremendous outcry from the woolen trust and its allies, the producers of raw wool, and will, no doubt, provoke men like Warren, of Wyoming, Lippett, of Rhode Island, and the other high protectionists of the senate into predicting the downfall of the nation.

Wickersham is Worried.

United States Attorney General Wickersham is worrying. He is afraid the investigations to be made into the affairs of the steel trust, sugar trust, shoe trust and woolen trust will give these concerns immunity from prosecution. As all of these concerns, with the exception of a few $18 a week employees of the sugar trust, have enjoyed absolute immunity from prosecution and investigation since the day Mr. Wickersham left the service of the sugar trust to become the chief prosecuting officer of the government, it is difficult to understand how the immunity which they might receive, but will not, through congressional investigations, could be any more complete than the immunity Mr. Wickersham has given them.

Should be Interesting.

The inquiry to be made by the house of representatives into the political machine of Postmaster General Hitchcock is one in which the whole country will be interested. The resolution of inquiry directs the postoffice committee to determine how much political work is performed by postmasters and subordinate officers in the postoffices of the country, and by what authority they neglect their official duties and violate the civil service law. It has long been charged that through postoffice department patronage the postmaster general has established a machine for the control of delegates to the national convention.

YOUNG SHAD HAVE BEEN PLANTED IN TAR RIVER

GOVERNMENT SENDS THEM HERE

Half a Million Were Liberated at Greenville Monday Afternoon.

By Monday afternoon's Norfolk Southern twelve cans containing a half million young shad were brought to Greenville. The young fish were from the government shad hatchery at Edenton, and were in charge of Mr. L. J. Copeland, who is connected with the hatchery. The fish were taken directly from the depot to the wharf where Mr. Copeland liberated them in Tar river.

This is the first planting of young shad ever made in Tar river, and it was through the efforts of Congressman John H. Small that this shipment was sent here. President H. A. White, of the chamber of Commerce, Agent J. L. Hassell, of the Norfolk Southern, and the editor of The Reflector accompanied Mr. Copeland to the wharf to plant the fish. Mr. Copeland said these young shad were hatched last Saturday, and they will attain their growth in three years when they will return to the river in which they were liberated. He also said that from the best statistics obtainable of these plantings about 50 per cent. of them live and reach their growth. If this holds good three years hence should find a large run of shad up Tar river.

BASE BALL THAT WAS WORTH THEIR WHILE

PLYMOUTH GETS DEFEATED.

An Interesting Game Played Monday Afternoon.

A fast and interesting game of ball was that played out at the park, Monday afternoon, by teams of Greenville and Plymouth. It was a closely contested game, too, the score being 6 to 5 in favor of the home team. The number of spectators was large, and good players on both sides were heartily applauded.

Prominent features of the game were a home run by Jordan, the pitching of both Brown and Ragsdale, and a long run catch in field by Forbes.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Greenville 000 200 002—6 5 7
Plymouth 000 300 200—5 4 6
Batteries: Greenville, Ragsdale and Jordan; Plymouth, Brown and Joyner. Umpires, Skinner and Woodward.

Struck out by Ragsdale 8, by Brown 8. Bases on balls off Ragsdale, 0; off Brown, 2.
Time, 1 hour 25 minutes.

N. C. PRESS CONVENTION.

Date of Meeting Changed From June 20 to 27.

As a result of the conference in Salisbury Wednesday, between President M. L. Shipman and Secretary John B. Sherrill, of the North Carolina Press Association, it was decided to hold the summer meeting at Blowing Rock this year, beginning June 27 instead of June 20. This change is made because of the State Bankers' and State Retail Merchants' associations holding their conventions at Hendersonville about June 20, and also the Baptist World Alliance meets in Philadelphia June 29, and many North Carolina editors desire to attend this.—Salisbury Post.

PROOF ESTABLISHED.

That Reflector Advertisements Are Always Read.

The misplaced word contest that appeared in Monday's paper showed conclusively that advertisements in The Reflector are read. In an hour after the paper had gone out answers were coming in and a stream of them have followed since. So many correct answers have been received that it was not necessary to continue the advertisement longer. The answers were numbered as received, and the prizes will be awarded next Monday to the three first correct answers.

Keep a watch on the paper for another contest that will follow.

MR. WILLIAM F. STEESE.
Mr. William F. Steese, 701 Coburn St., Akron, Ohio, writes:

"I have been troubled for several years with catarrh of the stomach. Have used different patent medicines to no effect whatever, and have doctored considerably with family doctor. Sometimes his treatment would relieve me for a few weeks, but would eventually have to go back to him, and that had kept up for several years."

"I was advised to use Peruna, and have taken three bottles. Never felt so good in my life. Am going to continue using it. Wouldn't be without it in the house. I will gladly recommend it to anyone afflicted with catarrh of stomach, or stomach trouble of any kind."

The above is an oft-repeated story. Troubled for years with chronic catarrh. Tried different remedies and doctors to no avail. Peruna was advised by friends. Instant relief experienced. Great gratitude to Peruna expressed. This, in brief, is a story that is repeated to us a great many times every year.

No one could be in touch with our vast correspondence for one month without being impressed with the sincerity and truthfulness of these kind of testimonials.

Peruna promptly produces an appetite, corrects digestion and relieves stomach difficulties that have resisted other treatment.

BRYAN GRIMES CAMP

CONFEDERATE VETERANS

HOLD THEIR ANNUAL REUNION.

Large Crowd Present—Magnificent Speech by Mr. Dunn.

This Memorial Day dawned bright and balmy, and at an early hour people were coming in town to attend the reunion of Bryan Grimes Camp of Confederate veterans.

Before the hour of assembling, the veterans met and chatted each other, while the visitors sought out places of advantage to view the parade.

At ten o'clock the line formed on Third street near the court house square, and headed by a drum corps marched out Evans and Ninth streets to the Star warehouse, where the exercises took place. There were about 120 veterans in line.

At the warehouse a large crowd had assembled, the Daughters of the Confederacy and Children of the Confederacy also going in a body. Here Mr. R. W. King, chairman of the committee of arrangements, called on Rev. C. M. Rock for the invocation.

An address of welcome to the visitors, eloquent and cordial, was delivered by Mayor F. M. Wooten.

Major Harding, Commander of Bryan Grimes Camp, responded to the address of welcome, and extended greetings to his comrades.

A class from the Training School sang "Carolina."

This was followed with a recitation "The Sword of Lee," by Miss Fannie Spain, of the graded school, and "The Conquered Banner," by Miss Herndon.

"Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" was sung by the Training School class, which was followed with a recitation "Reply to Conquered Banner," by Miss Nina Harris.

Mr. J. B. James then in appropriate words introduced the orator of the day, Mr. Albion Dunn. Mr. Dunn in recounting the deeds of valor of Lee and Jackson, made one of the most brilliant Memorial Day addresses that the veterans of Pitt county have had the pleasure of hearing at any of their reunions. In concluding he paid a beautiful tribute to Gen. Bryan Grimes in whose honor the camp of Pitt county is named.

The Reflector would have been glad to print the speech in full, but its length forbade that, and it was too excellent to give in broken extracts. It was a master piece of oratory and those who heard it enjoyed a feast.

At the conclusion of Mr. Dunn's admirable address, Commander H. Harding stated to the camp that the only compensation the ladies and others requested in return for this day's pleasure provided for the old soldiers, was that they should give the "Rebel Yell," and when the command came the yell sounded with spirit.

There were then cries from the camp for "Jarvis," and our distinguished citizen responded in a few words of cheer and incidents of the war in which they fought together.

After the speaking, Rev. C. W. Ware pronounced the benediction, and as the Training School class sang "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," the veterans again formed in line to march to the Liberty warehouse for dinner. Here a bountiful dinner had been prepared for them, and this brought to a conclusion a delightful reunion.—Daily Reflector, 10th.

Notice.

Mr. R. C. White has purchased my drug store, which was operated under the firm name of Coward & Wooten. Mr. White, assisted by Mr. Charlie Horne, a registered druggist, will continue the business at the same stand, fully equipped to carry on the business as it has been conducted by myself, and I commend them to the patrons of Coward & Wooten, trusting that such patrons will give Mr. White the same liberal patronage given me in the past.

A Card.

I offer myself a candidate for mayor of our town, and trust that the people may see fit to elect me to the office for the next term. And if elected, it is my purpose to devote my time to the work of the office, and living in the open air as much as possible.

I shall keep office in the office building now being built by Jno. L. Wooten. I am sincerely grateful to every one of you for both your patronage and your confidence which you have given me.

and the material wealth and happiness of our state will know no bounds. Indeed this part of our dear old state will become one of the garden spots of the world.

In the last twelve months I have been through our country to Massachusetts in the northeast, to Wisconsin in the northwest, on through the southern states to Mississippi, and I can truthfully say to you I have not seen a section with greater possibilities than we have here at home. I see no reason why we should not have here as prosperous, as happy a people as the world in all her fullness can produce. Our climate for the twelve months is as fine as can be found; our soil is rich or lends itself to fertility, and the native ability of our people is as great as any to be found. The key to success for us in EDUCATION spelled in capitals. We are about the most homogenous people on the American continent, and we will remain so if we awake to our opportunities. But if we do not awake to our opportunities, struggling humanity in less favored localities will straggle in and take possession by degrees and our sons and daughters will gradually sell their birthright for a mess of pottage.

Friends let me insist upon it, the safe guard of our liberties and the key to our prosperity, is education.

But our people will never be properly educated until the teachers have been properly trained for this most serious civic duty. It is because of a conscious realization of this fact that our state has established and is maintaining the school at Greenville. You may call me an enthusiast, a crank, if you will, but the burden of my life, yes, my life, itself is in this work. I care not for riches, or honor, but I do care for that little child, who is soon to assume the stern responsibilities of life. I want him to be able to face those responsibilities with the preparation that will enable him to cope with them successfully. Fellow teachers, do you, not see the responsibilities resting upon your shoulders? Are you prepared to meet those responsibilities as they should be met? I am not making this plea to get you to get to Greenville, God forbid that I should be so base, but I do appeal to you from a conscious realization of the responsibilities resting upon you to make the preparation you can to meet with success the noble work you are now undertaking and I don't care where you get your preparation, just so you get it. But the trained teacher must have the support of the people.

The hope of our state is in the education of its youth and the hope of this education is in the trained teacher.

Get the knowledge necessary and couple with that knowledge a high and noble purpose and your efforts will be crowned with success.

MUSICAL AND ART EXHIBIT

ANOTHER NIGHT OF GRADED SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT

THE PUPILS RENDER GOOD PROGRAM

The Art Exhibit One of Much Credit, Showing Progress Made by The Pupils in That Department of The School.

Though not so large as on the previous night, there was a considerable audience at the graded school Tuesday night in attendance upon the recital by the larger pupils of the music department. Those present were more than repaid, for a splendid program was well rendered, bearing testimony to the excellent training the pupils had received.

The program was as follows:

1. Solo—Cachoucha Raff.
Miss Lillie Lanier.
2. Solo—Sonata No. 12 .. Beethoven
Miss Rubelle Forbes.
3. Duet—Rustic Dance .. Hoffman.
Misses May Acca Warren and Mary Hart.
4. Solo—Mazurka Caprice
Miss Gertrude Critcher.
5. Solo—Love and Roses ... Rolfe
Miss Rena Smith.
6. Duet—March au Flambeaux ..
Misses Leota and Lucy Jenkins.
7. Solo—Grace Bohm

8. Duet—"Les Chasseurs a Cheval"

9. Solo—Covenant Chapel..Richards

10. Solo—Fourth Mazurka... Godard

11. Solo—Fantaisie Rosselen
Miss Annie Leonard Tyson.
12. Solo—La Gazelle .. Wollenhaupt
Miss Christine Johnston.
13. Solo—Grand March de Concert..
Miss Maude Lee.

The audience listened very attentively to the performers. Every number was rendered well. Superintendent Smith stated at the close that it was the best recital that the school has yet given.

In one of the class rooms on the first floor was an exhibition of specimens of drawing by the pupils of that department. To the lover of art this exhibit was of more than passing interest. Beginning with the first work by the primary pupils, the pictures showed the progressive steps through to the higher grades. There were specimens from objects from nature and from memory, some in pencil and some in color, that were indeed creditable.

In February the teacher, Miss Kate M. Lewis, offered three prizes to encourage independent work outside of school. The prizes were to be awarded to those persons who brought in the best collection at the end of the session. The prizes were awarded by a committee to Miss Rosa Exum, of the seventh grade, she winning the first prize for the best and largest collection; the second prize was awarded to Miss Novella Exum, of the fifth grade, and the third to Miss Emily Little, of the fourth grade.

This is the fourth year the subject of drawing has been taught in the graded school. The present teacher, Miss Kate W. Lewis, has brought the work up to a high standard of efficiency in the three years in which she has been in charge of it. The graded school authorities regret to give her up. Her work has always been satisfactory. However, the Training school, at which place she has taught two days per week for the past two sessions, will require all of her time hereafter. The Training school is to be congratulated on securing Miss Lewis.

The visitors to the art exhibit were served with lemonade by the teachers in charge.

Tonight the commencement exercises will conclude with a recital by the smaller music pupils.

NEW SMALL POX LAW.

It Might Interest You to Read And Ponder It.

A dispatch recently sent out from Raleigh sets forth very clearly the new law concerning smallpox, and it will be of considerable interest:

"No longer is this state to place guards at the door of the houses where smallpox appears. The last legislature modified the law, placing the quarantine regulations under the board of health and cutting off the appropriation of some $100,000 which annually cost to conduct the smallpox quarantine. Taking the position that smallpox is controllable by vaccination the state board of health in prescribing quarantine regulations and rules for whooping cough, measles, scarlet fever, yellow fever, cholera, bubonic plague, leaves off any concerning smallpox.

"On the other hand Dr. W. S. Rankin, secretary of the board of health, has had a number of pink and black posters printed with the following statement:

"Until lately the state required smallpox to be quarantined. The state board of health shall now no longer advocate or insist upon the quarantine of smallpox. The board takes this position for three reasons.

"First. Quarantine is uncertain protection; vaccination a certain protection. Quarantine works positive harm in many cases by giving people a false sense of security against the disease, thereby tempting them to forego the certain protection which vaccination would give.

"Second. Quarantine is a very expensive protection. The cost of the quarantine of smallpox to the state in recent years has approximated $100,000 annually, or enough to more than maintain the state university.

"Third. Quarantine is inequitable. By it the taxes that all contribute are used to protect a class. The majority of people, having been vaccinated, are already protected.

"Vaccination is a duty—a duty first to one's self, and second to one's community.

"We are giving this warning because the only way of attempting to handle smallpox by quarantine has caused many people to rely upon the state to protect them and have not been vaccinated. As quarantine will no longer be enforced throughout the state, those who have neglected to be vaccinated during the last five years are hereby notified of the danger their negligence in this matter exposes them to, and are urged to be vaccinated at the earliest moment.

"Remember that smallpox is the penalty of your own negligence and that you little deserve the sympathy of the public if you contract the disgraceful disease.

"The new health laws empower the chairman of the board of county commissioners to appoint a quarantine officer, who shall be paid by the county to take care of those cases of quarantine which are prescribed by the health board, such as yellow fever, cholera, typhus fever, etc.

"There is nothing, it is said, in the new laws which prevents the county from conducting smallpox quarantine on its own account. In fact, the burden of smallpox extermination is really shifted from the state to the individual and the county."
