NEGRO BOY KILLED.

Slain By Another Boy of Same Race.

Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, county coroner, was called out to the Windham farm, in Fakland township, to hold an inquest Monday afternoon. The facts as brought out at the inquest are about as follows:

On Sunday, August 13th, Heber Harris, colored, aged 13, was shot and killed. Mack Harris, aged 12 or 14 years, said that Heber shot himself. Alex Daniel, aged 13, said he saw the shooting, that Mack was in the house and when Heber came up Mack raised the gun and shot Heber; then Mack ran across the cotton patch and came back after a while with his mother and father.

The coroner's jury thought there was sufficient cause for Mack to be held for investigation by the grand jury, hence their verdict was that Heber Harris came to his death from a gun shot wound inflicted by Mack Harris.

GREENVILLE WINS THE CHAMPIONSHIP

COAST LINE LEAGUE PENNANT.

The Season Has Come To An End.

The Coast Line League season has closed with Greenville the proud possessor of the pennant. This league was composed of teams of Greenville, Ayden, Grifton and Kinston. It started out to have only home boys as players, but as the season went on some of the best college stars in the state were secured.

In the first part of the pennant race Greenville so outdistanced the others, that a call was made when eleven games had been played, Greenville losing only one. There was a start then for another series of twelve games, each of the teams having been materially strengthened. This second series ended with a tie between Greenville and Ayden, which the latter refused to play off and the pennant was awarded to Greenville.

The two teams, however, arranged for three post season games to be played here this week on successive days, and Greenville also came out winner in these.

While all of the teams had hired players it can be said to the credit of Greenville that her team used more home boys than any other in the league. In no game played were less than four home boys put up. All of the teams did well and played good ball. Some of the games were as brilliant as any of the crack leagues could produce. The out-of-town players on the Greenville team all proved to be clever gentlemen, and they helped to make a wide reputation for their team. They made many friends here.

Small Scrap.

MAD DOGS AROUND FARMVILLE

Several Canines Killed—One Bites a Horse.

A few weeks ago there was some excitement in and around Farmville over the appearance of mad dogs. The discussion grew pretty warm over whether or not there should be a slaughter of dogs, and when 23 dogs were found dead in a very short time the fighting stage was almost reached among the owners, about the only thing that prevented fighting sure enough being that nobody knew who to hold responsible for the death of his dog.

Now a squeal has come, some days ago a dog belonging to Mr. Will Thigpen bit one of his horses on the nose, only making a slight wound. Mr. Thigpen doctored the horse's nose and shut up the dog to await development. In a few days the dog went mad when Mr. Thigpen killed it and also another dog belonging to him. As a safeguard against danger from the horse, he has built a log pen in the woods and confined the horse in this pen until he can see if the horse goes mad.

FRONTIER DAY CARNIVAL.

The Entire City Elaborately Decorated in Honor of Celebration.

CHEYENNE, Wyoming, Aug. 23.—Excursion trains from as far distant as Omaha, Kansas City and Denver arrived here today with crowds of visitors to the Frontier Day carnival. The carnival is the fifth annual affair of its kind held in Cheyenne and every indication points to the largest crowd ever entertained here. The festivities will continue until the end of the week. The programme provides for numerous parades, races, pageants and competitions of various sorts in which hundreds of cowboys and Indians will participate. The entire city is elaborately decorated in honor of the celebration and among the residents and visitors alike the carnival spirit reigns supreme.

Too many people waste their time in condemning the work of others, instead of spending it in trying to improve their own.

A SUGGESTION AS TO GOOD ROADS

KEEP TRYING AND NOT GIVE UP

Place A Good Man As Superintendent Of All Road Work.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Aug. 22, 1911 Editor Reflector:

I am in favor of good roads, and have been reading some of the articles about good roads, hoping that some move might be made that would open the way for the work to begin; but bonds seem to keep the way blocked, for we can't get bonds and we can't get them out of the way to try something else.

I read the article in your paper where Mr. X. Y. Z., had discovered a plan to build the roads by bonds and to pay the interest on the bonds, and a part of the bonds each year, by using our present funds, that we collect from the taxes.

Well, I expect he was about right, but I had to wonder how he was going to keep the roads repaired, for I am sure that it will take more labor to keep the good roads repaired than we spend at this time on our roads. So it occurs to me that we might need all our present tax money to keep the roads repaired.

I have also read the other articles in your paper about what the legislature did and what others did, but they seem to be of an explosive nature, and I expect threw more dirt out of the road than in it. Let's keep trying and not give up, even if we have to make the roads without bonds. Let us amend our present system and start to work. Perhaps we can begin to plan in such a way that results will soon follow. I would suggest that we have the best practical man we can get for county superintendent of roads and let him have control of all labor overseers that are subject to road duties, and let him have them work full time, and as they work let them work to the best interest of the road by giving the proper drainage and shape to the road bed. Then, I would suggest that the county superintendent have control over the chain gang force to work them where it is not convenient for the overseer and his force to work. We might also let him have partial control of X. Y. Z's tax money, and instead of letting it be used to pay bond interest let it be used to buy the best tools and machines available, and let these be used among the overseers or chain gang, or any where else for the improvement of the road. Then if there is tax money still on hand, it might be used to hire special labor to be used on the roads where it might be used to the best advantage. We might be very lengthy in suggesting plans as to how this work might be scheduled so the county superintendent might be with the work all over the county to see that the road bed might be in proper shape for the machines, and how the labor might be kept at duty. But this can be looked after later.

If something like this could be done we might call a mass meeting at an early date to discuss plans, and also to get some unity among the people.

A. B. C.

[As the writer of the above seems to have overlooked where "X. Y. Z's" calculation pointed out that $2,487.50 would be available for maintenance and improvement of roads each year, we reproduce that part of the article for information.]

The property of Greenville township as valued for taxation this year is in round numbers, $3,500,000. The road tax is 15 cents on each $100 property valuation, and 45 cents on each poll. The income from this tax is as follows:

$3,500,000 property at 15 cents per $100	$5,250.00
750 polls at 45 cents each ..	337.50
Total income	$5,587.50
Apply this amount under the bond issue:
$50,000 at 5 per cent. interest per annum	$2,500.00
Amount set aside each year and put on interest to pay bonds at maturity as provided for in bill	600.00
Amount then available for maintenance and improvement of roads each year.	2,487.50
	$5,587.50

MOORING AMENDMENT SMUGGLED THROUGH

ELECTION WILL BE HELD OCT. 3.

The Little Word "NOT" Destroys New Registration Clause.

Last winter a large number of people of Greenville township who were interested in good roads, held several meetings that resulted in preparing a bill to be sent to the legislature submitting to the voters of the township the proposition to issue bonds not exceeding $50,000 to build good roads in the township. There were others who were opposed to the measure. These opponents likewise held a meeting and also circulated petitions for signatures to send to the legislature against the passage of the bill as sent up by the advocates of good roads. In other words they wanted to deny the people the right of expressing themselves at the ballot box on a matter of importance to the township. The finance committee of the legislature to whom the bill and petitions were referred, thought the people of the township should have the privilege of expressing themselves by a vote if they desired to do so, hence they reported the bill favorably and it passed.

The next step of those leading the opposition to the movement to build roads by a bond issue, was to prepare an amendment to the bill annulling the clause providing for a new registration of the voters of the township for the election to be held on the question. This amendment was introduced by Representative Mooring and was likewise referred to the finance committee. The committee in considering the matter, brought out the fact that it is customary for a new registration of voters to be held in elections of this character, so they voted to report the amendment unfavorably, and that was supposed to be the end of it.

On the first Monday in this month a committee of the township good roads association went before the board of county commissioners and asked that an election be called in accordance with the provisions of the bill passed by the legislature, the first Tuesday in October being named as the date for holding the election. The commissioners granted this request, based on the understanding that a certified copy of the bill be found in accordance with the representations of the committee making the request.

Later application was made to the secretary of state for a certified copy of the bill as passed by the legislature. As the acts of the last legislature had already been compiled and published, the secretary sent a bound volume of these. The bill providing for the election was found just as represented by the committee, but in addition thereto there was also the amendment annulling the clause ordering a new registration of voters.

This disclosure was a great surprise and showed that rank perfidy had been practiced somewhere in getting this amendment on the statute books, as it had been reported unfavorably by the legislative committee and regarded as killed. Steps were started at once to investigate the matter and if possible, locate the author of this treachery. The records of the legislature were first examined and the original copy of the amendment was found. Instead of being marked "unfavorable" in accordance with the action of the committee, it bore the stamp "favorable" and also bore the endorsement of having been duly passed by both branches of the legislature.

The next step was to communicate with some of the members of the legislative finance committee to whom the amendment was referred, to persons who were known to be present when the committee acted upon it, and to the senator and representatives from Pitt county, to see if it could be learned how the amendment, after being voted upon unfavorably, got upon the legislative calendar and was passed. The letters published herewith speak for themselves.

The Reflector was shown these letters as soon as they were received, but would not make any mention of them until Representative Mooring, who has been away, could be seen and a statement obtained from him. He was in Greenville Tuesday and when interviewed expressed surprise that the amendment was passed and that this was the first knowledge he had of it being passed. Speaking further, he said:

"This was the amendment which I offered in the house and was killed by the finance committee. When the committee was to act on it I went before the committee to favor the amendment, and Representative Thorne went to oppose it. Both of us stated our side of the question. There was such opposition to the amendment among the members of the committee that I dropped the matter, urging it no further, and retired before the committee voted on it, supposing their vote would be unfavorable. I regarded the amendment as killed and knew nothing about it passing until my attention was called to it today. I have no idea how the bill got out of the committee room on the calendar and was passed. It may be possible that through an error of the clerk to the committee he stamped it 'favorable' instead of 'unfavorable,' and in that way it went through unobserved, being a local measure."

Following are the letters from others on the subject. Representative Thorne in his letter of the 11th inst., says:

"In reply to yours of the 9th inst., I will say, that I do remember about the 'Mooring Amendment' to the Greenville Township Road Law bill. I distinctly remember going before the Finance Committee of the house, when the 'Mooring amendment' was considered, and I further distinctly remember that it was reported unfavorably by a unanimous vote of said committee, and if the bill ever went before the house it was by a mistake of the committee's clerk."

Representative R. A. Nunn, of Craven, who was a member of the finance committee, says in his letter of the 10th inst.:

"Your favor of the 9th instant concerning the amendment introduced in the General Assembly so as to make it unnecessary to have a new registration for the proposed bond election in one of the townships of your county, has been received. "Since reading your letter I have some recollection of the matter, but I am unable to say exactly what happened when the amendment was considered by the finance committee. Whether or not the facts are as you state them, I am unable to say, but I think that you must have stated them correctly, because if I were now considering such an amendment, I would be opposed to it, because I believe that it is right to have a new registration of voters when an election is called for the purpose of submitting the question of issuing bonds. In other words, if it is necessary to have an election every voter ought to have an opportunity to qualify himself to vote in the election.

"I regret that I cannot recall all the circumstances surrounding the matter."

Mr. J. J. Laughinghouse, who was present when the committee considered the amendment, in a letter dated 10th inst., says:

"Replying to your inquiry relative to the amendment offered by Sheriff Mooring to the Greenville Township Road Bill, I beg to make the following statement:

"Upon your request, I accompanied you when you appeared before the Finance Committee of the House of Representatives relative to the amendment offered by Sheriff Mooring, the purport of which was to eliminate the ordering of a new registration in the bond election. There were only a few members of the committee present, and after hearing the matter discussed for a short time a motion was made by the Hon. Romulus Nunn, of New Bern, that the bill be reported unfavorably. The motion was carried unanimously and it was so ordered.

"You have my permission to use this letter in any way you may see fit."

Mr. H. A. White, who appeared before the finance committee of the legislature as the representative of the good roads advocates to oppose the Mooring amendment, when interviewed today, said:

"I received a letter from Representative Thorne advising that Representative Mooring had introduced a bill in the legislature that would be very detrimental to the Greenville Township Road Bill which had already been passed, and informing me that the bill had been referred to the finance committee and would not be reported until those who favored the road bill had an opportunity to be heard. I went to Raleigh the next day and the committee agreed to give those interested a hearing that afternoon at 4 o'clock. At the appointed hour, Representative Thorne, Capt. J. J. Laughinghouse and myself, appeared before the committee and stated that the advocates of this measure were only asking that the people of the township be allowed the privilege of expressing their views on an important question in the same manner and way that other townships and counties in North Carolina had been granted, i. e., by voting at the ballot box their convictions. We called their attention to the fact that the committee had heard Mr. W. F. Evans and others on this same question of a new registration when the original bill was under consideration, and that the committee had then held that the new registration, as provided for in the bill, was right and proper and had refused to strike it out. After the matter had been discussed for a few minutes Representative Nunn, a member of the committee, moved that the Mooring Amendment be reported unfavorably. The motion was unanimously carried, and it was so ordered. Representative Mooring did not appear before the committee to defend his bill, but I met him a short time afterwards in the capitol and told him what action the committee had taken. He stated to me that the bill had been introduced by him upon request and that he personally had no interest in the matter, and would have nothing further to do with it.

"I returned home and reported to the friends of the road bill that the Mooring amendment had been killed in the committee, and had no idea to the contrary until a volume of the printed laws was received in Greenville last week when it was discovered that the same bill that had been killed was among the published laws. I could not help but feel that the measure had in some way gotten there by mistake. I went to Raleigh last Wednesday to make an investigation and found the original 'Mooring Amendment' on file with the other bills that had been regularly passed by the legislature of 1911.

"The bill had on it the following endorsements:

"House Bill No. 1325—Reported favorably Feb. 25th, 1911.—Passed 2nd and 3rd readings in the House Feb. 27th., and was ordered sent to the Senate where it took the title of Senate Bill No. 1446—Passed 1st reading Feb. 28th.—Passed 2nd and 3rd readings March 2nd and was ratified on March 3rd.

"These are the facts as I found them, and they speak for themselves."

When asked what effect the 'Mooring Amendment' would have on the election which had been called by the county commissioners on October the 3rd, he said: "It will mean a still larger majority for bonds for good roads than the measure's best friends had calculated. The citizens of this township who stand for, and believe they should have a right to vote on this question in the same manner and way as do other communities will rise up in their might and carry the election overwhelmingly. I think we should ask that the old registration books be purged, and the names of all dead persons and those that have moved out of the township be stricken therefrom and the election held on October the 3rd, as originally called by the county commissioners."

The matter will be looked into further with the hope of finding who is responsible for this sneak legislation. The man who would stoop to such a dangerous man, and should be rebuked by every fair-minded citizen who loves honesty.

Of course, there is no way to correct the matter to have any bearing on the election in question, but the election can now only be held under the old registration. We understand from leaders of the good roads movement that the campaign will be waged in earnest and they are going into the election on the 3rd of October expecting to see a good majority of the people of the township vote for bonds for good roads. Sentiment in that direction has greatly increased, and there is hardly a doubt that the sneaking through the legislature of the amendment annulling the new registration will cause a few citizens heretofore disposed to be indifferent to come out and ally themselves with the progressive voters who want to see their township have good roads.

The Long Arm of the Law.

Three men wanted in Boston for a burglary have just been arrested, one in Russia and the others in Austria, and all are now on their way back to the scene of their crime for trial. The arm of the law is long. A notable feature of these extraditions is that the treatment of Austrian and Russian interests in our Courts has not always been calculated to strengthen excellent relations between the United States and the two other countries. In the case of the Hazelton, Pa., riot of a number of years ago, Austria complained, while only a short time since Russia vainly sought the extradition of a revolutionist charged with terrible crimes, which he himself acknowledged committing.

NOTES FROM THE LABOR WORLD

The cigar industry in Cuba employs 3,342 females.

The cornerstone of the labor temple in Utica, N. Y., will soon be laid. Printers of San Juan, Porto Rico, have secured an increase of fifty per cent.

The Plasterers of Richmond, Va., secured an eight-hour day without a strike.

The laborers organized in Massillon, Ohio, have been granted an increase of 1 1-2 cents per hour.

Pattermakers of Chicago have secured an increase of 3 1-4 cents per hour and a forty-four hour week.

Fifteen hundred employees of the International harvester works at Moscow, Russia, have gone on a strike. The molders in Ann Arbor, Michigan, have won their strike for an increase of 50 cents a day and a reduction of one hour.

Women workers are now engaged in all but two of the 303 gainful occupations of men in the United States and Canada.

Brewery workers of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, won their strike for an increase of $1 per week, and engineers obtained a $2 increase.

Union carpenters at Kingston, Ont., have obtained an advance from 31 1-4 cents to 35 cents an hour for a day of eight hours.

The age limit at which a man may obtain employment in any department of the Erie railroad is now thirty-five years.

The organized men employed on the North British railway at Coatbridge and vicinity, have gone on a strike for shorter hours and higher wages.

French agriculture pursuits account for 5,500 men and nearly 3,500,000 women. Nearly 4,750,000 men and more than 2,500,000 women are employed in the trades.

The Danish parliament has passed a bill whereby seamen are entitled to participate in the elections for parliament by power of attorney, or by sending in their votes.

The semi-annual report of the United Hebrew trades in New York shows that ten new local unions were formed and fifteen strikes assisted, only three of which were unsuccessful.

At Hardwick, Vt., the granite cutters obtained an increase of from 10 to 56 cents per day, the lumpers and drillers an increase of 17 cents per day, and carpenters, painters and masons secured an eight-hour day.

Three thousand waiters in Marseilles, France, have gone on strike for 30 francs per month and the right to wear mustaches. The proprietors have formed an association and increased the price of drinks, on this action has had the effect of lessening the tips usually received by French waiters, hence the demand for higher wages.

Kill More Than Wild Beasts.

The number of people killed yearly by wild beasts don't approach the vast number killed by disease germs. No life is safe from their attacks. They're in air, water, dust, even food. But grand protection is afforded by Electric Bitters, which destroy and expel these deadly disease germs from the system. That's why chills, fever and ague, all malarial and many blood diseases yield promptly to this wonderful blood purifier. Try them, and enjoy the glorious health and new strength they'll give you. Money back, if not satisfied. Only 50c at all druggists.

WINTERVILLE DEPARTMENT

IN CHARGE OF C. T. COX

Authorized Agent of The Carolina Home and Farm and The Eastern Reflector for Winterville and vicinity
Advertising Rates on Application

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Aug. 19.—Mrs. Lucy Hester and children are spending several days in Greenville. Lawns, organdies and all summer dress goods are being sold at unusually low prices by Harrington, Barber & Company.

Miss Helen Smith, who spent several days here, returned to her home near Farmville Wednesday. She was accompanied by Miss Jeannette Cox, who will spend several days with her.

Get your children and misses hose at Harrington, Barber & Co.'s.

Mr. J. S. Ross, of Ayden, was in our town two days this week.

A. W. Ange & Co. have just received a shipment of hats and caps and they are nice.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith and child, of Ayden, were in town Wednesday, Mr. Smith returning and Mrs. Smith and child spending a day or two here.

Mrs. G. Bland, of Grifton, sister of our clever railroad agent, was in town Wednesday evening.

Don't forget the cheap summer sale of dry goods, shoes and slippers at A. W. Ange & Co.'s.

Mr. J. B. Edmondson, a relief agent for the A. C. L. R. R. Co., came in Wednesday night to relieve Mr. J. E. Greene, who left Thursday morning for a ten days' vacation, which he greatly deserves.

Don't fail to see the Union Mercantile Company when in need of crockeryware. They have all kinds and the right prices for all, and all kinds of glassware, lamps, goblets, pitchers and a very low price.

Rev. C. J. Harris left Friday for Stantonsburg and Saratoga.

While talking to a gentleman about the famous "Cox cotton planter" and other farming implements manufactured by the A. G. Cox Mfg. Co., something was said about buggies and wagons. We told him that this same firm built buggies and wagons. What! said he, "I didn't know that." Well, I guess he opened his eyes and saw some things as we proceeded to show him through the buggy department.

There he saw some of the leading styles in buggies, he saw the highest class of workmanship, and the very best material used in the construction of buggies and wagons. Then the smile on his face was the longest as he beheld the finished product. "That is a dandy job," said he. They surely do make buggies and wagons. Call on the A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. and be convinced about buggies, wagons and carts.

Mr. Ernest Manning, of Norfolk, is spending a day or two with his father, Mr. Sam Manning.

Harrington, Barber & Co. are keeping busy at their mill, where you can get your corn and wheat ground any day.

Miss Lena Dawson, of Ayden, is spending a few days in town with friends and relatives.

Harrington, Barber & Co. are getting out some very nice flooring and ceiling at their milling plant now.

Prices low.

Mr. C. T. Cox will buy two or three loads of good new fodder.

Saving Money for the School Districts.

To any school committeemen who are contemplating buying school desks, we wish to say that unless you have a whole lot of money to spend on these high priced northern desks, we can furnish your school house with as comfortable desk for the children as can be had anywhere. They are simple in construction, but are strong and present an unusual neat appearance. Write or phone us where you wish them shipped, or, if you wish to send to the factory after them, let us know a day or two before you send and we will have them ready and in good shape. For prices and further information, address A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company, Winterville, N. C.

There will be services at St. Luke's Episcopal church tomorrow evening at 4 o'clock, by Rev. W. J. Fulford, of Ayden, who has charge of the work here, Ayden and St. John's. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

One of our young painters wishes to buy some green, white lead. Ha! Ha! Guess him.

Mr. Ernest Manning returned this morning to Norfolk, accompanied by his father, Mr. Sam Manning, who will spend a week or so with him.

Friday evening at five o'clock the Sunbeams of the Missionary Baptist church had a special meeting on the W. H. S. campus. A program suitable for the occasion had been arranged. After the meeting the Sunbeams were entertained by the leader, Miss Mimie Sox. There was much merriment for awhile, then a delightful luncheon was served, followed by refreshing lemonade.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Aug. 23.—Mr. J. A. Jarrell, of Grifton, spent Sunday with his people, near town.

Rev. M. A. Adams filled his regular appointment here Sunday morning and at night. He delivered two able sermons.

Harrington, Barber & Company have a nice line of stoneware and glassware which they are selling very low now, in order to make room for their fall stock.

Mr. M. E. Bryan, of Raleigh, came in Saturday night to spend his vacation at home.

Mrs. H. W. Whedbee Entertains.

On Thursday evening, from nine until twelve, Mrs. H. W. Whedbee entertained a number of her younger friends, at her home on Fourth street, in honor of Miss Kathline Wilkinson, of Raleigh.

When the guests arrived they were received by the hostess, assisted by Mr. Thomas Wilkinson, of Raleigh, and Miss Nell Pender, and were served cherry smash by Mr. H. Sheppard and Miss Kathlene Wilkinson and Mr. Francis Skinner and Miss Helen Grimes.

The game of the evening was "Jerusalem," the prize for which was won by Mr. Ferrell Burch and the booby prize by Mr. James Brown.

After the game was over delicious refreshments were served.

Lawn Party.

WHITEHURST, N. C., Aug. 18, 1911—One of the most delightful and unique events of the social season was the beautiful lawn party given by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. James, on Wednesday evening, August 16, in honor of their neices, Misses Emma and Magnolia Roberson, and Lyna James.

The lawn was beautifully decorated with Japanese lanterns and ferns, the color scheme being red and green.

About eight-thirty the invited guests began to arrive. They were met at the door by Miss Lyna James with Mr. William C. Josey. They then went out in the lawn and enjoyed themselves, while Master Claude James operated the phonograph to the delight of the music lovers of the crowd.

At eleven o'clock a sumptuous feast of cream, cake and water melons, was served out on the lawn, upon tables prepared for the occasion. The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers.

Those present were: Misses Lina James, Emma and Magnolia Roberson, Velma Blount, Adilee Long Grimes, Lillie Bunting, Jennie and Estelle Jones, Norma Burroughs, Ida Bullock, Alice and Lila James, Mary and Rosa Whitehurst, Carrie Manning, Bettie Roberson, Lizzie Whitehurst, Florence Blow, Rubelle Forbes, Mary Cotton Johnson, Mantle and Maggie Whitehurst, Cora Carroll, Burslia McWhorter, Lucile Cutrell and Lurline Thomas; Messrs. OUR WEEKLY LETTER FROM WASHINGTON

SOME VITAL WASHINGTON NEWS.

How They Try to Oust Wiley—Democratic Prospects Bright.

(By Clyde H. Tavenner).

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The Taft administration will not dare to carry out the plot to drive Dr. Harvey Wiley from the government service. This was the thought that suggested itself time and again to the minds of the men and women who crowded the Moss investigation committee rooms and heard Dr. Wiley lay bare the story of the systematic fight which has been waged against him because he insisted the food manufacturers keep their products pure. At times, as Dr. Wiley told of the fierce persecution he had endured, his voice almost broke, and he could proceed only with difficulty. At times also the committee members, utterly dumbfounded by the doctor's statements, were at a loss as to what questions to ask him next.

Not only was it shown that Dr. Wiley's efforts to serve the public and protect it from injurious and poisonous substances in food preparations had been absolutely blocked by the conspirators in the administration headed by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and his controlling influence, Solicitor McCabe, but that the latest effort to force Dr. Wiley out of office was based upon a letter which he never received and knew nothing about.

Not boastfully or eagerly, but in response to questions by members of the committee, Dr. Wiley recited the universities at which he had studied, the great scientific societies at home and abroad which have honored him in various ways, and the recital went a long way in revealing to the committee the great public spirit and sympathy of this man who possessed a courage in public duty which neither threats from official sources nor opposition by the powers of evil had been able to break down.

While the whole hearing was a succession of revelations that left the committee and spectators thunderstruck, the most astonishing testimony came when Dr. Wiley told of his efforts to prevent the use of alum, and when he recited the story of how three cabinet members—Cortelyou, Straus, and Wilson—to please the $80,000,000 Corn Products Company, abrogated the application of the pure food law to a product of that concern.

"Alum, used in foods," said Dr. Wiley, "especially in baking powder, is responsible for the large amount of constipation that is prevalent throughout the country. I considered its use a serious danger to public health, and wanted it stopped pending an investigation. But the other two members of the reviewing board overruled me, as they invariably did, and the use of alum is still permitted.

"Another case involved the use of sulphur dioxide. Dunlap and McCabe recommended that we discontinue the rule requiring the presence of this drug be indicated on the label. As the rule had been adopted after a most exhaustive investigation, I was convinced that to do away with it would be a grave mistake. Dunlap and McCabe revoked the rule, however, during my absence, and when I returned I wrote a letter to Secretary Wilson asking for a hearing. But Secretary Wilson did not even reply to my letter."

Administration Stenographers.

Here is a story of two Taft administration stenographers which shows how hard it is to work for the government these days and remain honest.

F. M. Kerby, stenographer to the late Secretary of Interior Ballinger, exploded the whole Ballinger defense by bringing to light the "Lawler memorandum." Kirby wrote this this memorandum and knew, therefore that President Taft's letter exonerating Ballinger was ante dated and a frame-up to clear the secretary. And because he revealed information which came to him in his confidential capacity as stenographer, Ballinger called him "unworthy" and discharged him.

Now contrast this with the case of Miss Carrie M. Davis, stenographer to Dr. L. F. Kebler, of the bureau of chemistry. In his campaign to oust Dr. Wiley, Solicitor McCabe locked Miss Davis in a room and "sweated" her for three hours because she refused to divulge confidential information which McCabe thought he could use against Wiley. Kirby broke a confidence, because he placed loyalty to the people above loyalty to Ballinger, and was discharged. Miss Davis refused to break a confidence, and for that she was cruelly chastised.

A Four-Ply Monopoly.

One of the first facts developed by the Stanley steel investigating committee was that the directors of the steel trust actually dominated the boards of directors of nearly all the important railroads of the country. Then it came to light that the same ruling spirits of the steel trust cooperated with and practically dominated Standard Oil. And now it develops that four of the six directors of the harvester trust are also directors of the steel trust. In other words, the steel trust, the railroads, the harvester trust, and Standard Oil, (all star contributors to Republican campaign funds) are dominated by the same handful of men. And these men in turn take orders from one man, Mr. J. P. Morgan.

La Follette A Real Candidate Now. "Taft and sure defeat, or La Follette with a chance to win." This cry has been taken up anew by the genuine Republican insurgents since La Follette co-operated with the Democrats in an honest endeavor to revise the Payne-Aldrich tariff downward. The indications are that if Mr. Taft obtains the renomination the Roosevelt and La Follette hosts will not raise a finger, much less their voices, to help him.

Democratic Prospects Bright.

"Prospects for the election of a Democratic president have never been brighter," declared Hon. James T. Lloyd, chairman of the National Democratic Congressional committee, who had charge of the campaign which resulted in the present heavy Democratic majority in the house. "The Democratic party is popular from one end of the country to the other," Mr. Lloyd continued. "The party has carried out pre-election promises and made a creditable showing in every way. The many investigations conducted by Democratic committees have demonstrated to the satisfaction of every intelligent man in the country that the Republicans are guilty of mal-administration, and should be relieved of power for a term or two at least."

The Reflector Want Ads for Results

THE MOORING AMENDMENT--DISCUSSION

GOOD ROADS OPPONENT H'S SAY

And Criticizes Action of Promoters of Bond Bill.

Editor Reflector:

"Whom the Gods would destroy, they first make mad." In Friday's Reflector you surely must have been red hot, and the way you yelled "perfidy," "sneak," and "unfair" was almost enough to make one think that this was your first connection with the famous bond bill. Have you so soon forgotten how that those who wanted this bond issue held somewhat of a sneak meeting one Monday night without warning the people in time to be present, and how, when your attention was called to it, and a motion made to adjourn to another time so that all persons interested might come, you and your crowd voted it down by a vote of 21 to 18? And do you remember how that next day you published that a mass meeting (?) of the citizens of the township met the night before in the town hall and ratified the bond bill? You knew at the time that the meeting was held under a snap call, and that it was not a meeting of the citizens of the township, still you seemed willing to let it appear that it was. But, of course, under your code, this was all perfectly fair.

You state in your "red-headed" article that last winter a large number of people of Greenville township held several meetings, etc., etc. Would you kindly give the time and dates of these alleged meetings. The meeting held that night in the town hall only had about 50 persons present, and the famous Fourth of July meeting, thirteen. All the other meetings were sneak meetings if they were held, and advertised under the head of "Farmers' Educational Meeting," "Land and Industrial Agent of the Norfolk Southern," or some such misnomers.

And so, why all this red-headed hui-a-ba-loo over the Mooring amendment? Did not a majority of the registered voters in the township petition the legislature that the bill itself be not passed, and has it come to pass that somebody must be hung because the legislature of North Carolina won't do all that Mr. White wants done?

The opponents of the bill with the petition above referred to went before the legislative committee, and as Mr. White, assisted by Mr. J. J. Laughinghouse, who is himself a state official and closely connected with Bryan Grimes, our secretary of state, and who has much of his influence thereby, had been lobbying the said committee for several days prior to the date of the hearing, they received but scant recognition. And so we appealed direct to Mr. Mooring, and he promised us to table the bill when it should come up in the house. But one Saturday he came home with a carbuncle on his neck and the bill "sneaked" through the house. Then it was that he introduced his amendment and wrote me that it had got tied up in a committee and on account of certain influences, could not be got out.

It seems that those pushing the bill kept better informed than its opponents, for you say in your article that Mr. White, Mr. Thorne, and Capt. Laughinghouse were given a hearing on the amendment. Of course, under your code, it was perfectly fair for this to be done without letting the other side know it, and for Mr. Thorne, who was the representative of all of us, or at least was elected that way, and for Mr. Laughinghouse, one of our state officials, and who has no property in Greenville township, to use their influence to thwart the will of a majority of those citizens affected by the bill.

And after all, Mr. Editor, why should a little two-by-four committee legislate for a people? Has not the legislature passed the amendment and did it not do so in compliance with the expressed will of a majority of the voters of the township? Has it come to a pass that you should get red-headed and say ugly things because Herbert White and two or three others didn't have as much influence with a Democratic legislature as four hundred other citizens. Aren't you satisfied with giving the majority one small crumb?

The friends of the bill never presented to the legislature anything other than the dictates of a small handful of men who met the committees, and why should they cry about getting a small dose of their own medicine?

And, further, Mr. Editor, where were the ever-watchful representatives and our very alert senator, who played always so well into the hands of the bond bill promoters? Is it possible that they slept while a little word "not" went rollicking up and down the floor of the senate and house, duly labeled and tagged as the amendment was being read three times in each house and ratified? Surely, Providence must have intervened to carry out just this one little favor to the masses of a Democratic community!

And further, why should there be a new registration? Aren't you really mad because this little trap set to embarrass the voters was thrown and nobody gets caught? Why, you raise more fuss over it than if a murder had been committed under your very nose. Everybody knows that a new registration is a trap to catch the unwary. And now you say it is dirty, and a whole mess of stuff, and your methods seek to fool somebody into thinking that your watermelon is stolen. It isn't that—you dropped it pulling wires around Raleigh.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 25, 1911.

WHY WE FAVOR BONDS.

The Reflector is in favor of a bond issue to build roads, because it believes that is the feasible way to get good roads. The county has gone along years and years collecting road tax and spending it on the roads without permanent result or benefit, and is no nearer a system of good roads under that method than it was years ago. While we would gladly advocate a county bond issue to build roads all over the county, we believe the township plan will bring results much quicker. Pitt county will not get good roads in a hundred years unless some of the leading townships set the pace. Greenville township being the richest township in the county, as well as the county seat, can well afford to lead in this matter. Good roads are an immediate necessity for upbuilding and progress, and Greenville township owes it to herself and to the county to take the lead. Good roads here will be such an object lesson that other townships will naturally want to follow the lead. It is true that to issue township bonds and build roads in Greenville township would indirectly benefit the whole county, but that should inspire us to action rather than deter us. There was once a man who owned a piece of land that needed only a ditch to make it valuable, but the man let it go to waste because he could not ditch it without helping the land of his neighbor. Was he wise? No good thing was ever done that did not help things other than the special thing for which it was planned. That, after all, is the good in goodness.

There are some who say roads can be built without bonds, therefore bonds are unnecessary. Produce can be hauled without railroads—are railroads unnecessary? Men have lived in the past without roads, and no doubt they thought roads unnecessary. Roads can be built without bonds, but we have not been able to find where they have been built economically and satisfactorily without bonds. Countries far in advance of us have tried the building of roads in other ways, but have abandoned the other ways and adopted the bond plan, and are so delighted with the change that they say in substance, "This is the way we long have sought and mourned because we found it not."

A WORD TO ADVERTISERS.

At the rate the subscription list of The Daily Reflector is growing we expect it to reach 2,000 or more by the first of September. So confident are we of reaching that number by then, we are willing to guarantee an average circulation of not less than 2,000. This is important to advertisers, as it means not for one day only but for every day. It is an opportunity also that business men should take advantage of if they want their advertisements to reach the people. September is the month in which they should put forth their best efforts in advertising for fall business. The tobacco market will be open then, cotton will also be coming to market, and the farmers who raise tobacco and cotton constitute a large majority of the readers of The Reflector. On every nearby rural route are a large number of Reflector subscribers, and the business men can reach these farmers by placing their advertisements in The Daily Reflector. Right now is the time they should be engaging space in this paper. Our advertising rates are the same for this large circulation that they have been all the year.

WHO ARE FOOLING THE PEOPLE?

There is very little in the communication of Mr. James L. Evans regarding the Greenville township road bill, published elsewhere in this paper, that needs any reply. He says "the advocates of this bill have worked in secret behind closed doors." No one knows better than Mr. Evans himself the lack of truth in this statement, for it is well recalled that he was present at many of the meetings, if not all of them, and took part in the proceedings, hence he was fully aware of what was being done. As to the charge of attempt to disfranchise voters, that is too absurd a statement to notice, as every one with judgment well knows there is no better place for people to express themselves than at the ballot box, and also that it is the prevailing custom for elections providing for bond issues to be held under new registrations, which gives every one the right to register and vote as he desires. The attempt to fool the people is all on the part of those opposing the bill and championing sneak legislation.

WHAT BETTER IS OFFERED.

We wonder why those who profess to be in favor of good roads, yet are opposed to building them with a bond issue, do not suggest some other plan by which the roads can be built. They make lots of noise in opposition but make no suggestion of a better plan to build roads. If the roads can be built in any better way it ought to be known and let the people adopt that way and build the roads. The thing needed is good roads, and there should not be years and years delay in getting them built. If there is a better plan than through a bond issue we would like to know what it is, but we do not believe that Pitt county will have much better roads than exist right now until they are built with bonds. While good roads benefit the generation in which they are built, they also benefit the generations to come, therefore we think it is right for future generations to pay their proportional part for the benefit received.

SMALL ROASTS HITCHCOCK.

The Reflector told on Tuesday of getting a telegram from Congressman John H. Small, containing the information that the order previously made by the post office department to discontinue the post offices at Falkland and Bruce in this county had been revoked. A special from Washington City to the Charlotte Observer tells how Congressman Small went about this matter, and it shows the influence he has when he goes about anything in the interest of the people of his district. It says

A hot roast was dealt Postmaster General Hitchcock by Representative Small in an interview today apropos of the attempt to abolish the offices at Bruce and Falkland in Pitt county. The recommendations of Postoffice Inspector Goldsboro that the offices be discontinued was blocked by Mr. Small.

He said the postoffice department seemed to be seeking to make a retort for economy, even if it meant the destruction of efficiency. What the people wanted was better service, he said, and they did not expect the postal department to yield revenue. He referred to the fact that money given by congress for establishing new rural routes had not been used.

The Reflector has criticized the way in which the Mooring amendment to the Greenville township road bill was passed through the legislature, because it was killed in the committee room and not a legislator can explain how it came to life again. Such methods of legislation bear the marks of inexcusable negligence on the part of all our legislators, or political perfly on the part of one or more of them. Any man that is a man, no matter whether he favors a bond issue for roads or not, can have nothing other than adverse criticism for the way in which this amendment was passed. The reference in this paper to it was written in behalf of political efficiency and political honesty, without regard to good roads. Such political methods do not meet the approbation of decent men, and a paper that shuts its eyes to such legislation is untrue to old-time honesty and twentieth century intelligence.

The farmers of Pitt county should prepare for planting more wheat this fall than in former years. The Reflector is not authorized to speak for a certainty on the matter, but enough has been said to us to lead to the belief that Greenville will have a flour mill before another wheat thrashing time comes. Such a mill here will make it convenient for farmers to get their wheat ground into flour, and more wheat should be raised.

The Pittsboro Record has entered upon its thirty-fourth year. The paper was established in 1878 by Maj. H. A. London, and all these years, without intermission, has been edited and published by him. The Record has the distinction of being the only paper in the state that has been edited and published by the same man for so many years. Its career has also been one of great usefulness to its immediate section and to the state.

Every citizen of Greenville township should read the article elsewhere in this paper showing the perfly in connection with the legislation regarding the bill giving the people of the township the privilege of voting on the question of issuing bonds for good roads. And if there are any who wish to express themselves on the subject the columns of The Reflector are open to them.

Ayden is finding things to be exhibited at the Pitt county fair. The proposition of the man down there to burn an old-fashioned tar kiln if arrangements can be made for it, is one that should be taken advantage of. Tar kilns were things of so long ago that one would be an object of interest and curiosity to people of the present day.

The Raleigh Times had an empty can crusade for a week, and in that time the boys picked up something like 25,000 old tin cans about the city. It was a crusade in behalf of health, tin cans being regarded as breeding places for mosquitoes. We would not be surprised if other towns could not find comparatively as many as Raleigh.

Are you getting anything ready for exhibit at the Pitt county fair? It is now but little more than two months off—November 2nd and 3rd being the dates—and it ought to bring together an array of Pitt county's very best products. If you have not seen a premium list apply for one and get something ready to exhibit.

A Winchester, Va., mother spanked her 5-year-old son on the street. The boy raised such a howl as to alarm the neighborhood and attracted a policeman to the scene who arrested the woman, and it cost her $5 for disturbing the peace. Next time she had better take her boy in the house to spank him.—Reflector, August 18. A gentleman clipped the above from his paper and sent it back with the following comment:

"Good! Served her right. Who ever heard of such a thing. Might as well spank him on a full stomach, and we all know that's wrong. I believe in the good old approved style, take the boy across your lap and spank him in the usual place."

Mr. Roosevelt says he would esteem it a genuine calamity if the movement were undertaken to make him the Republican presidential nominee. The people are with you, Teddy, in that assertion, and hope there will be no such calamity.

"Tell the county commissioners to put a clock in the court house tower before the scaffolding comes down," remarked a prominent farmer to The Reflector Saturday. He argued that the clock can be put in at less expense now than later.

The Charlotte Observer's editorial paragrapher has gone to making it rhyme. Just listen at this from that songster

Just as many a shaft at random sent finds mark the archer little meant, so many a dart with purpose shot hits everywhere except the spot.

If any of the township committees have not yet raised their part of the donations for premiums at the Pitt county fair, they should do their soliciting at once and be ready to report at the meeting of the governing board and committees Friday.

Friday's issue of The Daily Reflector in two colors was a good specimen of the character of work that can be done on the new press installed a few months ago. It does newspaper work, book work and color work to perfection.

Over twelve columns of a dirty scandal in the Raleigh News and Observer, sent into the decent homes of North Carolina, may be regarded by that paper as up-to-date journalism, but it strikes us as a stench to the nostrils of refined people.

The Greensboro News says "the way of the transgressor is hot." And the other kind are also catching a share of the hotness now, though they have a better prospect of escaping it hereafter.

Republicans in congress are trying to let President Taft's bungle in the Controller Bay matter drop, but the Democrats are determined that the truth shall be known and will push the investigation to the bottom.

When we have our early frost opening we shall expect Patton, Cowan, Whichard, London—and any others who may desire—to come and inspect our fall stock of pies.—Greensboro News.

Thanks, Bob. Save us one that is "kivered" if it its cold, and "unkivered" if its hot.

Admiral Togo got along pretty well with everything in America but the big eatings. He got what comes to many from too much banquetting—a severe attack of indigestion.

With all the scarcity of water in Charlotte, an elbow in the water main sprung a leak and lost 300,000 gallons before it could be stopped. That was spilling some.

The president's veto shows that his party claim of favoring tariff reform was all bosh. Reform is only favored where it does not interfere with the trusts.

When bad roads cost you as much in direct taxation, and many fold more in indirect taxation, as good roads, it looks like a saving proposition to have good roads.

Put as much enthusiasm in the movement for good roads as there has been the last few weeks in base ball, and you will see the good roads coming on.

This is the kind of change in the weather that brings the seaside resorts to a close, but there is going to be more of the warm kind.

The next six weeks are going to be made to tell on the proposition to have good roads in Greenville township.

The new court house was not completed in readiness for this term of court, as was at one time anticipated, but will likely be by the next term.

Good roads sentiment is one of the things that is growing, not only in Greenville township, but all over Pitt county.

President Taft vetoed the wool bill and the free list bill. Congress tried to pass them over his veto but failed.

There is hardly a doubt that the cotton crop of the country has been estimated much too large.

The sneak in any sphere of life is the man who should be rebuked and condemned by public opinion.

At an aviation meeting in Chicago, Tuesday, two more were added to the long death list from this cause.

This will likely be the last week of the extra session of congress.

Beattie's name will be much in evidence for the next few days.

Congress has quit and the members are getting to their homes.

President Taft vetoed it, but he ought not.

Count Togo has said goodbye and gone.

Electric fans can rest when it is like this.

Get with the push for good roads.

The Old Spring and Its Memories.

"I went to the spring where I used to get water when I was a little boy," said an old man to us a few days ago, after he had paid a visit to the home of his boyhood after, spending many years in a distant State. That is one thing that any man who goes back to his boyhood home, after a long absence, does, goes to the old spring or to the well—the place where he got his cool water when a boy—and there is not in all the world water quite so good as that from the old spring or well "back home." We are fated to forget many things, but there are some things we can never forget, and among them is the old spring or the old well where before we knew there was such a thing as microbes or bacilli or any other abomination in the watering place, we drank and drank until we could drink no more. The boy who goes to a faucet and gets his rent-paid water from an iron pipe misses a whole lot and we are sorry for him. It doesn't matter if the state chemist has certified that the "city water is pure," we are sorry for the boy who gets his drinking water from any such source, for he can never know how good it feels to go to the old spring, hot, tired out, with his throat dry enough to "sizzle," get a gourd and sit there under the shade of the trees and just drink until he proves that the fellow who wrote in the school physiology that the human stomach will hold only three pints is a liar—and then stretch his tired body out on the grass and pillow his head on the root of a tree and just naturally rest. Every man who ever went back to the home of his boyhood and there was a spring there will tell you: "I went to the old spring, where I used to drink when I was a little boy.—Monroe Enquirer.

"Why!" she exclaimed. "That is more than they ought to be at this time of the year—6 cents more than I ever paid before." "I know that," replied the merchant, "but it can't be helped. The roads have been so bad lately that the farmers won't bring in their products." That is the whole story in a nutshell. There are many others like it, some more important than others. That same woman probably placed her order with a mail order grocery house, leaving the express company to deliver the goods irrespective of the condition of the roads. The merchant in the story lost a customer, the farmer lost a chance to market his products, and the woman finally found that she had paid a big price for her goods after all—and all of this because the roads were bad.—Wilkesboro Chronicle.

Meanders on The Farm.

A city girl writes: "It is a fond dream of mine to become a farmer's wife and meander with him down life's pathway." Ah, yes, that is a nice thing! But when your husband meanders off and leaves you without any wood and you have to meander up and down the land pulling splinters off the fence to cook dinner, and when you meander along in the wet grass in search of the cows till your shoes are the color of rawhide and your stockings soaked, and when you meander out across 20 acres of plow-ground with a club to drive the hogs out of the corn field and tear your dress on the barb wire fence, when you meander back home to the house, and find that the billy goat has butted the stuffin' out of your child and find the old hen, with 40 chicks, in the parlor, you'll put your hands on your hips and realize that meandering is not what it is cracked up to be.—Dahlonega, Ga., Nugget.

Good Roads—What They Mean.

One hundred million dollars for good roads! One hundred million times as much money as the government ever spent to make the country roads a little easier for traffic. That is what a prominent United States senator recently advocated. Think of it. Just to fill up the ruts and the holes to make pulling a trifle easier for a few tired farmers' horses.

Why? Because the people of the United States has, at last, come to see that there is but little else in this country so fundamentally necessary to the welfare of each citizen as are good roads. That is the answer. It appears, on the face of it, a perfectly simple answer, and one that at first thought does not provoke much interest and arouse no astonishment, and yet the gospel of good roads has come to mean salvation for the dying towns and the sick communities as well as for that greater evil—the high cost of living.

Never before in the history of this country has there been such an awakening as that which has resulted recently from the scientific study of the economic conditions now in existence. The citizens' physicians who made the diagnosis have stated that bad roads are yet at the bottom of the existing high prices of necessities. Why? There are several answers. One of them is best illustrated by the story of the woman in a small town who recently went into a grocery store and asked the price of eggs. The storekeeper quoted his price.

"Why!" she exclaimed. "That is more than they ought to be at this time of the year—6 cents more than I ever paid before." "I know that," replied the merchant, "but it can't be helped. The roads have been so bad lately that the farmers won't bring in their products."

That is the whole story in a nutshell. There are many others like it, some more important than others. That same woman probably placed her order with a mail order grocery house, leaving the express company to deliver the goods irrespective of the condition of the roads. The merchant in the story lost a customer, the farmer lost a chance to market his products, and the woman finally found that she had paid a big price for her goods after all—and all of this because the roads were bad.—Wilkesboro Chronicle.

Shake It Off.

Don't nourish trouble. If you do it will certainly grow. It is one of the natural laws for things that are nurtured to expand. So trouble will flourish if you make your mind a fertile field. Where trouble thrives it is also natural for gloom to chase out brightness. Weeds will kill the fairest flowers, and people will keep away from your garden if it is filled with weeds. Trouble flourishing in your mind will kill happiness, and folks will keep away from you. Of course, to some extent people are compelled to worry, but let it be only worryment of a determination to solve the problem, with an abiding, bright faith that the problem can be solved. And the knottiest problem can be solved, but a distorted mind can't reach the correct conclusion. The mind can't strain itself under trouble's heavy load and then wonder why the burden is so heavy.

A proud father may be a lunatic for a week after it happens, but he's cold-blooded sanity compared with grandpa.

OUR AYDEN DEPARTMENT

IN CHARGE OF C. L. PARKER

Authorized Agent of The Carolina Home and Farm and The Eastern Reflector for Ayden and vicinity. Advertising rates furnished

AYDEN, N. C., Aug. 17.—Mr. J. R. Smith and family spent Wednesday in Winterville.

Master Frank Hart, Jr., is very proud of the Banker pony his father has brought for him from Shackerford's Banks. There will be another pony penning on the 21st of August, which will be the last one for this season.

A pious old deacon tells us that after a sermon, by the pastor one day, he put in a few words of exhortation and requested all who had ever heard their parents pray, to stand up. To his surprise, only two stood and he reversed his request to all who had heard them profane, and all stood but two; whither are we drifting?

Mr. Grover McGlohorn has returned from South Carolina on a prospecting trip and has arranged to locate his mother and his family in Rocky Mount.

There seems to be a surplus of watermelons this season, the market is glutted and prices low.

Some miscreant entered Mr. Mark Taylor's cook room Saturday night and took therefrom a shoulder of nice bacon, while the family were on the front porch.

Hardware, all sorts and kinds, mill supplies, etc., at J. R. Smith & Bro's. The contract will be let today to bridge Hen Coop, near St. Abram Springs, which will shorten the distance from Ridge Spring to Ayden, something like one and a half miles.

The girl's dormitory and annex to the Seminary is nearing completion, and will soon be ready for the paint brush.

The county commissioners have appropriated $300 to throw up the swamp between Mr. B. F. McGlohorn's and Mr. Titus Jolly's, and in a short time we hope to see a road opened up from Mr. J. Sam Jones' across the farm of Mr. J. S. Hines, parallel with the road that comes in Ayden via the graded school.

Clover, millet, rape, rutabaga, cabbage, turnip and vetch seed, at J. R. Smith & Bro's.

Let us know your wants, we will air them in our special column of the Ayden department.

Our people are pulling fodder this week. We hear that Mr. Rowan Cooper's cotton is open almost ready for picking.

Miss Alice Baker, of Kinston hospital, is here nursing the baby of Mr. C. G. Norris.

Mr. W. E. Moye and son, of Fort Barnwell, were here last Thursday. They tell us crops are very good in their section.

Mr. L. L. Kittrell is having his gin overhauled and put in first class shape ready for the fleecy staple.

The concert given here by the class from Goldsboro I. O. O. F. home was quite a success and well patronized amid the storm that was raging at that hour.

The infant of Mr. Richard Wingate was buried at the old Turk place, near Rountrees, Tuesday.

We regret to learn of the illness of Mr. Alfred Forbes, superintendent of the county chain gang at the home of his wife's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth McGlohorn.

Revs. R. F. Pittman and L. L. Smith two of the Seminary students, who have been holding meetings during vacation, have come in to rest a few days before school opens, which is September 14th. We can well expect better results the next session as we have better buildings and more experience.

Mr. Henry Dail and wife left Wednesday for Kinston to visit his sister who is very sick.

Messrs. C. J. McGlohorn and Burrell Heath both lost a barn filled with tobacco last week.

If you want to either sell or buy, there is no better way to let it be known than through the Ayden department of The Daily Reflector. Mrs. Ed. Mallison and son, of Kinston, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Davis, in Ghent.

Our town is full of visitors, but we haven't the time to appeal personally and interview them to know who they are, where they are from, and who they are visiting, but if they will tell us, we will do the rest.

If you want to advertise for a husband or wife, let us write you up in our column and if the directions are followed we will guarantee to deliver the goods.

Mr. Bryant Tripp, one of Contentnea's most energetic farmers and mill men, tells us if he can secure a suitable site that he will have the lightwood prepared and burn an old time tar kiln during the two days of the Pitt county fair. We are sure this would be quite a curiosity to a great many visitors to the fair this fall.

Mr. Zack McGlohorn has a three-legged hog which is quite a wonderful freak of nature. He expects to exhibit it at the Pitt county fair.

The orphans from the Odd Fellows home at Goldsboro gave their concert here Monday night, in the Christian church. A rain came just in time to keep a large number away, but a fair audience was present to enjoy the occasion. $50.00 was realized for the home.

Mrs. Barnett Eaks, who has been sick for several weeks, was taken to Granville county this morning by her father, this being her former home.

Ayden was satisfied at the result of the game in Greenville Wednesday, 5 to 4 in favor of Ayden. The Greenville team will play Ayden here today which is supposed to be the last game of the season for the Coast Line League.

A letter from Mr. J. J. Hines states that he is improving.

AYDEN, N. C., Aug. 19.—All Ayden has been smiling since the winning game was played Thursday. Just as we expected.

Sheriff S. I. Dudley is giving away receipts for ridding your premises of chicken-eating snakes. Soak tobacco sticks in chicken blood and scatter them around in places instead of places. No swallow sticks and time does the rest.

Lost—At the ball game Thursday, a heavy bass vail. No reward offered. It went free. Geo. Cooper.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Cox spent Friday evening in Ayden.

The latest and most up-to-date cotton basket, made of wire at J. R. Smith & Bro.

If the train had not been crowded Thursday, we should have expected Dr. McErnul and Mr. B. F. Patrick. We don't think Mr. Patrick has been to Ayden since he was a candidate for sheriff, way back when we were in our teens.

Miss Fannie Hardee, who has been visiting friends in Ayden, left Saturday morning for Elizabeth City.

Our milliners are getting their ribbons, straws and feathers for mid-summer and fall business. Watch this department.

Lime, cement and all building material at J. R. Smith & Bro's.

We see from The Daily Reflector that Dr. Moye had an additional chair at the table when he returned from the Ayden ball game Thursday.

I am now ready for your business—grind, gin, saw, dress your timber, mantles, moulding, carts, waggons, and all kinds of repair work in wood and iron. L. L. Kittrell.

To our business men: This department is for you, so let us have your locals and advertisements. People go where they find the stuff.

We learn that Mr. Luke McGlohorn left his real estate to his niece, Mrs. Reddin McGlohorn, subject to the life estate of his widow.

Rev. H. C. Brewer writes that he cannot possibly accept the care of Ayden Christian church, and move his family here, owing to the educational facilities. We have a ninth grade graded school, besides the Baptist Seminary, where students are prepared for Trinity, the University and Wake Forest. This goes to prove conclusively that a town is usually judged by the educational advantages it can offer. We regret our trustees could not dispose of the $12,000 issue of bonds and erect a suitable, up-to-date building, and raise the curriculum that would be adequate to the demands.

The tobacco drummers are singing to the tune "I am the right way."

It was our good pleasure a few days ago to go through the canal from the sound to Oriental which is 100 feet wide and sufficient in depth to float large merchant boats. The timber is killed on the banks of this canal far as the eye can see, where the salt water, sand and marl was blown out. About midway from Morehead to Oriental there stands a cabin a man lives there named Susman, who reminds us of Geo. W. K. Kitchin's favorite poem, "I'll build me a house by the side of the road and be a friend to man." We weighed anchor for a few minutes and talked to this man, who very much resembled Roberson Crusoe. The man, apparently exiled, was cheerful and intelligent. We asked him who deserved the credit for opening up that waterway improvements and he said it might be Congressman Thomas, Small or Dr. Faison, but he believed it was all due to Governor W. W. Kitchin.

We asked him about the senatorial contest and he said he was for Kitchin for anything he wanted.

We regret to learn of the death of Mr. John Moore, which occurred last Friday morning at his home near Timothy, in Swift Creek township. He lingered for some weeks with indigestion. The deceased was a model the Christian church, and a Mason. He leaves a widow and several children. Among them are Mr. J. Paul Moore, and Rev. Eber Moore. The remains were buried with Masonic honor Saturday.

Miss J. Alf Harrington, R. H. Garris and W. E. Patrick, made an automobile trip to Vanceboro, Friday.

AYDEN, N. C., August 22.—Sunday morning at 4 o'clock our town was visited by a severe electric storm with wind and rain. Lightning struck the two story residence of Mr. W. B. Alexander, demolishing one end and knocking off the chimney, up stairs. It completely splintered a bureau and other things in the room near the fire place. Down stairs, underneath, in the parlor, the mantle frames and pictures were in a complete jumble. The bolt seemed to pass between the weatherboarding and plastering, coming out at the front door. The family were sleeping in the room down the hall and escaped unhurt.

Messrs. W. B. Dennis and William Jones were stunned by lightning; Mr. W. H. Harris' tobacco barn struck; an oak tree in the school park near Mr. W. E. Patrick's was struck and many telephone and telegraph poles were torn into atoms.

Mr. Reddin E. Jackson, who was bitten by a supposed rabid dog, was afraid to trust any mistakes and left last Thursday evening for Raleigh to undergo a 21 days' treatment for hydrophobia, which will remove all doubt in his mind.

Mr. Grover McLawhon left Monday morning for his new home in Rocky Mount. We wish him much success. For anything kept in a general hardware store, we have it. J. R. Smith & Bro.

Mr. J. C. Jones and family worshipped at Alry Grove Sunday.

Miss May Smith returned Sunday from an extended visit to friends and relatives near Reedy Branch.

We are ready. Come on with your corn, cotton and orders for turned and scroll work, cabinet mantles, waggons, either wood or iron. L. L. Kittrell.

Mrs. Jessie Wilson has made application to the Oxford orphan asylum to send her two little girls, Katie and Gladdis, there.

We worshipped at the Episcopal church Sunday and listened to a splendid sermon by Rev. J. W. Fulford, on the parable of the Unjust Steward.

Only a few more weeks and it will be time for the annual meeting of the North Carolina Christian Missionary Convention, which will meet here. The date is not fixed as yet.

We hear that Rev. C. M. Morton has resigned the care of the Wilmington Christian church on account of his health.

Now is the time to advertise. A young man tells us he inserted an ad in a paper for a wife, and had 18 applications the first week, and one not more than twelve miles away. People will read the Daily Reflector, so let us write you up.

Gave Up Hope

"I suffered five years, with awful pains, due to womanly troubles," writes Mrs. M. D. McPherson, from Chadbourn, N. C. "They grew worse, till I would often faint. I could not walk at all, and I had an awful hurting in my side; also a headache and a backache.

I gave up and thought I would die, but my husband urged me to try Cardui, so, I began, and the first bottle helped me. By the time the third bottle was used, I could do all my work. All the people around here said I would die, but Cardui relieved me."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

For more than 50 years, Cardui has been relieving woman's sufferings, and making weak women strong and well. During this time, thousands of women have written, like Mrs. McPherson, to tell of the really surprising results they obtained by the use of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

Cardui strengthens, builds, restores, and relieves or prevents unnecessary pain and suffering from womanly troubles. If you are a woman, begin taking Cardui, today.

News Not Fit To Print.

That a newspaper man often can serve his community better by not printing statements, though coming from responsible authorities, is splendidly illustrated in the story of the action of General Manager Stone of the Associated Press during the seething excitement of the panic of 1907. George W. Perkins gave out a statement to attending newspaper men that the only "sore spot" was the Trust Company of America. This statement was sent to the Associated Press. General Manager Stone saw printing it meant a run upon the organization.

Such a statement from Mr. Perkins about the strongest financial institution in the world, at that time, would have made trouble for it. Mr. Stone fortunately had been a banker and also a working newspaper man. With an intelligence brightened by experience from both of these professions he determined that this story ought not to be printed.

It was news not fit to print. The story was an opinion advanced by Mr. Perkins. If the public had merely received it as an opinion the danger might not have been so great. Mr. Stone knew that the public would receive it as a statement of a man closely in touch with J. P. Morgan & Co., and Morgan is the first and last authority in Wall street.

The New York Times, however, did print the statement, with the result that there was a run the next day on the trust company, and except for extraordinary efforts that company which today is a splendid institution, would have been wrecked.

There are times when opinions of men may have the greatest news value. There are other times when they are worthless in essence and hurtful if given publicity. And there are times when opinions, no matter how startling, coming from an ordinarily well balanced but temporarily fevered mind, are mere hysterical utterings.

It is most fortunate for the Associated Press, the greatest news-gathering organization on earth, that an experienced veteran like Mr. Stone is at its head to do active duty as an editor in a time of great excitement.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

Money Spent By Conventions.

"Did you know that the chambers of commerce in the big western cities have a regular system of ratings on organizations that hold conventions?" asked a Chicago man. "Never heard of it?" Well, they do. I have had charge of a convention burea for a number of years.

"In my card index I have a list of every organization that has an annual gathering. The list shows how many members each has, how often they meet and how much they spend. They are desirable from any point of view, only in accordance with the amount of money they are likely to New York Sun.

leave in the town. Therefore, I go after some of them hot foot and leave the others alone. But I have to keep track of all of them, for now and then an organization changes in character, and the chances of their spending money freely improve accordingly.

"The Mystic Shriners are up toward the head of the lot. Each member will spend about $13 a day while he is at the grand round-up." On the other hand, the delegates of a religious convention will spend less than $2 a day. The biggest per capita averages are in the meetings of the railway and manufacturing associations. Some of them mean an average expenditure of nearly $100 a day a man for those who are present."

Not Hard to Believe.

A certain lady called up her grocer by telephone the other morning, and, after she had sufficiently scolded the man who responded, said:

"And, what's more, the next order you get from me will be the last I'll ever give you."

"It probably will, madam," said the voice at the other end of the wire; "you are talking to an undertaker."

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

Newport is the first Kentucky city to try the commission form of government.

The late Senator Frye served in Congress continuously for over thirty years.

Congressman Rodenburg of Illinois has accepted an invitation to deliver the Kansas Day oration at Topeka next January.

Edward Freeman, editor of the Pine Bluff Commercial, is a candidate for the congressional nomination in the Sixth Arkansas district.

Tacoma would like to have the Democratic national convention meet in her new stadium, which has a seating capacity of thirty thousand.

United States Senators Gore of Oklahoma and Martine of New Jersey are to speak at the Democratic outing at the Trenton Inter-State Fair on August 23.

The "wets" have begun their campaign to have the question of local option submitted to the voters of Oklahoma this fall. The State is now State-wide prohibition.

Adherents of Governor Woodrow Wilson are now in Vermont and New Hampshire laying plans to capture the delegations to the Democratic national convention for Wilson.

In the Maryland primaries next week Philip Lee Goldsborough, who holds the position of International Revenue collector, will receive the Republican nomination for governor without opposition.

Lieutenant Governor Frothingham, Speaker Walker of the general assembly and Norman H. White, also a member of the general assembly, are engaged in a lively contest for the Republican nomination for governor of Massachusetts.

The Illinois Equal Suffrage Association is planning an automobile tour which will begin at Danville, Sept. 11 and terminate in Chicago a week later. Members of the association will speak in the interest of equal suffrage at all cities of importance along the route.

The Prohibitionists will be the first to arrange for the national campaign, having decided to choose the date and place of their convention the sixth of next December. They will probably be the only party to begin the presidential activities of 1912 in 1911.

Louisiana is in the midst of one of the liveliest campaigns for United States senator that it has experienced in many years. It is a three-cornered race, with Governor Jared Y. Sanders, Congressman Robert F. Broussard of the third district and Congressman Arsene P. Jujo of the seventh district as the contestants.

The passing of Senator Frye of Maine means that Governor Plaisted will name a Democrat to fill his unexpired term, which will expire March 3, 1913. It will be the first time in half a century that the Pine Tree State has been represented by two Democrats in the United States senate. The last time was in 1848-53, when her senators were Hannibal Hamlin and James Ware Bradbury, both Democrats.

Southern Hospitality.

Hospitality need not remain the same in order to be as genuine and as lavish. F. Hopkinson Smith, speaking of the "old Southern gentleman," is reported to have enquired: "What has become of the old-time chat over a long-neck bottle? Where has the spirit of our old-time hospitality gone?" The esteemed Charlotte Observer briefly answereth, "One has gone autoing and the other it putting up at the skyscraper."

The "old-time Southern gentleman" is dead, but his son, the new-time Southern gentleman, is alive and about in the world. The long-necked bottle is not necessarily any more. There is so much going on that he does not find resort to the bottle a necessity in order to keep up conversation. Public school houses, such as the old-time Southern gentleman never dreamed of, are to be built and maintained in every rural community; public roads, graded and macadamized, are to be constructed and maintained such as our ancestors did not even have a need for; farm lands are to be improved and enriched instead of being abandoned and left to grow up in "old field" as in "ye olden days." In short, there is plenty to stimulate conversation now without recourse to the bottle.

"Where has the spirit of our old-time Southern hospitality gone?" It hasn't gone anywhere. It is still here. The war destroyed the means of indulgence and lavish abundance; but the spirit of our erstwhile hospitality yet abides. Let the son of a Southerner, "bred in the bone," become able by industry and energy, to indulge his taste, follow his ideal and he will build for you a home whose hospitality is as regal and lavish as any that blessed our good land in the days that are gone. The spirit of hospitality is here. Its appurtenances may sometimes be lacking without the help of the long-necked bottle.—Christian Sun.

Police regulations in regard to drunkards are not effective. To put a drunkard in jail and let out after a few days to drink—that is anything but a solution.

To fine a drunkard, taking away the few dollars he may have, is not a cure. We should treat the drunkard not as a criminal, but as one who is sick.

New York City makes the suggestion that farms should be established where drunkards could be restored to health, furnished with good food and kindly treated.

Chicago suggests that drunkards be sent to hospitals and cured. Take away, if possible, the opportunity for drinking and the craving for liquor.

In at least one civilized nation in Europe they do things better than we do here. When a man is found drunk on the streets, the policeman finds out where he got his last drink. He conducts the drunkard to that institution, hires a cab and sends the drunkard home, and makes the saloon keeper that sold the last drink pay for the cab.—Winston Sentinel.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

"It Depends on the Woman" is the name of Clara Lipman's new play.

The firm of Keith & Proctor was dissolved by the Supreme court of Maine July 27.

Alfred Sutro's latest play, "The Fire Screen," will be produced by the Frohams this season.

Robert Dempeter has been engaged by David Belasco as leading man for Francis Starr, one of his stars.

Harrison Grey Fiske has secured Langdon Mitchell's latest play "The New Marriage," for the use of Mrs. Fisks.

William Collier and James Montgomery have almost completed the new comedy, "Take My Advice," in which Mr. Collier will star.

Nellie McCoy, a sister of Bessie McCoy, will have a dancing role in "The Enchantress," in which Kitty Gordon is to star.

David Belasco will produce this season a new play entitled "The Governor's Lady," by a thus far unheard of author, Miss Alice Bradley.

To support Julian Eltinge in "The Fascinating Widow," A. H. Woods has exchanged Gilbert Douglas with Werba & Luescher for Lionel Walsh.

Bryon Ongley, co-author with Winchell Smith, of "Brewster's Millions," has finished a new play, "The Model," which will be produced in the fall.

Katherine Grey, who has been starring in Australia for eighteen months, arrived in San Francisco recently and will return to New York shortly.

For the part of Lake, the hero of "The Deep Purple," Liebler & Co. have engaged Sydney Booth, who was last season leading man for Gertrude Elliott.

One of the Shubert's early offerings will be "Next," a new farce by Rida Johnson Young, in which Helen Lowell is to be featured the coming season.

Cyril Scott will have a new play this season, entitled "A Modern Marriage," which has been adapted from the German by Harrison Rhodes for the Shuberts.

Among the new plays to be produced by the Shuberts in the fall will be "Romance," a new play by Edward Sheldon, author of "Salvation Nell" and "The Nigger."

May Vokes has been engaged to create an important character role in "The Quaker Girl," a new musical play which will be the opening attraction of the Majestic Theatre, New York, on Nov. 1.

Rumor says that Nat Goodwin is going to embark in the moving picture business. It is reported that he is organizing his own manufacturing company and will superintend the business and appear in some of the plays.

Mme. Simons, daughter-in-law of former President Casimir Parier, of France, will make her debut in English repertory in New York next October. She will also present a version of "Princess Lointaine," which Bernhardt will produce in Paris.

Horse Race. Horse owners down in the vicinity of Cox Cross Roads are getting up their racing blood, and we learn that a trotting race will take place there next Saturday, 28th, between horses belonging to Messrs. Tom Evans and Joe Braxton.

MR. W. S. RAWLS DEAD.

Former Greenville Citizen Dies in Baltimore. Telegrams were received by relatives here this morning announcing the death of Mr. W. S. Rawls, which occurred at 12:20 o'clock this morning at his home in Baltimore.

Mr. Rawls was a native of Virginia and about 62 years of age. He and an older brother, Mr. J. G. Rawls, moved to Greenville in the early 70s and established a jewelry business here that proved very successful. In the year 1890, associated with his brother-in-law, Mr. R. A. Tyson, he established a private bank here, the first bank the town had, which later became the Bank of Greenville.

In the year 1894 Mr. Rawls' health failed, causing him to retire from business, and two years later he moved to Baltimore where he made his home.

While a citizen of Greenville in 1876 he married Miss Margaret Tyson, of this county, and the wife and three children survive him, his two sons, Messrs. Leslie and Lee Rawls being residents of Baltimore, and his daughter, Mrs. Edgeworth Smith, residing in New York.

Mr. Rawls was a Mason and a member of the Methodist church. During his residence in Greenville he was foremost in promoting the interest and upbuilding of the town, and was held in high esteem by all our people.

The remains will be brought to Greenville for interment, reaching here Sunday afternoon on the Norfolk Southern 4:56 train, the funeral to take place immediately afterwards in Cherry Hill cemetery.

FUNERAL OF MR. RAWLS.

Buried Sunday Afternoon With Masonic Honors.

The remains of Mr. W. S. Rawls, whose death occurred at his home in Baltimore Saturday morning, reached here by the 4:56 Norfolk Southern train, Sunday afternoon, accompanied by his wife and two sons, Messrs. Leslie and Lee Rawls. The remains were met at the depot by a large number of Masons and citizens and escorted to Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, where services were conducted by Rev. J. H. Shore. At the grave in Cherry Hill cemetery the Masonic burial ceremony was conducted.

The pall bearers were as follows: Active—Messrs. R. Williams, C. T. Munford, E. E. Griffin, F. C. Harding, A. L. Blow, W. B. Wilson, J. A. Andrews and James Brown. Honorary—Messrs. T. J. Jarvis, E. A. Moye, Sr., Mc G. Ernul, R. A. Tyson, J. L. Little, J. T. Smith, J. S. Congleton and F. G. James.

Prayer League Postponed.

Owing to the funeral of Mr. W. S. Rawls, Sunday afternoon, the meeting of the Men's Prayer League, that would have been during the hour of the funeral was postponed. The same programme for that day will be carried over to next Sunday, with the same subject and leaders.

Meeting at Red Oak.

Rev. C. B. Marshburn, of Farmville, will on next Sunday night begin a meeting at Red Oak church, near Frog Level.

The Patented Snore.

A young Raleigh lawyer, who makes a few dollars by acting as administrator, recently had a case that has given him quite a lot of trouble to settle up. His experience might possibly be of some benefit to other aspiring young attorneys who are anxious to rise in the world by aiding their clients.

This young lawyer in question got along fine with the case until it came to making a final settlement, and then his attention was called by the court to an account of $25.00 to which the heirs objected. The account reads as follows: "To one snorer, $25.00." This item had been placed in his expense account and, of course, if the heirs had not objected—as naughty heirs sometimes do—it would have gone through without any trouble. The court was much troubled over the item and asked the attorney for an explanation, suspecting that something was wrong in the accounting department of the administrator.

The brilliant young attorney was equal to the occasion and explained it in this wise: He said that the deceased husband was a chronic snorer and his beloved wife had become so accustomed to his snoring that she could not sleep unless he was snoring, and that after his death she had been unable to sleep for weeks for lack of this familiar noise. Finally, he struck upon the idea of having a machine made that would snore, and when this was put in the room she had no more trouble at night, but slept soundly. The widow regained her lost health and when the bill for the new machine was presented to the attorney he naturally thought it should go into the expense account of the administrator. The court, after some questions as to the technical workings of this new invention, allowed the claim as a just one.—Raleigh Times.

LOOKING AHEAD.

All Things Working Together For Good.

How can all things work together for good? By the guidance of infinite chance? Wheels within wheels, and wheels playing into wheels, in the vast system of human circumstances, and all permitted to move according to their own sweet will; is the way in which all things work together for good to God's saints? We know it cannot be so. There must be a Divine Superintendent directing all, and He can direct only as He knows all things from the beginning to the end. Here is a cause, and yonder, twenty years hence, is an effect. Unless God sees the relation of the two, how can He touch the keyboard of causes with His fingers today, so as to affect our highest good a score of years in the future? And God works at long range. He is no day laborer, planning only from sunrise to sunset. We believe that our pious grandmothers, praying and studying their Bibles in the lonely cottage among the hills, had much to do in shaping our Christian characters. And when now we pray for success upon our labors we seem to hear the Lord saying, "Before thou callest, I answered and before thou knewest me, I girded thee."

And we don't believe that God can make all things work together for good to His people unless He begins very far back and looks very far ahead.—Spurgeon.

CRAVEN COUNTY ITEMS.

News That is Transpiring in and Around Our Section.

VANCEBORO, N. C., Aug. 18.—Our farmers are busy curing tobacco and it is ripening fast.

Cotton is opening in our section. If it stays dry the farmers will have to begin picking before they get through curing tobacco.

It is dry in our part of the county, and crops need rain, especially peas and potatoes.

The farmers in our section will be very busy for the next month, fodder is also ripening fast.

A large crowd of our farmers attended the picnic at New Bern Saturday and some few at Ayden.

One of our most prominent young men, Mr. Tom Campbell, left last week for New Bern.

Some of our young people attended the ice cream supper Friday night over at Bay Bush.

Mr. J. O. Clark went to Ayden Saturday and brought home his little daughter who has been visiting relatives there.

Mr. J. Q. Adams returned home Saturday night from New Bern, where he had been to attend the picnic.

Last Monday evening a large wind and hail storm struck through the section about 3 miles from Vanceboro and almost ruined crops. It was the severest that has been for years. We heard it stripped the stalks of tobacco leaving only two or three leaves to the stalks on some of the crops where it went, and also damaged corn and cotton very bad.

Cuts and bruises may be healed in septic and causes such injuries to Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an anti-about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying heal without maturation. This Liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

Escaped With His Life.

"Twenty-one years ago I faced an awful death," writes H. B. Martin, Port Harrelson, S. C. "Doctors said I had consumption and the dreadful cough I had looked like it, sure enough. I tried everything I could hear of for my cough, and was under the treatment of the best doctor in Georgetown, S. C., for a year, but could get no relief. A friend advised me to try Dr. King's New Discovery. I did so, and was completely cured. I feel that I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure." Its positively guaranteed for coughs, colds, and all bronchial affections. 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free at all druggists.

BLACK JACK ITEMS.

Happenings In That Portion of Chicod.

BLACK JACK, N. C., Aug. 22.—We are having some showers occasionally after so much dry and hot weather. The crowd was somewhat small at church Sunday. Elder Lupton, our pastor, did not come to fill his appointment, so Brother J. A. Hudson filled it.

Mr. J. H. Clark returned from Baltimore last Wednesday.

Misses Bertha Spain, Bessie Corbitt and Maggie Corbitt attended church here Sunday.

Among those who attended church from Grimesland Sunday were Mrs. J. O. Proctor and daughter, Miss Susie, Messrs. A. O. Clark, J. O. Johnson, Mr. Godley and Mr. Warren.

Mr. W. V. Clark went to Greenville Saturday evening.

Mrs. E. S. Dixon is very sick at the present, also Mrs. W. L. Clark.

Mr. Henry Mills, of South Carolina, came in last Wednesday to visit friends and relatives.

Mr. Moseley Mills left a few days ago for John Hopkins hospital for an operation for appendicitis.

Messrs. Marshall Buck and Zeno Mills left this morning for Watauga High School.

Mr. Roy Venters passed through our town today en route to Grimesland.

Several of our farmers will finish curing tobacco this week.

The rattling of corn stalks will soon be over, at the present it is in full blast.

Old Time Hotel Rates.

It might be interesting to some of our readers to know that at one time hotel rates were fixed by the county officials. In ransacking through some old records in the clerk's office some time ago, found the following order in a record book:

Wednesday, Aug. 26, 1812.

Ordered that the following rates be fixed and observed by the ordinary keepers in this county, viz.:

For horse to hay per night.....	19c
" corn per gallon	17c
" oats per gallon	16c
" breakfast with coffee	16c
" breakfast without coffee	14c
" dinner	16c
" supper	14c
" wine per pint	20c
" French brandy, per 1-2 pt.	16c
" brandy, per half pt.	19c
" rum, per half pint	13c
" whiskey, per half pint	17c
" cider, per quart	16c

NOTICE

To The Tobacco Farmers of Pitt And Adjoining Counties.

Having been raised on a tobacco farm near the town of Winston-Salem, the largest tobacco market in the state and for the past few years connected with Ayden tobacco market, I feel that I am in position to assert, with a reasonable degree of accuracy, that the Greenville tobacco market is one of the best in the state. From my experience on a small market, I became convinced that I could not protect the interest of tobacco farmers selling on my floor, and therefore decided to establish myself with a larger market. I shall this year have charge of the Gum warehouse for the Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company. I want to say to every tobacco farmer, and especially to those who have sold with me in the past, that, as manager of the Gum warehouse, for the above company, I am absolutely in position to thoroughly protect your interest in the sale of your tobacco, and every pound that is sold on this floor shall have my personal supervision and personal interest.

I want to thank all of my old customers whose patronage I deeply appreciate, and to say to those who have never sold with me, that if you will give me a trial, I will endeavor to make you a customer and make you feel perfectly at home at THE GUM.

J. J. GENTRY,

GREENVILLE, N. C., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1911.

TOBACCO MARKET WILL OPEN FRIDAY

Everything in Readiness for the Season

STAR WAREHOUSE HAS FIRST SALE

The Market Will Have A Strong
Corps of Buyers—Working Forces of the Warehouses—Greenville Will Lead The Eastern Markets.

The tobacco warehouse row in Greenville is a busy place just now with the final preparations for the opening of the market which takes place on Friday, September first.

The opening of the tobacco market season is always hailed with delight, for it means employment to more people, more money in circulation among the farmers and more trade for the business people. Following as it does the dull summer months, everything takes on new life and everybody gets busy when the tobacco market opens.

The warehousemen of Greenville were never in better shape to handle a crop than they are for the coming season, and they are determined to make Greenville hold its place as the leader of the Eastern markets. The market this season being some weeks later in opening than formerly has given the farmers more time to get their crops cured and ready for market, hence it is expected that sales will be brisk almost from the outset. The crop this year is a very short one, and that may mean a short season. If prices are good at the opening (and they ought to be good for the entire crop) the farmers will no doubt sell freely early in the season, but if prices are not satisfactory there will likely be a holding back until they get better. Surely the buyers should appreciate the shortness of the crop and pay for it all that it is worth.

One warehouse here, the Peoples, having been destroyed by fire since last season, only four warehouses will be operated on the Greenville market this season, but they have ample room to handle all the tobacco that can come here. The four houses are Star, Centre Brick, Gum and Liberty, all well known to the planters who sell on this market. The opening sale will take place Friday at the Star, and then proceed at the other houses in the order named above. Manager Foxhall, of the Star, says that as it is up to him to make the opening prices with the first sale, he is going to set a high pace that the others must hustle to approach.

While we are not yet able to give a list of the buyers on the Greenville market for this season, as all of them have not come, it is safe to say no market will have a stronger corps and they will be here for business with ample facilities for taking care of all their purchases.

The working forces of the several warehouses will be as follows:

Star Warehouse.

Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company, proprietors.

F. D. Foxhall, manager.

N. D. Young, assistant manager.

G. H. Baker, auctioneer.

E. A. Brown, floor manager.

H. S. Ragsdale, bookkeeper.

G. R. Lanier, assistant bookkeeper.

Centre Brick Warehouse.

Brinkley, Rice & Spain, proprietors.

W. L. Rice, auctioneer.

D. S. Spain, bookkeeper.

G. E. Harris, assistant bookkeeper.

John Hutchings, floor manager.

Miss Jessie Stille, stenographer.

Mrs. W. L. Rice, cashier.

Gum Warehouse.

Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company, proprietors.

J. J. Gentry, manager.

J. B. Frizzelle, assistant to manager.

B. T. Cannon, auctioneer.

J. L. Gibson, floor manager.

L. H. Bowling, bookkeeper.

H. N. Beasley, assistant bookkeeper.

Liberty Warehouse.

Hooker, Lovelace & Lipscomb, proprietors.

F. S. Langley, auctioneer.

R. A. Tyson, Jr., bookkeeper.

J. T. Timberlake, assistant bookkeeper.

Now, farmers of Pitt and surrounding counties, the warehousemen and buyers of the Greenville market are ready for you, and when you want the best prices to be had anywhere for your tobacco, you only have to bring it to the Greenville market. Not only the warehousemen and buyers will make it agreeable for you, but the business people generally of the town will give you a cordial welcome. The banks have ample money to cash your checks, and the merchants are ready to extend you every courtesy. In the meantime keep your eye on The Reflector, for this paper is going to visit hundreds of you every day, and it will keep you posted on what the Greenville market is doing.

MRS. SUSAN SPARKS DEAD.

End Came Suddenly Monday Afternoon.

A little past 6 o'clock, Monday afternoon, Mrs. Susan Sparks died, very suddenly at the home of Mr. Everett Stroud, on Pitt street.

Mrs. Sparks, who had been spending her time alternately with her three children, was here visiting her son, Mr. J. M. Sparks, and intended going to Ayden Monday evening to spend a while with her daughter there. With Mrs. Stroud she was on the way to the Atlantis Coast Line depot, and when near the Christian church Mrs. Sparks complained of feeling sick and wanting some medicine and they went to the home of Mrs. Stroud near by. When they reached the home Mrs. Sparks was much worse and passed away in a few minutes after lying down.

Mrs. Sparks was 65 years of age and leaves three children, Mr. J. M. Sparks, of Greenville; Mr. J. W. Sparks, of Conway, S. C.; and Mrs. J. A. Forrest, of Ayden.

The remains were taken to Kingston this afternoon for burial there.

An Afflicted Family.

The family of Mr. Eli Powell, of Carolina, is sorely afflicted with typhoid. He has lost two daughters, Misses May and Crissie, in the last ten days and two others are seriously ill with the fever.

FORMER BETHEL PHYSICIAN.

Sad Death of Doctor G. A. Thigpen.

BETHEL, N. C., Aug. 30.—The people of this community were deeply grieved to learn on Sunday evening, of the death of Dr. G. F. Thigpen, formerly of this city.

A graduate of the medical school of the University of Maryland, Dr. Thigpen came to Bethel as a young man soon after receiving his degree, and located here for the practice of his profession. His bright and sunny disposition, his thoughtfulness and consideration for others, no less than his exceptional ability as a practitioner of medicine, soon won for him a host of friends and admirers.

Until February, when failing health necessitated his retirement, it was his pleasure to bring cheer and comfort to the sick and distressed, sacrificing himself, as was the measure of the man, to relieve the burdens of his fellows. A thorough Christian gentleman, a humanitarian in the strictest sense, and a physician of the old school, his untimely death is indeed a great loss to the community; and the heartfelt sympathy of his many friends go out to the members of the deceased's family in their hour of trial.

The funeral services were held this afternoon at the home of his father, Mr. Lafayette Thigpen, near Mildred, in Edgecombe county, after which the remains were interred in the family plot with the rites of the Woodmen of America.

Dr. Thigpen is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Beulah Sparks, of Baltimore; one son, Guy T. Jr.; his father, Mr. Lafayette Thigpen, and a large family of brothers and sisters.

The Recent Hail.

Mr. F. F. Carr, of Willow Green, in Greene county, spent today here. He said the severe hail in his section Sunday before last did not do altogether as much damage as was first feared. Some of his neighbors, however, were heavy sufferers.

It doesn't take a woman long to come to the point—unless she is trying to sharpen a pencil.
