SHOOTING AT FARMVILLE

THREE WHITE MEN IN PISTOL ROW

AS A RESULT ONE IS THOUGHT TO BE DYING. ALL WERE UNDER INFLUENCE OF WHISKY.

At about half past twelve Monday night, at a place in the neighborhood of Farmville, Marlborough, H. Belcher, B. Nichols and K. Burnett had a little incident in which a revolver was used by Burnett. As a result, little hopes are entertained for the recovery of Belcher, who although badly under the influence of liquor, as were the others, at the time of the shooting, was as "sober as a judge" when Clint Smith of Farmville police, arrived on the scene a few moments later. All men are under custody, although Belcher does not need much police supervision, his condition being such as to make his death from the bullet wound almost certain.

UNIVERSITY ITEMS.

CHAPMAN HILL, N. C., Feb. 21.—Dr. Archibald Henderson returned last Monday from the University of Virginia where on Friday night he lectured before the Civic Club of that institution on "The Contributions of George Bernard Shaw to Modern Socialism." On Saturday Dr. Henderson addressed the Book Club of the same University. While at the University he and Mrs. Henderson were the guests of Dr. C. A. Smith, formerly professor at the University of North Carolina. Besides making lectures at several noted institutions of learning since his return from Europe, Dr. Henderson, assisted by his wife, has just published the American edition of his translation of the book by the famous French scholar, Emile Boutroux, on the late American psychologist, William James. This is but another contribution to the literature of the country.

The Johnston County Club of the University, consisting of about 22 men from that county, has recently established a medal which is to be given each year to that member of the winning team between the high schools of the county. The medal will be a handsome gold one valued at ten dollars. Stipulations for the debate have already been arranged. Six high schools will enter the contest. Each school will furnish two teams. Two debates will be held on the same night, one at home, one at some one of the other schools, by each high school.

The spring trip of the Glee Club has been arranged. The schedule contemplates a tour of the principal cities and towns of western North Carolina. The troupe of twenty-five men will leave the bill on the 26th of February, and will visit in succession Greensboro, Morganton, Hickory, Winston, Mt. Airy, and Lexington. The club has been practicing faithfully during the entire spring, learning new songs and improving the old ones. The choruses, later hits, and college songs, the gay orchestra music, violin and piano solos, will make the program attractive for any audience. Many friends of the University and alumni of the institution reside in the towns to be visited, and the trip will be a very pleasant one for the club members. A very successful trip is expected by the members of the club.

Bethel Items.

BETHEL, N. C., Feb. 20.—The following invitation has been received:

Mr. and Mrs. James Fufus Carson request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Ora Ethel to

Mr. Sidney Albert Carr on Wednesday afternoon, the twenty-first of February, at five o'clock, at their residence near Bethel, North Carolina.

Miss Carson, who lives near the town of Bethel, is an attractive, charming and accomplished young woman with a large circle of friends, who will wish her every pleasure and success.

Mr. Carr, who has always resided at Farmville, is successful and has a large score of friends who will gladly welcome him and his charming bride in their midst, and wish for them every pleasure and success.

Misses Allie G. Little, Christine Stancill, Francis Clark and Lillian Goodrich were the guests of Mr. F. Mayo at her home near Bethel. Mrs. Mayo is a charming hostess and her guests report a delightful time.

Mr. Lillian Goodrich entertained last night the Round Dozen Club at a Valentine party, in honor of her friend, Miss Olive Rose, of Fremont. After a unique guessing contest, and a delightful elocutionary program by the guest of honor, a dainty course of refreshments was served, carrying out in detail the valentine scheme. Among those present were: Mrs. N. A. Ward, Mrs. W. H. Woolford, Mrs. W. F. Bronson, Mrs. H. T. Staton, Mrs. Fred Hayo, Miss Christine Stancill, Miss Allie G. Little, Miss Francis Clark, Miss Estelle Jones, Miss Jennie Jones, Miss Elsie Grimes, Mrs. W. A. Burns, Miss Olivia Cheatham.

HANDSOME OFFICE DESK.

One of the Most Convenient We Ever Saw.

One of the most convenient articles of office furniture we have seen is a "handsome" desk which Dr. C. O. H. Laughinghouse recently placed in his office. In the desk is a complete memorandum and filing system with alphabetical drawers for keeping all data so that anything wanted can be instantly found. The inner section of the desk has a separate rack for the most important papers, and a tray to close it inside of the writing section, and another large roller top closes the entire desk when desired. The desk is large and roomy and it does not look like one more complete for its purpose could be made. The color and finish are most attractive.

A BIG MASS MEETING.

In The Interest of The Boys of The Town.

We have a council of the Boy Scouts in Greenville in the interest of the boys of this town, for their good spiritually, morally and physically. A part of the Scout oath is "I will keep myself mentally awake, morally straight and physically strong."

We are trying to teach the boys the highest principles of life. That they may be useful to themselves and helpful to those around them. To be kind, obedient, strong and manly in all things. Surely this town should take a deeper interest in our boys if we are to have strong, well prepared men for the future.

This big meeting is to be held in the court house Friday, February 23, and we want men, women and children to come and all friends of the boys. There will be five to ten minute talks by prominent men of the town. First the boys will tell something of what they are doing and what they intend doing. This will be directed by the Assistant Scout Master Mr. W. T. Lipscomb. Mayor F. M. Wooten will give a short talk on the importance of such an organization in our town. Then Mr. F. C. Harding will make a five minute address on the future of our boys. Rev. Mr. Hoyle will speak in behalf of the boys' needs in this place. Last Dr. Charles Laughinghouse will address us. We will give him a free pass to say what he pleases. All will be given an opportunity to express themselves in some way or other. Any talk running over time will be charged up to one dollar per minute. We hope to make this meeting good and spicy for all who come. Now, let us have a full and show our interest in the boys. The boys will march from their hall to the court house. The meeting will be called to order promptly at 8:00 o'clock, Friday evening.

TO SAVE THE CHESTNUT.

Conference to Consider Ways and Means to Perse Chestnut Blight.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 20.—In response to the call issued last week by Governor Tener, representatives of a dozen of the New England and Middle Atlantic States assembled here today for a two day's conference to consider ways and means to be pursued in the possible control of the chestnut blight, which has already caused a loss of millions of dollars and now is threatening a total destruction of the chestnut forests throughout the country. Participating in the conference are forestry experts of a number of states and of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The chestnut blight was unknown to the United States until seven or eight years ago. It was first noticed among the chestnut trees in Central Park in New York city. A short time later the disease was noticeable in New Jersey, in parts of Western Connecticut and even as far south as Pennsylvania and Maryland. By 1908 the United States Department of Agriculture began issuing bulletins on the subject to apprise the public of the spread and to enable the owners of chestnut trees to recognize the disease if it appeared. Incidentally the scientific staff tried to discover a remedy. Foresters, mycologists and plant pathologists all took an hand but nothing availed.

By 1909 the disease had done no less than $12,000,000 damage in the three states of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, according to the estimate then made by the Pennsylvania Forestry Commission and this regarded as a very conservative figure. In 1911, only two years later, the disease was reported by the Department of Agriculture as having spread out until western Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia were included on the south, while northward it had pushed up the Hudson River Valley, and eastward into Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Now the experts declare that, unless a remedy is found, it is but a question of a short time until the disease has wiped out the chestnut trees of the United States named and probably in Vermont, New Hampshire, Delaware, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Kentucky, Mississippi, Tennessee, Ohio and Michigan.

South Carolina Will Merge.

SALEM, N. C., Feb. 21.—The initial steps looking to the merger of three of the largest cotton mills in the South were taken today at a meeting of the stockholders of the Langley Manufacturing Company at Langley.

The three concerns which it is proposed to combine are the Langley Manufacturing Company and the Seminole Manufacturing Company. The mills have a total valuation of $1,669,500. The combined textile enterprise will have a spindleage of 100,000.

The jail crew have almost finished clearing the square of rubbish.

DOG SHOW.

New N. C. Industries.

The following new industries in North Carolina are reported in the Charlotte Tradesman for the week ending February 14:

Fayetteville—$25,000 automobile company.

Elizabeth City—$25,000 transportation company; $25,000 veneer factory.

Hiddeite—$4,500 telephone company.

High Point—$500,000 development company.

Lenoir—$125,000 furniture factory.

Parkton—$10,000 drug company.

Star—$20,000 hardware company.

Southport—$50,000 drug company.

Wadesboro—$25,000 hardware company.

In a letter to the editor of The Enterprise, Chief Justice Clark says: "I am glad to read your outspoken editorial. It is brave and manly and expresses the true opinion of a large number of our people and of the great mass of the old soldiers."

"I speak in earnest when I say that if we had taken this manly position years ago all the Confederate veterans would now be on the pension roll on equal terms with the soldiers from the Northern States."

A Confederate soldier in now Chief Justice of the United States. The Southern colonels and generals have been made Federal Judges, Congressmen, Senators and appointed to all other offices. The mass of the Confederate soldiers now living were boys under 21. Why should they alone be banned while their colonels and generals have been drawing high Federal pay and the people of the South have been paying their full share to the pensions awarded men of other states who went into the war for the same reason that our boys went, i. e., because their states called for them?

"I am in earnest in pressing this measure and feel absolutely confident that if sent to the United States Senate, I shall get every Confederate soldier placed on the pension list side by side with the Northern soldiers. The professional politicians oppose this on the ground that it may cost us the Presidency; that is the loss of the postmasterships which they wish to use as patronage."

To me there is nothing more ludicrous than the repeated declaration of our loyalty nearly fifty years after the war is ended, on any and all occasions. Less humility and more manhood accord better with the brave spirit of the Southern people. "I hope you will keep up the fight for justice to the South and to her neglected soldiers."

"With very high regards,

"Yours truly,

"WALTER CLARK,"

NOT SO SURE ABOUT SUICIDE

HINES MAY NOT HAVE JUMPED

L. D. HINES, TRAVELING SALESMAN, LEAVES NOTE THAT HE IS ABOUT TO END IT ALL.

SPENCER, Feb. 20.—Whether or not L. D. Hines has committed suicide by jumping from the Piedmont toll bridge, near here, into the Yadkin river, or whether he has attempted to convey that impression while he makes his way to parts unknown, in the hope of evading arrest on a charge of flashing bogus drafts, has given rise to much speculation among the authorities of Rowan and Davidson counties, as well as the people upon whom Hines is said to have flashed the drafts.

Hines, who represented himself as a traveling salesman for the American Art Works, of Coshocton, Ohio, was charged with having passed worthless drafts on Mr. R. C. Norman, proprietor of the Rockingham Hotel at Rockingham, and on Amos & Co., retail furniture dealers of High Point, and attempting to have one cashed at the Spencer branch of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. Mr. Norman states that the amount secured from him was $50 and Mr. Charles L. Amos alleges that he cashed a draft for $100. Fifty dollars was the amount asked for at the Spencer bank.

The shortage was discovered several days ago, and Mr. Stephenson resigned his position. Inspector Chester came and went over the situation and left without taking any action. He returned today and the arrest followed. Mr. Stephenson maintains his innocence.

He is a native of this county, but some time prior to entering the postoffice had held a position in Wilmington, being for awhile with the Atlantic Coast Line in that city. Mr. Stephenson gave bond last night and was released from jail.

LAW ENFORCEMENT.

The meeting of New Bern citizens, held a few nights ago, closely following the Bryan murder case and a result of the verdict rendered by the jury that tried the case, has begun to make history.

The New Bern Sun, in its editorial column says:

"This morning many of New Bern's leading business men were much surprised to have an officer of the law to serve a warrant on them for violating a city ordinance. Most of the arrests were made for allowing thrash boxes to stand on the streets overnight. It has been such a long time since the ordinance was enforced that many people did not know there was such a law on the books. Another bunch of boys and men were in court today for violating the bicycle laws, in that they were not provided with bells and lamps. This ordinance has also been a vagrant for some time."

We are glad to publish this editorial in part, because it seems to fit our own case so well. We seem to think that just because a law is small one, we should not respect it as much as we do respect a large size one. Capital mistake. It is just this disrespect for city ordinances that breeds contempt for more serious laws.

We allow trash to stand, not overnight, but in some cases over many a day. Delivery boys who make use of bicycles to cover their territory in a shorter time, are as guilty of the bicycle law in Greenville as the men and boys rounded up in the New Bern court were.

Surely we are not waiting for such a time, as the disrespect for such city ordinances will be a regular nuisance to have proper care taken of delinquents. The whole thing is a nuisance already, and it is to be hoped that the town authorities will not have to wait for a citizens mass meeting to wake up to the possibilities for comfort which are entrusted to them together with the authority to make them effective.

And it would be very encouraging to have the town authorities join hands with our Civic League and co-operate in making a better looking Greenville.

Two days ago we published a letter from a citizen, who seems to be enthused over the prospect of having Greenville look as well as it might be made to look, were everybody to think about it, and to their share. In that letter he called attention to the amount of chickens, that, without having discovered the pole, as did "Doc" Cook, have been granted the "Freedom of Greenville" and are allowed to select their food in front yards and in some instances on the streets. Perhaps there is some ordinance about that nuisance, too. And if there is, we look upon the town authorities as it enforced.

"MY HAT IS IN THE RING."

When the strenuous Roosevelt came out with that announcement, he had perhaps been reading Sir Walter Scott's Robt. Roy McGregor. You system. Somebody was kind enough all remember how Mc felt when he put his foot in Scotland. "My foot is on my native heath and my name were set forth.

is McGregor." Of anything we have ever read, this seems to fill the bill best. And let us hope that his hat is not all in the ring. And if that be all what has the colored done with his big stick, his book of membership blanks for the Annanias Club, and his personal dictionary? The one he got, "nature faker," "malefactor of great wealth," etc., etc.

Toddy the first (trust also the last) would be a mighty uninteresting Teddy without his paraphernalia of peddles.

The peaceful, though "embarrassing" gentleman, who now habitates in the White House must feel mighty uncomfortable with his old "pard" coming out from bush to cop the bank. Perhaps that is in the agreement when Roosevelt had to go to Africa to get photographed with a mighty foot resting on guns, bastions, and other species of African scenery. And perhaps it was not. Anyhow, T. R. is out for blood "some more" and by the way he started he went to get a scent on Taft in "Bill's" own native state. It now remains to be seen when he will catch up with him.

Prudent, or frightened, Taft said when he heard T. R.'s historical, for so it is to be, phrase, "I don't think that Roosevelt will go back on his word. He did not want a third term," etc. That listens much like the very frightened man who as he made the fastest turn in his life spoke to the pursuant king of the jungle, "Nice Mr. Tiger! Beautiful Mr. Tiger!" He did not stop a while to make the acquaintance of the nice and beautiful tiger, nor did the adjectived purrant stop to look at himself in leaping over a placid brook.

"Twas ever thus in the world of politics."

THE MANUFACTURERS' RECORD.

Under the title of "Thirty Years of Southern Upbuilding," the Manufacturers' Record has issued as a second part to their regular weekly issue of February 22nd, a mass of statistics which deal with the wonderful growth of the South in the last score and a half years. This magnificent "supplement" is being forwarded to every subscriber of the Manufacturers' Record and although we have only had a chance to glance through its 258 pages of interesting data and beautiful illustrations, we can appreciate the value of such a publication to anyone who has the interest of the South at heart and also to every citizen of the States.

The resources, under development or otherwise, of the great South are set out in figures compiled by authorities on every subject treated, and the value of the work as a book of reference is unquestionable.

Elsewhere in this issue we publish a few remarks made some days ago by Editor and General Manager of the Manufacturers' Record, Mr. Richard H. Edmonds. No man who has interests in the South, or thinks about joining the thousands who have started in their march southward can afford not to read these remarks. They are the result of deep study on Southern problems and Southern progress and it might be called an introduction to the great work just issued by the Baltimore periodical.

Anybody who wants to learn the truthful facts about us who dwell upon the South's fertile soil, need only turn over the pages of this "supplement" and the best information will be his for the reading, of figures, opinions by experts and the foremost financiers and manufacturers in the country.

RIGHT AGAIN.

If we really needed support for some of the assertions we make in this page we would not have to look around for any length of time. About two weeks ago we made mention of Secretary Knox's tour of some South American countries and we gave our reasons for thinking this tour might bring out some outstanding points between us and some of those countries. Not many days after other papers confirmed our fears.

A little later we were so bold as to perhaps been reading Sir Walter Scott's Robt. Roy McGregor. You system. Somebody was kind enough all remember how Mc felt when he put his foot in Scotland. "My foot is on my native heath and my name were set forth.

The sent "up" for 30 long years. The case was reopened at the instance of the New York World, and pardon gone.

Today, we call special attention to an editorial we publish under the head "From Other Editors." This editorial is from the Raleigh News and Observer. We only need to refer the reader to it.

If this was not enough we will quote from an article by Mr. Arthur Brisbane, which has quite recently appeared in the American Press. This publication is intended for editors and Mr. Brisbane, the foremost editor in the world, is writing a series of articles intended for the country editors. Mr. Brisbane says:

"The parcels post would make of every editor's list of subscribers a possible list of buyers for every great successful concern in the United States. And the LOCAL MERCHANT WOULD BE THE INTERMEDIARY AND MAKE HIS PROFIT."

SPEND A LITTLE MORE.

Greenville has a good system of water works, as good as any town its size can show. It has a large supply of fire hose, it has hand reels and a splendid hose wagon. It has a horse to pull the hose wagon. It has volunteer firemen that are just as good as they are in any other town. Thus it may be said that the town has fully ninety-five per cent of a good fire fighting equipment. Yet for the lack of the other five per cent of equipment fires do too much damage when they start here, and too many houses are allowed to be destroyed. Would it not be economy on the part of the aldermen to spend the other five per cent needed for equipment and save this loss? A driver is needed to stay right with the fire horse and to see that the horse takes the hose wagon out immediately when there is an alarm. Then something is needed to give an alarm that is better than banging with a hammer on a cast off rim of a locomotive drive wheel, or running through the streets shouting pistols and yelling to wake up people in hearing. Now if the aldermen will spend that other five per cent in hiring a reliable driver, in fixing quarters in the municipal building for a few firemen to sleep, and get an alarm that will wake up firemen over the town, the saved property will pay for the expenditures many times over. Spend a little more in equipment and save much in protection.

FOR TAR RIVER.

Newa was given out on Sunday that the much-talked of and hard worked appropriation for the improvement of some of the North Carolina rivers and harbors had successfully gone through the stormy seas of red tape and that as far as we people of Greenville are concerned would have $97,500 for the proposed Tar river canal.

Congratulations to Representative Small for his good work.

Congratulations to Senator Simmons and to all Washington City North Carolinians who are serving the interests of the Old North State. And last, but not least, congratulations to some of our citizens that have called on their own pockets to go to Washington and press the necessity of the Tar river improvement. Perseverance again won the fight and all of us should feel proud of having such representatives and such citizens as made the appropriation possible.

With a Tar river canal, 75 feet wide by 6 feet deep, another means of communication from the outside world will be opened to Greenville and lands that have been idle will be made to yield many times the amount to be expended in the river improvement.

And now let some enterprising mind accept the proposition left open by action of the board of aldermen some days ago. Let some company be formed, right here in Greenville, and let the people of Greenville reap the benefit of this added road to success.

seems now assured for Brandt. In any case, his 30 year sentence has been adjudged as inadequate by Justice Gerard. We are promised a thorough investigation of the case, and have no doubt that developments will not exonerate Judge Rosalsky, who passed the enormous sentence. Now it remains to be seen what will happen to Rosalsky for this "gross miscarriage of justice." Probably nothing will happen to the gentleman. Some few days ago a man was put on trial for life for killing another man. The case was clear against the accused. Yet the jury after being out 90 hours brought in a verdict of "Not Guilty," and Bryan walked out of the court a free man.

What's the matter with justice? It looks as though the bandage has slipped from the eyes to the mouth, and where she was blind, she is now dumb.

"IN TO WIN."

At least that is the way his manager Senator J. H. Bankhead, made it known to the citizens of the United States at large and particularly to the Southern people.

Majority Leader Underwood has opened his campaign quarters in the capital and were we to take Bankhead's statement seriously, Wilson, of Virginia and New Jersey, would not have much of a show in the Southern States.

Underwood's claim to Southern popularity and Southern votes is based on his being a Southerner—so is Wilson, with the only difference that Wilson did not have to stay at home to reach the high office he now occupies. And furthermore, Wilson already has the assurance of the Southern support Underwood is claiming. Already the majority of the South's senators have expressed themselves in favor of Wilson, and the Southern press is practically unanimous in acclaiming Wilson as the best exponent of Democracy as had since the palmy days of the great Bryan.

The fact that Metcalf, The Commonwealth's editor, and naturally a Bryan man, has declared for Wilson seems that the governor of New Jersey has the support of the most famous Democrat the South has produced.

Local newspaper votings invariably give Wilson an overwhelming majority over his opponents—still Underwood is "in the race to win."

A CONTRAST.

We wonder how many readers of The Chronicle have noticed how fast the Confederate veterans are going. The majority of them are around 80 and the infirmities of age are falling heavily upon them. There is no reason to doubt that the Confederate veteran death roll this year and the year to come will exceed all previous records. There will not be so many deaths after that because there will be fewer veterans to die.—Charlotte Evening Chronicle.

This is quite true, and it is sad to note the rapidly depleting ranks of the Confederate veterans who will all have passed away in a few years more. How remarkable this is in contrast with the veterans of the union army, who, judging by the pension rolls, never die. The number of pensioners is now larger than the number of soldiers in the union army fifty years ago.

The Norfolk Southern railroad is helping to boost corn grown by offering $100 in gold as prizes this year. This will be divided $50 for the largest field on one acre, $30 for the second largest and $20 for the third largest. The only restriction is that it must be grown in Norfolk Southern territory.

One man says Greenville's slogan is all wrong, that it says, "Our Greenville, Yours if You Come." While he came and got in jail. There is more room and better room outside the jail than inside, and the people who behave themselves are on the outside.

North Carolina might do better with a "stay home" movement, than to wait until she loses so many of her sons and then try to attract them with a "back home" call. More can be accomplished through providing to keep her sons at home than in trying to get them back after they have the Greensboro trip hammer. Now roll the combination overboard.

The hotel question seems to have grown right quiet. Yet we need a hotel.

A Guilford county jury is hung on the Greensboro trip hammer. Now roll the combination overboard.

Harnett county is to vote for bonds to build good roads. There are people in Pitt county who would be almost frightened out of their wits at a suggestion like that. Yet they go on riding over bad roads and talk about how fearful they are.

President Taft has expressed his disapproval of the suggestion of Postmaster General Hitchcock's suggestion that the government buy and operate all the telegraph lines as an adjunct of the postal system.

A Hickory man cleared over $40 in a month on the product of forty hens. Yet some people think it does not pay to raise poultry. There are numerous things that people could make more money off than growing cotton or tobacco.

The Supreme court of the United States has decided against the children of McCoie, the man who in 1905 was executed in Charlottesville for the murder of his wife. The court held that to be killed by the law forfeits all claim in life insurance.

Greenville ought to be the wholesale or distributing center for all of Pitt county. But you cannot tell from reading Greenville's four newspapers that the town has any wholesale business at all.

We heard a lady put another construction on Greenville's slogan. She says "Our Greenville, Yours if you come," is literally true, for when they come the town is turned over to them.

If all blind tiger reports are true, there are some other candidates grooming for a spell on the roads when the next criminal term of court comes around.

A man said to be 124 years old was recently found dead in Kentucky. The item did not say what brand he used nor how long he had been a smoker.

The business man can well afford to lay aside his business for a while tonight and show his interest in the boy who in a few years will succeed him.

On the boy of today rests the near future of Greenville. That boy asks the encouragement of your presence in the court house tonight.

Because Mr. Roosevelt went to New York, attended to his business and would not talk, it was flashed out that he was on a mysterious trip.

There is a cry for protection down on the Mexican border. There are safe places the criminals might go to and need no protection.

You will get an idea of what the Boy Scouts mean for the boys if you attend the meeting in the court house tonight.

To help your town along, either get before and pull or behind and push, but do not get in the middle and kick.

The Wilmington Star wants to "twang a tunful lyre." Hit him a good one as he deserves, Clowson, while you are at it.

Some people seem to think that other people have no right to their opinions, if at variance with what they think.

You owe it to your boy and to your neighbor's boy to attend the meeting in the court house tonight.

Another snow storm is heading from the West this way. We hope it will meet en route.

It comes in the good u ws class, that butter and eggs are both some lower.

The hotel question seems to have grown right quiet. Yet we need a hotel.

One thing is sure—if the attempts to break in houses here is kept up somebody is going to make a date for the undertaker, or call in a doctor to extract bullets.

Dynamite and the Closed Shop.

If the closed shop can be established, no man can earn wages without a union license, and the union is under no necessity to grant the license. The right to live includes the right to earn a living. Work for the unemployed is one of the first demands of the unions upon the society which they condemn and propose to improve by their own methods. And yet the unions would deny that right to any except their own members. That is to say, the right to live would depend not upon universal law, but upon compliance with union standards and bearing of union burdens. The man unable or unwilling to comply with the union requirements would be a social pariah, possessing only the right to starve. Let nobody imagine that this is something which concerns only ironworkers. Whoever buys anything bearing a union label subscribes to the theory of the closed shop. The merchant who submits to sell such articles bows his neck to the yoke. The master of a million minds has decreed that open-shop articles shall not be bought, sold, or transported in inter-state commerce, and is now endeavoring punishment for criminal contempt of court in insisting upon this as a matter of conscience. He is unable to appreciate the enormity of his offense against non-unionists because he labors under the delusion that whatever is good for one unionist is good for everybody. Cases like his call for heroic remedies. Nothing is suggested here worse than a general appreciation of the meaning of the closed shop, which in its essence, and as practiced, surpasses in cold-blooded malice and oppression of the needy and the innocent the dynamite outrages themselves. At worst there were only a hundred of them, and a hundred or so were slain. The closed-shop principle forces scores of millions.—New York Times.

LETTER FROM MEXICO

EX-GREENVILLE BOY WRITES

Owing to the turn in Mexican affairs we take pleasure in printing the following letter sent us from Mexico City by a former Greenville resident: MEXICO, D. F., Feb. 6, 1912.

Editor Reflector:

I will take time to give you just a word about the conditions down here, or rather in the city.

Now is the only time the foreigners in Mexico City have feared any trouble since I have been here, especially the Americans. Something is going to happen. We don't know what, but it is going to be soon. A foreigner can not get a gun here from the Mexican merchants for love nor money. All of our office employees are Mexicans, and through them we have secured arms for my personal use, in case they are needed. The fact is, if all the foreigners in this city could get together in a body they could whip every native in the city in 24 hours. In case of trouble, we feel very confident that we will be able to defend our selves. As long as Madero controls the army we are safe, but if he is overthrown, "Down with the Americans." The young natives, school boys and societies, parade the streets now in bodies, carrying flags, "No American Capital Wanted." "No Immigration." Some few weak-kneed Americans have already skipped out and others are going every day. I feel as safe and as well satisfied as if I was in the United States. Personally, I feel very confident that things will get alright soon. No doubt there is going to be a big blow somewhere, but I hope it will all be crushed soon. Many of the natives are in sympathy with the Americans and it is the general question among the business people at the present. "What is going to happen?" No one seems to foresee, some say one thing and some the other. I personally don't think Madero will hold out for a long time, but he will lead to a clearing up of the mystery. Senator O. A. Zarber is assisting Mr. Norris.

The history of the average man is largely foot notes.

"Just a countryman—that's all," So there's the story of the champion ear as Palin told it himself. And on the strength of it who will say that Fred C. Palin doesn't justly merit the title, "The Man who Knows Corn?"

Mr. Palin's real experience as a farmer began about sixteen years ago. He had been on the road as a grocery specialty salesman, when he took a notion that he would rather be an agriculturist, so he took a few short courses at Purdue University and rented a portion of the farm he now occupies. Nine years ago he began carefully breeding this new variety of corn. For

JAUREZ AGAIN FALLS IN HANDS OF REBELS

Little Resistance Offered By Government Troops

REVOLUTIONISTS ARE FOR GOMEZ

Town Authorities, Fearing American Intervention, Give Up City to Rebels

Without Much Resistance—Revolution Will Not Grow (Say American Ambassador at Washington)

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 28.—Offering scant resistance to invasion, Jaurez fell into the hands of rebel troops soon after 10 o'clock this forenoon.

The attack had been begun hardly an hour before. Throwing a ball of machine gun fire into the city, the rebel troops—self-styled adherents of Emilio Vasquez Gomez—advanced on the city from two directions.

Troops coming from the northwest were met by feeble firing from the government soldiers. But this soon ceased. Their way cleared, the invaders took complete possession of the city.

Before 11 o'clock they were marching through streets of the town that was the scene of a Madero triumph ten months ago.

Business houses were closed but apparently there was no attempt at looting.

Not long after the beginning of the rebel advance Mexican Consul Llorente in El Paso declared that to prevent violating of American rights the Jaurez garrison had been ordered to offer no further resistance and that the rebels would be permitted to take the town.

At 10:12 o'clock only the shots from the rebel guns were heard. Apparently after firing the first volley in answer to the attack the defenders quit.

At 10 o'clock a part of the rebel forces had entered the out skirts of Jaurez had opened fire. The defenders replied. The entrance was made at an irrigation ditch leading into Jaurez almost parallel with the Rio Grande.

Durham Civic Progress Club Organized

DURHAM, Feb. 26.—A civic progress club was organized in this city tonight with a membership of some of the most prominent citizens of the city.

Ex-Judge J. Crawford Biggs was elected president and Prof. W. H. Gause, vice-president.

The purpose of this club is to make a thorough study of all kinds of civic problems. They will make a special study of road building, sewerage and city parks; also there will be a special study of the commission form of government.

In all probability at a later date this question will be submitted to the people for adoption at an election.

Instead of using one or two percent matter to bear in mind. It may be mixed with the soil at the time of planting with advantage.

All realize who have had practical experience in the cultivation of farm crops that it is better and more desirable to incorporate the fertilizer with the soil at or before the time of planting than to put it on as side applications or top dressings later in the season.

It can be done at the time of planting with great economy and can be mixed more thoroughly with the soil which is an advantage to the crop grown on the land in that it enables the roots to spread through a wider territory in search of food.

When mixed with the soil there is also less danger of its escape through the drainage water.

It would appear from the facts set forth that cotton seed meal furnishes nitrogen in a most satisfactory form for farmers. Its efficiency is unquestioned. It can be applied in the cheapest and most satisfactory manner. It furnishes the nitrogen in a sufficiently quickly available form to meet the needs of our principal farm crops, and it has the advantage of being a home-made product which costs less per pound of available nitrogen at the present time than the element does when derived from other desirable sources.

The farmer who uses cotton seed meal not only has the satisfaction of applying nitrogen in a desirable form, but he enlarges the market for his seed and insures their bringing a better price on that account.

While it is to be regretted that cotton seed meal can not all be fed so that the largest profit might be derived from its use in animal nutrition and as a fertilizer, when applied to lands in which cotton is raised, it is quite evident that it is a most valuable fertilizer.

From this review of the situation it will appear that cotton seed meal at its present price will furnish farmers with nitrogen in a most satisfactory form. It becomes quickly available even in our poorest soils to supply the needs of the most crops. It is a form which our farmers will make no mistake in purchasing and using it as the best fertilizer for cotton.

For instance, Experience and observation both indicate that soils will give their best results where nitrogen is used with greater liberality than has been the practice in past years.

The Sine Qua Non.

The efforts that are making to cultivate closer relations between the United States and the Latin-American republics should, of course, be encouraged. Secretary Knox's tour of the South American countries, as was that of Secretary Root some few years ago, is an excellent thing in its way; so also is Mr. John Barrett's Pan-American Society for the promotion of intercourse between the people of the two Americas. But neither of these touches, except incidentally, the real question of strengthening the commercial relations between the two halves of this hemisphere.

International trade is based upon something a great deal more substantial than sentiment. It is international barter, the exchange of one commodity for another. So long as we wear, by means of tariff barriers, from our markets the things that the Latin-American republics have to sell, so long will the Latin-American republics buy from us only those things which they cannot obtain elsewhere at all or only at great disadvantage—and this regardless of how much touring among them may be done by our ministers of state or with what persuasive eloquence Mr. Barrett and his associates may preach the reciprocal advantages of Pan-American union.

The prime essential of the sine qua non to bringing to the United States that portion of the Latin-American trade to which our geographical location and other natural advantages entitle us lies in removing the artificial shackles imposed upon commerce by our inordinate tariff duties. Unless and until that is done, we can never hope for anything even approximating maximum development of our trade opportunities in the Latin-American field; and when and where, of the trade from that rich and fruitful territory now going across the Atlantic to Great Britain, Germany and France, will be drawn to our shores just as naturally and just as inevitably as the tides of the sea respond to the influence of the moon.

The fact that our commerce with South America has more than doubled in value in the last ten years, notwithstanding and in spite of the tariff handicap, only shows the more conclusively how great that expansion would be were this handicap removed. And certainly it is only the blindness that will not see which can fail to discern in our experience with limited trade with Cuba and a measure of free trade with the Philippines that it is freer trade relations which are needed to insure maximum commercial expansion in the Latin-American field.

SHOULD APPEAL SAYS GOMPERS

President of Federation Attacks Executive Order

PREVENTING APPEALS TO CONGRESS

Representative Lloyd of Missouri, at Attacks Order Which Prevents Employees of Postoffice Department From Making Appeals to Congress

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 5.—The Postoffice Department was a target for prominent speakers at the twelfth annual convention of the National Civic Federation which began here today.

Attacks on the executive order which prohibits the appeal of government employees to Congress or Congressmen in question affecting wages and working conditions, were made by Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation of Labor, and Representative Lloyd of Missouri, a member of the House Committee on Postoffice and Post Roads.

Second Assistant Postmaster-General Stewart vigorously defended the department and the Postmaster-General.

A lively colloquy which opened between Mr. Stewart and Mr. Gompers and Mr. Lloyd over the interpretation of the order was terminated abruptly by the chairman ruling the proceedings out of order.

"No other department of the government has dreamed of carrying out 'such a letter this order,'" declared Mr. Gompers. "The Postoffice Department has not only dreamed of it but has actually had a nightmare over it."

Representative Lloyd declared the policy of appealing to Congress through superior officers to be ineffective.

LEXINGTON JURY OUT HAS NOW BEEN OUT 36 HOURS

IT IS EXPECTED, HOWEVER, THAT THE JURY WILL BRING IN A VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY

LEXINGTON, March 5.—The jury in the Leonard murder case has been out since yesterday evening at 6 o'clock and has not yet reached a verdict. This morning the jurors returned to the courtroom for instructions as to the weight of circumstantial evidence. Juror Hedrick declared that some of the jurors were convinced that the man convicted on circumstantial evidence, and Judge Ferguson entered into a long explanation of the various phases of the subject. It is persistently rumored about town that the jury stands nine to three for acquittal. The prevailing opinion, however, is that the jury will bring in a verdict of not guilty early tomorrow morning.

A verdict was expected tonight, but they went to their rest without deciding. Though a verdict of acquittal is expected, there is no doubt in the minds of many of the people of Lexington as to Leonard's guilt, who is now in the county jail.

Cotton Unpicked. It is said there are at least 500 bales of cotton still in the fields in Lexington township unpicked. This estimate was based on the information given by one of the Falkland farmers and farms with five bales or less were not considered. Most of the cotton will no doubt remain in the field and be plowed in.

YOUNG MERCHANT SHOT

M. P. RITCHIE BADLY INJURED

IS RUSHED TO SALISBURY WHERE OPERATION IS QUICKLY PERFORMED—NOT MUCH HOPE

CONCORD, March 5.—A sensational shooting took place in 1853's department store here this afternoon about 6 o'clock when Md. Marion Hamilton, a well-known clerk in the store, shot Mr. M. F. Ritchie, a prominent young hardware man, and dangerously, if not fatally, wounded him.

On account of the prominence of the parties and shocking suddenness of the act, it aroused great excitement, which soon developed into a gloom that cast itself over the entire community.

A misunderstanding over an account aroused the trouble. Mr. Hamilton owed the Ritchie Hardware Co. for a buggy. There arose a misunderstanding between them on the interest on the account. Mr. Ritchie went into the store this afternoon to collect it. Mr. Hamilton was about midway the store, behind the counter, when Mr. Ritchie went to him. There were very few people in the store at the time and most of the clerks had gone home.

Mr. Hamilton says that Mr. Ritchie became offended at what he said and was "knocking" him when he pulled his pistol and fired.

When Mr. Adolph Garris, who lives about 3 miles from town, got up early this morning he found that his smokehouse had been broken into during the night and a quantity of meat stolen. There were plain tracks in the snow and slush about the smokehouse and leading off in the direction of Greenville. Md. Garris followed these tracks about two miles where they entered the house of a colored man named Frank Wiggins. He then came to town after Sheriff S. I. Dudley and went back to Wiggins' home. The Sheriff found Wiggins in the house and arrested him, but while looking for the stolen meat the negro broke out and ran off.

Sheriff Dudley went back to town after Policeman Garris and two officers took up Wiggins' tracks again and followed them through woods and fields about 3 miles, where they found Wiggins secreted in a house and again captured him.

Going back to where Wiggins lived they found part of the meat hid in his house and the balance of it in his house.

Wiggins was brought to town and placed in jail. He was only recently released from serving a sentence on the roads for a similar offense.

Agriculture is the Most Useful, the Most Healthful, the Most Noble Employment of Man.—George Washington.

GREENVILLE, N. C., FRIDAY AFTERNOON, MARCH 8, 1912. NUMBER 10.

Tar Heel on Money Trust Probe

Committee will be Divided into two parts. One to investigate the money trust, the other to deal with Senator Aldrich's Currency plan. Representative Daughton of North Carolina is made member of the committee to carry on close investigation into "Money Trust"

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS TO BE FIRST WITNESSES BEFORE COMMITTEE

Although the Plans Have Not Been Perfected as to How the Committee Will Proceed It is Known that It Will Be Divided into a Committee and a Subcommittee to Work on Different Matters.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 5.—The plan of the house and currency committee of the house to begin its investigation of the "money trust" is definitely.

The details have not been worked out, but the inquiry has been divided. One is to be an inquiry into the money trust and the other into the currency plan of Senator Aldrich.

The latter committee will also summon witnesses, but its work will be more along the line of constructive legislation than those of investigation.

The subcommittee to investigate the money trust will consist of Representative Pugh, of Louisiana, chairman; Representatives Brown, of West Virginia; Stephens, of Mississippi; Doughton, of North Carolina; Daughton, of Missouri; Byrnes, of South Carolina; and Neely, of Kansas.
