

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT-BY THE FARMVILLE PYTHIANS

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God in His never ending providence to remove from this world the spirit of the tender and affectionate sister of our brother, James H. Darden, and the faithful and devoted wife of our brother, John T. Thorne; and

Whereas, their great loss is keenly felt by every true Knight of Pythias, we desire to record a tribute to the memory of this good woman, and express our deep feeling of sympathy for these brothers in their hour of trial.

Therefore, be it Resolved: 1 That in the death of Mrs. John T. Thorne our lodge has lost one of its best friends and the community a most useful and conscientious Christian woman, whose strong character, wise counsel, devoted faithfulness and consistent life won for her friends and companions in early life the warmest of friends to the end of her days.

Fraternally, H. H. McLEAN,) PAUL E. JONES,) R. A. JOYNER)

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Adopted by the Boy Scouts of Greenville. Whereas, Our All Wise and kind heavenly Father, who doth all things well, has deemed it best to remove from our midst a brother citizen, a true friend, a faithful husband and a loving parent.

Therefore, be it Resolved: 1 That while we can not understand why he should be taken in the prime of life, yet we bow in humble submission to His will.

Taft And The Tariff Looking up and scrutinizing public records is the order of the day. What President Taft's tariff record? Summarized briefly and comprehensively, it is as follows:

In his letter of acceptance July 19, 1908, Mr. Taft said: "The tariff in a number of the schedules exceeds the difference between the cost of production abroad and at home, and is a reasonable profit to the American producer. The excess offers a temptation to those who would monopolize production and sale of such articles."

In his inaugural address, he said: "It is imperatively necessary that the tariff bill be drawn in good faith in accordance with the promises made before the election."

On July 16, 1909 when the Aldrich-Payne bill was under discussion, an official statement from the White House said: "The President is committed to a Downward Revision of the tariff, which he promised."

Mr. Taft had had his attention called to the tariff by the Aldrich-Payne bill, revising the tariff upward, was passed and promptly signed by him.

At Winona, Minn., September 17, 1909, President Taft issued the following statement: "This is the best tariff bill that the Republic party has ever passed, and there is no reason to believe that it is not the best that has ever passed."

During a tour in September, 1910, he repeatedly admitted that the wool schedule—Schedule K—was "impossible."

And on August 17, 1911, he vetoed the LaFollette bill, which revised the wool schedule on the report of the tariff board.

The Initiative Referendum and Recall

BY D. M. CLARK. To the Editor: There is much being said just now along political lines, but judging from what one sees daily in the newspapers at attention is being paid to the personality and attributes of the respective candidates, both national and state, than to the great political principles that are the fundamentals of our future legislation.

The Initiative and Referendum and Recall are similar to the Initiative, except in that it deals with laws already passed that do not meet with popular approval. In this case a law is obnoxious, a specified number of voters can sign a petition, and the measure submitted to the ballot box as in the case of the Initiative. Our Initiative law is an example of the Referendum. Many troubles could be amicably and expeditiously settled if we had the Referendum clause in our State Constitution.

The Recall is a means by which the people can force their office-holders to keep pledges made before election. In other words if an office-holder betrays the trust put in him by his constituents, they, the constituents, can, by having a designated number of electors sign a petition, submit him to the vote of the people and he be returned as the people see fit. The Recall is especially adapted to operation in cities and towns, and it is in this capacity that it is advocated here.

Change in N. N. Trains. A slight change has taken place in the arrival at Greenville, of two of the west bound passenger trains on the Norfolk Southern road. The morning train from Washington formerly arriving at 7:51 now comes at 7:43 two minutes sooner, and the afternoon train from Norfolk formerly arriving at 4:58 now comes at 5:00 two minutes later.

MERCHANTS, TAKE NOTICE. That the last legislature passed an act forbidding the sale of 22-caliber pistols that can be used in 22-pistol, without paying a license tax. I have been informed that several merchants throughout the county are selling such cartridges and it is unlawful to do so. All who continue to sell them after this date will have to pay the required tax for selling pistols and cartridges.

FRIDAY, MARCH 23, 1912.

WE NEED "ISERS".

The Greenville Daily Reflector in its issue of March 12 took out little story about the boy wanting to hold the old farmer's horse as a basis for an excellent editorial.

"The story has a very big moral after you think about it. It is the story of almost everything. The start is what we need. And right here in our community can we apply this story to the greatest advantage to all of us. For there are so many things that we could help to start and once started would be of such benefit of our Greenville yours, etc., etc."

Durham, like Greenville, needs starters. There is plenty of "stoppers". There is another story that has a moral. An old farmer wanted to buy a horse. He went to a stock farm and told his business. The dealer took him to a pen and said, "These are young horses, thoroughly bred, good conditioned, but untrained, with proper care they will be the best that were ever taken from this farm."

They then went to another pen, and pointing to a number of old fellows, the dealer said, "These have been celebrated horses, they have been known the country over, and no horses have made better records." The old farmer scratched his head, took another chow of tobacco and said, "Well, brother, you've showed me your young lot has-beens, now if you've got 'em, trot out some of your 'isers'."

Every town needs "isers". Men who do things, and do them now. Durham needs "isers" and we need them bad. We need men who start things and "isers" who keep things going.

Above goes to the credit of Editor Crowson, who, we are glad to say is an "isier" and recently took over the Durham Sun and has since then been doing the kind of work that makes the fourth state in the Old North State worth while.

We will simply chalk our cue, put a little more English on the ball and keep it rolling. We thank Editor Crowson for introducing us to that expressive though ungrammatical adjective, ISER. We have often heard and almost as often experienced that every day a man goes to his bed with more knowledge than when he left it in the morning, and today we added the mentioned word to our vocabulary.

We have some "isiers" but goodness and Greenville knows we could do with some more and they can't come too fast or too numerous to suit our taste. Let 'em all come, as long as they are "isiers".

A woman doctor in Battle Creek, Mich., advised a class of girls to whom she was lecturing that they ought to stand on their heads at least twice a day and she proceeded forthwith to show them how it should be done. We doubt if the girls take readily to this advice.

EXIT DR. WILEY.

A natural sequence to this heading would be "Enter Benzoste of Soth", but unfortunately we are not feeling about a comedy of international reputation with Lehar music.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the noted food expert is "fired of public service". At least that's the way the diplomatic Doctor put it. To any one who has been keeping pace with the intrigues been carried on in the past two or three years by the "inmates" of the department of agriculture, Chief Wilson, Solicitor McCabe et al., it is easy enough to read between the lines of Dr. Harvey's reason for leaving "public service". He has become disgusted with the whole thing and rather than continue the uphill fight he is going to tell the people from the lecture platform, how slowly but surely they are being poisoned by the food trusts.

Intemperance is a subject that can easily compete with elasticity and sometimes make the mistake of immediately thinking of whiskey when the word intemperance is spoken before us. It is a mistake. Intemperance means "an immoderate indulgence of appetites or passions" according to Webster. So it would be wide of the mark and still hovering about the bull's eye to think that intemperance means an immoderate desire to saturate ourselves with booze.

The coy young lady, who would rather eat a pound of candy than partake of a modest pork chop is intemperate as the young man who can't see the fallacy of drinking the distilleries dry. They are both intemperate.

However we must forgive ourselves for making this mistake so often, as after all, the worst subject of intemperance is the man appointed Lord High Keeper of the Exchequer by a committee of one. Said committee of one being entirely made up of himself and his intemperance in dealing with John Bartercorn.

FOR A MILITARY COMPANY.

As announced in our issue of yesterday, some of our young men have been lately talking Military Company and it is to be hoped that the project will not end in what it began. There are enough young men in Greenville, and the majority of them could spare the time to form such a company and devote a little time, say once or twice a week, to perfect themselves into an organization that will be of the worth-while kind. This addition would be most welcome to our community and there is no end of purpose it might serve.

"We already have a 'hustling' business club. The ladies of the town have some four or five women's clubs. The boys have organized successfully the Boy Scouts, and if the thing is properly launched, we ought to have a pretty good military company.

A gymnasium fitted up with baths, etc., etc. would not be altogether a luxury and might well take the place of the Y. M. C. A. that we lack. In fact it might be a good deal better than any Y. M. C. A. that we may have in the future.

It certainly is not a question as to how the thing could be accomplished. That's easy enough. Just as it would be very easy to bring our young men together and prepare some plan that would make the project possible.

Some real "isier" is wanted to come forward and express his opinion in the matter of how best to start the ball rolling.

People have a mistaken idea when they think they are bettering themselves when they order goods from a city which could be bought from the home merchant. Pictures in catalogues may have an attractive appearance and their prices quoted look cheap, but the articles bought in that way seldom come up to representation and are rarely, if ever, worth the price paid for them. Having been paid for in advance, the purchaser cannot return the goods nor get his money back, even though he may be hanged in the deal. In dealing with the home merchant the purchaser can examine the article before buying to see if it is what is wanted and worth the price asked for it. There is every advantage in trading at home.

TEMPERANCE.

A lady of high standing in the lecture field has been kind enough to come to Greenville and further tell her citizens of the evils of intemperance.

No matter how many listened to her very interesting talks we feel that her coming has done us good and even if we have an exceptionally moral town her efforts have found their way to proper channels and the influence of her word has been felt.

We here in Greenville like to have our shortcomings discussed and without much resignation lead a willing ear to such suggestions as will go to make our community better than what it really is. Improvement may grow harder as we advance, but there will always be room for it.

TOO MANY LAWYERS.

According to Arthur Brisbane, editor of the New York Evening Journal, lawyers are allowed to play too important a part in our lives and to judge by a recent editorial, or collection of editorials, published by the New York World, Brisbane was right.

A comparison of the number of lawyers sitting in the House of Lords and the House of Commons in Great Britain, and in the House of Representatives and in the Senate in the United States, shows very clearly why we are not getting better legislation and enforcement of laws.

In Great Britain's case, in the House of Lords, out of a total of 619 members, 156 are lawyers or about a quarter. In the House of Commons, out of 663 M. P.'s 151 are lawyers, or about a quarter.

Now take our own case. There are 91 U. S. Senators. Of these, 49 are lawyers, or a little over a half. In the House of Representatives out of 291 representatives, there are 229 members of the bar or approximately two-thirds of the total number.

With so many legal minds in both Senate and House the "legality" of the many measures and bills consummated there seems an impossibility. Yet facts are opposite to fiction and we certainly are very far from living a life of romance these high-cost-of-living days.

It may be that lawyers, like men of other professions, grow callous as they get better acquainted with their work. For instance take the case of a structural engineer. First time he goes on his job he may feel quaky about it. The next time it won't seem so bad and he will wind up by hanging from his toes from a girder swinging in mid-air twenty stories above the street pavement. He has grown callous. He has lost the respect due to the risky calling he has followed.

About the same things may and probably do happen to the lawyer. In college he is told, at least we hope so, that law is something sacred, and must be held so by all people trying to gain a knowledge of it. Perhaps at first stern faces, deep voices, and the thickness of the volumes he has to wade through, fill him with profound respect and a great deal of awe for his chosen profession. Later follows the confidence of knowledge. It also must be remembered that the lawyer in going through college is told that the idea of learning the law is to fit him to defend and uphold it when the collegial grind is over and the young man hies the office with the peogre rug and the lone typewriter.

But, let us suppose him through with the long grind. He occupies that mentioned office and in opening the door to his new client the sacredness of the law comes to him and remembering what he has been told about championing the old dame (law) he makes up his mind that that is his motto for life: Upholding the law.

Remembering about the often quoted lines of Robert Burns: "The best laid schemes of mice and men oft gang agley" or words to that effect. Next too often the lawyer's plans and schemes do gang agley and before he is very old he has a more practical idea of what "upholding the law" should be. In a few words, he re-writes the law and whenever he is allowed he interprets it according to which platter on the scales holds the precious bacon.

Like the structural engineer, with a little practice, he hangs by his toes from the judicial chain and juggles his law-books to the glorious tune of "I can't get around it".

Of course no lawyer should be blamed for wanting to get to the Senate or the House. Far from it. A lawyer is just as human as a structural engineer and he knows a good thing when he sees it coming. The fault lies with the voter who will not realize that the laws we had were pretty good, and that if we did want good lawyers to sit on the benches, it was just as true that we wanted good lawyers to sit on the benches. From the different callings to represent us both in the Senate and in the House.

VERY KIND WORDS.

A former citizen of Greenville now residing in another state, writes that he is going to assist as far as he can in helping to win one of the News and Observer automobiles, and adds: "I sincerely hope you may be successful and I feel that you are due the best efforts of your many friends in that direction, especially all those who know of your faithful services and splendid work for the public good as exemplified in the record of The Reflector for many years."

There may be various opinions on the question, some favoring one thing and some another, with all equally honest in their opinions, but we do not believe Pitt county will ever have a system of good roads until there is a bond issue sufficient to build them.

The letter from Congressman John H. Small, published elsewhere in this paper, brings gratifying information about the public building for Greenville. That work on this building will begin within a year is cause for rejoicing. Congressman Small is a man who does not go to sleep on his job and it is due to his earnest and untiring efforts in behalf of his people that we are to get this handsome postoffice building so early. It places our people under renewed obligation to him and they will not be slow to show their appreciation.

Three Scotland Neck boys, aged about twelve years, run away from their homes with the idea of seeing some of the world. They got as far as Weldon, in the same county, and when about to step off the train there was a policeman on hand to take them in charge and return them to their homes. Perhaps they are wiser boys by this time.

From reports in our exchanges quite a number of towns throughout the state are being troubled with robbers. It is the time of year when loafing negroes are most numerous and when they do not work they are going to steal. Of course some white folks come under the same rule.

"The discovery of neither of the poles; North or South, is troubling us," remarks Whitehead, of the Greenville Reflector, "as we never expect to try and visit either of them." How selfish, Whitehead, because think of the comforting warmth your red hair would furnish to either frigid region. —Wilmington Dispatch.

Yes, but if this head went along and made it too warm there would be no job for the igloo builder.

Whitehead writes in his Greenville Reflector: "If Cowan comes up to take a spin with us in that automobile there will not be any need for headlights with us two on the front seat." Both men are our friends and we stand ready with a club to go after the first guy who intimates that there will be two light-heads on the front seat. —Greensboro News.

Said like a man. More pie for you, Bob.

There are some folks who are worth good money to Greenville and others who are not worth thirty cents. Which class are you in?

This is a year in which you want to do some voting, but will be denied that privilege unless you pay your poll tax by the first of May.

Yes, but if this head went along and made it too warm there would be no job for the igloo builder.

Whitehead writes in his Greenville Reflector: "If Cowan comes up to take a spin with us in that automobile there will not be any need for headlights with us two on the front seat." Both men are our friends and we stand ready with a club to go after the first guy who intimates that there will be two light-heads on the front seat. —Greensboro News.

Said like a man. More pie for you, Bob.

There are some folks who are worth good money to Greenville and others who are not worth thirty cents. Which class are you in?

This is a year in which you want to do some voting, but will be denied that privilege unless you pay your poll tax by the first of May.

VERY KIND WORDS.

A former citizen of Greenville now residing in another state, writes that he is going to assist as far as he can in helping to win one of the News and Observer automobiles, and adds: "I sincerely hope you may be successful and I feel that you are due the best efforts of your many friends in that direction, especially all those who know of your faithful services and splendid work for the public good as exemplified in the record of The Reflector for many years."

There may be various opinions on the question, some favoring one thing and some another, with all equally honest in their opinions, but we do not believe Pitt county will ever have a system of good roads until there is a bond issue sufficient to build them.

The letter from Congressman John H. Small, published elsewhere in this paper, brings gratifying information about the public building for Greenville. That work on this building will begin within a year is cause for rejoicing. Congressman Small is a man who does not go to sleep on his job and it is due to his earnest and untiring efforts in behalf of his people that we are to get this handsome postoffice building so early. It places our people under renewed obligation to him and they will not be slow to show their appreciation.

Three Scotland Neck boys, aged about twelve years, run away from their homes with the idea of seeing some of the world. They got as far as Weldon, in the same county, and when about to step off the train there was a policeman on hand to take them in charge and return them to their homes. Perhaps they are wiser boys by this time.

From reports in our exchanges quite a number of towns throughout the state are being troubled with robbers. It is the time of year when loafing negroes are most numerous and when they do not work they are going to steal. Of course some white folks come under the same rule.

"The discovery of neither of the poles; North or South, is troubling us," remarks Whitehead, of the Greenville Reflector, "as we never expect to try and visit either of them." How selfish, Whitehead, because think of the comforting warmth your red hair would furnish to either frigid region. —Wilmington Dispatch.

Miss Willie Bunch of Raleigh is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. A. A. Adams. Harrington, Barber and Company have their shipment of spring hats, in all of the latest styles. Miss Mollie Causey of near Gardner X roads spent a few days this week with Rosa Causey.

A new lot of hardware just arrived at A. W. Ange and Co's. Mr. Charles Tucker was a pleasant caller in town this week. Harrington, Barber and Co., are getting the best pump oil on the market. Prof. G. E. Lineberry of Raleigh, educational secretary of the Baptist state convention, spent a day or two in town this week shaking hands with many friends.

It will pay you to see Harrington, Barber and Co., for your rubber boots. They sell the 2 ply with a guarantee to last 10 years without painting.

Mrs. J. L. Rollins gave a party on Wednesday night to the young people of the town. There was a memory contest in which Miss Minnie May Whitehead won the prize, a beautiful picture. There was also a guessing contest in which Mr. Malone Tucker won the prize. Refreshments were served and all spent a pleasant time. Mrs. Agnes Blount of Ayden spent Wednesday afternoon in town looking after a Hunsucker buggy. Miss Nell Brown of Kinston spent several days this week with Miss May Whitehead.

Mr. Hugh Smith of Greenville was in town Friday afternoon and night shaking hands with his many friends. Harrington, Barber and Co., are carrying a well selected lot of seeds. It will soon be cotton planting time again and the farmers who have not already decided to do so should make up their minds to plant a small crop.

If Mr. Roosevelt takes the stump he should be careful that Mr. Taft does not put dynamite under it. They are trying to guess who the local Nutt and Jeff are.

Those fellows who are saying North Carolina is safe for this or that presidential candidate, are talking before their time. March has not given us as much blowing as there was in February, but there is time enough to make up for it.

By the time the gardens get fairly started, the neighbor's chickens will be on hand to destroy them. If there was not so much water in the river these pretty days would be a temptation to dig fish bait.

The Rooseveltians are making the most noise, but noise does not always get votes. There is some desirable space in The Reflector for sale, and it is a profitable investment. The arrival of congressional packages of garden seed indicates that it is time for spring to be here.

How quiet flying machines have been lately. Guess they were waiting for spring. Wonder what kind of opinion those people who do things just for spite have of themselves. Candidates for Lieutenant governor are coming in the light night now. That tired feeling that some are developing is another sign of spring. In the political race many run but few get elected. Is the ground hog doing this for spite.

Glorious News

comes from Dr. J. T. Curtis, Dwight, Kan. He writes: "I not only have cured bad cases of eczema in my patients with Electric Bitters, but also cured myself by the use of the same. I feel sure they will benefit any case of eczema." This shows what thousands have proved, that Electric Bitters is a most effective blood purifier. It is an excellent remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Price 50 cents. Satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists.

King and Queen of May.

At the celebration of May games it was the constant custom to elect the most popular lad and the prettiest lass as King and Queen of May. They represented the sun and flowers and took no part in the sports, but sat all day in a bower, looking and smiling benignly at their subjects. Sometimes they were called Lord and Lady of May "there was in Fenchurch Street a goodly May game and with the nine worthies who rode—and each of them made his speech—there was also a morrice dance and an elephant and castle and the Lord and Lady of May appearing to make up the show." In one of Beaumont and Fletcher's comedies an apprentice appears upon the stage and declaims: "With gilded staff and crossed scarf, the May Lord here I stand." Gradually the Lord of May came to impersonate Rithon Hood and the Queen, Maid Marian. In an old churchwarden's account for the parish of Saint Helen's, in Abington, we read: "Payde for the setting up of Robin Hood's lower eighteen pence."
One May morning Catherine of Aragon and her ladies were frightened by the sudden entrance into the queen's chamber of thirteen disguised men in green short coats, hoods and "rosen of the same" each bearing his "big bow with arrows and a sword and a buckler." They performed several dances and departed, but not until they had revealed themselves as the king and twelve of his nobles.
Once two hundred of the king's officers, all clothed in green and headed by "Robin Hood" met the royal pair and their retinue, "riding to take the air" and invited them to see the "forest home." Blowing their horns and the two hundred archers led the way to an arbor of green boughs, "having a hall, a great chamber and an inner chamber and the whole was covered with flowers and sweet herbs." Upon "Robin's" invitation, the guests sat down and were served with venison and wine and much merriment.
In a sermon preached before King Edward VI, Bishop Latimer said: "Coming to a certain town to preach I found the door fast locked. I tarried there half and hour and more and at last they key was found and one of the parish comes to me and says: 'Sir, this is a busy day with us, we cannot hear you, it is Robin Hood's day.' I was fayne, therefore, to give place to Robin Hood."
Who was this Robin Hood and why should he be King of May? Next week the Greenhoro Normal College girls will explain.

Taft's Busy Day in Boston.

BOSTON, Mass., March 18.—President Taft began an exceedingly busy day with a breakfast at the Hotel Somerset this morning as the guest of the city of Boston, given in celebration of the 126th anniversary of the evacuation of the city by the British during the Revolution. At noon the President addressed the members of the Massachusetts legislature at the State House. His program for the remainder of the day included his participation in the Evacuation Day parade in South Boston, visits to the Yale and Algonquin clubs and addresses before the Charitable Irish Society and the Bank Officers' Association.

Blood Was Wrong

All women, who suffer from the aches and pains, due to female ailments, are urged to try Cardui, the reliable, scientific, tonic remedy, for women. Cardui acts promptly, yet gently, and without bad effects, on the womanly system, relieving pain, building up strength, regulating the system, and toning up the nerves. During the past half century, thousands of ladies have written to tell of the quick curative results they obtained, from the use of this well-known medicine.

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Jane Calahan suffered from womanly trouble for nearly ten years. In a letter from Whiteville, N. C., she says: "I was not able to do my own housework. My stomach was weak, and my blood was wrong. I had backache, and was very weak. I tried several doctors, but they did me no good. I used Cardui for 3 or 4 months, and now I am in the best health I have ever been. I can never praise Cardui enough." It is the best tonic, for women.

Whether seriously sick, or simply weak, try Cardui.

EPISCOPALIANS GET RECTOR

REV. DALLAS TUCKER, OF BRISTOL

BRISTOL, TENN., MARCH 18.—Information was gathered lately that the Episcopalians here were successful in securing a rector for their church and that in the course of a few days the Rev. Dallas Tucker, of Bristol, Tenn., would come over to Greenville to assume the duties of his church.

This is certainly good news for the Episcopalians here and they surely deserve their success in as much as they have just completed a beautiful house to be occupied by their preacher.

Rev. Tucker was lately sent a copy of the special illustrated edition of the Reflector and in correspondence with one of the leading citizens expressed his pleasure at being introduced to the town he will soon call his home in such a manner.

BEAR THIS IN MIND!

Spring Cleaning Prescribed for Greenville by Mayor F. M. Wooten.

APRIL 1ST, TO 4TH, IS SET ASIDE FOR THIS PURPOSE

Should Receive the Earnest Co-operation of Every Resident as Our Health Depends Upon the Sanitary Conditions of Our City.

In response to the request of the Civic League and to help that worthy organization in its efforts to remove trash, garbage and all unsightly and unhealthful refuse from the streets and lots of the town. And for that special purpose, the first four days in April, that is, beginning with the first day in April are set apart and declared "Clean-up-Days" for the town. During these four days the entire force of the town's employees will make a special effort to assist the citizens in this beneficial work in every way it possibly can. And for this purpose all other work will be postponed during this time in order to make the Clean-up-Day as effectual as possible.

We are now almost on the eve of warm weather and we know that it is the most opportune time to get rid of all decaying matter and to avoid as many flies and as much sickness as possible during the coming summer. I, therefore, beg all citizens, both white and colored, to join in with the Civic League workers and clean up all premises and the side walks of the town.

And finally I urge you to take the cleaning habit now and by your example illustrate its value to your fellowmen and by all means have your premises cleaned up by Thursday, April 4, 1912 and as far as possible keep them so. And as a result of your diligence see if the health of your own family as well as that of your neighbor is not improved.

Beginning with Monday morning, April first and continuing until Thursday night, April the fourth, 1912, so far as authority is vested in me to that end, I command every person in the town of Greenville to clean up his premises as required by the ordinances. And do it willingly!

F. M. WOOTEN, Mayor.

WILMINGTON RAISES SUM FOR A MILITARY COMPANY

$75,000 FOR NEW Y. M. C. A. MATTER HAS BEEN TALKED ABOUT

WILMINGTON, March 18.—Closing a 10 day campaign for 75,000 for a new Y. M. C. A. with a sensational finish and raising over $20,000 on the last day the citizens of Wilmington today wrote the fair name of the city high in the firmament of civic progress and public pride putting themselves on record as standing firm in their determination to keep pace with the flying feet of time to insure the welfare of the young men of the municipality. The campaign came to an end Saturday night at a banquet to the active campaign workers in the association gymnasium at which time the final result of the work was announced.

The records show that 2,753 subscriptions were made amounting to $7,583, a sum of 2,583 more than was asked for. Saturday night the people of Wilmington were rejoicing over the success of the campaign and at 10 o'clock when the long hand in the big campaign clock at Front and Princess streets was moved up to the $75,000 mark, a mighty shout went up to heaven from the huge crowd of people who had assembled to see the token of success.

Members of Baptist Church Greaves Support Makes Acquisition of Organ Sure.

Sunday morning in the Baptist church Rev. C. M. Beck took a collection to finish paying for the new pipe organ that has been ordered and to make some improvements in the church in connection with the installation of the organ. Inside of twenty minutes $2,050 was subscribed. It was a remarkable collection, both by size and the ease with which it was raised.

Stealing at Both Ends.

Chief of Police Kilpatrick returned Friday evening from Greenville, where he went for Elliott Patterson, colored, who is wanted here for larceny. He came back without his prisoner. Patterson and another negro named Willie Jones, were both tried before Mayor Wooten of Greenville for various offenses and held for Pitt county court. Both are wanted here for larceny, shooting, etc., and will be kept for the Lenoir county authorities when Pitt is through with them.—Kinston Free Press.

These are some of the negroes caught here last week, and the above shows that they have been stealing at both ends of the line. There seems to be a gang of them going through the town in this section.

Nineteen Miles a Second.

Without a jar, shock or disturbance, in the awful sleep of our earth through the night, we wonder at such ease of nature's movement and so do those who take Dr. King's New Life Pills. No gripping, no distress, just thorough cleansing that brings good health and fine feelings. 25c at all druggists.

NO REASON WHY GREENVILLE YOUNG MEN SHOULD NOT ORGANIZE SUCH A COMPANY

We have heard several young people of our community talk about organizing a military company and really we can't see why Greenville should not organize and support one. The Boy Scouts recently organized here have been very successful in their endeavors and we feel quite sure that the same degree of success would attend an organization such as we are discussing. There are many young men that would be very glad to join something of the kind and the only thing necessary is for someone to get them together and "start something."

This is something which most towns of our importance have and the influence it has over young men towards inculcating ideas of discipline, punctuality and honor is one of its most commendable qualities.

Sheriff Dudley Captures Still

Two about two o'clock yesterday afternoon Sheriff Dudley made his way into town with something hatched back of his buggy. Upon close examination that something proved to be a still that the sheriff had captured near Arthur, about twelve miles from here. The fact that a still was being operated in the neighborhood of Arthur was communicated to the sheriff and therefore the capture. The operators must have been notified that something was going to happen, as they were not in a position when Sheriff Dudley made his appearance.

The still is not very big. It might hold about 45 or 50 gallons.

Young Man Accused of Killing Belcher Near Farmville Seems to Realize His Position as Date Approaches

With the criminal term nearer every day, Nap Burnett, lodged in the local jail, under accusation that may mean the chair or life imprisonment seems to be losing the buoyancy that was his when brought over here by Chief Smith of Farmville.

He seems to realize as the day of his trial approaches that his chances to prove his innocence of the shooting that did away with Belcher, are when first seen by a representative of the Reflector, and it seems very much as if he was losing his nerve.

On the other hand, Bill Nichols, the only witness to the tragedy, has not changed his demeanor and talks freely whenever addressed.

Both sides have engaged the best counsel in Greenville and it would appear that when Burnett's case comes up his counsel will put up a strong fight to clear the prisoner, although Belcher's statement just prior to his death from the bullet wound, will play a very strong part in the trial.

Carolina Club's Secretary Reviews Situation

MANY ACTIVITIES ARE IN LINE

Although it is not customary for the hospitable unassuming people of Greenville to boast to the outside world of what they are doing, I think in this case that our fellow citizens of the state should know something of the splendid progress that is being made by the people of our quiet little city.

Altho "Uncle Sam" gave us a black eye in putting our population at 1911, it seems to have roused the pride and determination of all Greenvilleans to show what so few people could really do. Thus determined and realizing that organization and co-operation could accomplish things that individual endeavor alone could not, a call was made to the enterprising citizenship of the town and as a consequence a business organization known as the Carolina Club was perfected in December 1911. The prime purpose of this organization was the upbuilding and advancement of Greenville and Pitt county along all lines of development and since the day of its birth the club has continually striven for progress and attainment. Through its system of advertising excursions of home cooks and individual home seekers have been among us and become very interested in our many advantages. Many inquiries have been received and answered and our prospects along these lines are very bright.

The development of enterprises has been backward, for during the month of March a Coöperage company was organized here with a capitalization of $100,000.00 and a paid up capital of $75,000.00. This company will carry on all kinds of lumber and coöperage work and operate rail road lines throughout the county. It will mean much in the way of development for Pitt county. It is said all good things come together and in this case it seems true, for during this same month the ever appreciative people of Greenville were awakened to the realization that an up-to-date $3,000.00 steam laundry had been installed and was seeking their patronage as had been promised in "Our Greenville, Yours if You Come."

Our last, not least, but possibly greatest attainment in recent years is the incorporation of a hotel company. This company will build within a few months a modern $60,000.00 hotel. Of all the improvements needed by a town it is a commodious hotel, sufficiently large to entertain the traveling public, conventions, etc. of all sizes. Through the courtesy of Messrs. B. W. Moseley, W. H. Dall, C. T. Munford and others this fact was finally driven home in the minds of a sufficient number of Pitt county's business men to make the hotel dream a life realization.

Carolina Club does not claim that it was directly responsible for all of this progress, but it does claim all credit for the new hotel and that through its organized co-operative efforts these other improvements have naturally come. We believe this way to suggest a similar movement for our sister towns of the state.

Miss Sue Kinsaul Dead.

Miss Sue Kinsaul died at 4 o'clock this morning at the home of Mrs. A. White in East Greenville, where she had gone about a week ago to spend some days. Her death was sudden, or she was sick only a day or two.

Miss Kinsaul was 73 years of age and one of the oldest native residents of Greenville. She united with the Methodist church here in early life and was the oldest both in age and membership of the church. Her life was that of a faithful Christian, filled with comfort and blessings to others. The death of this good woman brings sorrow to many hearts that held her in highest esteem. Her nearest surviving relative is a niece, Mrs. Ada Cherry, with whom she has lived for many years.

May-Day Fete at the State Normal College at Greensboro.

As a part of the commencement exercises the students in the college and the children in the Training School are to celebrate May-Day. The ancestors of every North Carolinian—Teuton, Celt, or Anglo-Saxon—the very word May-day was cloaked in mystery. Because this custom is so old, it is so sacred that the people of our state are going to do their best toward reviving the May-day customs by reproducing the old customs of the past.

From the dim and shadowy period of paganism, through many centuries of European peoples performed certain semi-religious, semi-poetic rites and biomes; and then rejoiced in their grotesque light.

And then, at the close of the Middle Ages, the custom of May-day was revived in the form of a festival. It was then that the people of our state were introduced to the custom of May-day. It was then that the people of our state were introduced to the custom of May-day. It was then that the people of our state were introduced to the custom of May-day.
