

How Mr. Cox and His Negro Farm Hands Pull Stumps

By A. G. Cox, Winterville, N. C.

"Collins, Chance, Jake and Jim. I want you to take the Hercules stump puller that works with one and one eighth inch cable, with all fixtures, down to that stump field across the road and we will pull stumps today. Come one; let's hurry."

"This is about the best place and I believe that is the strongest stump and it is low, so we can use the short anchor rope and the mules will not have to step over the anchor cable while straining."

"Now place the pulley beside that stump and put on the anchor cable, for I think the 200-foot pulling cable will reach all the small stumps to the far edge and we can pull them with single strain. Jake, hitch the mules to pulley and I want you to be ready to start when we say start, and stop when we say stop. Collins, you and Chance look after the cable mostly, and Jim, you can dig the dirt from around the stumps so we can hitch to them, for most of the stumps have rotten tops and we will have to put the cable under the roots in many cases. All of you straighten out the cable and put it around the top of that farthest stump. That stump has a solid top and will not need digging around. Collins, you and Chance, fasten the cable and Jim, you dig around that next stump. Drive ahead, Jake, Make haste, Jim, and have that stump ready. Collins, is the stump giving way?"

"Yes, she is coming all right."

"Ha-o, Jake! Chance, help Collins loose the cable, and hitch to that other stump. I think it will reach all right without unwinding any. The top is not strong so you had better put the cable below that strong root. All right. Drive ahead, Jake. That is pulled far enough from the hole. Ha-o! Jim, keep on and fix all the stumps between here and the pulley."

"Collins, I think you can pull the next two at one time as they stand close together. Put the cable around the small stump as it stands farthest off and then fasten the cable around the large stump. Put the cable under the cable below a strong root so it will not slip off. Drive ahead, Jake. Keep on. There it goes! The small stump is up. Ha-o! That was a nice pull! Both came up."

"Collins, better hitch to that next stump. It looks like it is rather strong for a single pull, but we will make for it. Help Collins, Chance, and Jake. All right, Jake. Make that outside mule pull the stump."

"Collins, better hitch to that next stump. It looks like it is rather strong for a single pull, but we will make for it. Help Collins, Chance, and Jake. All right, Jake. Make that outside mule pull the stump."

the cable. Hitch the end of long cable to that stump. It looks like it will be bad to get hold of. I am afraid Jim has not dug around it good. Jake, drive ahead. Wait! Wait! Just like I expected! The cable slipped off. Jake throw the pulley out of gear. All hands get hold of the cable. Jake, hold lever balanced so drum will turn easy. Now, everybody pull! That's plenty. Jake, throw the pulley in gear again. Jim, come dig around this stump better so we can get a good hold. Dig down so we can get under that big root. Now, Collins, you and Chance fix the cable good. All right; drive Jake, Ha-o! We got it that time.

"Well, as we have these stumps pulled, you had better pull the anchor stump next, but that stump your pulley cable is on will not be strong enough to pull it. Chance, you take your auger and bore deep down under the anchor stump. Collins, fix your dynamite ready for use. Jake, you unhitch the mules and let the hole be deep enough. Collins, you had better put in about two sticks of dynamite and fire the fuse. I think that blow was sufficient. Jake, hitch up your mules again. Jim, come help Collins when Chance fixes the cable for triple pull and let's pull this anchor stump."

"All right, boys, we have put the cable through the pulley that's on the end of the stump cable and then carried it around the pulley at the stump puller and then carried the end and fastened it around that stump and it is all right. Drive ahead, Jake. I thought the dynamite would do the work, and now that old stump will not be to weed around any more."

"Boys, let's try to get moved before night. Then we will stop."

"All right, Boss."

"Jim, help Collins and Chance get the cable in shape. Jake, take that chain and press your sweep down as low as you can and chain it to the foundation. Then drag the pulley round to that other strong stump. This stump does not stand exactly in the best place but it is the best we can do. Now we have got it placed and will be ready to work in the morning."

"Well, boys, the ground has been wet enough to make the stumps pull good today and I think you have done a good day's work. Don't you feel like resting?"

"We shore do, Boss."

"Now, Collins, if I am away next week when the land gets dry, I want these stumps got out of the field. Let Jake hitch the mules to the wagon and you and Chance and Jim take your axe and grub hoe and shovel and dig the dirt off the stumps and out of the roots and fill up the stump holes. And when Jake comes with his wagon you get out of the field. Let Jake hitch the mules to the wagon and let Jake then carry them just outside the gate and throw them out to dry for next winter's fires. "I don't expect you can lift these large stumps on the wagon so you had better take that inch and a half auger and bore a hole in the large stumps and put in about one-fourth stick of dynamite and that will burst them so you can handle them."

The above is a brief sketch of the way the work is done. When you begin to pull you will soon learn the advantages that can be taken.—Progressive Farmer.

A Southerner on the Ticket.
Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, is unquestionably of presidential size. His leadership of the Democratic majority on the floor of the House has never been excelled for skill, force and direction. It is a respect which has been accorded him by the full hearing from all over the country which Senator Bankhead of the same state will have in naming him for the Democratic nomination.

Has the time come when it is expedient for the Democracy to nominate a Southerner living in the South for the Presidency? It has not been thought so since the Civil War. It has not even been thought expedient to give the South second place on the ticket. The nearest approach to this was the naming of the Parker ticket in 1894 of Henry G. Davis of West Virginia. But that is essentially a Northern state. Carlisle of Kentucky, had a few votes for president in the convention of 1884 and 1882; Blackburn of Kentucky and Tillman of South Carolina in 1896; Williams of Mississippi in 1904. But they were merely complimentary.

Yet the war is over. A Southern Democrat and a former Confederate soldier is Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court by appointment of a Republican president. The day may not be far off when the last traces of the sectional line will be obliterated in American politics.—The New York World.

Timber and Tobacco.
The scarcity of timber in some parts of western Kentucky is causing farmers to utilize corn fields for raising tobacco beds. In Owensboro the grain elevators are finding a ready market for their output of corn cobs.

Shelby, N. C., Highlander.
Downie and Wheeler's Shows Gives Two Performances. Large Crowds Are Pleased With Exhibition.
Shelby had the largest crowd Wednesday that she has had since the great celebration on July the fourth, when the crowd was estimated at 10,000 or 12,000. The occasion was the coming of Downie and Wheeler's "World's Best Show," and the general verdict is that the exhibitions were these stumps got out of the field. Let Jake hitch the mules to the wagon and you and Chance and Jim take your axe and grub hoe and shovel and dig the dirt off the stumps and out of the roots and fill up the stump holes. And when Jake comes with his wagon you get out of the field. The Danger After Grip.
It is often in a run-down system. Weakness, nervousness, lack of appetite, energy and ambition, with disordered liver and kidneys often follow an attack of this wretched disease. The greatest need then is Electric Bitters, the glorious tonic, blood purifier and regulator of stomach, liver and kidneys. Thousands have proved that they wonderfully strengthen the nerves, build up the system and restore to health and good spirits after an attack of Grip. If suffering, try them. Only 50 cents. Sold and perfect satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists.

Large Egg.
Mr. M. T. Jefferson brought The Reflector a very large egg that was laid by a Minorcan hen. The egg weighed 3 1-2 ounces.

Pat's End to Bad Habit.
Things never look bright to one with "the blues" Ten to one the trouble is a sluggish liver, filling the liver with bilious poison, that Dr. King's New Life Pills would expel. Try them. Let the joy of feelings end the "blues." Best for stomach, liver and kidneys. 25c. At all druggists.

MR. DARDEN AHEAD.
Leads This Entire Section on Fine Garden Truck.
Mr. W. A. Darden, who lives just over the line in Greene County, and is one of the best and hardest working farmers in all this section, was here today and brought us some specimens of his truck gardening this season. In the sack he brought along were some of the largest spring collards we ever saw for the time of the year, and also some fine radishes. Mr. Darden says the collards were raised from seeds sown last fall and transplanted early this year.

Mr. Darden knows how to make his farm self-supporting. He occasionally contributes a letter to the Reflector telling of his farm experience, and we hope to print more from his pen this season.

DURHAM HOSIERY MILLS WILL TAKE STEPS STOCKHOLDERS VOTE FOR IT
Part of Money Will Be Spent in Improving Plants

DURHAM, April 8.—At the meeting of the stockholders of the Durham Hosiery Mills held in this city today, the resolutions increasing the capitol stock of the company $750,000, which was submitted by the board of directors, were adopted and the officials have made arrangements with northern banks to dispose of this extra stock at par. They guarantee 6 per cent on the investment and promise to buy the stock back at $1.10 in 1920.

This action on the part of the stockholders means that the improvements on several of the mills of the company will be carried forward at once. One of the most important features of the improvements will be the installation of machinery for making a 25 cent hose and 15c in this city. This company has never made a hose that sold for over 15 cents before. The new brand will be a mercerized cotton hose.

The new machinery will be installed in the new part of the mill that has recently been erected. Some of the money appropriated for the local plants will be put in additions to mill No. 2, the only negro hosiery mill of any size in the state.

Additional Prizes for Boys Club Members
To all members of the Corn Club: I wrote you before that we should have additional prizes and I am now glad to announce two additional prizes in each district under the same rules as the first list I sent you. These prizes are two free trips, in each district, to the national Corn Show which will be held in Columbia, S. C., in January, 1912.

The Southern Fertilizers Association has appropriated $500 for this purpose. The boys who win these prizes will each get $25 to cover all expenses for the trip. No boy will get the money, however, unless he takes the trip.

We expect five hundred prize-winning boys from all the Southern States to be at the Corn Show. Cots will be furnished and all the boys will stay in one building. The first feature of the trip will be a judging school. Two or three hours each day will be spent in judging corn, grain and live stock and in visiting the various exhibits of the exposition.

I believe these prizes the best offered in the State. The boys who go will have a great time, see the finest corn growing in the United States during 1912 and will get special instructions in corn judging. Each of you should do all in his power to win one of these trips.

We now have seven prizes in each district in the State. Two boys who are making the best records will get $25 each to pay his expenses to the National Corn Show, while the next five boys will get the cash prizes about which you have already received notice. If you wish any further information, please let me know. Your very truly,

FUNERAL OF EX-GOV. ATCOCK

should find a willing helper in every one in the state of North Carolina. Bishop Kilgo, with his deep, melodious voice and rich flow of beautiful words held the attendance for about twenty minutes and swayed them at will as he told the meaning of Mr. Atcock's life to North Carolina. "There are men who have eyes, but do not see; who have ears, but hear not; who have feet, but do not feel. Others who have eyes and see, ears and hear and tact and feel, but fail to take advantage for themselves and others of these essential properties which help to make them beneficiary to mankind. On the other hand there are men who see, hear and feel and grasp every opportunity to suggest to them through his properties of seeing, hearing and feeling. Atcock was one of these men. A life full of activity and opportunities grasped for the benefit of the sons and daughters of the state of which he was a native."
Bishop Kilgo, as in his custom, would, once in a while impart the timber of confidence to his voice and throwing his arms on the pulpit and leaning forward over it would lower his voice and engage in confidential phrases with his listeners, telling them of intimate bits of history of the great man whose body lay before him.
A short time before the funeral services in the church were concluded the heavy clouds over head broke into torrential showers which dispersed the hundreds who had been unable to gain admittance into the church. Umbrellas, coats and wraps offered but little shelter from the rain. Every nook and corner which offered any kind of shelter from the pouring rain was occupied in the immediate neighborhood of the Baptist church and when the body was placed on the hearse a little after six o'clock the weather made it impossible to follow it to the cemetery otherwise than in a closed carriage. Over forty-five vehicles formed behind the funeral coach and the slow procession began to move toward the cemetery, where the internment took place.
A great number of people from the state made the journey to Raleigh many special trains arriving at Union station with delegations from almost every town in North Carolina.

NORTH WILKESBORO, April 16.—On Monday, the 15th of April, the Republicans of Wilkes county, the banner Republican county of the state, met in convention and pursuant to delegates to cast a unanimous vote of approval of the candidacy of any man, and long before the convention was held and even before Col Roosevelt signified his willingness to accept the presidential nomination, the people of the county were advocating his nomination and at the same time expressing an opinion that his nomination would insure the reclaiming of at least three congressional districts and with the probability of his sweeping the state in the November election.

Carpathia Enroute to New York With Only About 800 Survivors of the Ocean Liner Titanic's Wreck. Mostly Women and Children.

ASTOR, VANDERBILT, BUTTS, STEAD AND GUGGENHEIM AMONG THOSE THAT PERISH

(Special to Reflector)
The National Electric Signal Service at South Brooklyn picked up a message from Scout Cruiser Salem at noon, reporting position of Carpathia then as just South of Cape Sable, making 13 knots per hour. As announced in yesterday's issue of The Reflector only 868 persons were saved from the Titanic. The hopes at first entertained that the Parisian and Virginian had rescued other passengers were shattered when the officials of the White Star Line received wireless messages from the commanders of both steamers stating that although they had reached the place where the Titanic was sent to the bottom by the crashing berg, their arrival proved fruitless and only wreckage was found to testify to the horror of the disaster.

Wireless from the Carpathia, on her way to New York, with the 868 survivors confirm the fear that some of America's most famous millionaires went down to their graves with the Titanic. The wireless operator of the Carpathia managed to send the White Star Line officials a fair list of the names of the survivors. Mrs. J. J. Astor, Mrs. J. Putrelle, of Atlanta, and other well known ladies are in this list. No mention is made of Astor, Guggenheim, Major Butts, Hery B. Harris, the noted theatrical manager, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, and a host of other notables who were aboard the monster ship. Great throngs gathered around the White Star Line offices in Lower Broadway in New York yesterday and this morning and anxiously inquired as to the list of survivors. The news were at first received in London with doubt. Not until ample confirmation had been given the news, did Londoners realize that the sinkable Titanic had gone to the bottom. London loses one of the most popular men of letters, William T. Stead, distinguished journalist, having perished in the catastrophe. Little or no hope is now entertained that any more, other than the people being carried to New York on the Carpathia, were rescued.
