

MEETING IN BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. C. E. Madrey at E. C. T. T. S. Rev. C. E. Madrey, pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, Raleigh, conducted assembly exercises at the E. C. T. T. S. Tuesday morning. He made a talk that rang with optimism and prophecy. He said that the Southerner, who had been an alien to his own home for 50 years, was now coming back into his own. The coming of the Panama canal will make the south the greatest highway, the Gulf will become the Mediterranean Sea of the World. All big railroads are looking for an outlet to the sea through the South. North Carolina, half way between the two sections, is in a position to take a great part in the things that are to be. The Anglo-Saxons are destined to be the missionaries of the world. The Grecian gave the world thought; the Roman organization; the German individualism and the Anglo-Saxon to all these adds aggressiveness. The South has the purest Anglo-Saxon blood. We, as Southerners and North Carolinians should be proud of our heritage and opportunity. Mr. Madrey has a strong place in the memory of the school as he preached the first commencement sermon.

Mother and Daughter Fail to Appear Against Johnson

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—A charge of abduction against Jack Johnson, negro pugilist, was dismissed before Municipal Judge Hopkins today, because of the prosecution's inability to prove that Lucile Cameron, the white girl, whose association with Johnson led to his arrest, had been abducted by him. The girl and her mother, Mrs. Cameron, both of whom were witnesses against Johnson in the Federal action for alleged violation of the Mann white slave act were not in court when the city case was dismissed.

Not Fall, But Over Time We were amused at seeing in the Washington News a few days ago, the statement that a busy factory in that town was the only one in the South that works full time. Run by a Greenville, brother, and we will show you one, the John Flanagan Dressing Company, that not only works full time but has to often work over time to keep up with its large volume of business. This factory not only has an immense stock of goods, but has facilities to all kinds of goods.

Time Getting Short This is to remind subscribers to The Reflector to whom statements were recently sent and who have not responded, that there is but little time left in which the paper can go to them unless they pay their subscription within the limit prescribed by the postal laws. Look up the statement sent you, or look at the date on your paper and send along the remittance.

Thanksgiving Ball Game The Norfolk Southern Railroad will provide special accommodations for those desiring to attend the Thanksgiving day football game in Norfolk between the teams of Washington and Lee of Virginia and A. and M. of North Carolina. Additional Pullman coaches will be on from Raleigh to Norfolk on Wednesday night for the return trip Thursday night. The railroad fare for the round trip is $2.

Blaze on Roof The morning roof of the kitchen at the home of Mr. L. C. Arthur on the southern boundary of the town caught on fire. Mrs. Arthur happened to be upstairs and looking out the window saw the blaze on the kitchen roof. Help from the premises was called in and with a few buckets of water the fire was put out before it could do much damage.

Negro Farmers' Conference HAMPTON, Va., Nov. 20.—The annual negro farmers' conference under the auspices of the Hampton Normal and Agricultural Institute opened here today and will continue over tomorrow. A number of well known agricultural experts are here to address the sessions.

SEN. ISIDOR RAYNOR DIES IN WASHINGTON

Maryland Representative Active Figure in Convention BEEN ILL SINCE THAT EVENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Senator Isidor Raynor, one of the leading Democratic members of the United States senate and a man whose name was often in the headlines in connection with William J. Bryan as a suitable candidate for the presidential nomination, died here early today of a long illness resulting from a ruptured blood vessel.

THE SHELBURN FARM

TO BE SOLD AT AUCTION (PART OF THE OLD J. B. LATHAM FARM) FIFTEEN SMALL FARMS MONDAY, NOVEMBER 25

These farms are situated on the north side of Tar River, on the Greenville and Tarboro road, about four miles from Greenville. Each tract consists of about twenty-five acres, and is beautifully laid off, so that there is a splendid road frontage to each farm that will be offered. Some of the tracts there are good dwellings and plenty of out-houses; and the purchaser will have nothing to do but move in and begin farming on January 1, 1912.

We do not claim that this is the best land in Pitt County, and we do not expect it to bring the price that the best land in Pitt County would bring; we do claim, however, that there is no better tobacco and peanut land to be had, and at the present time, we know of no two farm products that are selling as well as these.

We wish, especially, to call your attention to the house tract on which there are two tobacco barns and pack houses, in addition to other necessary buildings. In this tract, there are twenty-five acres, and the two tracts adjoining can also be added to this tract, which will make a total of about sixty acres. The present occupant of this special tract raised eight acres of very fine tobacco this year, which he sold at a most excellent price.

The terms of this sale will be in reach of any man who desires to own a small farm, namely: one fourth cash, and the balance in six yearly installments to come due one, two, three, four, five and six years from date, with six per cent interest; or, if the purchaser prefers, a cash payment of $100.00 on the day of the sale will be accepted, and an additional $100.00 on or before December 20th, with the six yearly payments as above mentioned.

Promptly 10:30 O'clock A. M. This Sale will take place ON THE FARM and not in front of the Courthouse, and will start

It matters not whether you are an investor, home-seeker or tenant, this is a splendid opportunity to buy a farm which will pay for itself. The money that you are now using to pay the rent on land that you are cultivating, can be applied to payments on this property; and, we have no doubt that a great many tenants can make the payments on one or more of these farms, and still have money left from that amount which they have had to pay as renters here-to-fore. If you are a man who has been renting land all your life, and have used enough money to own a valuable farm, take advantage of this opportunity to mend that mistake. It is never too late, and it makes no difference whether you are old or young, you cannot possibly make a mistake in trying to own your own home.

At the expiration of six years, you will own a piece of property that will have been paid for with money that has never benefitted you (all the time making the same living that you were making as a renter); and in addition to the fact that you have paid for a farm, you will have received the benefits of the increased valuation of the property, which will be about one hundred per cent, if history repeats itself in real estate, as it has done for the last six years. We have no reason to doubt this, on the other hand, we have every reason to believe that farm lands will advance more rapidly in the next five or six years than ever before, in the same length of time.

There will be an OYSTER ROAST given to those who attend the sale, absolutely free; and music by an excellent band. Everybody is cordially invited to attend. This sale will be open to both white and colored people; and each tract will positively be sold, regardless of price. We only make the terms, and the purchasers make the price.

Jarvis Memorial Church Made Excellent Record For Conference Year

Rev. E. M. Hoyle, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, takes up to the annual conference in Fayetteville a splendid record of his work here during the past year. The following taken from his report are gratifying to the church and friends: Number of members added during the year, 30. Total collections for all purposes, $1,195.74.

The Sunday School has been graded and interest largely increased. The Philathea class has 109 members and the Baraca 72. There are ten other classes making a total of over 400 in the Sunday school. The congregations have steadily increased.

Mr. D. D. Overton has tendered a lot to the church on condition that a parsonage be built on it. The pastor says Mr. Overton has as well made the deed, as the parsonage will be built. On account of the condition of Mrs. Hoyle's health, Mr. Hoyle has been thinking of asking for a transfer to the Western North Carolina Conference, but about fifty of his members next summer if he would consent to remain here. This shows the great esteem of the church for their pastor and his family and our people generally hope the conference will re-appoint Mr. Hoyle to Greenville and keep him here the full time.

John Schrank, Roosevelt's Assaulter, Committed to Asylum

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 25.—John Schrank, who shot Colonel Roosevelt, was taken to the Northern Hospital here today, where he will be confined to the institution on Friday after a commission of alienists adjudged him insane. Schrank has not changed in demeanor since sentence was pronounced. His disease pronounced chronic paranoia and probably incurable, may result in his spending the rest of his life in the asylum. However, should he ever be pronounced cured he will be returned to Milwaukee and tried for the attempt on Mr. Roosevelt's life.

Tar Heel Seeks to Recover Biggest Claim From Southern R. R.

WINSTON-SALEM, Nov. 25.—What is perhaps the largest damage suit ever instituted in Forsyth county has been brought by Kerner Bros., of Kernersville, trading as the American Hosiery Mill, against the Southern Railway Company and John Snider, where they are suing for $99,950. The plaintiffs allege that the building in Kernersville occupied by the American Hosiery Mills was set on fire by sparks from an engine owned by the Southern Railway Company of which John Snider was the engineer. They further allege that the machinery and manufactured goods, and goods in process of manufacture, together with merchandise in the building, were worth $80,000 and that the building worth $19,950.

EXTRA FINE CORN An Average Yield of Fifteen Barrels Per Acre

A field of corn on Mr. O. L. Joyner's farm, about three miles west of Greenville, attracted much attention and comment during its growth. It was on the roadside and grew and grew. Various estimates were placed upon its probable yield. It was on good land that had been in clover. There were ten acres of this corn. Mr. Joyner recently harvested this corn and measured the yield of one acre. The yield was an even sixteen and two-thirds barrels, which would make one hundred, sixty-six and two-thirds barrels for the ten acres.

THE WIND DOES NOT RULE YOUR DESTINY

"There be three things which are too wonderful for me; you, four which I know not:
The way of an eagle in the air; the way of a serpent upon a rock; the way of a ship in the midst of the sea, and the way of a man with a maid." At sunset a long train of cars waited on a bridge as a sailing ship passed through the draw.
The ship sailed up the river toward the cold winter sun; the other ship sailed past it going in the opposite direction.
Only one wind was blowing. Yet, of these two ships and the vessel which sailed east and one went west.
It may be of use to you in your earner to think for a few minutes about these two ships and the lesson which they teach—especially to young men.
The man who has sailed, in his life's journey, toward failure and disaster looks always with envy, sometimes with hatred, and very often with an intense sensation of injustice, at the man who passes him going in exactly the opposite direction.
Yet the forces that move men toward success are exactly the same as those that move other men to failure, humiliation and defeat.
It is all a question of the way in which you use the forces within you—just as on shipboard it is all a question of the use of the common wind which blows.
Two ships pass, each with its sails filled out by the same wind. The difference in direction is accounted for by the handling of the rudder and the adjustment of the sails.
What the force of the wind is to the ship, our varying passions, passions, ambitions, appetites and aspirations are to us. All of these constitute the power which may be called human force.
The power differs in different individuals, as the wind differs on different days. It may blow from the east to the west or the north or the south. However it may blow it can be forced, by proper steering, to send the ship in any direction desired.
It is harder to beat against the wind of course, and many men heed strategies to steer themselves to a good port in the face of an adverse start, hard beginning, or inclination difficult to overcome.
But in all of us the force exists which can be made to move us in the right direction—the force within us can be made to obey our will, if it will be strong and the hand on the rudder steady. This can be prop-erly insistence.
There is a certain force in human beings called love. This force leads sometimes and happily it leads usually to domesticity, morality, care of children and lifelong devotion, when the force is used properly.
The same human passion leads to murder, suicide, theft, to almost all forms of crime.
There is another passion called ambition.
This human force of ambition, with a Lincoln's conscience to guide it, Arnold seeks to betray the nation.
The same force guided by Benedict leads her to her just demand.
It is to be hoped that the public sentiment of Europe, as expressed in diplomacy, which is generally herald and evaded of arms, will take dition in your own control.

The wind may be made, you may be drift for a while or move very slowly—move at least in the right direction.
The wind may blow a gale, and you may feel, as so many do, that you cannot control your emotions and your appetites. But if that comes there show at least as much interest in yourself as a sailor does in his ship.
Take a sail and fight the storm, instead of going willingly to destruction.
Four things puzzled and impressed the wise man that wrote the nineteenth verse of the thirtieth chapter of Proverbs.
"Think today about the third of these:
"The way of a ship in the midst of the sea."
The way of a human being in the midst of life is like that of a ship on the ocean.
Make up your mind that your own way at least shall be controlled by the ruler of conscience, and learn from the passing ships a lesson of use in your own life.

THE STORY OF SERBIA, AUSTRIA AND DURAZZO

Serbia is a little kingdom of the Balkan states. It is about twice the size of the state of New Hampshire, and has, all told, a little over half the population of New York city.
It is situated in the Balkans, and without a single port and its commerce and development and prosperity have been shadowed and threatened by the Turks through a hundred years.
Serbia has fought heroically and split her blood generously in the line against the common enemy of the Balkans and civilization. It has taken Laskub and is battling side by side with the Bulgars at Adrianople and Tebatalja.
When all is over and the heroic little Balkan states have conquered in one of the noblest and bravest wars of history, Serbia wishes to emerge from the shut-up and hemmed-in environment of centuries and enter into trade and commerce with other peoples.
To the end that God may help those who help themselves, Serbia has pushed her conquering arms through opposing Turks in the Province of Albania toward the seaport of Durazzo on the Adriatic Sea. This port and a little strip of surrounding country, all belonging to Turkey, Serbia wishes to take for her own as a spoil from the unspasmodic Turk. She absolutely needs it for any sort of commercial development. She has glorious won it by her heroic battles against the common enemy of Austria and Europe and of humanity.
But Austria, which has done no fighting and split no blood and has allowed the Turks to run riot in butcher for hundreds of years, has sent Serbia word that no matter what she has won she shall not have Du-razzo. Under the veiled language of diplomacy, Austria's message to Serbia means: "If you, who have no yard of sea coast on all your hampered territory, dare to take the necessary transport which your brave soldiers have won, I, Austria, will send my many numerous soldiers and select your fewer soldiers to death and overturn your people and perhaps seize upon some of the scant territory you now possess!"

Austria is big and rich and great.
It has nearly 50,000,000 people and has a territory of 242,000 square miles. It is rich in a coast line of 566 miles on the Adriatic and has two famous ports in Trieste and Pisinae.
But little Serbia, with her fighting blood running red and high in her veins, lays her hand upon her smoking cannon and refuses to be buldozed by the bigness of Austria-Hungary. She moves calmly and resolutely on to Durazzo.

AND BRAVE BULGARIA, with the laurels of Adrianople and Tebatalja resting on her victorious arms, halts at the gates of Constantinople to tell Serbia that she is right and that Bulgaria will stand by her heroic advance to her just demand.
It is to be hoped that the public
herald and evaded of arms, will take care of little Serbia and see that she neither bullied nor bruised by her bigger brother in this wrangle over a little prize so nobly won.

Let the just arrangements of diplomacy give Austria the protection she may feel, as so many do, that she may deserve in the entrances of the Adriatic Sea. But by every justice known to nations, let Serbia have the territorial strip that she requires.

Now in the Time

The Greenville Reflector is editing in favor of erecting a monument to Confederate soldiers on the court square. Such a monument ought to adorn every capital square in North Carolina. During the past week Stotland and Gaston counties have unveiled monuments to Confederate heroes and if Pitt takes hold of the matter, as it undoubtedly will do, it will be carried through and a monument will stand in the capital square of that county, worthy of the distinguished men who went out from that county to follow Lee. Pitt people are more prosperous now than ever before and the time to raise the money for the monument is now. "Strike

Everything else is high but the price of newspapers. They go at the same price as when living and cost of labor did not cost half as much at present. Yet there are subscribers who are hard to get to pay publishers out of the price altogether.

Morehead City and New Bern have

It is an old and often exposed game, but some sharp fellow comes around occasionally and works it. The wise thing to do is never cash a check for a stranger.

Up Charlotte way they do not turn loose blind tigers with a fine convicted there in two cases was fined

Impromptu Dance at Carolina Club Last Night

The young people of Greenville had an opportunity last night to enjoy an impromptu dance at the Carolina Club. Through the courtesy of Mr.
J. W. Ferrell, president of the Atlantic Coast Real Estate Company, the company's band which was here over today to attend the Sheiburn Farasale, made music at the Club from nine to eleven.
Many couples attended and a "good time" was had.

you see I'm a little worried about that bill.
Mrs. Stevenson—"The Idea" Don't you to forever before I'd cheat you out of it!"

Hegson—Is Jones putting on 'em

NICE MAN
A PUZZLER
Softly—Won't you give me another dance?
Miss Charming—Really, Mr. Softly, you've had nearly all so far and—Softly—Yes, you know, it's just to spite Miss Lovely. We've had a quarrel.
Mamma—My dear, you mustn't say you founded a book; you must say
you founded a book; you must say you founded a book. Is it because you found a book?
Miss Charming—Then who do you say Mr. Carnegie founded a library. Is it because it's a lot of books?

Seal's Unerring Instinct.
The instinct of the seal is marvelous. It will leave its young on the ice in the morning, and going down through a hole, remain away all day, swimming in search of food. Returning in the evening it will locate his offspring in the same "patch" among hundreds of thousands of other baby seals, notwithstanding the ice may have been wheeled or drifted fifty or sixty miles during the day from wind and tide.
