TRAIN LOAD OF DYNAMITERS OFF TO JAIL

CONVICTED LABOR LEADERS ARE SHIPPED IN SPECIAL TRAIN TO PENITENTIARY. SHERIFF HAD TO SWEAR IN FIFTY NEW GUARDS FOR THE JOURNEY

PRISONERS COUNSEL GAVE NOTICE OF APPEAL

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—Formal application for writs to prevent the removal of the thirty-three convicted labor leaders in the dynamite cases from Indianapolis to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth was made today to Judge Seaman in the United States Court of Appeals.

Judge Seaman refused to take any action saying that he would be in Indianapolis on Thursday and would consider the matter there.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 31.—A special train carrying the thirty-three labor union officials to Leavenworth, Kas., left here at 12:10 today over the Pennsylvania railroad.

Fifty guards were sworn in to accompany the train.

Marshall Schmidt gave his special guards their final instructions just before noon. The train was composed of two coaches and a baggage car. Sixteen of the prisoners with their guards occupied the first coach, and seventeen were placed in the second.

The seats in the coaches were arranged so that two prisoners would occupy each seat and directly facing them would sit their two guards. The prisoners were to ride backwards.

As soon as all were aboard the train doors were locked, not to be opened again until Fort Leavenworth was reached and during the night the prisoners were to be handcuffed. The baggage car carried light lunches for the guards and their prisoners and also the baggage of the newspaper correspondents.

Judge Anderson took under advisement today a petition for a writ of error, filed by the attorneys for the thirty-three men under sentence to Leavenworth prison and set Thursday morning at ten o'clock for a further hearing, when a prayer for a writ of supersedeas also will be filed.

United States District Attorney Charles W. Miller, asking that the court delay action, declared much of the petition was "junk" and that he wished to have time to go over it carefully and eliminate such parts as he said did not correspond to the records. He asked that the matter go over until after New Year's. The hearing was in the judge's chambers.

The prisoners left the county jail at 12 o'clock sharp. Just before they emerged they joined in loud cheering. Ed Lewis, San Francisco, member of the executive board of the Ironworkers' Union and J. E. McClary, acting secretary of the union, who are the only officials of the international union of jail were present to see the train off.

Pure-Food Ban on Copper
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 1.—The use of copper salts in the "greening" of foods, principally canned peas and beans, is absolutely prohibited by a pure food order put into effect today by the Department of Agriculture. In future any vegetables "freshened" with copper salts will be considered adulterated under the Pure Food law.

Ottoman Would Have European Powers Decide the Question

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 31.—The instructions which were sent to Rehad Pasha to be presented at yesterday's session of the peace conference in London and which the head of the Ottoman delegation reported were in part undecipherable were to prepare the submission of all matters at issue between Turkey and the Balkan States to the decision of the powers with the exception of the question of the future possession of the Adrianopolis vilayet.

The official view is that this proposal of the Porte affords the most practical and at the same time the most expeditious means of reaching a solution of all difficulties.

So far as the Adrianopolis vilayet is concerned the Turkish government insists upon the absolute maintenance of its sovereignty rights. With this exception the Porte is ready to place itself unreservedly in the hands of the powers for the settlement of all matters affecting the political organization of Albania and Macedonia, the limit of the new frontiers and the question of the Cretan Islands.

The Turkish contention is that the powers in any case eventually must supervise whatever arrangement is made and the conflicting interests of the allies is calculated to cause infinite delays and possible disagreements.

Therefore, the project of placing the case immediately in the hands of the powers is likely to put an end more quickly to the present equivocal situation.

Alaskan Coal Fields Subject of Discussion by Wilson

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 31.—President-elect Wilson devoted the morning hours to conferences with State officials. He looked forward, he said to his visit with Representative Underwood later in the day, after which it was expected that something definite might become known as to the date of the extra session of Congress and plans for tariff revision.

John Maynard Harlan, of Chicago, son of the late Justice Harlan, of the U. S. Supreme Court, dropped in to greet the president-elect today.

Discussed Alaskan Situation.
The president-elect talked briefly with J. A. Ballaine, of Seattle, Wash., about the Alaskan situation. He asked for an appointment with him later and for a series of conferences at which delegations will present their views upon the opening of the coal lands in Alaska.

Mr. Ballaine said he and the Democratic State Chairman Heffner, of Washington, were appointed a committee to bring Alaskan questions before the president-elect at an early date. Mr. Heffner, he added, was ill, but would soon confer with Governor Wilson.

Mileage Books Restored
DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 1.—Largely as a result of the persistent agitation of the commercial travelers organizations, the interchangeable mileage system for traveling men was today restored by practically all of the leading railroads of the Southwest. The basis on which the restoration has been made is on a minimum travel of 4,000 miles, the purchaser of the book to pay a creditable fee of $5 with a $4 refund providing all the conditions are complied with.

William Rockefeller is Virtually a Prisoner in His Own Home

Oil Magnate Hires Detective
It became known today that to protect his interests and to frustrate any possible attempt to subpoena servers to forcibly enter his home, Mr. Rockefeller has himself employed private detectives.

The offices could be seen in the windows of the Fifth Avenue residence today. They are from a rival agency to that which is aiding the government. Dr. W. F. Chappel, Mr. Rockefeller's physician was seen to enter the Fifth Avenue residence today.

He remained for some time. This in the opinion of the subpoena servers, indicated beyond a doubt that Mr. Rockefeller was within.

North Carolina Furniture Makers Win Long Legal Battle

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 31.—North Carolina furniture manufacturers won a victory when the Interstate Commerce Commission handed down an opinion in favor of the North Carolina manufacturers, against the Virginia territory, in which it is claimed the rate on furniture to the Pacific coast is a discrimination against the North Carolina manufacturers in favor of Virginia furniture dealers.

The case was argued before the commission several months ago by Robert H. McNeill, of Washington, and E. J. Justice of Greensboro. Mr. McNeill said that the victory won by the Tar Heels means many thousands of dollars to them.

Mr. McNeill said: "Ever since the furniture manufacturers got a start in North Carolina and moved the boundaries of its market westward, it has had to secure buyers in competition with Virginia territory. New York, Pennsylvania and New England with a freight rate preference against them of $40 per car in favor of the competitors."

"The decision is a sweeping victory for the North Carolina shippers and not only means that the freight rates on furniture and chairs will hereafter be $150 per 100 pounds, carload lots, 20,000 pounds minimum, but it also means that in the future the shippers of North Carolina may be assured that the interstate commerce commission, through this decision, has indicated its desire and willingness to correct the long standing abuses which have existed against the cities of North Carolina and in favor of other sections of the country in the matter of freight rates enforced by the railroads."

He directed them to Castro's state-room, where they presented their credentials and explained they had orders from the government to take him to Ellis Island.

"If those are the laws of your country, I must comply," was Castro's only comment.

His baggage was hastily gathered and he was taken on board the government boat immigrant which started immediately for Ellis Island.

Castro was dressed in a dark suit and a fur-lined overcoat, and wore a high silk hat. He carried a gold-beaded cane. His skin was sallow, but he appeared in good health.

Castro's detention originates with the state department at Washington. The order for holding the Venezuelan at quarantine was received by Commissioner Williams of the Bureau of Immigration, on Sunday from Secretary Nagel, of the Department of Commerce and Labor. This order instructed Commissioner Williams to examine Castro as to his right to enter the country under the immigration laws, and stated that Castro must not be admitted without reference to the department heads at Washington.

Arrangements made by Commissioner Williams provides for the calling of a special board of inquiry at Ellis Island to deal with his case.

Plans to examine Castro as to his physical condition at this hearing were made early in the day by Commissioner Williams. The first witnesses to be called were physicians of the immigration service, who will testify as to his physical fitness to enter the United States.

Castro has been suffering for some time from an infectious disease, it is reported and this alone might be sufficient ground to warrant his deportation. Whatever the outcome of this hearing, it was understood that Castro would be allowed to make the usual formal appeal for a rehearing in case the decision today is against him.

This would delay proceedings for a sufficient time to enable the government to obtain documentary evidence from Venezuela of charges made against him there.

FORMER VENEZUELAN PRESIDENT ADVISED BY AMERICAN AUTHORITIES THAT HIS PRESENCE IS UNDESIRABLE. TURNS BACK TOWARDS GERMANY NOW

IN ELLIS ISLANDS AWAITING FURTHER ORDERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Cipriano Castro, ex-president of Venezuela, seeking entrance to this country after a long residence abroad, was taken off the steamship La Touraine at Quarantine today and removed to Ellis Island, pending a decision whether he will be allowed to enter the United States.

Castro is traveling under the assumed name of Ruiz, but was easily identified by the officials. They were accompanied by an interpreter, and on boarding La Touraine immediately held a conference with the captain.

He directed them to Castro's state-room, where they presented their credentials and explained they had orders from the government to take him to Ellis Island.

"If those are the laws of your country, I must comply," was Castro's only comment.

MONEY TRUST

Does a money trust actually exist? Is it possible for a money trust to exist?

These are two very different questions.

The former question has not yet been answered by the Pulo committee or by any other public authority. The latter question has been too eagerly and rashly answered by Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan.

Mr. Morgan hastened to assure the country the other day while testifying before the Pulo committee that a money trust is an impossibility, that "all the banks in Christendom" could not establish such a thing; that in the world of finance power depends wholly upon "personality".

Mr. Morgan's idea seems to be that control of credit can be exercised only by spotless and incorruptible individuals in whose personal character the public has unlimited confidence and that when a trusted financier dies, retires or fortifies this confidence, all the financial power centered in him must, in the nature of things, be utterly dissolved.

It is hard to believe that this is really Mr. Morgan's deepest thought on the subject of financial monopoly. If it is, Mr. Morgan has not troubled himself to think about these things at all—or has ceased to think about them.

There may be no such thing in America as a single-embracing money trust. There may be, instead, just a number of financial combinations that are more or less loosely related. But there can be no doubt of the possibility of private monopoly in credit. There can be no doubt that such a power could conceivably be built up on a scale as comprehensive as the existing monopoly in petroleum or tobacco.

Under modern conditions credit or capital is bought and sold in the market just as oil and cigars are bought and sold. It is, on the whole, easier to monopolize the credit market than it is to monopolize the oil or tobacco market—because the transactions in the buying and selling of credit are relatively few and large.

When the projector of a practicable railroad or factory goes into the money market to buy capital in exchange for proposed issues of stocks and bonds, it is immensely important to the general welfare of the community that the market should be an open market. For if there is no competition, the money lender will be able to buy up or "underwrite" or people.

While the paper has a host of true friends, it realizes that it also has some enemies, yet we come to the close of the year with no ill will whatever toward any of these and extend them the same good wishes for the new year as for our friends. The editor tries to do his duty honestly and fearlessly as he sees what he believes is right, without a thought of trying to please everybody, a thing impossible to be done. We have our opinions of right and wrong and accord to others the same right to have their opinions.

Hence in closing the year we extend to all the best wish for a happy and prosperous new year.

The belated ones can be called new year presents.

THE APPEAL OF SCIENCE FOR CAN THERE POSSIBLY BE A BIRD PROTECTION

During its coming session, Congress will be asked to pass a bill providing for the federal protection of migratory birds—that is, birds whose habitat is not fixed and whose regular northern and southern migrations cause them to spend only part of the year in any one state or territory. It is proposed that the Department of Agriculture shall be authorized to adopt suitable regulations to give effect to the protection and with the vast amount of scientifically collected and carefully classified information which it has at its disposal in the records of its various bureaus the department undoubtedly is well equipped to undertake this task.

It may be as well to explain at once that not mere sentimentalists, but expert and cautious naturalists, and other persons who have studied the subject from the standpoint of the scientist, are responsible for this interesting and significant expression of the relatively recent and steadily strengthening conservation movement.

These men advocate the federal protection of migratory birds (and especially the insectivorous species) because it has been scientifically established that such birds constitute one of the most effective of nature's balancing agents and are, therefore, a highly valuable economic asset of the country as a whole and because as a result of the inadequacy of, or the lack of uniformity in the present state laws dealing with this subject, the number of these birds is undoubtedly decreasing at an alarming rate.

Thanks to the determined and efficient work of the National Association of Audubon Societies and to the establishment of bird refuges by the government, to say nothing of the splendid assistance recently given by Mrs. Russell Sage, a great deal has been done to protect both the insectivorous and the game birds in certain parts of the country; but much more remains to be done before the general and efficient protection which is needed is assured.

ANOTHER YEAR GONE

The year 1912 is tottering on the brink and will pass out tonight. At midnight it will die by limitation and will be left only to memory. Let us look back kindly at the old year and reverse its memory for the good it brought us, for who can truthfully say that the year was not better to him than he deserved. After all, each passing year brings us just what we look for. If we look for good, we find good. If the year holds out opportunities which we fail to grasp, the fault is ours and we cannot claim that we did not have a chance. We are largely the architects of our own fortunes and makers of our own destinies and time brings us the opportunities for developing these.

True some of us may have made mistakes, for 'tis human to err, yet these mistakes, instead of being broadened over and becoming a discouragement, should be remembered only as a lesson in experience to inspire us to better effort next time. There may have been trials, but he who has surmounted these has only been better and stronger by the testing. Strengthening conservation movement. These include such men as Dr. William T. Hornaday, director of the New York Zoological Park; Mr. Madison Grant, secretary of the New York Zoological Society; Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, dean of the Faculty of Pure Science, Columbia University; Dr. T. S. Palmer, of the United States Biological Survey; Mr. Edward H. Forbush, ornithologist of the Massachusetts State Board of Agriculture; Mr. John B. Barnham, president of the American Game Protective and Propagation Association and Mr. T. Gilbert Pearson, secretary of the National Association of Audubon Societies.

These men advocate the federal protection of migratory birds (and especially the insectivorous species) because it has been scientifically established that such birds constitute one of the most effective of nature's balancing agents and are, therefore, a highly valuable economic asset of the country as a whole and because as a result of the inadequacy of, or the lack of uniformity in the present state laws dealing with this subject, the number of these birds is undoubtedly decreasing at an alarming rate.

BASEBALL NOTES

Kid Gleason and Jack Doyle make a good pair to put "pepper" into the Chicago White Sox.
Wilson, Carey and Hoffman looks to be about the right dose to form the Pittsburgh outfield next season.
President Murphy of the Cubs, is sweet on "Stub" Hauser, and is willing to trade several of his players for the St. Louis star.
For the first time since he became a major league player, 11 years ago, Larry Lajude will be asked to accept a cut in salary next year.
It looks as if Art Griggs, the Cleveland first baseman, into become a victim of the ax in order to make room for "Doc" Johnston.
When Fenway Park, the home of the Boston Champions, is ready for business next spring the fans will find a very generous allotment of 25-cent seats.
Pitcher Charles E. (Buster) Brown has sent in his 1912 contract to the Boston Nationals. Manager Stallings figures that "Buster" will be one of the Braves' stars next season.
Pitcher George Mullin has signed to play with Detroit in 1913 for the 13th season, and he looks forward to doing the best twirling of his career. Evidently George is not afraid of the jinks.

This is My Birthday

"Lew" Fields
Lewis M. Fields, the actor, popularly known as Lew Fields, was born in New York City, January 1, 1875, and received his education in the public schools of the Lower East Side of the metropolis. Mr. Fields, when he was eight years old and attending school, managed to find time to appear in a Bowery music hall with his partner, Joe Weber, unknown to his parents. The remuneration was not great, but the pair persevered and in the course of time succeeded in establishing a reputation as "variety" performers. In 1885 the firm of Weber and Fields was formed and a few years later their well known music hall was opened on Broadway. Their success has probably never been duplicated along this line of entertainment. In 1904 the firm was dissolved and Mr. Fields branched out as a producing manager, with a theatre of his own in New York. Last year Mr. Weber and Mr. Fields renewed their partnership and again were seen together in pieces of their own production.

Raleigh People Decide to Man Estranged From Wife Build Their Own Water Plant

RALEIGH, Dec. 28.—Action looking to the ownership by Raleigh of a water works plant was begun at a called meeting of the board of aldermen, a resolution to buy or build being adopted. The board also declined to consider the offer of the Wake Water Company to sell its plant for $263,000, rejecting this and by resolution took action to see that the amount of the city's hydrant rents go towards rehabilitating the present plant. The first action of the board was to decline the offer of the Wake Water Company to sell its plant to the city at $263,000. The resolution adopted was:

"Resolved, after due consideration the water committee on this part of the city is instructed to respectfully decline the offer of the Wake Water Company to sell to the city of Raleigh the Wake Water Company plant at a valuation of $263,000 and the said water committee is so instructed to notify the attorney for the Wake Water Company."

This offer to sell by the Wake Water Company expires on the first day of January and the declaration to buy the plant at $263,000 is made on the ground that the price is too large. According to the report of the city engineer engaged by the city for the value of the physical property of the Wake Water Company is about $152,000 and with added values on various accounts is carried up to about $192,000. The offer to sell at $263,000 is considered to be far above an amount that might be offered for the plant.

The next resolution adopted by the board was one which had for its purpose the holding in Raleigh of all rents paid by the city for use of hydrants, this money to be used for the betterment of the plant, so as to secure water for Raleigh and prevent a water famine in summer. The resolution covering this, adopted by the board, refers to about $2,700.

News of Interest of Capital Capital

RALEIGH, Dec. 29.—The condition of George McCue, the Richmond, Va. plumber, who placed his head in the elevator shaft of the new Commercial bank building in order to call another workman on a lower floor and whose skull was fractured by the fall of the elevator, continued critical today, though the physician stated that there was no immediate danger of death. The elevator shot down like a plummet and caught Mr. McCue's head in the shaft.

EPIDEMIC OF ROBBERY
BREAKS OUT IN BRONX
NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—An epidemic of hold robberies and safe crackings in Bronx borough, apparently the work of an organized band of criminals who are estimated to have realized something like $100,000 in loot from their co-operations, has been ended, the police believe, by the arrest today of five men and two women.

The safe blowers worked with such cleverness that many business men slept in their stores to guard their property. A chance pickup by a policeman today of a suspicious character, who gave his name as Harry Gillar and upon whom were found skee-ton keys, safe drills and other paraphernalia used by a crackman, led to a raid on an apartment and other arrests. In the raided apartment police found a complete outfit of crackmen's tools and a quantity of explosives.

A LETTER TO MERCHANTS

All policies that insure a stock of merchandise contain what is known as the Iron Safe Clause which is a warranty that you will:

1. Take a complete itemized inventory of stock on hand at least once in each calendar year.
2. Keep a set of books, which shall clearly present a complete record of business transacted, including all purchases, sales and shipments, both for cash and credit, from date of inventory.
3. Provide a fire-proof safe in which the books and inventory shall be kept; or, keep them in some place not exposed to a fire that would destroy your store.

Failure to produce such set of books and inventories after a fire renders your FIRE INSURANCE policies null and void.

Stocks are usually smaller right after the holidays. Its a good time to take an inventory.

News From Colored Institute at Parmele

PARMELE, Dec. 28.—Principal W. C. Chance, founder of the Parmele Industrial Institute, announces that J. G. Godard, president of the Bank of Martin County, Williamson, N. C., has donated two hundred dollars to this institution. One hundred is on payment of the land and the other hundred is for its development. Mr. R. G. Vaughn, president of the American Exchange Bank, Greensboro, N. C., donates a hundred dollars. It may be interesting information to state that O. W. Staton, a colored citizen of the community, has donated a hundred dollars on the purchase of the land. It is by far the largest contribution to come from a colored citizen.

President Chance is just in receipt of valuable information which assures him that an effort is on foot in the north to put his school on such financial basis that he can give more time and energy to its development, and thereby do away with his present struggle to meet current expenses. The culmination of the plan will enable Prof. Chance to begin building in the near future.
