Gov. Craig Declares That Good Roads Will Transform The State

(Raleigh News and Observer)

In North Carolina we will soon have the highways everywhere. The spirit is growing. Counties that already have them realized their value, and know the folly of submitting to old conditions. Counties that have them are not coming to know that they are lagging behind and denying to themselves one of the greatest improvements of modern progress.

Good roads improve material conditions. They improve moral conditions. They make better schools and better churches. They are essential to the improvement of our rural life. They make communities of isolated families, and afford the people an opportunity of social intercourse. They enable the farmer to market his produce at any season and in any kind of weather, making him a part of the current of the world's life and stimulating in him a spirit of emulation and ambition.

When we get good roads in North Carolina, and we will get them in every county and in every section, the wealth of the state will be multiplied. We will feel the impetus of unprecedented progress.

The hope of North Carolina is in the country districts. We rejoice in the improvement of our cities and towns, but 80 per cent. of the people of North Carolina are born and grown up in the country. There must be our finest development. Thence the strong manhood and womanhood of North Carolina will come. Good roads will improve country conditions and add to the advantages and opportunities of country life immensely. A few years from now a transformation will be wrought in the life and the progress of the state.

Recently many counties and townships have issued bonds for the improvement of roads, and next week several counties will hold elections. In Davidson county, Mr. H. B. Varner and his co-workers are carrying on a campaign for good roads that equals in enthusiasm the most excited political movements. On Wednesday we traveled on a special train through the southern section of Davidson county. We stopped at various stations, and spoke to the people, who listened intently and sometimes with enthusiasm. There were brass bands and marching bands. We traveled through the northern section in automobiles and spoke to large and enthusiastic crowds. There is intense opposition to this movement in Davidson county, but there is a determination among the progressive people to win.

The last legislature appropriated as many as 35 convicts to grade the highway through Hickory Nut Gap. This is a link in the state road between Charlotte and the south, and Asheville and the mountain country and the west. This Hickory Nut Gap road is a section six miles long in one corner of Henderson county, and will be essentially not a neighborhood road but a state road. It goes through a rugged, wild country, by Chimney Rock and the Bald Mountain. It will be a highway unsurpassed in grandeur and scenic beauty. The convicts will be put to work upon this road at once, and when it is opened thousands of tourists in automobiles from all parts of the world will travel over it.

The United States Government has appropriated $10,000 to be expended in the improvement of some highway in North Carolina, provided the local will expend $20,000 in the improvement of the same highway. The governor is to designate the road upon which the $10,000 is to be expended. I will designate the road between Marion, in McDowell county and the town of the Blue Ridge, provided McDowell or Old Fort township will furnish the $20,000. Old Fort township holds an election on the 13th of May, and there appears to be no doubt that it will vote the $20,000. This road leads across the Blue Ridge at the Swanannoh Gap. It is a link of the national highway and the central highway. It is located in a country almost uninhabited. The people of that section cannot afford to build it. But all the people of North Carolina, who will go to the mountains in automobiles will travel over it. This country goes through a country of magnificent mountains. The Blue Ridge is the pinnacle of the Blue Ridge and in full view of the cagles and the Black Mountains, the highest east of the Mississippi. As it was peculiarly a state highway, and necessary for the opening of the Central highway and the national highway, I thought it just to designate it for the expenditure of the $10,000 appropriated by the Federal Government.

There has never been such a spirit as such a determination to build good roads and they will be productive of wonderful improvements.

Good Road Column

The following letter from one of the largest stocks and bonds firms in the United States has just been received in reply to an inquiry from us:

New York, April 17, 1913.
Mr. D. M. Clark, Atty. at Law,
Greenville, N. C.

Dear Sir:

We have your letter of April 15th and note your request that we advise you as to the amount of Sinking Fund that is necessary for the city of Greenville to provide to extinguish a debt of $50,000 which is to mature in forty years and on which fund 4 per cent compound interest will be paid.

In reply we have to advise you that you will have to raise each year the following amounts:
Interest on $50,000 bonds $2500.00
Proportion of sinking fund $26.17

$3026.17

Trusting that this will give you the desired information, we are,
Yours very truly,
N. W. HALSEY & CO.

Thus it can easily be seen that out of $5002.45, that we now collect each year for the Greenville township road tax at our present rate of taxation, we will be able to:

Pay interest on $50,000.00 in road bonds at 5 per cent per annum—$2500.00. Provide a sinking fund each year which placed at 4 per cent compound interest will pay off the bonded indebtedness in forty years—this fund according to the above letter will have to be $26.17.

These two funds added together total $3026.17 and this amount taken from our present yearly road fund will leave us $2476.28 with which to maintain or keep up this road after they are improved. This $2476.28 will provide $25 per year for the maintenance of each mile of road. Has $2476.28 ever been spent on the roads in Greenville township in one year before? After they have been improved will this amount at $25.00 per mile keep them in good repair? We think so.

Summary
Interest on bonds at 5 per cent $2500.00
Sinking fund to take up bonds $26.17
Maintenance fund after construction 2476.28
Total cost of improved up-to-date roads 5502.45
Amount thrown away on our improved sand roads each year 5502.45
It is up to you Mr. Voter. Shall we utilize this $5502.45 and have good roads, or shall we continue to throw this money and the opportunity away and go on plowing through the sand just because our fathers did? Good roads mean prosperity and better times. Why put it off? Act now.

CONFESSION OF FAITH HEADS MORGAN'S WILL

Great Financier Leaves Bulk of Estate to Son

Wonderful Art Collection Also Left To Son. Will Be Probated Today. Lying-In Hospital Gets Share

NEW YORK, April 20.—"I commit my soul into the hands of my Savior in full confidence that having regarded it and washed it in His precious blood, He will present it faultless before the throne of my Heavenly Father; and I entreat my children to maintain and defend, at all hazard and at any cost of personal sacrifice, the blessed doctrine of the complete atonement for sin through the blood of Jesus Christ, once offered, and through that alone."

This is the extraordinary and striking utterance which begins the last will and testament of John Pierpont Morgan, who died at Rome on March 31 last; whose body, heaped over with flowers from the crowned heads of Europe, was a fortnight later brought back to his own land and last Monday was borne to its last resting place at Hartford.

Ever since the funeral the publication of the great financier's last will has been awaited with great expectation, and it is safe to say that of all the interesting testaments of eminent citizens of America, that of Mr. Morgan, to be offered for probate here Monday morning, is by far the most interesting.

As to the amount of the estate, which is one of the first questions the public naturally is asking, there is nothing in the will to give any accurate idea and the executors declare that no announcement will be made on this point until the appraisal has been made for determining the state inheritance tax.

The amount of bequests and trusts named by specific sums, is the entire residue of the estate is left to J. P. Morgan, Jr., who is designated by his father to become the chief heir; not only to his fortune, but to his many charitable and artistic activities.

As to the will itself it is unusual in many of its features and, according to those two or three intimate friends who already have had a glimpse of it, it is a portrait of Mr. Morgan himself, beginning with the striking confession of his religious faith. "Being a tract in Swift creek township, Pitt county, adjoining the lands of Wiley Causey, John Richard Dudley, land and others, beginning at a stake, Green's corner and runs N 54 W 36 poles to a stake; then N 27 E 36 poles to a stake; then N 38 E 128 1-2 to a stake; then S 34 E 69 poles to a stake; then S 35 W 69 poles to a stake; then S 18 W 18 poles to a stake; then S 38 W 99 poles to Green's line; then with said line to the beginning, containing 62 acres, more or less."

WILL ROADS DEAL FAIR

Profits of Three Roads Last Year More Than $17,000,000

Great Profits Are Made And Their Loss Would Be Just A Fraction Over Three Million Dollars

RALEIGH, April 20.—That the actual reduction in revenue by accepting the proposition submitted by the state would be only $3,222,409 for the Southern railway, the Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line, and that these reductions would be more than compensated for in the natural course of eight business years, is the main contention of the information gathered at the office of the North Carolina corporation commission. So when the representatives return to Raleigh Tuesday, April 29, for the purpose of giving their final reply to the suggestion of the state, they will be able to state that the corporation commission they will face a situation that they must know has been worked out by experts.

Whether the railroads will seek to continue to fatten on North Carolina, while giving to the other state reasonable freight rates, will be determined by the state. Opponents of the bill are divided as to whether the railroads will do the right thing by North Carolina, some pessimists saying that the bright attorneys of the roads have learned just what this state can do and will not concede anything, while the more optimistic claim that the carriers will recognize the justice of the North Carolina claims and act accordingly.

The proposition submitted by the state calls for a reduction of approximately 33 per cent on interstate shipments into North Carolina. In other words, what the commission has asked is that the same rate apply on the main line of the Southern railway between Lynchburg and Washington. It must be taken into consideration also that the density of traffic is greater in North Carolina than in Virginia and that the fact of the collection in my lifetime they will pass to my son, J. P. Morgan, Jr., or to his son, Junius Spencer Morgan, Jr., under the foregoing clauses of this will whereby I dispose of my residuary estate. Should either my said son or my said grand-son

NARROW ESCAPE FROM SERIOUS INJURY

There came near happening this morning what is likely to happen any day and will happen with more careful automobile driving. A man was walking across the street a little north of Five Points, and happened not to be looking in every direction at the same time. Along came an automobile and ran squarely against the man, who fortunately showed presence of mind to grab the front of the machine and be borne along with it until it was stopped, and thus saved himself from being run over. It was a narrow escape from serious injury or perhaps death.

Straight at it.

There is no one out there "beating around the bush." We might as well cut with it as last. We want you to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the next time you have a cough or cold. There is no reason so far as we can see why you should not do so. This preparation by its remarkable cures has gained a world

Music Week in Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga., April 21.—Atlanta's first "Music Week" began today with every promise of being a great success. Orchestras and band organizations from all parts of Georgia are in the city and melody is being produced on every thing from a mouth organ to a steam calliope. Many of the large stores are furnishing free concerts and in almost every dwelling and apartment in the city the pianos and phonographs are being worked overtime.

The weighing party conducted by Circle No. 3 of the Baptist church at the home of Mrs. W. L. Rice, Friday night, proved an occasion of much pleasure to all who were present. In addition to weighing all those attending, there was a splendid program of vocal and instrumental music, and refreshments were served. The circle realized a good sum for their church work.

Cough Medicine for Children

Too much care cannot be used in selecting a cough medicine for children. It should be pleasant to take, contain no harmful substance and be most effective. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets these requirements and is a favorite with the mothers of young children everywhere. For sale by all druggists.

Young Women

Read what Cardui did for Miss Myria Engler, of Faribault, Minn. She says: "Let me tell you how much good Cardui has done me. As a young girl, I always had to suffer so much with all kind of pain. Sometimes, I was so weak that I could hardly stand on my feet. I got a bottle of Cardui, at the drug store, and as soon as I had taken a few doses, I began to feel better. Today, I feel as well as anyone can."

TAKE THE CARDUI Woman's Tonic

Are you a woman? Then you are subject to a large number of troubles and irregularities, peculiar to women, which, in time, often lead to more serious trouble. A tonic is needed to help you over the hard places, to relieve weakness, headache, and other unnecessary pains, the signs of weak nerves and over-work. For a tonic, take Cardui, the woman's tonic. You will never regret it, for it will certainly help you. Ask your druggist about it. He knows. He sells it.

SANITARY LAUNDERING IMPORTANT

It is not the custom to take an advertisement for the subject of an editorial note, but there is something in what Bishop, the laundryman, says about sanitation that should interest the public. There are many ways in which disease germs are carried about and nothing affords a means of this more than wearing apparel. Disease can be communicated as quickly through infected clothing as if infected persons were brought in contact with each other. And in instances where the "family washing" from any and all classes are brought together, it is certainly of utmost importance that the laundering be done in sanitary quarters. People sometimes wonder where their children catch measles, whooping cough, diphtheria, scarlet fever, or other contagious diseases, when as apt as not they were taken to the home by the colored wash-woman in the clothes basket or from an uncleanly laundry. You have known house keepers to go carefully through the basket of clothes just brought in to be sure that none of the pesky things called bed bugs came with the clothes, yet not a thought was given as to whether any disease germs were in them. Just think of these things and you will see the advantage of being careful about your laundering.

During the recent legislature the railroad of the state put up a subjective front and very readily agreed to a conference with a committee appointed for that purpose looking to a satisfactory adjustment of freight rates. Since the legislature has adjourned and the opportunity removed for passing a rate law, the railroad are showing a disposition to dodge and not agree to the reduction in rates proposed by the committee so as to give North Carolina a square deal. This means that the next legislature will have to go right after the railroads to bring them to terms and put no confidence in their promises to be good. The railroad ought to be that they will ultimately bring justice on themselves in imposing on the people.

It is only about two weeks now, or to be exact, on the first Saturday in May, to the opening of a new series of the Home Building and Loan Association. This new series promises to be the largest yet started, and the next few days is the time people should make up their minds to take shares in it. Even the small wage earner who can spare only 25 or 50 cents a week will find the association a good place to save and accumulate something. Carrying one share and putting up 25 cents a week means a hundred dollars saved in a little over six years. To say nothing of the help of the association gives in building, as an investment alone it pays nearly seven per cent net.

There is another town not very far distant, that is some larger than Greenville. A man, whose home is in that town, was heard to remark while in Greenville, "I thought my home town was feeling the east in automobiles, but Greenville appears to have given us a long lead. Friend, you will find Greenville leading in some other things, too. For instance, make a note of our tobacco market, our banks, our building and loan association, our new court house, our training school, and then don't forget our folks.

The "between seasons" is close at hand now, and you will soon hear some Greenville people complain that business is dull, it is the annual complaint that will be heard as long as business has to depend mainly on the sale of crops. A fact we have tried to point out time and time again, is that one of the town's greatest needs is factory pay rolls. There is plenty of room for factories and if they were here the "between seasons" dullness would be a thing unheard of, for there would be business all the year around.

Some people who have been blinded by prejudice and inflamed by irresponsible speech, are getting their eyes open to the meaning of the proposed election on the stock law question. To go back to the old boundaries will cost a pile of money to rebuild the fence and will be followed by an almost endless chain of lawsuits that will be just what the "ambulance" class of lawyers want. And almost anybody ought to see that the way settlement for it is growing, the next legislature will make stock law state wide.

The Farmer's Enterprise tells of a farmer going to that town and selling two bales of cotton for cash. While getting around and handling his purse he lost a roll of bills amounting to nearly a hundred dollars. There are good banks in Albemarle, but no doubt the farmer felt richer walking around with the money in his pocket than if he had deposited it in a bank. But the latter course would have saved his money for him.

Cotton speculators are already using the prospects of the next crop as an excuse of lowering the price of what is yet on hand of the last crop. According to our way of thinking, there is not going to be any more cotton raised this year than there was last year, and with the production around a million bales short of the supply needed for consumption there should be no lopping off in price. And but for the speculators there would not be.

People living in the sections affected by the stock law on which an election is to be held on the 10th of June, should do some serious thinking before they vote. It will be a serious and expensive blunder to change the stock law and no man should be led blindly into voting for the change just because some unscrupulous leader advises him to do so.

The reunion committee is preparing right on for the annual gathering of the old soldiers of Pitt county. One thing for the veterans to bear in mind, is that because the 10th of May falls on Saturday this year, the reunion will not be held until the following Tuesday, 13th. We hope to see them all here that day.

The county through the board of commissioners has generously done its part in authorizing an appropriation of $1,500 for erecting a Confederate monument on the court house square. The people must also raise the sum by subscriptions, and they should lose no time in doing their part. The movement for this should be active.

It is only a question of time when Greenville will become a city, and if present strides continue the time is not long.

Don't fret about the leaves on the trees. They will reach their full foliage on schedule time, by May 10th. New born is having anything but a dry time, judging from the reports of whiskey shipments to that town.

The president of that tobacco State's Trust Company, who was captured in Birmingham, is fighting against coming back to North Carolina, he must not love the state as well as he did before he ran away. But he will come back all right and will likely spend a good long time in prison.

Most life insurance policies contain a clause that if the party insured commits suicide, whether sane or insane, within a year from the date the policy is issued, the insurance is forfeited. A test case recently went to the supreme court of the state, and the court upheld this clause in the policy.

Greenville's new inn, the Proctor Hotel, is pushing on to completion with the hope of having it ready to open by the first of June. If the opening can be in time for the commencement of East Carolina Teachers Training School, it will be a fine starting advertisement for the hotel.

Sixty prisoners in jail in Denver are on a hunger strike, that is refusing to eat the prison fare on the ground that it is not good enough for them. They must think the city should run a Delmonico for their next time they had better observe the law and keep out of jail.

Spencer is leading off with a good example for other towns to follow in the line of public safety. The aldermen of that town have passed an ordinance prohibiting the running at large of dogs unless they are muzzled.

In Tarboro four hundred and eighty eight gallons of whiskey was arrested and committed to jail. The barrels containing the liquor were marked "sugar" and "flour." It ought to have been dealt with for traveling under such disguise.

In the next ten days values will show the greatest shrinkage of any season of the year. This is accounted for in the fact that the first of May marks the beginning of tax listing time.

Prof. Willis L. Moore, chief of the government weather bureau since 1895, has been dismissed. Maybe that accounts for the recent trouble with the weather.

Dr. D. S. Morrill, of Farmville, who is on a tour through Europe and the Holy Land is writing back some very interesting letters to the Farmville Enterprise.

The next fellow who wants to know if we are going to raise tadpoles in that hole of water on The Reflector corner, is going to get ducked.

Danville, Va., has again made its preparations right on for the annual gathering of the old soldiers of Pitt county. One thing for the veterans to bear in mind, is that because the 10th of May falls on Saturday this year, the reunion will not be held until the following Tuesday, 13th. We hope to see them all here that day.

Secretary Bryan and Speaker Clark have buried the hatchet and all is serene once more.

In speaking of a banquet in Wilmington, the Dispatch says "music April is now marching down Hill to make room for May to come up."

GENERAL STORE PAINTS OILS

When You Paint

Use PURE Paint and Use Pure LINED OIL to add to it one-half the cost of Paint.

PURE PAINT is made with WHITE LEAD, ZINC and LINED OIL - that's the way the L. & M. SEMI-MIXED REAL PAINT is made.

But ALL the OIL needed to make the L. & M. PAINT ready for use is NOT put into the Paint when it's prepared for the Consumer who buys it.

The ADDITIONAL quantity of OIL is put into the Paint by the CONSUMER, as by so doing he SAVES MONEY. Therefore - buy 3 gallons of LINED OIL with every 4 gallons of L. & M. PAINT and MIX the OIL with the PAINT.

If the Paint thus made costs more than $1.40 per gallon - If the Paint you use it is not perfectly satisfactory - Then return whatever you have not used, and get back ALL you paid for the OIL and besides, the money you paid to the Painter.

Belgium Government Will Accept Compromise Proposed By Strikers

BRUSSELS, April 22.—Owing in great part to the advice of the king, the government today accepted the compromise offered by the Liberal leader, F. Masson, and the great strike for manhood suffrage, which on account of the remarkable discipline maintained, the solidarity of those who joined in the movement and skillful organization, is unique in history, will be called off Thursday.

Only a week ago the Belgium premier, Charles De Broqueville, declared: "No government could yield to a strike of the nature. To yield would be to abdicate."

Nevertheless, the strike seems to have made sufficient impression on the government to induce it to unbend from its uncompromising attitude far enough to ensure the termination of a situation which has already cost the country millions.

The decision to accept the compromise was reached yesterday by the cabinet and the premier announced in the chamber today that the government had made M. Masson's motion its own.

Speaking Of Good Roads

Has it ever occurred to you that the roads and lanes that are poorer than your neighborhood are among those opposed to good roads? Does this mean that they are being led by men too stingy to pay a few cents more the year to help along the farmer who has a crop to haul to town? Does it mean that they are thinking for themselves and have decided that they prefer their country to go backward to that good old time when a man could moonshine with little fear of being caught, and furnished whiskey to thoughtless and lazy boys in a community till they grew into drunks and later for the better educated and hard-headed men? Does it mean that you are ignorantly being led astray by talk of a mortgage on your property, when since the foundation of our government we mortgages or whatever name you may have had the same sort of debts, call them mortgages or not? Mr. Reader, ever felt the drag of a United States bond? There are billions of dollars worth of them in circulation of dollars worth of them in the same pocket books that your good roads will be paid from. Good roads are the better friends of the shrewd farmer (not talkers) of our country and ask for nothing more than an investigation of the merits of the case.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

April Term Superior Court Opened Today, Judge Allen Presiding

The April term of Pitt Superior court, for the trial of criminal cases, began Monday morning with Judge G. H. Allen presiding and Solicitor C. L. Abernethy representing the state.

The grand jury for the term is as follows: W. E. Tucker, foreman, R. B. Summerell, Greene Manning, H. M. Stokes, W. H. Bullock, W. A. Chance, (colored), Matthew Bykin, Jesse B. Hardee, W. L. Whittehurst, J. A. Hodges, John T. Evans, W. C. James, W. L. F. Corey, R. H. Parker, J. C. Brown, Edwin Tripp, R. D. Edwards.

Judge Allen has several times held court here and as many a time delivered charges to the grand jury, and always gives them clear instructions as to their duties. He said today that where offenses against public morals exist, somebody on the grand jury should be aware of it, and if the grand jurors and officers do their duty these matters will be cleared up. It is next to an impossibility for crimes not to be brought to light if full duty is done by those having oversight of the laws.

Judge Allen instructed the grand jury if they knew of any man boasting that they could buy all the grand jury wanted, it was their duty to have such men summoned before them for investigation. He said if all cases on the docket that are there by reason of liquor, were disposed of, there would not be a grand jury left to keep the court busy two days. Crime producing evils were the ones the grand jury should look especially after.

As to the thief and gambler, Judge Allen put them upon the same level. In that both get the property of another without working for it. And the man who buys the farmers cotton at a specified delivery in the fall, is gambling and cheating the farmer, for he has pledged himself against loss through an arrangement with Wall Street, while the man who bargains his cotton away does not have this protection.

Judge Allen said some people are heard complaining that the prohibition law is violated, therefore is non-effective. We have had the Ten Commandments thousands of years and yet there are violations of the law against stealing. We have had the prohibition law only about two years and it is cause for congratulation that so much reformation has been brought about under it in this short time.

When you hear a man talking against the prohibition law, you can mark it down that he is directly or indirectly interested in the sale of liquor. Morally, educationally and commercially the state is making great strides and prohibition has largely aided in bringing this condition.

Judge Allen asked the grand jury to see if there are competent overseers and superintendents of the public roads, and if they are doing their duty, also if the county convict force is conducted as it should be.

Judge Allen said that every prison ought to be a reformatory, and that even in a convict camp the men should be given an opportunity to reform. He wondered if they had the privileges of newspapers, of books, and of going to church occasionally. He wanted to see that the day when stripes are not put on convicts to humiliate and degrade them, and that every influence be brought to bear to reform the convict and make him a better man.

He also urged the grand jury to give close attention to the county home and to see that it is indeed a home with proper comforts for the unfortunate ones there.

Judge Allen paid a high compliment to Pitt county and said if the people would just sweep out a few imperfections he had called attention to, there would be no bounds to their prosperity and happiness.

Missionary Sermon
Rev. C. M. Beck delivered a splendid sermon on the subject of missions in Memorial Baptist church Sunday. An interesting finale to the sermon was a recitation on the "Conquest of Christianity" by seven girls, each carrying a banner with the name of the country represented. The entire service was impressive.

Scotland, the Land of Song

"Learn One Thing Every Day."

NO. 1. ROBERT BURNS' COTTAGE
Copyright 1913, by The Associated Newspaper School, Inc.

Robert Burns' cottage near Alloway, Scotland.

Two poets singing in dialect become world famous. This is true for the simple reason that a dialect poet is likely to be local—to write of local things—to avoid the universal. But Robert Burns—"poor Burns," as we think of him—was the exception. Who does not know "Auld Lang Syne" and all that it means? Or who has not said to himself on his own way, "A man's a man for a' that?" Robert Burns could not help but be a poet of the people—the "peasant poet." He was born close to the soil of Scotland. On January 25, 1759, he opened his eyes in a small cottage about two miles from Ayr, in Scotland. His father was only a small farmer and Robert got very little education, but lots of hard work.

However, he managed to learn to read and used to carry his books to the fields with him to snatch a few moments reading during the day. At mealtimes he sat with a spoon in one hand and a book in the other. He liked best the ballads of Scotland—the old songs of the minstrels. But in 1871 he went to Irvine to learn the trade of a fix-dresser. And it was here that he indulged two habits that clung to him all the rest of his life—drinking and falling in love. For the poet was a boon companion at a feast and a great heart-breaker—but his own heart was broken also many times.

His fortune fell very low in 1789, and he intended to sail for the West Indies, there to try to better them. But his first volume of poetry proved to be such a great success that he did not go. His poems took the people by storm. He was invited to Edinburgh, where he became the lion of the hour. But all this did not bring him in much money. Finally in 1789 he got a position as excise officer. But as years went on, and he grew wilder and wilder in his dissipations, friends drew away from him. His only companions were those of the lowest classes.

At last, on July 4, 1796, he knew that he was dying. He wrote on the twelfth to his cousin for the loan of fifty dollars, to have him from passing his last days in jail. He died on the twenty-first of July, 1796.

The Burns cottage near Ayr is reverently preserved as a memorial to the poet. Here is the little room where he was born and here are to be found many mementos associated with his life. This cot, built of clay by Burns' father, is a shrine for those who love the memory of the "peasant poet."

Every day a different human interest story will appear in the Reflector.

You can get a beautiful intaglio reproduction of the above picture with five others, equally attractive, 7 x 9 1/2 inches in size, with this week's "Mentor." In the "Mentor" a well-known authority covers the subject of the pictures and stories of the week. Readers of the Reflector and the "Mentor" will know art, literature, history, science, and travel, and own exquisite pictures. Mr. J. W. Martin Loses His Home With Contents by Fire

On Friday night the home of Mr. J. W. Martin, near Stator's Mill, was destroyed by fire. The family had gone out for supper to the dining room which was just in the rear of but attached to the body of the house. A lighted lamp was left in one of the front rooms, and the door between this room and the hall, as well as the front door, were standing open, while the rear hall door leading out to the dining room was closed.

When supper was over one of Mr. Martin's sons was the first to start back in the house. As he opened the rear hall door to enter he was met by a flash of fire that was swept through the hall by the draft from the front. This son sprang up the stairway to try to save some clothing and valuables from his room, but the fire followed so rapidly that he had to jump out the second story window and could save nothing.

Almost like a flash the flames spread throughout the entire building, and nothing of consequence could be saved. Besides the building and all household and kitchen furniture and the clothing of the family being destroyed, Mr. Martin lost all of his valuable papers and about $75 in money.

It is supposed that the fire started from the explosion of the lamp in the front room, this probably being caused by a gust of wind through the open doors.

Mr. Martin had some insurance in the Pitt county branch of the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Association, but not more than covering a third of his loss which will reach fully $2,500. His home had been recently remodeled.

REAL BATTLE OF TARIFF BILL ON THIS WEEK

Will Openly Appear On The Floor Of The House SUCCESS ALMOST ASSURED

Experts Now Working On Tariff Bill In Behalf Of Democratic And Republican Divisions Of Senate Finance

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Two weeks of tariff debate behind closed doors will be followed early this week by the opening of the real fight over the Democratic tariff bill on the floor of the house. Backed by the favorable decision of the Democratic house caucus and bearing the approval of President Wilson, the bill, the party majority of which was on the floor of the house by the middle of the week ready for the fight that is to be waged there over its passage. The success of the measure in the house is assured at the outset, according to Democratic supporters of the bill. The party majority of over 140 is enough to carry the tariff program through, it is claimed, without danger of a change. The Republican forces, led by members of the ways and means committee who denounce the Underwood bill in a minority report, may, however, will again attempt to upset the free wool and free sugar in three years plans of the President which carried through Democratic caucus by a large vote. It is believed, however, that the Republicans cannot secure enough Democratic allies seriously to threaten the bill at any point.

From the time the measure comes back to the house this week, tariff debate is expected to rage at both ends of the Capitol. For at least two weeks the bill probably will rest in the house while general debate is indulged in across the aisle that separates the Republican and Democratic forces.

At the end of that time the measure will be brought forward for detailed reading with the opportunity of amendment. The Republicans are preparing now to attack many of the Democratic reductions and to attempt to amend the bill and restore some of the protective rates which the Democrats have abandoned or severely modified.

The demand made by Republican senators last week that hearings should be held on the bill after it reaches the senate has not moved the Democratic members of the finance committee to change their original plans. No oral hearings will be given. All industries and persons likely to be affected by the change in tariff are being given an opportunity to be heard, to file further statements with the committee, if they have new information that was not furnished to the ways and means committee last January.

Experts are now working on the tariff bill in behalf of both the Democratic and Republican divisions of the senate finance committee.

As the debate proceeds in the house the senate committee will complete its amendment to the bill and will be prepared to act on the measure within a short time after it is received from the house.

Other legislative matters probably will be forced into the background with the opening of the tariff fight this week. Important hearings and committee meetings which have been arranged at the senate side will give the basis for the preparation of legislation that may be brought to the front before the special session adjourns.

A ground work for currency reform legislation is to be laid Tuesday when a meeting of the full membership of the senate banking and currency committee will be held.

Advocates of woman suffrage will be heard during the week, the hearings opening tomorrow and will urge that a constitutional amendment for women suffrage be approved at this session of congress.

Secretary Daniels Will send Entire Atlantic Fleet To The Mediterranean

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Secretary Daniels announced today that the entire Atlantic fleet would be sent on a three month's cruise to the Mediterranean. This will be the new secretary's policy to make the navy, in times of peace, a great educational force for the enlisted men and to afford them opportunity to enjoy the broadening advantages of first hand knowledge of the great countries of the world.

The secretary believes such a cruise will add greatly to the sailor's usefulness. "I believe we should offer to the enlisted man every opportunity which lies in our power to obtain knowledge of other countries from personal observation," he said today. "The cruise will be so timed as to give every man in the fleet shore leave at every port of interest."

Mr. Daniels also appreciates the advantages from a technical standpoint that the officers of the fleet will gain in a long cruise of this kind where various maneuvers can be carried out and many experiments can be executed under actual service conditions.

Instead of the usual winter maneuvers at Guantanamo, Cuba, the whole fleet, including the torpedo boat destroyers and auxiliaries will make the foreign cruise. There will be at least 21 battleships probably including the new dreadnoughts Texas and New York with an aggregate tonnage of about 75,000 tons.

The fleet will leave about the first of annular and cross the Atlantic, probably stopping at the Azores or Madeira to Gibraltar. There the ships will be divided into squadrons and sent to visit the principal ports of the Mediterranean. The exact dates and details of the voyage have not been definitely determined.

About an Unwritten Story

"In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love" And it seems at this same season An old man's memory ponders o'er the cooling dew And the plaintive song of Whippoorwill As she sat on garden's rough paling And whistled for me an' Comrade Bill.

We want to talk to our young men and maidens and our boys and girls, for surely our hearts are big enough to have a very tender spot for each and every one of you. This is not the story, nor is it the beginning of an unwritten story that we hope to tell in our own simple way. As you can see from the lines that are at the beginning of this article, some of the scenes of the intended story will be laid among haunts of bygone days. We shall claim no merit for this story (which will be a true one) except the faint hope that it may help some struggling, though faint-hearted boy, or dependent girl.

VALUE OF FINANCIERS

ESTATE NOT KNOWN

NEW YORK, April 21.—Interest in the will of J. P. Morgan made public yesterday centered today in the question of the value of the financier's estate and in what disposition his son would make of the vast collection of Morgan art treasures.

Less than $20,000,000 was accounted for in the specific bequests made by Mr. Morgan, the rest being the residuary portion left to the son without mention of the amount.

Some estimates made today placed the total estate as high as $125,000,000, but according to a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan and Co., not even the son himself can tell within many millions the actual value of the fortune.

Until appraised by the state for the purpose of collecting the inheritance tax the question will probably remain open.

J. P. Morgan declined to say today anything in regard to the disposition of the art treasures, but it was intimated that he might have a statement some time this week.

The treasurer was left to the son with the hope "that he will be able in such a manner as he thinks best to make a permanent disposition or dispositions of them or such portions of them as will be a substantial carrying out of the intentions which I have cherished."

Mr. Morgan declined to say today anything in regard to the disposition of the art treasures, but it was intimated that he might have a statement some time this week.

J. P. Morgan, the testator's son, Herbert L. Satterlee and W. P. Hamilton, his sons-in-law and Lewis Case Leonard, the Morgan attorney, filed their oaths as executors today.

An Erroneous Expression

To the Editor of the Gold Leaf

The idea has gone abroad in regard to the road bonds, that they may be purchased by wealthy men and are free from taxes and constitute a mortgage on all the land in the country may be sold if the bonds are not paid at maturity.

Strange what marvelous and mysterious things can be seen through the eyes of ignorance. Is it possible that any one capable of evolving such a theory should be informed that these bonds, if held by persons or corporations in Vance county, will be liable for taxes to the full amount of their face, dollar for dollar?

It is, of course, full true, that the county must pay these bonds, but it is paid by a sinking fund which accumulates from year to year by setting aside one per cent of the amount of the bonds. Any property in the county is liable to the taxing of this Certificate of Dissolution.

Now, therefore, I, J. Bryan Grimes, Secretary of State of the State of North Carolina, do hereby certify that the said corporation did, on the 17th day of April, 1913, file in my office a duly executed and attested copy in writing of the dissolution of said corporation, executed by all the stockholders thereof, which said consent and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file in my said office as provided by law.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal, at Raleigh, this 17th day of April, A. D., 1913.

J. BRYAN GRIMES, Secretary of State.

Enter Suits Against Allens

ROANOKE, Va., April 18.—The civil suits for damages for the widows and orphans of the officers of the Carroll county circuit court, shot up March 14 of last year by the Allen clan, have been docketed in the Wayne county circuit court to be heard by Judge Walter R. Staples at the July term.

Judge Staples presided at the trial of the Allens and sentenced Floyd and Claude to die in the electric chair. Sentence was passed September 11, but the death penalty was not inflicted until last month.

The suits for damages are to recover money from the estates of Floyd Sidna and Claude Allen and Wesley Edwards. The families of Judge Edward L. Maeste, Commonwealth's Attorney William Foster and Sheriff Low Webb are plaintiffs in the suits.

Attorney R. H. Willis, of the law firm of Hairston, Hairston and Willis, principal counsel for the Allens in their long fight for life and liberty following the Hillsville tragedy, said that it is likely he will submit to Prosecutor Stuart Campbell of Wytke county, the document now in his possession, in which Attorney L. O. Wendenburg, of Richmond, sets forth grounds on which, Dexter Goad, clerk of the Carroll court, may be prosecuted for his part in the courthouse battle.

Mr. Willis said that because of the press of other business he had not yet examined the Wendenburg opinion carefully. He said, however, that it is likely the paper will be submitted to Stuart Campbell, prosecuting attorney for Wytke county, with a summary of evidence on which it is based, and pointed out where witnesses can be reached who will testify in support of the Allens' version of Goad's part in the courthouse fight and the circumstances leading up to it.

Annual Meeting Of Stockholders

holders

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company was held today in the Star warehouse, with a large attendance. At this meeting a resolution was adopted authorizing the dissolution of the company in accordance with steps taken at previous meetings, and a partial distribution of assets, amounting to 80 per cent, was paid to the stockholders, the balance being reserved until some litigation affecting the company is settled. It is expected that an additional 10 per cent or more will be paid as soon as these matters are adjusted.

The dissolution of this company, after being carried on for ten years in which time the original stockholders were paid 147 per cent in dividends, is to be regretted, and many of the farmers connected with it were heard to express themselves. Still there have arisen conditions under which it was not wise to continue without a change in policy, and opposition arising to a proposed reorganization of the company on a somewhat different basis, dissolution was considered as the best step under those circumstances.

Mr. O. L. Joyner, who was president of the company during its existence, and who at personal sacrifice threw his whole energy into building it up, labored unceasingly for its success and the large benefit the farmers derived from it was due mainly to his efforts. No one regrets more than he that a lack of earnest cooperation led to the dissolution of the company. It is cause for congratulation to the farmers, however, that in the sale of the property Mr. Joyner purchased one of the warehouses, the Star, and will continue to run it. His association with the business will mean much for the strength and advancement of the tobacco market.

Not Waiting on Lumber Dealers

Mr. G. B. W. Hadley started out on a plan not to be delayed in the building of his new residence. Instead of having to depend on the dealers to get material when they felt inclined to deliver it, he sent out to his own land and had the timber cut and extra good quality and plenty of it. As a result the work on his house is proceeding rapidly.

Auto Cuts Down Pole

Sunday Dr. T. G. Basnight and his wife took an auto trip over near Whitechapel to visit friends. In the afternoon Mrs. Basnight took another lady out for a ride. In crossing the railroad track the car stalled. The ladies' lights intending to crank the car so it would go on. A man at the station near by went to assist them. The man got behind the car and gave it a push, when off the machine started right by itself. The car struck a bee line for a telephone pole and cut it down. No damage resulted except for the telephone pole.

N. Y. GUNMEN SHOOT AND KILLS FORMER PAL

Suspected Him of Squealing to District Attorney

"JERRY, THE LUNCHMAN"

Received Five Bullets Into His Body. Murderer Occured Two Blocks From Where Rosenthal Was Slain

NEW YORK, April 20.—Suspected of "squealing" to the district attorney, Jerry Madia, known as "Jerry the Lunchman," met his appointed death on 41st street near Broadway early today.

He was shot down by gangsters who sent five bullets into his body. The shooting occurred only a couple of blocks away from the scene of the murder of Herman Rosenthal last July, but the gunmen had less luck than the Rosenthal murder crew. Five policemen who were in the immediate vicinity heard the shots and intervened upon five men whom they accused of the killing. The police allege that the men they caught are members of the Paul Kelly band of gangsters of which Jerry was an adherent. They saw that Jerry had recently fallen under suspicion, however, that he was thought to be revealing the gang's secrets to District Attorney Chas. S. Whitman.

None of the men caught were armed but witnesses said they had seen them throw revolvers away and three of the guns were found in a garbage can nearby.

James Jasto, one of the prisoners, was severely beaten by the officer who caught him. The police say that "Guinea Sim," another prisoner, was under arrest two years ago in connection with the murder of another member of the gang under similar circumstances.

OPENS FIFTEENTH SERIES SATURDAY

A large advertisement today calls attention to the opening of the fifteenth series of The Home Building and Loan Association next Saturday. Already a large number of shares have been spoken for in the coming series and it is going to be the largest in the history of the association. This is just as it should be, for there is no institution doing more for the community than this association. In two matured series it has paid stockholders about $50,000 in cash and cancelled mortgages, and it is earning a 4.5 per cent net. As an aid to people in building or buying a home or business house, nothing equals it for the money that would have to be paid for rents is very nearly enough to make all payments necessary to carry it through the building and loan association, and in a little over six years the obligation is wiped out and the property belongs to the owner. And as to a savings investment, the fact that it pays such a large net per cent on such small weekly deposits should appeal to every one.

Go right now to the secretary's office, or phone him, and have your name registered for shares in the new series. You will be glad if you do this.
