CALLED BACK THIRTY-FIVE YEARS

The editor of The Reflector has just received a pleasant reminder of long by gone days. It came in a little paper called the "Boy's Herald", published in New York, a news magazine of amateur journalism. The front page of the May issue of the "Boy's Herald" contains a group picture of some attendants upon the second annual convention of the North Carolina Amateur Press Convention in Goldsboro June 29th, 1878, and what has since become of them. This writer was one of the thirteen who stood before the camera for that picture. It brought a smile to look back over the thirty-five years and see what a kid he then was, and recall many things that have transpired since. We were all boys then, this writer being the youngest in the bunch—not quite sixteen years of age, and having already been an editor four months. Out of them all but two have continued in the newspaper business until now—Josephus Daniels and the writer. And it is a coincidence that these two, after sticking to it thirty-five years, this year lay aside the active part of newspaper work to enter the service of "Uncle Sam"—the former secretary of the navy and the latter postmaster of his home town.

But back to that bunch of boys and to recall the names of some familiar to our readers, just as we called each other in those days.
Among them were Jo Daniels, Owen Gulion, Ed Oldham, George Carr, Dr.
Nutt, Jim Howard and us—Dave Whitehead. It was the first time we ever left home—that trip to Goldsboro and it felt all right among the boys.
After the amateur meeting in Goldsboro, six of us went on to Hickory and out to Sparkling Catawba Springs to join the real North Carolina Press Association in session there, and from that day until this the writer's name has appeared among the roll of members. He has ever felt a pride in this and some of his most delightful days have been with the brethren at the annual meetings. It may not interest the reader for us to speak of those things, but to us it is a happy recollection.

LESS OPPOSITION TO STOCK LAW On next Tuesday, 10th an election will be held with Ayden and Winterville as the voting places, on the question of rebuilding the stock law fence that was changed by the law of 1911. The change brought about by that law was making a 16-mile fence take the place of a 70-odd mile fence, with a corresponding reduction in cost of maintenance. Of course the change of the fence put some people in the stock law district who had previously been outside of it. With a self-seeking agitator to lead them, much antagonism and bad feeling was aroused, this being carried over to the extent of lawlessness in cutting the new fence as fast as it was built.
This was done without the parties affected waiting to see how being in the stock law was going to result.
This same leadership and antagonism brought about the order for an election to decide whether the stock law territory shall be changed back to its old boundaries, or be again established by the 1911 law. As the election draws near many who were induced to sign the petition for the election already see the folly of it.

They realize that they have been misled and that to rebuild the fence on the old line will cost thousands of dollars and the source of almost endless trouble and litigation. And many are also coming around to believe that stock law is best for them.

The board of county commissioners have called an election to be held on July 29th, next, to vote on the proposition of issuing not exceeding $50-000 of Greenville township bonds with which to build and maintain good roads in the township. To conduct the campaign, the advocates of the measure should organize, and to effect this a meeting will be held in the court house at noon next Saturday, June 7th, to organize a Greenville Township Good Roads Association. It is important that every one who signed the petition asking the county commissioners to call the election, as well as all others who favor issuing the bonds for roads, should attend the meeting next Saturday and become identified with the organization. If you favor good roads be on hand.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Business is all right, but Greenville should not be so absorbed in business as to give no thought for recreation. Our boys and girls should be educated and they should be trained in some useful vocations. At the same time they are entitled to physical development and recreation. The town needs for this a well equipped gymnasium, and a park or public play ground. Both can be provided with proper co-operation.

The government may give out some aid in the way of good road building, but those communities which start out to aid themselves will be the first to get roads built. Greenville township is moving ahead on the proposition of issuing bonds to build roads and every citizen who really favors good roads will vote for the bond issue. There is every reason for favoring the bond issue, but no reason for opposing it.

Get it pasted in your thinker—that there will be held in the court house at noon next Saturday, a meeting for the purpose of organizing a Greenville Township Good Roads Association, to work for the success of the election to be held July 29th on the question of issuing bonds not exceeding $50,000 for good roads in the township.

The government is advertising for sealed bids, to be opened July 11th for the construction of the postoffice building in Greenville. This is good news, and it is hoped work will begin on the building before many months have passed. The building will occupy the site just across the street from the court house.

Commissioner Young has issued an interesting report of the building and loan associations in North Carolina.
The state has 131 associations, their receipts during the past year being nearly seven million dollars. And keep it in mind that Greenville has one of the best associations in the bunch.

Postmaster General Burleson is showing up some ugly figures on the administration of his predecessor.
Instead of the postal business of the country being self sustaining and showing a profit, as claimed by Mr.
Fitchcock, an examination discloses that there was a considerable deficit.

The nominations made in the several wards in the primaries, Friday night, shows that the town is going to have a good board of aldermen.
This is in keeping with the choice for mayor that had been made at a previous primary. The outlook is for a conservative administration.

Greenville should be taking more interest in the fight for tight freight rates in North Carolina. Plenty of instances could be given of excessive charges on freight shipped to this point.

The colonel's suit against the Michigan editor is all over. The editor retracted the accusation of drunkenness and was let off with the minimum penalty which was six cents.
And the colonel told the jury it was "splendid, perfectly splendid". That was just as good as being delighted.

We doubt if the citizens of another town the size of Greenville are put to as much trouble in getting ice as the people here have to put up with.
Housekeepers especially are doing much complaining about the indifference and delay in filling orders.

A Charlotte negro stole four pigs and got four months on the roads.
In other words a month's work for each pig. It would have been cheaper to have bought the pigs. But you cannot learn most negroes the economy of being honest.

The bulletin of the North Carolina Board of Health states that the death of between one thousand and two thousand babies in this state, last year, was due to flies. What woful neglect is charged to our citizens!

June 24th has been set for another conference between the corporation and railroad officials looking to an adjustment of freight rates. In the meantime towns throughout the state that can show discrimination should be sending in the figures.

As saintly as John Wanamaker is represented to have been, he is about to fall into the hands of the Federal grand jury in Philadelphia on the charge of not paying the government tax on goods he has imported.

Senator Lee S. Overman is chairman of the committee appointed to investigate the lobby that is seeking to change the rates in the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill. That means the matter will be probed to the bottom.

Congressman John H. Small last week delivered commencement addresses in Wilson and Tarboro. He is much sought after for speaking for the people knowing there is something good coming when they hear him.

Governor Craig recently had an attack of rheumatism and was flooded with letters offering cure suggestions from fellows who had rheumatic troubles to sell. It is not said that he is giving any of them testimonials.

The Reflector is never happier than when it has something to tell of Greenville's progress, and we wish the folks could keep us busy of telling of some new enterprise every day.

When you believe, a thing, it is easier to get other people to believe it. That's why The Reflector is making so many folks believe Greenville is the best town it's size in the state.

From expressions we have heard from some of the aldermanic nonnudes, when they take charge the dogs in Greenville are going to have fewer privileges than heretofore.

If you cannot kill the flies, you can at least screen them out of your home. That is less expensive than fighting disease they will bring if allowed to infest the home.

Greenville has taken no announcement yet toward a Fourth of July celebration. It strikes us that a big crowd here that day would not do business any harm.

By now the people are realizing that the no fence election to be held on the 10th is a useless thing so far as any beneficial results are concerned.

Roosevelt may establish his character for sobriety by the time the trial is over, even if he cannot prove himself temperate in speech.

One contractor tells us of plans being in preparation for two more handsome dwellings in town.

Cantelopes have appeared on the market, but not home grown.

"First in Quality" in HARDWARE and FARM MACHINERY

That's the point—
"first in quality." Its the quality of our goods and Machines that has won for us thousands of satisfied customers.

You can buy an inferior grade of seed, sow it and reap half a crop.

You can save a dollar or two on the purchase price of some Binders, Mowers, Rakes or Cultivators but you are running just as big a risk as when you buy inferior seed. Why not buy the BEST at first?

Nothing but "First in Quality"

We carry nothing but the "First in Quality" in Farm Machinery and Implements, as well as Hardware, and we know our goods will give you absolute satisfaction. We carry a stock of repairs for the machines we sell and our desire is to give you the best service possible. Let us show you our Mowers, Rakes, Binders, Cultivators, Planters, Weeders, Harrows, Distributors, Wagons, Cutters, etc., and we know you will become one of our satisfied customers.

Protect The Forests

In every Southern State the forests next to the soil itself, are the state's greatest natural resources. And in not a single Southern state are there any adequate laws for forest protection. Every year the south is losing literally millions of dollars because of forest fires, reckless cutting, destruction of young forest growth and deforestation of land that should be allowed to remain in timber. The supreme folly of continuing such a state of affairs must be apparent to any thinking man, but no action is taken to remedy it. Nor will any be taken until the farmers of the south realize that this loss falls upon them with particular weight and until they demand that their legislature have the business sense to provide for state protection and, if need be, state oversight of the forests.

We are wasting one of our richest heritages with a recklessness and a simple-mindedness almost unbelieveable of grown-up men. Isn't it about time for us to begin to think seriously about the matter?—Progressive Farmer.

The sermon at the Training School Sunday, June the 8th, 1913, will be preached by Bishop Collins Denny, of Richmond, Virginia. Bishop Denny is one of the truly great preachers of this country and there is a great treat in store for all who attend the services at the Training school at 11 o'clock Sunday, June 8th, 1913.

We are sure the school authorities will be glad to see a large attendance of the people from the country and the neighboring towns. They will be richly repaid for their attendance.

"Cheerily—cheerily—cheerily"—a clear, rollicking whistle from the elm, drooping over a roadway, along which speeds a steady procession of automobiles. There he goes, a flash-soon returns with a long strip of sander bark trailing behind his wide-

It is safe to say that no animal with a well-recognized circulatory system can freeze up solidly and "come to life again" afterward. The toad must be free from frost somewhere. But how deep does he go? The writer of these lines has himself turned up the torpid bodies of living toads with a prow in the early spring, and the creatures were certainly not six inches deep in the soil and they were not frozen. Had they been there all winter, and if so, how did they escape the frost?

American Birds of Beauty

NO. 1. BLUE JAY

Copyright 1913, by The Associated Newspaper School, Inc.

When Mark Twain wrote his famous story of the jay attempting to fill a hole in a cabin roof with acorns, he portrayed the bird with rare accuracy. Few more humorous sketches of bird life have ever been written, and the jay's curiosity and astonishment at finding the hole apparently not fillable are remarkably true to life. One of the blue jay's strongest traits is curiosity and he may be called away from acorn gathering by simply drawing a breath in sharply against the back of the head.

If this were his worse vice we could admit his jaunty manner and brilliant shades of blue without misgivings; but the wicker crime of nest robbing is laid at his door. Yet in the spring and summer he does much to atone for his faults by destroying great numbers of grubs and harmful insects. And when he comes boldly around the farmhouse in winter, his azure coat giving a touch of alluring color to the sunny background, we forget his shortcomings.

Belonging to the crow family, he joins in its feud against owls, and right royally does he uphold his cry. Follow up the next excited jay convention you hear in the woods and you will probably find the flood of bilge-pate directed at an owl who is excited at the attention he is receiving. The screech owl is their usual victim and more rarely the great horned owl. The tormentors seem to understand their enemies' helplessness in daylight. The larger owl appears impassive; but sometimes the smaller one is gaudy into attempts at reprisals. These attacks are easily checked by the active jays, and their tant-izing does not cease until the night pirate has slipped into hiding among evergreens or a convenient hole in a tree.

The jay can be trained by patience, and makes a very interesting pet, although if given too much freedom he is likely to cause annoyance by stealing any article that attracts his fancy. An ever present and vociferous fea-

Portion of The Business Section of Ayden Is Wiped Out by Fire

Occurred at an Early Hour Monday Morning

NEWSPAPER PLANT BURNED

Also Several Offices Together With The Ross Hotel, Citizens Fought Hard But Facilities Were Not Sufficient

A fire that started about one o'clock Monday morning destroyed a considerable portion of the business section of Ayden. It originated from some cause unknown in a building belonging to Miss Clyde Cox, on the East side of Railroad street, and occupied by Mr. Thomas Jackson as a pressing club and tailoring establishment. The office of Dr. H. Johnson was in the same building.

From this building the fire spread to the Ross Hotel, owned by Mr. J. S. Ross and occupied by Mr. E. L. Brown. It being Sunday night there were only a few guests in the hotel, and while these and Mr. Brown's family got out safely, some had very narrow escapes and saved only the night clothes they had on.

From the hotel the fire spread to the building occupied by the Free Will Baptist Publishing Company and the Ayden Advance, wiping out the entire plant. The company had only recently installed a new press and other equipment, and their loss is the most serious in the fire.

Next to the printing plant was a brick office owned by Mr. L. L. Kittrell and occupied by Dr. M. T. Friselle. While this office was destroyed, it being bricked with metal roof aided in saving the residence of Mr. Kittrell just a few feet distant. The residence caught several times and once was almost given up for lost, but by renewed energy and hard work of the fire fighters it was saved.

Ayden has no fire department, but bucket brigades of citizens formed and did heroic work, notwithstanding the odds against them. All the buildings destroyed, with the exception of the brick office, were frame structures and burned like tinder-boxes. So rapid was the spread of the fire in such a frame range, that they were all in ashes inside an hour.

We could not get an accurate list of the individual losses and insurance. The total loss is not less than $15,000 and all of the parties, with the exception of Mr. Brown, proprietor of the hotel, had some insurance.

Ayden is a town with the pluck not to be held back by a fire, and we expect it will not be long before substantial brick buildings will take the place of the frame structures destroyed.

It Looks Handsome.

Since the stone work has been completed and the scaffolding taken down, a good idea of the outside appearance of the new building of the Greenville Banking and Trust Company.

It shows up handsomely and is a credit both to the bank and the town.

Can't Keep Negro Lawyer Out

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 1.—John Robbin Bennett, 35 years old, a negro lawyer who has been practicing in the courts of Chester county, has made application for admission to the Luzerne county bar and has been so far denied the privilege because he can find no one here who will move for his admittance.

He is a graduate of the Dickinson Law School, a member of the Supreme court bar, and was admitted to the Chester county bar in May, 1911. Bennett was informed that it was necessary for him to advertise his intentions for three weeks and then be admitted on motion.

The negro learned today that a lawyer admitted to the supreme court bar can be admitted to any bar in the state without motion. He called this to the attention of the court and will be admitted soon, despite any protests.

GREENWELL BOY DOES WELL AT BINGHAM SCHOOL

We are glad to note that Mr. Robert Lee, of Greenville, who has been attending the Bingham School, located near Mebane, for the past year, has done well.

His department for the entire year was good and he also received a grade of good on his studies.

The beautiful handwriting of the Zanerian Pen Art College is taught at Bingham and besides winning a certificate in penmanship for a year's study Mr. Lee, we are advised, made a marked improvement along many other lines.

We understand that he will return again to this famous old institution in the fall.

County People Barely Escapes Death When Auto Turns Over

Four people, two men and two ladies, were the victims of an automobile accident Friday afternoon at Cherry's Run, four miles north of this city.

The accident occurred at about half past three. The party consisted of Miss Mayo, Miss Kayton, John Fleming and Mr. Kayton all of whom reside at or near House, Pitt county.

They had motored to Washington and when they set out on the return trip, Fleming started his car at top speed and shot up Main street like a rocket. The machine zig-zagged from side to side as the joy riders tore on their way. Everyone who happened to be on Main street at the time, remarked upon the reckless manner in which it was driven.

Exactly how the accident happened, is not known. Evidently Fleming must have lost control of the wheel, for the car shot into a ditch alongside of the road, turned completely over and pinned three of the occupants underneath it.

A party of negro, men, who were at work near by ran to the scene of the accident and assisted the party in getting out from under the heavy machine. It was found that no one had been seriously injured. All were scratched up and bruised considerably and their clothing torn, but outside of that, they were fortunate in escaping unscathed.

They continued on to Greenville, leaving the car at the roadside, where Mr. Bell of this city had it righted and repaired.

The escape that the party had is considered miraculous. How they averted serious injury or even death is unknown, for the heavy car, as mentioned above turned completely over.—Washington News.

Prospects For Training School Summer Term Is Brighter Than Ever

On the 17th of June the Summer Term begins at the East Carolina Teachers Training School. Every summer since this school was established it has had its doors wide open to those who are in the school room teaching during the regular term. More than a thousand teachers were in the schools of North Carolina during the present school year who have received more or less training at this splendid institution. The prospects for the coming term are brighter than ever before. Every room in the dormitories has been engaged with eight week students, and the 14th day of April. One hundred and fifty-four applications have been received since then and had to be turned down for want of room. The town has generously thrown open its homes and the number of those attending this summer will be limited by the capacity both of the school and the town.

These summer terms are in truth just one of the terms of the school. They are run just as the regular terms with same time for work and recitation. The books taught in the public schools are supplied to the teachers. The Infirmary is kept open just as in the regular term. In fact the same class of work is done and the same rules and regulations apply as during regular term. Credit is given for work done during the summer courses and a student may by continuous attendance for sufficient time complete these courses and get credit for the same.

Certificates of attendance are given to all who attend stating how long they have been present and this attendance fulfills the requirements of the law. These certificates are received anywhere in the state. The course in "Educational Administration and Supervision" bids fair to be much more largely attended this year than in previous years. The school is so well situated that it has brought such a large number of teachers and thus saved the expense of having to get it at a high cost from where else far removed from us. The work of a school is measured largely by those who teach. An unusually strong faculty has been secured for the coming summer term. The following compose the faculty and the officers for this term:

President: Robt. H. Wright.
Director of Summer School: C. W. Wilson, Regular Faculty.
Educational Administration and Supervision: Harold Barnes, Supervisor Elementary Education, Girard College, Philadelphia.
Pedagogy: E. C. Brooks, Chair of Education, Trinity College.
Science: H. E. Austin, Regular Faculty.
History: E. D. Pusey, Goldsboro City Schools.
English: L. R. Meadows, Regular Faculty.
School Management: W. H. Ragsdale, Regular Faculty.
Mathematics: Miss Mabel M. Conforti, Teachers College, N. Y.
Mathematics and English: Miss Birdie McKinnis, Reidsville Schools.
Drawing: Miss Kate W. Lewis, Regular Faculty.
Primary Methods: Miss May Barcott, Regular Faculty.
Science: Miss Alice Wilson, G. F. College, Greensboro.
Music: Miss May R. B. Muffy, Regular Faculty.
Latin: Miss Daisy B. Walit, Regular Faculty.
Critic Teacher: Miss Miriam MacIntyre, Regular Faculty.
Bureau: J. B. Spilman.
Lady Principal: Mrs. Kate R. Beckwith.
Secretary: Miss Emma R. Jones.
Librarian and Custodian of Records: Miss Dora G. Jones.
Superintendent of Infirmary: Miss Mittle R. Beaman.
Matron: Miss Mary Rankin.
Physician: Dr. Chas. O.H. Laughlinhouse.

We can hope for better trained teachers in our schools since the doors of this fine institution are being thrown open to them each summer. No teacher can afford to lay behind. Not to do so means to take the training now offered them.

Congregation of 1,200 Has Narrow Escape; Storm Wrecks Tent

GREENSBORO, June 1.—Just after the first of June, when about 4 years the first storm had been a long time, the tent, which was about 4 years old, tore and when the wind got hot, it ripped clear apart, letting in a deluge of water. The tent and leveled it to the ground. The place was crowded, some 1,200 people being inside, but as the storm so far as was discovered last night was seriously hurt, though the entire congregation received a thorough drenching from the rain, which was pouring in torrents. There was no warning of the accident, except that the lights went out again for a moment and then flared up again. Then the tent collapsed and the ensuing excitement it was reported that several had been killed, but the reports proved to be erroneous. The services will be continued at 2:30 this afternoon and at 7:45 tonight in the tabernacle of the Bible school.

The injured, so far as was known, last night, were Robt. Melvin, badly bruised by falling across a pole. Mr. Leonard, quite an old man, also bruised and shaken up.

An unknown young man, whose name was not given, was reported to be seriously injured. The occupants of the tent had seen the cloud approaching and had lowered the side curtains and strengthened the guy ropes enough to stand any ordinary gale. The Meaning of Flies Cheer up, fly season is here, and the summer heat is on its earnest way. This man that hasn't his screen up by this time eats at the second table to his guest, the manure pile fly. No, you may not like to look at it that way, but that is the truth just the same. If you don't like your guests, your fellow boarders, or your table companion, a mighty good thing it is to be able to put up screens. After the doors and windows are well screened you can easily get rid of the occasional intruder by means of sticky fly paper and fly swatters.

In the country a man's flies are of his own blood. But in cities and towns the number of flies shows up the Board of Health. If a town has few flies they have a live, healthy blood.

wide-awake board of health, but flies are thick you can set it down that the board of health is dead, and a town is usually just about as dead as wide-awake as its board of health.

The whole thing narrows down, therefore, so that you can judge a town by the number of its flies.

Do not throw waste material on a pile in the back yard to be blown into the street by the first wind, and let the board of health at the door of flies and give out foul odors.

Rid your premises of any rubbish, old paper, tin cans, and refuse of any kind that may have accumulated during the winter.

There was a man in our town. And he was very vain. He helped to keep the typhoid down. By awaiting all the flies.

PLAYS AD PLAYERS.

May Irwin will use "A Widow by Proxy" next season. Margaret Anglin's next season will be in Shakespearean roles. Godfrey Mathews is playing with a stock company at Youngstown, O. George M. Cowan will continue next season with "Broadway Jones."

Eddie Roy will appear in vaudeville next season with his seven children. Marguerite Clark is to star in a stock company in St. Louis this summer. Arnold Daly is going to play a special stock engagement in Cleveland, Ohio.

"A Texas Steer" may be given as a tabloid production with music next season. Among the plays which Arthur Hopkins will produce next season is "The Deluge."

Julia Dean, it is reported has obtained a divorce from her husband, Orme Caldara. Louis Mann will appear in vaudeville in a condensed version of "Eloping a Husband."

Elliot Dexter, who played the role in "The Deluge" to produce a new play. Helene Land, the young daughter of the famous athlete, is appearing in London in light opera. Vera Melish, the daughter of Fuller Melish, has joined the Bonstelle stock company with her father.

HEIGHT OF FORK OF TREES

It Never Grows Higher Than the Point Where First Noted, Declares an Authority.

Some people through careless observation believe that the fork of a forest tree will gradually grow higher from the ground. If they would investigate it would be found that the forks and "heads" of fruit trees at exactly the same point where they were when first noted.

The state forester in inspecting locust and catalpa groves throughout the state, says the Indiana Farmer, has found owners who have not removed the fork of a tree of these trees that have formed forks below the fence post length, believing that in years the fork would grow up and a fence post could be cut below the fork. This erroneous belief is the cause of much of the delay and neglect of pruning in early life of street and roadside trees.

It should be remembered that the base of a fork or a branch of a tree will always remain at the same distance above the ground. The side branches of some trees, such as the elm, will grow upward, and the branches of other trees, such as the maples, incline upward when young and as the tree grows older the branches gradually become horizontal. The latter often makes the removal of lower branches necessary, which not only spoils the symmetry of the tree, but usually ruins its shade, which soon kills the tree.

No street or roadside tree should be permitted to form a fork below ten feet and the branches of the same height should be removed so that they will shade the adjacent crop less. If this is done the tree in time will grow a saw log below the branches.

PETRIFIED FALLS IN ALGERIA

Remarkable Mineral Formation Which Puzzles Scientists Called "The Bath of the Damned."

With all the beauty of a cataract of living water, there is in Algeria a remarkable petrified waterfall which recently has been engaging the attention of scientists.

This is the Hammam-Meskuth, which means "The Bath of the Damned," and is located 62 miles from Constantine, on the slope of an ancient town of Ciria. This solidified cascade is the production of calcareous deposits from sulphurous and ferruginous mineral springs, issuing from the depths of the earth at a temperature of 55 degrees Centigrade.

"The Bath of the Damned," even from a near viewpoint, looks for all the world like a great wall of water dashing into a swirling pool at its foot, yet its gleaming, graceful curves and the apparently swirling eddies at its base are as fixed and unmovable as the carved from the face of a granite cliff.

Many centuries have, of course, gone by the making of the deposits, and the springs were well known to the ancient Romans. The name Hammam-Meskuth was given to the stone cataract in an allusion to a legend that the waterfall was petrified by Allah, punishing the impety of unbelievers by turning all the members of a tribe into stone. At night, so the story runs, its stone and unmovable, the petrified falls are freed from their strange fetters, come to life and resume their normal shape.

Simmons Denies Report Circulated by Enemies of Wilson Administration

Senator Goes to the Defense of President Wilson HIS OPINION WAS ASKED

And The President Expressed Strong Views Regarding The Free Listing Of Wool And Sugar

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Senator Simmons tonight denied emphatically the report freely circulated by enemies of the Wilson administration that Mr. Wilson had used his influence as president to whip Democratic senators into line in voting for a tariff bill in accordance with his own views.

"So much has been said in the press," said Senator Simmons, "concerning the president's alleged connection with certain amendments recommended by certain subcommittees of the finance committee that is misleading and erroneous in order that the public may understand the facts, I wish to say that while the president has expressed to the members of the finance committee as he is reported to have expressed to the ways and means committee when the bill was in the house, strong views and convictions with respect to placing on the free list both wool and sugar, he has not, so far as I know, expressed any views as to the other provisions of the bill except when his opinion has been asked, and has not in any way attempted to dictate to the committee.

Gum Saves life of Girl When Attacked by Rattler

ROGERS, Ark., June 10.—Albert Graham, of Monte, N. H., related a remarkable escape of a girl from being bitten by a large rattlesnake. The girl stumbled over a stone and fell headlong. Her face struck only a short distance from the rattler, with his mouth wide open, ready to sink its deadly fangs into her cheeks.

The young woman was chewing gum and her fall caused it to fall out of her mouth, striking the snake squarely in the mouth. The snake quickly closed down on it and while the reptile was in this position the girl sprang to her feet and killed it. The snake had sixteen rattles and a button. A visitor at Monte N. H. gave the girl $25 for the rattles and a doctor paid $4.50 for the carcass.

WOMAN IS KILLED IN A STRIKE RIOT

IPSWICH, Mass., June 10.—One woman was shot and killed, seven others were wounded by bullets and many others including policemen, were hurt by flying missiles in a strike riot outside the Ipswich Hooley Mills tonight. Fifteen persons, including a police officer, were wounded. Workers of the town were arrested.

Welsh Descended From Noah.

The smaller a nation the longer the pedigree of the native. Thus every Scoteman of decent lineage is descended from the British Isles. The Welshman from the Red Kings and every Welshman from Noah. The last claim has been made for the family of the Lord Trefodgar, a Welshman, writing in the Welsh press in Montgomeryshire, that "fanciful genealogists derived the origin of the Morgans from the third son of Noah, but that there was no Welshman of any name in any of the nine families of Noah's line."

Nearly Five Thousand Hear Showers of Secretary Bryan at Drivers, Va.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—President Wilson today appointed another North Carolinian to a high and responsible position in the Federal government when he sent to the senate the nomination of Charles M. Galloway to be civil service commissioner.

Though charged to South Carolina, Galloway was born and lived the earlier part of his life in Bladen county. When at the age of 13 Galloway studied telegraphy. His first job was at Elizabethtown, where he was operator and lineman. He went from there to Wilmington, where he worked for the A. C. L. Railway in the general office and from there to Columbia, S. C., for the Associated Press. Later he accepted a place on the Columbia State as reporter, and when Ellison Smith was elected as United States Senator Galloway was appointed his private secretary, a place which he now holds.

THE NATIONAL BANK
PAYS SECOND DIVIDEND

In April the National Bank of Greenville paid its stockholders a semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent., making 10 per cent for the fiscal year. This was just before the consolidation of that bank with the Bank of Greenville. After the consolidation of the two banks there was a surplus of $7,500, with $1,000 charged to furniture and fixtures. In the last few days a further dividend of 1-2 per cent has been paid out to the surplus to the National Bank stockholders. This still leaves a good surplus and puts the old and new stockholders, the latter being those coming in from the former Bank of Greenville, on the same footing as to value of stock. It is also fitting to say that in the last five and a half years, during which time Mr. F. J. Forbes has been cashier of the National Bank, that the earnings of the bank have reached an amount almost equal to the capital stock.

EXPECTS TO MEET FATE OF LATE KING OF SPAIN

MADRID, June 10.—It became known here today that King Alfonso fully expects to be slain by an assassin.

When the news of the recent murder of the King of Greece was conveyed to King Alfonso the latter quietly remarked that he was not in the least surprised and that in all probability he would be the next monarch to meet his death in similar fashion.

COURT UPHELD VALIDITY OF THE NEWSPAPER LAW

Supreme Court Decision Announced By Chief Justice
ALL PAPERS MUST COMPLY

The Law Requires All Publications to File Sworn Statement Semi-Annually With Local Postmaster.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The validity of the newspaper publicity law, enacted in 1912 as a provision of the postal appropriation act, was upheld today by unanimous decision of the supreme court of the United States. Chief Justice White announced the court's decision.

This law requires every newspaper, magazine or other publication to file semi-annually with the postmaster general and the local postmaster, a sworn statement of the names of the editors, managers, owners, stockholders and bondholders, and in the case of daily newspapers of the average number of copies published. Publication of these statements is required and for failure to comply with any of the provisions the publication shall be denied the "privileges of the mail."
