Just then a friend showed me a letter which had been written by a young girl to her sweetheart in a Georgia regiment, telling him that she had discovered that she loved him, after all, and that if he would get a furlough and come home she would marry him; that she had loved him ever since they had gone to school together in the little schoolhouse in the woods. Then, as if she feared such a temptation might be too strong for him, she added a postscript in these words: "Don't come without a furlough; for if you don't come honorable I won't marry you." This letter had been taken from the pocket of a private dead on the battlefield of one of the battles around Richmond, and Kentucky decided to enter the law department of the University at Virginia in 1873. He finished the work there in about half the time usually required, and began practicing in Richmond, where he remained until 1882.

Page had always to write "Marse Chan," times gone by. He tried to follow the law faithfully; but more and more strongly came the call to picture artistically "a civilization that has perhaps his most characteristic work. Many stories, essays, and poems followed. He yearned for the old plantation life, the stately mansions of his forefathers, the grandeur to which those men and the women of other days attained, and the evergreen fence-rows and fields of his own country home.

Finally he decided to write "Marse Chan" was published in 1884, and won the author immediate recognition.

Forward to the Land League

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 6.—The first conference of the newly organized forward to the Land League assembled in this city today and will continue in session until the end of the week. The league aims to bring superior results to the farmer, to eliminate frauds in the settlement of lands and to inspire social life in rural districts. The movement is designed also to make farm life so attractive as to promote a general exodus from the congested sections of the large cities, thereby bringing relief to the tenement dwellers and eventual extermination of the slums.

To Construct Torpedo Boats

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The New York Shipbuilding Company of Camden, N. J., was the lowest bidder for the construction of the torpedo destroyers for which proposals were opened, at $325,000 each for two boats. None of six bidders offered to construct more than two boats each, so that as there are six to be built, there will be a chance for some of the high bidders.

The South Iron Works offered to construct two boats with certain modifications of the department's plans, at $225,000 each. The Fore River Shipbuilding Company of Quincy, Mass., bid $261,000 for one boat. Cramp and Sons of Philadelphia, bid $351,000 each for two; Newport News Shipbuilding Company bid $262,000 each for two and the Union Iron Works $266,000 for one.

Foreign Golf Experts Coming

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, the noted golf experts, sailed today on the Celtic to compete in the American open championship tournament to be held next month at Brookline, Mass. Ray and Vardon are accompanied on the trip by Wilfrid Reid, the professional at the Banstead Downs club, and Louis Teller, a well known French professional.

Several changes have been made at the post office recently, as was noted in The Reflector several days ago, and these have tended toward making the place much more comfortable than ever before. The force of employees know well their work and perform their duties in a manner most satisfactory to the public.

LOCAL TOBACCO MARKET TO OPEN NEXT TUESDAY AUGUST THE NINETEENTH

Every Thing is in Readiness for What is Believed Will be Greatest Season in History of Greenville

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS HAVE BEEN SPENT ON IMPROVEMENTS

Two New Warehouses Have Been Built This Year, and One Old One Has Changed Hands. Floor Space Best and Largest Ever Had in Pitt County. Greenville's Envious Position as Tobacco Market for Eastern North Carolina. Something of the Tobacco Market and of How This Year's Crop Compares With Former Years.

On next Tuesday, August 19, the tobacco market for the season of 1913, will open in Greenville. It is expected that on that day the town will be crowded with a large number of farmers from every section of Pitt county and adjoining counties who will come here for the purpose of getting some idea of how things will go, and of forming some sort of an opinion as to what the market will afford this year.

Prospects for the best season on the tobacco market that Greenville has ever had, were never brighter than they are right at the present time. For fully three months, and longer, farmers, buyers, warehousemen, business men, and in fact the entire town, have been preparing for and awaiting the arrival of next Tuesday. Business in this town, as everywhere else, has been dull for the most of the summer months, and the opening of the tobacco market is a signal for all forms of activity to pick up and the busy season to begin.

The life of this town is said to depend, in a measure, upon the business of the tobacco season, and it is for this reason that so much attention is always given to the preparations for the opening of the market, and for the proper conduct of the business during the whole season.

This Year's Crop

As for the prospects for a big crop this year, a few statistics that have been gathered and presented might be of interest. It will be noticed that during the past five years the tobacco crop has been on the decline, and that the estimated crop for 1913 is by far the smallest of the list. Farmers and buyers, as well as the warehousemen, may be left to form their own opinion as to just what effect this will have on the market price of the staple. The crops for the past five years, including the least estimated crop of 1913, were as follows:

1909	1,058,765,000
1910	1,102,415,000
1911	995,109,000
1912	963,855,000
1913 (estimated)	896,000,000

According to these figures the crop this year is 7 per cent short of that for last year. It is 12 1/2 per cent shorter than the average crop of the past four years, and if the five years' production is added together and the average is taken, it will be found that the crop for 1913 is 18 per cent short. The size of the crop does not, however, as every one knows, necessarily affect the quality of the weed, and it is believed that this is equal to the average this season.

The Warehouses

Greenville is this year better than ever before prepared to handle the crop that will be brought here, at every facility for the convenience and welfare of the farmers has been provided. No stone has been left unturned by the enterprising business men who have faith in the local market, and who have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in the interest of bringing to this town the greatest quantity of tobacco that has ever been sold here in a single season. They have unreservedly given their time and their money to advertising the advantages of the market in this town, and have thought no sacrifice too dear to make that the farmers might have the opportunity of getting what their crop is worth.

Thousands upon thousands of dollars have been spent on improvements of the warehouses, but also in various factories that do business here. Principal among these might be mentioned the new and commodious additions that have been made to the Imperial Tobacco Company's factory. Their floor space and working capacity has been increased by one-fourth, all of this making it all the more convenient for them to handle the tobacco that they will buy on the local market during the coming season. Another great improvement has been made at the plant of the American Tobacco Company, and they are said to be in better position to handle tobacco this year than has been the case in former years.

As a matter of fact, everything is looking good for a great season. All of the farmers are optimistic as to their crops; the buyers are ready to hand over the best prices that can be offered, and the warehousemen have everything in the pink of condition for the handling of the weed on their floors. Nothing seems to be standing in the way of a great and a successful season. The new Munford Bros. warehouse across the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad from the Imperial Tobacco Company's plant is now receiving the finishing touches, as is the case also with that of Johnston and Foxhall's new house. All of the other warehouses are old and well known to the farmers of Pitt and neighboring counties. One other change of this season is the Star Warehouse, which this year is under an entirely new management, it being controlled now by Messrs. O. L. Joyner and B. B. Sugg. Both have been on the Greenville market for a long while, and know the business well.

The Greenville market is amply able to care for all of the tobacco that will be brought here, and this is not underrating the amount that will be brought to this town to be sold. It is simply a statement that can be made after one considers the increased facilities for handling the crop this year over and above those of former years.

DR. CARTER WANTED IN SIXTH DISTRICT

Congressman Godwin Asks Surgeon-General to Send Him to Fayetteville and Other Towns

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 12.—Representative Godwin today asked Surgeon-General Rupert Blue to have Dr. Carter extend his mosquito crusade in eastern North Carolina to Fayetteville, Lumberton, and Whiteville. General Blue promised to do so if the itinerary could be arranged to the time allotted for this work.

James D. McNeil, Fayetteville public health officer, has written Mr. Godwin asking for the investigation in Cumberland.

Congressman Godwin received today also a letter from Mayor John Underwood, of Fayetteville, saying that the writer is still in the race for a diplomatic position at Ottawa, Canada.

Dr. Carter at Elizabeth City

ELIZABETH CITY, Aug. 12.—Senator Surgeon H. R. Carter, of the national bureau of health and Mr. Hooker, private secretary to Dr. Rankin of Raleigh, are in the city to study the malarial conditions of this section. Dr. Rodman, of Washington, is also here accompanying Dr. Carter in his investigations.

These gentlemen are making trips all through the city for the purpose of studying the mosquito in its native elements, the swamps and marshes, that they may learn of the true sanitary conditions of the town as a breeding place for the malaria-producing mosquito.

GREENVILLE MEN MUCH ENCOURAGED

ARE BACK FROM CONVENTION

IS COMMISSIONER OF PITT COUNTY

To Fill Out Unexpected Term of the Late M. T. Spier

IS FROM CAROLINA TOWNSHIP

Comes From Prominent Family of Pitt County, and Is a Capable and Responsible Young Business Man

Six Men, Representing Many of the Most Important Kinds of Industries, Went to Raleigh Yesterday

Six men, representing many of the most important kinds of businesses carried on in this town, journeyed to Raleigh yesterday morning to be present at the meeting of the North Carolina Joint Freight Rate Association. The meeting was held in the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce rooms, and was attended by more than a hundred of the representative business men of the state. Following the meeting of the association, there was held at twelve o'clock in the senate chamber in the capitol building, a conference between the representatives of the railroads, on one side, and the men from the freight rate association, on the other. The freight rate commission, and the legislative committee on the other.

Those men who went up from Greenville were very much impressed with the seriousness of the business men in attendance upon the meeting, and are of the opinion that the manufacturers and shippers of the state will never let up in their fight until they have received from the railroads everything that the state has demanded, and which, they say, of right ought to have.

The propositions that were made to the corporation committee, and the legislative committee at Old Point Comfort a few weeks ago by the railroads was, of course, rejected. Not a single man could be found in the entire conference, outside of course the representatives of the railroads, who wanted the state to accept the terms that had been proposed by the railroads. The freight rate association in the session held at ten o'clock yesterday morning voted unanimously to turn down the proposals of the railroads.

Governor Craig gave permission to the freight rate association to appoint ten members from its body to become a part of the committee representing the state in the conference with the railroads, and this is to be done immediately. In the selection of these men, however, it will be borne in mind that every business interest of the state, so far as is possible, will be represented in the men to be named, and the geographical lines will not be entirely lost sight of. The six men from Greenville have returned to their home very much encouraged over the outlook for an early and a satisfactory settlement of the differences between the railroads and the people of the state.

DREDGING WORK ON TAR RIVER

Norfolk Concern Fulfilling Contract With Government

WORKING 2 MILES DOWN RIVER

When completed the channel will be Six Feet Deep, and will Admit Larger Boats To This Point

Work on the dredging of Tar river is now going on about two miles below town. The work of construction is being done by the W. H. Frantz Company, of Norfolk, who is being employed by the government. The funds for this work were received through an appropriation that was secured some time ago through the efforts of North Carolina congressmen, but the work has heretofore never been pushed to a very great extent.

The dredge is working on a six foot channel to be about six feet wide and that at the bottom. When the channel is completed it will then be possible for boats to come here which are much larger than is now the case, and the town will be very much benefited by the project.

It was at first planned to begin by dredging at the Atlantic Coast Line railroad bridge just to the north of the town, but the dredging boat could not reach that point at the time the work was begun, and consequently it was started at the place where or near where the crew is working. A large force of hands are at work on the boat, and up to the present time a distance of about a quarter of a mile has been cleaned out and deepened.

In connection with the deepening of the river channel, mention is made by some of the citizens to the effect that it would be a good idea to have a boat line established between this town and other points on down near the seacoast. When the channel is deepened to its limit all the way between Greenville and Washington, a boat of a pretty good size will be enabled to come in this far on the river and something of really practical value can be accomplished.

Many of the citizens of the town are beginning to interest themselves in the new project, and it is sufficient to say that the citizens' enthusiasm can be aroused in the matter. Greenville people will soon be in a position to benefit from a low water rate that could be had on freight shipped into this point.

It is pointed out by those who are interested in the matter that already one or two concerns in Washington operate boats to Norfolk and get the benefit of the low rates that are enjoyed by some of the seacoast towns.

Mail Carrier Wanted

Bids for the position of messenger at the post office are now open. The duties of this messenger are to see that the mail is carried to and from the trains and that it is there on time and in the proper shape. A new man must be secured for this purpose because of the recent death of Tom Williams, the negro man who has been doing this work. The bidder has to furnish the conveyance and must guarantee satisfaction. Notices of the position are posted in the post office and at the court house.

Applications for Admission Refused at Training School Daily

So many girls from various portions of the eastern part of the state are applying for reservations in the Training School for next year that President Wright is daily refusing requests for admission. The average is between five and ten each day, and already scores of young women from this section of North Carolina have been denied admission because of a lack of accommodations at the school.

The administration does not encourage students to attend who have to come here and room out in town, this being the case in the regular fall and spring terms, though they do not object to such arrangements during the summer school. During the past two months during the time of the summer session, large numbers of students had to board and room in the town because of a lack of accommodations at the school, but this is not looked upon with favor by the faculty of the Training School, and no effort is being made to persuade young women to come here and study under such conditions as these.

It is expected that the new additions to the dormitories in the institution will be ready for occupancy by the first of the year, and at that time accommodations may be had for at least fifty additional students. Until then, however, nothing can be done for the great overflow of young women who desire admission.

MADE PERSONAL USE OF CAMPAIGN FUNDS

ALBANY, Aug. 11.—The brief statement given on Sunday night by Governor Sulzer, after a protracted conference, in which he denied having speculated in Wall Street, but admitted having made temporary personal use of some of the campaign contributions, has stimulated curiosity as to what attitude the governor will take toward the threatened impeachment proceedings which are expected as a result of the Frawley legislative committee's preliminary report to the legislature tonight. In view of the governor's firm contention that the present legislature has ceased to exist, the opinion is expressed by some of his supporters that an effort will be made to block the program of his opponents through legislative process, notwithstanding the contrary opinion given by Attorney General Carmody.

Knights Templars on Parade

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 12.—This was the big day of the thirty-second triennial convocation of the Knight Templars, the day of the great parade, when upwards of 20,000 sir knights, marching through the streets of Denver in one of the greatest demonstrations of its kind in the history of the order. Thousands of spectators were gathered along the line of march to witness the brilliant pageant. Thirty thousand persons, including the governor of Colorado, the mayor of Denver, the officers of the grand encampment and many invited guests, reviewed the procession from the mammoth grand stands in the court of honor. The parade was almost six miles in length, interspersing the various commanderies were fifty of the most famous bands of the country.

The trouble came about near Braxton's home some distance in the country. The man had been drinking during the day, and at the time of the blow from Clark is supposed to have been intoxicated. He and Clark were involved in a little controversy, and it ended in Braxton's death. Witnesses testified that the blow that was struck Braxton did not stun him, and that he went on about his work apparently unharmed. He never thought that the little affair would finally result in his death, and that at such an early time as Sunday morning.

Will Clark, who did the injury, is a young negro. It is said that he is not more than eighteen years old at the most, and that he has a good record behind him. No one seems to think that the young negro meant to kill Braxton, and the general opinion is that he will be tried for manslaughter, or at the most, for not more than murder in the second degree. He is now in jail, and his case will be tried at the next term of criminal court, which will begin here on Monday, August 25, two weeks from today.

ELIAS BRAXTON IS DEAD FROM INJURY

Struck By Will Clark Friday and Died Sunday Morning

CLARK IS NOW IN COUNTY JAIL

Coroner's Inquest Holds Clark Responsible for Braxton's Death. Trial Comes up at Criminal Court Week After Next. After Braxton Was Struck He Showed No Signs of Injury. Was Drunk Friday.

As a result of a terrible blow that was dealt him across his stomach, Elias Braxton is dead, and Will Clark is now in jail charged with the crime awaiting trial at the coming term of the Pitt County Superior Court. At the time Clark dealt the blow that finally resulted in Braxton's death, it seemed that the dead man was hardly hurt, but he died from the injury early Sunday morning.

The coroner's inquest over the body of Braxton was held yesterday morning by Coroner J. C. Green and a jury of six men, who came to the conclusion and brought in a verdict to the effect that "Braxton came to his death as a result of an injury received by being struck" by Will Clark. The blow was dealt by a large truck round that Clark found nearby, and it hit Braxton across his stomach. At the time, he told a witness that the blow did not hurt him, and that he was all right. He continued his work near the barn where he had been engaged most of the day, and no one thought that there would be any serious results of the little unpleasant affair. Toward midnight, however, as Braxton was walking toward his home, presumably he suddenly reeled and fell in the road where he had been walking. He was picked up by his friends and was taken to his home, where he continually grew weak until the end came yesterday morning at 6:40 o'clock.

The trouble came about near Braxton's home some distance in the country. The man had been drinking during the day, and at the time of the blow from Clark is supposed to have been intoxicated. He and Clark were involved in a little controversy, and it ended in Braxton's death. Witnesses testified that the blow that was struck Braxton did not stun him, and that he went on about his work apparently unharmed. He never thought that the little affair would finally result in his death, and that at such an early time as Sunday morning.

SURGEON CARTER BEGINS HIS TOUR

Government Expert on Visit to Towns of East-North Carolina

WILL PAY VISIT TO GREENVILLE

Will Spend Several Days in Each Town. Concluding His Visit With Illustrated Lecture on Health Conditions in the Town. Noted Surgeon Will Study Malaria Conditions in the Low Grounds of This Section of the State. Comes Here at the Instance of Congressman John H. Small.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8, 1913. State Board of Health is cooperating actively in this important work of sanitation by the United States Bureau of Public Health. In addition the mayor and the superintendent of each town to be visited have requested this visit from Surgeon Carter. This important public health service was only made possible by the selection of Surgeon General Rogers Blue of the Federal Public Health Service. Dr. Blue is now appointed to this responsible position within the past two years, and he carries with him a record of brilliant work in this service, during which time he has had immediate charge of many cases of serious epidemics throughout the country. Through his wise policy the potential factor in the improvement of the public health, particularly in the line of preventable diseases. It may be mentioned incidentally that Surgeon General Blue is a native son of North Carolina.

The surgeon general and Dr. Rankin unite in asking the intelligent and active cooperation of the mayor and the board of aldermen, the health officials, the physicians and the citizens generally of the respective communities to be visited by Dr. Carter. Thus only can their appreciation be made effective.

I would like to emphasize the good fortune of these eastern towns in securing the detail of Surgeon Carter for this important work. No sanitation in the country is better equipped by experience and study. Surgeon Carter was the Chief Division Commander of Col. Gorges in the sanitation of the Canal Zone. He had immediate charge of the work of stamping out malarial and yellow fever in that fever stricken section. The story of the conversion of the Canal Zone from a place of diseases and death to one of healthfulness is familiar to all intelligent readers. I beg to add my own humble opinion to the importance of this service to be rendered Eastern North Carolina.

Heavy Rain Yesterday Afternoon

One of the heaviest rains of the season visited this part of the county yesterday afternoon. The rain was accompanied by a very severe electric storm, and the lightning displays were numerous and brilliant. There were several very hard claps of thunder, though it is not known whether the preceding lightning did any damage or not. Water ran freely through the streets, and gave the appearance of a small flood as it flowed past the doors of the business houses.

Reports from the Ayden section of the county are to the effect that the rain was very heavy in that section, though no serious damage has as yet been reported.

Farmers are very much afraid that if as much rain falls within the next week or two as has been the case during the preceding length of time, that the crops in this section will be damaged. It is not thought that the rain to date will have very much effect upon the crops, but further rainfall is declared to be dangerous.

Reports from Ayden in regard to the storm of yesterday afternoon are to the effect that it was the hardest rain that has fallen there within the memory of the oldest inhabitants, and some of the older people say that it was the hardest and the most that they had ever seen anywhere. In other towns the water rose so high that it flooded the dwellings and even rose to the beds. In other sections, which were always looked upon as being absolutely safe from any such devastations, the water flowed freely and did damage. It went inside the tobacco warehouses and flooded the floors there.

Foreign Golf Stars to Compete

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The annual open championship tournament of the Metropolitan Golf Association, which will be the biggest event of the year for golfers of the New York district, will begin on the Salisbury links at Garden City, L. I., tomorrow. The tournament this year promises to attract extraordinary attention. In addition to the cream of the American amateurs and professional the participants will include a number of foreign experts recently arrived on this side. Harry Vardon, Edward Ray and Wilford Reed, considered three of the best players in England, together with Louis Teller, a famous French professional, will try their skill against the best of the American players.

The local representative will return from Wilmington during the latter part of the week. Mr. Overton has gone to the convention with the determination of inspecting the wagons and trucks of the other companies, and of making in his mind some sort of a comparison between these and the equipment that he had here. Mr. Overton is very much enthused over the idea of raising sentiment here to that point where a better system of alarms can be installed, and he is very anxious to see something done along this line. In his report to the board of aldermen, he is very much recommended that a modern system be installed in the town, but no action was taken on the matter. While in Wilmington he will confer to the systems in use in their towns and the sort and quality of equipment that they have.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 11.—An echo of the Lorimer bribery case was heard today, when Daniel Donahoe, Isaac Stiefel and Alton Heppner were arraigned before Judge Bretano for a trial on a charge of conspiracy to defame the character of Clarence S. Funk, who at the time was general manager of the International Harvester Company.

Stiefel was a principal witness in the investigation that resulted in the expulsion of William Lorimer from the United States senate on charges that his election had been accomplished by fraud. When the investigation was at its height the husband of the Heppner woman brought suit against Mr. Funk for alleged defamation of his wife's affections. Mr. Funk claimed that he had never seen the woman and that the charge was trumped up to influence public sentiment in the Lorimer case. When the alienation suit came to trial it fell. Subsequently Donahoe, who is an attorney, Stiefel, the head of a private detective agency, and the Heppner woman were indicted on charge of conspiracy to defame Mr. Funk's character.

GARRIS BOYS STRUCK AND KILLED BY TRAIN

Foul Play Has Been Mentioned, but It Is Generally Believed That They Slept On The Track

WILMINGTON, Aug. 11.—Matthew Garriss, white, aged 29, was killed on the right side of the tracks at 21st Street, near the depot, on Monday afternoon when he was struck by a train between Wiltard and Watha Sunday morning.

The young men had been at Wiltard Saturday night and started to their homes at Watha. Foul play has been mentioned, but the general opinion is they went to sleep on the tracks.

SUNDAY MAIL

Much of the great dissatisfaction and kicking that was so prevalent about this time last year in regard to the Sunday postal laws that were passed during the dying hours of the summer session of congress, has now almost ceased to be. At the time the new law became effective the business men were crying that they could never run their business affairs unless they could get their mail on Sunday. The postal clerks were rejoicing that their Sunday hours would be shortened, and that they would have a few more extra hours of rest. But at this time, one year after the law went into effect, we find that in many cities and towns of the country the mails are distributed and dispatched the same as they always were, and that the patrons of the offices get their mail on Sunday almost the same as before the law went into effect. But this is in general. There is a local application of the law.

In the local office mail is distributed regularly on Sunday, though there is no delivery at the window. We know of no business in this town that would go to the wall if it could not receive its mail on Sundays, yet there are some of them that might be very much inconvenienced under such circumstances. It so happens that the schedules of the trains for Greenville are such that the most important mail of the day gets here just at the time when everybody should be at Sunday School or on their way there. Many people here will stay home from the Sunday services just to read their newspapers and to look over their business letters. They forget that they cannot help but work when they read their business mail on the Sabbath day, for usually when a man gets a letter and reads it, he has in his mind the very moment he finishes it, some sort of an idea as to the answer that he will make to it.

If the mail from the morning train from the west did not reach town until later on in the day, or if it were not distributed until after the morning preaching hour, we believe that the church attendance would be very much increased and that the general public would be very much the gainer. Then, too, the convenience of the employees of the post office and their desire to be present at the religious exercises of the day ought to be considered.

The public might remember that the postoffice force does not have to distribute this mail on Sunday, that it is done only as a convenience to the patrons of the office. In fact, it is really unlawful for this to be done. There is some sentiment in favor of postponing the distribution of the morning mail until after twelve o'clock, and the postmaster is very desirous that something be done about the matter. He wants to please his patrons, but at the same time wants to do what is in the interest of his employees, and what will increase the attendance at the churches most. And, it is believed that if the morning mail is held up until the noon hour, the desired results will be accomplished.

Governor O'Neal may be uncertain as to how to proceed in the matter of the election of a successor to the late Senator Johnston, but he should lose no time in finding out, for it might cost the country the best tariff bill it has ever had if he delays.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT.

College men are used to the expression "college spirit" heard so often on the campus of any higher institution of learning. Every time there comes up any sort of a proposition, that is for the good or the betterment of the college, those who pretend to be at the head of the movement always try to appeal to the "college spirit" of the student body for support in that movement. Sometimes the pride of the students will lead them on to put their shoulders to the wheel and help move the load, but then again there come times when the students will not get interested, and always there are times when some one is a kicker or knocker. It is useless to start a movement among the students of a college unless that movement appeals to the students and has their support.

This same condition of affairs will apply with equal similitude to the welfare and good of a community. Some communities, like some colleges, have an abundance of community spirit while others, like other colleges, have very little, and seldom ever succeed in carrying out any great movement for the good of the town. There have been numerous instances where worthy movements failed in educational institutions because of a lack worthy of a town that he cannot boast and if he cannot say anything good for his nativity then he should hike it away from that place.

There are some people in Greenville who think that the proper community spirit here is entirely absent, and that there is a very noticeable lack of cooperation and enthusiasm among the people of the town. This is a growing town, and every one who comes here is impressed with this fact, but it will never reach its capacity until it gets a live community of what is called "college spirit," and it is just because of a lack of this very same thing that many communities in this state are so backward today.

People ought to take a pride in their home town. If they cannot, then they should either go to work to make it so that they can feel a pride in it, or else get out of it and go where they can feel a pride in the town where they live. No citizen is spirit among our citizens. A gentleman remarked only a few days ago that there are very few men in this town to whom the other citizens can look for leadership in any great matters of interest to the town. But it seems to us the occasion will always find a leader. And, if the people of the town will get together and pull for Greenville, and actually start something to go about here, no one need fear that there will be a leader, and a leader who will know his business. Many good movements could be started here right now that would work out for the good of the town if only the proper spirit were manifested in the matter. We need this community spirit for ourselves, and the community is suffering because we haven't it. Let's all get together and do our share for the thing.

MR. WILSON'S POLICY.

President Wilson's policy of the opinion that there is a class of men in this country who seem to be organized for the purpose of bringing on a war between the United States and Mexico. That may or may not be true. Yet, we all know that there is always a certain class of people in the country who would rejoice at the news of a declaration of war, but who would be the last in the world to volunteer their services were they needed. That is the kind of mob whose advice, when taken, or whose plans when listened to, usually work evil on the government, and did they have their way, we would have to throw up the reins in less than five years. Mr. Wilson will do well not to listen to this popular clamor for war, and in the long run it will work no good. He is doing well as he is, and the saner and more sensible people will sanction the course that he is taking.

President Tate may rest assured that the people of the state are standing behind him in the freight rate matter, and that the rank and file of the business men are ready to fight to the bitter end.

GREENVILLE'S TOBACCO MARKET.

On next Tuesday the tobacco market will open in Greenville, and a season will be started on its way which bids fair to be one of the very best that this town has ever seen. There is no reason why it should not. While the crop this year is estimated to be the smallest in five years, the farmers are delighted with the prospects for good prices.

Never before has this town been better equipped for handling the weed. We have this year two more warehouses than ever before, and all of the warehouses in the town have undergone extensive repairs, and hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent in the interest of making it more convenient for the farmer to market his staple. The warehousemen have spared no pains to get the best equipment for handling the sales and competent men have been secured to look after the interests of the farmer in all of the houses in town.

Hundreds of dollars have been spent by the tobacco buyers in advertising their interests, and in getting before the farmers just what they intend to do. If this year does not prove to be a record breaker, it will not be the fault of the enterprising business men of Greenville who have worked so hard to "make things move." They have done their best to boost the Greenville market, and the farmers appreciate this, and will bring their tobacco to this market.

We do not believe that eastern North Carolina affords a better tobacco market that can be found in this town. It is easily accessible from every section of this part of the state and especially over the county. Every facility for the handling of the crop has been secured, and the farmers are beginning to realize that this is the best place they can find to market their tobacco. Only one other or two east of Raleigh can hold out any dangerous competition for the Greenville market, and it is so far off as not to interfere very seriously. Greenville is situated in the center of one of the richest tobacco growing sections of eastern North Carolina, and the farmers will be doing them selves a favor and a good turn when they come here to place their weed on the market.

The season will receive a big send off when the market opens next Tuesday. Farmers from every section of Pitt county will come here on that day for the opening. Many of them are not yet ready to bring their tobacco to market, but they will come whether they have anything to sell or not. When they get here to sell or receive such a big impression that they will bring all of their product here for the remainder of the season. Everything looks good both for the farmer who brings his tobacco here, and the warehouseman who operates a floor for the handling of the tobacco. We predict that when the last day of the coming season has rolled around and the season has passed into history, that it will be written up on the scrolls of history that Greenville never saw a better season than this one.

FERDINAND'S FAREWELL.

Since the day that Robert E. Lee made his farewell address to the soldiers of the conquered southern army on the field of Appomattox, there has scarcely been a time when a more pathetic speech was made to a body of defeated soldiers than that delivered Monday to the followers of King Ferdinand, the vanquished king and leader of the Bulgarian army through the long and wearisome Balkan war, or whose plans when listened to, usually work evil on the government, and did they have their way, we would have to throw up the reins in less than five years. Mr. Wilson will do well not to listen to this popular clamor for war, and in the long run it will work no good. He is doing well as he is, and the saner and more sensible people will sanction the course that he is taking.

President Tate may rest assured that the people of the state are standing behind him in the freight rate matter, and that the rank and file of the business men are ready to fight to the bitter end.

but not discouraged ruler, "Exhausted and tired, but not conquered, we had to fulfil our glorious standards until better days. Tell your children and your grandchildren about the gallantry of the Bulgarian soldiers and prepare them to complete one day the glorious work you began."

These are the words of a monarch whose name shall live among his people as long as, and even longer than, the little Bulgarian king, shall live on this earth. They come from the heart of a ruler whose veins flow the red blood of patriotism, and whose bravery and love for his country shall be told on down the long lanes of time and history. These acts of his shall be forever held sacred as long as there is left in Southern Europe a small remnant of the once proud Bulgarian race. Around the firesides on many a cold winter's night the stories of the brave deeds of these men who fought and many of whom died for their country's sake, will be told by children to grandchildren, and by grandchildren to great grandchildren, and the name of King Ferdinand and the soldiers followed him will be handed down as traditions and memories of "the brave days of old."

YARDAMAN AND THE NEGRO.

Senator Yardaman's recent attack taken in regard to the treatment of the negro in the south has attracted almost nationwide attention, and many messages of approval and disapproval of his position have been received by the Senator from Mississippi.

Mr. Yardaman insists that the white man and the black man should be segregated, and that they should live in the same neighborhoods. Furthermore, he insists that it is against all the properties of life that whites and blacks should work side by side in government departments. Special denunciations made of those departments of the government service where negro men are foremen over shops where white girls are employed. Upon the existing conditions in Washington City does the Mississippi man lay the blame for the many outrages that have recently been committed against white women in the national capitol and we are inclined to agree with Mr. Yardaman in all of these observations.

In the eyes of the southern negro the lives and the priceless virtue of the white girl are entirely too cheap. The black man, as a race, has as yet not been educated up to the plane of living where he can fully appreciate the standards of living that have been raised by the Anglo-Saxon people, and until he reaches this stage of development he must be compelled to take whatever is forced upon him by his white brother. We cannot, however, bring ourselves around to believe that lynching is the proper method of punishment for a brute who has no better sense than to commit such outrages as are sometimes perpetrated. Yet we are not in position to say that we would not be ready to inflict the hardest punishment upon a negro of this class. A procedure of this kind would be out of place if it were licensed by laws upon our statute books, though an infamated mob is hardly to be blamed for any sort of treatment meted out to a negro who has robbed an innocent white woman of her virtue. A man, white or black, could scarcely be blamed for something which he is ignorant, but it seems that vengeance should in this case have its fill.

A NEGRO BOSS

A report sent out from Washington is to the effect that Congressman Small has written the post office department saying that in this district there is an instance where a negro man is the boss over a white man in the railway mail service. Mr. Small asks that if this condition must exist the negro be removed to a place where there is no objection to his holding such a position as this one. And we say so much. We know of instances where some men have declared that a negro would boss them only once, and they are so brave as to make this declaration with all possible emphasis. It may be that they are right in what they say, but we agree with him, may his tribe increase, and may the gallant youth of the south be filled with the same fighting blood that flows in his veins. If he be wrong in what he advocates, and in most instances we believe him to be right, then let his ideas and his notions die with the age that he represents, and let them become only memories and traditions.

The English suffragettes are again on the warpath.

PULL FOR THE HOSPITAL

In another column of today's paper we are publishing a communication from a subscriber to this paper who advocates the building of a hospital for Greenville and Pitt county. The more is a good one, though it is by no means new. Every one who is at all acquainted with the situation realizes that such an institution is needed in this town. Other towns no larger than Greenville have hospitals, and you hear no cry of distress coming up from them for a lack of funds. And, we believe that a hospital in this town, owned by the county if we can get it no other way, would be a good investment. The little increase in taxes that would be necessary for its maintenance, in case it did not pay, would be so small that each individual would scarcely realize that there had been anything added. And even if he did, what would it matter so long as the sick and needy were being cared for?

The suggestions made in the communication referred to above, and appearing in another column, are shared by this paper, and we are heartily in favor of seeing some steps taken looking toward the building of a hospital here. If there is a physician or any one else who would like to air his views through the columns of this paper, he is welcome to the space that will be required by his article. We shall be glad to receive and publish these communications. We would especially like to have communications from the doctors of the town, as they are the class of professional men who would most be benefited by a hospital.

GOVERNOR SULZER'S FLIGHT.

Governor Sulzer admitted that he used his campaign funds temporarily for personal business, but denies that he ever speculated on the stock exchange with it. The governor is certainly in a bad predicament. He is now on the defensive, and they have him on the run. If he ever gets out of his present trouble, it will be only by the shrewdest methods, and even at that some people will refuse to believe that his garments are not stained with the blood of corruption.

The rapid decline and fall of this man has been something pitiful to behold. Only a few months ago his name was being prominently mentioned as a Democratic hope in 1916, and he was looming large on the political horizon. Far and wide over the nation he was being hailed as the greatest governor the state of New York had ever had. But almost suddenly he has fallen to the depths, and it now seems that he is to be impeached from office by the legislature of his native state.

Governor Sulzer's political demise is only another illustration of the fate that awaits some men in the political arena. Any man can easily fall from the highest pinnacle to the deepest hell if he will only allow himself to go. The temptations are many, and few there be that do not fall victims to at least a part of them.

LAND SALE

By virtue of a mortgage executed and delivered by William W. Humphrey and wife Hattie Humphrey, to J. L. Hill on the 6th day of December, 1912, which mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County in Book E 10, page 256, the undersigned will sell for cash before the Court House Door in Greenville at public auction on Monday, August 18th, 1913, the following described lot or parcel of land, situated in the town of Greenville, County of Pitt and State of North Carolina, and described as follows, to-wit: "That lot of land situated on West side of Green Street between First St. and 'Tar' beginning at the S. E. Corner of Green St. and running West about 70 feet to Julia Sutton's land, thence along Julia Sutton's line about 45 feet to Martha Langley's line, thence East along Martha Langley's line 70 feet to Green St. thence along Green St. about 42 feet to the beginning. LET DEATH ANSWER.

No stronger argument has been made in favor of statewide prohibition in North Carolina in recent years than the death of H. Taylor Grubb, of Salisbury. Grubb was a wealthy farmer of the Rowan section, and owned more property than most of the people living in Salisbury. It is said that during his sober hours, there was scarcely a better man living in the county than he. Generally he was supposed to be honest and fair in his dealings, except at times when he was tanked up with liquor. But the other day he took on an overdose, and as a result he lay lifeless in his grave, and his wife is said to be in such a condition that she will never be able to recover. Do we need proof of the evils of the use of alcohol in North Carolina? Let death answer.

On last Friday out a few miles from Greenville, a white man and a negro boy became enraged at each other while the white man was drunk. The little fray finally resulted in a blow that caused the death of the white man on last Sunday morning. Do we need prohibition in North Carolina? Let Elise Braxton's death answer the question.

THE TOWN'S ICE SUPPLY

The quality of ice that has been served to local patrons during the past few days has become almost intolerable. The undesirable state of affairs has been brought about by the excessive amounts of ammonia that have been allowed to get into the ice, and in several instances it has caused a great deal of unpleasantness. More than one person in the town has already been made sick because of the very unpleasantness because of the very undesirable character of the ice, and some cases have been more serious than just merely enough to make a man take his bed. Unless these conditions are remedied, the sanitary officer should be called upon to enforce the law in the matter, and to see that conditions are not so bad as to endanger the health of the citizens of the town who are patrons of the ice plant that turns out the unwholesome product. The sooner something is done, the better it will be for all concerned, and especially for those who have to have ice throughout the day.

Some of our people may want this government to pick a fuss with Mexico, but once in there we should never get out without a sacrifice of thousands and thousands of lives, and the expenditure of millions upon millions of dollars. The sensible way to settle the matter is upon peaceable terms, and without the shedding of blood and the squandering of our funds.

There seems to be a rapidly growing sentiment over the state in favor of refusing the proposed reductions of the railroads unless their plans give us what we have been contending for all the while. If the people would only realize it, they have it in their power to make the railroads come to their terms, and if they will stick together this can be done.

Governor McGovern, of Wisconsin, is a believer in eugenic marriage, and a few days ago he signed a bill making it lawful in Wisconsin for every man desiring to enter the fold of the "Newlyweds" to present a certificate of health from some licensed physician. Evidently those people up there believe in hereditary diseases.

Taylor Grubb, of Salisbury, died at the hands of his wife the other night when he attempted to take her life, and she succeeded in putting an end to him before he could get to her. As the law completely condemns Mrs. Grubb, it is of right ought to do.

Governor William Sulzer, of New York, went into office with the good will of his people, and with bright prospects for a successful and prosperous administration, but it now appears he has just about talked himself out of office.

John Purroy Mitchell may think that he can walk away with the majority election in New York city, but he must remember that Gaylor and the Tammany machine are still in running condition.

MAYOR JAMES RETURNED

Reached Town This Morning After Spending Three Weeks' Vacation After spending a most pleasant vacation of three weeks, Mayor J. B. Dewey returned to Greenville this morning and is greeting his friends on the streets today. The mayor reports that he had the time of his life, and that the vacation in the mountains of east Tennessee was very delightful. Dewey, who is the youngest of the people in this section of the state have been sweltering under a thermometer registering anywhere from ninety to a hundred degrees, he has been sleeping and feeling almost like wearing an overcoat.

The city executive is now back on his job as mayor, and again today takes active charge of the affairs of the town. He will be very busy during the next few days in getting his ducks in a row for the opening of court next week.

NEW INSURANCE FIRM

W. L. Hill and W. M. Moore Open Up New Business in Greenville A new business firm under the management of W. L. Hill and W. M. Moore has been started here for the purpose of selling insurance. The new firm will deal in all kinds of insurance, fire, life, accident and health, and they are now ready to serve their friends. Offices have been secured on Evans street near Baughn's Pharmacy on the second floor, and the two men are well prepared to be of service to the people of Greenville.

Both are well known to Greenville people, as they have lived here for a number of years, and have been in other business in the town. Mr. Hill has for a long while been a cotton buyer on the Greenville market, and incidentally, it might be stated that he will continue in this field of activity, and that he will work both this and his insurance.

MOTHER AND SON

For seven long and weary months, I wept that he had gone. This afternoon, with aching heart, I sought his memory stone. I stood beside his tiny grave. And breathed a silent prayer; The heavens seemed to open wide. And, lo, my son was there.

I could not shed a tear of grief, But, O the tears of joy. I seemed to hear him calling me: "Come, mother, to your boy."

And when my life on earth is done From sin and sorrow free, I hope to heed his precious call. That came this day to me. —M. B. ANDREWS.

CONDITIONS IN CHINA

Generally Improved. Uprising Has Fallen at Every Point. Northern Troops Successful Everywhere. WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—General improvement in conditions in the rebellious district of China was reported in a cablegram from Rear Admiral Nicholson, commanding the Pacific fleet at Nanking. "The present uprising," reported Admiral Nicholson, "has met with failure at every point up to the present, and the northern troops have been uniformly successful, but the country is far from pacified. Kuling is now within the northern lines and the conditions are satisfactory there. Nanking has remained in the hands of the south, but disorders are threatened here owing to the large number of troops formerly with the southern armies, but now attached to either side. An American steamer was fired on by the southern forces at Whang-Jin. Ample preparation has been made."

not easily persuaded to let the boy follow up a natural talent for painting. Martin first tried carpentering, shop-keeping, and architecture. In each case his desire to draw pictures was too strong for him—boards, paper, blank walls were decorated with landscapes—until his employers found it necessary to discharge the young artist. At last a sculptor of the time pleaded for him, and Homer was permitted to paint.

Martin insisted on doing everything in his own way, and he did not get far at first. His admirers could find hardly more than an occasional bit in these crude early works of the great skill that their author afterwards acquired. Nevertheless, the weather people of Albany, who were proud of their artist, bought a number of Martin's canvases.

It was not until he moved to New York in 1862 that this queer genius had a really hard struggle to live. His habits were irregular he dressed badly, and generally made a poor impression. The great Whistler said, introducing him, "Gentlemen, this is Homer Martin. He doesn't look as if he were; but he is!" Revolutionary ideas and a keen, cutting humor made him as many enemies as friends.

Strangely enough, he chose quiet, calm landscapes to paint. He was attracted to the Catskills, Adirondacks and White Mountain, and in Europe preferred tranquil scenes along the upper Thames and in Normandy.

Homer Martin seldom painted direct from nature; but would sketch in his notebook and jot down color memoranda. Less surprising, therefore, than it would seem at first is the painting of two famous pictures in 1865 when he was all but blind. "The Adirondacks" and the "View on the Seine" rank with his best work. Two years later he died.

Martin was not appreciated during his lifetime. The few pictures that he did manage to sell were purchased by his friends. Today few of his im-

We have never elected a president of the United States younger than 42, yet a man can vote at 21 and be president at 25. The reason of this is because, WE KNOW THE VALUE OF EXPERIENCE.

Experience Counts

The great factor of success in everything is EXPERIENCE. The experienced farmer knows best how to produce a good crop and the experienced Buggy Manufacturer KNOWS BEST HOW TO MAKE A GOOD BUGGY.

Forty-seven years experience in building the Flanagan Buggy makes it the best buggy that can be had. RESOLUTIONS

Below are given the resolutions that will be presented to the North Carolina Just Freight Rate Association in session in Raleigh tomorrow morning for the purpose of considering the action that is to be taken upon the proposed rates that have been offered to the shippers of the state by the railroads. A large number of local business men are expected to make the trip to Raleigh tomorrow, and to be present at the time the association meets.

Resolutions of the Pitt County Just Freight Rate Association.

Resolved: That it is the sense of the Pitt County Just Freight Rate Association that the conference of the North Carolina Just Freight Rate Association, the Governor of North Carolina nor the Legislature of North Carolina, accept no compromise whatsoever that does not place North Carolina cities on an equal footing in rate and classification with Virginia cities.

Resolved second: That the North Carolina Just Freight Rate Association demands of the railroads a simplification of the rates and classifications proposed.

Carswell's Liver-Aid

NEW REMEDY THAT'S BETTER THAN DANGEROUS CALOMEL Better Than Salts, Oils or Pills, and Money Back From Hasnight's Pharmacy if it Doesn't Banish Constipation.

Oh! What bliss! People in Greenville have no further use for calomel or other slim bag cathartics that set harshly on sick livers. CARSWELL'S LIVER-AID has the call these days; every hour in the day; it's going faster than the proverbial hot cakes.

It's changing hundreds of weak, feckly, lazy and overworked livers into healthy, strong vigorous ones. It is driving poisonous wastes from the body putting an end to indigestion and all stomach misery and causing constipation sufferers to rejoice.

CARSWELL'S LIVER-AID is pleasant and harmless; it takes the place of calomel. Children can take it freely; its gentle action cleans out their little bowels in fine shape. It's a splendid remedy for sick headache, malaria and kidney troubles. Get it from Hasnight's Pharmacy for only 50 cents a bottle. They guarantee CARSWELL'S LIVER-AID.

CELEBRATE LABOR DAY

New Bern Preparing For Festivities First Monday In September NEW BERN, August 13.—New Bern will celebrate Labor Day this year for the first time in many years. The best racing program since the establishment of the Eastern Carolina Fair track will take place at the fair grounds. There will be a free for all, a three minute and a 2:25, and it is safe to predict that these races will be the best that has ever been pulled off at the Eastern Carolina Fair track. There are already nine horses in the stables at the fair grounds training for this event and as the entries will be open until Sept. 1st it is safe to say that there will be fifteen or twenty horses in the races. The public is much interested in motorcycle racing and the program will open with two races. One for single cylinders and one for machines with more than one cylinder. The capacity of the grand stand has been doubled and it is now 312 feet long instead of 156 feet. The length of the stand on July 4th. It will be impossible for anyone to stand up in front of the crowd on the grand stand for the benches have been placed up to the rail in front and the walkway is now in the rear of the grand stand. The entrance to the grand stand is by a stairway in the rear of the grand stand. The grand stand will seat five thousand people and everybody can be comfortable. The races will begin promptly at 2 o'clock.

Only Union Veteran in Lower House WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 13.—As active and vigorous as many men at fifty, Gen. Isaac R. Sherwood, who represents the Ninth Ohio District in Congress, passed his seventy-eighth birthday anniversary today. Gen. Sherwood is a man of unique distinction, for of the 435 members of the present House of Representatives he is the only Union Veteran of the civil war. This is a rather remarkable distinction, when it is remembered that a decade or so ago a substantial percentage of the members of Congress were war veterans. The Democratic landslide of last November swept three Ohio veterans, Dabell of Pennsylvania, Thistlewood of Illinois and Hill of Connecticut, out of the House and left Gen. Sherwood the lone survivor. In view of the present age of every soldier of the '60s it is reasonable to suppose that the Ohio representative will be the last of the boys in blue to sit in the lower house of Congress.

Pinned Under Car, Which Companions Could Not Lift, Alabama Man Dies Horribly THROY, Ala., Aug. 10.—P. P. Davis of Eiba, Ala., met a horrible death a point between here and Montgomery early today when he was pinned beneath the wreck of his automobile and burned to a crisp. J. N. Hamm, Tom Crawley, Horace McBride and Alto Bullard, who were in the car with Davis were forced to witness the tragedy they were helpless to avert. The car was running at a high speed when a tire burst, throwing it into a deep ditch. The machine turned turtle and Davis was pinned beneath it. Gasoline from the tank was ignited by the lamps and Davis' companions, who had been thrown clear of the wreck, were powerless to rescue him. Hamm and Bullard received minor injuries. Davis owned the car. His charred body was later taken to Montgomery and thence to Eiba.

Hamilton Celebrates Centennial HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 11.—Centennial week in celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of Hamilton, was ushered in today with opening of a big industrial and historical exposition. The exposition was formally inaugurated by Sir John T. Gibson. Athletic contests, rowing, historical exercises, fireworks displays and parades and pageants of many kinds will fill in the week. The city is decorated as never before in history. Thousands of Hamilton "old boys" now resident in the States and in western Canada, have returned for the festivities.

"LIKE OTHER FOREIGNERS" Lind May Pass Through Mexico Without Possession, Says Aidep MEXICO CITY, Aug. 9.—Replying to the second note forwarded by Secretary of State Bryan to the Mexican government, Manuel Garza Aldape, the Mexican foreign minister today prepared a state which says: "Answering your telegram to President Huerta through rumors it mentioned are absolutely without foundation. Mr. Lind like any foreigner may pass through the country freely without being subject to any molestation. "American citizens, like other foreigners have enjoyed and will continue to enjoy the most complete guarantees on the part of the Mexican government and people. All are under the plain of our laws and the case of Mr. Lind will not modify our intentions and precedents. "Furthermore, there should exist neither fear nor anxiety respecting the security of foreigners for which there likewise is no foundation. "Respecting modification, of which mention has been made, the government of Mexico already has made its declarations."

Pacific Highway Convention VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 11.—The fourth annual convention of the Pacific Highway Association met in this city today for a three days' session. Delegates from Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles and a number of other cities are in attendance. The association aims to secure the construction of a first-class road along the Pacific slope from as far north as possible to as far south as possible. Except for two short breaks in British Columbia, the highway now stretches continuously from Hazelton, B. C., to Yuma, Ariz. During the winter large sections of the road are impassable and the association is working hard to secure the cooperation of the different communities in an early improvement of the conditions.

DEMOCRATS TO CAUCUS ON CLAYTON SITUATION Friends of Governor O'Neal's Appointment Have Asked for a Party Conference. WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 19.—Democratic members of the senate will caucus, probably tomorrow night to discuss the situation which has arisen through the appointment of Henry D. Clayton as senator from Alabama. Friends of Mr. Clayton who upheld the right of Governor O'Neal to appoint Senator Johnston's successor without authority from the legislature have asked for a party conference in which "to talk things over." Arrangements had been made for a caucus tonight but late today those interested asked that it be deferred until tomorrow night. It was believed today that Mr. Clayton's credentials would be presented to the senate until after the proposed caucus without authority from the legislature. Many Democrats still are outspoken in their opinion that the appointment by Governor O'Neal was not legal, owing to the language of the new amendment to the Constitution.

Government Expert to Speak to the Farmers Will Visit First Congressional District Next Month IN GREENVILLE SEPTEMBER 3 Meetings Will Be Most Interesting and Unique in the Subjects Discussed—All May Attend

Always alert to the best interests of the people of his district, Congressman John H. Small has secured the services of several of the experts of the United States Department of Agriculture to visit this section of the state and lecture to the farmers of the various districts on subjects that will be of importance to them and to all others interested. The letter written by Mr. Small to this paper, giving the dates and the places to be visited is published below, and will be read with interest.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18, 1913. To the Editor of The Reflector: There is to be a series of farmers' meetings for the several counties in the First Congressional district, beginning August 25th. I am very sure they will prove instructive and beneficial to any citizen who may attend. I long that you will aid in giving publicity to them. The date and place at which meeting will be held in your section are as follows: Swan Quarter, Hyde County, Monday, Sept. 1st. Washington, Beaufort county, Tuesday, Sept. 2nd. Greenville, Pitt county, Wednesday, Sept. 3rd. Williamston, Martin county, Thursday, Sept. 4th. Plymouth, Washington county, Friday, Sept. 5th. Columbia, Tyrrell county, Saturday, Sept. 6th.

NEW HANOVERS BONDS DRUG IN THE MARKET Not a Single Issue Received for All of the $25,000 Offered—May Raise the Rate. WILMINGTON, Aug. 19.—Because of the condition of the bond market, due to the money stringency, not a single bid was received by the county commissioners yesterday for all of the $25,000 road and school bonds offered for sale. The Marcheson National bank of this city put in a bid for a block of $10,000 of the bonds at par with accrued interest, but this was all. The commissioners discussed the advisability of raising the rate of interest on the bonds from 5 to 6 per cent and re-advertising for bids, but no action was taken at this time. The bonds are offered and run for 25 years. Of the amount raised a 4 per cent interest of $75,000 was to be used for school purposes and $50,000 for roads. The money from both is badly needed. Several new school buildings are imperative, but until the bonds are sold the board of education cannot proceed. The commissioners fixed the tax rate for the year at $1.10 on the $100 worth of property and $2 on the poll. This is an increase of 10 cents on the hundred and is made to cover the interest on the road and school bonds to be sold.

FAISON INTRODUCES SIX BILLS IN THE HOUSE They Provide for Survey of Navigable Waters in North Carolina. WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Representative Faison introduced six bills today for surveys of navigable waters of Goose Creek in North Carolina. His propositions are: Repairs and improvement of roadway to national cemetery at New Bern, $20,000. Survey of proposed canal from navigable waters of Goose Creek to Jones' bay in Pamlico county with a view to a ship canal from Pamlico river to Jones' bay, depth of eight feet at low water and width of 100 feet or more, $5,000. Survey of Neuse river between New Bern and Goldsboro, to deepen channel and improve navigation, no appropriation fixed. To provide for two terms of United States district court for eastern district of North Carolina annually in March and October. To erect a $10,000 monument to General James Moore at Moores Creek battlefield in North Carolina. General Moore served in the Continental army.

THREE MEN WOUNDED IN ATTACK ON JAIL Sheriff and Deputys Repeatedly Drive the Mob Back With Pistol Shots. SPARTANBURG, S. C., Aug. 18.—Three men, Frank Eppley, J. C. O'nealy and John Turner, were seriously wounded tonight when a mob stormed the county jail in an effort to lynch Will Fair, a well known bettering man. Members of the mob finally returned the fire and in the darkness the three men were struck. They were fatally wounded but were taken to a hospital for attention. The young woman was assaulted in a lonely farm house this morning in the absence of her husband. The mob knocked her down with a club. It is alleged, and outraged her. Several charges of dynamite were exploded late tonight by the mob in an effort to enter the jail. After they had blown down a portion of the outer wall, they were impressed by the show of strength inside the jail and retreated, but threats were made to return with more force. SQUARE DEAL MARRIED BY PLAYFUL KITTEN Governor Blount's Speech Expected Tonight to Call on the Militia to Protect Fair. KINSTON, Aug. 19.—A playful kitten spoiled a week's work for George A. Jones, editor of the Snow Hill Square Deal, known as the most eccentric newspaper of this section, last night Jones had gathered together the material for the editorial page of the week's edition, and was busy with his lead effort when the cat leaped upon his desk. Since the fire destroyed the electric plant in this town the editor had to depend upon a kerosene lamp for light to prepare his odd editorials. When the cat stalked upon Jones' desk, the editor's immortality of the split skirt the scribbled lit to fondle the little feline. The cat's nose came into contact with the business end of Jones' cigar, gave a howl and kicked out with both hind legs, knocking the lamp over and setting fire to several thousand words intended to amuse and edify the readers of the Square Deal tomorrow. The editor has but one arm, and before he could smother the flames, the damage was complete and irreparable.

National Archery Championships, BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 19.—During the remainder of this week there will be much drawing of the long bow at Soldiers Field, the athletic grounds of Harvard University. The occasion will be the National Archery Association's thirty-fifth annual championship tournament, which was opened this morning with the first Columbia round for women and the first American round for men. The tournament promises to be the most successful that the association has held in some years. The participants include men and women experts with the bow and arrow from many cities throughout the country.

Horacek Goes for Thaw. FOUKKEEPSIE N. Y., Aug. 19.—District Attorney Edward Conger-Sherie Horacek and former District Attorney Mack left tonight for Sherbrooke, Quebec, with the view of continuing to take Harry Thaw into custody and returning him either to the Dutchess county jail or Matewan asylum. The district attorney hopes, however, that Canada will deport Thaw and in so doing land him over the international line in New Hampshire or Vermont.

College Ball Players to Invade Japan SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 19.—One week from today has been fixed as the date for the departure of the "Invaders" of Washington baseball team on its trip to Japan. Final arrangements for the long journey are now being perfected. Ten players, with a manager, coach and interpreter, will make up the party which will in the Orient the team will engage in contests with the leading Japanese college lines.

Big Increase in Taxable Property for Past Year LIGHT SALES ON TOBACCO MARKET BIG SALES EXPECTED FRIDAY

Figures Compiled, and Given Out by Register of Deeds Progress During Past Year Indicated by Tax Listing—Special Tax Not Given Below. Figures compiled by the tax listers of the county for the year 1913 show that there has been a very comfortable increase in the taxable property in Pitt county this year over the year 1912. The grand totals cannot be given at advanced because of the fact that the corporation tax is yet to be known, though this last year was $27,416.93. It is estimated that it will this year amount to a sum almost touching the three million mark. In the comparison of the aggregate value of real and personal property this amount should be added to get the correct totals.
