COTTON CROP HAS SHORTAGE TO DATE

Government Figures for Total Number of Bales Ginned

THE WESTERN COUNTRIES GAIN Comparisons of the Figures for This Year and Last Year Show Very Interesting Conditions.

The fourth report on cotton ginning for the crop of 1913 has recently been made public by the government authorities in Washington City. Figures showing the comparison between the year's crop and that for the same period last year have been announced, showing the standing of each county in the state. Separate county totals were furnished to local agents over the state, and these were published in many instances. Pitt county shows a shortage over last year's crop of 8,937 bales, while the difference in other counties of the state is very much greater than this. Pitt county had ginned for the same period last year 14,661 bales as against 5,724 bales this year to the present time.

HOW GREENSBORO GETS ITS LIQUOR. Nearly Twenty-Five Hundred Gallons Shipped in by Express in Fourteen Days.

Greensboro, Nov. 18.—Greensboro as a prohibition town where prohibition really prohibits—at least the sale of intoxicants—has been pointed to with pride and only recently Rev. R. L. Davis, head of the Anti-Saloon League, in an address here commented upon the morality of the town and the enforcement of the prohibition law here. While all this may be true and probably is—it is said that this is the hardest place in the state to buy a drink—whiskey is shipped into Greensboro—and presumably consumed—from the sister state of Virginia. This is evidenced by the receipts at the Southern Express Company office here.

Shipments of liquor into town have been completed by some persons here interested in the matter and for the first fourteen days of this month it was found that a total of 2,258 gallons of whiskey alone came to Greensboro people by express. The greatest number of gallons received in any one of the fourteen days was November 12 when 218 gallons came. The heaviest shipment in one day was 79 gallons. The average was 161.28. It has been figured out that if the liquor cost only an average of $3 per gallon the whiskey drinkers of Greensboro have sent over into Virginia during the fourteen days of this month a daily tribute of $682.14 or a total for the fourteen days of $9,549.96.

SENATOR SIMMONS TO INVESTIGATE THE CASE OF Capt. H. B. West, Commander of Revenue Cutter Pamlico, Who Was Courtmartialed.

NEW BERN, Nov. 18.—Information has been received here that Senator F. M. Simmons, senior senator of the United States Senate, is to take up and investigate the courtmartializing a few weeks ago at South Baltimore of Captain H. B. West, who is in command of the revenue cutter Pamlico which is stationed at this port. This courtmartial took place a few weeks ago when the revenue cutter had gone to Baltimore to undergo repairs. The charge against Captain West was that he had neglected his duty by failing to answer inquiries from the Navy Department.

Two Marriages With Much Local Interest Attached

A marriage that will be read of with a great deal of interest by local people is that solemnized in Raleigh yesterday afternoon. The contracting parties were Mr. Charles S. Rountree, of Greenville, and Miss Madeline V. Horton, of Farmville. Mr. Arch J. Wood, justice of the peace performed the ceremony. The couple are very well known in Greenville, where the groom has lived for a long while, and where he has many relatives and close friends. The bride is from Farmville, and is a popular young lady of that town. A local marriage to which much interest was attached was celebrated here last night when Mr. Thomas R. Moore and Mrs. Mattie Carney were united in wedlock at the home of the bride on Washington street. But very few people knew of the approaching marriage until yesterday of Monday, and the ceremony was performed in the presence of a very few friends and relatives of the contracting parties. Rev. C. M. Rock officiated, and immediately after the ceremony was performed the bride and groom went to Mr. Moore's home in Forbestown, where they will make their home in the future.

The number of memorials to the general conference were rejected, but several were adopted. The most important of these because tending to a radical change in the system is one asking that a more democratic method of making appointments be devised to the end that the presiding bishop may consult both the preachers and congregations as far as practicable before finally drafting the appointments. This was adopted. Total contributions of the conference for missions, $169,000, an increase of $26,000 over previous year. The conference declined to adopt a memorial asking the general conference to forbid the use of tobacco by ministers.

HOW TO BENEFIT BY CANAL.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 18.—Representatives of the iron and machinery manufacturing interests of Delaware, Maryland and New Jersey are gathering here in large numbers to attend the business conference to be held here tomorrow under the auspices of the Pennsylvania steel and iron manufacturers with a view of educating iron and steel merchants and manufacturers of machinery as to the commercial possibilities of the Panama Canal. The entire industry will be directly concerned in the subjects to be discussed at this conference. Speakers of international fame familiar with the possibilities of the Panama Canal, will address the conference and special efforts will be made to show to the trade representatives attending the conference how the opening of the Panama Canal will effect this business and precisely what must be done to make the Delaware River front one of the famous shipping centers of the world.

MR. LANE'S FATHER LEAVES. Has Returned to His Home in New Bern in Better Health.

Mr. D. Lane, of New Bern, who has been here on a visit to his son, Rev. Daniel Lane, and who was taken sick Saturday afternoon shortly after his arrival here, returned yesterday to his home. Mr. Lane was not entirely well, but was greatly improved, and he was able to make the trip to his home.

VIRGINIA METHODIST CONFERENCE ENDS. Believed That Eastern Part of State is on Verge of Big Development.

DANVILLE, Va., Nov. 18.—The Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, came to a close tonight after seven days of laborious work with double daily sessions of the last day. As usual, the final business and the climactic work in point of intense and general interest was the reading of appointments tonight, there being more than a hundred changes, some of them complete surprises to those affected. Bishop Denny closes the proceedings with an explanatory statement of his reasons for secrecy with reference to appointments and then made a stirring martial call to preachers.

The conference declined to adopt a memorial asking the general conference to forbid the use of tobacco by ministers. "Immigration needed now in this state might be an entirely different proposition to contend with before another generation, if I read the future aright," he is said to have said. East Carolina is essentially an agricultural country, the prospector stated, "but the possibilities for stock-raising are so evident that one is surprised the people have not gone into it on a profitable scale." The draining of the big Mattamuskeet lake is going to make available a great acreage of very fertile and cheap farming land, and people will flock into the sound country from the middle western states, he thinks. The capitalist had not concluded his prospecting trip, but professed to be very favorably impressed with what he had seen of the country and the spirit of hustle that is noticeable in the towns even this late in the tobacco season. It is a known fact that recently improvements on the Ohio belt electric lines have required the installation of heavier equipment, and that a great quantity of material suitable for lighter service are awaiting the chance of the owners to place it advantageously. Several towns in the section have been visited by the promoter.

PARSONS MAY SELL CHEW TOBACCO.

The conference declined to adopt a memorial asking the general conference to forbid the use of tobacco by ministers.

NEW HANO, N. C. KILLS HIS WIFE. Fired Two Rifle Shots Into Her Body And Then Took Strychnine, But Will Recover.

WILMINGTON, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Geo. W. Beaman, 25 years old, was shot and killed Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in a field a short distance from home, three miles from the city, by her husband, who then took an ounce of strychnine in an effort to end his own life. The overdose of the drug acted as an antidote and he will recover. He is at the hospital and under guard. Beaman is about 40 years old and is a carpenter. He used a 22-caliber rifle and fired twice, both bullets taking effect, the first entering the back at waist line and the other penetrating the left temple. Death resulted instantly. Thinking he was going to end his own life, Beaman prepared a note explaining why he killed his wife. He stated that he killed the woman because she had told him three different times, a notary public was passing the road a few minutes after the murder and Beaman called him and made a voluntary statement relative to the affair. He said he alone was responsible for the death of the woman.

FOUR MONTHS COMPULSORY. Only Children Between Ages of Eight and Twelve to School.

Children between the ages of eight and twelve years must attend school for at least four months in the year, according to the recent compulsory education law. The statement made in these columns yesterday to the effect that the compulsory law provided six months' attendance was an error, and this article is written in order that this may be corrected.

MRS. FORBES STRICKEN. She Had a Stroke of Paralysis Early Monday Morning.

Mrs. A. A. Forbes, who lives a few miles in the country on Monday morning had a severe stroke of paralysis, and is in a rather serious condition. Latest reports from her bedside are to the effect that she is somewhat improved this morning. Her friends will wish for her a speedy recovery.

TEACHERS GO TO BIG ASSEMBLY. PITT COUNTY TO BE WELL REPRESENTED AT THE SESSIONS OF N. C. TEACHERS MEETING.

Information received at the office of county superintendent W. H. Ragsdale is to the effect that a large number of the school teachers of this county will attend the sessions of the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly in Raleigh next week. Professor Ragsdale will leave here about Monday, and will spend the entire week in Raleigh on business connected with the work of the association that time. A number of the teachers in Ayden, Farmville, Grifton, Bethel and several other smaller towns in the county are planning to attend the big convention, and Pitt county will have a large delegation on hand for the occasion unless something unexpected happens. No canvass of the teachers in the Greenville graded school has been made and it is not known at this time as to whether or not the local school will be so well represented.

It will be remembered that the state educational authorities and the county superintendents of the state have agreed to allow holidays to all teachers who will attend the sessions of the state assembly, and this being true, it is thought that a great many will take advantage of the opportunity to attend the session.

DELIGHTFUL OYSTER ROAST. Given Monday Night to Young People by Mr. T. A. Duke.

On last Monday night Mr. T. A. Duke, buyer for the American Tobacco Company, was host to a number of the young people of the town, both men and women, at a delightful oyster roast that was held at the plant of the American Tobacco Company. The men present were mostly tobaccoists.

WILSON'S "FINEST." Get Increase in Salary and Donned New Uniforms Sunday Last.

WILSON, Nov. 18.—The Board of Aldermen of this city, recognizing the fact that their police force stands second to no town the size of Wilson in the State, have increased their salaries from $60 to $65 per month for the roundsmen and making the chief's salary $100. And as an good deed follows the other, spick and span new uniforms, including overcoats—arrived Saturday last and on Sunday morning the women spick and span buttoners paraded the streets dressed to kill—the "finest" aggregation of "boys in blue" in the land.

CHILDREN MUST GO TO SCHOOL MONDAY. Compulsory Education Law Goes Into Effect Then. MUST ATTEND FOUR MONTHS. Exemptions Apply When Child is Physically or Mentally Infirm, or in Cases of Poverty.

Every child in Pitt county between the ages of eight and twelve years will be compelled to attend school at some public school in this county at least four months during the present session of school. All of the counties of the state are to enforce this law, according to an act passed by the general assembly at the regular session of 1913 held last winter. The authorities of this county have set November 24, next Monday, as the date upon which the law shall be put into force in Pitt county, and on that day all children coming under the requirements of the law will be compelled to attend school.

There are exemptions to the law, of course, chief among these being that clause which permits parents or guardians to keep out of school those children who are physically or mentally unable to attend, but a certificate properly signed and attested to must be given by some licensed physician. In cases of extreme poverty, where the services of the child are absolutely required for the support of the parent, the law allows this to be done.

On last Monday night Mr. T. A. Duke, buyer for the American Tobacco Company, was host to a number of the young people of the town, both men and women, at a delightful oyster roast that was held at the plant of the American Tobacco Company. The men present were mostly tobaccoists.

SHOOTING AFFAIR SERIOUS RESULTS Was Result of Disagreement in Gambling Scrape OCCURRED SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Six Negroes Were Engaged in a Po- ker Game, and Caused Con- siderable Disturbance For Time.

A shooting scrape which grew out of a disagreement over a poker game Sunday afternoon came very near to costing the life of two negroes, though both of them escaped serious injury. The poker game seems to have been in progress out in an open field in West Greenville, in a section of the town, known as Greenville Heights, which has been surveyed and sold out in building lots. Tall weeds now grow in the exact spot where the gambling was going on, and it is said that a number of boys, both white and black, were watching the progress of the game.

The exact particulars in the case of the shooting are not known at the time of this writing, as the trial in the mayor's court did not develop all of them. Several of the negroes lay across on several matters about their gambling business, and words were passed, and finally shooting began. One negro was shot in the thigh of his left leg and a hole about an inch and a half in his head, and the other was shot once or twice. Both were not so badly injured that they were entirely disabled, and left the place. The first negro, who received the two wounds in the thigh and had wandered about two blocks away to the home of Mr. Joseph Dixon, and stayed up in his back yard. Mr. Dixon is in feeble health, and was sitting on his back porch taking a sun bath when the negro came staggering up, fell on the porch and began calling for a doctor and murmuring that he was dying. Several calls for a physician were sent in, but neither a physician nor a policeman could be reached for sometime. Finally a doctor arrived on the scene, but refused to do anything for the negro until a policeman had arrived, which was a long while after. The groans of the injured man on the back porch so frightened Mrs. Dixon that she was thrown almost into hysterics, thinking that her husband had fallen and was calling for a doctor, and the attention of a physician were required to ease her.

The other negro wandered in a different direction, but fell in a place where he caused considerable trouble and annoyance. The authorities soon afterwards removed both negroes and secured medical attention for them. Neither is thought to be seriously wounded.

Mayor James tried the case this morning and sent the negroes on up to superior court for trial at the next term which convenes here in January.

DRUG MEN TO PLEDGE FIGHT ON "DOPE" EVIL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 17.—Hearty co-operation with federal, state and municipal authorities in their efforts to restrict and regulate the sale of injurious and habit forming drugs will be pledged by the wholesale druggists of this city States, now assembled in the United States for the annual convention of the national association. Trade readjustments necessitated by the new tariff is another matter that will receive the attention of the convention. Today was devoted to preliminary business and the reception of the delegates. The regular business sessions will begin tomorrow morning and continue through Thursday. Following the close of the convention, the members of the association and their families will take a trip to Havana.

Asks That No Work be Done, But That the People Give Thanks to the Almighty God.

Following close upon the proclamation of President Woodrow Wilson, Governor Locke Craig, of North Carolina, has issued a similar paper urging upon the people of this state to observe the day as it should be. He recites a list of the blessings enjoyed not only by the North Carolinians, but by the people of the entire country, and urges all persons to meet in their various churches for worship on that day.

The governor proclaims a holiday throughout this Commonwealth, and calls upon the citizens to cease from their labors for at least one day, and to take notice of this national holiday.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA Executive Department.

Raleigh

A Proclamation by the Governor. After the harvest is the day of Thanksgiving. Toil has been rewarded in manifold abundance; the nation has been in progress and power. An altruistic awakening has quickened the conscience of our time; it has commanded the men in high places to nobler conceptions of public duty, and inspired the people with the hope and determination for advancement. Therefore, I, Locke Craig, Governor of the State of North Carolina in obedience to the custom established by our fathers, and in accordance with the Proclamation of the President of the United States, do proclaim Thursday, the twenty-seventh day of November, a holiday.

I call upon all the people to do no work upon this day; to make this a day of rest and rejoicing, and, in reality, a day of Thanksgiving. I earnestly hope that the day will be fully observed by the farmers, merchants, mechanics, manufacturers and by the men, women and children in all ranks and occupations.

I call upon the people assembled in their places of worship that they may in reverence express to the Almighty their gratitude and faith; that human sympathies may be enlarged and the bonds of brotherhood acknowledged and strengthened.

Let us remember the poor and the unfortunate, and realize that it is more blessed to give than to receive. We are the heirs of a precious heritage in this commonwealth; righteousness may be exalted and that to all men may come a full measure of justice which is grander than benevolence more august than charity.

Done in our City of Raleigh, on the twentieth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight year of our American Independence.
LOCKE CRAIG,
Governor.

The Contract Calls for the Completion of the Building by the First of October, 1919.

Contracts were let today for the construction of the big four story office building to be erected on the west side of Five Points, by four local capitalists. The lowest bidder was Mr. C. B. West, of Greenville, who agreed to put up the building for $29,223. The contract for heating, plumbing to be put in the building was awarded to the Harris Hardware Company, of Washington, N. C., whose bid was $6,540. While these figures place the total cost at $35,763, no allowance is made for the elevators, which will cost between $3,000 and $4,000, and the promoters do not expect to receive the buildings in its completed form before they have expended an amount as much as, if not exceeding $50,000 in round numbers.

There were six bidders for the contract for putting in the building, and three bidders for the installing of the plumbing and heating. Greenville people will be glad to know

A local man bid the lowest figure on the building, and was awarded the contract over contractors from four or five other towns in the state. While no bids were received from local concerns for the plumbing and heating. It is to be noticed that this part of the work is to be done by a firm in the neighboring town of Washington.

The new building is to be four stories high, and with the exception of the store rooms on the first floor, will be fitted up entirely for offices. A drug store, a dry goods store, and another small establishment will be furnished quarters on the ground floor, and already a number of requests for offices have been received by the proprietors of the new building. The specifications call for the completion of the building on October 1, 1914, a little less than a year from this time.

Following is a list of the contractors and their figures: H. S. Hancock, $51,571.75; M. L. Holiday, $46,660.00; Blalock Brothers, $45,936; J. Rose, Rocky Mount, $46,292; Johnston and Stroud, Greenville, $43,250; C. B. West, Greenville, $39,403. For the plumbing and heating the following made bids: Harris Hardware Company, Washington, $6,940; Hunt Brothers, $7,000; American Heating Company, for heating only, $3,600.

Senior Class at Training School Chapel Exercises

The Senior Class of E. C. T. S. held the chapel exercises Saturday morning, November 15 and gave a program consisting of as many sections from Southern Literature as was possible in the limited time given.

The thirty-six seniors dressed in their class colors, white dresses and purple ties, marched into the auditorium to the tune of Dixie. After this the regular devotional exercises were conducted by the president of the class, and the following program was rendered:

1. Class song.
2. Uncle Remus Story . . . M. Alston
3. "Banjo Song" . . . M. Evans
4. A Southern Poem . . . M. Evans
5. Southern Chorus, "Massa, Massa."
6. Selection from "Fleming's Class Day".

Mae Bell Cobb Dixie, by the school, while the class of 1914 marched out to its stirring strains.

This unique program was very much enjoyed by the school and it is felt not only proud of the class, but of the fact that the south has the most charming and entertaining literature of the day.

AYDEN NEWS

Farms and Business Houses Changed Hands Recently.

AYDEN, Nov. 14.—The infant of Mr. Mrs. Walter Buck died Wednesday night, and was buried Thursday in Ayden cemetery. We extend the family our deepest sympathy.

For mail and get our supplies see us, J. R. Smith and Bro.

Mr. Ben F. McGlohan has purchased the farm of Mr. J. McDixon, between this town and our neighbors in Winterville, lying on the west side of the railroad, and Mr. David McGlohan has purchased the home place where stands one of the most commodious homes on the Atlantic Coast Line. Mrs. Dixon will move to Ayden and get a taste of City life, develop the property recently purchased from Mr. J. A. Griffin, known as Griffin plains, because of its location, and is so level.

The little child made mention in our last issue of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Cox, that was so severely burned, is not expected to survive.

Mr. H. C. Bowen, a minister of the Christian church in this town, and working in the interest of the North Carolina Home Society, at Greenville, has been in town, and has been in Massachusetts taking a post graduate course in a business way, has returned and accepted a position with J. R. Smith and Bro.

If you have anything to sell let us write you up in the Daily Reflector; we know that it will surely bring results.

Mr. J. O. Smith has leased the J. A. Branch homestead near Ayden. We may look for some good farming, as he has what it takes to make good tobacco and cotton.

Mr. J. C. Jones has purchased the interest of Mr. Eugene Cannon in the J. E. Cannon and Co. store and will assume control about January 1. We understand Mr. Cannon will move to the country.

Carpenters are busy at work on the improvements around the railroad station, and we expect great soon.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS.

Much comment, both in the press of the state and in private conversation, has been heard with regard to the recent uprising of the student body at Trinity College in an effort to secure football at that institution. It has been a good many years, in fact more than a decade, since football was allowed in that institution, and so far back that not one of the present generation of students remembers anything of it. The faculty stubbornly opposes the movement made by the students, and the faculty has the sympathy of practically every father and mother in the state who have sons in college.

College athletics in the present day is coming to be much of a problem. The sport is rapidly breaking over the bounds that have been provided for it, and that were originally intended for it. The sport was established as a stimulus to the development of the physical man, but it has long ago assumed proportions wider and more far-reaching than these.

It is but natural that the contests between the educational institutions of the state would arouse keen interest among the sympathizing friends of the various colleges represented, and this only tends to increase the interest of the students. College spirit is a great and good thing that is sometimes runs rampant and forces boys on to things which in a cooler, more deliberate state of mind they would refrain from doing.

Athletics in our American colleges and especially in several states in the south is rapidly overshadowing every other phase of college life. In speaking to a young man in an effort to get him to enter a certain college, one of the very first things mentioned by the solicitor is the fine team, and the "arsity" team in semi-form of athletics, or to carry with him enough "bootlegging" ability to get into a fraternity, another evil of modern colleges. Some boys in college care not how they stand in their studies so long as their general average is high enough to allow them the privilege of playing on a team, and the honor, as they term it, that goes along with some starting play on the diamond, or the kicking of a goal, means much more to them than a perfect mark on some study.

Things have now actually come to that stage where some institutions actually buy and hire men to come in and play on the teams and, only yesterday a certain paper in North Carolina was asking the question if there were a spy on the ground at a football game staged in one of our cities last Saturday.

On the face of it, this is carrying the thing too far, and is overdoing it. Right-thinking people over the state will, almost to a man we believe, support the position of the faculty in Trinity College in the stand that they have taken to prevent their student body from over ruling them with the mob spirit. And in their cooler, creditative moments, we are of the opinion that many men who took part in that torch light parade will regret the part that they played in that night when the mob spirit ruled them.

Knowing the Trinity faculty in that institution as we do, we feel certain in stating that the football agitation in that institution is a hopeless case, certainly for many years to come. The advertising secured by the actions of the students was not the kind of publicity that will count, or that will gain anything for the students. College athletics of the kind practiced in this manner is and ought to be prohibited by all institutions, and students who seek to indulge in such pranks ought to receive no support from the public.

MR. JUSTICE.

Just at this time politics in North Carolina, in so far as the senatorial race is concerned, is in a right much of a muddle, and but very few of the actors on the stage know "just where they are at." Mr. Justice has been offered a nice job with the federal government, and most of these fellows who have all the while been standing pat are falling over them selves for joy over the prospect of a clearer road for Mr. Overman.
Mr. Glenn is still undecided as to what he wants to do, or at least he has not let it be known as to his intentions. The probabilities are, we believe, that unless Mr. Glenn sees a better chance of beating Mr. Overman than is now evident, he will not announce himself a candidate for the position now occupied by the senator.

Senator Overman does not appear to be experiencing any great amount of worry, or to be losing any sleep over the situation, and well may he be of that mind. But back to Mr. Justice.
Some may think that there is a balance wheel lacking in his head, but the federal government does not usually offer its big plums to men without a balance wheel about them somewhere. It may be that Mr. Justice would not want the senatorial toga with as much grace and dignity as the present incumbent, but he is nevertheless a man of high ideals and of progressive notions. His heart is always on the side of the people, and is ever ready to launch forth in any campaign that will be of benefit to them.

Mr. Justice has been offered a federal position, and while, he has not announced his intention of accepting it, the probabilities are that he will do so. And, if he does, we are of the opinion that even the most ardent admirers of Senator Overman will have nothing over which they may rejoice. The acceptance of the position, which has been offered the Guillard firm will take him away from North Carolina, and will remove him to a distant section of the continent. The federal government will undoubtedly gain a great deal, but we are of the opinion that North Carolina's loss will be as great as Uncle Sam's gain.

We do not think that Mr. Justice would have been able to defeat Senator Overman, and have not thought so at any time, yet we regret to see him removed from the race in any such manner as will carry him entirely out of the state. He is a valuable man, and one whose counsel is needed at a time like this.

Governor Craig is very soon to name the committee on intra-state state freight rates, and we sincerely hope that it will be more productive of good than the corporation commission.

It cost $125,000 to impeach Sulzer, and the pay for the lawyers ought to come from the bunch of fellows who say to it that he was put out. They certainly did the state no good in ousting the governor.

According to custom, it is only fast that Republicans should be turned out of office in favor of the Democrats, but we have never yet seen the good in taking a man's job away from him simply because of his politics.

It is a dull month that can produce no announcement for the gubernatorial race in 1916.

THE TOWN'S PART.

And no free delivery of the mails has reached Greenville yet. And whose fault is it? and where are you going to place the blame? Would you say that the post office is lagging, or would you lay it to the people, or place the blame upon the board of Aldermen?

For some time the city fathers have been advising us to clean up our sidewalks, and to get things in condition for free delivery. Three or four weeks ago we were informed that the signs for marking the streets had been completed, and that it would require only a few days longer for this to be done, and a day or two to place them. So far the streets have not all been labeled, and some dwellings in the colored settlements of the town are yet to be numbered. We are raising no kick, but merely mentioning these facts in the hope that some interest in the matter may be stirred up, and that these things may be done right away.

Much has been said recently about the condition of the sidewalks in front of the dwellings of the town. It is very true that many of them are in bad condition, and that they should be improved and put in good condition at once. One gentleman informed us a few days ago that he had petitioned the street committee time after time to lay off his curb line so that he might pave the walk in front of his home, and that nothing had ever been done about it yet. This is not as it should be. Until the street committee does its duty, the blame should not be placed upon the property owners, for in the case just cited it is very plain that these persons are not to blame.

Let there be no friction nor differences of opinion here. Free city delivery of mail is a crying need of Greenville, and let's all join in to gether and work in unison toward this one end. Let the town do its duty, and let be followed closely by the citizen doing his duty, and then the government will do its share in short order.

Those Argentine women who throw flowers on Colonel Roosevelt following his address the other night certainly have a better stomach than most Americans.

And if, two years from now, we issue bonds for the improvement of the water and light plant, we favor adding an extra $25,000 for building additional school buildings in the town.

Of course, it remains to be seen as to just what the next big rain will do, but there is no denying that the streets have been improved by the dirt recently placed upon them from the federal building.

The editor of The Chronicle, a weekly newspaper published at Trinity College, is having a hard time trying to line up with the faculty in the football agitation, and yet at the same time trying to appear as a friend and sympathizer of the student body.

Editor Poe of the Progressive Farmer advises the farmers not to keep their children out of school to pick cotton, but then he does not know what a problem it is to find labor in these parts about Greenville.
In view of the sentiment of the alumni of Trinity College and Methodist people over the state in general those students clamoring for the establishment of football at that institution had as well give up the ghost.
There is right much honor in having a flower named for you, but were we a cabinet officer we should consider that we had received no added distinction by having some cigar or some particular brand of liquor bear our cognomen.
The big fuss ought to be raised over making the teachers read to their pupils a portion of the Bible that is interesting and that can be understood, and not so much in having the words called over while some fellow sits low in his seat and studies his spelling lesson.

WHAT IS THE TROUBLE?

A bulletin was received this morning from the state headquarters of the Red Cross Seal Commission in Charlotte, giving the number of seals ordered by the various towns in the state to be held during the pre-holiday season. More than sixty-five towns and cities in the state are named as having given their orders for the seals to be sold as an aid in the fight against tuberculosis in the United States. The number of seals ordered by the various towns ranges from 1,000 by several of the smaller towns up to 150,000, the largest order being placed by Charlotte. It is surprising to see how few seals some of the cities have ordered in comparison to the big orders by towns of only a very few thousand inhabitants. And what is most surprising is that Greenville is not even on the list at all, and has placed no orders for the Red Cross seals. What is the trouble with our good people? Do they not wish to aid in the fight against the Great White Plague? and are they not going to lend their hand in the matter?

All that is lacking in the work, as we see it, is that no one has become sufficiently interested in the matter to take up the proposition of placing the seals in the town. There are scores of merchants in Greenville who would be only too glad of an opportunity to handle these seals in their stores were some one to take charge of the matter for the town and make an effort to place them here.
Why do not some of the women's clubs of the town take the matter in charge, and help along the cause by doing what they can in the matter? It would seem that this is a splendid opportunity to make their organizations count for something of real service and value to mankind and it would be but very little trouble to any one.
Let Greenville be represented in the fight against tuberculosis. Let not this holiday season of 1913 go by without a single Red Cross Seal being sold in our town, and let's each do his part in the movement.

THE SO-CALLED "BLUFF."

The United States government has for two or three years been worrying along with the situation in Mexico. Time after time intervention has seemed to be the only method of settling the affair and of giving the people of the republic peace and prosperity again, but the administration in power in this country has not seen fit to do this.
Mr. Taft acted slowly and wisely in his dealings with the problem, and President Wilson has conducted his negotiations with equally as high a quality of statesmanship and diplomacy. And the people of the nation are not altogether, but in a large measure, have approved this method of procedure.
And now, because this government has the good sense and judgment to go slowly, and is not anxious to plunge into any long, detailed mixing up or war with our neighbor to the south, those of those hot-headed Mexicans have had the nerve to say that the United States has merely been putting up a bluff, and that she has at no time intended to intervene and take a part. As we see it, a foreign government, either in the Western Hemisphere or in the Old World, has no business interfering in the affairs of Mexico unless the interests of that government are effected one way or the other.
The United States government is not trying to put up any sort of a bluff in any way, but the officials are trying to pursue a peaceful policy in dealing with these people. If Mr. Wilson succeeds in quieting the turbulent waters without intervention of bloodshed on the part of his army, he will easily prove himself to be one of the greatest statesmen of this generation, and will show to the world that the schoolmaster in politics is not an experiment but a success in every sense of the word.
No bluff is being run, and no effort is being made to make any one think so. The wheat heads of the country are working together in an effort to better conditions for the Mexicans, and the Mexicans themselves seem to be unappreciative of the efforts of these men and this country.

Daily Closed Season From Sunset to Sunrise—List of Birds Protected to September 1, 1913.

On October first the President approved regulations drawn up by the United States Department of Agriculture at the direction of congress, by the terms of which the federal government assumes control of all migratory game and insectivorous birds, and fixes closed seasons for the species affected. Laws enacted by the several states can lengthen but cannot shorten the closed seasons fixed by federal law.
Following is a synopsis of the closed seasons set for "Zone 2," which includes North Carolina:
Regulation 2.—A daily closed season on all migratory game and insectivorous birds shall extend from sunset to sunrise.
Regulation 3.—There shall be a perpetual closed season on the following migratory insectivorous birds and on all other perching birds which feed entirely or chiefly on insects: Bobolinks, catbirds, chickadees, cuckoos, flickers (yellow-hammers), flycatchers, grosbeaks, humming birds, kinglets, martins, meadowlarks, nighthawks or bullbats, nuthatches, orioles, robins, shrikes, swallows, swifts, tanagers, titmice, thrushes, vireos, warblers, waxwings, whip-poorwill, woodpeckers and wrens.
Regulation 4.—A closed season shall continue until September 1, 1918, on the following migratory game birds: Band-tailed pigeons, little brown sandhill, and whooping cranes, swans, curlew and all shore birds except the black-breasted and golden plovers, Wilson or jacksnipe, woodcock, and greater and lesser yellow legs.
Regulation 5.—(For the purpose of this regulation, each period of time herein prescribed as a closed season shall be construed to include the first day and to exclude the last day thereof.)
Closed seasons:
Waterfowl—February 1, November 1, Woodcock—January 1, November 1, Rails, Coots, Gallinules—December 1, September 1.
Birds.—The closed season on black-breasted and golden plover, jacksnipe or Wilson snipe, and greater and lesser yellow legs shall be, December 16, September 1.
It will be noted that these regulations make it a violation of the federal laws to kill any time migratory birds, or robins, which are recognized by our state law as game birds, and have open seasons fixed in which they may be hunted and killed.
Now that our supreme government has undertaken to protect our birds, those of us who are thoughtless enough to disregard the provisions set forth above, had better look out for Uncle Sam's federal court.

I tried different treatments, but they did not seem to do me any good. I got so bad, I could not eat or sleep, and all my friends, except one, thought I would die. The Grand Jury Wants to Improve County Home

Recommendations to Criminal Court Judge Saturday

"NO LICENSE" BEER DEALERS

Judge Asked to Instruct the Sheriff to Warn These Persons Against Repeated Violations of the Law.

Principal among the recommendations of the grand jury in reporting to the court on Saturday before the closing hours of the week's term, was that ordering improvements made at the county home. The grand jury in company with a committee from the board of county commissioners visited the home in a body, and inspected the entire plant. It is noticed that recommendations are made that additional water facilities be provided, and that either more pumps be put down, or a modern system of water works be installed.

The county home matter is one that has been agitated in Greenville since early last summer when the King's Daughters started something in that direction. The matter was taken up by the people in all sections of the county and for several weeks that was the all-absorbing topic of discussion heard on the streets. It finally subsided in a degree when the county commissioners took up the question, and appointed committees to look into the proposition, and to investigate and visit other county institutions of the kind to get what valuable suggestions that could be had before any money was spent. It is understood that some of the committees have investigated somewhat, but no visits have been made to other county homes. It is believed that the recommendation of the grand jury will have some effect upon the movement.

Another important part of the grand jury's report is that requesting the judge to instruct the sheriff of the county to warn all dealers in "no license" beer to close their shops and go out of business, with the further provision that if this order is not complied with the dealers will be arrested and tried in court.

The complete report of the grand jury is as follows:

Pit County.
In the Superior Court, November Criminal Term, 1913. To His Honor H. W. Whedbee, Judge Presiding:

We, the Grand Jury for the said term of this court, beg leave to make and file with the court the following as the report of your grand jury:

1. We have visited the offices of the clerk and register of deeds and find them kept in perfect order. The

at a desk. We learn that other grand juries have called the attention of the court to this condition in the grand jury room. We feel that this matter should be remedied.

7. That we have passed on all bills and presentments brought before us, and have returned the same into this court.

8. In regard to the sale of malt or beer in any form, we recommend that the court instruct the sheriff to notify all such dealers to discontinue the sale of the same immediately, and if they fail to comply with such order that he, the sheriff, shall prosecute them in court.

Having discharged our duties as best we could, we respectfully ask to be discharged.

THE KNEISEL QUARTETTE.

Visits Greensboro Under Auspices of Normal College.

GREENSBORO, Nov. 17.—On Friday evening, November 14, the world famous Kneisel Quartette, under the auspices of the State Normal College, gave one of their renowned "Chamber Concerts", in the Opera House of Greensboro. This quartette ranks the first in the United States and is on its first trip south. Honored, indeed, was the college to have such renowned entertainers as guests.

The quartette was composed of: Frans Kneisel first violin; Hans Setz, second violin; Louis Succenski, viola; William Willeke, violoncello; assisted by Miss Siemens, pianist.

All of the numbers of the program were well arranged and artistically given, though a few of them are especially worthy of note.

The two movements from quartette in D minor, by Chadwick, was very noticeable because of the excellently rendered theme of the "Platonic Melody". Also the quintet in E flat major, Op. 44, by Schumann, was well marked by the brilliancy and grand finale.

All through the program the players presented a very decided delicacy of tone, which is procurable with only the best grade of instruments and the most artistic of players. They also showed their superiority with clinging tones and shading in dropping from a grand "crescendo" to a very soft "piano", or in rising from a soft "piano" to a grand "forte". The pianist is worthy of note in that her technique and shading were faultless.

CHICKENS RETURNED.

Mr. Schultz's Hens Have Returned to the Roost at Last.

After straying away and spending several nights either on a vacation or in attendance upon a suffrage meeting, the half dozen hens that were missing from the hen roost of Mr. S. M. Schultz a few nights ago showed up yesterday as usual. Mr. Schultz is of the opinion that his female fowls have heard of the visit of Mrs. Emma Pankhurst to the United States, and that they strayed away from their mistresses, the rooster, long enough to go on a search for the militant leader.

The venerable merchant, however, is still wondering whether or not his chickens succeeding in finding their leader, and would like to know the exact spot where they spent their short vacation.

JOSH MILLS GIVES UP TO THE POLICE

Surrenders to Authorities in His Home Town

THE DETAILS OF THE CRIME

Ormond's Body Was Very Badly Carved.—The Wounded Man Lived Until Sunday Night.

Joshua Mills, of Washington, who cut Benjamin Ormond to death Saturday night, late yesterday afternoon came in from his hiding place and surrendered himself to the police authorities in his home town. The expected long and tedious search for the man who sent his victim to the grave was not experienced, and the Washington policemen quietly and calmly placed him under arrest when he appeared yesterday afternoon.

Not half of the horrors of the terrible tragedy were told in these columns yesterday, as later reports of the affair give more details. Ormond was in a barber shop waiting his turn on the chair when Mills came in the door, and went to the rear of the shop where Ormond was sitting near the stove. A few words passed between the two men, and Mills drew from his trousers a pocket knife of some sort of a weapon of that nature, and began cutting Ormond. The wounded man threw up his arm to protect himself, and when he did received the full benefit of a blow directed at him by his assailant, and his arm was almost severed. There was also a long gash across his throat, which it is reported, would have caused the man's death had there been no others. With sixteen wounds on his body, and with blood streaming from every one of them, the dying man started out of the shop, broke a plate glass window in an effort to get away from Mills, and staggered on toward a doctor's office. He fell in front of a pool room a short distance away, and was carried by the attendant on to a drug store where he lost a great quantity of blood while waiting for the arrival of physicians.

He was taken to a hospital, and his wounds dressed, though the physicians said that he was the worst carved man that they had treated in many years, and none of them thought that he would recover.

Considerable excitement was created in Washington over the affair, and it is reported that Mills remained within two blocks of the scene of the murder for at least an hour after the occurrence, and came back to the barber shop and offered to repay the proprietor for the damage he had done. The crowd in the barber shop greatly excited, and all of them made a wild rush for the door. One man is said to have received a cut in his head in an effort to get out, it not being known whether he came in contact with Mills' knife or a piece of broken glass.

PERSONNEL OF THE WEDDING PARTY.—NAMES OF THE THIRTEEN WHITE HOUSE BRIDES AND GROOMS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 25.—Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, the thirteen-year-old bride, who was married today at the White House to Mr. Francis Bowes Sayre, is an attractive and rather serious-minded young woman of many accomplishments. She was born in Gainesville, Ga., twenty-six years ago, as the second daughter of Woodrow Wilson, an associate professor of history and political economy at Bryan Mawr College, Bryan Mawr, Pa., and his wife, Helen Louise Axson Wilson of Savannah, Ga., whom he had married June 24, 1885. Miss Jessie received her early education at home, under the direction of her father and a German governess. Later she went to school and eventually to Goucher College, Baltimore, from which institution she was graduated, specializing in political economy. Choosing settlement work as her vocation, she gave two busy years to it as a worker among the laborers and the poor at Kensington, near Philadelphia. When her parents lived at Princeton, Miss Jessie continued her settlement work at Trenton, N. J., and also became identified with reform and settlement movements in several other large cities, including New York Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington.

Miss Jessie Wilson was never a society butterfly, although since the removal of the Wilson family to the national capitol circumstances naturally compelled her to take part in many social functions of an official or semi-official character. Tall, handsome, of a decidedly blonde type and with attractive, strongly modeled features, Miss Jessie Wilson attracted a great deal of admiration in social circles. She always was fond of outdoor life and became a fine horse woman. Even while living in Washington Miss Jessie Wilson continued her active interest in settlement work and it was while she was engaged in her favorite work that she first met Mr. Sayre, whose bride she became today.

Francis Bowes Sayre, the bridegroom at today's White House wedding, was born in South Bethlehem, Pa., in 1885 as the son of the late Robert Heysham Sayre, who died in 1907, leaving a large fortune. Robert Heysham was a civil engineer whose exceptional ability was well known and recognized throughout the country. He was the builder of the Lehigh Valley railroad and later became assistant to the president of that road. He also built up and became general manager of the Bethlehem Iron works, now known as the Bethlehem Steel Works. He was a man of considerable prominence and for many years was president of the board of trustees of Lehigh University. His widow, the mother of Mr. Francis Bowes Sayre, is the daughter of John Williamson Nevin, theologian and president of Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa.

Miss Jessie Wilson, member of Congress. Her brother was the late Robert J. Nevin, head of the American Church of Rome, Italy. She also is a first cousin to Ethelbert

Nevin, the composer. Mr. Sayre's only brother, Rev. John Nevin Sayre is now a missionary in China. Mr. Francis Bowes Sayre received an excellent education. He was two years at Hill School, Pottstown, Pa., and two at Laurenceville School, Laurenceville, N. J., from which he graduated in 1904. Entering Williams College the following year, he achieved prominence in his studies and also in other fields. He was manager of the football team, was valedictorian of the class of 1909. He spent two summers with Dr. Grenfell on the Strathcona, the Alaska relief ship, and in 1909 entered Harvard Law School from which he graduated with honors. His vacations he spent traveling in many parts of the world, and he avoided the beaten paths of tourist travel and visited nearly every European country. His vacation last year he spent in Alaska and northern Siberia and after his return he became one of the assistants in the law office of Charles S. Whitman, district attorney of New York City.

Mr. Sayre is a serious-minded young man who loves to travel, but so much for his pleasure, but to learn by careful observation. He always took great interest in social reform work and at one time worked a common mine in a coal mine in Alabama to study the conditions of the workers at close range. It was their common interest in settlement work which first brought Mr. Sayre and his bride together and laid the foundation for the romance which culminated today in their marriage.

FATAL ACCIDENT IN UNION GOLD MINE

In Which Two Men Lose Their Lives in Shaft—Head Crushed Into Mass.

MONROE, Nov. 24.—One of the most distressing accidents that have occurred in Union county, happened yesterday at the Howie gold mine, located about ten miles west of Monroe and within three miles of Washaw. As a result of the terrible calamity two men lost their lives, one leaving a wife and two very small children.

It was at 5 o'clock in the morning when Mr. L. J. Bowden, known as the "Pot Man" at the mine, started down the main shaft to see the condition of the pot, as was his custom to do four or five times during the night. The trip is made in a peculiarly constructed elevator in which one is taken down in a bucket, and which is operated by steam.

The wire cable that conducts the "mine bucket" as it is called, is wrapped around a large wooden pulley similar to a well wheel that weighs something like 250 pounds. When the bucket had ascended about ninety feet there was a sudden stop and there being no signal from Mr. Bowden, Mr. Will Crow, the night policeman, decided to investigate.

When the bucket was brought back to the surface and it was found that Mr. Bowden was not in it, Mr. Crow started down and when about the same distance there was a great crash and the large wooden pulley went down, striking him on the head and crushed him into an unrecognizable piece of humanity.

At 11 o'clock in the day the bodies were recovered.

QUARTER MILLION POUNDS TOBACCO

BIGGEST SALE OF SIX WEEKS. COTTON CONTINUES TO TUMBLE AT A RAPID GAIT.

A remarkable rise in the number of pounds of tobacco on the local market and a continuance of the gradual falling off in the price of cotton are observed on the Greenville markets today. A break of 250,000 pounds was noted on the tobacco market, which is the largest that the town has experienced since the big sales of September and early October. The buyers and warehousemen were very agreeably surprised to see such a large amount coming into the market during the morning, and are of the opinion that there is yet much more to be sold.

Sales today were not concluded until very near the time limit set by the tobacco board of trade for the sales of a day to close, that hour being 4:30 o'clock. Of course, the market handled a great deal more than this on some of the days during the busiest season, but the sales were run longer in the day at that time than now. It would not have required very much more than is here to day to block the market for the day. The price continues to be good.

Cotton Still Tumbling.
The cotton market is still tumbling today, and basis middling is selling at 12 5/8 cents per pound. The market opened at 12 3/4 cents, but gradually fell to the price named. December futures was last reported at 13.02 cents per pound, and latest quotations on the staple for May gave the figures at 12.75 cents. The Greenville market is handling about fifty bales today.

TRINITY TENNIS TEAM
Continues Its Winning Streak, Never Having Been Defeated.
DURHAM, Nov. 24.—Trinity upheld her record of being invincible in defeat in tennis Saturday when the Trinity team defeated that of Wake Forest. Trinity's tennis team has never been defeated. N. I. White and A. R. Anderson, the varsity tennis team at Trinity, have been playing together for the past two years. They have played nearly all the colleges of the state except Carolina, and have been unable to arrange a game with the University team.

Friday afternoon Wake Forest and Trinity participated in two sets of doubles. Trinity won both. The scores were 6-2, 6-3. Saturday Anderson, of Trinity, and Middleton, of Wake Forest, and White, of Trinity, and Slidd, of Wake Forest played two sets of singles. Anderson took both sets from his man by the overwhelming score of 6-0, 6-0. White defeated his man in both sets, score 6-3, 7-5.

Mr. Simmons may just put it down that it will make Editor Oliver all the worse.

Satoris,

1886—Frances Polson and President Grover Cleveland.
1896—Alice Roosevelt, daughter of President Roosevelt, and Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio.

1913—Jessie Wilson, daughter of President Wilson, and Francis B. Sayre.

THE RESIGNATION OF JUDGE BRAGAW

Washington Man Leaves Superior Court Bench

HAS BEEN JUDGE TWO YEARS

Resignation Becomes Effective December 31.—The Judge Retires Fearing a Breakdown in Health.

Genuine regret over the unexpected resignation of Judge Stephen C. Bragaw, of Washington, is felt by the members of the Greenville bar, many of whom know and are personally acquainted with the retiring judge. The resignation of the distinguished jurist of the state superior court bench was forwarded yesterday to Governor Craig, and the news was announced yesterday afternoon.

Judge Bragaw's resignation is to take effect on December 31 of this year, and after that time the Washington man will likely resume his law practice in some town which he has not as yet decided upon. The following clipping from the Washington Daily News, of yesterday, will be read with interest by those interested in the judge's retirement from the superior court bench:

His Honor Judge Stephen C. Bragaw has decided to resign his position as judge of the first judicial district. He mailed his letter of resignation to Governor Craig yesterday. Judge Bragaw, says in his resignation, which is to take place on December 31, that while his work on the bench has thus far benefited, rather than impaired his health, yet that a continuation of the close confinement of the day after day, will be prejudicial to him and that it is best for him to retire now, rather than undergo the risk of remaining longer in the work.

The news of this step on the part of Judge Bragaw will be known with regret only in his home town but throughout the state. Judge Bragaw received his license to practice law from the North Carolina Superior Court in 1892, and went to New Bern where he practiced for a year and a half, during that time occupying the position as city attorney. Leaving New Bern he went to the city of St. Louis where he remained several years, finally returning to his native town where from the very first he enjoyed a large and lucrative practice up to the time he was appointed by Governor Kitchin as judge of the judicial district to succeed Judge George W. Ward, who resigned. At the last general election Judge Bragaw was elected to his high office with practically no opposition and since that time has been president over the courts of North Carolina with ability and universal satisfaction to all litigants and the bar.

Judge Bragaw as yet has formulated no plans as to the future but it is to be hoped that he will decide to resume his law practice in Washington, where he is best known and most admired.

Since his administration on the bench and wherever he has gone over the state many encomiums of praise have been his both as a lawyer and as a high toned gentleman and he retires to private life carrying with him the very best wishes of the entire state for every success which he so richly deserves. Few men in North Carolina have won the judicial esteem with more ability and fairness.

As to who will succeed Judge Bragaw on the bench at this writing cannot be surmised. There will no doubt be several candidates for the position.
