Justice Bows Her Head Weeps In Very Shame

Strange Statements From the Bench to Jury in the Pollard Case MUST RETURN VERDICT Judge Peebles Tells Jury That Unless They Agree This Afternoon They Will Be Required To Pay Their Own Board.

Justice--the crowning purpose of civilized and Christianized America bows her head and weeps in very shame in Pitt County.

With a serious case on trial, the jury unable to agree, the people who have heard the trial from its very beginning and who have, because of that trial, felt disgusted and ashamed by reason of the apparent fact that a farce was being enacted, there is in Greenville today, particularly among those conversant with the facts a realization that a peculiar saddening situation confronts the county.

On the 11th of the month, the jury, after being unable to agree on a verdict was told in open court, by the judge on the bench, that unless they agreed upon a verdict before 5 o'clock this afternoon, they would be held, at their own cost for board and lodging, until they took their trial the last day of the year 1914.

Quietly, for there was the fear of the august presence upon every man and the people there from the court house and across the yard. Then, out of the open, men again, they stopped to get these bargains you must come to see to our store for them.

American Troops Now on Their Way Home From Vera Cruz

Washington, Nov. 23--The American forces of occupation evacuated Vera Cruz today after having been in possession of the city for seven months. The withdrawal of the Americans progressed without disorder. At 11 o'clock they commenced going on the waiting transports, and by half past one they were practically all on board.

As the Americans withdrew Mexican constitutionalists took possession of the city. There was little excitement, little rioting and no trouble of any kind.

Washington, Nov. 23--American troops, after holding Vera Cruz since last April, evacuated the city and sailed for home today. Officials here expect tomorrow will see the Mexican flag flying again over the ancient fortress of San Juan and the American troops will on their way homeward.

Dispatches early today from Major General Funston said his further reports had been withdrawn at 11 o'clock; at ten troops guarding the railroad at the approaches to the city were withdrawn and at eleven the embarkation was on in earnest.

General Funston called for Galveston at noon. He reported constitutionalists troops under General Aguilar were taking possession of the city.

Washington, Nov. 23--The Mexican revolution, which has had its origin in Tampico has cost the United States more than a score of lives, some in battle and some from disease, and according to some estimates, as much as ten million dollars. But Mexico will be asked to pay no indemnity.

CONFERENCE ENDS AFTER MINISTERS ARE ASSIGNED

177 Ministers are Sent to to Serv Congregations During the Coming Year MEETING VERY SUCCESSFUL

Comparatively Few Changes Were Made; Closing Year Has Been Successful, 1,254 New Members Have Been Added.

Washington, Nov. 23--The final session of the Conference was held today and was taken up mainly with the announcements of the appointments of the different members of the conference.

Several committees made reports and some them being the report of the committee on Sabbath observance calling for better Sabbath observance. A law providing for better observance of the Sabbath was advocated.

The orphanage committee reported and contralunated the church on the work of the Methodist Orphanage. The Board of Missions reported. They urged greater zeal and effort of the board to be held at Smithfield January 15-16. Also a country church conference to be held at Trinity College.

Frank Yet Hopelful. Atlanta Ga., Nov. 23--"I still have hope that the death sentence against me will not be executed," declared Leo M. Frank in the county jail here today, when told that Justice Lamar in Washington had refused to grant a writ of error to take his case before the United States Supreme Court for review. The prisoner declined to make further comment.

Leo Frank Denied a New Trial by Justice Lamar in Supreme Court

Washington, Nov. 23--Justice Lamar today refused to issue a writ of error to bring to the Supreme Court, to review the conviction of Leo M. Frank for the murder of Mary Phagan, a factory girl, in Atlanta, Ga., in 1913.

Attorneys applied to Justice Lamar for the writ on the ground that a right under the Federal Constitution had been denied Frank when the jury's verdict was returned during his absence from the court room.

Henry Alexander, attorney for Frank, stated he was unable to say whether the application for the writ would be presented to other justices or not until he had consulted with his associate, Henry Peoples, who is in the suburbs of the city.

Justice Lamar, in denying the application, explained his action in written informal opinion.

After a conference between attorneys Alexander and Peoples, who represent Frank, it was announced to further move would be made today. The attorneys still have the choice of applying to other justices of the court, to the writ they sought unsuccessfully from Justice Lamar or they may apply to the court as a whole when it hears motions next Monday.

There were some indications, however, that the next move in the fight for Frank's life might be directed toward efforts to obtain clemency from the Governor of Georgia or the State Pardons Board.

GREAT LACK OF MEDICAL SUPPLIES IN EUROPE NOW

Greenville Ladies Assisting in Furnishing the Warring Nations With Supplies

Washington, Nov. 23--A distressing lack of medical supplies in Europe is shown by appeals to various relief organizations here and by tremendous orders received from the warring nations by American manufacturers. Reports received at Red Cross headquarters show that the supply of absorbent cotton, bandages, gauze, anesthetics, iodine and alcohol and similar necessities is utterly inadequate.

Several hospitals in France and Belgium have run short of bandages and gauze, and are appealing to the United States for supplies. The Red Cross in making shipments of medical supplies as fast as they can be purchased or donated. Great quantities of hospital clothing supplies and surgical dressings are being received from voluntary organizations of women throughout the country. The French Luce steamship company is forwarding free of charge all donations of supplies for the allied soldiers in France.

Still those in charge of the relief work say all this response constitutes but a fraction of the vast quantity of supplies for which the hospitals of Europe are appealing.

The Sane Soul Book Club wishes to thank the people in Greenville who have contributed to their Old Linn Camp and also the people of Greenville who have so kindly sent us packages by parcel post.

We shall continue collecting all kind of white goods for you can send from the above notice how badly it is needed. Look through your closets, trunks, etc., and send us the white goods for bandages.

We are sending these contributions to the National headquarters in New York where they are made into bandages and pads under medical supervision. Send your old linen to: MRS. J. L. CARPENTER, Mrs. G. B. W. HADLEY, Mrs. FRANK WILSON.

GERMANY'S HOLY WAR.

It seems that Germany is doing its very best to bring about a holy war in Europe and Asia. The selling of the two German ships to Turkey was but an act to create favorable sentiment in Turkey toward Germany. There has been many other acts clearly designed to urge and hasten such a war in Germany's favor. At present, however, all efforts in such directions have failed. It is true that Turkey is at war with the allies but the war was not brought about in such a manner as to cause a holy war. Turkey started the war itself and is having difficulty in getting its own troops to fight, let alone other Moslem people. There are rumors of uprisings in India and other countries peopled by Moslems but these are started in nearly every case by Germany and of course nothing could be expected from her. From reliable sources the general consensus of opinion seems to be the effort to bring about a holy war has failed. The uprisings reported here, when they are true, holding more than those which are generally occurring in such countries and are not due to the present war. It seems that Germany will have to fight her battles with the help of Austria and Turkey, neither of which are in a position to give much help just now.

ANOTHER ROBBERY.

There has been several hold-ups and attempted robberies in this county this fall. Most of those reported have been at night and in lonely places but the one reported this week occurred in broad daylight and just out of town. It was one of the boldest robberies attempted in this part of the State and it shows that there are desperate men in this county. This robber did not hesitate to use his gun and it is a wonder that his victim was not killed instantly. The robber has not been found although blood-hounds were used. It seems that unless some of those robbers are caught and punished there will be no stop put to their operations. They know they can escape and consequently do not hesitate to attempt a robbery. Dogs should be kept within easy reach to put on the trail at the earliest possible moment after such an attempt. Now it requires some time to get the dogs and the negro generally has a good start on his pursuers. With so many such attempts being made no man who is out at night or in the country is safe. Whether a man has any money or not he is liable to be held up and shot. There are farmers coming to this market every day and they should have protection. They are not going to get the proper protection until some of these negroes are caught and punished and every citizen of this county has the right to ask or demand protection. We would certainly like to see some of these negroes apprehended and given long terms in the penitentiary or punishment suitable to the gravity of the crime committed.

FARMERS' UNION.

The North Carolina Farmers' Union is doing things. Not only do we have the word of North Carolinians in attestation of this fact but visitors from other States make the same statement. The Union is educating and uniting the farmers as never before, the spirit of co-operation is everywhere present. The farmers are just beginning to realize that they have been made the goat all these years. As was aptly brought out at the meeting here the farmers are supporting the other part of the people better than themselves. They let the other man fix the price and weight their produce and let him also fix the price and weight of what they buy. All of this is wrong and thanks to organization and co-operation it is being changed. The Union is one of the greatest factors bringing this about and it is just starting.

USE COTTON BAGS.

One of the largest packing houses and fertilizer firms in America, Swift & Company, has just announced that hereafter they will use cotton bags instead of jute bags formerly used for their goods. They are doing this to help the sale of cotton and to increase the home consumption. This one company uses 10,000,000 yards of burlap material a year and it can be seen that this amount of cotton goods will materially aid in the demand for cotton. It has been estimated that if all those manufacturers who have been using jute goods were to change to cotton it would increase this country's consumption of cotton by 2,000,000 bales. As this company depends largely on the farmers for the sale of their goods, especially their fertilizer, this policy shows they are desirous of helping the farmer. This is just another case in which it is as easy to use a home product as an imported one and this change is in line with all of the moves for the aid of the cotton situation. Trotter who a few days ago spoke caustically to President Wilson has been repudiated by the better element of negroes. It is said that his ideas are directly against Booker T. Washington's which explains to a certain extent why he failed things up so. Booker has won the respect and admiration of many people because of his sound views on race relations and we hear nothing about social equality from him. The University has recently sent out a booklet on county clubs which should be in the hands of every man in this State. It is right in line with the community service work which promises to work wonders for our State.

GREENVILLE'S TOBACCO MARKET.

Greenville's tobacco market has made a splendid record so far. The number of pounds sold to date is just a little behind the total sales for last year. With a good deal more tobacco expected this market is going to surpass some of the candidates for first place or second place. It is reported that a fire inspector had, just a few hours before the fire occurred, warned the owner of the building burned recently in Winston-Salem that his building was a fire trap. He also had several doors locked which had formerly been unlocked all the time. Others should profit by this man's mistake. A Wilson county woman had been saving up her egg and chicken money for some years, until the nest contained $65. She put the money in a pocket book and hid the book in a postboard box. Last Saturday she went visiting to a neighbor, and returning home found that a thief had been in the house, and among other things had stolen her money. And there are plenty of banks in Wilson that would have gladly kept the poor woman's money in safety and also paid her interest on it.

CONSERVATION CAUSED BY SHERIFF'S VISIT TO GAMBLERS.

Kingston, Nov. 24.—Sheriff Taylor and Deputy H. V. Allon threw conservation into the camp of a bunch of young gamblers Sunday afternoon while they were strolling through Parrott's Park just beyond the river bridge. There were between 60 and 100 engaged in every kind of small games of chance and the ages ranged from "so high" to "so low". A number of names were secured and some witnesses that will be called upon to tell about it to the grand jury at the December term. For many years the place has been a popular resort for the sporting inclined on Sunday afternoons and some who are not out of their "teens" are frequently found among them.

A WHO SHOWS NO FAVOR.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Greenville resident has withstood this sternest of all tests. Mrs. L. E. Mangum, Fifth St., Greenville, S. C., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are not a new remedy to me as I have used them on different occasions and have found them to be a remedy of great merit. I had been troubled with kidney complaint and a lame and aching back. Finally I procured Doan's Kidney Pills from the J. L. Woolen Co. and used them with beneficial results. I feel justified in recommending this remedy for the benefit I have received. I have had no occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills for the past three years as the cure they made for me has been a lasting one." Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Mangum had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

TAR BEEL RECORD.

Hillsboro, N. C., Nov. 23.—John Laws, aged ninety-four, register of deeds for Orange county for the past sixty-four years and believed to hold the record of the United States for continuous service to an elective office, died of pneumonia at his home here at 5 o'clock this morning. He is the only man who ever held office as register of deeds of Orange county. Laws was twice married the second time when he was eighty-six years of age. He is survived by his second wife and three children by his second marriage.

TOBACCO SALES.

THIS YEAR NEARLY EQUAL TO LAST

Year's Sales, Being Only About 300,000 Pounds Less to Date

GOOD SALES FOR LAST WEEK

Prices are satisfactory and farmers are well pleased with conditions of the market.—Much tobacco to be sold yet.

The tobacco sales on this market this fall have been exceedingly good. In fact present indications are that a great deal more tobacco will be sold here this year than has ever been sold before. While the number of pounds sold each day is not as high as it was some time ago the sales are regular and on one or two occasions last week the sale required almost the full hour to finish. There is a good deal of tobacco yet to be sold and it is expected that heavy sales will occur for some time. When it is all over and the final figures are given out this market is going to compare favorably with the highest seasons.

VIRGINIA-CAROLINA GAME

Battle Royal is Expected in Richmond Thursday.

Chapel Hill, Nov. 23.—There is no doubt but that the Virginia football team is ready for the annual fight with Carolina at Richmond Thanksgiving Day. A report from Charlottesville gave it that a number of the Virginia players were suffering from no slight injuries but it is expected that the Virginia team will be a first class scion when it meets the formidable foe from Chapel Hill.

Indications are that Carolina's opponents will rely on the work of their five particular stars to win the game. But Carolina in this respect is different from her rival. Baker at tackle, Evans at center, Mayer, Ward and Goch in the backfield are true football stars but when they attempt the Tar Heel aggregation they have a whole tea into whip. And the team they meet has as much stuff at their command as Virginia can reasonably handle, and likely more. The Tar Heels are of one equal temper, they have all of their old time fighting to give Virginia the toughest battle she has had in Richmond for many a year.

Ministers Marry in Ohio.

Hamilton, O., Nov. 24.—A strict ministerial wedding will take place here today for the bride-to-be, the groom and the officiating clergy are all related brothers. The bride is Rev. Harry W. Conner, formerly pastor of the First Universalist Church in Kansas City and later head resident of the Swope Settlement in that city. The groom is the Rev. C. Conner, pastor of the Universalist Church in Hamilton. The ceremony is to take place at the home of the bride's brother.

The bride was the first woman to occupy a pulpit in Kansas City. She went there in 1902 and held her pastorate until 1909, when she resigned to continue her studies in settlement work. She is a graduate of Buchel College at Akron, and specialized in sociology in the University in Chicago. In 1912 she returned to Kansas City and took up settlement work, but resigned this spring because of a disagreement with the directors over the policy of the settlement house.

Justice Bows Her Head

to furnish the proof of their allegation, self-defense and upon this admission the Judge overruling the objection of the State gave the defense the opening and closing of the case.

This resulting in an advantage to the defense, evident to every one. The first witness introduced, in the opening of the case was the defendant, S. M. Pollard and Ex-Governor Jarvis examined the witness in reference to the location of objects in the store at the time of the killing. Thursday afternoon, the witness was turned over to the State for cross-examination and the court adjourned with the cross-examination in progress.

Friday morning with the opening of court Judge Peebles stopped the cross-examination with the remark that he did not see how any attorneys with any learning should think that the location of articles in the room of the alleged killing was important.

Attorneys Dumbfounded.
The attorneys were dumbfounded and particularly in view of the fact that the Supreme Court in reviewing the case after the first trial had printed in full this very evidence concerning the location.

Continuing the case, the State introduced a large number, more than thirty of the best citizens of Farmville to prove the bad character of Pollard. During the testimony, Judge Peebles interrupted one of the witnesses and demanded upon what he based the assertion of a bad character. The witness replied that Pollard had been charged with gambling, being a blind tiger and enticing young men into his place that he might secure their money.

In making their arguments, the attorneys for the State, referred to this testimony, and Judge Peebles in his charge instructed the jury that being a gambler, a blind tiger or having a bad character had nothing to do with the case—the only matter to the jury was as to the truthfulness of the defendant. The State was not permitted to introduce evidence to show the previous trouble the dead man, Chief of Police Smith had with Pollard, in order to bring out the theory of premeditation, or intent to kill. Judge Peebles stating that the only evidence permitted would be the events of the time of the killing and the fact of the use of a deadly weapon.

Case Goes to the Jury.
Finally, after a short charge of not over fifteen minutes, the case went to the jury Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. Sunday morning Judge Peebles called the jury before him and when he had given them some further charge concerning the caution with which they should consider the dying statements of Smith, he asked them "how they stood" and added that he meant collectively. One of the jury replied, we are 9 to 3.

Monday morning, when court opened the Judge again sent for the jury and asked them the standing and the reply was "10 to 2". The Judge then said that he would hold the jury together two weeks if they did not agree sooner and reminded them that the trial was costing the State much money and they should consider the necessity of an agreement.

Monday afternoon, the jury was called out again and this time Judge Peebles stated that there was a law somewhere to the effect that if a jury stood two for conviction and ten for acquittal, the two should yield to the ten, but that if it were the other way, the minority should not yield without mature conviction.

Immediately Solicitor Abernathy rose and suggested to the Judge that juries should not be coerced and reminded him that juries had certain powers and duties as well as judges. Judge Peebles replied that he knew his duty and power as well as any judge on the bench and that he could be as stubborn as any juror.

Rumors Concerning The Jury.
But that was not all. Judge Peebles told the jury he had been informed that one man on the jury who had prior to the trial talked with the defendant Pollard and had expressed the opinion that Pollard should be acquitted, and in view of these rumors standing for conviction. If this were the case, said the judge, that man should be indicted for perjury.

Solicitor Abernathy said that he had heard of one man on the jury, who shortly after the previous trial had argued that Pollard should be acquitted, and in view of these rumors concerning the jury, the Solicitor thought they should be discharged and a mistrial ordered.

Here Judge Peebles crossly admonished the Solicitor be quiet, that his advice in this matter had not been asked.

The Climax This Morning.
This morning the climax came—there may be another climax—who knows.

Instead of opening court at 10 o'clock, the bell called the people to gather at 9:15 and the jury was sent for and the jury was still ten to two.

Judge Peebles held in his hands one of the oldest time reports of the Supreme Court—and read an opinion written by Judge Gaston—these who listened wondered if the fact that in the City of Raleigh, this very day, the unrivelling of a bust to the famous Jurist had not drawn the attention of the judge to the opinion. The case was directly opposite to the Pollard case. In the case quoted the presumption was innocence of the crime. In the Pollard case the defendant acknowledged killing with a deadly weapon and stands for acquittal on the ground of self defense.

In the opinion Judge Gaston states that the defendant should be given the benefit of the doubt. Judge Peebles used it as an argument to bring the jury to a verdict of acquittal.

Then—addressing the jury, the judge told them that he would give them until 5 p. m. and that if they had not agreed on a verdict at that hour, he would adjourn court, hold them together, at their own cost for one hour until a verdict was rendered even if it took then until the last hour of the year 1914. He said further that he would instruct the sheriff of the county to adjourn court from day to day until the verdict was brought in.

The audience filed out of the courtroom after the remarkable deliverance—quietly—but out in the yard and on the streets that are saying openly—a clear attempt to coerce a jury.

NEAR LYNCHING AT TARBORO

Tarboro, Nov. 23.—A probable lynching was avoided at Tarboro Saturday night by the escape of a strange negro who, without provocation, struck Mr. Sam Taylor across the head with a club inflicting serious injury. Several negroes gathered in the store of R. B. Hyman and began an altercation. Mr. Hyman ordered them from the store and later, was compelled to forcibly expell them on his place of business. One of the negroes, a stranger, jicked up a club and endeavored to strike Mr. Hyman, but the latter was too quick for the man. Just then Mr. Taylor came around the corner carrying a large sum of money which he intended to pay off his hands. Without a word of warning the negro struck Mr. Taylor. He was taken to the hospital and it was necessary to take eighteen stitches in the wound across his head.

A number of the citizens gathered with shot guns, but were unable to locate the negro, who at 10:30 today had not been captured.

ROBBERS AT DURHAM.

Postoffice at West Durham is Entered On Sunday
Durham, Nov. 23.—This morning when the postoffice was opened it was discovered that it had been entered and robbed. The safe had been opened by the combination and the locks on the outer doors broken. The exact amount of money and stamps taken cannot be given at present but it is believed to be in the neighborhood of $1,000 cash and 3,000 stamps of different denominations. The State inspector is making an inventory to ascertain the exact loss.

The robbers entered the back of the building by spreading the bars apart and breaking the locks of the windows. Every indication shows that it was the work of experts and many think it was the work of one who is familiar with the office.

BLOCK SALE EXPECTED HERE FOR TODAY.
There is an unusually large amount of tobacco in town today. It is estimated at from five to six hundred thousand and the sale will probably be blocked on account of such a large amount being on the floors. The price is good today and bids fair to continue. The rush today is probably due to the fact that no sales will take place this week after tomorrow and the farmers want to get as much sold as possible.
