ITALY'S GREAT WAR
MACHINE GUN NOW READY
Has 1,200,000 Men Under Arms—Equipment Superior to That of the German Army Minister Declares.

On the Italian Frontier, via Paris, April 16—Italy today has 1,200,000 first line soldiers under arms. They are from twenty to twenty-six years of age, perfectly armed and equipped. General Zupelli, Italian minister of war, said today a miracle had been accomplished in Italy, which after maintaining for twenty years a military organization merely for preservation of peace had created one of the most perfect of war machines.

He said the army's equipment was superior proportionately to that of the German army at the beginning of the war.

Eager to Fight.
Eagerness of the soldiers along the frontier to begin action is so great that their officers are compelled to hold them closely in check. Men in a position to speak with authority, however, say the government still hopes to obtain territorial concessions from Austria without a rupture of friendly relations.

Birthdays of underwriters.
Washington, April 17.—The Washington Underwriters, a motley lot of hikers who hit the trail in Maryland and Virginia each Sunday, will tomorrow celebrate the first anniversary of their unique organization. A thousand hikers will be on hand tomorrow night, if the weather is fair. The sunrise section, less in numbers than the rest, will get an early start into the jungles of Rock Creek Park. During the past year the Underwriters have grown in numbers from a little group to a band of five or six hundred. Everything about the hikers is informal, and many women and girls keep the pace and gain health and pleasure on the hikes.

CHRYSLER RESULTS
Many a Greenville Citizen Knows Now
Nothing uncertain about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in Greenville. There is plenty of positive proof of this in the testimony of citizens. Such evidence should convince the most skeptical doctor. Read the following statement:

"I am a sufferer from kidney trouble, and I wish every suffering woman would give a trial. I still use Doan's when I feel a little bad, and it always does me good."

Headache, backache, side ache, nervousness, tired, worn-out feelings, etc., are signs of womanly trouble. Signs that you need Doan's, the woman's tonic. You cannot make a mistake in trying Cardui for your trouble. It has been helping weak, ailing women for more than fifty years.

UNITED STATES THE MEDITATING NATION SAYS WILSON
In Address at the Annual Banquet of the Associated Press Held Yesterday

URGES TRUE NEUTRALITY
Declare United States Has Something No Much Greater to Do Than Fight Sympathy for Mankind Basis of Neutrality.

New York, April 20.—President Wilson, in an address at the annual luncheon of The Associated Press here this afternoon, gave a definite statement of his idea of true neutrality and the duties that devolve upon America in connection with the war.

"The President declared the neutrality of the United States was not a party desire to keep out of trouble because there was something so much greater to do than fight."

No Hampering Ambitions.
"We have no hampering ambitions," he declared; "we do not want a foot of anybody's territory. Isn't such a nation bound to be free to serve the nation's needs?"

The President was introduced by President Frank B. Noyes, of The Associated Press, and was greeted with cheers.

"I am deeply gratified by the generous reception you have accorded me," he said. "It makes me look back with a touch of regret to former occasions when I have stood in this place and enjoyed a greater liberty than has been granted me today. There have been times when I stood in this spot and said what I really thought, and I pray God that those days of indulgence may be accorded me again."

"But I have come here today, of course, somewhat restrained by a sense of responsibility that I cannot escape. For I take The Associated Press very seriously. I know the enormous part that you play in the affairs not only of this country but of the world. You deal in the raw material of opinion, and if my convictions have any validity, opinion ultimately governs the world."

"It is, therefore, of very serious things that I think as I face this body of men. I do not think of you, however, as members of The Associated Press. I do not think of you as men of different parties or of different religious denominations. I want to talk to you as my fellow citizens of the United States."

"For there are serious things as fellow citizens we ought to consider. The times behind us, gentlemen, have been difficult enough; the times before us are likely to be more difficult because whatever may be said about the present condition of the world's affairs, it is clear that they are drawing rapidly to a climax, and at the climax the test will come, not only of the nations engaged in the present colossal struggle—it will come to men of course—but the test will come to us particularly."

No Nation Can Judge Another.
"Do you realize that, roughly speaking, we are the only great nation in the present disengaged? I am not speaking, of course, with disparagement of the greater of those nations in Europe which are not parties to present war but I am thinking of their close neighbor."

GRAHAM INAUGURATED PRESIDENT OF NORTH CAROLINA UNIVERSITY

Chapel Hill, April 20.—An occasion of dignity and moment will be the inauguration of Edward Kidder Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, tomorrow. The interest of constructive citizenship, not only in the state but in the south, is focused on this event with interest deeper than the mere formalities of induction into office of the head of the State's University. It will be a memorable day in the educational history of the State. Leading educators and statesmen from all parts of the country will be present to add dignity to this occasion. Addresses will be delivered by several university heads. Dr. Lowell, Dr. Alderman, Dr. Goodnow, Dr. Finley. A host of distinguished visitors has been invited from within and without the State.

The State has already felt the impulse of Dr. Graham's work. The university under his leadership has perceived a larger field of activity. It has come to realize that it can give its greatest service to the commonwealth by mere educating those who are fortunate enough to enter its walls. Accordingly it has achieved personal touch with thousands of citizens in all parts of the State. Its field is now the State and it seeks to exert an influence over the interest and activities of all her people. This new conception of educational leadership is well shown in the university's new motto: "Maximum service to the people." It points convincingly to the fact that this oldest of American state universities, which 70 years ago produced reformers of the present educational renaissance, such as the late Charles McIver, and President Alderman of the University of Virginia, is today making itself a servant to the needs of the growing commonwealth.

bordered to it. I am thinking how their lives much more than ours touch the very heart and stuff of the business; whereas, we have rolling between us and those bitter days across the water three thousand miles of cool and silent ocean. Our atmosphere is not yet charged with those disturbing elements which must felt and must permeate every nation of Europe. Therefore, it is not likely that the nations of the world will some day turn to us for the cooler assessment of the elements engaged. I am not thinking so preposterous a thought that we should sit in judgment upon them. No nation is fit to sit in judgment upon any other nation, but we should some day have to assist in reconstructing the processes of peace."

T. S. The Mediating Nation
"Our resources are untouched; we are more and more becoming by the force of circumstances the mediating nation of the world in respect of its finance. We must make up our minds what are the best things to do, and what are the best ways to do them. We must put our money, our energy, our enthusiasm, our sympathy into these things; and we must have our judgments prepared and our spirits chastened against the coming of that day."

"Between the time and the month yesterday witnessed isolated but spirited artillery exchanges. A French attack near Broke broke down. Near Croix de-earmes German troops entered the main position of the enemy to the west of Arras and stormed and reconquered the village of Emburgh."

"In the Vosges a French attack on Schiller Heights resulted in failure while the German advance on Arras."

TWO TURKISH TOPEDO BOAT DESTROYERS BLOWN UP IN THE BLACK SEA

Germans Dispute the British Claim of Victories Near Ypres

Paris, April 20.—Two Turkish torpedo boat destroyers were blown up according to a Salonki despatch, while passing through a mine belt which Russian ships had succeeded in laying across the entrance to the Bosphorus while the Turkish fleet was cruising in the Black Sea.

The explosion caused by the destruction of the two Turkish boats gave warning to the remainder of the fleet which, the despatch says, was obliged to remain in the Black Sea because no mine sweepers were available.

Germans Dispute British Victory.
London, April 20.—Although German claims on the one hand and the British and French on the other are diametrically opposed regarding the outcome of the battle for Hill No. 66, southeast of Ypres and near the northern extremity of the British line, the facts at hand indicate that this engagement was the most important along the British front since the battle of Neuve Chapelle, and that it perhaps presages the expected general British victory in Flanders.

The British whether or not they hold all the ground gained, undoubtedly still dominate a part of Zandvoort ridge a line of hills running southeast of Ypres and commanding the road from Ypres to Menin.

Losses Heavy on Both Sides.
The losses in this fighting have not been announced, but despatches reaching London indicate they must have been considerable on both sides. The Germans declare the British used shells containing asphyxiating gases and the British reply is that Germany first resorted to that means of warfare.

The Russians continue to hold their firm grip on the main chain of the Carpathians, but news of decisive action from that arena is lacking.

The British press today is speculating as to the whereabouts of Field Marshal von Hindenburg. Some newspapers suggest that he may attempt a dash toward L'Isle as well as from Craucow, although the idea is advanced that the sony nature of the land would seem to prevent any large movement except at a great cost.

German Official Statement.
Berlin, April 21, by wireless.—A German army headquarters today gave out this report:

"Germanic surprise attacks in the Champagne country yesterday made progress while a French attack in the Argonne, north of Le Four de Paris, resulted in failure."

"Between the time and the month yesterday witnessed isolated but spirited artillery exchanges. A French attack near Broke broke down. Near Croix de-earmes German troops entered the main position of the enemy to the west of Arras and stormed and reconquered the village of Emburgh."

"In the Vosges a French attack on Schiller Heights resulted in failure while the German advance on Arras."

British Forces Occupy Town in South Africa.
Cape Town, Union of South Africa, April 20.—Forces of the Union of South Africa have occupied Keaton-shop, the most important town in German Southwest Africa, next to Windhoek, the capital. It is an important railroad junction and gives General Botha, the Boer leader, command of the railroad to Windhoek.

German Victory in East Africa.
Berlin, April 20 (by wireless).—A German victory over a British land force in East Africa, in which the British had to have lost 700 men, is described in dispatches made public today by the Overseas Agency. The British, sent ashore from cruisers and transports, encountered a German force near Pangani, says the announcement, and "lost 700 men, among them four companies captured, besides many rifles and large stores of ammunition."

"The German casualties were 100 men and thirteen men killed; four officers and twenty-two men wounded."

BRIDGE CARPENTER FALLS 22 FEET FROM DERRICK RECEIVING SERIOUS INJURIES

A young white man, W. Rob. Kloss, yesterday received severe injuries when he fell from a derrick while working with the Bridge Force of the Norfolk Southern Railroad Co. The accident occurred yesterday afternoon about one o'clock on the trestle near the head of Mr. L. C. Arthur in the Southeastern part of the city. Kloss was on the pin to the brace-arm of the plectrider and in some way the pin broke throwing the young man about 22 feet to the ground where he fell on a piece of iron. He received a scalp wound about four inches deep, bruised the severe cut his right eye, besides, several bones in his right hand were broken his wrist was sprained and his right leg fractured.

Kloss is about twenty-three years of age and his home is at High Falls, N. C. He had been working with the railroad for some time as a Bridge Carpenter. His wounds were dressed by Dr. Laughinghouse and he is now receiving attention in an apartment at the Aeroplane Flat on Dickinson avenue.

It was reported this afternoon that his condition was very satisfactory and that he was getting along as well as could be expected.
