Was a Member of The Pitt County Convict Force Working on The Roads.

A GUARD DID THE STRIKING

Claims Negro Was Attacking Him With a Heavy Pick.

Because he was struck down with a gun by a Mr. Bland a convict guard Graham Harrington, a negro, on the convict force is in the county home with a badly swollen head. The affair happened last Saturday and it is claimed by Mr. Bland that the negro was attacking him with a pick, and that to protect himself, he struck the negro across the head with a gun. There are, however, conflicting reports, some claiming that the negro was struck without any cause.

Mr. Bland has been suspended from the force, and an investigation into the affair is in progress.

While suffering from a severely bruised head, the negro is in no danger, say the physicians.

SILLMAN CLAIMS THAT CARRANZA IS FOR PEACE

Talk of Mexican Chief Is Regarded as Being Sincere and to be Trusted.

TELLS IT TO MR. LANSING

Carranza Has Large Number of Followers in Mexico.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Secretary Lansing conferred today on the Mexican situation with John R. Silliman, the State Department's special representative at Vera Cruz, and with Ambassador Naon of Argentina, preliminary to the third Pan-American conference here next Saturday. Later the Secretary said he had no announcement to make and that Saturday's meeting would take place as planned and it would then be decided whether further

BIG FAIR GOES ON IN THE EAST

Crowds Continue to Visit The Fair At New Bern.

NEW ATTRACTIONS ON MIDWAY

Every Train Brings Load of Visitors.

New Bern, Oct. 8.—It is estimated that fully five hundred visitors arrived in the city this morning via railroad for the purpose of attending the great Eastern Carolina fair now in progress here. These combined with the hundreds of visitors who have come in since the fair opened on Tuesday morning, increase the throng of visitors to at least a thousand.

Today is one of the "big days" at the fair and since the grounds were thrown open to the public this morning they have been literally thronged with sightseers and merry makers and every one who has paid the going to be a "red letter day" in the place a visit declare that today is history of the fair.

Since last night a number of new exhibits have been added in all departments and special efforts have been made to make the midway more attractive and the horse racing and other events more thrilling than has been the case any previous day during the week. This afternoon New Bern's business houses, the postoffice and many of the manufacturing plants are going to be closed down and the local citizens are going out to the grounds en masse and it is believed that the largest crowd ever assembled on the grounds will be there this afternoon.

Johnston & Foxhall's Report.

Our sales yesterday of 60,000 pounds at an average of 14 1-4c for all on the floor which is the best sale we have made this season. We sold wrappers and cutters from 25c to 65c per pound and averaged several of our customers over 30c around for entire load.

When you get your next barn ready bring it to us and we will do you likewise. All bright tobaccos are higher and our buyers are eager to buy them.

We have second sale next Monday and the first sale Tuesday. We want you to come to see us.

meetings were necessary. Mr. Silliman went to the White House from the State Department and arranged to see the President later in the week. He is here at his own suggestion to report on the situation in Vera Cruz.

Conditions at Vera Cruz, Mr. Silliman said, were much better than supposed in the United States.

The Carranza movement was unified, he said, and he believed General Carranza sincere in his promises of carrying out the plans of Guadalupe. Reports from Mexico City he admitted were conflicting but it was believed he said that conditions were improving.

Carranza's great superiority in numbers, Mr. Silliman thought would make it possible for him to subdue Zapata raiders and the fact that only a small part of the Vera Cruz-Mexico City

Washington, Oct. 8.—President Wilson and Mrs. Norman Galt, whose engagement has been announced, spent yesterday and today reading congratulatory messages from all over the United States. Many telegrams congratulating the couple have been received from prominent men throughout the United States.

The President is seen around the White House now with a smile on his face, while Mrs. Galt seems to be just as happy.

Plans for the honeymoon will probably consist of a trip to the Exposition and other points of interest in the west.

Zeno Ham Works Hard But Is Not Paid For It—Bill Presented To Council.

BOYS CHOKED UP SEWER

Ham's Bill Was For Only Fifty Cents—Made Out In Fine Style.

Kinston, Oct. 8.—Small boys choked a pipe on the Jim-Crow fountain on Gordon street, near Queen, with paper. Their effort was highly successful for a time. It required Zeno Ham several hours strenuous work to remedy the matter.

Now the City of Kinston owes Mr. Ham half a dollar. He presented a bill. The bill is a masterpiece. It is full of handsome adjectives and beautiful adverbs. Mr. Ham's bill should in fact, two half dollars, for it must have required him just as long to compose the paper as to get the paper out of the spout. The bill is at the Clerk's office, referred to the Water and Light commissioner. It has been officially intimated that it will be paid. It is a literary gem. The sentences are admirably constructed. Mr. Ham, by the way, has written poetry at one time or another. It will be wise for the city to settle the account for, although he is, as his acquaintances are aware, migratory, if he should be here at the next election he might think well before he votes.

Then, besides nearly all in the town are located on the western end of Gordon street. Suppose one of those highly imaginative persons had discovered before Mr. Ham that the fountain was suddenly non-Jim-Crow. The result would have been alarming. But the public spirited citizen was on the job and did with zeal and diligence and the people's interest at heart set about to and did successfully remove the said obstruction.

Mr. Ham says it was like this: "Them there devilish boys had been foolin' with that thing and I pulled out of News 'n' Observer or something out of it after the longest kind of time."

Mr. Ham further states that he presented the account to Council at a meeting which lasted four hours and that it was tabled with barely any consideration which was a "b-l of a way to treat a feller" even if Council was busy with a matter involving a hundred and sixty thousand dollars for street improvements.

FIVE NEGROES MAKE ESCAPE FROM THE JAIL

Cut Bars With Hack Saw And Were Gone Pretty Quick—Jump 15 Feet.

OFFICERS ARE IN SEARCH

Not Known Which Way They Went After Escape.

Five negroes confined in the county jail cut the bars over one of the second story windows, dropped fifteen feet to the ground and made their escape through a hole in the yard fence, today about two o'clock.

It is not known how the negroes secured the hack saw with which they cut the bars. No one seems to know much about the breaking, except that the negroes are gone. Their names are, Don Atkinson, Pitt Parker, Sylvanus Burse, Babe Fleming and Jack Moore.

People near the jail saw them making the escape and notified the officers. The officers are instituting search with the hopes of catching at least one or two of them.

HAVE YOU ARRANGED THE EXHIBIT?

It is only a matter of a few days before the State Fair will open up in fall swing at Raleigh, at which time it is expected that most every county in the State will be represented with an exhibit. We are not entertained so much with the other counties, though we would like to see them represented, but we are more entertained with whether or not Pitt county is going to be represented.

Several times we have called attention to our county friends to arrange for a suitable exhibit by which to show what this county is doing in the matter of getting ahead.

Not from a mere standpoint of a hobby are we advocating the taking of an exhibit to the Fair from Pitt, but we are advocating it from a standpoint of the benefits the county will derive from it.

It is needless to say what these results or benefits will be. Too many times have we told our people of the valuable amount of advertising that will be derived, and too many times have we told them of the interest that is in existence all over the country to know what the Eastern Carolinians are doing, and in what better manner can we show them than by taking some of our products to display before their eyes?

Now it's up to the people here to get busy and arrange for the exhibit to Raleigh.

PROPER ROAD MAINTENANCE

Pitt county is doing a good deal of road building just at this time, and while the roads that have been built are being kept in a fairly good shape, too much stress can not be laid on proper maintenance.

The Seventh Annual Convention of the Southern Appalachian Good Roads Association is to be held soon, and road maintenance will receive an immense amount of discussion. Following is a part of the plan as is arranged.

At this convention emphasis will be given to the question of Road Maintenance, and the leading paper on this subject will be given by Hon. Henry G. Shirley, state road engineer of Maryland.

Discussion of this topic will be led by Hon. Robert C. Terrell, commissioner of public roads of Kentucky. There will also be an illustrated lecture by Mr. M. O. Eldridge, acting director of the United States office of Public Roads and Rural Engineering. Addresses will be given by the attorney general of West Virginia, Hon. A. A. Hilly and by Hon. M. V. Richards, industrial commissioner of the Southern Railway.

We should like very much to see Pitt county take enough pride in her good roads to make certain that those that are built are maintained. That they are kept up to the very highest standard that is possible, and in doing this, the citizens of the county should cooperate with the road forces and see that it is done.

FASHION IS FOOLISH

We notice by the exchange we have received at the latest thing in women's attire that there is to be a marked difference this fall and winter in the way the ladies are to attire themselves.

Incidentally, we have noticed a few of the girls attired in the new affair.

Words fail us to describe it, but instead of wearing furs around the neck and shoulders this fall, the girls won't wear a thing. Other words their shoulders are to be bare, or if it must be made still plainer, just as naked as naked nature herself. What there is that makes fashion so fickle is too much for us to even try to fathom; it must be that there has been a desire born in the designers to vie with each other in seeing who can produce the most near-nakedness and still not have the cops take them in for displaying their entire anatomy.

There is something strange in all this fickleness of the growing up race of girls. Our old grand mothers would never have thought of displaying their bare shoulders to the gaze of the young men, but with the young things that are with us now, this is a pleasure and delight. Because the young things like to cross their legs, moved Col. Bob Gray to remark that they did it in order to display their legs and we suppose that it is for the purpose of showing their body that they want to leave off their shirt waists.

But it is not attractive to the men. Few men like to see women attired in a manner that is the least bit suggestive of the immodest, and if what we are writing about isn't suggestive, we should like to know what is.

There are still a few of the old fashioned girls left who do not follow the wake of fashion, but they are few. The most of the present day generation is hitting the high places.

Well, there has been much said and written about the fashions of the women by the men, but it does not do any good, so it rests for them to wake to the utter folly that they are in by trying to keep up with fashions that are designed—many of them—by the wine drinkers and tango dancers of the large cities.

UNITED STATES FOREIGN RELATIONS

This is a time when the relations between the United States and the other nations of the globe should be at the most friendly attitude. The United States should hold her head up among the others, for she alone out of the number of great nations is left out of war that is wrecking havoc in three fourths of the world. It is a time when the United States' policies towards the foreign nations must be carried along with master diplomacy if we are to hold our prestige as a nation.

It is towards establishing such conditions as these that the majority of the citizens of the United States will ask the sixty fourth Congress to provide a larger navy for the United States. It is not the alarmists and jingollists that are backing this move for larger navy, but it is the sturdy heads of this nation that are doing it. It is the men foremost in the hearts of the American citizens, too, who have announced that they will support the issue to provide a larger and more adequate navy for the United States. It is the men, namely, President Wilson and Hon. Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, who are now directing all the attention of the American public towards better preparedness through an efficient navy.

We take off our hats to these two staunch Democrats, who have shown that they are alive to the needs of their country, and that they want to see the American navy the best.

It is nothing but logic, pure and simple, to say that to establish and maintain foreign relations of harmony with the world, we must have something with which to impress our diplomacy. We must have something to demonstrate to the other nations of the world that we are capable of standing by what we say. When we get into such a position as that, then we will have half the problem of diplomacy solved.

There is no diplomacy unless we have something to back it up with. The other fellow won't listen much to the argument of his weaker brother.

The same thing is applicable to our foreign relations.

Our American citizens, who love their country, should back up the plan to have an adequate navy and army, and should lend all the aid possible for this movement.

It is to the interest of our civilization and to our foreign relations that they should do this.

Quite a discussion is in progress in the columns of the New York World about the men keeping their feet on the floor. If the women kept their feet as close to the ground as the men, we would be barred from many sights.

The News and Observer is advertising for a "competent and efficient police management". Seems as if Rocky Mount might spare the News and Observer one that is efficient, judging from the number of tigers it catches.

GREENVILLE, N. C. FRIDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1915. NUMBER 5

WASHINGTON, OCT. 14.—Fifty tons of coal tar dyestuffs of German manufacture arrived in New York today on the steamer St. Louis, consigned to the Secretary of Commerce. The shipment is for the account of Wm. A. Mitchell, of Lowell, Mass., representing the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers. In a statement the Commerce Department said: "Several months ago the secretary consented to act as consignee of two cargoes of dyes from Germany for which safe passage was assured by agreement upon the express condition that the Secretary of Commerce would be the consignee. The embargo upon the exportation of these cargoes from Germany has not been lifted. Arrangements were, however, made by American manufacturers with the British government whereby that government has permitted the exportation to the United States of the dyes coming on the St. Louis. It is hoped that this is the first of a series of similar shipments."
