EASTERN REFLECTOR

GREENVILLE, N. C.

D. J. WHICHARD, Editor.

Material for the Eastern Reflector should be sent to the Editor, D. J. Whichard, Greenville, N. C.

Friday, January 5, 1900.

McKinley evidently regards the "Standard Oil crowd" as a pretty good friend to have, when a difficult and expensive campaign is coming on, judging from the way his Secretary of the Treasury is favoring the National City Bank in the matter of depositing the internal revenue receipts in that bank.

Miss Addie Williams, who for ten years has been editor of the Charlotte Observer—and she is the best local editor in the State—has resigned her position on that paper and taken a similar position on the Charlotte News. The reason for the change is that Miss Williams found the night work required on the Observer too taxing for her, and the News being an afternoon paper makes her work lighter. Mr. I. A. Avery succeeds her on the Observer. He is an excellent writer.

Last Sunday's issue of the Raleigh News and Observer was one of the most useful papers that the State has yet had. It was twenty-four pages, filled with valuable matter showing the progress made in the past year. There were interesting letters from nearly all the prominent towns giving the advancement each had made along different lines and the prospects of future development. Prominent educators gave a list of what the colleges have done, and leading churches told of what the different denominations had accomplished in this great work. It is a paper worth preserving.

Destroying The Children.

"Do American men and women realize that in five cities of our country alone there were during the last school term over sixteen thousand children between the ages of eight and fourteen taken out of the public schools because their nervous systems were wrecked, and their minds were incapable of going on any further in the internal cramming system which exists today in our schools?" inquires Edward Bell in the January Ladies' Home Journal. "And these sixteen thousand helpless little swells," he continues, "are simply the children we know about. Conservative medical men who have given their lives to the study of children place the number whose health is shattered by over-study at more than fifty thousand each year. It is putting the truth mildly to state that, of all American institutions, that which deals with the public education of our children is at once the most faulty, the most unintelligent and the most cruel."

A Smile in Each.

This weather makes the coal-bin look like a has-been. It's a whole lot easier for some men not to drop a drink than not to drink a drop. Because a man's barber that doesn't give him any license to follow his wife. All distant relatives may not be wealthy, but all wealthy relatives are pretty sure to be distant. A sick man hasn't much chance for recovery when his pulse is very low, and still less when his pulse is in that condition. "It's advisable for a man to keep his temper," says the Maudsley Philosopher, because when it goes he's liable to give himself away with it."

ORIGINEAL OBSERVATIONS.

Made by the Orange Va. Observer.

Weak pocketbooks follow Christmas week. The cream of experience is obtained from spilled milk. If we annex Canada, there will be the ascending cashiers go for safety!

Ministers are floating on the Christmas tide of maternal fondness. The strongest attachment in the world is a woman in love—with herself. Children bring themselves up now-a-days and run over their parents if they get in the way. Woman is always winner, for we hear a great deal about Christmas Eve, but never a word about old Christmas Adam.

The South Misrepresented.

There are northern papers that are very easily misled. In 1896, when the South was divided by the war, and that gold was in favor of the Union, the Northern papers were full of lies. Now you will find it was a fact that the South was for expansion and a great deal of it. You would suppose from what is said that quite two-thirds or three-fourths of the Southern whites were warm for McKinley's foreign policy and ready for all its consequences. Unless the Messenger is very great, it is really the other way—just that quite three-fourths of the democrats are against McKinley's foreign policy and against violating the letter and spirit of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States. There are some Southern newspapers that favor expansion and conquest just as there were in 1896, many of which were for gold only, but the people are not that way. We can not doubt that it is a gross misrepresentation for any man or newspaper to state that the South is for conquering and holding the Philippines and making other conquests in time. Northern men go back and tell newspapers that the South is simply enthusiastic that way. We believe it is not true, but a gross deception. There are greedy, selfish men who favor grabbing other people's lands, just as there are Englishmen who favor land-grabbing all around the globe. But in the South, we must believe from evidence that seems conclusive, that the sense of the democratic party in the South is very strong in opposition to McKinleyism and all it means.—Wilmington Messenger.

No One Fears Death.

"I have seen thousands of persons die under all sorts of circumstances, and never yet have I seen one display the slightest fear of death." This remarkable statement was made the other day, according to the Philadelphia Record, by a physician who has practiced many years in Philadelphia, and who has seen a great deal of hospital service.

"It is a popular fallacy," he went on, "to imagine that a death-bed scene is ever terrible, other than as a parting between loved ones. The fear of the unknown is never present at the last. Even amid ignorance and vice I have never experienced such scenes as a novelist, who strives after realism, will sometimes picture. "When a patient is told that he cannot recover and the end is near, he invariably seems resigned to his fate, and his only thought seems to be of those who are to be left behind. This is true alike of men and women."

Those who become hysterical and declare they are not fit to die are the ones who are not fit as they think they are. These all ways get a phsy-chological reason? Oh, I don't know that there is any. It's just a human trait."

Brother Dickey's New Year Notes.

De season fer swarin' off is ebort ezde measles, but mo' whole some, ef you sticks ter it. De Good Resolution kin hol' his own, but he fin' it mighty hard work ter hol' de man what made him. De comin' year ain't gwine be no year er properly unless you rolls up yo' sleeves ter make it so. Dar's life in de ole las' yit, but ef you want ter see it you might er well make up yo' min' ter dig deep. Rev. E. C. Glenn, former pastor of Central church, has gone to Chicago to take a course in the Bible school. He has gifts as an evangelist and will probably engage in the work of an evangelist after finishing his course in the Bible school.—Raleigh News and Observer.

WINTERVILLE DEPARTMENT.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Jan. 3, 1900. Josh Manning has a position as clerk with R. F. Manning & Co. Joseph Fornes, from Greenville, is now living in the house formerly occupied by H. T. Smith. R. H. Hunsucker is back from Catthage, where he has been spending Christmas with relatives. Fred Smith, the carriage man, is here carrying a full line of carriage builder's material. Arden Nobles, of Vanceboro, has just moved in town. He has rented a farm from A. G. Cox. That long looked for ear of salt, which B. F. Manning & Co.'s, customers have been waiting for so long, arrived yesterday. L. N. Edwards will move tomorrow. He is going back to his farm this year. We regret to lose him and wish him a prosperous year. Lewis Kittrell has taken charge of his new house here at last, having moved in this week. His house is a nice one and with some work he will have the best house in town. We beg to inform all those who noticed our mistake in Winterville items some time ago, saying that the nineteenth century would be out in a few days, that the twentieth century will not be here until Jan. 1st, 1901. Last Tuesday morning Billie Tippy's horse became frightened at the train and jumped through the glass front of one of A. G. Cox & Bro.'s brick stores, smashing the entire front, and all, except one large pane. The horse was blind and was left standing tied. He ran into a walling here some time ago, breaking a plank and hurting himself right badly. It looks like his owner would learn to be careful some time.

GRIFTON ITEMS.

GRIFTON, N. C., Jan. 2, 1900. C. J. Tucker, E. Laug, Bryant Gardner and R. C. McCotter went to Greenville Monday. Miss Katie Kinsey, of New Bern, was here Monday. Ed. Brother Dickey's New Year Notes.

De season fer swarin' off is ebort ezde measles, but mo' whole some, ef you sticks ter it. De Good Resolution kin hol' his own, but he fin' it mighty hard work ter hol' de man what made him. De comin' year ain't gwine be no year er properly unless you rolls up yo' sleeves ter make it so. Dar's life in de ole las' yit, but ef you want ter see it you might er well make up yo' min' ter dig deep. Ef de cow kicks de milk over in de New Year, de tank de Lawd fer water en keep a goin'—Atlanta Constitution.

Rev. E. C. Glenn, former pastor of Central church, has gone to Chicago to take a course in the Bible school. He has gifts as an evangelist and will probably engage in the work of an evangelist after finishing his course in the Bible school.—Raleigh News and Observer.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

Greensboro had two big fires Sunday morning. By the first the loss was $100,000 and by the second $20,000.

Rev. Dr. A. G. McManaway, a North Carolinian, died Monday at St. Louis, Mo.

Another case of smallpox has been found in Charlotte.

Laurinburg, in Scotland county, has organized the first constitution at amendment club for the campaign.

It is stated that the report that the employees of a certain division of the Southern Railway had been forbidden to smoke cigarettes is an error.

One hundred State convicts are to begin work next month on the Tarboro & Eastern railroad.

At Wilson on Saturday night W. D. Ruffin, a merchant, shot and killed Richard Bullock, another merchant, doing business next door. Ruffin is under arrest.

The man who wears his hair longest doesn't always have it longest.

Man may be made of clay, but that doesn't signify that all men are bricks.

The salesmen who travel for a long time are not long time.

Talk is said to be cheap, but the chap who goes out to buy a parrot won't think so.

There are many ups and downs in my business," remarked the fractious milkman as he worked the pump handle vigorously.

The report of the North Carolina corporation commission for 1899 shows that on the railroads of the State in the year two passengers were killed and 63 injured. In the same time 24 employees were killed and 622 injured.

Minstrels Friday Night.

The people were so well pleased with the performance of the Ocala Minstrels last Friday night, that they have requested the boys to give another, and they will do so next Friday night, 5th. It will not be a repetition of the former one, but at the next performance there will be almost an entire change of programme, with new jokes, new songs, and new specialties. Professional minstrel troupes give no better performances than the home boys give, and by attending you not only get the worth of your money in fun, but also help the band get uniforms. Remember the date, Friday night.
