Money Under Horse's Skin.

We notice in one of our Northern exchanges that a quarter of a dollar and a dime has been found in a horse's shoulder and that there is a great deal of discussion as to how that money got into the horse's flesh. Dr. J. B. Ashcraft says that he has cut more than one piece of silver from horse shoulders and that the money is put under the skin by superstitious fools who believe that it is a cure for shrinkage of the muscles of the shoulder. The Yankees have gone us one better, for in the country no one has ever been known to put more than a dime under the skin of a horse's shoulder.—Monroe Enquirer.

Advertising Makes Business Grow.

A man who should plant vegetable or flower seeds and expect them to germinate and the plants to flourish and reach maturity without any further attention would have his trouble for his pains. A man who should start a business venture and expect it to become successful without the aid of publicity would also waste his time and cash. A business needs advertising quite as much as plants need air and sunshine and freedom from choking weeds.—Philadelphia Record.

Down in Georgia the negroes seem to try themselves. But the other day a brilliant young man was shot and killed by a negro in a street car. Both are now in their graves. Since then, in Atlanta, drunken negroes boarded a street car and became outrageously profane and obscene in language and cursed out a gentlemen riding with his wife. The Journal says that the white men in the car ejected the offending negroes. One of the latter drew his knife and made a murderous lunge at a white man. Another threatened to shoot. After the negroes were put off they stoned the car, breaking one of the glass windows and wounding a passenger. Four were arrested. Two are now undergoing punishment, and two are in jail awaiting trial for other and even more serious offenses. Rowdies should be cleared up promptly. The Journal says: "The regulation requiring separate seats for white and colored passengers to be set apart in street cars should be strictly and impartially enforced, and all rowdism, whether from white or colored passengers, should be promptly suppressed and the offenders properly punished. "Ladies and children must be protected on street cars as well as elsewhere." Georgia is cursed with a great many bad negroes.—Wilmington Messenger.

The Prosperity of the South.

Col. Jas. E. Tate, a well known capitalist and manufacturer of this city and world-wide traveler; a cousin of Admiral Schley and a nephew of the late Governor and member of Congress, William Schley, of Georgia, speaking of the South, which he had recently visited, stated that no section of the United States was in a more prosperous condition or had a brighter future before it than the Southern States. This has been brought about largely by the present price of cotton and what the next crop will sell for. He says North Carolina is the most prosperous and progressive State in the South, caused mainly by the many cotton factories built there in the past ten years with home capital. South Carolina is also becoming quite prosperous and is building many new cotton factories. Alabama and Tennessee are coming to the front rapidly caused principally by their valuable products of coal and iron. He knows of no better section than the South for industrious white immigration to seek for homes and to engage in farming, merchandising, manufacturing, mining, etc., or for capitalists to seek investments. The climate is agreeable all the year round; a healthy country. Good land at from $5 to $10 an acre. The cotton factories of the South have been paying for years dividends of from 10 per cent. up to as high as 100 per cent. annually. He thinks that with diversified farming, manufacturing and mining, and with an industrious white immigration encouraged in settling in the South, that in 20 years from now that it would be the most prosperous and richest section of the United States.—Baltimore Herald.

The Proposed Trust Amendment.

The proposition to amend the Federal Constitution so as to enable Congress to deal more effectively with the Trusts, which has been favorably reported from the House Judiciary Committee, is so obviously a campaigning move to cover the flank of the Republican party during the coming Presidential contest that it will fail to make a serious impression upon the public mind. The task of amending the Constitution is one of the greatest practical difficulties, and requires years of effort. The tendency toward the enlargement of Federal power is viewed with alarm by the great majority of people. The fact that Congress has steadily refused to exercise the power which it already possesses to deal with the Trusts in itself furnishes a reason to doubt the propriety of further grants of power. It is safe to say that nothing will come of the proposed amendment after it shall have done its duty as a campaign expedient. It will be quickly laid on the shelf along side of "reciprocity," "international bimetalism" and other like toys with which scheming political adventurers have sought to throw dust in the eyes of voters.—Philadelphia Record.

In Chicago the other day a street car conductor stopped a funeral procession in order to administer a thrashing to the driver of the hearse. The driver had persistently refused to turn out of the tracks to allow the car to pass, and, upon being invited by the conductor to visit the car barn in order to take a "licking" at some future time when both parties to the dispute should be at leisure, he proposed to settle the matter at once. He climbed down from the hearse, was knocked out in the first round, and the blockade was lifted.

One of the Best.

At the meeting of the Southern Cotton Spinners' association in Charlotte, N. C., last week, it was mentioned in one of the speeches that "the crowning glory of cotton factories of the south is that they make the women of the rural districts wage earners and self-supporting, and enable them to care for and support their aged and infirm parents in the decline of life." There are a number of good sides to the growth of the cotton industry in the South but this is certainly one of the best of them.—Baltimore News.

A sharp New York woman made a great business deal last week by securing the title to a house worth $7,000 or $8,000 for $1,700. She owned a lot at One-hundred and sixtieth street and Washington avenue, Harlem, and learning that a large, handsome brick house a block away had been condemned to make way for municipal improvements, she purchased the structure for $200. Then she contracted with a house mover to move the building to her lot for $1,500. The contractor says that he can move the house to its new site with practically no damage.

Peanut Butter.

Peanut butter has become an important commercial product, and it is calculated that but for the large quantity used—upwards of 2,000,000 pounds—the enormous crop of 1899, aggregating 4,500,000 bushels of twenty-two pounds each would long ago have forced prices so low as to render the business of cleaning the nuts unprofitable. There are ten manufacturers of peanut butter in this country, the principal ones being Purity Nut Fruit Company, New York; Van Pragg & Co., New York; Fulton Mills Company, Fulton, N. Y.; Battle Creek Company, Battle Creek, Mich.; and Santos Food Company, Chicago, Ill. The pure product is said to contain more nutriment than yeast, beef, flour, milk and many other articles of daily consumption. It is used in sandwiches, soups, fillings, dressings, and sauces. The product is made by grinding the nuts very fine and reducing the mass to a pasty substance, a portion, at least, of the large amount of oil contained being removed. Salt is added for flavoring, and the result is a hygienic and nourishing compound. In an interview with a representative of the New York Journal of Commerce, the New York agent of one of the peanut butter makers said: "Peanut butter is rapidly coming to the front as an article of common use. The largest makers are located in the South and West, and at the present rate of increase it is safe to assume that within a few years the bulk of a much larger annual production of peanuts will be consumed in the manufacture of the product. It is estimated at the present time that there are upwards of $10,500,000 worth of peanuts used in this country every year. Considering that the peanut is not a staple this consumption is enormous. There are four grades, the first three, known as fancy, fancy hand-picked, and No. 1s, are sold to vendors, and the fourth to confectioners for making burnt almonds and cheap candies. It is estimated that confectioners use fully 50 per cent. of the crop the remainder going into consumption through vendors and in butter. Owing to the short crop in 1898, we imported a small quantity of peanuts from Africa, but this year the production has been so large that in some sections the stock has been difficult to market at a profit. The bulk of the crop is produced in Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina. On the market what are known as Spanish nuts, used chiefly in the confectionery trade, are grown principally in Tennessee and Virginia. "The demand for peanut butter is growing steadily, but the product has had to contend with many setbacks since its introduction two years ago. Many of the manufacturers who started in the business during the first few months brought the product into disfavor by using inferior nuts and cheap ingredients. This practice resulted in the turning out of a very inferior article, which turned round and unfit for food in a short while. Grocers who bought largely of the poor stuff had to throw it away or sell it for wagon grease. The effect of this unscrupulous manufacture was felt in all quarters, and reduced the business of the honest producers materially. There is, however, a good demand for a first class article, and the withdrawal of the cheap product from the market has stimulated sales to a great extent. There is a large business in salted peanuts, the manufacture being in many respects similar to that used in almonds."—American Grocer.

The American Grocer says the winter wheat crop of 1900 is estimated at 393,458,000 bushels, an increase over 1899, of nearly 100,000,000 bushels. Such a crop as that will be followed by a fall in the price of flour.

There is a minister of Kinross who says he never has to buy an umbrella. Enough and more are left in church for him and the sexton's use.—Kinross Free Press.

We are of the opinion that neither the minister nor the sexton has any legal or moral right to make use of umbrellas left in church.

The county is to be congratulated upon having such a ticket. They are all good men and will lead the party to a splendid victory.

part of that erratic epistle, and especially fortunate and accommodating, not to say "fornocinated" for the latter leaves of its existence "through the newspapers," and it is said that it at once became highly important to the "dear people" that Butler should arrange with Holton for a "joint canvass" between the twins—inducous as it may appear to the uninitiated. Then you see, in order to secure a discussion between the Democratic and Republican candidates Mr. Holton would hold that it was necessary to start a triangular debate—because he (Mr. Holton) could not be so disconcerted with his twin brother (Mr. Butler) as to show partiality in accepting the invitation of Mr. Simmons and refusing the "challenge" of Mr. Butler.

Then what?
SCHEME TO SAVE ADAMS.
One of two results (either of which would be preferable to having Aycock fix Adams alive and exhibit the latter gentlemen's deficiencies and general unfitness all over the State to a disgusted constituency) must follow: There would be no joint canvass at all (in case Simmons continued to refuse to consider the Populists as a party "entity" and therefore not entitled to the consideration shown in a regular and separate organization), or else Thompson would be let into the game to help Spencer, incidentally, and the opportunity desired—that is distracting the public mind from the real question at issue—would be secured. Mr. Holton's reply to Mr. Simmons will reach the latter by way, probably, by Holton while the latter is still in the chair.

JORDAN FACTORY BURNED.

ANOTHER SERIOUS LOSS TO GREENVILLE.
Firemen Do Splendid Work in Saving Adjoining Property.
About 9 o'clock Tuesday night the tobacco factory of M. P. Jordan & Co., located near the railroad, was found to be on fire. When discovered the roof of the boiler room was all in flames. The first department and hundreds of citizens hurried to the scene but the fire had made such headway that the factory could not be saved.

The storage warehouse just south of the factory was also destroyed. Both the buildings belonged to Mr. R. A. Tyson. The factory was occupied by M. P. Jordan & Co., of Danville. They had about one hundred and fifty hogheads of tobacco in the building and only four hogheads could be rolled out.

As the factory shut down about a month ago for the season, the origin of the fire is a mystery. The loss is estimated at about $15,000. M. P. Jordan & Co. had insurance on stock for $7,850, and machinery for $1,600. R. A. Tyson had on factory building $3,000, on storage warehouse $200 and on stock in warehouse $400. The total insurance was $13,650, all of which was in H. A. Wyck's agency.

The Farmers Warehouse was slightly damaged and covered by insurance. Mr. Tyson was just getting material together for sending to having the factory enlarged before the next season.

Resolutions of Respect.
Whereas, it hath pleased God to call from our midst, Greenville Lodge No. 284 A. F. & A. M., one most excellent and worthy brother Jacob Joyner, from Labor to Rest, Tuesday morning the 8th day of May, 1900, who has for many years been a member of our ancient order, and who by his upright life and exemplary conduct as a friend, father, and citizen, has united the esteem, not only of his brethren, but the entire community, in which he had lived for seventy years.

Now therefore be it resolved,
1st. That we extend to his family the sympathy of the members of this Lodge, and pray that the consolation of the God whom our brother worshipped may be heard and about them in their bereavement.
2nd. That in memory of our departed brother the members of the Lodge wear the usual badge of mourning for 30 days, and that these be spread upon a separate page of the minutes of the Lodge, copy be sent to the family of our departed brother and copies to the Greenville papers and Orphan's Home for publication.

A Man in a Well.
Last week a young mule belonging to Wesley Milan, who lives near Brown's ford, on the river four miles above here, tried to commit suicide by jumping into a well thirty feet deep, the well having several feet of water in it. Mr. Milan found the mule braying and on following it saw his head and ears above the water in the bottom of the well. It was an hour before the necessary windlass and neighbors arrived to rescue him. A rope was tied behind the front legs of the animal with which he was drawn out. Immediately the resulting terra firma he presented to thank his rescuers by the mule use of his "business end." EDITOR REFLECTOR:
I am yet in Seattle, and have been sight seeing for ten days. I reached here on the 4th from our little Georgia city, Thomastown, and guess my REFLECTOR is on the way to me to Nome, Alaska, as I wrote you to mail it there. I expect to leave here on the 10th. This city is full of people bound for Cape Nome. There is nothing here to discourage a man from going to Nome, as all who have been and returned are going back again and their wives and friends with them. From what I have seen the reports that will come out from there are true. I will reach there about the 10th of June if I have good luck. Keep my paper coming to me out there, as I dearly love to read the news from old Pitt county. I still claim it as my home, although it has been twelve long years since I left there to make my way for better or worse.
I will keep you posted on the Nome doing, as I know the boys will like to have a few words from me now and then.
