WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 18th.

The administration is determined that there shall be an extra session of the next Congress. That is now as plain as the nose on your face.

Mr. McKinley is talking up a settlement of the Cuban question as the reason but if the Ship Subsidy bill had been allowed to go through he would have probably discovered that an extra session would not be necessary to deal with Cuba.

But there are other strings to the extra session bow, and it would not be surprising if the republican leaders in Congress so manipulated that one or more of the big appropriation bills failed to get through at this session, and then tried to raise a howl that it was the Democrats who were to blame for the extra session that the failure would make necessary. Neither would it be surprising if the River and Harbor bill, which is to be reported to the Senate this week, also failed to get through. That would reduce the total of the appropriations made by this Congress—a total that has thoroughly alarmed the republican leaders since the press of the country, regardless of politics, have opened up on it. Then there is the bill for the reduction of war taxes, which is deadlocked in conference and in a fair way to fail, because the House conferees encouraged by Secretary Gage, and other members of the administration, refuse to accept the cut in beer and tobacco taxes made by the Senate. The Senate is now considering the oleomargarine bill, but whether that measure is to be voted on or merely be used as a club to kill time is not clear. One thing is very certain, and that is that the intelligent people of the country know that the Democrats will not be responsible for the failure of any regular appropriation bill. They have at all times assisted in disposing of the appropriation bills, as fast as they were ready, and have repeatedly warned the Republicans that they were wasting time on the Ship Subsidy bill that should have been devoted to the Appropriation bills.

Senator Teller destroyed the last hope of the boaters in their ability to push the Ship Subsidy bill through at this session, when he said: "In the interests of public business, I desire to give notice that this Ship Subsidy bill cannot pass." Senator Aldrich pretended to be much surprised and said that he had not before any positive notice that no vote would be allowed on the bill. Senator Teller spoke of three Republican Senators who had gone to him and expressed a hope that the bill would not be voted upon, and then said: "There is a strong sentiment among the Republican Senators, shared by probably half of them, that this bill ought not to pass. I am not surprised, for no bill, ever presented to the Senate, carried upon its face such evidence of jobbery as the Shipping bill." Senator Hanna got terribly worked up while Mr. Teller and other Senators were saying things showing the impossibility of passing the Ship Subsidy bill, and made a speech in which he virtually took the ground that the re-election of Mr. McKinley was a verdict of the people in favor of the Ship Subsidy bill and any other measures he might favor in plain words, that he alone had a right to say what appropriations of public money should be made. Instead of showing that the Subsidy bill was not a luring scheme, Mr. Hanna declared that the River and Harbor bill contained propositions "that would make the Shipping bill look pale."

Concerning Drinking.

"Whiskey drinking has decreased very much in this city, as elsewhere," said a Charlotte news yesterday. "There is nothing like the drinking that there was a few years ago, and the young men especially, drink far less than before. The truth of the matter is that in this business age a young man who drinks is handicapped at the start, is not in demand, and this is being realized fully. This principle will operate more than anything else for temperance. An older great factor is the fact that drinking is being rather tabooed by society."—Charlotte Observer.

SALT RHEUM CURED BY

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

QUART BOTTLES.

JUST SEEN IN TIME.

What Skin Eruptions are a Warning of Something More Serious to Come

The Only Safe Way to Stop the Progress of the Disease is to Use

Johnston's Sarsaparilla. It is the Most Powerful Blood Purifier Known.

Nature, in her efforts to correct mistakes, which mistakes have come from careless living, or it may be from hereditary causes, sends out pimples, blotches and other imperfections on the skin, as a warning that more serious troubles (such as large tumors, cancers, or pulmonary diseases) are certain to follow if you neglect to heed the warning and correct the mistakes.

Many a lingering, painful disease and many an early death has been avoided simply because these warning signs have been heeded and the blood kept pure by a right use of JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA.

Miss Abbie J. Bardsley of Marshall, Mich., writes:

"I was cured of a bad humor after suffering with it for five years. The doctor and my friends said it was salt rheum. It came out on my head, neck and ears, and then on my whole body. I was perfectly raw with it. What I did. I tried every medicine that was advertised to cure it. I spent money enough to buy a house. I heard JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA highly praised. I tried a bottle of it. I began to improve right away, and when I had finished the third bottle I was completely cured. I have never had a touch of it since. I never got any thing to do me the least good till I tried JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA. I would heartily advise all who are suffering from humor or skin disease of any kind to try it at once. I had also a good deal of stomach trouble, and was run down and miserable, but JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA made me all right."

The blood of your life! If you keep it pure and strong you can positively resist disease or face contagion fearlessly. JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA never fails. It is for sale by all druggists. In full quart bottles with full directions.

With Professor Puplin discovering how to talk around the world by wires Tesla discovering how to telegraph around it without wires, the limits of electrical communication would seem to have been about reached.

The Republican press answers the charge of extravagance in government expenditures by declaring that this is a billion dollar or a two billion dollar or a three billion dollar country—as the case may demand. It would make the same answer if Congress spent ten billions and do so without ever considering whether the money was honestly or wisely spent.

Dealers should be careful how they sell cigarettes to minors. And persons who buy the "cotton tacks" for boys had as well open their weather eye, too. The new law covers both these points with heavy penalties. If the law won't step further and provided for taking hold of a minor caught smoking a cigarette it might strike the root of the evil more effectively.

One tobacco firm of Wilson has made a shipment of 500 hogheads of the weed direct to Europe. This is probably the largest single shipment ever made in this State by one firm.

One of the great problems that confronts a woman is that she doesn't know if her husband will come home feeling poor, and soiled because she has so much to eat or feeling rich, and soiled because there is so little.—Athenian Globe

A Tennessee statesman proposes to solve the egg problem of whither eggs should be sold by weight or count, as they are now sold. He has introduced a bill giving the exact dimensions of a regulation egg and making it a misdemeanor for a hen to lay anything smaller.

Whether they will or no, the plain people must in some fashion observe the Lenten season. They may not put on figurative sack cloth and ashes, nor emulate the penitential gloom of remorseful devotees, nor mortify the flesh by fasting and prayer and self denial. In outward appearance the conditions and routine of living may remain unchanged, and the forty days of penance may seem like a mere formal division of the calendar. But in our complex social fabric—especially in highly organized and populous communities—the disposition and practice of any considerable number of the population has an echo and reflection from every level of the social scale. Fashion's imperious demands are alated; the varied programme of public and private entertainment is ostentatiously pruned; and our tastes; works of charity and beneficence command the general attention, and the unending procession of humanity marches mechanically to the music of repentance and retrenchment. None may escape the impress of these Lenten influences except by putting away civilization itself.—Philadelphia Record.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From the Monitor correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 25.

There is a chance that the Democrats of the House may duplicate their triumph in the Ways and Means committee and defeat the Republican scheme to have the bill for the reduction of war taxes, now deadlocked in conference, fail. As the matter now stands, the House conferees refuse to agree to the Senate amendments and the Senate conferees refuse to recede. It is believed that if the matter can be solved before the House again all of the Democrats and a sufficient number of Republicans to make a majority would vote to accept the Senate amendments and the bill could be sent to Mr. McKinley, who would not dare to vote it, much as he would like to see it fail.

There would be as marked a triumph as was ever achieved by a minority in either branch of Congress. The Democratic leaders are striving to bring it about, not because of any special love for the State bill, but because they think taxes should be reduced, and it is well worthy of their best efforts. Democratic Senators may make a fight on the nomination of Gen. Sutherland to be a Major General in the regular army, sent to the Senate this week by Mr. McKinley, only because they do not think he has done anything to deserve the promotion, but because of the extraordinary method taken to give it to him. It will be remembered that although Gen. Sutherland is now doing duty as a Major General of volunteers, he went on the retired list sometime ago, under the age limit, as a Brigadier General. To confirm his nomination will be simply to present him the difference between the salary of a retired Brigadier General and that of a retired Major General for the rest of his life.

Some very vigorous protests have been lodged with Mr. McKinley by western Republicans in Congress against the proposed appointment of P. C. Knox, of Pittsburgh, to succeed Attorney General McKim, although it is difficult to see why they should object to one trust lawyer succeeding another in the cabinet.

Mr. McKinley still keeps extra session talk on tap for his Congressional callers. He tells them that he intends to issue the call for an extra session just as soon as he gets the Cuban constitution. Some of them are hoping that he won't get the Cuban constitution for some time.

A vote split to the kicking against extravagant appropriations the River and Harbor bill was reduced about $10,000,000 before it was reported to the Senate.

Mr. McKinley's recommendation that Congress vote its thanks to Sampson is hung up in the Senate committee on Naval Affairs. It is likely to remain there. All of the naval promotions sent to the Senate except those of Sampson and Schley will be confirmed. To cover their cases a compromise was reached under which a bill reviving grades of vice admiral and authorizing the appointment of two was favorably reported to the Senate, but unless some assurance is given that Schley will be made the senior of Sampson, as he is now, there is no certainty that the bill will be allowed to go through. There is a very determined feeling in the Senate against allowing Mr. McKinley to jump Sampson over the head of Schley as a reward for a victory won by Schley.

An active New York Democrat, Mr. L. L. Gregory, of Albany, said to a group of friends in a Washington hotel, "off I could under the next Democratic ticket it would be Richard Olney, of Massachusetts, for president, and Senator Daniel, of Virginia, for Vice President. There's a combination that would be hard to beat. Olney is the strongest man with the East that could possibly be named, and he is also popular with the South, with a not inconsiderable following in the Western States. In the South Daniel is almost worshipped, and his popularity in the West is second only to that of Bryan."

A Congressional delegation, representing both branches and both parties, called on Mr. McKinley Southern Politics the Clearest.

"I believe that, as a general thing, the Southern States have clearer politics than the States of the North," said Mr. Robert H. Sampson, of Vermont, who is among the guests at the Shoreham. "The use made of the negro in Southern politics, of course is productive of much corruption, but the affairs of the dominant party are ordinarily conducted in an upright manner. It is a rare thing to hear of corruption in public office in a Southern State, while such instances in the North occur with discouraging frequency. This can be accounted for, I believe, by the fact that in the South what is known as the aristocracy is active in political affairs. These men are jealous of their honor and good name, knowing that any conviction of wrong-doing means social ostracism. In the North society is too prone to take into account the money a man has, having little regard for how he got it. If society at large would set its face against any man who betrayed a public trust, there would be less of malfeasance in public office."—Washington Post.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

What The Law Makers are Doing

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 25.

SENATE.

WEDNESDAY, 20TH.

A committee on the House appeared at the bar of the Senate with a message formally preferring impeachment against Chief Justice Furche and Associate Justice Douglas, of the Supreme Court. The Senate received the committee standing and heard their message, at the conclusion of which they were instructed to report to the House that the Senate had received the message and will give proper consideration to the same, and, later, take due action thereon, as required by the Constitution and laws of the State.

Among the new bills introduced was one to prevent the use of 103 barrels by school teachers.

A resolution of regret upon the death of Dr. G. L. Kirby, Superintendent of the Hospital for the Insane at Raleigh, was adopted by a rising vote.

A bill was introduced by Watts authorizing the expenditure of $10,000 for marble statues of Nathaniel Macon and Zebulon B. Vance, to be placed in the statutory hall of Congress.

A large number of new bills were introduced, among them these: By Moore, to pay Cyrus Thompson, ex-Secretary of State, $374.91 for extra clerical assistance.

By Daughtridge, to secure costs in courts of Justices of the Peace. By Allen, to punish disorderly conduct when people are attending divine worship.

By Allen, to restore to the Governor the power of appointing the members of the Board of Internal Improvements.

By Dees, to better protect property from fires.

By Seawell, to protect inhabitants of towns and cities in the right of self government.

New Postoffice Ruling.

A new postoffice ruling has gone into effect, imposing a fine of $25 on any one who carelessly or otherwise takes mail not belonging to them from the office and fails to return it immediately. This applies to newspapers as well as letters and other valuable mail. People, when taking mail from the office, should examine it before they leave the building; it will only take a moment and save a great deal of trouble. To say it was the postmaster's fault will cut no figure in this ruling.

The Governor Level-Headed

Governor Aycock, in his morning speech, said there was nothing prettier than a sixteen-year-old girl. He has evidently carried his gallantry in the Executive Mansion, as we see he has complained that its walls are not brightened by the pictures of enough ladies, there being only the picture of the wife of ex-Governor Jarvis. No unworthy policy can issue from a room ever watched by the eyes of our good women. If our Governor decorates the Executive Mansion with the pictures of more women, this editor will want to run for governor next time.—Morganton Herald.

For To Tobacco.

The young ladies of Springfield, according to an exchange, have organized an anti tobacco club and propose to make it pretty warm for the young men who chew the weed. The more poetical members of the society have commenced writing rhymes, the following being a few specimens:

He who chews the nasty plug Shall never have my waist to hug. Here is one that repels the tobacco chewing lover with scorn: He who will tobacco spit Shall be my own true loved one, nit.

Another one, who no doubt has read Tom Moore, hauded in the following: You may rince, you may gargle your throat like a jug, But the scent of tobacco still clings round your mug.

Two heads may usually be better than one, but one is quite enough the morning after.

FIRE ON FIFTH STREET.

King's Stables and Other Buildings Destroyed—About $6,000 Loss, Half Insured.

About 8:30 o'clock Friday night fire broke out in the livery stables of J. F. King, on Fifth street, and gave that section of the town between Evans and Cotanch streets a close call from total destruction.

The alarm brought all the fire department and many citizens promptly to the scene and some splendid work was done. Having poor material to start fire in the engine it was a little slow in getting up steam, but it did most effective work after starting. The donkey engine at the gin plant of Greene & Hooker also came in with some good work, and the colored firemen with their hand engine and the hook and ladder company never did better work at any fire than at this one. In fact all the fire department did nobly, and it is due mainly to their heroic work that there is not a larger list of losses to report.

There was so much combustible material in the livery stables that in a few minutes after the fire was discovered the building was beyond being saved. The flames quickly communicated to the store building and two small tenant houses east of the stables, which were totally destroyed, and also to the room of Marshal Stacey west of the stables. This latter building was put out after being fully half burned up, but the house is ruined. Other nearby buildings caught but were quickly put out.

Mr. King got his horses and most of the vehicles out of the stables, and Mr. Starkey got the bulk of his stock out of the barn-room. Some others in immediate danger moved their stocks.

It is not known positively how the fire originated. Those first at the Episcopal church, last Sunday. Never before have we been so impressed with the beautiful sweetness of death as in this case. Shrouded by her own gentle, loving hands, with that taste so characteristic of her beautiful life, she seemed to the loving children who she has so tenderly and carefully trained and nurtured. With the reverence due only to the God of Heaven, ripe in years, and ripe in the virtues of a pure, unadorned life, her spirit was borne by angels from the Holy Sanctuary of her home of worship to the Paradise of God, where loved ones waited to greet her, and welcome her to the everlasting to everlasting.

What a beautiful tribute has been paid her by Him, who doeth all things well. No higher tribute could be paid to the life she has lived, and the virtues she has practiced. Weep not loving children and friends, she has been honored as few on earth are honored. Imitate the life she has so gently and beautifully lived, lived and practiced, and the Holy place where she gave up one life for a brighter and more heavenly will ever be a sacred spot in the memory of those who knew her so well, and loved her so dearly and tenderly. Beautiful, gentle, loving and true in life, sublimely beautiful in death.

WOMAN

IS LIKE A DELICATE MUSICAL INSTRUMENT

In good condition she is sweet and lovable, and gives forth a joyful harmonious string. Out of order and unstrung, there is dissonance and unhappiness. Just as there is a key to unlock the heart of a woman, so there is a key to unlock the heart of a man. A woman might as well try to fly without wings as to feel well and look well while the organs that make her a woman are weak or diseased. She must be healthy inside or she can't be healthy outside. There are thousands of women suffering a misery all over the country. Mistaken modernity urges them to use medicine. While there is nothing more admirable than a modest woman, health is the first imperative. Every other consideration should give way before it. Bradfield's Female Regulator is a medicine for women.

It is a delicate and quick-acting remedy to cure leucorrhoea, irregularity, bearing down, nervousness, headache, backache and general weakness. You will be astonished at the result, especially if you have been experimenting with other so-called remedies.

We are not asking you to buy a box of medicine. We are asking you to try a box of medicine. We are not asking you to buy a box of medicine. We are asking you to try a box of medicine.

A Sad, Sweet, Beautiful Death.

How sublimely beautiful in the embrace of death was the remains of Mrs. Henrietta Williams, as she lay peacefully in her coffin in the Episcopal church, last Sunday. Never before have we been so impressed with the beautiful sweetness of death as in this case. Shrouded by her own gentle, loving hands, with that taste so characteristic of her beautiful life, she seemed to the loving children who she has so tenderly and carefully trained and nurtured. With the reverence due only to the God of Heaven, ripe in years, and ripe in the virtues of a pure, unadorned life, her spirit was borne by angels from the Holy Sanctuary of her home of worship to the Paradise of God, where loved ones waited to greet her, and welcome her to the everlasting to everlasting.

What a beautiful tribute has been paid her by Him, who doeth all things well. No higher tribute could be paid to the life she has lived, and the virtues she has practiced. Weep not loving children and friends, she has been honored as few on earth are honored. Imitate the life she has so gently and beautifully lived, lived and practiced, and the Holy place where she gave up one life for a brighter and more heavenly will ever be a sacred spot in the memory of those who knew her so well, and loved her so dearly and tenderly. Beautiful, gentle, loving and true in life, sublimely beautiful in death.

WOMAN

IS LIKE A DELICATE MUSICAL INSTRUMENT

In good condition she is sweet and lovable, and gives forth a joyful harmonious string. Out of order and unstrung, there is dissonance and unhappiness. Just as there is a key to unlock the heart of a woman, so there is a key to unlock the heart of a man. A woman might as well try to fly without wings as to feel well and look well while the organs that make her a woman are weak or diseased. She must be healthy inside or she can't be healthy outside. There are thousands of women suffering a misery all over the country. Mistaken modernity urges them to use medicine. While there is nothing more admirable than a modest woman, health is the first imperative. Every other consideration should give way before it. Bradfield's Female Regulator is a medicine for women.

It is a delicate and quick-acting remedy to cure leucorrhoea, irregularity, bearing down, nervousness, headache, backache and general weakness. You will be astonished at the result, especially if you have been experimenting with other so-called remedies.

We are not asking you to buy a box of medicine. We are asking you to try a box of medicine. We are not asking you to buy a box of medicine. We are asking you to try a box of medicine.

SPRING NECKWEAR BEAUTY.

IS IN FULL BLOOM.

The great trans-atlantic liners that came across the water last week brought to us neckwear fresh from the sunny shores of the old country.

SPRING

NECKWEAR

in profusion may be seen almost anywhere, but the quality we show today cannot be found anywhere else at the price

50c

Even we never saw such elegance for so little money. Designs and colorings entirely new. Get a look at the new styles. No other store ever offered qualities as good as these for less than one dollar and we could probably get that for these neckties too if we should ask it, but the price is 50c.

Fresh Magic Yeast, 5c. a box, at S. M. Schultz's.

Coal in the bin is not so troublesome as cold in the head.

The darkies in the Frank Hines case were all bound over to the Superior Court.

There has not been much real winter to speak of so far, but Hickey's predictions say we will catch snows in March.

Rev. J. N. Booth brought THE REFLECTOR a nice list of subscribers from Winterville Friday, for which we return thanks to the good people down there.

February of two years ago, when the 11th, we had the worst snow-storm of the winter. This February is treating us the same way a little later in the month.

It is enough to make a body feel down in the mouth to read about the fact that the 11th, we had the worst snow-storm of the winter. This February is treating us the same way a little later in the month.

At the close of Prof. Ragdale's speech he, by request of the Juniors presented to the school a Bible and a flag in fitting phrase, which was gracefully accepted by Prof. Lineberry, the principal.

At this juncture a beautiful table and table cover and a nice rocking chair were presented to the school from the Episcopal Sunday School by Rev. J. N. Booth.

When the oration of Mr. King was over the people were literally rushed into the homes of the hospitable people and served to dinner with true old time spirit and welcome.

On the whole the day was a real delight and inspiration, and if all the visitors feel as this writer they are ready to take off their hats and make their best bow to Winterville. J. N. B.

Nicholson-Edwards.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Nora Louise Nicholson, of Vaughn, to Mr. Washington P. Edwards, of Greenville, Thursday morning, February 28th, at 11:30 o'clock.

Judge Moore Resigned.

Judge A. M. Moore, one of the criminal Court Judges of the State, has sent his resignation to Governor Aycock. Judge Moore was held to this decision because of his feeble health, the work necessary to attending and holding his courts being too arduous for him. He has made a good Judge and given general satisfaction wherever he has held court. As the Legislature has abolished the criminal courts, to take effect the first of July, it is doubtful if the Governor will make an appointment to fill the unexpired term of Judge Moore.

Football At Winterville.

Friday afternoon the football boys of Greenville Male Academy went to Winterville on the freight train to play with the boys of Winterville High School. The contest was to be for nine rounds or games but when the eighth was finished, Greenville had 5 and Winterville 3, and our boys were declared the victors. The games were interesting and good spirited. Most of the Greenville boys walked back home in the evening.
