

EASTERN REFLECTOR

GREENVILLE, N. C.

D. J. WICHARD, Ed. & Owner

Entered at the Post Office at Greenville, N. C., as Second-Class Mail Matter.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1901.

We have heard the suggestion that the President's home in Washington should be changed in name from White House to black house.

As sensible a man as Booker Washington is reputed to be, it would have been a wise hit on his part if he had shown sense enough to have politely declined the invitation to dine with President Roosevelt at the White House. Such a course on the part of Washington would easily have made him the most famous of the two and entitled him to the most respect.

The bringing of a suit for damages against the town and the finding of a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, as occurred in court last week, should awaken the town officials to every precaution in preventing causes for complaints to arise. The winning of one suit against a corporation sometimes opens the way for others, in that it puts people with real or imaginary complaints to thinking they can do what somebody else does.

The South criticizes the President, and it has the right to do so, but the South had no part in selecting him as President, and if his party can stand it the South does not care a continental who he entertains.—Durham Herald.

True in part, brother, but not entirely true. While the South had no part in selecting the President, we are nevertheless a part of the Union, and the President is President of the entire Nation and not of the people only who put him in office. Therefore the criticism in the South is most timely, for just because we are in the minority when it comes to voting nationally gives the President no right to throw an insult in our teeth. He may undertake to bring about social equality, but his efforts in that direction will prove a dismal failure and receive deserved criticism.

This vicinity seems to have arrived at that stage of development where a jury may be relied upon to give a verdict against a corporation on any kind of a pretext. It is a condition that warrants sober reflection—on both sides.—Winston Journal.

Winston is not alone in that particular, for it strikes us that in almost every section of North Carolina there is great injustice done corporations by juries. Let a body come to court some kind of complaint against a railroad company or telegraph company, or against a municipal corporation, it matters not how lame the complaint, the jury in almost every instance goes against the corporation. This thing is wrong, too. The corporation ought to have just as good rights in court as the individual, and a jury should be just as slow about giving a verdict against a corporation as it should against an individual.

It has been decided to discontinue the summer term of the University. It was found by experience that this additional session taxed the resources of the institution too greatly, gave the professors no opportunity to pursue desired studies elsewhere during the summer, and was not taken advantage of to any considerable extent by the students intended to be benefited.

THE GREENVILLE BAR INDORESE JUDGE WINSTON.

The October term of Pitt county Superior court adjourned sine die Saturday night about 9 o'clock. Many important cases were tried and disposed of and on the whole it was a very busy week. Hon. Francis D. Winston, of Bertie, owing to the continued sickness of Judge Henry R. Bryan, presided. This is Judge Winston's first court in Pitt and among the first courts held by him since his appointment to the Bench in July. To one unacquainted with the law, the impression he has made upon the people of Pitt county during his one week stay in our midst was indeed a most favorable one. He was courteous and polite at all times, quick to grasp a proposition, fair and impartial in all his rulings, and is presently qualified to fill the high position to which he has been appointed.

Just before adjournment of court upon motion of Hon. Harry Skinner, the Greenville Bar held a meeting at which Hon. A. L. Blow presided, and resolutions were adopted, thanking Judge Winston for holding the court, which he held without any remuneration whatever, and expressing their admiration for the manner in which he had conducted the court and for the uniform courtesy which he had shown the Bar during the term. Upon the adoption of the resolution many members of the Bar, including Hon. Harry Skinner, Gov. T. J. Jarvis, Judge A. M. Moore, Hon. L. J. Moore, Col. Isaac A. Sugg, W. F. Harding, Esq., and others, gave expression to the very high esteem in which Judge Winston is held by the Greenville Bar, and testified to his preeminent ability and fairness as a judicial officer.

They have strange doings in the Federal Courts sometimes, as we have remarked aforesaid. When a revenue officer, for instance, commits a crime—kills or maims somebody—in the supposed discharge of his duty, his case is always taken to the Federal Court for trial and then the district attorney and assistant district attorney defend him and the power of the government is used to acquit him. If he is prosecuted a State solicitor must volunteer to do it or the man's friends must employ counsel to prosecute. We suppose if the man had no friends to push the prosecution the officer would not be prosecuted at all. On the other hand, if a citizen shoots or kills or in any way molests a revenue officer in the discharge of his duty the citizen is prosecuted by the government in the Federal Court and must get his own counsel to defend him.

In our State courts it is different. If a sheriff or other officer kills or injures any person he is prosecuted by the State solicitor just as if he were a private citizen, a little more vigorously if any difference, and instead of the power of the State government being used to defend the officer it is used to convict him. Such is the difference.—Statesville Landmark.

No honest lawyer would encourage false swearing; but when a lawyer is guilty of encouraging perjury in a witness he should be sent to the penitentiary along with the perjurer. Morally guilty of crime also is that lawyer who abuses witness, attacks the dead, assails character and makes base appeals to the ignorance, the passions, the prejudices, of jurors. There appears to be a looseness about the law or the courts and the practice that permits crimes and acts against justice and decency and truth and fairness to be committed with almost absolute impunity in the very temple of justice. Barely is there a deterrent attempt to punish the perjurer, who is too often aided and abetted by those who profess to be honest and respectable. The courts, of which lawyers are a part, are to blame for much of this. The solemnity of an oath should be emphasized. The violation should be speedily punished. False swearing is a villainous crime which may be too easily tempted, and it deserves severe punishment.—Nashville American.

ORDERED TO COLLECT.

Tax Books Turned Over to Collector.

At the special meeting Monday night the Board of Aldermen decided that the town tax books be turned over to the Tax Collector with instructions that he proceed to collect the taxes thereon. This order and instructions apply to both the general and special taxes levied by the town, the special taxes being for interest on bonds and for graded schools.

Owing to the injunction instituted against the Aldermen restraining them from selling the bonds and from collecting the special taxes, the books have been withheld from the Tax Collector until now. When the matter came to a hearing before Judge F. D. Winston last week he dissolved the injunction, hence this order from the Aldermen that the Tax Collector proceed to collect the taxes.

However, the plaintiffs in the injunction suit are still in court, and the town tax books are still pending against the town and the matter still unsettled. The people being aware of this and knowing that it will yet be some time, perhaps several months, before the matter will be determined, with the uncertainty of how it will end, is going to make collecting, particularly the special taxes, hard work for the collector.

With this view of the matter, it would, perhaps, have been better—at least easier for the Tax Collector and more satisfactory to tax payers—if only the general taxes had been ordered collected now, and let the special taxes stand until the suit is settled.

State and Federal Courts.

They have strange doings in the Federal Courts sometimes, as we have remarked aforesaid. When a revenue officer, for instance, commits a crime—kills or maims somebody—in the supposed discharge of his duty, his case is always taken to the Federal Court for trial and then the district attorney and assistant district attorney defend him and the power of the government is used to acquit him. If he is prosecuted a State solicitor must volunteer to do it or the man's friends must employ counsel to prosecute. We suppose if the man had no friends to push the prosecution the officer would not be prosecuted at all. On the other hand, if a citizen shoots or kills or in any way molests a revenue officer in the discharge of his duty the citizen is prosecuted by the government in the Federal Court and must get his own counsel to defend him.

In our State courts it is different. If a sheriff or other officer kills or injures any person he is prosecuted by the State solicitor just as if he were a private citizen, a little more vigorously if any difference, and instead of the power of the State government being used to defend the officer it is used to convict him. Such is the difference.—Statesville Landmark.

No honest lawyer would encourage false swearing; but when a lawyer is guilty of encouraging perjury in a witness he should be sent to the penitentiary along with the perjurer. Morally guilty of crime also is that lawyer who abuses witness, attacks the dead, assails character and makes base appeals to the ignorance, the passions, the prejudices, of jurors. There appears to be a looseness about the law or the courts and the practice that permits crimes and acts against justice and decency and truth and fairness to be committed with almost absolute impunity in the very temple of justice. MANKIND MUST BE DRIVEN TO GET RESULTS.

Mankind from infancy and through the years when strength and health permit, must be forced to the tasks set before it.

Against climate, and rugged and unaccomplishing and savage nature, this driving process has made man accomplish results, has given him success and triumph, when without being driven he would have accomplished nothing.

Applied to communities, this same driving process is needed for upbuilding and the best kind of development.

The town or city pleasantly located for climate, with easy transportation access to the outside world, will accept these local benefits and just drift along.

Let some calamity of wind, fire or storm visit here and the community and the probability is that it will be availed from its slumber of self complacency, and arise from its ruined state with better buildings and highways, and with its commercial spirit stirred into activity that will cause a bustle in all its business circles that was never known before.

Stricken down, it was driven to fight for life, and the very struggle forced upon the community care is strength, and aroused its people from their previous indifference to strive for development and progress.

It is the driven man or community that finishes the task, and accomplishes real things.

And on the other hand it is the man or community that refuses to recognize the value of being driven, and considers it a hardship to be forced, that will never accomplish anything.—New Bern Journal.

Mayor's Court.

Mayor W. H. Long has disposed of the following cases in his court since last report:

LOCAL REFLECTIONS.

Dr. D. L. James has newly painted his residence which adds much to its appearance. Attention is called to the notice to creditors by D. M. Willis, administrator of James Tingle.

Cooked Her Doll. Miss Lizzie Higgs, one of the girls who was awarded one of Junior Back stoves last week, invited some of her friends around Saturday to see her cook. The fire was started up and the stove was getting good and warm, when one of the visitors asked to see inside of the oven. The oven door was opened and there was discovered inside a box of dolls, roasted and smoking. Miss Lizzie had put her dolls away inside the oven and forgot to take them out before starting the fire.

A Fine Statement. THE REFLECTOR overlooked at the time calling attention to the last statement of the Bank of Greenville that was published last week. This is the best all around statement of its condition that the bank has ever made, and shows its continued growth in volume of business and the confidence of the public. That it is doing a business representing nearly a quarter of a million dollars is indeed creditable.

Land Posted. All person are hereby forbidden under penalty of the law from entering, hunting, fishing, or in any way trespassing upon my land known as the Warren Braxton place adjoining Fred McLawhorns, James Harris and the Eliza Sutton land, S. G. NINE.

Steam Laundry. Greenville is soon to have a steam laundry added to the town's enterprises. Messrs. W. L. Davis and A. L. Kirkland have located here for that purpose and are fitting up a portion of the Perkins building on Fourth street. They will be ready for work in a week or so.

Baptist Services. There will be the regular prayer meeting in the Baptist church tonight. And from tonight on through the remainder of the week there will be a prayer and praise service each night preparatory to the series of meetings that will begin Sunday. Rev. C. A. Jenkins, pastor of the First Baptist church at Goldboro, will arrive next Monday to assist in the meeting.

WILL FIGHT THE CASE. The Town Takes an Appeal.

The Board of Aldermen held a special meeting Monday night to consider the matter of taking an appeal from the verdict of the jury in the case of E. C. Williams against the town, tried last week in the Superior court, resulting in a verdict of $333 for the plaintiff. Messrs. T. J. Jarvis and F. G. James, attorneys for the town, were present and went over the situation of the case with the Board, saying they did not see from the evidence how the jury could have given a verdict against the town, as it was clearly shown that the town had a right to raise the grade of the streets, and the testimony of physicians on both sides as expert witnesses showing that the surface water going on the premises of the plaintiff did not cause the death of his children.

An order was passed by the Board, the vote on it being 6 to 1, instructing the attorneys for the town to see if attorneys for the plaintiff would agree to a new trial being had, and if they did not to enter an appeal to Supreme Court.

No Decision Arrived At. The General Convention of the Episcopal Church adjourned finally on Thursday without having settled any one of the three prime questions which so long have provoked controversy in its ranks, namely, a change of its name, the marriage and divorce question, and the establishment of a more liberal policy toward outside congregations desiring affiliation with it.

This notice is for those who find the cross mark on their paper.

Friends of the couple in Greenville have received the following cards: Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Parham invite you to witness the rite of Holy Matrimony to be solemnized between their daughter, Mollie, and Mr. S. Vernon Priddy Wednesday morning, Oct. thirtieth nineteen hundred and one at ten-thirty o'clock. Rehoboth Church Near Oxford, North Carolina.

Parham Postmaster Arrested. The Raleigh correspondent of some of the State papers gives the information that William Powell, postmaster at Parmele, had been arrested by a Postoffice Inspector for irregularities in his office. The charge against Powell is making false returns of stamp cancellations and selling stamps illegally. He was taken before a United States Commissioner and bound over to the Federal court in the sum of $1,000.

How to Judge. The man who accumulates capital by honest thrift and economy and employs his capital in the promotion of industry is a blessing to his community. The man who wastes the money that he ought to use as capital in the establishment of industry is just as culpable as he who oppresses to make money or uses capital to oppress. A man should be judged by what he does and not by his riches or poverty.—Gaston News.

Why Not Take All? Raleigh, Oct. 21.—Judge Parrell has signed an order allowing the receiver and attorneys $1,000 in fees, costs, etc., in the case of Briggs vs. Neal, involving extensive lumber mills and timber lands at Morehead City. Some of the attorneys wanted $1,500 out of an $8,500 estate.

Setting a Prisoner Free. A man with rheumatism as a prisoner. His letters are more the less galling because they are invaluable. To him Perry Davis' Pinkettes comes as a liberator. Rubbed well into the swollen, stiffened joints not merely drives pain, it makes the muscles pliable so that the prisoner becomes a free man. There is but one, Frank Miller, Perry Davis, 25 and 50c.
