GREENVILLE, N. C.
D. J. WHICHARD, Ed. & Owner

Entered at the Post Office at Greenville, N. C., as Second-Class Mail Matter.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1902.

Farmers should not let the present advance in the price of cotton lead them to plant too large a crop this year. It will be better to increase the acreage in corn and give first attention to home supplies.

Under the present system of taxation a surplus is rolling up in the Treasury. This is all wrong, for the government has no right to take from the people more than enough for its necessary and legitimate expenses.

The good roads convention will be held in Raleigh next week. Let as many people as can go from Pitt county. Any who can go will be recognized as delegates and the information obtained will be of great benefit.

North Carolinians residing in St. Louis are interesting themselves in having their native State make a creditable exhibition of her resources at the exposition to be held in that city next year. North Carolina can lose nothing, but gain much, by making such an exhibit.

A new law in Iceland authorizes any adult to administer a scolding spanking to any child found smoking a cigarette, and to destroy any of the "destroyers" that are found in the possession of children. This will probably create the necessity of a law to protect people who spank other people's children from assault by irate parents.

The census bureau has just reported that the value of the cut flower interests in this country exceed $53,000,000, with an annual income of more than $18,000,000. This will refute part of the charge that Americans are essentially unesthetic, as the love for flowers is one of the surest indications, as Emerson says, "that a ray of beauty outvalues all the world."

Raleigh is getting somewhat exercised over the prospect of not getting the next State Convention. Unless the city makes better provision for taking care of the convention than it has in the past it should not even be considered when the time for selecting the place comes. Raleigh has made many promises in this matter that now seem as far from fulfillment as ever.

The Southern people have contributed, directly, to the cause of negro education, since 1865, about $110,000,000. Every great fair held in the section since the civil war has established a negro exhibition, provided a house or houses, and contributed money to aid the colored exhibitors. Here are two historical facts that plainly attest the enlightened feeling of the dominant race where their former slaves are concerned. These acts disclose a policy of righteousness and justice, for which the southern people too seldom receive proper credit.—Chattanooga Times, Ind.

A Cleveland man who had stolen five cents worth of coal was arrested the other day and fined $5 and costs, or $10.85. He declined to pay the fine, on the ground that it was unjust, and when his wife paid it he refused to leave the jail. The trustee was obliged to eject him, and he vowed he would return at the first opportunity.

Advice is usually given to people who don't heed it. Many a young doctor sighs for the patience of Job.

The Durham Herald regrets that the good roads agitation was not begun 50 years ago. What a pity it was not. We might have had good roads by now.—Statesville Landmark.

Samuel Jones, who died in Garrett county, Maryland, last week, stood very high in his country. He stood 6 feet 11 inches, without stretching, and left a widow who measured 6 feet 6 inches and a daughter 6 feet 4 inches.

We fully agree with the Durham Herald that "after the trouble that the courts have in convicting a man of any serious crime it is well enough to let the law take its course, especially where there is no possible doubt as to his guilt."

One of the old time darkeys, on being asked how he was making out, replied in this fashion: "Well, sh, times is mighty tight wid me, but I manages ter make a livin' by doin' a little plowin' 'n' a little doin' 'n' a little baptizin'!"—Atlanta Constitution.

A live "possum" was discovered in a colored "meetin' house" in Mitchell county. The parson pronounced the benediction immediately, remarking: "Lijah wufed by ravens in de wilderness, en 'possum, on dis col' maanra, is none de less providential."

In the report of the Labor Commissioner on textile mills, Gaston county stands first with 26 cotton mills, 292,776 spindles, 4,642 looms. The counties coming next in order are Mecklenburg, Rockingham, Rutherford, Albemarle, Cabarrus and Durham.

For the year beginning with March 1, 1901, to March 1, 1902, the British war bill in South Africa will foot up $5,350,000. The estimated cost now is $22,500,000 a month. There are now 238,000 men under arms, more than there were three years ago.

It is more than likely that the 20 per cent. of white men in Alabama who disfranchised them for themselves for a year by refusing to pay their poll tax in the required time wouldn't have taken the trouble to do the polls any way, so there isn't much lost.—Wilmington Star.

A member of Congress is said to have recently received the following letter from a constituent: "Please send me some of the volumes containing memorial addresses for dead members of Congress. There is nothing I read with so much pleasure as obituaries of Congressmen."

Congress should hurry along the bill providing for increased pay for the rural free delivery carriers. Five hundred dollars a year for mail man and is ridiculously low. The proposed salary of six hundred dollars is not enough, but is nearer the mark than the present sum and there should be no hesitancy in passing the bill.—Winston Sentinel.

Mr. E. M. Jarman, the mail carrier from Kinston to Richlands, lost 35 dozen eggs yesterday. He had brought the mail from Richlands and had left his mule and buggy in front of the postoffice while he was taking the mail inside. While he was gone the mule started off and became frightened, and during a short time the box containing the eggs was thrown out, breaking every one. There were 100 dozen more in the buggy but luckily the mule was caught before any of these were broken.—Kinston Free Press.

A suggestion is made that congress investigate the matter of railroad wrecks and see if some means of preventing them, or at least lessening them, cannot be devised. It is an excellent idea. There are too many railroad wrecks in this country—more probably than in any other country on earth, in proportion to size. Many of them are certainly preventable. In some cases they are unquestionably due to overworking men. We need more attention to ordinary precautions for the protection of human life.—Indianapolis State Sentinel.

WASHINGTON LETTER.
From the Bureau Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 7.

President Roosevelt is about to judge his propensity for administering reprimands once more. This time the victim will be his former Colonel, General Leonard Wood. General Wood has addressed to the Senators a circular letter representing the sore need of Cuba of liberal treatment by Congress and the President considered that his appeal should have been sent through the War Department and that his having addressed the Senators and omitted to address the members of the House was a serious error from the standpoint of tact and diplomacy. Accordingly, the General is to be treated to an expression of executive wrath similar to that administered to General Miles.

On last Monday evening the republicans of the House met in caucus and considered the proposals to limit the representations of the Southern States and, in the words of one of the members present, "labored the whole night and accomplished nothing." They talked volubly and wildly for several hours and then Representative Seneca E. Payne came in and told them they did not know what they were talking about and, as a large number of those present had come to the same conclusion, they accepted his dictum and adjourned.

A sharp tilt occurred recently in the Senate Committee on Inter-Oceanic canals when Senator Morgan, chairman of the Committee, openly accused Senator Hanna of wilfully obstructing canal legislation. Senator Morgan, so I am told, even went so far as to accuse the Senator from Ohio of greater solicitude for his friends, the trans-continental railroads, than for the indubitably expressed wishes of the American people. Senator Hanna is said to have turned very red under the Alabama's charges and then to have denied them in no uncertain terms and a more severe encounter was only prevented by the interference of the other members of the committee. When the canal question comes up for consideration on the floor of the Senate the same accusations are likely to be implied but in a more virulent form and it is hardly likely that the dignified Seneca will be treated to the dramatic scene occurred in Senator Morgan's committee room.

An Outspoken Girl.
She must have been referring to the New Year reception. Anyhow, a Kansas girl writes to the Atchison Globe:

"When we reached the White House there was a stream of carriages four blocks long. There were so many on the inside that we had to stand on the portico over half an hour. It was so jammed where we waited that when I got one foot up I couldn't put it down. Mr. Cochran said it was the largest crowd ever in the White House. When the doors finally opened, the crush was awful, and I lost a very much prized belt buckle. However, I was thankful to get in with my clothes still on. The President was very cordial, but as honestly as ever, I don't like to criticize my hosts, but I do believe President and Mrs. Roosevelt are the plainest people I ever saw in my life."

That sounds exactly like a square, honest, truthful, outspoken girl, and notwithstanding the handsome pictures of the President and his wife that appear from time to time in the newspapers we pin our faith to this girl and will bet a dollar that she has them down right.—Charlotte Observer.

Smallpox.
Our Bethel correspondent reports the first case of smallpox in Pitt county, and even this may prove without foundation. A telephone message last night says there is a well developed case a little this side of Robersonville.

It has been said that short accounts make long friends—but there are notable exceptions to the rule. The individual who gets the hardest knocks in early life is apt to be fairly well content with his lot in after years.

WASHINGTON LETTER.
From the Bureau Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 7.

As the years roll around the few old Confederate soldiers left have something to remind them of their experiences in the war of 1861-65. This morning Lieut. C. D. Rountree was telling some of his comrades that it was just forty years ago today that the Yankees captured Roanoke Island. He was there in the thick of it, and even though captured he could always see something to make a good joke and enjoy a hearty laugh in telling it. At the Roanoke Island incident a Yankee pulled off his cap and began hurrahing over the captives. A fellow Confederate officer near Lieut. Rountree remarked, "That — Yankee thinks he has played — don't he?" then adding in an under tone, "And I think he has too."

BETHEL ITEMS.
BETHEL, N. C., Feb. 7, 1902.
Rev. J. J. Barker spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Greenville. Miss Letta Andrews, of Elizabeth City, is visiting Mrs. W. A. Knox. Miss Fannie Albritton, of Robersonville, is visiting relatives here.

Miss Essie Albritton, of Danforth, Va., is visiting relatives in this place. Rev. J. W. Rose held services in Mildred Sunday and Sunday night and returned Monday.

V. E. Staton spent Wednesday in Tarboro. S. M. Jones and wife spent Wednesday in Tarboro. Miss Mattie Grimes is teaching our school. We wish her much success.

It is reported that smallpox is near Bethel. It is said that a negro has it on Mr. C. W. Bailey's farm about 3 miles west of here. We have no learned the particulars of it yet, but hope it is not true.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Carson gave a party Friday evening in honor of Miss Alice Carson. Several attended.

Harry Freeman, of Pennsylvania, came in Friday morning to look after the business of the barrel factory of this place. Mr. McClelland, of Suffolk, came down Tuesday to spend several days.

Mrs. S. T. Carson, of this place, who has been in the hospital at Tarboro for several days, returned Thursday. Sheriff Harrington spent Friday in town collecting taxes.

Good Doctrine to Preach and to Follow.
Patronize your home paper both with subscriptions and advertising. And don't hold back and wait for this doctrine to be pounded into you, either. It's a good doctrine—both to preach and to follow—but no self-respecting newspaper wants to be overlastingly reminding its people of their remissness. It places the newspaper in the position of mendacity—of asking for something it needs and has no very clear right to. Besides, it reflects on the people who are patronizing the paper. And yet there are people who should sit in front of a megaphone and hear this shouted at them every minute in the day.—Edward Gilliam in Charlotte News.

Large shipments of cotton planters are being made daily by the A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. R. H. Hunsacker went to Kinston on Thursday's freight and returned on Friday morning's train. He promised to bring his bride back with him, but he didn't do it. He says when he got there she was gone. Poor fellow! We all know how it is.

You need a gesso distributor. Get it of the A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. Mrs. W. J. Kittrell, and little daughter, Anna Belle, of Grifton, are visiting relatives here.

Two car loads of cotton seed meal just received by A. G. Cox. We are going to make all styles of first-class tobacco flues. Send your orders for any style you want.—A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. H. F. Keel and son, Edgar, left Thursday morning for Norfolk, Va.

There were several gentlemen from here who attended a Masonic meeting at Ayden, Thursday night. Miss Addie Johnson, of Kinston, is visiting her brother, J. R. Johnson. Miss Mollie Bryan is on a visit to friends at Maunahan.

The three little children of J. W. Sparks left yesterday to visit relatives in Kinston until Monday.

"Around the Pan With Uncle Hank."
This is the title of a handsome and unique illustrated volume descriptive of the Pan-American Exposition, published by the Nat. Shell Publishing Co., 1059 Third Avenue, New York. "Uncle Hank" visited the great Buffalo Fair and enraptured at the sights with appreciative knowledge of what he saw, he tells about in his own peculiar and inimitable style.

The work is by Thomas Fleming. It is a handsome volume, profusely illustrated with over 450 illustrations. New edition now ready. Price, $2.00. Will be sent, express charges prepaid on receipt of price if your local dealer cannot supply you. Address the publishers as above.

The New York Sun of Jan. 11th, says this of the book: "The reader may make up his mind to be pleasantly overwhelmed by the opulence and vivacity of 'Around the Pan,' published by the Nat. Shell Publishing Company, 1059 Third Avenue, New York."

The wonders begin with the frontispiece picture of President McKinley, drawn in a single line beginning at a point on the cheek bone and going round and round in a constantly widening circle, with waverings and downbearings of the pen in the proper places to secure detachment and shading. We are told that the artist considered the most unique work of his kind in the world, and if there are degrees of uniqueness we are willing to believe that this is most the thing of which there are no duplicates. Of course there is text in addition to the pictures and we should be surprised indeed to hear from any purchaser the opinion that he had not got his money's worth.

Pointed Paragraph.
Many of the flights of genius are from a high bluff downward. It's usually the man who shakes the tree that gets the least fruit. Nothing so effectually cures a man of the flattery habit as marriage. White lies require a great deal of white-washing to keep them from turning black.

A spinster who is willing but unable to catch on says that marriage is a failure. Every man's reputation would be above par if he could get credit for his good intentions. The speechmaking actor is often addicted to certain lectures.

It sometimes happens that a widow refuses to be comforted because no other man is willing to offer himself as a sacrifice.—Chicago News.

an easy way
and a sure way to treat a case of Sore Throat in order to kill disease germs and insure healthy throat action is to take half a glassful of water put into it a teaspoonful of Mexican Mustang Liniment.

How to Grow Cotton for Profit.
Prepare your land well, manure well and plant a variety that will command a better price when you offer it on the market.

Two years ago I secured a peck of seed, planted them on half an acre of land and picked a bale of cotton that weighed 429 pounds, shipped this cotton through Mr. R. J. Cobb together with several other bales of good variety and this bale sold for three eighths of a cent more per pound than the lot. The list is far superior to any cotton sold on this market and the yield is far ahead of anything we have in this country. Numbers of the best farmers in the county saw my crop growing in the field and pronounced it fine as they grew saw.

I am now offering these seed for sale at $1.00 a bushel. Parties wanting any of the seed will please send me their order at once as I only have a limited quantity for sale.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.
A Cute Little Playhouse for the Children. West Somerville can lay claim to the smallest house in greater Boston. It stands on a lawn close by a stately house at the corner of Highland Avenue and Cedar Street.

It is so perfectly proportioned and the exterior is so well finished with its little piazzas and steps up to the door that at first sight one almost expects to see miniature beings from Toyland stalking around the place.

The house is 8 feet wide by 6 feet deep and is 8 feet 6 inches high to the tip of the roof. The interior consists of one room, as its size precludes the possibility of more for the accommodation of human beings. Its walls are papered and decorated and hung with pictures and small ornaments.

In the center of the floor stands a small table, with chairs arranged around it, and the whole interior seems so comfortable and cozy that one almost wishes for the magic ring of Arabian Knights' fables, by the aid of which one might grow small enough to enter through the tiny door and enjoy the comforts which one is privileged to look upon through the windows only.

It was formerly used by the owner as a playhouse for his children, but, alas, the children grew, and the house didn't, until it failed to accommodate them. And so now it stands empty, silently waiting for the next generation of children to make its little walls echo with their merry laughter, as they were wont to echo in the days of the children of the past generation whose childhood days are no more.—Boston Globe.

AT THE CLUB.

On the street, at social gatherings, anywhere, where ever a number of good dressers are gathered and the clothes question is the topic of conversation, you will learn, if you lend an attentive ear, that we are quoted as being the store that always has snappy toggery for the up-to-the-hour man. The store that he looks to for new things; the store that he first turns to for a new cut in a suit, a new shape in a hat or tie. In short, the store where the good dresser always finds the thing he wants without paying an extra price for style. If you are interested in Clothing and Haberdashery with character, come in.

LANDED A HOBO.
Too Much Insolation Got Him in Limbo.

Wednesday afternoon a white tramp was going from house to house in South Greenville, and where no men were around he freely used "cuss words" and spoke insulting words to ladies. Messrs. F. M. Hodges and R. M. Kennedy heard of the tramp's conduct and went after him to advise him that it would be best to move on and change his base of operations. The tramp became very indignant (?) and showed fight, and the result was a few rounds leaving some bloody knuckles. They downed the tramp and loaded him on a wagon to bring him down to the lock-up, "Weary Willie" giving vent to his feelings as the procession moved along.

Near the Academy culvert the tram jumped out of the wagon and struck a sprint, but was soon over taken and held until Capt. Smith, who had been phoned for, arrived on the scene and "Weary Willie" was soon behind the bars awaiting what he had ever struck Greenville.

Wednesday afternoon, at the meeting in the Methodist church, Rev. T. J. Dally, of Fremont, discussed the question of "How to Obtain and Use Information." He was followed by Rev. W. C. Robinson, of Tarboro, in an address on "Woman's Work." Both of these were very interesting.

The conference closed Wednesday night with an excellent sermon by Rev. J. J. Barker, of Bethel, and the visitors all left for their homes this morning.

There are a thousand things in your store that will furnish the theme for a readable, interesting, attractive advertisement. Take one article or one class of articles at a time and describe them as accurately as possible. Tell just exactly what you see about them that makes them good and desirable. Certainly when you bought them you had some idea that for a particular reason that particular thing would sell. That's the idea to put into the advertisement.—Good Advertising.

OUR RALEIGH LETTER

Special Correspondent of Reflector. RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 10. The organization here of a North Carolina "Anti-Saloon League" last Friday marked a distinct step toward the revival of temperance work in this State, which has been allowed to remain in a state of innocuous disuse of late.

FOOLISH SPIRIT WORK

An ancient proverb warns every man of the folly of "sticking out his nose to spite his face," and some of the old books have pictures illustrating the adage. But the best illustration to be found anywhere is that given by the Moore Journal in the paragraph quoted here.

EVERYBODY REALIZES NOW THAT HE WAS RIGHT.

Many people who "felt out" with Grover Cleveland a few years ago and could find no abuse too bad to hurl at him, are now looking at things in a different light, and are ready to admit that the Old Man was right—that he is the greatest living American. It took them a long time to see that they had erred, not him, but it is gratifying to see that they are getting back in the old, familiar path.

DO NOT EXPECT MIRACLES.

If a cold, long neglected, or improperly treated, has chafed you by the throat, you cannot expect it to be cured in a day, but you can stop its progress and in a reasonable time get rid of it altogether. If you use Allen's Lung Balm, there is nothing like this known to cure colds, coughs, and all the affections of the air passages.
