

THE EASTERN REFLECTOR GREENVILLE, N. C.

D. I. WHIGHAM, Editor and Owner. Entered at the post-office at Greenville, N. C., as second class mail matter. FRIDAY, JULY 18, 1902.

All are now waiting to hear from the State convention at Greensboro.

The Washington Messenger tells of a man who bought a farm near Aurora, and in two years sold enough potatoes off of it to pay for the farm.

Lucks like the State base ball league is about to fall or run itself out of existence. Only three clubs are left in it now and they create little interest.

The big lumber plant of the Parmed Ecosystem Co., at Jacksonville, was destroyed by fire Sunday night. Only the outside lumber and dry kilns were saved.

While in New York, last Friday, Mr. Chas. G. Latta, of Raleigh, was struck by a street car and his skull fractured. He has since been in a critical condition.

Talk about warm or long congresses, that of the seventh Congressional district, held at Monroe last week was one of them.

It took 1208 ballots to make a nomination. The victory went to Mr. R. N. Page, of Montgomery, on that ballot. Another candidate, Mr. Blair, came within a fraction of a vote of receiving the nomination on one ballot.

Gen. W. P. Roberts has with drawn as a candidate for nomination to Congress in this district. This leaves the field practically clear to Hon. John H. Small, and the convention which meets in Plymouth on the 20th will probably re-nominate him by acclamation, just as ought to be done.

We are reminded of the good old days when the National Democracy was in the ascendancy and victories were scored by her credit when we hear "Tariff Reform" used as the national battle cry, and see it mentioned in the press that Grover Cleveland has almost decided to stump the state for the Democratic gubernatorial ticket in New York.

"There's a good time a comin' yet."

A most horrible and shocking affair was that of the mine explosion of the Rolling Mill mine, near Johnston, Pa., on Thursday, the 10th inst., in which 112 persons, and perhaps more, met death in so frightful a manner. The explosion was caused by an accumulation of gas in the mine, evidently overlooked by the fire bosses, as they are called, having this danger in charge, as three of them were killed in the disaster.

Saturday was a sad day in many homes in that town, the day being given up almost wholly to funerals over the dead bodies.

Too horrible to contemplate are those shocking mine disasters with nothing but death and sorrowing heartaches left in their wake.

The Chamber of Commerce of Kinston are taking steps to induce the Atlantic Coast Line to put on a morning passenger train into Kinston over this road, and an evening train out of Kinston.

Greenville is, or ought to be interested in this movement. A year ago when Mr. Borden, of the Coast Line, was here to confer with a representative committee of citizens relative to improving the service and connections of their road, one of the matters discussed was the Kinston people are now moving for. At the time he said that was impracticable, but if the Kinston people are asking for it Greenville might unite with them and a strong petition from both towns would be effective.

There is no use arguing the benefit this additional train would be to Greenville and to our tobacco market. Many farmers up the road who go elsewhere, would sell their tobacco in Greenville if they could come here in the morning and return home in the evening. This would mean increased business for the railroad and increased business for the town.

And then we often hear traveling men speak of the inconvenience of coming into this section because we have only one passenger train a day.

Every town along the road might join in this movement for all would be benefited. Certainly Greenville should co-operate in the effort, and not be long about it.

CLAUDE KITCHIN. Claude Kitchin of the second congressional district is making for himself quite a reputation, as witness the following very flattering paragraph from the Washington correspondence of the Raleigh Post of 13th.

Congressman Claude Kitchin of the second district will enter the national campaign, having agreed to make several speeches in the middle west.

Some strong speeches will be made by both white and colored speakers all along the line of the great educational awakening in this and other states. Let every body who can by word or deed encourage the colored people to do their best to make themselves worthy citizens of a great state.

Our Friend The Young Man Again. There are to-day millions of chances for the young man, but they may not all be on Easy Street—they never were. The middle man groans and sweats because the trust has knocked him higher than Haman—but that's the new condition of life in luxury because he made his money by buying from the producer and selling at an enormous profit to the manufacturer.

The trust has played havoc with him—and he means in his anguish that the young man stands no show. No show for what? No show to place the price on the farmer's product, and then demand his own terms from the manufacturer. The young man stands a shaver, and a good one to-day—if he masters his profession or his trade and goes into it with his head and his hands and his heart.

Miss Kate Chapman went to shopping to Greenville Saturday. Miss Minnie Chinar, who has been living for quite a long while with Mrs. Dr. Cox, will hereafter make her home in Oxford.

Miss Etta Smith is to visit Miss Mary, of Black Jack, on Sunday. Miss Mary Leggett, of Wilmington, is visiting Miss Lou Star.

Miss Lucy Wooten and Mrs. Bradley Wooten, who have been visiting Miss Lou May, returned to Wilmington Wednesday.

Miss Mary Crumpler, of Washington, is in town visiting Mrs. D. W. Arnold.

G. W. Freeman returned to Bell-haven Thursday morning. He is there on business.

Miss Helen Forbes and Mrs. Dr. E. A. Moye spent several days here visiting relatives in the town.

Long Hair

"About a year ago my hair was coming out very fast, so I bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor. I stopped the falling, and made my hair grow very rapidly, until now it is 45 inches in length."—Mrs. A. Boydston, Atchison, Kans.

There's another hunger than that of the stomach. Hungry hearts need food. This is why we say that Ayer's Hair Vigor always restores color, and makes the hair grow long and heavy.

COLORED INSTITUTE. Reported for The Reflector: The Pitt County Institute for the colored teachers opened Monday, July 14. Some fifty names were enrolled during the morning session, several others came in the afternoon to be ready for work early Tuesday. The institute is under the management of Prof. W. H. Bagnale County Superintendent of public schools.

He is assisted by Prof. N. C. Bruce, Shaw University, Raleigh, N. C., and by J. E. Brown, teacher at Grifton. Great interest seems awakened in the colored people for competent teachers and in these teachers to better fit themselves. They hold an educational rally meeting for the colored people at the court house Wednesday night to which the public at large is invited.

Some strong speeches will be made by both white and colored speakers all along the line of the great educational awakening in this and other states. Let every body who can by word or deed encourage the colored people to do their best to make themselves worthy citizens of a great state.

Fresh Gossip From Near-by Vicinities

WINTERTVILLE, N. C., July 16. Hunsucker Carriage Co. has just received an order for a car load of buggies. They now have in stock the largest, prettiest line of buggies ever before. Who will be the first man to buy one with this year's tobacco money? Be sure to call their attention to it when you can. There may be something in it for you.

To the first man purchasing a pair of cart wheels of the A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. with this year's tobacco money they will pay a premium of an Economic Back Band or fifty cents in money.

Little Miss Lillian Baldeer is visiting Miss Hattie Nichols. Mrs. Louisa Cox and Miss Annie Stox spent Monday and Tuesday in Greenville.

Miss Helen Galloway, of Grimesland, who has a host of friends and around Winterville, to the delight of all is spending some time here.

Mrs. Rickey Moore and Miss Lydia Kittrell, from near Greenville, were visiting here Saturday. Dr. B. T. Cox returned from Baltimore last Friday evening.

Miss Mollie Bryan, after spending a pleasant letter to Miss Tessie and Anna Speight, near Repton, came home Saturday.

Miss Pearl Edmondson, who has been visiting her home in Bethel Monday morning.

R. H. Hunsucker is doing a first-class business. Jap Stocks was in town early this morning with 5 ton coal which he caught before sundown. They were of the four legged kind.

Miss Laura Cox attended church at Ayden Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sparks received a telegram Saturday announcing the serious illness of their sister in Kinston requesting their immediate presence, to which they at once responded. Their sister died soon after their arrival in Kinston. Our people greatly sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. Sparks, both of whom are held in very high esteem.

TRIBUTE TO T. C. MANNING. A gentleman at Way Cross, Ga., sends THE REFLECTOR the following tribute to Mr. T. C. Manning, who died in that town a few days ago.

Thomas Caswell Manning died at Way Cross, Ga., on the night of Sunday, July 6th last. His former home was near Greenville, N. C. He was the son of the late Malcolm G. Manning, of Pitt county, and was born on November 21st, 1867. He was married to Miss Edie Carpenter, of Aiken, S. C., March 5th, 1887.

During the latter years of his life he resided and did business in Waldo, Fla., and Way Cross, Ga., and for one and a half years immediately preceding his death he was proprietor of the Phoenix hotel at the latter place. The respect and kindly feeling entertained for him by his many patrons bear testimony to the unflinching courtesy and affability which characterized him. These and other admirable qualities which he possessed were not assumed and laid aside at will, as occasion might require, but he was the courteous gentleman with all people at all times.

His death resulted from a complication of diseases beginning with neuralgia of the heart and ending with typhoid fever. He became convalescent from one only to be attacked by another. He bore his entire suffering which lasted for six weeks with extraordinary courage and fortitude, his solicitude for those in constant attendance upon him seeming throughout to outweigh consideration for himself. In all the relations of life, as a citizen, in business, in his own home circle, Mr. Manning has left behind him an irreproachable record, no harsh, no unkind memories of him survive.

Funeral services were held in the parlors of the Phoenix Hotel on the morning of July 7th and his remains were conveyed by train to Waldo, Fla., and there interred. He has left a widow and two small children, five sisters and two brothers, and to them the fullest measure of sympathy is extended. Such comfort as comes from the reflection that the chapter of a human life has been such as to defy the closest scrutiny and that the seed, be it where it may, amidst strife or within the sacred precincts of home has been that of the hero, may well be the portion of Mr. Manning's sorrowing relatives.

W. B. Pollard returned this morning from Greensboro where he has been the last ten days.

Mrs. D. W. Arnold gave the "Little Builders" a very enjoyable ice cream supper Thursday evening at her home. The "Little Builders" have fourteen members with Mrs. D. W. Arnold, Miss Reid Lara, Treas. They are doing very good work.

Abraham Stimmer, an Iowa, millionaire, believes the college and library donation business is being overdone, and proposes to donate his millions to establishing hospitals for women in distress and homes for aged people. He says he got his money from the kick on the ordinary sort of halo.

David F. Kromacher, assistant paymaster U. S. Navy, was drowned at Ocean View Saturday night.

She—"Let us have a white wedding when we are married." He—"Certainly. I never did care much for colored weddings."

On Friday Gus Forbes captured a wild hog in the woods about 5 miles from town. He was out hunting when his dogs jumped something and he thought they were running a fox, and following the chase he soon came upon the dog with a big fight and once Gus had to climb a tree to escape an attack. While the dogs had the hog down Gus slipped off the tree and with a club struck the hog a blow on the head that stunned him. Before the animal could recover Gus had him securely tied and took him home alive. The hog has dangerous looking tusks.
