THE TWO WORDS. L. E. DIEKENGA

Published Every Wednesday
Upon an evil journey sped,
And like a sharp and cruel dart,
It pierced a fond and loving heart,

It turned a friend into a foe, And everywhere brought pain and A kind word followed it one day,

Flew swiftly on its blessed way; It healed the wound, it soothed the pair And friends of old were friends again; It made the hate and anger cease, And everywhere brought joy and peace men and measures that are not consistent with the true principles of the party.

Friends could forgive but not forget, Or lose the sense of keen regret.

How would we weigh with utmost care Each thought before it sough, the air, And only speak the words that move Like white-winged messengers of love?
