VOICE OF THE FAITHFUL HEART.

JESSE BARTLETT DAVIS.

Say, what is the wild sea's message. It so longingly bears to the land;

That so fondly it croons on the pebbles, As it dries its sad eyes on the strand?

Do the pebbles it dallies and kisses, And those who are with it as they part, Alone know the echo that lingers,

Like the voice of a fond, faithful heart. Is the pebble an exile, I wonder,

From some sea bedded cavern of yore? Are the waves but its couriers bearing?

Sweet tidings from grove to shore? Does it hearken and send back its greeting?

Is the kiss on the wave's lips a part? As swift and as sure come the answer,

From the voice of a fond, faithful heart. Does the surf change forever, or ever?

Do these couriers pause in their chase? Are the depths of the sea ever broken?

By the tempests that wrinkle its face? Ah, no!—as strong and enduring,

Through ocean and continent part, Are the whispers, heard but by the loved one,

From the voice of the fond, faithful heart. Deep down beneath the boom of ocean,

Unsound by plumes and lines; At peace from the storm and commotion,

That rage o'er its billows of brine, There are secrets that time shall fathom,

There are jewels unknown to earth's heart. As deep, as true and as precious,

Is the voice of the fond, faithful heart. GENIUS.

RICHARD HENSTIG HORNE.

Far out at sea—the sun was high. White veiled the wind and flapped the sail;

We saw a snow-white butterfly Dancing before the fitful gale,

Far out at sea. The little wanderer, who had lost

His way, of danger nothing knew, Settled awhile upon the mast,

Then fluttered to the waters blue, Far out at sea.

Above, there gleamed the boundless sky; Below, the sunlit ocean shined;

Between them danced the butterfly, The spirit life of this vast scene,

Far out at sea. The tiny soul that soared away,

Seeking the clouds on fragile wings, Lured by the brighter, purer air,

Who is injured by protection?

To this question it may be answered, every one who is not benefited.

Protection can only benefit any thing, as has been shown, by increasing the prices of those things which they have to sell. Now, if it increased likewise the price of that which they had to buy, the one would set off the other, and there would be no benefit at all. Surely this is self-evident. To make pro tection a benefit to somebody, there fore, it must in the necessity of things, either increase the price of their products, leaving the price of their purchases the same, or it must maintain the price of their sales and lower that of their purchases. If it does neither it does nothing; if it does either it injures somebody.

Every man, therefore, in the United States is injured who, having (by protection) the cost raised of all which he has to buy, does not also, by the same law, have the price of all that he has to sell increased to the same extent. First and foremost, then, it injures all who only consume and do not produce. As these are the vast majority, it is necessarily diminished. But with the familiarity of the government will permit, times as great. British capital will permit, put into these railroads, and these cheap wheat lands of India were developed because England could not get her bread from our prairies in exchange for her manufactured goods, tariff wall forbidding. She would gladly have fed her people from the riches of our plains if she could, but all foreign commerce is exchange, a protection forbids exchange. The story of cotton is the particular interest of individuals. It by no means implies sacrifice of individual interests, for as M. Bastiat says, an essential element of each man's prosperity is the general prosperity. Therefore, whilst each one is more or less benefited by the general welfare, it is not true that the general welfare is to the same extent promoted by the advance

Washington Letter.

Special cor. to REFLECTOR. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29th 1888.

The republicans of the House have backed down in a most inglorious manner by declining to accept the proposition made them by Representative Mills to take a vote for the Mills tariff bill, without further discussion or amendment. This action on the part of the republicans shows plainly that they were afraid the bill would pass if they allowed it to come to a vote without further delay. The bill, when taken up again, be considered under the five minute rule by sections. At this stage, amendments will be in order.

It is not likely that a final vote will be reached before July.

Members of the Senate Judiciary Committee have received many letters urging the confirmation of Mr. Fuller as Chief Justice. The majority of the letters have come from the North, and quite a number of them were written by prominent republicans. He would have probably been confirmed this week, had not Senator Ingalls asked for further delay. It is now be lieved that he will be confirmed next week.

The Baltimore, one of the new cruisers for the navy, will be launched in Philadelphia July 4th. It is expected that Mrs. Cleveland will christen the new boat. A resolution providing for an investigation of the fur seal fisheries of Alaska, by the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, has been passed by the House. For many years there have been charges against the Alaska fur company, a corporation which has a contract with the Government that gives it a monopoly of catching seals on the coast of Alaska. Up to the present time this wealthy corporation has always been able to prevent any legislation looking toward a Congressional investigation; but now it is to be hoped that the committee will make an exhaustive inquiry into the whole business and methods of the company. Mr. Springer, of Illinois, has introduced

The Cause of the Poor Man.

Richmond Times. The poor people of the United States, when they read the creeds of monopolists appealing to working men, ought to notice one particular point about protection, and that is that the family pays over 100 per cent. more for alpaca goods than people in other countries do. Please take notice of the fact and think about it. Every family wants that class of goods and the duty makes them over 100 per cent. higher than they ought to be. But mark you well; the rich man gets high-class clothes from England at about 50 per cent. duty, so the laborer is not quite so much protected after all, if he will open his eyes

The same thing applies to other goods, and the man in Canada, just across the river, and in the same continent, the same conditions, gets all his clothes for one-half what the American citizen pays for his free country pays. Why is this? The monopolists say—that it is protection of American labor. But we stated yesterday, in free trade England the price of labor rose, while in protective New Eng land it fell. The reason is that England works for the markets of the whole world with raw materials at fair prices, while the American is tied to a stake and made to work only for a manipulated home market. Having only a limited market and only limited employers, who are monopolists, when he complains of starvation wages the monopolists shuts up and holds his supply of goods for a rise of the market, because the protective tariff keeps out other goods and gives him a royal grant of monopoly. If the American workman was allowed to exercise his skill on raw materials as Englishmen do he could beat the world, and it would not be in the power of a few employers to control him. There would be no need of unions or of strikes, because the demand for labor would be ten times what it is

Needs of the Nation.

Senator Vance Protects Against Immoralizing Error

Baltimore Sun. ARTICLE X

It will not be denied that in fixing the policy of a country, those measures should be preferred which will confer the greatest good on the greatest number.

In our country it has become a maxim, a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance. It simply means that the general interest must override the particular interest of individuals.

It by no means implies sacrifice of individual interests, for as M. Bastiat says, an essential element of each man's prosperity is the general prosperity.

Therefore, whilst each one is more or less benefited by the general welfare, it is not true that the general welfare is to the same extent promoted by the advance ment of a few. In short, the prosperity of nine men is of more value to the tenth man than the prosperity of the tenth man would be to the ninth.

The maxim is too obvious to doubt and too humane to assail. In our legislation, then, we should unquestionably be guided by it, and ask, first of all, what is the general interest and how can it be best promoted?

The first grand division of our people or any other, is into producers and consumers. This division has reference to tariff taxation, for, in the general sense, all human beings are consumers. So, in one sense, all the 17,000,000 of persons put down in the census as engaged in gainful occupations are producers, or doing work which assists production.

But we are to consider only those who are engaged in the production of articles which are "protected" from competition by tariff duties. Farmers and those engaged in all branches of agriculture are producers, but with slight exceptions none of their products are protected or can in any way be increased in price by the imposition of tariff duties.

So of builders, of those engaged in transportation, personal service and all the rest of the vast army of toilers—none are protected. The direct recipients of the benefits of tariff legislation are whittled down to those engaged in creating manufactured products alone. It is not necessary to claim, as in fairness it might, that it should be further extended to the factory owner, excluding the operative.

Putting into the count all persons employed in manufacturing, the case stands thus: That we legislate for some two and a half millions of producers, against some fifteen millions of men who are both consumers and producers; or counting the entire population, our laws are made for the interest of less than ten millions, and against the interest of more than fifty millions of our people.

Delicacy.

Fastidiousness has committed so many forgeries on the firm of delicacy, that this poor virtue is nearly reduced to the state of bankruptcy.

Delicacy inevitably destroys delicacy. Perhaps this is the reason why the society of strangers is sometimes more agreeable than that of our most intimate relatives.

Delicacy respects the feelings of everybody. It not only abstains from wounding the sensibilities of a modest woman, but even from trifling with the fancies of a nervous hypochondriac.

Human life is full of so many grossness, each of which gives a fresh wound to delicacy, that at length he expires under repeated blows.

At fifteen, our feelings are in their most sensitive state; at thirty, we regard with indifference things which, in younger and purer years, had annoyed us exceedingly; at fifty, our beauty and our delicacy are both withering together—it is but paint for the former, and affectation for the latter, and in old age, to flout those emotions of the soul would be as wonderful as to meet a smooth and rosy complexion.

To a certain degree, delicacy is a virtue; let it get a step beyond, and it becomes the most childish imbecility.

Travel Cheapened.

Wilmington Messenger. The authorities of the Atlantic Coast Line yesterday announced a reduction in the rates of first-class fare over the Wilmington and Weldon railroad, from four to three-and-a-half cents per mile.

The reduced rate goes into effect to-morrow, which is June 1st.

It was also announced that passengers without tickets, who board trains at stations where there are agents, will be charged from 25 to 50 cents more than the rate which the tickets are sold.

The three and a half cents rate has prevailed on the other railroads of the Coast Line System for some time, and that rate having now been adopted on the W. & W. makes the rate uniform along the entire system.

The reduction was at the instance of the railroad management, and will considerably cheapen travel along that road, a circumstance which will be greatly appreciated by the traveling public.

The Democratic hosts of the Union assembled in Convention at St. Louis yesterday, and ere this will be read a candidate for President and Vice-President will have been nominated. That Cleveland will be our leader is an assured fact. No other man will be mentioned. The selection of a candidate for second place is an interesting topic. Within the past week the name of the noble old Roman, Allen G. Thurman, has been prominently mentioned, and if he will accept the nomination it will surely be given him. It is said by those in a position to know that Thurman will accept the nomination for Cleveland and Thurman!

The Convention.

Never, in the history of North Carolina, has there assembled a larger, more intelligent, more enthusiastic or more earnest body of men than those who met in Raleigh last week for the purpose of attending the Democratic State Convention. Every county in the State was represented, a thing unheard of before, and the work done was very effective. The Convention organized permanently by the election of Gen. W. R. Cox as permanent Chairman and Mr. R. M. Furman, Secretary. A synopsis of the proceedings of the Convention would be interesting, but want of space prevents. Judge Fowle, Lieut. Gov. Stedman and Mr. S. P. Alexander were placed in nomination for Governor. Judge Fowle led in the race from the first to the twenty-second ballot, and the name of Mr. Alexander being withdrawn after that ballot, the fight narrowed down to Fowle and Stedman. The former received the nomination on the twenty-third ballot, getting 523 votes, to 435 cast for Maj. Stedman. After the nomination of Judge Fowle Mr. Alexander was nominated for Lieut. Governor by acclamation. The selection of the remaining State officers, with the exception of Auditor, proceeded without stir or excitement, the present incumbents being nominated by acclamation without opposition. There were quite a number of aspirants for Auditor, the names of Gen. W. P. Roberts, present incumbent; Mr. D. E. McIver, of Moore; Rev. G. W. Sanderlin, of Wayne; Mr. H. C. Bourne, of Edgecombe; Capt. W. A. Darden, of Greene, and Mr. E. F. Cohoon, of Pasquotank, being placed before the Convention. Mr. Sanderlin was nominated on the fourth ballot, receiving 508 votes to 453 cast for McIver. Col. A. M. Waddell was nominated for Presidential elector for the State-at-Large by acclamation. Messrs. Harry Skinner, W. B. Glenn and F. N. Strudwick were placed in nomination for the other elector. Col. Skinner and Mr. Glenn withdrew their names, and on motion of Mr. Glenn Mr. Strudwick was nominated by acclamation. Associate Justice Davis was nominated by acclamation to fill the unexpired term of Judge Ashe. For the other two Justices quite a number of names were placed before the Convention. On the second ballot Judge J. E. Shepherd received 515 votes and was declared nominated, on the third ballot Judge A. C. Avery received 494 votes and received the other nomination. Mr. S. P. Alexander having declined to accept the nomination for Lieut. Governor, a new election was held. Col. Thos. M. Holt and Mr. Leazer were presented as candidates, Col. Holt receiving the nomination on first ballot. After electing four delegates and four alternates to the National Democratic Convention, the Convention at 1:20 o'clock Friday morning adjourned sine die, having been in session for nearly two days. The work was well done, and we look for a grand ratification of it in November.

The Ticket.

We place at our mast-head today the nominees of the State Democratic Convention, and from now until the 6th of November we will do all in our power for its success. The ticket is one which the REFLECTOR can support with a great deal of pleasure, and it should receive the hearty endorsement and support of every white man in North Carolina. All in all it is a ticket of which we are proud, and is as good a one as could have been gotten out. The friends and supporters of the other gentlemen whose names were mentioned for some of the offices have pledged themselves to the nominees, and it behooves all patriotic men to lay aside personal preferences and work earnestly and heartily for the nominees. With two exceptions—Judge Fowle, the nominee for Governor, and Rev. G. W. Sanderlin, the nominee for Auditor—all the candidates have been before the people of the State before asking their votes, and they are well and favorably known; therefore it is not necessary that we should mention their lives and past services. They are now filling the positions for which they are candidates for re-election, and the fact that they have received their nominations at the hands of the largest and most intelligent body of Democrats ever assembled in Convention in the State, is ample proof of their having discharged the duties of office faithfully and efficiently. Judge Fowle and Mr. Sanderlin are the new men, but they are equally well known in North Carolina as the others, and there is no one who will gainsay the fact that they are eminently fitted to adorn the positions for which they have been chosen by the Democracy of the State. The former is our "silver tongued" orator, a dear lover of the constitution and the upright judge who struggled singlehanded and alone to maintain the honor and dignity of the State when Republican debauchery and mismanagement ran riot over the land. As our next Governor he will keep North Carolina up to the high plane upon which she now stands and will add new lustre to her name and glory. Rev. G. W. Sanderlin is one of our most scholarly and efficient men. Being forced provisionally, to abandon his chosen profession, the ministry, he accepted agricultural pursuits as his calling, and he is one of our most progressive and prominent farmers. His nomination is an excellent one and will bring out a big vote from that class of people of which he is such an honored member. It would be very hard indeed to improve the ticket in one single particular. We look for an overwhelming Democratic victory in November.

The Democrats of the Fourth District met in Convention in Raleigh last Tuesday and nominated Hon. B. H. Bunn, of Nash county, to represent them in the next Congress. Mr. Bunn is a fine speaker and will force John Nichols to come out squarely and declare where he stands. The Convention was a very enthusiastic one and nominated Mr. Bunn by acclamation. Blaine is now entirely out of the race for President. He has written a letter from Paris to Whitelaw Reid, of the New York Tribune in which he positively declines to allow his name to go before the Republican convention. He says that even if the nomination were unanimously tendered him he could not accept it. This settles the matter so far as Mr. Blaine is concerned. Some one else besides the "Plumed Knight" will have to lead the Republican hosts to defeat this year. Who it will be is a question that greatly agitates the public mind just now.

Platform of the Democratic Party of North Carolina.

We again congratulate the people of North Carolina on the continued enjoyment of peace, good government and general prosperity under Democratic administration of the affairs of the State which has now been unbroken for so many years; upon the just and impartial enforcement of the law; upon the increasing efficiency of our common school system, and the progress made in popular education; upon the improvement and enterprise manifested in all parts of the State. We again challenge a comparison between this state of things and the outrages, crimes and scandals which attended Republican ascendancy in our borders. We pledge ourselves to exert in the future as in the past our best efforts to promote the best interests of the people of all sections of the State. Affirming our adherence to Democratic principles as heretofore enunciated in the platforms of the party, it is hereby Resolved, That no government has the right to burden its people with taxes beyond the amount required to pay its necessary expenses and gradually extinguish its public debt; and that whenever the revenues, however derived exceed this amount, they should be reduced, so as to avoid a surplus in the treasury. That any system of taxation which necessitates the payment of a premium of $270 by the government on each $1,000 of its bonds, taken up with the millions that would otherwise lie idle in its vaults, and paid to bondholders who purchased, in many instances, at less than par, is undemocratic, oppressive and iniquitous and should be refunded. The course of our Democratic Representatives in Congress, in their efforts to give relief to the people from burdensome internal revenue and tariff taxation, meets with the approval of the Democratic party of this State and we respectfully recommend that if they find it impossible to give to our people the relief demanded, they present any just and practical measure in Congress that will afford a practical relief from such existing burdens. Resolved, That while the details of the methods by which the constitutional revenue tariff shall be gradually reached are subject which the representatives of our people at the national capital must be trusted to adjust, we think the customs duties should be levied for the production of public revenue, and the discriminations in their adjustment should be such as will place the highest rates on luxuries and the lowest on the necessities of life, distribute as equally as possible the unavoidable burdens of taxation, and confer the greatest good on the greatest number.

Why Is It?

Editor Eastern Reflector. DEAR SIR: In your last issue I see a letter from Superintendent, Finger, to county Superintendents, in regard to Normal Schools; and in noticing the list of Normals, and the time of opening and closing them, I find there is not a single Normal School, for the white race, in the State that opens before the 3rd of July, and some of them run till near the last of August. Now, I wish to ask, what are the Normals for? And of course the answer will be, for the benefit of the poor children of the State, who have not the means to educate themselves! Then why should the normals be kept during the very time when more poor children can attend the public Schools than at any other time during the year? For it is a well known fact that more children attend the public Schools in the rural districts during the months of July and August, than any other two months in the year; and yet our Superintendents or those controlling the Normals, persist in having them at that very time. Why is this? Is it because our Superintendents have never thought of the matter? or is it because they do not care? If either is the cause, I think it is about time for the people to take the matter into consideration and abolish either the office of Superintendent or the Normal Schools, or both; and let the money which goes to them, go directly to the public Schools and greater good will accrue to the poor children. If we are to have Normal Schools, and the argument is to be maintained that they are for the benefit of the children instead of the teachers and Superintendent by all means let them close by the middle of July. Sixth month of 1888. Point Lace Flour has been tried and is the best and cheapest at the Old Brick Store.

Politics continue to warm up. The sale of the Boss Favon's Lunch Milk Biscuit during 1887 exceeded the sales of the former year by 380,701 pounds. Try them, at the Old Brick Store.

Too wet for much farm work. NOTICE—Colored School Committees are hereby instructed not to employ Fred Cannon to teach in their schools, as I will not sign his order. J. LATHAM, Supt.

Large crowd in town Monday. DENTISTRY—I will leave next Monday (the 11th) for Raleigh to attend the N. C. Dental Association. My office will be closed about ten days. D. L. JAMES, D. D. S. Greenville, N. C., June 5, 1888.

Water in the river rising again. The Racket Store has just purchased the entire stock of shoes, dry goods, notions, white goods, laces, &c., of Mrs. Horne at 50 cts in the dollar less than cost, and we propose giving our customers the benefit of this mammoth bargain. RYAN & REDDING.

Decline in the meat market last week. P. Matthew begs to intimate that he is leaving Greenville in a few weeks. Any one that may wish his services before leaving must apply at once. He takes this opportunity of thanking his many kind patrons and hopes that his work has been as much appreciated as their kindness.

Five Fridays and five Saturdays in June. Commencement and pretty girls this week. Potato bugs keep up their destructive work.

The firemen paraded Monday afternoon. Some more bad weather during the past week. The days are now nearing their greatest length.

Pitt county Superior Court commences next Monday. May apples have been coming in the market for a week. It is almost time for whortleberries to appear in market.

Only civil cases will be tried at the coming term of Court. At the election in Raleigh Monday the city went by 120 majority. The beginning of June is almost a repetition of May. Cool and wet.

Superior Court in Washington this week for the trial of criminal cases only. We are again under obligations to Senator M. W. Ransom for public documents. Tax listing time is here, and that duty must be attended to the first twenty days in this month.

We have now passed into the first summer month and the season may be expected to assert its rights. The market is poorly supplied with anything to eat just now. Fish has played out and beef comes in but seldom. Farmers behind and can't do any work, and the grass keeps growing. That is the way they talked to us Monday.

Mr. R. L. Humber has suspended a large sign across the street in front of his machine shops, on Fifth street. The prohibitionists carried the day in Washington at the election on Monday. The town went dry by 27 majority. Masons are requested to bear in mind the election of officers to be held at the regular communication of the Lodge to-morrow.

A general heavy rain passed over this county last Thursday night. This section had another heavy one on Saturday evening. It matters not how warm the political cauldron may become, you should not forget that the warm weather makes sanitation necessary. Off goes our hat to the Board of County Commissioners and Superintendent of Public Instruction upon their reelection for another term. It is a hard matter to keep up with the state of the river during so much wet weather, but we expect the late heavy rains will send it up again.

Thanks to Mr. C. H. James, the principal, for an invitation to the closing exercises of Oak Grove Academy, Keelsville, on Friday, 22nd inst. Mr. E. B. Moore requests us to state that there will be no more sale or delivering of ice on Sunday. Persons wishing ice for Sunday must procure it Saturday evening, at which time the wagon will hereafter go around for that purpose.

Personal. Miss M. E. Tyson closed her school on last Friday for vacation.

Miss Sadie Short is teaching a month's term of school in the Academy.

Mrs. J. H. Tucker returned home Saturday from her visit to Warren-ton.

Mrs. V. H. Whichard, the editor's mother, has been very sick this week.

Mrs. Raca Hamburger, of New York, is visiting the family of Mr. L. G. Heilbronner.

Miss Florence Perkins, of Washington, is visiting Misses Margie and Emma Langley.

Miss Mollie Moore's school will close on Friday. The pupils will give an entertainment Monday night.

Miss Aece Warren, who has been teaching school near Enfield, returned home on Saturday. Her friends welcome her return.

Miss Havens Cherry, who has been teaching school at Mr. Leonidas Fleming's, returned home last Friday her term of school having closed.

Mr. R. M. Hearn, the popular agent of the O. D. Line, recently made a trip to Tarboro, and seems greatly refreshed since returning home.

Prof. W. H. Ragsdale and wife and two children, of Granville county, are visiting the family of Mr. H. A. Sutton, father of Mrs. Ragsdale. Their many friends in Greenville are glad to see Mr. and Mrs. Ragsdale in our midst.

A messenger came to Greenville yesterday bearing the intelligence that Mrs. R. A. Bynum was dangerously ill at her home near Farmville, and that her condition was considered hopeless. Her brothers, Messrs. A. L. and H. A. Blow, left immediately to attend her.

Mr. J. E. Tucker, a promising young man of this county and brother of our townsman, Mr. J. H. Tucker, left Saturday for Raleigh, where he goes to accept a clerkship in the State Agricultural Department. We wish him every success in his position and feel sure he will fill it creditably.

It is time spring chickens were making their appearance in market. Wonder if it will require a spring board to get up to the prices demanded for them.

The Old Brick Store gave another testimonial of the enterprise of the proprietors last week. Saturday they had on sale cucumbers direct from Florida.

The Town Councilmen have reduced the pay of the policemen from $40 to $35 per month for the months of June, July, August and September.

A Young Men's Christian Association was organized last night. It was too near the hour of going to press for us to make any report of it this week.

We hope our readers throughout the county will come to town prepared to pay us some more money on their subscription when they attend Court.

The steamer Greenville will give excursions to Washington to persons desiring to attend the commencement exercises of Greenville Institute on Friday.

During the last week a book, "2010 Popular Quotations," has disappeared from the REFLECTOR office. Whoever has it will confer a favor by returning it at once.

Thanks are in order for a bucket of nice honey in the comb, which that excellent woman, Mrs. W. R. Whichard, very kindly sent us on last Friday. It was greatly enjoyed.

We are requested to announce that Mr. M. C. Smith, of Swift Creek township, will be a candidate before the next Convention of the Democratic party of Pitt county for the office of Register of Deeds.

Many have taken the advantage of our low offer to send the REFLECTOR to the first of next January for 75 cents. There is room for more names and we hope to swell our list considerably during Court week.

The M. E. Sunday School of this town has one of the best libraries that any town in the State can boast. And it is admirably conducted, the method for giving out the books and keeping a record of them being nowhere surpassed. A system of deposit cards is used.

A very handsome tablet to the memory of the late Mr. B. A. Starkey has been placed in the M. E. Church by the Sunday School class of which he was a faithful and beloved member. There are many who cherish the memory of a friend who was so true as Robert Starkey.

Debate at the Institute chapel to-morrow night, literary address by Rev. S. M. Smith, of Washington, in the Opera House Friday afternoon, annual concert in the same hall Friday night; picnic at Pollards Mill Saturday. That is the outline of the program prepared by the pupils of the Institute for this week.

Farmers Meeting. The meeting of the Farmer's Institute on Monday was marked by a much larger attendance than the meeting a month ago. The question of silos was again discussed, the President Mr. J. J. Laughinghouse, giving the plan of one he had constructed and the advantage it had been to his stock. Mr. R. K. Cotten also spoke upon the construction of silos and the subject was interestingly discussed by both him and Mr. Laughinghouse. Capt. John King spoke upon the diversification of crops and gave his experience in raising peanuts, oats and wheat. He showed how wheat could be successfully raised at a cost not to exceed 25 cents per bushel. The membership of the Institute was considerably increased. We hope to see a large number of farmers present at the meeting the first Monday in July.

Will Play Later. The Greenville Base Ball Association is coming. It has received an application from a professional pitcher in Baltimore to engage his services. If the boys would hire him and then send off and get eight more to act as catcher, basemen, fielders, and so forth, they might get up a game. But the boys say if they can't play yet, they will show you a little later what can be done.

Correction. In publishing the list of delegates from this County to the Congressional Convention, two weeks ago, an error was made in list for Contentnea township. Below we give the correct names of the delegates from that township as they should have appeared in the former issue: Delegates—A. Cox, A. G. Cox, Wm. Worthington, John Pierce, J. W. Cannon, R. C. Cannon, Biggs Harrington.

Base Ball. There will be a match game of base ball played on Friday evening at 4 o'clock between the 1st and 2nd nines, of the Greenville Base Ball Association. Two of the rules governing the Association may be of interest to the public. The first is any player using vulgar or profane language while on the grounds, either during practice or play, shall be fined. The second is that the spectators are expected to preserve the same order.

A Hen Fancies Variety. Mr. Adrian Savage of this township, has a hen that ought to be awarded the premium over all the tribe of fowls. He brought us on Saturday twelve eggs of different shapes, ranging in size from a bird's egg to nearly half the average hen's egg. He said they were all the product of one full grown hen, and that she had laid nineteen of these eggs up to Friday, the small ones having been preceded by several full size eggs. Mr. Savage set two of the eggs under another hen to see if they will hatch. The dozen brought us makes quite a nice collection in various sizes and shapes.

Marriage License. During the month of May license were issued to twelve couples in Pitt county, by the Register of Deeds, as follows:

WHITE. J. J. Frizzle and Clarissa Lawrence, L. H. Smith and Mary A. Smith, B. F. Sutton and Mary F. Dixon, Caleb Weathington and Julia McArthur, J. S. Moore and Adelaide Burnett, James H. Spain and Lovey A. E. Hardy, Charles Bright and Fannie Vick.

COLORED. Washington Borgin and Lucy Ward, W. H. Hardy and Cora Smith, Matthew Faison and Harriett Thighen, Henry Bullock and Tenny Cherry, J. J. Wilkins and Henrietta A. Cherry.

A Smart Calf. We learn that a right amusing incident occurred at the home of Mr. S. M. Jones, near Bethel, last week. Among his cattle was a calf which seemed to possess a very great dislike to being roped at milking time and always made quite a do to when the rope was adjusted. One morning Mrs. Jones went out to attend the milking and upon looking in the accustomed place for the rope failed to find it. While the search for it was going on the calf thought, perhaps, to get more than his share of the milk, but something seemed to interfere with the milking process, and his peculiar actions attracted attention to him, whereupon it was discovered that the calf had swallowed the rope but failed to make a complete job of it, as the noose was hanging from one corner of his mouth. The noose was laid hold of and a steady pull brought the rope to light. The calf is sufficiently amused and don't swallow any more ropes to evade being tied.

Religious. Instead of the regular preaching services in the Baptist Church at 11 o'clock next Sunday morning, the children of Sunbeam Missionary Society will have an interesting exercise, to which the public is invited.

Services were held in all the churches in town on last Sunday morning. Two persons were added to the membership of the Methodist Church, and four were received as candidates for baptism at the Baptist Church. The recent meetings have awakened a religious interest in this community the influence of which we hope will be long felt.

The protracted meeting at Allen's School House continues with much interest. At this writing there have been about twenty conversions and scores of persons ask for prayers at nearly every service. Ten have given in their names to unite with the church. Rev. Mr. Dowell had to return to his charge in Hamilton on Thursday, and Mr. Wildman has had no aid since that time. But the good work goes on.

Dead. The sad intelligence reached Greenville on last Thursday evening of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Respass, wife of J. T. Respass, Esq., which occurred near Yatesville, in Beaufort county, on Thursday morning, after an illness of twelve days with typhoid fever. Mrs. Respass is better known throughout this community as Miss Pettie Beck, she being raised near Greenville and having spent much of her early life with friends in this town. She was married to Mr. Respass, a citizen of Beaufort county, on the 26th of December, 1836, but their home was made in Greenville until a few months ago when they removed to his plantation. Mrs. Respass was about 38 years old at the time of her death. Her remains were brought here on the steamer Greenville on Friday and taken to the family burial grounds, three miles from town for interment. Deceased was a most excellent woman and her many warm friends here are pained at her death. All sympathize with the husband and her family in their loss.

The REFLECTOR from now until January 1st, 1889, 75cts.

Commissioners and Magistrates. The Board of County Commissioners and Magistrates of the county held a joint session on Monday for the purpose of levying the taxes and electing a superintendent of Public Instruction. The meeting was a full one, nearly all the Justices of the county being present. A brief statement of the standing of the county was made and it was found that a lower levy than that for last year would raise sufficient revenue to defray the expenses of the county this year, whereupon the following levy was made:

On every $100 valuation 25 cents. Income and profit 1 per cent. Poll tax 75 cents.

Article B. and C. taxes were made same as the State, viz: Theatrical companies, $5 each performance. Concerts, &c., except for charitable or religious purposes $3. Lectures for reward $3. Museums $3.

Circuses or menageries $100 for each day or part of a day. Side show $50. Any show under canvass with dogs, trick horses, juggling, &c., $50.

Any entertainment or exhibition except for religious, educational or charitable objects, $5. Gift Enterprises $50. Lotteries, $1,000. Billiard tables, $20. Bowling alleys, $20. Public ferries $5 and one half of one per cent.

Itinerant dentists, photographers &c., $0, one half to State and one half to county.

Commission merchants 1 per cent. Merchants &c., one tenth of one per cent on purchases. Liquor dealers, one-half of one per cent. Peddlers, on foot $25; with one horse or mule with or without vehicle $50; with two or more horses or mules $75.

Gypsies or strolling fortune tellers $150. Lightning-rod dealers, $25. Wholesale liquor dealers, $25 for six months. Retail liquor dealers $10 for six months. Auctioneers one-fourth of one per cent. Marriage license 50 cents.

The Magistrates voted to appropriate an amount not to exceed $1-500 for the purpose of building a house for Overseers to live in, to erect such other buildings and make such repairs as may be necessary at the County Poor House.

The election of Superintendent of Public Instruction being next in order, Josephus Latham, G. B. King and H. Harding were placed in nomination. A ballot was taken resulting as follows: Latham 28, King 19, Harding 7, Josephus Latham was declared elected.

The Commissioners then withdrew and the Magistrates proceeded to elect a Board of County Commissioners. Council Dawson, G. M. Mooring, J. A. K. Tucker, T. E. Keel, W. A. James Jr., C. V. Newton, J. B. Nichols, J. S. Norman, J. M. King, and J. J. Laughinghouse were placed in nomination. A ballot was taken resulting in the election of the old Board, they receiving the following number of votes. Dawson 39, Mooring 44, Tucker 37, Keel 32, James 36.

The meeting then adjourned, the Magistrates having performed the duties for which they had assembled well and harmoniously. The reduction on the tax levy over last year, as stated above, is 3 cents on every $100 valuation and 63 cents on poll tax.

The New Berne Journal says the Governor will not set the day for the hanging of Potts for the killing of Lincke. The Supreme Court found no error in the lower Court. So he will be executed at the next criminal Court to be held for Beaufort county.—Elizabeth City News.

A DRUGGIST'S MISTAKE.

A Sick Man's Wife Disregards the Druggist's Advice and So Saves the Life of Her Husband.

I am a wood carrier by trade and it is out of my line to write letters; but my wife thought it was more than right that I should let you know what your remedy has done for me, and I think so too.

I live in East 157th street, west of Third avenue, and have lived there for about twenty-three years, where I own real estate. Up to the time I am about to mention I had been a strong, well man. There was always more or less malaria in the neighborhood, but I had not personally suffered from it. It was in 1880 I had my first attack. It came on as such attacks commonly do, with headaches, loss of appetite and ambition, chills, sore throat, night fever, and a disposition to crawl and stretch, and so forth. I was employed at that time at Killians & Brothers, furniture manufacturers, in West 32d street. I hoped the attack would wear off, but it didn't. I consulted a well-known and able physician in Morrisania, who gave me quinine and told me what to do. I can sum up the first four and a half or five years of my experience in a few words.

The first year I took it occasionally. I took it for a day or two, but on the whole I stuck to my work. I kept taking quinine, in larger doses from year to year, and kept on doing weaker and weaker, slowly but surely, until time. My trouble was now well defined and its symptoms were steady and regular. I had dumb ague in its worst form, and it was grinding me down in spite of all that could be done. My wife could do. It brought me in a grippe fire in a burning coal mine. The poison had gone all through and over me and nothing was able to touch it. It was in the month of August, and about March, 1884, I knocked off work entirely and went home to bed, sick, and to die for all I could tell. I ran down so rapidly that I could hardly walk any distance. Later I went from room to room in my own house only from friends holding me up by each arm. The doses of quinine were increased until I could hardly get up. The effects of this tremendous stimulation was to make me nearly wild. It broke my sleep all up, and I often walked the floor, or staggered about, and at night long walked, scarcely able to bear my eyes or even human speech. My temper was extremely irritable. As to food, one of my little children would eat more in a meal than I could in a day.
I would order food and then turn out in disgust. I lived on quinine and other stimulants and on myself, like a bear in winter. The quinine set me back in weight, and I lost all my strength, and made my stomach so sick I could not tolerate it.

From 175 pounds (my proper weight) I ran down to 97 pounds—the weight of a light girl, and was scarcely better than a skeleton.

If anybody had taken a hatchet and knocked me down and killed me I should have been better off.

During the latter part of this period, early in 1886, my physician said:
"Miller, there's no use in my taking any more money of you. I can't do you any good. You might just as well throw down your throat and it wouldn't help you."

On the strength of this I gave up the use of quinine altogether, and made up my mind to do nothing more and take my chances.

Three weeks afterwards—about the last of May—my wife saw an advertisement of Kaskine in a New York paper.
She bought a bottle, and I bought one "nonsense! it can't do me any good." But she went to a druggist's, nevertheless, to get it. The druggist advised her against Kaskine; he said it was nothing but a cheap imitation of quinine, and he would not give her money on it.
He said he didn't keep it, but could get it if she insisted on having it. Turning out in disgust, my wife spoke to my neighbor, Mr. A. G. Higginbotham, who got her a bottle at a drug store in Sixth avenue.

Almost against my will, and without my own faith, I began taking it. In one week I was better. I began to sleep. I stopped "seeing ghosts." I began to have an appetite and to gain strength. This was now the first of June, 1886, and by the end of the month I was back at my bench at C. P.
Smith's scroll saw factory in 116th street, where I work now.

Since then I have never lost a day from sickness. Taking Kaskine only about forty pellets in four equal doses a day, I continued to gain. The malaria appeared to be killed in my system, and now, for a year, I have had only strength and labor. I am an astonishment to myself and to my friends, and if Kaskine did not do this I don't know what did. The only thing I can think it could do would be to bring a dead man to life. FREDERICK A. MILLER, 630 East 147th Street, New York.

P. S.—For the absolute truth of the above statement, refer to the following gentlemen, who are personally acquainted with the facts: Mr. Alexander Weir, 626 156th St.; Mr. George Seaman, 128th street and Courtland avenue; Mr. A. M. Lewis, 157th street and Courtland avenue; Mr. P. F.
Vaupe, 144th street and Courtland avenue; Mr. John Lunny, 630 East 156th street; Mr. John Kenschaw, 124 125th street; and many others. I will also reply to letters of inquiry.

We submit that the above astonishing cure, vouchered for as it is by responsible men, is deserving of a thorough and candid investigation by thinking people. And we further submit that when druggists turn away customers by falsifying the character of a remedy because they do not happen to have it, and hand, they do a great wrong. If this afflicted man had not disregarded the druggist's advice and sent elsewhere for the remedy he would without doubt have been in his grave.

Other letters of a similar character from prominent individuals, which stamp Kaskine as a remedy of undoubted merit, will be sent on application. Price, $1.00, or 6 bottles, $5.00.

The only things that look familiar at sea are the clouds. These are messengers from home, and how weary and disconsolate they appear, stretching out along the horizon, as if looking for a hill or mountain-top to rest upon—nothing to hold them up—a roof without walls, a span without piers. One gets the impression that they are grown faint, and must presently, if they reach much farther, fall into the sea.—Anon

BELIEVE IN MAN.

JOAQUIN.

Believe in man, nor turn away;
Lo! man advances year by year;
Time bears him upward, and his sphere Of life must broaden day by day.

Believe in man with large belief;
The groined grain each harvest time Hath promised, roundness, and full prime
For all the empty chaff and sheaf.

Believe in man with proud belief;
Truth keeps the bottom of her well,
And when the thief peeps down, the Peeps back at him, perpetual.

Paint not that this or that man fell;
For one that falls or that man rise;
To lift white progress to the skies;
Truth keeps the bottom of her well.

Fear not for man, nor cease to delve For cool sweet truth with large belief, Lo! Christ himself chose only twelve, Yet one of these turned out a thief

WHO IS MY FRIEND?

Who is my friend? My little song shall
For that I do not find him every day; Though if by that vexed name alone I guessed,
A multitude might pass the test, Nor, to my ear, their speech its guide be-wary.

I may not gauge true friendship in that way;
The false like pure gold shines in Forest's ray;
In its cold shade I may know best
Who is my friend.

Since glittering ores oft fail the fire's assaying,
And mock the jewels, in the glooms, grow gray,
Give me no changeful bosom for my trust,
Save that it warms throbs when I'm sore pressed—
And such sweet faith shall prove beyond gainsay.

Who is my friend.
—Youth's Companion.

The Noble Old Roman.

Goldsboro Argus.

The indications now are that the coming Democratic Presidential ticket will be Grover Cleveland and Allen G. Thurman. It is said that the latter has given his consent to allow his name to be presented to the convention and will go on the ticket; and it will give universal pleasure to the Democracy, North, South, East, and West, to vote for the noble old Roman.

The mention of Thurman's name, it is believed, will lead to the result of there being but two ballots taken in the National Convention; the first to nominate Grover Cleveland and the second, Allen G. Thurman.
The South has no candidate and stands ready to do whatever New York may ask for and that will be Thurman. Pennsylvania will join hands with New York and there will be no differences of opinion in the Ohio delegation. That much would be enough to nominate, and the thought is that such candidates as have been mentioned will not further press their claims in the light of recent events.

The Philadelphia Times sums it up as follows: Governor Gray, of Indiana, General Black, of Illinois, and Chief of the Pension Bureau Ex-Congressman Morrison, of Illinois, and Secretary of the Interior Vilas, of Wisconsin, have heretofore been considered by the most promising of the Vice Presidential candidates, and some thought has been given to the necessity of having a candidate from Indiana, but the idea has evidently been abandoned. In the highest Republican circles there is no longer any expectation of carrying Indiana for any possible candidate, and more particularly should Blaine head the ticket.

One of the biggest Republicans in the country and who may be the next national chairman of his party, in speaking of the matter last week, made these expressions: "Should Blaine be the nominee Indiana will be no longer a debatable State. He would be beaten 40,000 votes, and at the same time would place some of the States in the Republican column upon the debatable list." It is understood that the leading Democrats feel perfectly safe about Indiana and in pressing Thurman appeal to the entire country and not to section or fracture. The nomination of Thurman, they think, will sweep away all petty wars and troubles and cement the party for a vigorous and aggressive campaign.

The coming candidate is a Virginian by birth, but has passed all his early life within the borders of the State of Ohio. The ex-Senator entered public life as a Representative to the Twenty-ninth Congress. At the age of 38 he was elected a Judge of the Supreme Court of Ohio, and soon afterwards became the Supreme Justice. He was elected Senator in 1868 and after serving until 1881 was defeated by John Sherman.

Senator Thurman was a conspicuous figure in the Senate and his old-fashioned red bandanna was known from Maine to California, and recognized as a sort of symbol of straightness and sort forward democracy. Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, and Senator Thurman were fast personal friends, although politically as wide apart as the poles.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted?
If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown —to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the tip of another word which is used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure.
We recommend Green's August Flower, its cures are marvelous.

The men who complain most of hard times are generally those who sit on a dry goods box with a knife in one hand and an old clay pipe in the other, says the Painesville Democrat.

Money In Cotton Stalks.

Atlanta Constitution.

For several weeks there have been on exhibition in the office of the clerk of the Superior Court samples of pulp made of the hulls and stalks of the cotton plant. The pulp is as white as snow and can be converted into the finest writing paper.
It is regarded as valuable and is the product of parts of the cotton plant hitherto deemed valueless.

The process by which it is made is new. It is a process by which the lignous substances of the hulls and seed are dissolved. By this process over 50 per cent of the fibre is extracted from the hulls which have been regarded as fit only for fuel in the mills or for feed and fertilizing purposes, and which were sold for four dollars a ton. These converted into pulp will be worth four times as much or about forty dollars a ton.
From the stalks usually left in the fields to rot this new process utilizes about 38 per cent of fibre at a very small expense. It has been settled that there are fertilizing properties in the oil of the cotton seed and it is asserted that the fibre will not decompose for six years and cannot be used as a fertilizer. This is why woolly matter eliminated from the stalk and hull is much more valuable as a decomposing fertilizer than the entire seed. By the same process the ramine plant and its troublesome cousin, the bagasse stalk, is met and overcome. By the decarting process the fibre was crushed and then sent to a slow and expensive process. In the new process the lignin is simply dissolved out and the snowy films of the ramine and the tawny threads of the sugar cane are coaxed out as easily as the infantile cotton to its milk. These specimens have been shown to prominent citizens of Atlanta by Walter T. Forbes who has bought all rights for the entire South. Mr.
Forbes takes pleasure and pride in showing the samples and explaining the modern methods of the wonderful process. Among the specimens are four or five varieties of pulp extracted from the cotton hulls, from the stalk, from the linting and dustings of the cotton mills from the cactus plant, from the saw palmetto and the ramine plant.

Mr. Forbes is brimful of enthusiasm and does not hesitate to say that the new process will revolutionize the methods of the cotton pulp maker. He believes it will make the cotton crop 50 per cent more valuable than it now is. Mr. Forbes has been all through Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas and he met with encouragement everywhere. He contemplates establishing mills at a dozen places in the South. Of course Atlanta is one of these points. Moneyed men of this city, to whom he has explained the nature of the invention and shown the products, have expressed their confidence in his enterprise and will co-operate with him in pushing it forward.

CONSPIRACY SURELY CURED.

TO THE EDITOR—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use, the sufferer will be cured permanently. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption, if they will send me their address in plain language. Respectfully, T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

The following idea of the next U. S.
Senate, taken from the Baltimore Star, is considered of so much importance that we reproduce it in these columns. It reads: Should Mr. Cleveland be his own successor in March next it will be desirable, in the interest of the policy, which his administration will be committed, that he should no longer be confronted by a hostile majority in the Senate. The importance and dignity of the Executive and the harmony with and small devoted itself to its proper work, in small political schemes, with a view of promoting the interests of a party. The fate of the fisheries treaty shows how the Senate can bring itself to subordinate a great national interest to partisan considerations when opposed in politics to the President and to the House of Representatives. Under these circumstances it is worth our while to calculate the probabilities of democratic ascendancy in the treaty-making branch of the legislature. The Senate now tends tri-partly to the Republicans, thirty-seven Democrats. On the 31st next March the terms of thirteen Republicans and thirteen Democrats expire. Two of the latter, Messrs.
Beck and Waltham, have been re-elected for new terms. The successors of two of the retiring Republican Senators have been chosen, one of them being a Republican and the other, Mr. Barbour, of Virginia, a Democrat, who succeeds Mr. Kiddie berger. The gain of one Senator, other things being equal, may have important results, if not counterbal-anced by the loss of the Democratic Senator from New Jersey. The eleven Democrats whose successors have not yet been chosen are all, with one exception, from the South where Democratic Legislatures are to be expected. Practically the Democrats have only to hold the New Jersey senatorship to make the Senate a tie, and in that case if they should elect a Democrat Vice President, they would retain the control of the Senate would fall to their hands.
Oregon is considered a doubtful State. There was a split in the Republican party of that State at the last senatorial election, with the result that Mr. Mitchell was elected by Democratic votes. The present Governor of Oregon is a Democrat—a favorable circumstance in the opinion of Democratic arithmeticians.
On the assumption, then, that the Democrats will capture a senatorship next year, and that the Republicans have in New Jersey, the existing day in the Senate—39 Republicans to 37 Democrats—would be reserved. A majority of two —a Vice-President—is, therefore, the most that the Democrats can expect.
It would be enough, however, for practical purposes, and there is no reason to believe that the Democracy of the country would worry itself over the narrowness of the margin of control.

Men Who Harm a Town.

Lynchburg Advance.

Those who oppose improvement.
Those who don't advertise.
Those who run it down to strangers.
Those who mistrust its public men Those who show no hospitality to any one.
Those who hate to see others make money.
Those who oppose every movement which does not originate with themselves.
Those who treat every fellow man as interlopers.
Those who put on long faces when a stranger talks of locating.
Those who oppose public enterprise that does not appear of personal benefit to themselves.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at McE. Er-nulf's Drug Store as their giving away to their customers of so many free [?] bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can't get it, therefore, buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1.
Every bottle warranted.

He Flopped.

A strange story of the reformation of a saloon keeper comes from Atlanta. James Johnson, in whose saloon Thomas Gresham was shot and killed by George W. Eddleman last week has declared that the occurrence has thoroughly reformed himself. He will sell out his business, regardless of loss, and will pledge himself never again to run a saloon.
Johnson has a splendid saloon in the heart of the city and has done an immense business. He has always been a strong anti-prohibitionist, but has now completely flopped over.

Brace Up.

You are feeling depressed, your appetite is poor, you are bothered with Headache, you are fidgety, nervous, and generally out of sorts, and want to brace up.
Brace up, but not with stimulants, spring medicines, or other things, which have their basis very cheap, but whisky, and they stimulate you for an hour, and then leave you in worse condition than before.
What you want is an alternative that will purify your blood, start healthy action of Liver and Kidneys, restore your vitality, and give renewed health and strength.
Such a medicine you will find in Electric
than a skeleton.

Very Nicely Put.

Sau Francisco Examiner.
On the Democratic side the way of the party is simple. There will be 814 votes in the Convention, of which Mr. Cleveland will receive 814.
The only regret of the party will be that there are not more to give.

Mr. Mould. Good, that's just the thing!

It is said that chemists have recently discovered a substance which exceeds the sweetness of sugar 250 fold. The chemists are behind time.
We made that discovery more than a year ago.—The lump that we discovered was a bustle and bangs—also a dress—and weighed about 120 pounds. But we regret to confess that said lump has never melted sufficiently to become our saccharine superintendant.—Orange (Va.) Observer.

We think we know why some people who promise to do so at our office and settle, fail to call. They go on the principle that the office should seek the man and not the man the office. Hence the necessity for our having "Adm'n" them.—Henderson

Wilmington Star: It does begin to look as if it might be Cleveland and Thurman. Washington news is to that effect. It is reported that Judge Thurman has agreed to the use of his name. If that is so there will be no doubt of his nomination.
He will strengthen the ticket in the Northwest. Randall says that "an-doubtedly he will be the nominee for Vice President." Only two ballots will be necessary in the Convention. The old Roman ought to have a hand in that platform.
