LIFE.

DAVID A. CURTIS.
To have hoped and suffered in cheer and To have trusted, betrayed and grieved, To have doubted the things you best might know—
This is to have lived.
To have sinned, repented and been forgiven,
To have lost what was once received, To have fallen again from the gates of heaven—
This is to have lived.
To have loved, and tasted the Dead Sea fruit,
To have pledged, to have been believed,
To have seen love wither from branch to root—
This is to have lived.
To have stood in the strength of virtue night,
When baffled, betrayed, deceived, To have ground your teeth in the rage of fight—
This is to have lived.
To have trodden the wine press, weak, alone,
Of your life's fair fruit bereaved;
To have slain your sorrow without a noon—
This is to have lived.
To have given the helm to a stronger hand,
To have listened, to have believed;
To have yielded life to a high command—
This is to have lived.

TO HIM WHO WAITS.

EDITH SESSIONS TUPPER.
Many a castle I've built in Spain, With turrets and domes that were passing fair,
But the first wild storm of wind and rain Has proved me my castles were made of air.
Many a fleet I have sent to sea, Freighted with hopes and ambitions right,
Never a ship has come back to me, Though I have watched for them long by day and night But I sometimes think there will come a day When my heart's fond wishes I shall find.
When walled and towered in grand array,
Shall stand secure my castles in Spain.
And I look to see the sunset's glow, As it reddens the ocean miles on miles, Shine on the ships that sailed long ago—My ships coming back from the Fortunate Isles.

New York Letter.

New York Star Syndicate Letter to the REFLECTOR.

NEW YORK Nov 14th 1888.

King's County did the business!
There seems no doubt of it. New York did nobly, showing a tremendous increase on the majority of four years ago. It is the old story of craving for spit milk, but there is after all some satisfaction in proving for treason. There is fierce talk here against Boss McLaughlin, who assured the Democratic Committee of a majority of at least 22,000, and turned out a miserable half of that number.
There are some Democrats also who are sore over the fact that Gov.
Hill should have got in by a very substantial majority, while President Cleveland was so easily left in the lurch. What is this has any real significance. I do not pretend to say for hot-headed partisans smarting under defeat are apt to seize upon almost any object which presents a favorable surface for venting their disappointment. From talking with Democrats, though, I believe that if an election were held in New York City to-morrow with Gov. Hill as the Presidential candidate, the city would go Republican, or come very near to it.
As a matter of fact, there does not seem real evidence that the Governor countenanced any trading, and the feeling against him will doubtless wear off as the keen edge of the disappointment is blunted.
There are still other Democrats who berate Chairman Brice for his conduct of the Campaign and loudly declare that he lost the fight. They say that he was outwitted every time by the adroit Quay, and that it was the height of imprudence to trust the direction of a great Campaign to a man with next to no political training. This, too, perhaps, is the voice of disappointment. The veteran Barnum was on hand from first to last, and Senator Gorman, from whom there is no more astute political manager in the country, spent much time in the service of his party at the National Committee rooms.
Still other Democrats are crying out lustily at Tammany Hall, pointing to the tremendous majority by which its ticket swept the city, as unconquerable evidence of trading with the Republicans. There may have been trading to the extent of three or four thousand votes, but in the light of the figures, that seems the top limit. That Gov.
Hill should have run ahead of the National ticket to the extent of a few thousand votes on account of his attitude on the liquor license question, which made him very popular with the German element, is only natural.

I am giving what I hear on every hand, and you may take whatever you like, and reject the rest.
One thing the election proved—that New York City, the great manufacturing and commercial city of the Western world, is distinctively in favor of revenue reform. Cleveland's gains in the manufacturing cities of Troy, Albany and various other interior towns, make out the same case with respect to that. It is the same in the manufacturing

States of New Jersey and Connecticut. A careful analysis of the vote shows that the Republican gains come almost entirely from the agricultural sections, that is, the class of our citizens whose products are without the slightest protection of any kind voted to sustain this tax on everything they buy, while the manufacturing voters, who are supposed to reap the advantages of the tax, indicated a preference for tariff reform.

Perhaps the happiest man in New York City over the news of Harris-son's election, was Charles A. Dana of the Sun, who had been predicting that sort of thing all along.
Some of the papers are poking fun at the old man by saying that he will be tended to the position of private secretary to President Harrison. In an exuberant editorial he congratulated the State of West Virginia on breaking away from the Democratic field, and again declares his belief that the Republican party is in to stay for perhaps a generation.

FRANK E. VAUGHAN.

Washington Letter.

Special cor. to REFLECTOR.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 9th, 1888.
Mr. Cleveland has been defeated, but under such a combination of circumstances that the republican party as an organization has really no right to claim credit for the victory, although the result places its candidate in the White House for four years. Mr. Cleveland has been sacrificed to gratify the personal malice of Mayor Abraham S. Hewitt and to satisfy the greed of a gang of corrupt local politicians in New York City. It is a reproach to our country that such a thing could have been possible, and it will remain a reproach as long as the vote of New York can control a presidential election. Few people here believe that Governor Hill of New York did not do his best to re-elect Mr. Cleveland. Col. Lamont, who doubtless reflects the sentiment of Mr. Cleveland on this subject, says that he is fully satisfied that Governor Hill has done all that he possibly could for the national ticket, and that the votes he got from Cleveland did not get, were from the republican liquor interests, and could not have been controlled by anyone.

Mr. Cleveland has so conducted himself since the election as to win the admiration of every body, republicans as well as democrats. He is disappointed, of course. He would not be human if he was not under the circumstances, but he hides it well. On Wednesday, with the streets full of the jubilant yelling publicans, and a battery of artillery in the park just in the rear of the White House firing a salute to celebrate Harrison's election Mr. Cleveland was holding his reception, and quietly shaking hands with the large crowd in attendance, and exchanging smiles and pleasant words with each one. Most men would have hulked for some time after the election.

There is a great diversity of opinion among democratic officials as to the cause of the defeat. For instance; Secretary Whitney says that the loss of New York was caused by the fact that the workmen had not been properly educated as to the tariff. The question was not presented to them in the right manner, and they were made to believe the democrats were free traders instead of tariff reductionists. Justice Lamar is of the opinion that the tariff had nothing whatever to do with the result. Representative Foran, fresh from an interview with the President, said: "I am not good on a postmortem. I can diagnose the case, but there my skill ends. Tariff and Civil Service reform did it. Civil Service a little and tariff a great deal. The President was right in all that he did, but he was right to soon. The time was not yet ready. But the manufacturers have refused a small reduction. The result will be that there will be an uprising of the tax-paying people and they will cut deep.
Everybody confessed that there must be tariff revision. The democratic party will be stronger than ever four years hence. There will be a reaction from this intense selfishness. Representative Taubee feel confident that the responsibility now given the republicans will eventually prove their destruction.
And thus it goes on. Columns might be filled with the different opinions, but it is unnecessary.

Mr. Cleveland, in talking of the election, admits that his tariff message may have lost him a good many votes, enough probably to have caused his defeat, but he still maintains, with a courage that does him honor, that if he had the whole business to do over again he would not change his course in regard to the tariff question by a hair's breadth, as what he did was the result of his honest conviction. Mr.
Cleveland was very much disappointed at the action of the republicans that he had kept in office, who voted and worked against him all the time. Mr. Cleveland and states in language that cannot be misunderstood, that Hill and Tammany Hall treated him squarely, but he makes no such statement in regard to Hewitt and his crowd, who, as stated in the first paragraph of this letter, are the parties that are responsible for the defeat of the national democratic ticket.

The loss of the House was particularly unfortunate just at this time, as it will enable the republicans to admit as states all the territories that are republican in politics, which will give them at least four more Senators and the vote of two more states in the electoral college of 1892. That they will admit the republican territories and keep out the democratic territories, cannot for a moment be doubted by any one at all familiar with republican methods.

The Pine Straw Industry There—The Or-factory of its Kind in the World.

Correspondence of the N. Y. Evening Post.

CROXLY, N. C.

The recent "judicious handling" of gunnycloth and jute bagging, and the "sympathetic movement" (not a Trust at all) to raise the prices thereof, are bringing to deserved notice this pretty little out-of-the-way spot in North Carolina. If marked upon the maps at all, it is on only the very latest ones. It is in the southeast corner of the State, on the east branch of the Cape Fear River, two miles from it, thirty from the Atlantic Coast, and seventeen from the old city of Wilmington, and is upon the Carolina Central railroad. Right in the piney woods, regularly laid out with streets fifty feet wide, with pretty homes and admirable sanitary regulations, the health record of the town is such that we wonder it does not set up for a sanatorium. During the past season many dwellers in Wilmington have regarded it as a convenient and safe refuge in case of an invasion of the city by the dreaded yellow fever. There is not a saloon within its limits, nor can there be under its articles of incorporation.

Here is located the pine fibre industry—the only establishment of the kind in the world. Whose busy brain and quick vision first discovered textile possibilities in pine fibre is quite a mystery, but here we see what has been only waste matter converted into various articles, not only of comfort, but of commercial importance. Pinus Australis is the variety, known otherwise as Pitch, long leaved, and field pine.
While the leaves average in length fourteen inches, those measuring twenty-seven inches have been brought in. The "straw," as it is always called here, is gathered mostly by women and children from trees, "skinned," for cordwood timber, or for the leaves alone. Male power is prominent in transporting the straw to the factory, horses are never seen, oxen rarely. Fifteen cents per hundred pounds is paid for the straw, which is stored in a huge shed.
As we enter the first of three large buildings we see a huge tank being filled with the straw; to this is added caustic soda, in quantity regulated by the quality of the fibre desired—less being required for the coarser than for the finer grades.
For twelve hours the mass is covered by steam from pipes passing through the tank or boiler. Then it is passed through the rubber, a machine which cleanses it entirely from all soda, pulp, etc., leaving clean fibre only. Following this is the work of the wringer, breaker and carder; and if the fibre is to be manufactured on the premises, it is run through the roving; whatever its destination, it is passed through the dryer. The product is then run from one room to the spinning-room, or for shipment, to the baling press. Machinery is used for handling of material, from the wagon which brings it from the woods to the car taking it from the factory door.

Commercially, the fibre is "pine wool," of which fine grades are produced; the three coarser are in demand for mattresses and general upholstering, being elastic, durable and proof against insect ravages.
The finest grade is very soft and marked "surgical" making. This is meeting with marked favor from the medical profession, as being specially adapted to its designated purpose. Grade S is spun yarns of different sizes, none fine, however.
From this is woven a variety of mattings or carpets, not elegant, to be sure, but honest, comfortable looking floor coverings, inviting hard service, and with a suggestion of the wide outdoors in the balsamic odor of the pine. The rough experience of manufacturing has not driven out the incipience of this peculiar industry the production of the floor covering was the objective point of the originators of it; but being also engaged in the manufacture of fertilizers, they set about evolving from the pine wool a fabric which would resist the chemical action so destructive to every material heretofore used as packing for phosphates, etc. The result is a cloth that has endured every test, the use of which must benefit the consumer as well as the manufacturer and dealer in these commodities.
The proprietors thus builded better than they knew, in unwittingly preparing aid for the cotton planter and buyer in the present stress. For cotton baling it is meeting every requirement of pressure, etc.

The spinning and the weaving of the various fabrics differ little from processes employed for other textiles.

Another pine straw product of growing importance is the oil. This is expressed from the green straw by subjecting it to a great retort for boiling to the action of steam.

The pioneers in this enterprise found little machinery adapted to their work. Most of that in use in this factory is of their own invention and design, suggested by their special needs.

So great is this demand for the products of this unique industry that the entire plant is being enlarged and furnished with improved appliances. At an early day the daily output of clean fibre will be from 2,000 to 3,000 pounds, requiring from five to seven tons of straw, with a four-fold increased capacity in the spinning and weaving departments.

PILGRIM.

Age Cannot Wither Her. remarked an old gentleman, as he gazed upon the comely little woman by his side: "but frankly," he continued, "at one time I was afraid cosmetics would."
The silly little woman, in order to appear youthful, plastered her face with different varieties of whitewash, except "balms," "creams," "lotions," &c.
"Yes," interrupted the little woman, "I did, until my skin became like parchment, and so simply and coarsely."
"Well," said the listener, "what do you use now?"
"I use the reply," "nothing but common sense told me if my blood was pure, live regular and do good, that the outward woman would take on the hue of health. The 'Discovery' did all those things, and actually rejuvenated me."

Its thousands of cures are the best advertisement for Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

A Solid South Against a Solid North.

Durham Tobacco Plant.

"A solid South against a solid North! This is one solemn fact.
While the Democrats carry New Jersey and Connecticut, the Republicans win West Virginia. New Jersey and Connecticut are only the political overflow of the metropolis, and we may as well accept it as the solid South against the solid North.
And this we note the solid circumstance most to be regretted, something that our Southern friends should think over seriously. That solid South delusion, that holding in an inextricable political embrace the dead and damned Confederacy—truly, truly, it is a miserable business, and now we see what becomes of it. If our Southern friends —those who have sense enough to remember that some things have grown since 1865—would only set themselves to the abandonment of this torrid fanaticism it would be a national gain. It is really such politics as we hear about in bedlam and other stricken resorts and should be abandoned now and forever."

We clip the above from the New York Herald. It is worthy of careful reading and consideration for more reasons than one.

In the first place, such an editorial appearing in the New York Herald, which is a perfect workmanship of Northern feeling and sentiment, shows to the Southern people in what attitude the new administration will stand toward us. Already has this great paper, which up to Tuesday last, was a strong advocate of Cleveland's election, well-known that his election depended upon the vote of the solid South, begun to decry that solid South, and to compare us to Bedlamites. This paper which never follows, but always rises upon the very topmost crest of the wave of Northern opinion, has already felt the Northern pulse, and finds that it throbs to the cry of down with the solid South. And as Northern sentiment is, so will be the policy of the administration.

We see now what we have to expect from Mr. Harrison and his administration.

This article of the Herald also shows that the good feeling and the friendly relationship, brought about during the administration of Mr.
Cleveland, has been swept away by the victory of the Republicans. As soon as they find they have control of the government they change their attitude toward us, and instead of continuing their friendly feeling, or what is most probable, of still concealing their animosity, they break forth in denunciations of the men who don't stand by their principles and who do not stoop to sell themselves into bondage to the Northern capitalists, as did thousands of so-called Democrats of the North.

Had Cleveland been elected, do you suppose the Herald would have "regretted the solid South delusion" —that holding to the "damned" Confederacy? Would it have compared us to Bedlamites? No, we would have had nothing but words of praise and thanks from this turn coat paper.

The solid South! Solid for the Democratic party and her principles!
Yes, it is a solid and we are proud of it. We are proud of it!
For it shows that Southern men cannot be bought and sold, that the money of Levy P. Morton and other such bribers cannot induce them to deeds of fraud and corruption. If Cleveland had to be defeated we are thankful that it had to be done by bringing Northern Democrats, instead of by breaking the ranks of the solid South. We had a hundred fold rather be a Bedlamite and form a component part of the solid South, cherishing our sacred memory of the "damned Confederacy" than a Northern Democrat who had sold his principles for a few dollars from the Republican bribers.

Yes, the Southern people have sense enough to remember that some things have happened since 1865. We remember that from that time to 1884 we were abused, reviled, lied upon, and down trodden by the Republican party of the North—that we were plundered and almost reduced to beggary by that same party, and not until our assistance a Democrat was elected President were we suffered to enter upon an equal standing with the other States of the Union; and we see that within less than three days, after the election of a Republican President the Northern Press has begun to stir up the hatred of the North against us.

The North may talk of the "dead and damned Confederacy," but that will make us reverse it none the less, or swerve one iota from our allegiance to the great Democratic party of the South.

We white men of the South are Democrats because honor bid us ally ourselves with that party whose principles we firmly believe are for the best interests of the whole Union.

Babies cry because they suffer; and the most reliable remedy for the relief of their discomfort is Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup, Only 25 cents a bottle.

Cleveland and the South.

Wilmington Messenger.

If Mr. Cleveland, in the hour of his defeat, suffers the pangs of a disappointed ambition, he may well console himself in that he has the affection, admiration and gratitude of the people of the South.

We of the Southern States are bound to feel that he stumbled and fell before an embittered and malignant North, under the self-imposed burden of a firm determination and high purpose to shield and serve the Southern people.

The armies of the country through their conquests, and Congress by its reconstruction acts may claim to have restored the Union, but President Cleveland re-united the country. The Union existed only in name until he came to the Executive seat of the government. There was practically not a co-equality of the States under the Provisional Reconstruction until, by his action, he obliterated the distinction between the North and South as regarded the equal participation of the people of all sections in the public affairs of the country.

He put down sectionalism by recognizing no section in the administration of his high office. He was brave enough, big enough, grand and patriotic enough to take the South by the hand and invite her to share the responsibilities as well as bear the burdens of the general government. He gave to Southern men the recognition that the reaffirmation of their loyalty and allegiance entitled them to, and the Southern people cannot and will not forget him. They will never cease to honor him.

The name of Grover Cleveland will stand out in the pages of history as that of one of the most conspicuous of American statesmen. He will be handed down as a man of spotless character, a man of unflinching courage, a man who membered as an honest man who went his way as he saw it without regard to consequences; as a man who preferred to be what he deemed right than to remain President; a lion hearted man of courage whom no power or allurements could swerve from his own path of rectitude.

We honor him more now in defeat than in the hour of his greatest victory. To us he grows in stead of diminishing in greatness as he approaches the end of his career. He will be to us the first citizen of the country when he shall again assume the private station.

Let no man at the South rail at Grover Cleveland. No matter how or why we lost the election, no censure follows him. With Southern men he must remain the grand heroic friend of the South; the admiration of the Southern people.

Cabinets.

Philadelphia Times.

A Cabinet composed entirely of civil service reformers would be particularly appropriate at this time.
In this line nothing could rival the following slate, which it is believed even Mr. Curtis would accept in the spirit in which it is offered:

Secretary of State—James G. Blaine of Maine.

Secretary of the Interior—Stephen W. Dorsey, of New Mexico.

Secretary of War—Charles Foster, of Ohio.

Secretary of the Navy—Stephen B.
Elkins, of New York.

Secretary of the Treasury—John C.
New, of Indiana.

Postmaster General—D. W. Flanagan, of Texas.

Attorney General—M. M. Estee, of California.

Assuming that a Blaine Cabinet will be a necessity, why not agree upon a collection such as this:

Secretary of State—James G.
Blaine, of Maine.

Secretary of the Interior—Joseph B. Foraker, of Ohio.

Secretary of War—Russell A. Alger, of Michigan.

Secretary of the Navy—Charles Emory Smith, of Pennsylvania.

Secretary of the Treasury—Chauncey M. Depew, of New York.

Postmaster General—Joseph M.
Manley, of Maine.

Attorney General—John S. Wise, of Virginia.

There are men, no doubt, who would object to all these suggestions for the reason that the name of Blaine occurs inf

It is now in order to suggest candidates for the officers of the next North Carolina Legislature. The REFLECTOR would take great pleasure in seeing Mr. H. A. Latham, editor of the Washington Gazette, elected to the position of Reading Clerk of the House. His fitness for the position stands without question.
We suggest his name to the consideration of the members of the House.

In speaking of Durham's recent financial troubles the Plant says
"The New York Herald has got Durham affairs badly mixed." That is no more than might have been expected. The Northern press generally mixes up what it has to say about North Carolina and the South.

The press of the country after figuring around and expressing its opinion as to what defeated President Cleveland, is now trying to let the public know what the President and Mrs. Cleveland will do after the present term has expired. We opine they will take care of themselves very readily.

The Durham Tribune Plant says
"The continued supremacy of the white man's party in North Carolina is a much more important than a National Victory." So say we all, and while it would have been most gratifying could Grover Cleveland been continued for another term, we would not see matters reversed by giving the State over to the Republicans for the Presidency.

Fowler's majority will not be over 14,000. The decrease is due to the great falling off in the democratic vote of the West.
The Eastern counties made unprecedented gains, which were more than counterbalanced by the failure of the Western democrats to do what was expected of them. Well, the State is safely democratic any way, but the REFLECTOR would have been glad had the majority been larger.

In the last Legislature of North Carolina the democrats only had a majority of about five on joint ballot, and the House was controlled by the Republicans and Independents, who elected John R. Webster Speaker. In the Legislature which will next assemble the democrats have a clear majority of 70, giving to the Republicans those counties which are doubtful and the Independents. This is a victory before unprecedented in our political history.

We do not know what the Prohibition vote of the State was in the recent election. That it did not do much injury to the democratic party is shown by the election of the entire democratic State ticket by a handsome majority, and by the overwhelmingly democratic in both branches. The REFLECTOR was outspoken in its opposition to the Third party movement for reasons which were given in these columns from time to time. Now we have a proposition to make to our Prohibition friends. Between now and the assembling of the Legislature ask them to order an election for Prohibition. See that the bill introduced is a Prohibition bill, and one that has no objectionable features. The REFLECTOR will lend all the aid in its power to the success of the measure, and this editor will vote for it.

Durham had a great financial crash last week and for a while a panic seemed imminent. W.
T. Blackwell, banker, made an assignment, and owing to his failure a number of business houses in the city were forced to assign. The aggregate of liabilities for all the firms who failed, including the bank, was about $1,200,000. It is stated, however, that in every case the assets will exceed the liabilities and that all the business will soon resume. Some of the houses never closed their doors and confidence is being rapidly restored. We are sorry that our progressive North Carolina city has suffered such embarrassment financially and the whole State is in sympathy with it, yet it is consoling to know that the trouble will soon be past and the wheel of progress not be stayed. The people of Durham do not stop at difficulties and their energies will soon tide them over this.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

NORTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

God is recognized in the Constitution of our State, and should ever be honored as the Supreme Ruler of the Universe in the hearts of our people. To Him we are indebted for our country and her institutions, for our civil and religious liberty, for our holy religion and its adaptation to man's wants and happiness, together with the numberless mercies and blessings which have enriched our daily lives.
I, therefore, Alfred M. Scales, Governor of North Carolina, in view of our dependence and God's goodness, do hereby appoint Thursday, November 29th, 1888, as a day of thanksgiving and praise, and I earnestly request the people of the State devoutly to assemble themselves together to engage in His worship, to praise His holy name, and invoke for us the perpetuity of our institutions and the continuation of His blessings; and while in discharge of these so-ciated duties, let us also contribute of our substance to the poor and needy and the widow and orphan, and especially would I invoke the generosity and prayers of the people for the orphan asylum at Oxford where so many orphans are in training for life.

Done at the city of Raleigh, this 12th day of November, 1888, and in the one hundred and thirteenth year of our American Independence.

By the Governor,
ALFRED M. SCALES.

Washington Letter.

Special Cor. to REFLECTOR.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 16th 1888
Mr. Cleveland's last annual message to Congress is looked to with much interest here. I am informed by a gentleman who knows that it will be a very short document and that it will reiterate the main points of his celebrated tariff message of last December.

Secretary Fairchild has found it necessary, owing to the impudence of the jubilant, hold over Republican clerks in the Treasury Department, to issue an order forbidding the clerks in that Department talking politics.

I have been hunting ever since Harrison was known to be elected for a Washington Republican who does not expect to hold office under the next administration. He has not yet been found, and it seems unlikely that he ever will be. If the local Republicans of this city are to get all of them, what is to become of the fellows who did the voting in the States?

The Republicans in the departments here who have been the loudest shouters for a non-partisan administration, are now vigorously clam-oring for "clean sweep" after the 4th of March. Such is the price of keeping these fellows in office years after they should have been discharged. When the Democratic party gets control of the Government again it will know better.

A fact has just leaked out here that if known before election would probably have re-elected Mr. Cleveland. I allude to an expected addition to the Cleveland family some time next May. Every lady who hears this news once exclaims:
"Too bad and just after they leave the White House; isn't it a shame!" Dudley and Quay have come to Washington in order that they may manipulate the scheme whereby they hope to secure control of the next House of Representatives for the Republicans, notwithstanding the fact that the returns show a majority of two. The Democratic managers are fully alive to the situation and are fully confident of their ability to thwart the Republican schemes and to organize the next House.

"The Treasury has been robbed" was the startling announcement a few mornings ago. Imagination ran riot for awhile with the amount stolen, but it was soon ascertained to be only 1500 silver dollars, which had been removed by some means from two boxes containing $2,000 each, somewhere between the U. S. mint at New Orleans and the Treasury in this city. Lead was substituted for the stolen silver. When or where the theft was made is still a mystery.

The U. S. Supreme Court rendered an important decision this week in regard to life insurance policies.
The Court holds that a policy made payable to a man's wife or children can under no circumstances be attached by the creditors of the deceased.

Senator Kenna, of West Virginia, has telegraphed here that the legislature of that State is certainly Democratic, which insures a Democratic Senator. Members of Congress are arriving slowly for the coming session. It is not thought that the Republicans of the Senate will try to pass their tariff bill this winter.

Owing to the large number of candidates who expect to go into the Cabinet it is thought Mr. Harrison will have no end of trouble in making it up, and that whoever he may select will be certain to make many enemies. Harrison's southern policy is also likely to give him trouble. If he follows his own inclinations it will be very conservative, but there are quite a number of influential Republicans that flavor a radical policy. Many think that Harrison has back bone enough to shape things to suit himself, and that he will endeavor to win friends in the South by good appointments to the federal offices there. A good deal will depend on the men he selects for Postmaster General and Secretary of the Treasury, those two officials controlling the most of the appointments in the South. One thing seems to be pretty certain, no attempt will be made to put the negroes in the front. To tell the truth most of the Republicans seem to be disgusted with the negro anyway. It would be a happy thing if he could be eliminated entirely from politics.

Secretary Endicott's daughter was married yesterday to Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, a member of the English Parliament. He was also the English Commissioner who negotiated the fisheries treaty last Spring.

A cold wave is predicted.
Very disagreeable weather this week.

The turnip crop this season is large.

The recent rains have swollen the streams.

Base ball has gone into winter quarters.

We predict a boom for Greenville next year.

Some clear, cool weather would be enjoyed.

Roads throughout the county are in bad condition.

The Rocky Mount fair last week was a fine success.

Not as much hand shaking goes on now as prior to the election.

The Tarboro Southerner has found a man who wears a no. 36 shoe.

Tarboro is pushing rapidly forward in the way of improvements.

Christmas goods will soon be coming in. Prepare for advertising.

Look out for H. F. Keel's carload of fine horses to arrive this week.

Oysters plentiful. Three boats at the wharf this week and they are fine.

Thanksgiving Day is Thursday of next week. Do not forget the poor and orphan.

Personal.
Miss May Gay, of Wilson, is visiting Mrs. L. C. Terrell.

Mr. J. J. Cherry, Jr., was sick for several days but is now out again.

Mrs. J. W. Perkins returned last week from Baltimore and is with relatives here.

Mr. John Sizer, of Tarboro, has been assisting in the telegraph office for a week.

The editor and bride returned last week from Richmond and are living at Hotel Macon.

Rev. J. W. Wildman was called home from the Baptist Convention at Greensboro by death among his members.

Rev. F. H. Johnson, Presbyterian Evangelist, will preach in the Baptist Church at this place next Sunday morning and evening.

Mr. J. H. Tucker and Mrs. Mary Stephens returned Monday night from Greensboro, where they had been attending the Baptist State Convention.

M. W. Russ, (Modest Willam) is one of the jolly travelling men who come around this way. His large, smiling presence was at Hotel Macon a few days ago.

Messrs. J. J. Nobles, H. F. Keel and C. M. Bernard, of Greenville, Dr. R. J. Grimes and wife and Messrs. Peal and Little of Bethel and Mr. William Harris, of Falkland, attended the Richmond Exposition last week.

There were many sad homes in Greenville last week, the strokes of affliction coming heavy and swift.

A new side-wheel steamer is to be placed on Tar river, to run from Washington to Shilo just above Tarboro.

For several months there has been no report from Pitt county in the Bulletin issued by the North Carolina Board of Health.

C. D. Kountree proprietor of the feed store, has an advertisement in this issue. All in need of hay, corn meal, peas, oats mill feed, &c., should call on him.

Two negroes had a row at Factorius Saturday night and one shot the other in the forehead. The head was harder than the pistol ball and the negro lives.

Now is the time that business men should begin their exertions for the upbuilding of Greenville. The town must stand still no longer and work done now will bring good results.

H. Morris & Bros. are disposing of their goods at prices almost unheard of. The stock is bound to be disposed of before January and for that reason will be sold regardless of price.

The Hammond Hotel at Rocky Mount was crowded last week during the fair, but proprietor Hart never comes short in any emergency and always sustains the reputation of his house.

M. R. Lang is always up with the times and when he gets left out can mark it down that there was no race. His new advertisement to-day gives information that will prove valuable to purchasers.

There is a contribution box at the store of Messrs. Ryan & Redding in which cash donations for the Oxford Orphan Asylum are placed. The box should be well filled by Thanksgiving Day.

The color line was recently very clearly drawn in Greenville. At the demonstration over Democratic success in State and county the participants were white men, while the Republican jubilee over the election of Harrison was one mass of negroes.

It is pleasant to be thrown among such clever and courteous gentlemen as are in the city telegraph office at Richmond. During our recent visit there they were kind to us in ways that can never be forgotten. We shall also remember the kindness of the operators at Tarboro and Rocky Mount.

Every merchant in Greenville closed his place of business on last Thanksgiving Day and we suppose the same thing will be done on the 29th. We have not had opportunity to ascertain the names of those who will close but have no doubt but that all will do so and business generally be suspended on that day.

Don't be in too much hurry to buy your Almanacs for next year. The REFLECTOR office will have a lot in a few days that were compiled since the election and will contain later information than any other on the market. Wait for it or leave your orders with Clarence Whichard and one will be reserved for you.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Whichard request that we return their sincere thanks to the people of Greenville for kindness and attention during the recent sickness and death of their son, James A. Whichard. If there is any earthly power that can lessen grief when parents' hearts are torn asunder and their loved ones taken away in the icy clutches of death, it is in the ministry of kind, sympathetic friends.

Appreciated.

One of the inducements held out to me to accept a pastorate in Greenville was the great kindness and hospitality for which its people are noted. As an illustration I beg leave to record that on three occasions since our arrival—once recently on the return of my family from Virginia, have the people of my congregation united in bringing to the parsonage a voluntary offering of things varied, substantial and valuable. Last May they paid my expenses to the Southern Baptist Convention in Richmond, and recently to the State Convention in Greensboro. Such thoughtful kindness is appreciated. It sweetens labor and binds my heart to my flock.

J. W. WILDMAN.

The Baptist State Convention in session at Greensboro last week; raised nearly $2,400 to help liquidate the debt on the Memorial Baptist Church in this town. Resolutions were also passed saying the entire debt should be lifted by April next. This makes many a heart here rejoice, for the building can be completed just as soon as the debt is removed. The structure will be an ornament to Greenville and a credit to the Baptists of North Carolina.

The coming of a railroad to Greenville seems insured beyond a doubt. President Waters, of the Atlantic Coast Line was here last week and said the Scotland Neck extension of the W. & W. road will surely come on to Greenville and that the road will begin at the foot of the river. The surveying corps have been encamped just beyond the river for several days and are carrying forward their work. The road is expected to be completed to Greenville inside of six months.

The REFLECTOR has no agent in the field to receive subscriptions and collect money due us, and it is not convenient for us to leave the office and attend to such personally. But our office is conveniently located so that it need be no trouble for those who owe us to come in and settle. It is not pleasant to us to be compelled to ask so frequently for what is justly due, and it does not augur well for the man's integrity who permits so many debts to go to him before paying a debt. Observe this please.

The Hand of Death.
Pleasures are so transitory, and joys are so soon turned into sorrow. Life is so made up of change—we rejoice to-day and to-morrow we mourn. Last week was one never to be forgotten in Greenville. Four family circles were broken in almost the same day and there were few faces to be seen that did not bear traces of sorrow and grief. From one home the prattling babe was taken, from another one just turning from youth to the strength of manhood, from another the devoted mother and wife, and from another a fond husband and father.

On Wednesday the 14th inst, at two o'clock P. M., Mr. William H. Horne departed this life after an illness of about ten days with laryngitis. He was 43 years old and one of our best citizens. Mr. Horne was once Mayor of Greenville and for several years has been a Justice of the Peace. His remains were interred in Cherry Hill Cemetery on Thursday, the funeral services being conducted by Rev. R. B. John, pastor of the Methodist Church of which deceased was a faithful member. A wife and four small children are left to mourn their loss.

At eleven o'clock Thursday morning, Mrs. E. L. O'Hagan, wife of Dr. C. J. O'Hagan, died. Deceased was in her 54th year and had been sick but a few days. She was a consistent and zealous member of the Baptist Church and was one of the most excellent ladies of our town. In works of religion and deeds of charity her life abounded and no member labored more earnestly than she to advance the interests of her church and the cause of her Master. A true christian woman, a devoted wife, a most affectionate and loving mother, a sincere friend, her loss will be keenly felt in the church and community. A husband and son survive her. On Saturday morning her remains were laid to rest in the Baptist burial ground by the side of the church she loved so well. The services were conducted by Rev. J. W. Wildman.

Thursday afternoon little Garland, one year old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Tyson, died very suddenly. The little fellow had been sick and was thought to be improving, but when some medicine was being given it caught his breath and never breathed again and could not be restored. The mother was almost frantic with grief at the sudden and unexpected death. The remains were interred in Cherry Hill Cemetery Friday, Rev. R. B. John conducting the services.

Thursday, evening a few minutes past seven o'clock, Mr. James A. Whichard, son of Mr. V. H. Whichard, of Pactolus township, died at the residence of Mrs. V. H. Whichard in this town. He was 19 years old and was a young man of brightest promise. He was honest, manly and upright in all things and his life was pure and above reproach. To his parents he was ever dutiful and submissive, to his brothers and sister, he was kind and affectionate, and to his friends true and sincere. His manliness and integrity of character won for him the esteem and admiration of all our people. To the writer he was doubly dear, for apart from the ties of relationship that bound us he had been with us in the REFLECTOR office for several months and stood faithfully by us under all circumstances, it matters not how trying. For us he manifested truest devotion and his death is indeed painful. His memory will ever be blessed. The remains were taken to the family graveyard at the home of his parents and interred on Friday afternoon. His coffin and grave were covered with floral tributes from Greenville Institute, of which he was last session a pupil, and from numerous friends in Greenville.

On Saturday Mr. Amos Evans died at his home two miles South-west of Greenville. He was about 70 years of age and was a highly esteemed and worthy citizen of the county.

Besides the deaths occurring in our own community last week, a telegram was received by relatives here announcing the death of Mrs. Laura Johnston, wife of Mr. C. H. Johnston, near Tarboro. Mr. Johnston once lived here and his many friends sympathize with him in his loss.

With all the bereaved the REFLECTOR deeply and truly sympathizes. May He, whose hand has directed these afflictions, strengthen and sustain the sorrowing ones.

A WONDERFUL NATION.

A Glimpse at the Past and a Prophecy of the Future.

Today the republic of the United States has no rival on the face of the globe in natural resources, in wealth, in the general intelligence of its people. There is little use in glancing at the past for nearly every man of intelligence is familiar with the history of the country. He knows that a dozen years less than half a century ago the republic of the United States included thirty-one states and five territories, that we include among the territories the District of Columbia. The area then was, as it is now, not including the Alaska purchase, 3,002,802 square miles. The population was less than 25,000,000. West Virginia was the center of population. The population in the territory west of the Mississippi river, a territory 2,135,840 miles in extent, was at this time only 1,999,404. It was supposed that most of this extensive area was composed of desert lands and alkali plains.

AMONG THE POLYNESIANS.

Their Habits and Customs—Brewing the National Drink—The Fat Maker.

While conversing with Surgeon H. W. Baker he said he joined his ship, the Mohican, at San Francisco, Cal., in May, 1883, and sailed for her through the Golden Gate the following month for an extensive cruise in the South Pacific, which lasted over three years. His supply of information shows that he has been a close observer of the customs and habits of the Polynesians. As a surgeon, he was brought more intimately in contact with them than others, and had the opportunity of becoming personally acquainted with many of their strange doings, and he says some of his friends have been formed among those people. One of the most curious and interesting customs he told your correspondent was that of the drinking of kava, a beverage of the San Juan group of islands. He spoke very highly of those people, and said they were the finest race of people he had seen, the men being of large and almost perfect physique, symmetrically proportioned, with straight coarse black hair and a rich brownish color. He also said the women were even more attractive than the men, because of their graceful manners, kind and happy dispositions.

My Poor Back!

That's the common exclamation of those suffering with rheumatism or kidney troubles. In either disease Paine's Celery Compound will surely effect a cure, and there will no longer be any cause to complain of "poor backs."

Two weeks ago I could not sleep more than an hour at a time any night, and had a good deal of pain in the back. Since I took Paine's Celery Compound the pain has left my back, and I can sleep like a child. Zenas.

Having been troubled with rheumatism to get around, and was very often confined to my bed for weeks at a time. I have used Paine's Celery Compound, and it has cured me. I can now jump around and feel lively as a boy. Frank Carrol, Eureka, Nevada. Price, $1.00. Six for $5.00.
