Editorial items are decidedly scarce this week, yet we hope our readers will find the REFLECTOR none the less interesting. Our space has been given to several communications upon various topics which are well worth the attention of every reader. "Variety is the spice of life" and that is what we wish to give our readers.

The article on first page of this issue headed "Hope of the South," was written by a gentleman from this town for the Progressive Farmer of Raleigh. The writer is a man owning large farming interests and is a man in a position to readily understand the needs of the South.
The article is clear, broad, thoughtful and well planned and we commend it to every reader. Further comment is withheld as the article speaks for itself and must be read to be fully appreciated.

Congress met for a short term on Monday of this week and will continue in session (except for holiday adjournment) until March 4th at noon, when the term of membership expires and the newly elected members take their seats. There is not generally any large amount of work done at these short sessions that is of much importance, and it cannot be said yet whether the present session will be a departure from the former ones.
Much work is needed to be done and we hope will be.

The Board of Commissioners were in session Monday and yesterday and will meet again to-day. On Monday they acted upon the bonds of the newly elected officers of the county.
We were unable to get full notes of all the bonds for this week's REFLECTOR, but will publish them with proceedings of the Board next week. Commissioner Mooring told us that all the officers of the county, including township Constables, tendered their bonds, except John B.
Willoughby, Constable elect of Falkland township. The bond of Howell Hearn, Constable elect of Belvoir township, was refused on the ground of his having been convicted of forgery.
The case was argued by Alex L. Blow, attorney for the county, and G. W. Johnson, attorney for Hearn. The bond of J. A. K. Tucker, Sheriff, was said to have been the best ever given in the county. His election to the office of Sheriff causes a vacancy on the Board of Commissioners, he being previously a member of the Board, and the Magistrates of the county will hold a meeting in January to elect another member to fill the vacancy. J. D. Cox was elected as a member of the Board of Education in place of G. B.
King, resigned.

To Alliance Secretaries.

Please remember that the first Friday in next month we are to hold our quarterly meeting, and that your reports are due at my office on the first day of said month.
Our order is growing rapidly and we may expect a large and pleasant meeting. As there will be important business to attend to on that day we hope you will hand in your reports before then. Be sure to subscribe yourself and get your neighbors to subscribe for our county paper, the EASTERN REFLECTOR and our State organ, the Progressive Farmer. Let us know no such word as fail, but seek to accomplish the great aims, purposes and intentions of our noble order and make it what every true Southern planter desires to see it. Insist that every member and friend of your Alliance read the article "Hope of the South," published in the Progressive Farmer of Nov. 20. Consider well the good that might be done the South by putting such argument into practice.
Can it be done? Yes. Will it be done?

A & I O W.
ASSEMBLY DIST. NO. 1
HALL NO. 3,
Dec. 3d 1888.

The meeting was called to order by the Supreme Grand Lecturer, who announced that the exercises of the evening would begin with a clog dance by Prof. Filatus Longfellow. After the dance had been duly and creditably performed the regular order of business was taken up and the chair announced that as the prime object of this society was the mutual assistance of its members in the removal of their rivals, this meeting would be devoted to listening to such complaints as should be made by members against said rivals and placing the names of the rivals aforesaid on the death roll. All the members arising at this point and demanding recognition at once the S. G. L.
Arms was directed to take measure and finding that the Col. Longfellow was occupying more of the floor than any one else that gentleman was recognized to the following extent: "Mr. Lecturer and Brethren: I think that the amount of the agency that is at present stored away in our several minds to be allotted to our various rivals through the agency of this society is entirely too great to be distributed in one evening, so I would like to move that the first three members of this club be allowed to present their cases at this meeting, the second three at the club at the next meeting and so on ad infinitum." The chair, finding Mr.
F. Longfellow's Whim $3.45 for remarking that he thought merit ought to come before beauty, stated that the motion would not be entered until the line of succession was more clearly drawn. After Mr.
Longfellow had said that it was an understanding of course, that the chair should be given preference, the motion was declared carried and Lecturer arose to remark, that while the natural course of events aided and abetted by sundry brick bats and broken bottles well aimed and skillfully thrown had somewhat diminished his stock of rivals, they were still too numerous to mention, but he thought he might safely say, that those now in the ring had all been weighed in the balance and found wanting (some wanting in beauty, some in brain and all wanting the girl). He had also learned that one of the most promising of these rivals was to visit our city during the holidays and he thought he might be removed at that time as the noise incident to the small boy's Christmas celebration would facilitate such removal. On motion he name of the rival mentioned was placed on the death roll with room for the usual badge of money.

The Hon. Mr. Helpehead after treading on the most promising orn of Mr. Trustfulness Whim, his keeping that gentleman from claiming the floor by directing his thoughts in other channels arose to remark that he didn't know that he could claim any rivals to speak of. He said that most of his time was occupied in the endeavor to make himself somebody's rival, but he thought that perhaps he had at last found the open sesame to the fair one's heart as he had heard her remark that she would like to live on a farm, and while he didn't own any farm himself, some of the blon-ded land holders of this section might possibly arise some fine morning to find that all that was left of their real estate was a hole in the ground.
On motion it was ordered that should Mr. Helpehead be allowed to help in his farming operation, the services of any or all the members of this society should be at his disposal. Prof. Longfellow was declared next most beautiful and arose to state that his rivals were as the sands by the sea shore, in regard to numbers, and about the same way in regard to usefulness so far as he could see. He also incidentally remarked that he had in his possession at present, two pistols, a butcher knife and a shot gun, and if he read his stars aright the offices of Conquer in this and several adjoining counties were likely to become positions of great emoluments, and John Shelburn might be expected, at some time in the near future to arise from a bed of luxury to remark: "Blessed be the name and deeds of the A. & I. O. W.
Society!"
The lights went out and the meeting adjourned.

REPORTER.
Anniversary.

FARMVILLE, N. C., Nov. 21, '88
MR. EDITOR:—It was our pleasure on last Sunday to be present at the residence of Mr. Jimmie R. Rives to celebrate Mr. John Benjamin's birthday.
We left home at ten o'clock and reached our destination at twelve.
A large crowd had preceded us, but vehicle after vehicle continued to roll up until the assemblage was immense. The day was a very inclement one, but the many smiling faces indicated that every one looked forward to a pleasant time, and we can safely say, that none were disappointed, but realized expectations to the fullest extent. About one o'clock we all repaired to the dining room where an excellent dinner had been prepared. After dinner we returned to the parlor and passed the afternoon in pleasant conversation. It was about five o'clock when some of the crowd commenced dispersing, while we and some others spent the night.
Everyone left highly pleased with the day's enjoyment. Great credit is due Mrs. Rives, upon whose whole duty and responsibility rested the entire and splendid manner in which she superintended affairs.
And we are quite sure there was not a single person present who will not join in thanking her for the pleasure experienced on that day.
We heard one of the guest express himself by wishing Mr. Benjamin might live to celebrate his hundredth and seventh birthday and they might be present on all the occasions if they were as enjoyable as that one. G. F. E.
Come on and pay what you owe

"House-Warming."

FARMVILLE, N. C., Nov. 23rd 1888.
EDITOR REFLECTOR:—We would be glad to avail ourselves of your ever entertaining columns, to give an account of a social entertainment given in our town on the night of Friday the 23rd. For the past year or two such entertainments have been deplorably few and far between, but I am certain that all who were present will uphold me in saying, that this one fully compensates for all past delinquencies in that respect. The occasion we refer to was a "housewarming" at the residence of our genial and handsome mechanic, Mr.
Robt. L. Davis. As you would infer from the above, Mr. Davis' residence is just completed, and is one of the finest in the county, beyond the lines of Greenville. It is situated on one of the most desirable lots in town and adds immensely to Farmville's general appearance.
Some one remarked during the evening, that Mr. Davis was very shrewd in having the ladies of this and neighboring vicinities invited to his residence to view its beauties, conveniences and comforts, thinking that it would assist him to catch a bird to enrage therein. But I am sure he was influenced only by his love to see his friends enjoy themselves, and when he wishes to find a Queen to reign over "that beautiful realm called home," he will meet with no difficulties. A man who has such success in business—with so handsome a face—so affable manners, and a kind heart, never does. Your correspondent wended his way to the scene of gayety at about eight o'clock. Every room in the house was brilliantly illumined and presented a splendid appearance. The general arrangement, under the management of those charming ladies, Miss Laura Herbert and Miss Lula Lang, was perfect. The guests were met at the door, when the ladies were distinguished by their dressing room, the gentlemen to a room assigned to them, where they might add any finishing touches to their toggles before appearing in the room reserved for dancing. This room presented a special credit on the managers—the floor being in excellent condition for dancing, and the walls beautifully decorated with flowers.
Those who did not care to partake in the dance, were equally well provided for—a number of other apartments being provided for their convenience, with chairs, tables &c., where they might engage in social games or while the time away with friendly or lovely conversation. Music was furnished by the "Moonlight Revelers," or in common parlance the Farmville string band, under the management of Prof. Ivey Baker. Prof. Baker is a young man of extraordinary talent, and one of the finest performers we ever listened to. Supper, under the supervision of Mrs. T. E. Keel and Mrs. James Lang, was served at ten o'clock. And such a supper!
We did not believe that Pitt county could afford such a one. It was a banquet that would have done credit to any hotel in the State, and all credit is due to the above mentioned ladies for their efforts in its preparation, and all praise due the success they attained. After supper most of the party found their way back to the dancing parlor, where a real "street" was in store for them. This "street" was nothing less than the rendering of several vocal solos by that bright and witty gentleman, H. C. Turnage, Esq., of Greene county. Those who have heard Mr. Turnage sing will realize what this means—to those who have not, we cannot explain—he has to be heard to be appreciated. As we listened we felt as if we were being borne aloft to some new world, and when we came to earth again, it was hard to believe that we were not in some re-moted opera house instead of a private residence. Quite a number of ladies from our neighboring towns were present, but we will not attempt to mention them, as we do not remember all their names.
Would attempt to give some idea of the elegance of their costumes, but it would require some one better versed in dressmakers and milliners lore to do them justice. We didn't go home till morning, but when we did go we carried with us memories of the pleasantest evening we had ever spent, a heart thankful to Mr. Davis for what we had enjoyed at his residence, a heart especially thankful to Mrs.
Keel and Mrs. Lang for the supper they had supervised, a heart most especially thankful to Miss Herbert and Miss Lang for the charms they added to the affair as its managers. TRUTH.

Washington Letter.

SPECIAL COR. TO REFLECTOR.
WASHINGTON COR., Nov. 30th 1888.
MR. CLEVELAND'S last annual message to Congress is all complete, and was submitted to his cabinet at a meeting called for the purpose, but what its contents are, nobody outside knows, or is likely to know until the document is read at the Capitol Monday. The members of the cabinet will only say that it is a very strong and interesting document, and that it will be well worthy of a place along with the other state papers which Mr. Cleveland has written. Speaking of this message reminds me that Mr. Cleveland has been particularly fortunate in never having had any "leaks" in his administration through which public documents such as presidential messages, have reached the public prematurely. His is the first administration for many years entirely free of these "leaks." On the eve of the first Thanksgiving day after Secretary Whitney took charge of the Navy Department, he inaugurated the pretty custom of presenting each one of the four hundred employees of that department with a big fat turkey.
The custom has been regularly kept up ever since, and last Wednesday the employees of that department received for the last time this practical evidence of the Secretary's interest in their welfare. This year Postmaster General Dickinson followed the good example set by Secretary Whitney, and presented each of the employees of his department with the finest turkey to be had.

These turkeys were greatly enjoyed. It is extremely doubtful whether or the new Secretary of the Navy and Postmaster General will follow the excellent example set them by the Democratic officials.

Believing in the old adage that "the early bird catches the worm," Representative Cannon of Illinois has opened headquarters here and began an active canvass for the Speaker of the next House of Representatives. Messrs. Butters worth, McKinley, Burrows, Reed and company, will however make the fight interesting as soon as they get here. It is generally thought that either Reed or McKinley will be Speaker.

Democratic members of Congress as a rule extremely reticent as to what line of policy they will adopt at the coming session of Congress; they nearly all express a desire to confer with their Democratic colleagues before committing themselves. An exception to this rule is Representative Springer, of Illinois.
He insists that one of the first things the House will do will be to pass his Oklahoma bill, and that the next thing will be to pass a bill for the admittance of at least four Territories into the Union as states.

The clerks in the Government departments in this city below the grade of chief are all in an easy state of mind just at present.
They have become convinced that Harrison is a genuine civil service reformer, and that there will be no clean sweep when he comes in.
The principal cause of this belief was an article in our local paper taken from the editorial columns of the Indiana, Ohio Journal, a paper which is thought to be Harrison's home organ, which warned the republicans not to expect a "clean sweep," but in my opinion at the close of Harrison's term there will not be one democrat in office here for each ten republicans now drawing Uncle Sam's pay. In other words, I don't believe that Harrison will keep one tenth as many democrats in office as Mr. Cleveland has kept republicans.

Harrison's Southern policy continues to be a subject of general discussion here. The opinion is almost unanimous among the members of both parties, that Harrison's administration will be a very conservative one unless something now entirely unexpected should occur.
I don't think the South has anything to fear at the hands of Harrison. If many things that now have a somewhat troublesome look are let severely alone, they will adjust themselves, chief among this class of things is the negro question. I am certain from information derived from republican sources, that Harrison will appoint no negro to any prominent federal office in the South. In fact there is an undoubted disposition among republicans to relocate the negro to back seats in future. He is no longer of practical use to that party, therefore they will give him nothing.
When Congress opens Monday it is doubtful whether either House will have a quorum present, unless they come in much faster to-morrow and Sunday.

There is a growing belief that Harrison will call an extra session of Congress soon after his inauguration.

ROUNTREE'S, Pitt Co. Dec. 3rd '88.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:
Dear Sir:—As the time for the meeting of the State Grange is drawing near, permit me through your columns to express the views of a large number of my fellow Grangers in regard to its head officers. We know it is a sad fact, that the Grange is deteriorating in power, its membership being a great deal less than it was twelve months ago. It is decreasing so rapidly that in less than twelve months it will certainly be numbered with the things that were, and are not, and the grand principles inculcated, the boasted balm to the sick, the aid to the poor, the Heavenly dew upon the bosom of the plaid Tar. For this grievous result, there is a conspicuous cause.
It behooves us as Grangers working for our common good to find out this cause, and eradicate it forever, or abandon the field to our more aggressive and successful brethren, the Farmers Alliance which is headed by the big brained, energetic and thoroughgoing farmer, S. B.
Alexander, whose push and enterprise is felt in the smallest of his organizations, whose teachings are not culled from the editorials of our rural agricultural papers, but are the quintessence of an experience of a life of energy and close observation, whose precepts and example are one and the same. Such a man we need at our head, without which we are inevitably doomed, but lingering hope sees a spar, and while the billowy waves are dashing against the sinking ship, the star of redemption points to John C.
Wooten of Lenoir county.

December.

This is the last month of 1888.

Our best bow to the new officers.

Col. I. A. Sagg left this morning for Raleigh on business.

Mr. H. H. Wilson is clerking at the Racket Store.

Mr. Alex. Heilbroner spent a few days in Wilson last week.

Mr. L. W. Lawrence is Deputy Register of Deeds under Mr. James and Mr. R. W. King is Deputy Sheriff under Mr. Tucker.

Mr. J. W. Higgs, of the firm of Higgs & Munford, left Saturday for New York.

Mrs. John Duckett and children returned yesterday from Hamilton where they had been visiting.

Mr. Zeno Greene, of Whitakers, has been spending a few days with relatives in Greenville.

Mrs. V. H. Whichard returned Saturday from Raleigh where she had been under treatment for three months.

Hon. L. C. Latham, Member of Congress from this District, left Saturday to be present at the opening of Congress on Monday.

Miss Annie Powell, of Centreville, returned home on Saturday from a visit to the family of J. A. Thigpyn, Esq., near Greenville.

Mr. D. H. James, Register of Deeds, has moved his family to Greenville. They occupy one of the buildings in Forbestown.

Mrs. J. B. Cherry also attended the M. E. Conference at New Bern, besides those mentioned last week. All have returned home.

Miss Lucy Joiner, of Durham, is visiting her brother Mr. Andrew Joiner, near town. Pitt county takes pride in claiming the authoress of numerous serial stories and novelties of rare literary merit and welcomes the gifted writer among her relatives and old associates.

Ryan & Redding's variety store is displaying holiday goods.

The Divertisement Club had a hop in Germania Hall last Wednesday night.

Several colored people went from here to a conference in Goldsboro last week.

The inauguration and other county matters brought many people to town Monday.

The Rough and Ready Fire Company were out on parade last Thursday afternoon.

Branson's Almanac for 1889 is out. Get them at this office.

Rig turnips are all the go this year but we have seen no large sweet potatoes yet.

Pitt county is now under pure Democratic administration, for the first time in six years.

A valuable tract of land is offered for sale by Mrs. Caroline E. Cherry. See advertisement.

As we said last week week to be the case, all the stores in town closed on Thanksgiving Day.

The little folks are all talking of Christmas. Many of the older ones are not sorry if it is near.

J. F. Whichard, Administrator of LuNicy Whichard has a notice to creditors in this paper.

Read notice to creditors by L. B. Mewborne, Administrator of L. P. Mewborne, in this paper.

The sale of the Macon House property has been postponed to the first Monday in December. See advertisement.

What a jolly season of the year. Hog killing time with fresh meat sausages, spare bones and all such.

Messrs. R. S. Clark & Co tell us they sold eleven cook stoves in one day last week. So much for having a good article and advertising it.

No services in the Methodist Church last Sunday owing to the absence of Rev. Mr. John, who was attending the Conference at New Bern.

The Old Dominion steamers are now making daily trips between Washington and Tarboro, the Beaufort and Myra going on alternate days.

December promises to be a fruitful month matrimonially. We hear rumors of several marriages to take place before the holidays have passed.

At the close of the services in the Baptist Church, Sunday night, the ordinance of baptism was administered to one person by Rev. J. W. Wildman.

There will be but two more issues of the REFLECTOR before Christmas. Better hurry up such advertisements as you want to appear before the holidays are gone.

Some of H. F. Keel's new horses are beauties. He took us out for a drive behind a pair of sorrels, a few evenings ago, and they are as good as ever pulled in harness.

Somebody said whitewash the interior of the Court House when the new officers went in. Never mind, they will soon have everything within that edifice perfectly clean.

A few subscribers recently expressed a desire to pay what they owe us in wood. All who want to pay in wood can now do so if they bring it in the next three weeks.

Fruit tree agents have not been coming around this season as formerly. No need of them coming, as Riverside Nursery, a home institution, can supply all your wants in that line.

In the list of pupils who were on the Roll of Honor at the Institute, which was published last week, the name of Miss Lillie Wilson was omitted. Her name should have been included.

No one objects to the colored people having dances and balls when they choose, but the shooting of pistols, as was the case in the vicinity of Cherry Hall last Thursday night, should not be engaged in.

From a note we learn that Mrs. M. E. Havens, of Washington, lectured before the pupils of Pactolus Academy, Friday afternoon, on Physiology. Miss Ida Gay is Principal of the School.

On Saturday the 23rd day of December, 1888, I will sell at the Court House door, in Greenville, to the highest bidder, a valuable tract of land situated three miles above Greenville on the river road. Said tract of land contains 147 acres and adjoins the lands of Alfred Forbes and Charles Rountree Sr. It is suitable for tobacco, corn and cotton. The tract contains a barn, gin house and two small houses, also an excellent well of water, a large superlump grape vine and thirty or forty peach trees. Am informed that some of the land will rent for $10 an acre for tobacco.

CAROLINE E. CHERRY.

A COMPARISON

Of the quality and prices of the Millinery goods now kept in stock by Mrs. E. A. Sheppard with those to be had elsewhere, will convince you that her stock can in no particular be surpassed. Every article is made and cut to order. Hats. The very latest styles in trimmings, Novelties and Notion. Your patronage is solicited.

Sheriff Tucker tells us he saw a hog belonging to Mr. J. H. Mills, a few days ago, that measures 6 feet 6 inches from end of nose to tail, and 6 feet in circumference once around the body. We would like to hear from that hog after being slaughtered.

As Mr. C. L. Whichard was driving down the hill leading to the bridge, Saturday afternoon, the harness broke and his horse began kicking. The buggy was so demolished that Mr. Whichard had to borrow another before he could go home.

A merchant who is one of the REFLECTOR's liberal advertisers told us Saturday that his sales during the month of November were about double what they were in the same month of last year. We hope the business of all our patrons has been correspondingly good and will continue so.

The King's Daughters will have an unsurpassed supper at the store formerly occupied by Mrs. Horne, to-night. All are invited to attend and enjoy the turkey, salads, oysters, syllabub and jellies. There will be the additional attraction of a fish pond, with fish to suit the tastes of the most fastidious.

The continued unparalleled rush to the great bargain store of Higgs & Munford has been the cause of such a reduction in stock, and the desire to place before the public a brilliant display of Christmas goods has necessitated going North again. It is undoubtedly the place to buy goods.

Next week there will be a cross mark on the paper of many subscribers who owe the REFLECTOR, said mark to remind them of such an address. We request all in advance to send the mark and come at once to pay what they owe. Those who fail to pay will not receive the paper after January, and they will be sure to find out when and why it is stopped.

Remember to keep the Sabbath Holy.

On last Sunday morning George Powell and a man named Turner went to their traps near Hamilton in Martin county. Turner carried a gun, and while passing under some vines, the hammer of his gun was caught and caused the gun to discharge its contents into the thigh of Powell. A large artery was severed, and Powell died in less than five minutes.

Railroad.

Mr. H. Walters, manager of the Atlantic Coast Line, was in town again last Thursday in the interest of the railroad to be extended to this place from Scotland Neck. He told the REFLECTOR reporter that a force of 250 hands were on the route and the work was being carried forward as rapidly as possible. He thinks the line will be completed to the river here and cars will be running by the first of April. An iron bridge will be constructed across the river and the road brought on into town. It will pass through town in the Skinnerville ravine and the depot will probably be near the Institute.

Christmas Goods.

They always take the lead, and this week Ryan & Redding are opening a stock of holiday goods that will surpass any ever exhibited in Greenville. Some of their goods are imported, such as beautiful vases and china ware. They also have the very handsomest toys novelties and gift goods. It will be well worth the time of every person who wishes to visit their stores and see what elegant lines of goods are being displayed. Both their stores are overflowing with just such goods as you need. A large advertisement was handed in too late to get in this paper, but look out for it next week. Always bear in mind that you can get suited in goods and prices at Ryan & Redding's.

Arbor Day at the Institute.

Thursday, Nov. 29th, according to announcement, was observed by the teachers and pupils of the Institute as arbor day. Before ten o'clock the college chapel was about filled with students and visitors, and the exercises began.

The first on the programme was the "V. Hoffman," a song by the school. Mr. O. L. Joiner then delivered an interesting address on education. Prof. Duckett announced that Miss Bessie Jarvis would read an essay on "Arbor Day." This production proved instructive as well as interesting, and drew deserved attention. We were next treated to a very entertaining talk on "Arbor Day," and the thoughts it suggests," by Prof. C. G. Fout.

The tap of the drum was heard, and the long line of veterans marched out into the yard to where the tree was to be planted. The tree was put into position, and each teacher and pupil deposited a spade of earth about its roots. The spot was marked by a marble slab. Miss Sadie Heilbroner stepped forward and touchingly recited that beautiful poem, "Woodman Spare That Tree." Again the drum sounded, and the students marched to the college. This completed the exercises, and pupils and visitors departed to cherish recollections of an hour pleasantly and profitably spent.
