Poetry.

A Wife to Her Husband.

One of us, dear—
But one—
Will sit by a bed with a marvelous fear,
And clasp a hand,
Growing cold as it feels for the spirit-land—
Darling, which one?
Cue of us, dear—
But one—
By an open grave will drop a tear,
And homeward go,
The anguish of an unshared grief to know—Darling, which one?
But one—
Or, perhaps my life may first be done—Which one?

Somehow or Other.

Life has a burden for everyone's shoulders, None may escape from its trouble and care—Miss it in youth and 'twill come when we're older,
And fit us as close as the garments we wear.
Sorrow comes into our house uninvited, Robbing the heart of its treasure of song, Lovers grow cold and our friendships are slighted, Yet, somehow or other we worry along.
Everyday toil is an everyday blessing, Poverty's cottage and crust tho' we share;
Weak is the back on which burdens are pressing,
But stout is the heart that is strengthened by prayer.
Somehow or other the pathway grows brighter, Just when we mourned there were none to befriend.
Hope in the heart makes the burden seem lighter,
And somehow or other we get to the end.

Hands Off, Brethren.

Progressive Farmer.
The Progressive Farmer stated two weeks ago that an English syndicate had sent an agent to this country to invest $8,000,000 in the best class of mortgages. We learn that this agent says that his syndicate has a larger sum to invest if the conditions are favorable and inviting. Insurance companies, bankers and other capitalists in New England combined with the moneyed men of England and established loan agencies all over the West. The farmers borrowed their money and secured it by mortgage on their farms. Now their notes are due and they are unable to meet them, and this syndicate is buying these mortgages at greatly less than their face value and will proceed to foreclose them and gobble up the homes of the farmers. They have played their full hand in the West, and now they will begin to look for new and fresher fields. They will turn their eye to the South.
They will establish their agencies here, but the Progressive Farmer would warn our farmers not to touch them. Ruin lies before the farmer who would walk into this tempting snare. Keep away from loan agencies and keep the mortgage off your home.

It is said that by the wholesale oyster dealers in New York that one of the effects of the late cyclone has been to ruin hundreds of small oyster planters. Along Long Island Sound, Rockaway and other oyster beds the loss will amount to over $1,000,000. When asked to explain how the storm ruined oyster beds a well known dealer and planter said:
"After the seed oysters have lain on a mud bottom for three years we transplant them on a hard bottom, usually sand. This transplanting is done in the spring preceding the fall in which they are to be marketed.
Hard bottom oyster beds are mostly in shoal water. The cyclone last week struck through the water and stirred up the bottom so that the water was filled with sand, which when the storm abated fell on the oysters and covered them. About three years ago I lost $15,000 in one night through a storm in Prine's Bay.

A gigantic statue of Columbus, is being made from Carrara marble, and to cost $20,000, will soon be erected in New York City. The enterprise is the hands of prominent Italians of that city, and the Italian Government has given its promise to co-operate in the scheme.

The corner stone of the new building of the World, at the corner of Frankfort St. and Park Row, New York, was laid last Thursday. The building is designed to be the highest in the world.

New York Letter.

A Wonderful Press.—Working for the Fair.—A Great Memorial Meeting.

(Our special correspondence).

New York, October 14th, 1889.

With all the material progress which has been made in this age of labor-saving and wonderful devices, I doubt if there is any other machine which has been brought to greater perfection than the printing press. I am led to this remark by the fact that a past wonderful specimen of the printing press has just been completed for one of the leading papers in this city. In order to convey an idea of its perfection and superiority it may be proper to state, for the benefit of those not in the printing line, that all newspapers of large circulation are now printed from stereotype plates on presses which are fed by one continuous roll of paper. These presses are called "perfecting" or "web" presses, in contradistinction to the slower ones, which are called "cylinder." They print both sides of the paper at once, the web going over one set of plates and under another set.
They are intended for rapid work rather than fine. They are unfitted for printing illustrations except of a very rough kind. The fine work, such as is done on Harper's Weekly or Frank Leslie's must be done from copper-faced electrotypes on cylinder presses. An ordinary "web" press will print about 1,200 or 1,500 copies an hour; a "web" press will print as many thousands in the same length of time. This much believed, understood, an idea can now be given of the superiority of the new press above referred to. It is fed from three rolls of paper all at once, requires 48 plates (each the size of a page) and prints 180,000 four page papers an hour. Each copy is cut, pasted and folded, and the machine will print a paper of any size from two to 48 pages. It is 32 feet long and 10 feet wide, and cost the sum of $100,000.

WORKING FOR THE FAIR.

The arrangements for holding the World's Fair of 1892 in this city are taking more definite shape every day. On last Thursday was held the second meeting of the full General Committee, and reports were received from the four sub-committees appointed by Mayor Grant.
The Finance Committee recommends that steps be taken immediately to raise a preliminary fund of $5,000,000, to be raised by subscriptions for stock. The Legislative Committee recommends that, as all plans for an international exposition must be sanctioned by Congress and the Legislature, a petition be prepared and presented to Congress, setting forth the plan as far as can be stated and asking for a charter as an incorporated body. The Site Committee reported as I have mentioned in a previous letter, and the Committee on Permanent Organization recommended Mayor Grant as President, and the continuation of the present committees.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A unique memorial service was held in Cooper Union last Thursday evening, in memory of the late Congressman S. S. Cox. The exercises consisted of a prayer by the dead man's pastor, Rev. Dr. P. F. Mc-Sweeney; an address by ex-President Cleveland; the memorial address by J. Proctor Knott, and benediction by the Rev. Dr. Gotthel of the Temple Emanuel. The hall was crowded with an immense audience of the dead man's friends of all creeds and parties, among them being: Gen. W. T. Sherman, Mayor Hugh J. Grant, Chauncey M. Depew, Gen. Thomas Ewing, Carl Schurz, Charles A. Dana, Postmaster Correllous Van Cott, George W.
Curtis, Patrick Ford, Gen. Roger A.
Pryor, and Vice-President Levi P.
Morton. EDWARD ARLINGTON.

Such is Life.

Smithfield Herald.
The amount of money carried away from Johnston county last Monday by John Robinson's circus is estimated to be no less than $5000.
At least four fifths of this amount came out of the poorer classes, or as a gentleman remarked to us a few days ago, "people that will go back home to their bread and side meat, with scarcely enough clothes to cover them." But such is human nature. We will all go to the circus and spend our money, come home abuse it, and call ourselves a fool for going, but the very next one that comes along will find us right there listening to the stale jokes of the clown, eating pea nuts and drinking red lemonade.

An Eating Sore.

Mr. C. B. McLemore, prominent and influential citizen of Henderson, Texas, writes under date of August 23, 1889, as follows:
"For eighteen months I had an eating sore on my tongue. I was treated by the best local physicians, but obtained no relief, the sore gradually growing worse. I concluded finally to try S. S. S., and was entirely cured after using a few bottles.
You have my cheerful permission to publish the above statement for the benefit of these similarly afflicted."

Laughable Reflections.

And Mirth Provoking Selections as Compiled by the Reflector's Bad Boy.

Senior Surgeon—"How's that case of heart trouble coming on?" Junior Surgeon (forgetting himself)—"It's all settled, doctor, she accepted me this morning."
"Thank heaven," said an old colored woman, "dat my chillun am all brack an' not yaller like what some cullud folks is."
"Why, aunty?"
"Kase dey don't show dirt."

A bowlegged fellow has a poor chance in this life. A country girl won't have him because he can't keep the calf off; and a town girl won't have him because she can't sit in his lap.—Sam Jones.

Aspiring Author—"Wants there anything in the letters I sent you that you could use?" Practical Editor—"Yes the stamps you enclosed for their return we used, but there was nothing else available."

Mr. Bultitude—"Young Mr. Daw-die wants me to give him a position in the office, Flora. You're acquainted with him. Is he a man of brains?" Flora—"Really, papa, I don't know. I've never met him except in society."

Mrs. De Snoshye—"I have an uncle, you know, who can talk French and German and Latin and Greek—and—and—why, all these modern foreign languages just as well as he can English, don't you know?" Young De S. (giving it away)—
"Why not? He's deaf and dumb."

"Darling," he said, "your eyes are as bright as diamonds, your teeth as white as pearls, your lips as red as rubies, and—and—"
"Yes, George," she said sweetly, "and you're as green as an emerald."

Then George went out into the black night.

Miss Marie Devoe (at the cooking school)—"Do you mean to say, chef, that we must put our bare hands into the dough?" Prof. Tartapommes—"Sartainly, m'selle."

Miss Marie Devoe—"Perhaps that is why I failed with my bread the last time. My gloves seemed rather in the way."

"What do you think of a man who will bury two children in the morning and go to a ball game in the afternoon?" asked a well known joker of a party of friends in an uptown resort.
"He's a brute," was the answer.
Then all wanted to know who he was.
"An undertaker," was the reply.

Wedding guest—"Where's the bridegroom?" Bride—"Just gone out on a little errand."

Wedding guest—"Something important, I suppose, or he wouldn't good."

In the early part of last year I had a violent attack of rheumatism, from which I was confined to my bed for over three months, and at times was unable to turn myself in bed, or even raise the cover. A nurse had to be in a constant attendance day and night. I was so feeble that little nourishment I took had to be given me with a spoon.
I was in constant agony, and sleep was entirely out of the question except when I was under the influence of opiates.
After calling in the best local physicians, and trying all other medicines without receiving any benefit. I was induced by friends to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.). I discontinued all other medicines, and took a course of S. S. S.—thirteen small bottles—which effected a complete and permanent cure.

Salisbury Herald: The Clark Thread Company, manufacturers of Clark's O. N. T. Cotton, have donated to the Oxford Orphan Asylum one case containing thirty pounds of waste thread and fifty-three dozens of spoons of cotton containing 200 yards each. This is the second gift of cotton to the Asylum made by the Clark Company. — Charlotte seems to be an unfortunate place for Robinson's circus to visit.
When it was there in 1880 the big elephant, Chief, killed his keeper a man named King, and on the day that King was buried one of the Robinson brothers died in Columbia.
Yesterday while the tent was being put up in Charlotte the rope with which one of the centre poles was being raised broke and the pole fell and struck one of the canvasses, named Vinton Reynolds, upon the head, crushing his skull and inflicting injuries that are thought to be fatal.

Minister Douglass' "Trip" to Hayti.

The Chicago Herald thus avers to some strange circumstances:
"There comes a wild and weird story from Washington to the effect that Frederick Douglass, colored, Minister to the colored republic of Hayti, finds it difficult to get his transportation to the tropical isle.
He seems to be a sort of hoodoo on the Government vessels appointed to carry him on his mission. No sooner is a Government vessel designated for what Mr. Harrison in his wild Western way would call "the trip" than forthwith it breaks down or meets with shipwreck.
For instance, the Ossipee was ordered to convey Mr. Douglass to Hayti. Forthwith the commander of the Ossipee falls sick. The command devolving upon his lieutenant, the Ossipee breaks down and is pronounced unfit for sea. Thereupon the steamship Dispatch is ordered to Norfolk to be in readiness to take the colored minister to the sunny island of the South, but in rounding some of the Atlantic capes the good Dispatch gets wrecked.
Thus Mr. Douglass is stayed in his diplomatic mission, and if it depends on the officers of the Navy to forward him on his journey he may never reach his destination. He had better take an English steamer and go around by the way of Liverpool."

After the unseaworthiness of the Government vessel Ossipee, and the wreck of the Dispatch, Secretary Tracy ordered the Kearsarge to convey Mr. Douglass and his white wife to Hayti. Directly the orders were given the commander, Shepard resigned and Lieutenant Whiting was promoted.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald telegraphs:
"I don't care a snap," said a naval officer to night, "about Fred.
Douglass being a negro. That doesn't enter into the subject at all.
We are, as you know, creatures whose only province is to obey orders. When we are told to do a certain thing we obtain orders and kicker afterward. But the Douglass matter is different. All we are required to do aboard ship is to attend to our regular official duties.
You can bet all the money you have that Minister Douglass and his white wife will never be officers of breakfast or dinner by officers of the Kearsarge. The man who occupies the most embarrassing position is Commander Whiting. The Minister will, of course, invite him to dine with him in the cabin but whether Commander Whiting will be afflicted with sea sickness on that date or not cannot be ascertained until the ship arrives at Hayti. You cannot make navy people recognize Mr. Douglass or his family on a plane of social equality.
They won't do it, and there is no power extant to make them.
When Minister Douglass and his white wife reach the Haytian capital they will not occupy a bed of roses from a social standpoint.
Those people down there are just as particular as to social matters as we are here in this city. You know that Minister Douglass and his family have no social standing here.
He goes abroad now as the representative of the United States, but it is the height of absurdity to suppose that the diplomatic corps now stationed at Port au Prince will recognize him socially. You can say with as much emphasis as you choose that navy men are disgusted. Possibly, Commander Shepard will be tried by court martial finally and that is where all the facts will come out, but you can rest assured that no court that ever will be convened will convict him. All Navy people think Secretary Tracy acted too hastily in the matter. He states that there was considerable irony in the letter of Commander Shepard, and for that reason he thought he might be detached.
I think the Secretary was ill-advised, and that he regrets now that he acted so hastily."

The Third Avenue Railroad Company of New York City, will soon change their motive power from horses to the double cable system.
This is the longest street car line in the world.

In a cowboys' tournament at Agua Fria, A. T., John Lane roped and tied three steers in 4.49 minutes, thus being the best time ever made record also by roping and tying a single steer in a little over

Dun & Co's review report 182 business failures in the United States for the week ending the 18th.

Maj. W. A. Hearne, who has long been on the staff of the Messenger, is now editing the Goldsboro Mercury.

A new paper recently started at Monroe is the Register, edited by Messrs. Underwood & Beasley. It is a large, neat, well-edited paper, the subscription price of which is $1.50 a year.

The Nashville Argonaut recently celebrated the close of its first year. It is a neatly printed paper, well edited. It was established to advance the interests of Nash county and its work is being done faithfully.

Commissioner Tanner's successor has been appointed. On Saturday the President appointed Gen. Green B. Baum, of Illinois, to be Commissioner of Pensions.
He took the oath of office immediately and entered upon the discharge of his official duties on Monday morning.

Mr. C. F. Crutcher has retired from the Lexington Ledger, and has a position in the office of the Greensboro North Star.—Concord Times.

From what we have read of him he has now gone just where he belongs. For sometime he has been running a Radical sheet under disguise, and now he has got over square on one that we all know is Republican.

Mr. Pulitzer, editor of the New York World, is assuming the very generous role. Sometime ago he offered to give $100,000 to secure the World's Fair for New York, provided four other men could be found who would do the same thing.
The four others could not be found and now Mr. Pulitzer comes to the front again, and is getting a lot more free advertising, by offering to give $50,000 unconditionally. This is a right good scheme he has jumped on to for notoriety, because he ought to know that the Fair is going to Washington and he can keep his money.

The Raleigh Fair last week has been pronounced the best yet held there. The exhibits were large and the crowd immense. However, it is not pleasant to hear of the many fakirs who were permitted to carry on their nefarious work and swindle the people out of their hard earned money. One gentleman who attended this fair, and he has visited many, told us he never saw so many money traps and gambling swindlers as were around the fair grounds last week.
That is the objectionable feature to fairs, and will certainly arouse strong sentiment against them unless the gamblers and swindlers are kept away.

The Republicans of Mississipi have acknowledged themselves whipped before the fight. The State Executive Committee have formally withdrawn their State ticket, virtually surrendering the field to the Democrats. They issued an address stating their reasons for withdrawing. Now let's hear from Mahone and his little gang in Virginia. He is already whipped and had just as well come out and own it. If he tries to worry through the fight he will only succeed in spending his campaign fund to find out what a big majority the Democrats have.
Better follow the example of his Mississippi brethren and withdraw from the race.

Last week it was our pleasure to attend the services conducted by Rev. Mr. Pearson, at Tarboro.
We heard him three times and were very much impressed with his ability. He is beyond doubt the most thorough Bible scholar to which we ever listened, and he uses the Scriptures freely in his discourses, bringing the Word to bear directly on every point. He preaches the Gospel in its purity and simplicity, making the way of Salvation so plain that even the most illiterate hearer may understand. His labors are attended by much Divine power and wherever he holds a series of meetings the cause of Christ is greatly built up and strengthened. Mr. Pearson has done a good work in Tarboro.

Next Sunday he begins a meeting in Henderson.

Another lynching has been placed to the record and dishonor of North Carolina. Robert Berrier, a white man, about two weeks ago very brutally murdered his mother-in-law, Mrs. Walser, in Davidson county. On account of cruel treatment Berrier's wife left him, and with her child returned to her parents. Berrier awaited an opportunity, and one day when Mr.
Walser was from home went to the latter's home, deliberately shot and killed Mrs. Walser, then took the child and fled. He was captured and while in the jail at Lexington was taken out by a mob and hanged.
There was no reason for violence in this case, as the courts would soon have taken the matter in hand and there would not have been the slightest chance for the fellow to have escaped the gallows.
Lynchings are to be deplored, and we would rejoice if this could be the last to occur in North Carolina.

We spent two days in Tarboro last week and were glad to see the spirit of enterprise that has taken possession of the town. It seems that the boom upon which the town entered two years ago keeps steadily progressing, one enterprise following another in quick succession. The oil mills, knitting mills and cotton factory, all of which were recently established, lend much to the material prosperity, giving employment to a large number of people and keeping much money in circulation. A good system of waterworks has just been established, a handsome town hall is in course of construction, and all arrangements have been perfected to secure electric lights. His Honor, Mayor W. E.
Fountain, took us through the town hall building, upon which work is progressing rapidly, and explained the different apartments.
The building will be two stories with a hundred feet tower on the corner. The upper story will be an opera house, fitted and furnished in modern style; the lower story to contain a court room, Mayor's office, firemen's hall, engine rooms for the fire department and cells for the town prison. We will say, by the way, much of Tarboro's prosperity of late has been due to the efforts of Mayor Fountain. He has labored untiringly for the good of the town and has helped to get several prominent enterprises under way. He is truly a blessing to that town. We wish Greenville had a few men of his type.

From the Wild West.

SILVER CITY, IND. TER., October 10th, 1889.

DEAR READER:—Probably some of your readers would like a word from me away out here in the West, so if you will permit me I shall be glad to write them occasionally.

Indian Territory contains some of the finest land in our country.
Immense crops are produced with almost no cultivation. Anything can be grown here that can be grown in a temperate climate. I drove through a field of six hundred acres of corn, and it was perfect wilderness. A man on horseback could not be seen above it, this is the rule and not the exception.
Nothing is half cultivated here, it will grow anyhow. I have seen five melons and potatoes that were not cultivated at all, only the soil broken and the seed put in. Some years, however, the rainfall is very limited and then crops are a failure.
Men are paid twenty dollars per month to work on a farm here.

The Oklahoma country has all been taken up and shanties, tents and dugouts break the monotony of space. There is but little timber for miles and miles, and if this winter should be severe, I fear the Oklahoma settlers will resurrect colonial times. In the towns it is different, the houses, as a rule, are neat and substantial, and Guthrie and Oklahoma City are indeed cities.
Coal has been found near Oklahoma.
These new towns are very orderly considering the mixed population; however, one murder in Oklahoma City last week.

The South Canadian is the Oklahoma line on the west and Silver City is in the Chickasaw nation, only one mile from the river. The Canadian is one of the most treacherous nations in this whole country. Its bed is quicksand and the water either comes down in rolling billows or the river bed is dry. Sometimes one may start across and before he has reached the opposite bank where but a few moments before was dry sand the threatening whirls will be ready to engulf him. There are no bridges in this country, consequently the streams have to be forded.

The roads here are said to be very good natural roads, but to me, accustomed to the smooth roads of Eastern Carolina, they are a terror.
Two weeks ago I spent several days at "Happy Hollow," the home of a wealthy family, who are part Chicaw, and rode to school each day in a dog-cart. I had to travel over some of the good roads (I) and as the heavy steel sped along over hills and through valleys, the way I grasped the sides of the vehicle, with my feet pattering in the bottom would have caused a smile to play over the face of a dream-scape North Carolinian; but I was out in the West so there was no impropriety in trying to save my neck.

There are only about three hundred white settlers in Silver City settlement. I see many Indians and they are such horribly looking creatures, but perfectly harmless. Most all who are sent away to school and remain for years return and don't their Indian garb because their parents will not receive them until they do. Only thirty miles away round the wild blanket Indian.

At night the wolves howl and the panthers cry not a mile away, but as others are not alarmed, neither am I, only the cows trouble me. All ride horse-back so I'm learning to ride too; but I ride with such grace (I) that I astonish even the natives.

We have strong winds here nearly all the time, seldom any numbered. Blizzards and northers are frequent in winter. They seldom last more than three or four days but are said to be terrific.

Have been to a genuine "roundup" The "cow-boys" of course were on duty, but none of the former dare-devil rig adorns their person now, they are only a lot of rough looking men, that is all. Many of the cow-boys have come from homes of culture and refinement and we have but to look beneath the rough garb to find a heart still warmed by the recollection of a mother's love. People are not more wicked here than in the States, but perfectly indifferent to all things pertaining to the worship of God.
Sunday is regarded only as a holy day to be spent as one chooses.
They seem to think there is no God in the nation.

So far I do not regret coming to the West, though I long for the forests, the singing birds, the little brooklets, and the companionship of friends. I know not how long the West may be my home, it may be for years and it may be forever.
I am drifting, simply drifting, have ever been drifting before the breath of Providence.

Hope all to whom I promised to write will regard this as written to them and write me at once, for my letters and papers are the only links that bind me to the civilized world, and you can never know how I appreciate a word from home.

"Home, home, sweet, sweet home, Be it ever so humble there is no place like home."

Kind wishes for Greenville Institute, for the Athenian Society, for G. I. Library and for every child who has been a pupil of mine, and for all other friends accompany this from META CHESTNUT.

Washington Letter.

From our regular Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18th, '89.
Senator Quay has been making things as lively as possible for President Harrison this week. He is understood to have reminded the President of many sins, both of omission and commission, that he would have much preferred forgetting. Mr. Quay is of the opinion that President Harrison stands bodily in need of a political guardian, and it is more than probable that the junior Senator from Pennsylvania, who thinks the administration owes its existence to him, stands ready to accept the guardianship.
Mahone's friends here are quietly bubbling. Now they say that he has had no idea of being elected but only went into the campaign in order to get absolute control of the party machinery so that he could fix up the delegation to the next national republican nominating convention. This is not a very likely story, and it would be just as well for the Virginian democrats to keep up the lively fight they are making until election day.

Statistics already collected by the Census bureau show that the number of cotton mills in the South have more than doubled since 1880.
Gov. Hill was warmly greeted by many admirers during the short stop he made here last Monday.
He called on Hon. Samuel J. Randall, and spent nearly an hour with him. Mr. Randall is much better, and expects to be entirely well before Congress meets.

The International Maritime Conference met here Wednesday and organized by electing Admiral Franklin President. Delegates are present from every maritime country in the world except Portugal.
The forced return by Senator Manderson of the money drawn on an illegal retarding of his pension has created a commotion in the Pension Office. There are forty or more of the employees in that office that have received quite large sums of money as arrears on their retired pensions, and all these are anxiously inquiring whether there is any law to make them disgorge, in the event of their refusal their pensions and salaries can be held by the Government? Tanner hit Secretary Noble a blow straight from the shoulder when he called attention to the fact that four days before he was appointed to office Gen. Black, by special request in writing of Secretary Noble related the pension of Gen. W. H. Powell without a medical examination, from $7.50 to $30 per month, and dated it back to 1865. Tanner had plenty of ammunition, and if he once became convinced that the administration intends to leave him out in the cold he will begin firing right and left. He has just fired a broadside into Benney.

A gentleman just returned from an extensive trip through the West says he found the people almost unanimously in favor of holding the World's Exposition of 1892 in Washington. Chicago has opened headquarters here more to beat New York than with any hope of securing the Exposition. Washington is second choice with both Chicago and New York.

The members of the cabinet are all quite busy preparing their annual reports all of which have to be in the hands of the President before he can complete his message to Congress.

"Heard the news from Montana" asked a Democratic Senator of a Republican Senator. "Yes" replied the Republican. "Well" said the Democrat, "it appears to me that you fellows are pretty hard to satisfy."

From present indications Reed will not have the slightest difficulty in being elected Speaker of the House. He is supported by the administration. The Democrats in the house would probably prefer either of the other candidates to Reed; he is rather too much of a thick and thin partisan to occupy the Speaker's chair, but that is the very reason that the influence of the administration is being given to him.

Secretary Bask delivered an address at the Agricultural fair at Frederick, Maryland, this week.

Mr. Randall denies that he revised Gov. Hill's Atlanta speech when the Governor called on him here last Monday, as has been alleged by certain newspaper correspondents.

Mr. Halford the President's private Secretary is much better, and expects to be back at his desk next week.

Ex-Secretary Bayard spent several days in Washington this week.
The most of his time was devoted to his fiancée, Miss Clymer.

A Wonderful Case.

If anything had been lacking to give us confidence in Dr. Harmon, the skilled optician who has been among us for several weeks, all doubts would have been removed after a case he treated here last Saturday. It was the case of Miss Nancy Moore, an indigent woman forty odd years of age, who lives in Falkland township. From childhood she has been almost sightless, and now one eye is totally blind and the other so near sighted that she could not distinguish an object as large as a book two feet from her, nor could she see how to do any work even as coarse as knitting unless it was held within an inch or so of her eye. When our townsman, Dr. Richard Williams, lived near Falkland he knew all about the condition of this woman, and said she was an object of pity. It was through him that the woman was brought to the oculist and received benefits for which she will be grateful the remainder of her days. We heard of the case and on Monday asked Dr. Williams about it, and he told us in substance as follows:

"When I lived near Falkland I knew the woman and knew her condition. Since moving to Greenville several years ago I have heard but little of her, except that I knew she was receiving a small monthly stipend from the county, being unable to make her living. I felt great sympathy for her, and once thought of going personally before the Commissioners and ask them to make an appropriation to get suitable glasses for her. Then I thought that her condition was such that she would have to be sent either to Baltimore or New York for a skilled oculist to fit the glasses to her eyes, so abandoned the idea of going before the Commissioners. But since Dr. Harmon came here I went to him and spoke of the condition of the woman. When he found out she was too poor to pay for any service he very frankly offered to do anything in his power for her, free of charge, if she could be brought to him. I wrote to some of her people to bring her to Greenville, which they did last Saturday. Dr. Harmon examined her eyes thoroughly, made glasses to suit, and told her that what seeing she had done lately was more from the brain than from the eye, that now with the glasses she must teach her eye, and her sight would gradually come to her, continuing to improve for at least six months to come. At first the woman could not see, but in a short while being able to distinguish objects, her sight gradually becoming better, and before leaving town expressed herself as delighted that she was getting able to see objects some distance from her. I think Dr. Harmon did her great good."

GRIMES-WALDO:—In the Baptist church in Hamilton, N. C., Oct.
16, 1889 by Rev. Geo. J. Dowell, M.
W. T. Grimes and Miss Norma Waldo. There were beautiful decorations, brilliant lights, The bride, and her attendant elegantly dressed in white. The groom and his attendants were dressed in full evening suits. The wedding march was rendered by Miss Kate Miller.
Ushers, W. B. Dowell and B. S.
Malibey. Flower girls, Misses Alice Waldo and Ernestine Gardner. Attendants, D. F. Davenport and Miss Mary Waldo, J. E. Waldo and Miss Annie Whitaker, Paul Salisbury and Miss Lula Sebel, W. E. Lindstrom and Miss Maggie Ward, Thurston Pippin and Miss Lizette Parker, Van R. Taylor and Miss Josephine Par-viss, J. P. Boyle and Miss Annie Ward, B. B. Sherrod and Miss Pat-tie Hyman, F. H. Robertson and Miss Caddie Purvis. After the marriage a perfect feast of reason and flow of soul was given at the public reception at the hotel where congratulations were extended and refreshments served. The bride present was numerous and handsome. Thus passed off one of the most brilliant events of the season.

When other papers get to talking of the good Building and Loan Associations are doing in their towns it almost makes us envious. We hope Greenville will become "hook up" and get in her right mind, some of these days.

For $1.90 cents you can attend the Weldon Fair. That sum buys a round trip ticket from Greenville and includes one admission to the fair.

See notice by E. A. Moyer, Superior Court Clerk, in the matter of John D. Biggs & Co., vs. R. J. Grimes, Administrator of J. M. Rollins.

The sugar trust collapsed early. These trust organizers will yet find out they are kicking against the wrong set when they tackle the farmers.

Remember the Weldon fair will take place October 29th, 30th, 31st and November 1st. This is the oldest fair in the State and it is always one of the best.

The Goldboro Fair began yesterday and will close tomorrow. The REFLECTOR returns thanks for a complimentary ticket which was received last week.

Little, House & Bro. have a handsome new advertisement in the REFLECTOR to day. They have made prices to suit the hard times, the short crops and the scarcity of money, and that is what the people want.

We give our readers an interesting communication from Miss Meta Chestnut, who is in Indian Territory and hope to give them another such treat at an early day.

We were quite amused one day this week at the capers cut up by Mr. B. F. Suggs's dog, Plato, he was on the back of Mr. Suggs's horse taking an evening ride.

The following remark was made the other day by a lady as she passed one of our popular dry goods emporiums: "I declare Alex is rushing a dandy set of 'sidelights' now."

One of the most practical articles on agriculture ever written for the REFLECTOR will appear in these columns next week. We want every farmer to be on the look out for it.

Mr. John Flanagan, of this township, told us Friday that he had recently lost thirty-six hogs from cholera. He has only eight hogs left for his meat supply for next year. This is a heavy loss.

The editor is waiting very patiently to write receipts for some delinquent subscribers that might be mentioned. This is the last year that some of them are going to dead beat us out of the paper.

A friend brought us a mess of green "cow" peas, the other day, and said he did not want his name to get in the paper about them. Well, his name ain't here, but the peas were good just the same.

We saw an Acmé Harrow, the other day, which was being exhibited by Mr. J. F. Joyner. Of course we are no judge of farm implements, but this machine is said to be one of the best of its kind that is made.

Rev. E. C. Glenn commenced a meeting at Shady Grove, six miles above town, on Sunday. The meeting starts off with great interest, there being eight penitents the first night. May the Lord abundantly bless the work there.

Could not good work be done in Greenville through the organization of the Reform Club, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and the noonday prayer meetings for business men? The REFLECTOR believes there could be, and would like to hear from those interested.

As the bulk of mail now leaves Greenville at 6:30 o'clock a. m. instead of at 3 o'clock p. m. it is necessary for us to have the REFLECTOR in press much sooner than formerly. It will therefore be necessary for advertisements to come in by Monday night of each week to insure prompt insertion in the issue following. Business men please note this.

We bet a dollar Sheriff Tucker makes somebody open their eyes about this tax paying business before the year closes. He says he is not going to have much messing about collecting them, either. When a man knows he has got to pay his taxes he might just as well come on and do so in the time prescribed by law.

A Cow that Wasn't a Cow.

The Bad Boy started to the P. O. the other day and seeing a cow standing behind a cart stealing fodder, jumped at her and shouted, "Get away from here you rogue!" You can't easily imagine his feelings when he discovered that it was an ox that had been driven to town, tied to the wheel and fed in the cart, and saw an angry farmer, the owner of said ox, coming at him with vengeance in his heart and a cart round in his hand.

The Fair.

The time for holding the Tarboro Fair is rapidly approaching, and all who will exhibit articles should be preparing them.

The premiums offered are as large as any in the State and the racing will be the enjoyable feature of the occasion—they will transcend all other pleasures held, and there will be a greater number each year than at the fairs previously held here.—Tarboro Southern.

Appreciated.

Mr. Geo. Letford, of Chicago, a clever representative of H. E. Bucklen & Co., was in Greenville a few days ago. The remedies sold by this firm are advertised in the REFLECTOR, and notwithstanding their present contract does not expire until the 9th of next January, Mr. Letford contracted for another year beginning with that date. He says on the record kept by the firm the REFLECTOR is marked "O. K." and they are as well pleased with their contract in this paper as any in their large dealings all over the country.

New Wells.

Hurrah for the City Fathers! We thought our much talking would bring good results after awhile. Last week found Mr. H. F. Harris with his splendid well boring machine at work on the street and he soon had two wells bored and good pumps in them. One of these wells is on Third Street by the side of the Opera House and the other is on Evans Street in front of the Racket Store. Gentlemen of the Board, the citizens thank you, and hope you will carry the good work forward. Give us a few more wells, then turn your attention to the miserable street lights, and your praises shall be sung.

Going Away.

Dr. D. S. Harmon, the optician, leaves Greenville on the 29th, for Snow Hill, at which place he will remain two days, then go to Kinston for sometime. He has been in Greenville about eight weeks, and up to last Saturday had made 154 pairs of glasses. Of these 76 were for old people, 74 were for severe cases, the other four being one for Elizabeth City, one for Edenton and two for Washington. Dr. Harmon has made many friends here and everybody speaks well of him. It is not often the people have opportunity to consult such a skilled optician, and we regret that his engagements compel him to leave Greenville on the 29th. See him while there is opportunity.

Fire in Washington.

We sympathize with our townsman, Hon. G. Bernard, in the loss he sustained by the fire in Washington last Friday morning. He owns the Merchants Hotel building and several stores there, and in this last fire two of the stores were destroyed and the hotel badly damaged. There was no insurance on the property and his loss is estimated at $5,000. The total loss from the fire is said to be $12,000 with $2,000 insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown, and it is the second that has occurred in the business portion of Washington in two weeks. There must be some fire fiends at large down there.

Another Train Needed.

It is almost the rule and not the exception now that the train comes in behind time. The work on the line from Greenville to Weldon is much too heavy for a mixed train to do it all. The people earnestly hope the railroad authorities will hurry and give us a separate mail and passenger train. One is badly needed. This section will do the good part by the railroad and the latter ought in turn to be willing to meet the convenience of the people. Delayed trains will be sure to prove an annoyance and we repeat the wish that separate trains will be run and freight and passengers not continue to be handled together.

Weldon Fair.

This is the last opportunity the REFLECTOR will have for calling your attention to the Weldon Fair which begins next Tuesday. Everything has been done by the officers to insure the success of the fair. Besides the attractions we have already mentioned the cadets from Horner School will be there, and those from Fremont Military Institute are expected. The Weldon Fair is the oldest in the State and the one next week is going to be fine. The round trip fare from Greenville, including admission to the fair grounds, is only $1.50. We want Pitt county to have exhibits there and bring off some of the premiums. The premiums amount to $5,000.

Cases for Fast Driving on Bridge.

On Monday we looked over the record kept by Mr. B. S. Sheppard, Justice of the Peace, and found the following cases had come before him for fast driving over the bridge across Tar river, and were disposed of in the manner stated:

Alfred Forbes, Jr., judgment suspended upon payment of costs.

W. B. James, case continued.

Robert Perkins, judgment suspended upon payment of costs.

McGee Manning, fined $2 and costs.

John Fleming, judgment suspended upon payment of costs.

I. A. Sugg, case called and continued.

Warrants are out on some other cases which were expected to come in for trial yesterday or to-day. The law is being enforced.

Locals Dull.

"Billie, are you out of copy?" was what was asked us on Monday by the editor, we answered "yes." "Write some then." So here goes. On Saturday afternoon as we were "chilling time" in the bus was out, we saw "Rat" and "Plato," two pet dogs, having a genuine "set-to" on their own hook. It seemed as if "Rat" got his back up about something and went up to "Plato" growling. Well, now if there is anything that "Plato" dislikes it is for "Rat" to be growling around him. So they went at it, minus the Queensbury rules, and it was catch-as-catch-can for a few minutes. They tugged and growled and growled and tugged, until it seemed as if they were going to make mince or sausage meat out of each other. At last along came their respective owners and decided the fight a draw much to the chagrin of "Rat," as every one knows, struts around on his dignity very much.

Military.

The Guard drilled Friday evening with the attendance somewhat increased over recent drills. One thing noticeable is that two-thirds of the attendance were young men from the country. We should think the members living in town could as well afford to leave their business for two hours, as can these young men leave their work on the farm and lose a half day in coming to town and attending the drills. However the non-attendance of the town members is more the fault of their employers than of the young men. Not allowing their clerks to have two hours twice each month to attend drills does not speak well for the interest the business men have in the company. Of course the military company is a greater protection to the citizens of the town than the people of the country, and it will prove a discouragement to the members from the country if the town does not take more interest in it.

The Revival.

The meeting in the Methodist church is still in progress and the past week has been the best yet. Scores of souls have found Christ precious to them and the number of conversions has been large. God's spirit has been abundantly poured out and there has been much rejoicing among Christians, causing Satan and his followers to tremble. On Sunday twenty five persons gave in their names for membership in the different churches and there are many more who will unite with the people of God. The good work goes right on. Mr. Leitch is preaching excellent sermons twice each day. He strikes squarely at sin and strips off its mask. He is plain, forcible, and his words tell. As the interest increases it seems that the singing of Mr. Marshall grows sweeter and more fervent. The Christians are earnestly at work and praying for the conversion of the people. The Lord's blessing will be sure to follow such faithful work. Hundreds of people here will bless the day that Messrs. Leitch and Marshall came to Greenville.

The latest out: "Eave droppers under water bucket." Billie heard about it. Lookout next week.
