Poetry.

NEVER GIVE UP. BY W. C. L.

Cares like a snow-cloak May hover around you; Joy be commingled With grief in your cup And trouble may rise, To afflict and distress you, Still keep a brave spirit And "never give up."

Friends may forsake, And your foes all assail you; Firmly stand to your post And "never give up."

Envious ones, too, they May try to betray you, And false ones deprive you Of your only support. And anger and malice Conspire to vex you, Still stand like a hero And "never give up."

There's poverty's hand May be heavy upon you, And bitter as wormwood The draught in the cup. And cold and scornful The world may look on you, Only stand to your purpose And "never give up."

When death, the grim monster, Himself may assail you, And health, strength and vigor Altogether may drop, And nothing on earth may Be found to avail you, Then look up to God And "never give up."

For He who is able And willing as ever, Himself hath destroyed All of death in thy cup, Hath presented Himself An "eternal life" giver To all who are faithful, And "never give up."

The Negro to go North.

Sanford Express. Rev. Ferrebee, a colored preacher of Raleigh, announces his intention of organizing an exodus of the negroes in the counties of Cumberland, Harnett, Moore and Richmond to go to the Northern States. The colored preachers in all these counties are to be made agents and to rally their race for the Mecca of the negro. It is a sensible move in theory but in practice it is the worst place in the country for the negro. The distribution of the negroes into the Northern States appears to us the best solution of the race question, but they will go among no people, who have made so great pretensions of friendship in their behalf and who have shown more prejudice against them, when they become embowed together. We hope the corn field negroes of the South will go in large numbers and make a fair and practical test of the friendship and undying love of such fellows as Hoar, Lodge, Chandler and Edmunds for them. This is the first move in the State to colonize the negroes in the North, and we trust that it may be successful. Let 'em go by the thousands and hundreds of thousands. That is where they belong according to the profession of Hoar. He wants to feed them on his native codfish.

Business Versus Politics.

Durham Globe. A High Point man appears to have been the original boycotter according to the new retaliation idea. Before the Atlanta Constitution made its remarkable break in the effort to scare Congress out of passing the Lodge force bill, the High Point man, who is a retail merchant, he thought himself of an order for goods that he had given to a Boston drummer. The more he thought the worse confounded became his ideas of Lodge, force bill, Boston, Massachusetts, Republican South-haters, Yankee goods, and so on; and to relieve his mind of its burden he wrote a polite note to the Boston house and countermanded his order, saying as his reason for doing so, that he could not get the consent of his mind to buy goods from a State that gives its support to such a man as Lodge.

The sequel was not just what might have been expected. The Boston firm did not become angry and give vent to their thoughts in explosive language. They took a philosophical view of the situation, and assuming that the High Point man was gifted with an ordinary amount of common sense, they wrote him a letter acknowledging the receipt of his countermand and signifying their acquiescence. They then proceeded to write in the following strain: "However, we want to say something about this matter, because it is not right that all the people of this section should be judged by the actions of one man, even though he is supposed to represent us. Mr. Lodge was elected as a liberal man in every way, a scholar and a gentleman, liberal on the tariff and on all points. But he no sooner got among those Washington politicians than he changed completely. Politics, the way they are run, and business have at the present time no connection whatever, and if there was no Congress, business interests would gain largely. The whole object of Congressmen is to get re-elected, get offices for their friends and get the next President, and if they think there is a chance to get another President out of the old 'bloody shirt,' they nail it to the mast and sail under that flag and wave it for all it is worth. Now, if you saw more of the Northern people you would find that this sort of thing is deprecated no less at the North than at the South. The people here in Boston who invited Mr. Grady here and entertained him so royally and appreciated him and the way he talked to us so highly, do not believe in the Lodge bill; they believe that all the people of this country are brothers, that we should treat one another as such and do all we can for the glory and prestige of our country.

"The South with her millions of ignorant colored people thrown into her hands as equals in a political sense, with rights which we do not accord here in Massachusetts (as no man can vote here who cannot read and write) has a problem to solve that would tax the power of any nation, but Northern men of sense do not think that the solution of the difficulty lies in a good many of the acts of Congress.

"The business men of this country want all this sectional strife stopped and want to be let alone by the politicians, among whom there are few statesmen. But we cannot, with all the evils of the situation, commend boycotting spirit manifested, because the interchange of commodities between the different sections is what makes the business of the country and whatever the politicians may say or do, we want goods from the South and West and they want the products of all other sections.

"Boston men have never been found wanting when any disaster in the South or any section of the country has called for aid, and you will find as warm-hearted, generous men here as there are in the world. Ask any Southern man that ever came here as representative of the South, either as an individual or with any organization, civil or military, whether he received a hearty welcome or whether he was ever better entertained than here. You do not know the better part of our State if you judge it by the utterances of Lodge or Hoar."

The concluding paragraph of the letter was an invitation to smoke some cigars (a la pipe-of-peace fashion) which they sent for the purpose, with the hope that though the present generation may not outlive the bitterness of the war, the next one will.

Stray Bits of Fun.

Baked Together by Bills for Those Who Love to Laugh. COMEDY OF AGES. ACT I. Merry Age. ACT II. Merry Age. ACT III. Marriage. ACT IV. Merry Age.

A SURE SIGN OF INSANITY. How does poor Rathbun get along at the asylum? I don't think there's much change in his condition. Does he still show signs of lunacy in his talk? Oh, yes, he frequently insists that you are the best friend he has!

JUST SO. A wistful wife, A sunny smile, A feather; A tiny talk, A pleasant walk, Together. A little doubt, A playful pout, Capricious; A merry bliss, A stolen kiss—Delicious. You ask mamma, Consult papa. "With pleasure;" Then both repeat The rash event, At leisure.

PAINFUL. Flossie (after the feast of melons)—Mamma, she said, pressing her hands wearily upon her stomach, my sash is just like a window sash, isn't it? In what way, dear? asked the mother, smilingly. Because it's around the pains, she replied demurely.

A LEGAL FEE. I have stolen a coat, said a man to a lawyer, and I want you to defend me. Think you can prove me innocent? Oh, yes, we can prove that you were a hundred miles away when the coat was stolen, and that the prosecution is malicious. How much will you charge? What sort of a coat is it? First rate—never been worn. Well I won't charge you anything—just give me the coat.

JULE SO FAIR. The old brown mule Lay down to cool Upon the grass, Close by the stool Where sat a lass, Our little Jule; Jule so fair, With golden hair. Now Jule, I like a feed, Thinking to ridicule The old brown mule, Played pool With a stool. As a rule, The stool Hit the mule. Jule so fair, With golden hair, Has climbed the golden stair. For the mule Kicked our Jule Clean off the stool—log. Jule's mule—dog. Golden stair, Beware! Sad and dreary, Weak and weary, Lone and silent, Now we wait. For our darling, "Bright-eyed starling," Kicked beyond the golden gate. Jule so fair, With golden hair.

AFRAID OF BEING PARTIAL. Indignant Customer—Look here! What do you call this? Proprietor (in alarm)—Not so loud please. Customer—You ought to be ashamed of— Proprietor (in a whisper)—Pray be quiet. That old gentleman at the side table might hear you. He has been coming here regularly for six months and never got a single thing thrown in with the regular dinner. It might make him feel slighted.

JOHNNY WAS POSTED ON MIRACLES. Little Johnny Jordan was a passenger on a suburban train. Besides him sat a tall, solemn-looking man with side whiskers. In front were Johnny's pa and ma, and behind him his aunt Hetty. The whole party had been to church, and the man sitting beside Johnny was the minister going out to spend the afternoon with the Jordanes. My little man, said the minister to Johnny, did you pay close attention to the sermon? Yes sir. Do you remember that I said something about miracles? Yes sir. Well Johnny, do you know what a miracle is? Yes sir. Tell me please. Well, all I know about it is ma said this morning that it would be a miracle if we could go to church once without havin' the minister taggin' home with us to dinner. So I guess this ain't no mir— Johnny Jordan! [from the front seat.] Will you come here this mornin'?

Lover's Debts and Credits.

They quarrelled. He wanted to know who would pay for the creams. She asked for his whole bill. She got it all paid it.

Boston Beacon. They had been to the circus, where they indulged in peanuts and lemonade. Then they went to have some ice cream. She was very tired, and managed to quarrel with him. How, is this the end? he asked. It is, and I shall never speak to you again.

And last Sunday you said that you loved me. I did then; I don't now. Well, who's to pay for all the ice cream? You horrid miser! You pay, and then you may send me a bill, and if I owe you a thing I'll pay up. He paid and left. The next day she received an itemized statement: MISS EVELYN JACKSON TO MESSRS. FAITHFUL BROWN, DR.

When he called she said: Come into the parlor, Moses and I'll pay you. A minute later she contracted new debts entered as sundries, and half an hour later they ate ice cream together and made plans for the future. No cars.

Interesting Comparative Statement.

Spartanburg (S. C.) Spartan. We have in South Carolina one inhabitant to every eighteen acres of land. The island of Jersey, about one twentieth the size of Spartanburg county, has an agricultural population and they have two inhabitants to the acre. The peasants of the island are thrifty and well-to-do. Their potato crop is worth two million dollars, or $300 for every acre in potatoes. They keep more than one cow to the acre and export large quantities of dairy products. They sell annually about 1,500 million cows, which give four to five gallons of milk daily. Small farms, properly cultivated, are capable of enormous yields. On the island of Jersey the agricultural products amount of $250 per acre.

The Dark and Bloody Ground.

A most remarkable condition exists in Perry county, Kentucky. In the first place there is not a church, a school house or a court house in the county, and there has been no court there for the last two years. Judge Lilly is endeavoring to hold a court in a big tent under guard of several companies of State troops. In his charge to the grand jury the judge announced that the county was over 70 years old and but one man had been convicted of murder in all that time and he remained only a short time in the penitentiary. Five hundred murders had been committed in the county and the killing was still going on. Some time ago a man was killed and a preacher from an adjoining county went across the line and offered prayer at his grave. For this his life was threatened by the faction that did the killing.

No one doubts that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy really cures Catarrh, whether the disease be recent or of long standing, because the makers of it clinch their faith in it with a $500 guarantee, which isn't a mere newspaper guarantee, but "on call" in a moment. That moment is when you prove that its makers can't cure you. The reason for their faith is this: Dr. Sage's remedy has proved itself the right cure for ninety-nine out of one hundred cases of Catarrh in the Head, and the World's Dispensary Medical Association can afford to take the risk of you being the one hundredth.

The only question is—are you willing to make the test, if the makers are willing to take the risk? If so, the rest is easy. You pay your druggist 50 cents and the trial begins. If you're wanting the $500 you'll get something better—a cure.

The Negro Question.

Rev. J. J. Hall, in The Voice. So much has been said and written of late upon this subject that one fears adding to the talk, as I am convinced much of it is only talk, made not to relieve the negroes from any oppression, but to gain votes. Living as I have been doing for the past two years with both races about me, and having watched matters closely, I frankly say that I could hardly tell there is any race question but for the newspapers and magazines.

I came South, not with any special prejudice against any party or race, as I was no politician, but with a keen sense of right and ready to see and judge for myself. I have had the negroes work for me, have been in their schools, and seen much of them. Have watched the voting on election days, and talked freely with them, and my conclusions, the result of observation, actual experience, and free conversation with both races in the South are:

1. That there is no race bitterness or hatred on the part of the white people towards the colored people in the South.

2. That the white people of the South cling more tenaciously to the negroes than do any other people upon the face of the earth.

3. That whatever wrongs, if there be any, are done the negroes of the South, they can and will be far more righteously settled by the Christian people of the South than by the politicians at Washington.

4. That the passage of Senator Butler's bill or one of a similar nature would be one of the best things that could happen for the South. The fact is there are too many colored people in the South, even for their own good. Their families are large—from eight to twenty children. They keep the rates of wages down, and away from the cities can often find employment. Most of the Southern States could well afford to have an annual exodus of from 50,000 to 100,000 colored persons for the next ten years. And even should the thing so much dreaded by many a Southern farmer be realized and colored help ever become scarce, it would not necessarily be an evil. If needed, there would be immigrants arriving by the thousands from the Old World, and many from New England, bringing money and intelligence with them.

5. Considering all things, perhaps it can hardly be wondered at, yet it is nevertheless a sad fact that very many of the colored race are untruthful, dishonest, without energy and given to drink. On the liquor question they frequently vote nearly solidly against Prohibition or even restriction. Thank God there are noble exceptions, brave men who are leading their people out from the terrible evil of drink. I am convinced that the real friend of the negro will give attention to his moral rather than to his political end. Help them to more and better schools, inculcate a love for work, independence and virtue, then the day will not be far distant when the question of wrong will be settled by themselves intelligently. Build them up in the strength of their manhood. Make them an industrious, sober and educated people, and then they will know their rights and how to maintain them. But to go to work in any other way will rob them of their manhood, will make them wards of the nation, and political dependents, and cause special and sectional legislation, so contrary to the principles of a true Republic, to say nothing of creating and perpetuating bitterness and strife between the North and the South.

6. I am convinced of the correctness of the recent editorials in The Voice upon this question. Either the negroes South are not treated badly or many of their supposed friends have no more than a political interest in them. Why send to England, Scotland, Ireland, Germany and Italy for laborers if there are tens of thousands in the South longing to get away from their oppressors? Why not come and take these men away? They surely would leave if treated badly here. They are happy and contented in their Southern homes. And many Northern politicians do not want them to leave the South because they desire to keep them solid, and have them vote a party ticket to increase Congressional and Senatorial for the party. Evidently the race question is not raised with a sense of justice for the negro, but for party purposes and political expediency.

7. The progress of many negroes in the South is marvellous. I recently attended the commencement at Shaw University (colored). First the Medical College; many of the best white families of the city were present. The Governor of the State and the Mayor of the city were on the platform. The next I attended was the Literary and Theological Schools. The examination in all of these studies was comprehensive and thorough. The marking stood very high. The orations and essays had evidently been prepared with great care, and were delivered very gracefully. In fact, the whole of the exercises would have been very creditable to any college, North or South. Let us consider that 25 years ago the ancestors of these graduates were in slavery—not even allowed to read a book. To-day the children of former slaves are pressing forward and succeeding in the study of the most abstruse and delicate of studies. Well did a certain D. D., remark that the colored people in the South are far superior to those he had when a boy. And what is being done at Shaw University for the colored race is being done in many other such institutions in the South. The money of the North has made it possible, and noble men and women South carry forward the good work. Here is where the true solution of whatever there may be to the race question is to be settled—in the South itself, and on the lines of education and religion rather than on the lines of politics and party expediency. And he who tries to keep the negroes in the South solid, politically, against the white people of the South, and that for political ends, is an enemy to both races, and should be so regarded both North and South.

Nothing but pensions in Boston.

New York Star. At the Fifth Avenue Hotel last night was a prominent Grand Army man who had just returned from Boston. He is, by way, an ardent Republican, and won his title of Major by bravery and other soldierly qualities in his four years' service, and he is not in any sense a sorehead, yet he was indignant and outspoken against the present pension tendencies of his order.

The most thoroughly ring-ridden institution in America to-day," he said, "is the Grand Army of the Republic, and it is getting worse every year. I have attended most of the National Encampments, but that at Boston was the worst. Every thing in it is ring-ridden, and the pension sharks, with Lemon at their head, weld the Kings they are all in, Lemon, Rann, Past Commander Rea and old Fairheld and Corporal Tanager, every one of them working for more pensions for the poor old soldier, out of which they get the generous percentages of the claim agent. Tanager was everywhere, and when he held up the golden prospects before the old soldier, his wife was doing missionary work among the woman's auxiliary. Tanager hasn't lost a bit of his old effluence, and his swagged inspired a Pennsylvania veteran doggetel, which ran something like this: "There was an old soldier named Tanager Who fought under the Star Spangled Banner. He was shot in the South, But brought back his mouth, And that's what's the matter with Tanager."

"Pensions were all that you could hear talked of by these 'leaders,' from Alger and Ben Butler to Tanager, and I can tell you there were a good many old soldiers who, like a yank, got very tired of it, and are eating more than every day of seeing the words 'G. A. R.' and 'old soldier' being brought into reproach."

Money in Kindness.

C. P. Goodrich, Jefferss Co., Wis. Great excitement will produce marked effects in the products of a cow. Some time ago I bought a seven-eight Jersey that had the reputation of giving remarkably rich milk. On the first day after getting her I bought one pound of butter. Two weeks later, when she had become well contented in the new home, eleven and a half pounds of milk gave the same quantity of butter. There has been but a slight variation in the daily quantity of milk. Two years ago a fine cow became terribly excited. The next day forty pounds of milk were needed for one pound of butter. Three days later, when she was perfectly quiet, fourteen pounds of milk produced the same result. All this means that the man who is kind and gentle with his cows and careful of their comfort, will get well paid for it, while the harsh, cruel man will find his profits small indeed. To bring the cows from pasture on a run with a dog at their heels is a costly operation in dollars and cents.

The St. Louis Medical Review wickedly perpetrates the subsequent: What is the difference between a cow and a baby? One drinks water and makes milk, the other—doesn't.

New York Letter.

THE GREAT RAILROAD STRIKE—A SEA FUNERAL—ITALIANS ORGANIZING (Regular Correspondent.) New York, Aug. 25, 1890.

The trouble between the N. Y. Central Railroad and Knights of Labor and the impending strike on the whole Vanderbilt system is by all odds the chief topic of interest at present in this city. We are much more concerned here than those at other points can be, because so many thousands of us depend directly or indirectly on commerce and transportation. No one who has seen the enormous amount of traffic in our streets, the endless processions of trucks, the mountains of merchandise piled on the sidewalks, can fail to understand that a freight blockade from here to Chicago and the West on the main railroad system is a great deal even to those of us who are neither on strike nor struck against. At this writing no further hostilities have actually taken place, and the strike is still confined to the Knights of Labor employed on the N. Y. Central. War has been declared, however, on the whole Vanderbilt system, and unless the company backs down very speedily the ax will fall and the fight will be on in earnest. The men declare it to be a fight for principle, and appeal to all workers to assist them financially.

OFF FOR SWEDEN.

The body of Capt. John Ericsson, the inventor of the first Monitor, who died in this city 18 months ago, was on Saturday ceremoniously taken aboard the U. S. Cruiser Baltimore, bound for Sweden. The preparations for the transfer have been in progress for a long time, and the Government, through the Navy Department, have given the utmost honor to the remains of the dead inventor. Secretary Tracy was present and personally led the fleet during the ceremonies. All the available vessels of the Navy in the North Atlantic took part, and as each passed the funeral ship the Swedish flag was hoisted to the fore and each fired a national salute of 21 guns. The remains were conveyed to the Baltimore by a tug and the coffin was hoisted over the guard rails and placed upon a catafalque tramped with the old flag of the Monitor and the colors of Sweden. About 5000 took part in the procession on land, and hundreds of thousands were spectators of the unusual ceremonies.

AGAIN THE SMALL BOY.

The Italian fruit vendors of this city, who sell their wares from a "push cart," have joined the innumerable through and formed an organization for the purpose of protecting its members generally, and from the prosecutions of the police and the attacks of the American small boy in particular. The grievance against policemen is that they help themselves to the Italians stock of peanuts or fruit and then perhaps turn "round and order the vendor to "move on." As to the small boy, it appears that a constant warfare has been waged looking to his extermination, but without success. He still thrives and continues to make life a burden to the luckless push cart vendor by numerous well-known methods, and hence the urgent necessity of the present move. This is the second society of a similar nature, the other being composed of men who own the stationary fruit stands on the corners. It is said there are 4000 of these stands in New York, the owners thereof making from $5 to $7 a day. Three-fourths of the fruit business in this country is carried on by Italians, some of whom are very wealthy.

Pitt County Democracy

MEET IN CONVENTION AND DO A GRAND DAY'S WORK.

Large, Harmonious and Enthusiastic Assemblage—Strong Ticket Nominated—The County Platform—Zeb Vance Endorsed.

The Democracy of Pitt county assembled in the Court House in this town, on Thursday of last week, for the purpose of making nominations for the Legislature and various county offices. The very large crowd gathered on the occasion indicated that more than usual interest was taken in the nominations this year. Besides the full attendance of delegates, there were hundreds of sterling Democrats from every section of the county whose deep interest in the party and the welfare of our country had brought them to town. When the Court House bell rang at 11:30 o'clock that spacious building was immediately filled with persons anxious to see the day's work begin.

CALL TO ORDER.

Precisely at 12 o'clock Alex L. Blow, Chairman of the county executive committee, let fall his gavel and at once there was a hush over the immense audience. Electioneering ceased and all eyes turned to the speaker's stand. In a few well chosen words he called the body to order, stated that the meeting had been called in accordance with the Democratic plan of organization, and after urging that their deliberations be harmonious and to the best interests of the party he called upon R. Williams, Jr., Secretary of the committee, to read the call for the convention and then proceeded to call the roll of delegates. When Greenville township was reached W. H. Harrington arose and made complaint as to the selection of the delegates from one precinct of this township. The Chairman stated that the convention was not yet organized and he must withhold his complaint for the Committee on Credentials when appointed.

When the roll call was completed Col. Harry Skinner offered the motion that the roll of townships be called and names handed in for committees on permanent organization, credentials and resolutions, one from each township to be on each committee. Carried.

The roll was called and the following names handed in: On permanent organization—Jesse L. Smith, E. A. Cherry, L. Maget, I. H. Little, N. T. Cox, E. C. Blount, T. L. Williams, J. R. Davis, Allen Warren, J. J. Nobles, W. L. Best. On credentials—T. A. Nichols, T. M. Manning, B. F. Shelton, J. R. Overton, W. B. Moore, A. A. Garris, M. Z. Moore, F. M. Whichard, H. Harding, J. Moore, F. M. Kilpatrick.

On resolutions—Amos Joyner, M. A. James, R. A. Parker, Alonzo Moore, J. J. Laughinghouse, A. G. Cox, John King, R. M. Starkey, H. Skinner, M. G. Holiday, J. B. Moore.

The committees were requested to retire and make their reports, all complaint about certain delegates being entitled to their seats left entirely in the hands of committee on credentials.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION.

The committee on permanent organization through its chairman E. C. Blount, recommended for permanent chairman Alex. L. Blow, for secretary R. Williams, Jr. Upon motion D. J. Whichard was requested to act as assistant secretary, any other representative also being requested to assist.

THE CREDENTIALS SETTLED.

The committee on credentials through its chairman, H. Harding, offered the following report which was adopted and entitled all sitting delegates to their seats:

W. your Committee on Credentials after considering the matter referred to them have decided to endorse the actions of the Township Convention held at this place on Saturday last to-wit: We accept the three delegates of each of the two factions as they were accepted by the aforesaid Township Committee.

Committee on resolutions asked permission to make their report at a later stage of the convention.

NOMINATIONS IN ORDER.

The chair then announced that he would hear nominations for the different offices in the following order: Senator, Legislators, Clerk, Sheriff, Register of Deeds, Treasurer, Coroner, Surveyor.

J. J. Nobles moved that nominating speeches be limited to 3 minutes. Harry Skinner objected saying he believed in freedom of speech. He made a record in this matter before the recent State Convention at Raleigh, and again entered his protest against closing the mouth of any man who wished to lay the claims of a friend before the convention. Motion lost by a vote of 83 to 21.

The chair announced the convention ready to hear nominations.

FOR SENATOR.

There was a lull and silence a few moments, which seemed longer than it really was because all were looking around in eager expectation for the first man to rise, some looking as though they expected to see them pop up all over the room.

J. Bryan Grimes was the first to arise and address the chair. He made the prettiest nominating speech of the day. He spoke of the importance of the times around us, touching upon certain legislation that is now needed, mentioning specially a railroad commission and agricultural relief, said we needed brave men, who were fearless and bold, to go to our legislative halls and meet the requirements of the hour. He nominated J. J. Laughinghouse, at the mention of whose name there was applause throughout the hall.

Henry Harding arose and said he wished to nominate a man who had a record before the people, a man who time and again had served them faithfully and whose honesty and integrity was known to every one. He presented the name of Willis R. Williams, whose name brought forth another round of applause.

At this stage Mr. Laughinghouse arose and said that while he very much appreciated the kind words said by the gentleman placing him in nomination and the compliment paid him, he had no political aspirations whatever and his home interests were such that he could not possibly accept the nomination if it was tendered him.

J. Bryan Grimes again arose and said by request he placed the name of R. R. Cotten in nomination.

A ballot was taken resulting as follows: Laughinghouse 46, Williams 54, Cotten 4. It requiring 53 for a choice, the chair declared Willis R. Williams the nominee of the convention.

It is due to Mr. Cotten to state here that he was not a candidate and had no idea his name would be placed before the convention, so the vote was by no means a test of his strength. It seems that the intention of some of Mr. Laughinghouse's supporters was in case he withdrew to throw his strength to Mr. Cotten, but this was not generally understood hence only a few voted for him.]

FOR REPRESENTATIVES.

Nominations for members of the House were declared in order J. H. Barnhill nominated the old veteran, M. C. S. Cherry. E. C. Blount nominated W. R. Whichard, but some one stated the health of that gentleman was such he could not accept and it would be useless to vote for him.

J. W. Page nominated J. H. Woolard.

E. O. McGowan nominated Harry Skinner.

H. Harding nominated G. B. King.

J. R. Congleton nominated J. D. Cox.

Job Moore nominated W. S. Wooten.

Some of these nominating speeches and the seconds were good, but they were too many to be mentioned in detail. Dr. W. H. Bagwell moved that delegates vote for one candidate at a time. Lost by a vote of 32 to 72.

The first ballot for the nomination resulted as follows: Cherry 44, Whichard 1, Woolard 7, Skinner 55, King 47, Wooten 9, Cox 44. Harry Skinner being the only one to receive a majority of the votes was declared as one of the nominees.

J. H. Smith moved that as G. B. King received the next highest vote the rules be suspended and he be nominated by acclamation. Motion lost.

The chair ordered the roll of townships called for the second ballot the result being: Cherry 21, Woolard 1, King 25, Cox 55, whereupon J. D. Cox was declared the other nominee.

FOR SUPERIOR COURT CLERK.

Rev. J. T. Phillips in a handsome speech presented the name of E. A. Moye, the present incumbent, for this office. Mr. Moye was unanimously nominated by acclamation amid prolonged applause.

FOR SHERIFF.

For this office A. G. Cox arose and presented the name of J. A. K. Tucker, the present incumbent, making an excellent speech for his man. The mention of his name received loud applause and he was unanimously nominated by acclamation.

FOR REGISTER OF DEEDS.

For this office there were a number of aspirants and the contest over it was longer than any other. J. H. Barnhill nominated D. H. James.

J. B. Grimes by request nominated L. B. Mewborn.

Rev. J. T. Phillips nominated J. E. Tyler.

J. J. Laughinghouse by request nominated C. D. Rountree.

Fred Harding by request nominated L. W. Lawrence.

W. H. Smith nominated J. L. Smith.

Dr. C. J. O'Hagan nominated B. C. Pearce.

J. D. Buck nominated Godfrey Johnson.

H. Skinner nominated Noah Forbes, Jr.

C. Dawson nominated E. C. Blount.

Maj. Harding arose and seconded all the nominations, making a speech in which he mentioned every candidate.

Four ballots were taken without a result.

1st. Ballot: James 44, Mewborn 9, Tyler 20, Rountree 3, Lawrence 1, Smith 1, Pearce 2, Johnson 6, Forbes 9, Blount 9.

2nd. Ballot: James 49, Mewborn 5, Tyler 23, Rountree 3, Forbes 10, Blount 14.

3rd. Ballot: James 51, Tyler 25, Rountree 2, Pearce 2, Blount 15, Forbes 8.

4th. Ballot: James 51, Tyler 32, Blount 14, Forbes 4, Rountree 1, Pearce 2.

At this stage T. A. Nichols arose and said there was a man he wished to place in nomination for the office. He made a very neat speech for the man in his mind and was about to take his seat when cries of "Who's your man?" "Name him!" came from the delegates. It occurred to him that he had not called his man and he presented the name of J. W. Smith.

The name E. C. Blount was here withdrawn.

5th. Ballot: James 57, Tyler 37, Forbes 7, Rountree 1, J. W. Smith, 2.

D. H. James having the majority was declared the nominee.

RESOLUTIONS.

At this point J. J. Laughinghouse moved that the rules be suspended and the committee on resolutions allowed to make their report, the remaining nominations to be made afterward, motion carried.

J. J. Laughinghouse, chairman of the committee offered the following:

1. We endorse the course of Hon. Z. Vance as our representative in the U. S. Senate, and instruct our representatives in the next General Assembly to vote for his re-election to the Senate of the United States, and as he has declared himself in favor of the principles of the sub-Treasury bill, we request him to formulate a bill to carry out this or some similar measure of agricultural right and relief.

2. We favor a Railroad Commission.

3. WHEREAS the enormous expense to litigants and others having business to transact in the Court House has become a grievous burden to the public, and whereas the extraordinary emoluments arising from these fees in addition to the great cost incurred in litigation and other public business transacted in said Court House has bred up a crowd of office seekers and others who expect large pay for small work and with a view to lessen these burdens and evils, be it

Resolved, That our representatives are hereby instructed to use their efforts to pass a bill through the next Legislature reducing the fees in our Clerk's and Register of Deeds' offices 33 1/3 per cent less than they now are, and thereby relieve the public from a burden which has become oppressive.

Capt. John King said objections could be raised to the first clause of the resolution, and he offered the following as a substitute for that clause:

The Democratic party of Pitt county in Convention assembled, taking pride in the honorable record of that pure statesman, noble patriot and eminent North Carolinian, the Honorable Z. B. Vance, do in the Congressional Convention that nominated Mr. Branch not a word was said about the bill; in the State Convention it was not mentioned, and he saw no reason why a County Convention of Pitt county should raise the question; better drop the matter and let Zeb Vance go back to the U. S. Senate without any instructions whatever in the matter.

Dr. O'Hagan spoke upon the subject. He was opposed to that clause of the resolution touching upon the sub-Treasury and advocated the substitute. He said Zeb Vance should not go back to the Senate with his hands tied; he should not be instructed to support a measure that was unconstitutional. The people had always trusted Zeb Vance and he had proved the best friend they ever had; they could well afford to trust him again, for he would do more for them than any other man in North Carolina. He was in full sympathy with the oppressed people and would do his best to bring about measures of relief for them.

Mr. Laughinghouse insisted that there was no trace of instruction in the resolution as offered. It was well known that Senator Vance favored the principles advocated in the sub-Treasury bill, and this resolution was merely a request for him to advocate some similar measure that would bring about the relief sought for.

Col. Skinner took sides with the resolution as offered. Said there was no instructions in it for Senator Vance to support the sub-Treasury bill, and if there had been he would be for its adoption. For two years he had advocated measures similar to this and he was willing to rise or fall fighting for it. He was a Vance man and would support him, and saw no harm in making such a request of him as embodied in the resolution.

R. W. King moved to table the resolutions and substitute. Motion lost by a vote of 28 to 74.

A vote was then taken on the substitute which was lost, 6 yeas, 68 nays.

The resolution as offered by the committee was adopted, yeas 103, nays 1.

Nominations were resumed.

FOR CORNER.

Rev. J. T. Phillips nominated H. B. Harris.

F. Harding by request nominated H. F. Keel.

J. B. Grimes by request nominated E. P. Daniel.

H. Harding by request nominated Dr. W. E. Warren.

E. Skinner by request nominated Nashville Edwards.

Ballot: Harris 13, Keel 54, Daniel 4, Warren 28, Edwards 4.

H. F. Keel declared the nominee of the convention.

FOR SURVEYOR.

F. C. Martin presented the name of J. S. L. Ward, present incumbent. The rules were suspended and Ward nominated by acclamation.

The chair appointed Job Moore, J. B. Congleton and J. R. Johnson a committee to wait upon the nominees and inform them of the action of the convention.

J. Bryan Grimes moved that speeches of acceptance be limited to 3 minutes. Carried.

The several candidates came forward and gracefully accepted the nominations tendered them, and the convention adjourned after an enthusiastic and harmonious session.

Already so much space has been taken up in reporting the proceedings that the REFLECTOR can make no special mention of the speeches by the candidates. Next week we will give a sketch of the men nominated.

To-day the Congressional Convention of the Second District convenes at Kingston. The REFLECTOR hopes the nomination will fall upon Hon. E. M. Simmons, of New-Berne. It is our belief that he is the strongest man in the District and that he can again win it over to Democracy.

The Goldsboro Argus has had a very neat compliment paid it by a manufacturing company of that city which has been incorporated under the name of "Argus Knitting Mills." The Argus is always vigilant and awake to the best interests of Goldsboro, and lets no opportunity to work for the city pass unheeded. The compliment was well deserved.

A new one has come out on the Jamesville & Washington railroad or Jolter & Wigler as it has more recently been styled. The schedule time for leaving Washington is 5 a. m., and they now tell it that persons who dislike to get up so early let the train go on and after quietly finishing their morning nap and breakfasting take a vehicle and easily overtake the train a few miles out of town.

The Picnic Unauthorized.

IS ANY IT! I MEAN IT! I CAN PROVE IT! PRATT'S REVOLVING HEAD COTTON GIN IS THE BEST GIN IN THE SOUTH.

WHY IS IT THE BEST COTTON GIN IN THE SOUTH?—Because it is built upon improved principles, having Revolving Heads in the ends of the Cotton Box, which revolve with the roll of seed cotton, thus preventing that friction which occurs at the end of the cotton box in all other gins. Hence the PRATT GIN does not break nor choke, carries a heavier roll of seed cotton than the saw than other gins, and, in consequence of this, cleans the seed better, and, of course, yields more lint cotton. This is common sense, and if you don't believe what we say, write to any of the gentlemen whose names and postoffice appear below, all of whom are using the Pratt Gin and will have no other.

Ninth month. Murrah for the whole ticket! Soon be time for chinquepins. Beautiful nights the past week. Will there be any years this fall? High water in the river last week. The firemen were out Monday. The street force are at work this week. Longer and cooler the nights are getting. Five Mondays and five Tuesdays in this month. Superior Court for this county week after next. Convention over—now to work for the nominees. The rain last Friday caught a few stacks of fodder down. Steamer Beaufort is done running to Ocracoke for the season. Heavy rain Thursday night and Friday. It was not needed. The Wilson tobacco warehouse will open with a big break on the 10th. Big lot of new subscribers added to our list last week. Room for more. What kind of cotton bagging will be used this season by the farmers? Several people from town went to the Union meeting at Pactolus Sunday. The schools have opened and the boys—most of them—are off the streets. Delinquents should remember a man feels awfully lonesome with an empty purse. Several cases of typhoid fever reported from the country. The town is very healthy. Greenville ought to issue bonds for street improvements, electric lights and water works. It is your duty to keep informed on matters pertaining to the campaign. Take the REFLECTOR. The prettiest sample of tobacco placed in the REFLECTOR window was brought by Mr. C. D. Rountree last Friday. Shareholders in the Building and Loan Association are requested to pay their dues at once. Come to the Secretary's office.

If a stock company would form and build a first-class hotel in Greenville they could make good returns on the investment.

Quite a number of bales of new cotton were brought to Greenville Saturday. Several of them came in from Greene county.

Greenville Female Institute had a fine opening Monday, about 50 pupils. Several boarders came in from this and adjoining counties.

A young man named Buck, from Chieoc, told us Thursday he had a last year's cotton stalk that sprouted and now has 45 large bolls on it.

The premium list of the Edenton fair has been received. The dates are Oct. 28th to 31st. Three thousand dollars worth of premiums offered.

Our friends could help us in extending the circulation of the REFLECTOR. During the campaign it ought to be in the home of every intelligent voter in the county.

It is predicted the fall will be early this year. If to be true farmers should keep their tobacco curing going forward as rapidly as possible so as to be done before frost.

One of the largest beets on record was brought us Monday Mr. by J. R. Congleton, of Carolina. It weighed exactly 10 pounds and is almost as large around as a peck measure.

Messrs. Cox & Carroll have completed their contract for placing the seats in the Baptist Church and the pews are now all in position. They are beautiful and speak well for Pitt county enterprise.

Monday was a busy day—all the schools opening. County Commissioners in session, meeting of the Board of Health, and meeting of the Board of Education. More people were in town than usual on first Mondays.

The board of managers of the N. C. Christian Missionary Conference held a business meeting here last Wednesday at the home of Mr. E. A. Mays, President of the Board. The other members present were Messrs. F. Ward and L. A. Mayo, of this county, and Rev. H. C. Bowen and Mr. W. C. Williams of Martin.

Greenville would be a most desirable location for some land improvement company to begin operation. There are places West and South of the corporation that offer beautiful sites for dwellings, or the most practical ones for any kind of manufacturing plants. Who will avail themselves of the splendid advantages here offered? There is money in it.

The Male Academy in charge of Prof. W. J. Matthews opened Monday with 22 pupils and a bright prospect for a large attendance during the session. As the repairing of the Academy building was not completed in time the school is being taught in the Court House this week. By next week the building will be done. A number of new scholars will come in next Monday.

Business this fall will be brisk and mercantile centres are preparing for a large trade. We trust the business men will not become so absorbed in their individual interests as to forget that this season offers a most opportune time to take steps that will advance Greenville's material prosperity. The opportunities surrounding us should be embraced ere they pass beyond reach.

On Thursday night last and again on Sunday night Rev. Dr. J. D. Hurling of Scotland Neck preached to large congregations in the Baptist Church here. He was en route to and from the Union meeting at Pactolus. There is no minister more beloved by the people of Greenville than Dr. Hurling, and they always rejoice at an opportunity of hearing him. His sermon Sunday night on "the crown that fadeeth not away" was an inspiring one.

Greenville is destined to become the sanitarium of Eastern North Carolina. Not long since the discovery of a well on the premises of Greenville Institute that contained high medicinal qualities attracted no small attention. Since then water from a well on the premises of Mr. H. A. Sutton has been sent to the State Experiment Station and the analysis shows it is highly medicinal. Dr. O'Hagan says the wells have very much the same water.

On Monday a petition from the citizens of Greenville township living on the North side of the river was presented to the Board of County Commissioners asking that the voting precinct on that side of the river known as Parker's X Roads precinct be discontinued, and that all voters of Greenville township residing on that side of the river shall hereafter register and vote in the town of Greenville. The Board granted the petition and passed an order to that effect which is published elsewhere.

Smith and Mayo also of this county for 7 1/2, 6.20, 16.25, 27 1/2, 40.40, 28, 47 and 55.

These are fine prices who says that these gentlemen are exerting themselves to get for their patrons "top of the market" prices and that the Banner is the place to sell. See their large new advertisement to-day.

Suicide at Tarboro. The people of our neighbor town, Tarboro, were thrown into much excitement on Tuesday morning, of last week, over the disappearance of Mr. Frank Bond, an aged and esteemed citizen of that town. He was 71 years old and some of his intimate friends thought his mind was weakening. Monday night he was restless and his wife asked him to take something to make him sleep. A time or so during the night she was up giving him the medicine. About 3 o'clock she missed him from his room but all his clothing were near the bed just as when he retired. She became uneasy and began searching for him and about day some of the neighbors were called up to help in the search. No trace of the missing man could be found and it was feared that he had in some way taken his life. During the morning a watchman near the river said that about 3 o'clock he had heard a splash in the water that sounded like a plank falling from the bridge. Search continued all Tuesday and on Wednesday cannon were fired on the river bank, hoping to make the body rise if it should be in the river. The captains of the steamers were notified by telegram and letter to keep a lookout along the river for the body. No trace of the body was found until Friday. On the morning of that day as the steamer Myres was coming on her trip up the river, the Mate, Mr. George Doughty, who at the time was acting as Captain of the steamer, saw a body lodged in a raft near Boyd's Ferry, about 10 miles this side of Washington. He took the body on board and it was found to be the body of Mr. Bond. The only clothing on the body was a night shirt, and that was drawn above the head and had a handkerchief tied around it which formed a stock over the head. When the steamer reached Greenville Mr. Doughty telegraphed to relatives in Tarboro that he had found the body and had it on board. The body had drifted over 40 miles down the river. This was a sad ending of a useful life. Mr. Bond had relatives in Greenville.

New Advertisements. See notice of County Superintendent of Education to the public School teachers.

W. L. Johnson, Administrator of John A. Moore, has an advertisement in this paper.

New advertisements continue to come in. Shows the popularity of the REFLECTOR. The paper is read, and advertisers know it.

V. L. Stephens has a new advertisement to-day that you need not read, unless you want to. The information it contains is only interesting to those who want nice fruits, confections and light groceries or are hunting for the best smoke in town.

M. Congleton & Co. are receiving new goods. Their advertisement will inform you that they carry a nice line that can be sold at prices in reach of everybody. They are also in the cotton market this season and will pay highest prices for the staple.

D. D. Haskett & Co. have the very stove that will suit you and want you to know it hence your attention is directed to their new advertisement to-day. The best cooking and heating stoves and fixtures all kinds, hardware, doors, sash, paints, oils, etc., are kept on hand.

J. O. Proctor & Bro., of Grimesland, have an advertisement in the REFLECTOR to-day. One of their firm is just back from the Northern markets and purchased the largest stock of goods ever carried to their place. These gentlemen are reliable dealers, carry a nice stock of general merchandise, pay the highest prices for cotton and solicit your patronage.

Brown & Hooker tell our readers to-day that there is a limit below which honest goods cannot be sold. In this they speak well. If a firm tells you they will give you goods at less than cost their is no truth in the assertion, but if they offer you honest goods at honest prices they are worthy your confidence. Brown & Hooker have a superb stock, and can save you money by fair dealings.

Something you may look out for next week is a big new advertisement from J. B. Cherry & Co. They have just bought a tremendous stock of fall and winter goods which are coming in every day, and what they tell next week will be of interest to every man, woman and child in the county. There are no more reliable merchants to be found than they and no firm carries a stock of higher grade.

Attention is called to the advertisement of J. J. Burgess with R. A. Dobbie & Co., commission merchants of Norfolk, which will be found in this paper. Mr. Burgess will make Greenville his headquarters during the coming season, and wants to see those having cotton, grain, peanuts and country produce to ship. He is out of town for a few days but will be back in Greenville by September Court.

An item of special interest to the ladies will be found to-day in the advertisement of Higgs Sisters. These ladies have opened a mammoth stock of stylish millinery and ladies' furnishing goods and have leading styles at bottom prices. Miss Burnette, their milliner from Baltimore, has arrived. She is known to the people of Greenville, has had large experience, and is one of the best milliners in the South.

A good newspaper is a desideratum in every well regulated household. It will not exactly do the week's washing, nor chop kindling-wood, but it will sweeten the temper, make heavy burdens seem light, increase the pleasures of wedded life, and make the baby crawl in its cradle. Try it—La Grange Spectator.
