While a large number of patriotic North Carolinians rendered valuable aid and most excellent service in the glorious cause of Democracy during the recent campaign we think that very great credit should be given to that ardent leader and admirable manager and astute politician and sterling patriot—the keen sighted and level headed and very sagacious E. C. Smith, the most excellent Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of the State.

THE CITY ELECTION—THE NATIONAL HORSE SHOW—A GRAND FAIR FOR TEACHERS.

New York, Oct. 4th, 1890.
The attention of the public the past week has been, of course, centered on the election, and the subject of municipal politics has overshadowed everything else.

The Madison Square Garden is undergoing a great transformation now on account of the exhibition of the National Horse Association, which begins Nov. 10th.

Mr. Geo. L. Tomoffsky of Raleigh, claiming to be an official of the K. of L. made a speech also.

There has been a young man from Kingston a part of the past week boarding with Police King of this place.

Prof. James is winning golden opinions as a working progressive teacher, his energy and pluck will place him in the front rank among educators.

Two children of the G. O. P. and family of Boss Reed & Co., spoke here on Saturday Nov. 1st.

The concert at the Academy on Friday night was grand success.

Mr. E. C. Biddingsfield secretary of the N. C. State Alliance spoke here on Thursday 30th ult.

When the Republican majority in Congress is finishing its work of appropriating the surplus in the United States Treasury, this winter.

Let the fact be remembered by his credit, that in none of the campaign speeches he made did Mr. Blaine say one word in favor of the outrageous Force bill.

A friend inquired me to try Salvation Oil for my rheumatic foot.

At Johnsville, New York, one night last week a farmer, before retiring, put $500 in the stove oven for safety.

Scraps from Grifton.

Some Results.

New Hampshire—Democratic on popular vote. Democrats gain Governor, both Congressmen and elect the legislature, securing a Democratic Senator in place of Blair.

Massachusetts—Democratic on popular vote, gain both Congressmen.

Rhode Island—Democratic on popular vote, gain both Congressmen.

Connecticut—Democratic on popular vote, gain two Congressmen.

New York—Gain five Congressmen, and the legislature, securing a U. S. Senator in place of Ervins.

New Jersey—Gain two Congressmen.

Pennsylvania—Democratic Governor and gain three Congressmen.

Ohio—Gain nine Congressmen and beat McKinley and Foster.

Illinois—Gain five Congressmen, elect legislature, which secures a Democratic successor to Senator Farwell.

Indiana—Gain one Congressman.

Michigan—Gain Governor and six Congressmen.

Wisconsin—Elected Peck governor, four Congressmen, and a legislator, securing Vilas as successor to Senator Spooner.

Minnesota—Gain Governor and four Congressmen.

Iowa—Elected Democratic Governor and gain four Congressmen.

Kansas—Farmer's Alliance elect Governor, gain six opposition Congressmen and legislature which will elect some good man successor to Ingalls.

Nebraska—Gain Governor and two Congressmen.

In South Dakota the Farmer's Alliance have the legislature, which elects a successor to Senator Moody.

In Colorado the Democrats claim the legislature, which elects a successor to Senator Teller.

Our count makes the House stand 96 Republicans, Democrats, including the Farmer's Alliance, 235. One vacancy in Rhode Island, where the election did not count.

The Republicans lose seven United States Senators apparently, with California yet to hear from.

Ingersol on Alcohol.

A scholarly arraignment of King Alcohol.

Col. B. G. Ingersol, in speaking to a jury in a case which involved the manufacture of alcohol, used the following eloquent language:

"I am aware that there is prejudice against any man engaged in the manufacture of alcohol. I believe that from the time it issues from the coiled and poisonous worm in the distillery until it empties into the hell of death, dishonor and crime, that it demoralizes every body that touches it from its source to its end. I do not believe that anybody can contemplate the object without prejudice against the liquor crime.

All we have to do, gentlemen, is to think of the wrecks on either bank of the stream of death, of the suicides, of the insanity, of the ignorance, of the destitution, of the little children tugging at the faded and withered breast of weeping and despairing mothers, of wives asking for bread, of men of genius that it has wrecked, the men struggling with imaginary serpents, produced by this devilish thing; and when you think of the jails, of the almshouses, of the asylums, of either bank, I do not wonder that every thoughtful man is prejudiced against this damned stuff that is called alcohol.

Intemperance cuts down youth in its vigor, manhood in its strength and age in its weakness. It breaks the father's heart, busies the doctor's mother, extinguishes natural affections, causes conjugal love, blots out filial attachment, blights parental hope, and brings down mourning age in sorrow to the grave. It produces weakness, not strength; sickness, not health; death, not life. It makes wives widows, children orphans, fathers fiends, and all of them puffers and beggars. It leads rheumatism, nervous gout, welcomes epidemics, invites cholera, imports pestilence and embraces consumption. It covers the land with idleness, misery and crime. It fills our jails, supplies your almshouses and your asylums. It engenders controversy, fosters quarrels and cherishes riots. It crowds the penitentiaries and furnishes victims to your scaffolds. It is the life-blood of the gambler, the element of the burglar, the prop of the highwayman, and the support of the midnight incendiary. It countenances the liar, respects the thief, esteems the blasphemer. It violates obligations, reverences fraud and honors infamy. It detames benevolence, hates lower, scorned virtue, and slanders innocents. It makes the father to butcher his helpless offspring, helps the husband to massacre his wife, and the child to grind the parental axe. It burns up men, consumes women, detests life, curses God and despises heaven. It suborns witnesses, nurses perjury which defiles the jury box and stains the judicial ermine. It degrades the citizen, debases the legislator, dishonors the statesman and disarms the patriot. It brings shame not honor; terror, not safety; despair, not hope; misery, not happiness; and it with the malevolence of a fiend it calmly surveys its frightful desolation and unsatisfied with havoc, it poisons felicity, kills peace, ruins morals, blights confidence, slays reputation, and wipes out national honor, then curses the world and laughs at its ruin. It does all that and more—it murders the soul. It is the sum of all villainies, the father of all crimes, the mother of abominations, the devil's best friend and God's worst enemy."

Reciting Scripture.
A Windsor Looks little girl, just old enough to enter the infant class at the Sunday school, was ambitious to repeat a text of Scripture as the older ones did at the concert exercises.

Humor her ambition and make it reasonably certain that she would succeed the mother selected the brief text, "It is lawful to do good on the Sabbath day," and taught her until she rehearsed it several times correctly. When the moment arrived, however, the little orator electrified her audience and mortified her mother with the proposition that "It is lawful to do good on the Sabbath day."

Frost Proof Cement.
An Australian engineer has tried the effect of adding crystallized soda to Portland cement mortar and exposing the same to the action of frost. The specimens were afterward placed in a hot oven, where they remained for three hours. At the end of this time it was found the extreme cold had had no disadvantageous effect on the setting of the specimens.

Buck Kilgore's Story.

Washington Post.
"When I was returning home upon a furlough during the latter part of the war," said Congressman Buck Kilgore, of Texas, "I pulled up at a little cabin on the roadside in Louisiana about night. The sole occupant of the cabin was one woman. She refused to let me remain during the night or to give me anything to eat. I had one gold dollar in my pocket which I offered to pay her for a chicken which had just been cooked and was smoking on the table. She refused to sell the chicken at any price, but she was willing to wager the chicken against the dollar that she could beat me jumping. I to make the first jump, starting from the log door step.

"I took a survey of the very short woman who had bantered me for a trial of my activity, and then surveyed myself. I was a long-legged cuss, and I put the dollar on the table by the chicken. I then took a position on the door-step, swung my hands to and fro, pluming for my flight through the air. Then I lit out for the tallest jump on record. By the time I hit the ground and turned to see the woman follow she had shut the door and fastened it on the inside. The only thing I could see was the muzzle of a double-barrel shot-gun supplemented by a firm female voice admonishing me to move out and to move quickly. I moved. There was something about that voice and that gun which inspired me with the idea that it would be unhealthy for me to linger there longer."

At Johnsville, New York, one night last week a farmer, before retiring, put $500 in the stove oven for safety. The next morning his wife made the fire, instead of himself, and most of the money was burned.

A Safe Hobby.

A hobby is apt to be an expensive hobby. It sometimes costs piles of money to groom and run it, and it seldom wins purses and cups enough to pay for its keep and entrance fees. Nevertheless as a man, in the absence of some special object to engage his thoughts, is almost sure to get into mischief, it is better for him to push ahead on any sort of a hobby that is not vicious than to lounge through life in a slipshod, desultory way, without definite aim or purpose. No matter what other praiseworthy hobbies a man may have, he should make conscience the prime favorite of his moral stud. That is a hobby that is almost safe. Give it the rein freely, never curb it or check it, go with it in whatsoever direction its divine instinct would guide you, and over every "hill of difficulty," through every "slough of despond," it shall take you safely to the "narrow house"—which shall seem to be as the "House Beautiful"—at your journey's end.—New York Ledger.

Noiseless Bucket.
A recent patent, which has many points in its favor, is a noiseless bucket. This bucket is fitted with India rubber feet, eyelets and handle guards, and thus all noise in handling is obviated. The eyelets are made somewhat larger in the bucket arms than usual, so that the rubber feet, when put in, and the handle works freely in the rubber. The fitting up of the bucket can be done in two or three minutes. By this arrangement no ring marks are left on carpet or tile, and the wear and tear of the bucket is reduced to a minimum.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Saltpeper in the Soil.
Capt. Douglas Galton, one of the first living authorities on sanitary subjects, lecturing before the Royal engineers, says: "The soil in many cities and villages is loaded with nitre and salt, the chemical results of animal and vegetable refuse left to decay, from the presence of which the well water is impure. There are many factories of saltpeper in India derived from this source, and during the great French wars, when England blockaded all the seaports of Europe, the first Napoleon obtained saltpeper for gunpowder from the cesspits of Paris." The almost universal modes of village life mean the presence of large and increasing masses of putrifying matter in the soil, a condition which in India is the origin of cholera or the terrible Delhi ulcer, and in our own climate is responsible for at least one-third of the death rate.—New York Herald.

How does it look now for "Grandfather's Hat"? Blue!

McGinty has been found and it is McKinley who is down now.

After the storm comes a calm. A storm struck the Republican party of the whole country last week and now the g. o. p. is composed of the calmest looking set you want to behold.

If the families of defeated Republican candidates do not want to read what Democratic papers have to say in giving their readers the news they should not borrow and read said papers.

Messrs. Hatch, of Missouri, Springer, of Illinois, Bynum, of Indiana, Crisp, of Georgia, and Mills, of Texas, are so far announced as candidates for the Speakership of the next House of Representatives.

The REFLECTOR hopes that Crisp will be elected Speaker.

Yesterday at Durham the corner stone of the main building for Trinity College was laid with imposing ceremonies. Our distinguished townsman ex-Gov. Jarvis, was present and delivered the educational address. The REFLECTOR received an invitation to attend the exercises.

President Harrison has appointed Thursday, the 27th day of this month, to be observed as a day of prayer and thanksgiving. His proclamation is rather a tame one. Perhaps he does not feel so much like giving thanks since his administration has met with such a stinging rebuke at the ballot box.

Some men, thirsting for political honors, are not satisfied to await the time when their own party will reward them for their service, but turn to the other party just on the decline of that party, and are thus forever debared from any political honors. We wonder how a man feels under such circumstances.

Election news was good news all around. Even President Harrison was moved to issue a Thanksgiving proclamation. He may not include Democratic success in his list of benefactions, but the country will be grateful for it, all the same.—Philadelphia Record.

Really the President was so late in making his proclamation that we had begun to think he was going to proclaim a day for fasting and prayer for the Republican party.

The Wilmington Daily Review gets there every time. On Thursday evening as we tore open the wrapper we found spring chickens, game chickens, old and young chickens, all roosters, crowing for dear life, cannons belching forth their peals of rejoicing, one rooster chasing off another from the field, a very sick chicken, and several tombstones to mark the last resting place of the Republican party, all announcing that New Hanover county had redeemed herself, had covered herself all over with glory, and that the Republican party, was first, last and all the time, dead. The Review stands in the front rank of evening dailies in our State and always keeps abreast of the times. Although New Hanover gave a small majority, she got there just the same. Now, Bro. James and Assistant Hewlett, if you should want a few more votes to increase your majority, why just send up to old Pitt, she's got 'em and can spare.

The REFLECTOR is not a great hand for making nominations for office, but we have one to suggest now, than which a better could not be made in all North Carolina. We rise to nominate Col. Harry Skinner, of Pitt county, as speaker of the House of Representatives at the next General Assembly. There will be no more brilliant man in the Legislature than Col. Skinner. He is a quick thinker, an able speaker, a good parliamentarian, thoroughly posted in State and National affairs, a staunch friend of the farmer and a sympathizer with the laboring class. Give us Harry Skinner for Speaker.

While others are receiving thanks for the work they performed during the campaign, Mr. Alex. L. Blow, Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Pitt county, should not be overlooked. He is an indefatigable worker and Pitt county's success is due in a great measure to his efforts. He is ever vigilant and watchful of the party's interest, and is the best manager the county has ever had. The REFLECTOR believes no county in the State has a chairman superior to him. Mr. Blow is well qualified to fill the position as chairman of the State Committee and we yet expect to see him there. His record is an honorable one and he is deserving of praise.

Dialogues.

No. 1. Democrat to Mr. McKinley—"Major, they tell me your bill has increased the price of everything."

No. 2. LADY (whose husband was a candidate and came out defeated)—"Aunt Hannah, can you catch that old sick rooster out in the yard?"

No. 3. Son of an old Union Soldier to Mr. McKinley—"What is all this about Major? I hear you are going to leave."

Mr. McKinley—"Yes, I am going to England to live. I spent nearly all my money trying to buy my election, and as I was not elected, I can't afford to live in America since the new tariff law has taken effect."

Son of old soldier—"Well, Major, as my father was in the war, I get a right good pension, so I will try it a while longer. But, Major, don't you think you can live here on what it will take to pay your expenses to England?"

Mr. McKinley—"Well, sir, as to that, the republicans say since I have brought such a defeat to the party, they will pay my expenses, and pay me besides to go away."

The Next Congress.

A Table Showing Relative Strength of the Democrats and Republicans

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Below is given the complexion of each State delegation as shown by the latest reports:

Table with columns STATE, DEM., REP. listing delegations for Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

Total, 238 '93. Whole number of members, 332.

Lang's thanksgiving proclamation this year beats the President's, two in the game. Well, that's easy enough. Lang is a bigger man, and he feels lots happier than the President, hence is in a better frame of mind for getting up a proclamation. Again, Lang's honest dealing with the people gives him a clear conscience, which, in more than one respect, keeps in the lead all the way. You will find the proclamation in the double column over there on the local page.

OFFICIAL VOTE OF PITT COUNTY FOR 1890. Table with columns for various candidates and their vote counts.

Washington Letter.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7, '90.

The great wave of democratic necessity that swept over the country Tuesday brought more real rejoicing to Washington than anything which has occurred since the election of Cleveland and Hendricks in 1884.

The democrats expected, as they had every reason to do, to carry the House of Representatives by a good working majority, but they were hardly prepared to see the party win such an unprecedented victory in every section of the country, electing more than two thirds of the House and carrying republican strongholds like Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska and Wisconsin.

Mr. Samuel Blake, a highly esteemed citizen of this township, died at his home, four miles from Greenville, Friday night (15 minutes to 12 o'clock), October 17th, 1890. He was born January 27th, 1815.

Mr. Ivy Fleming died at his home near Greenville Saturday night, Nov. 2nd, in his 77th year, of apoplexy. Since an attack three years ago his family had detected a gradual but decided failing of the vital forces which somewhat prepared them for the sad parting.

Mr. Harrison is undergoing now. Last Summer Mr. Harrison, like a man of sense, had made up his mind that the democrats would control the next House, and although deeply regretting the outlook, he had ceased to worry to any extent over it.

He realizes that Clark got him into a fight that he might just as well have kept out of, and that the people have jumped on him and his party with their heaviest shot, and he would like to talk to Clarkson about it.

Mr. Wauanmaker was asked what he thought of the result, but he declined to talk further than to say that he knew nothing about politics. No news in that.

Millionsaire Carnegie, who is here looking after some of his fat contracts with the Navy department, says in an interview that he regards the results of the election as the salvation of the republican party, and that he is glad to see Mr. Clarkson elected.

Judicial ticket is elected by about 40,000 majority. General Assembly will stand about five-sixths Democratic.

First District—Branch elected by a very large majority. Second District—Cheatham, col. Republican elected by a small majority.

Third District—Grady elected by about 5,000 majority. Fourth District—Bunn elected by as much as 4,000 majority.

Personal Mr. R. A. Tyson is clerking for J. B. Cherry & Co. Mr. J. H. Moore, of Burgaw, is visiting his brother, Mr. J. R. Moore, at the depot. Ed. Barnes, right hand man from Cooper's Warehouse, Henderson, was in town part of the week. Mrs. Mary Manning, living about a mile above town, has been very sick the last week or two. Miss Sallie Cowell, of Washington is visiting the family of her brother, Mr. W. J. Cowell. Master Herman Sutton, of Kingston, spent a few days of the past week visiting Master Hugh Sheppard. We are glad to know that Mr. Del Fleming, of Pactolus, has so far recovered from his recent sickness as to be out. He was in town Monday. Rev. Mr. Phelps, in charge of the Episcopal mission work in this part of the Diocese, has located in Greenville. His family live at Hotel Maccon. Rev. A. D. Hunter left Monday to spend a few days at his old home in Wake county. He will also attend the Baptist State Convention at Shelby. Messrs. H. F. Keel and W. B. James will leave this week for Kentucky where they will purchase a fine drove of thoroughbreds. They will let you know on their return and you can get horses and mules cheap. Mrs. W. H. Ragsdale and two children, who for a few weeks have been visiting relatives here, returned to her home in Greenville county last Friday. Her mother, Mrs. H. A. Sutton, accompanied her home and will remain awhile in Greenville. Misses Etta Harris, Lee, Julia and Annie Foley returned home Saturday from Mr. R. M. Jones, near Bethel, where they have been grading tobacco. These young ladies and several others in town have almost become experts in handling tobacco. The work is commendable in them. Common sense is a bad thing to have too much of. Things are coming in Johtown—two stores up there. Pennies are again plentiful and dollars mighty scarce. Our Washington Letter this week will give you a good laugh. Mr. J. L. W. Nobles brought us some fine potatoes Saturday. If your life is not a blessing to others it is not a blessing to you. Two freight trains now run regular between Weldon and Kingston. The Baptist State Convention of North Carolina meets in Shelby to-day. We understand that another troupe will hold forth at the Opera House shortly. Last week the train began carrying the express through to Grifton and Kingston. Turkeys are now ducking their heads for fear of the Thanksgiving cook's knife. Our "devil" says he wished there was but 3 hours to the day so he could have longer to sleep. Oh, hoey! Joe Walston got two whole votes at the election last week and cast one of them himself. Several parties left on this morning's train to try the tobacco markets of Henderson and Oxford. If any county in the State needs any genuine Democratic votes, they call on old Pitt. She's got 'em. Rev. E. C. Glenn is holding meetings each night this week at Shady Grove, six miles above Greenville. Messrs. Davis & Smith, of Farmville, passed through here Saturday with a drove of fine horses and mules. The REFLECTOR Job Office turned out lots of job work last week. Lots of room for more. Send in your orders. The Independents are now named Dennis, get on a Barn Hill and ask the bees if it ain't so, how 'bout it Mr. Johnson? Another lot of fine cigars received by Monday night's express at REFLECTOR Book Store. Best 5, 10 and 25 cents cigars in town. We have had beautiful weather since the election. Nature seems to be bestowing smiles of approval upon the Democratic victors. Mary E. McCotter and Allen Johnson, Executors, of the estate of R. B. McCotter, deceased, have a notice to creditors in this paper. Several car loads of telegraph poles and a car load of wire is at the depot to be used to continue the railroad wire on to Grifton and Kingston. In passing the Riverside Nursery on Sunday last parties saw peach, apple and pear trees in full bloom. You can't down Riverside Nursery. The REFLECTOR wants some wood, and if our wood paying subscribers would now bring on a few loads of wood we would like it, indeed we would. To night or to-morrow night several copies of Puck with cartoons on the election, will be received at the REFLECTOR Book Store. Leave your orders for them to-day. J. D. Williamson has secured the services of a good horse shoer at his carriage factory. Those desiring work in that line can get it done by an experienced workman. We saw a New Patron cook stove marked to Scotland Neck, and a New Dixie heating stove for Greene county in front of D. D. Haskett & Co's yesterday. That's the way they go. The peanut buyers of Norfolk have formed a combination and put the price down. Now the peanut raisers ought to form a combination and not ship another pound to Norfolk. B. S. Sheppard advertises two notices to creditors in this paper, one as administrator upon the estate of Marina Harrington, the other as administrator of Mattie Williams. Rev. R. B. John is protracting a meeting from night to night in the Methodist Church this week. All Christians should offer earnest prayers for the success of the meeting in drawing souls to Christ.

The little committee, It met, what a pity! To bring out a man from their ranch; They named him Bernard, And he died quite hard, Because he got drowned in a Branch. Be sure you go to Smith's Shaving Parlor and get a clean, easy shave. They guarantee all work to be first-class. New chairs, new brushes, razors, combs and everything tending to give satisfaction. Call. The voluntary at the Baptist Church Sunday evening's service was beautiful and has received much praise. It was principally a duet by Mrs. Hunter and Miss Faucette, whose voices harmonized exquisitely and with most pleasing effect. In the REFLECTOR to-day appears the official vote of Pitt county for 1890, compared with the vote of 1888. We will have a few of these tables on card board to be sold at low figures to persons desiring them for reference. Send your order early. Mrs. J. D. Pearce, of this town, sent a beautiful crazy quilt to the Tarboro Fair for exhibition, which we learn took a premium. She failed to get credit for it, however, as the Secretary placed the name of a Tarboro young lady on the quilt instead of the name of the proper exhibitor. Last week Mr. J. D. Williamson received a beautiful show horse for his carriage shops. The horse is full life size, a dapple gray color, and looks as natural as if it were a real live animal. Several hundred people went to look at it Saturday, and many go every day. There is no scarcity of enterprise about Mr. Williamson. Roll of Honor of Orman'sville School. Girls—Clyde Moseley, Cora Hardee, Lola Hardee, Olga Turnage, Esther Hardy, Maggie Ormond. Boys—Mark Frizzelle, Paul Frizzelle, Johnny Sillivant, Robert Tunstal, Raymond Turnage. At the Methodist Church. The pastor is conducting a meeting at the Methodist Church this week. Services begin at 7 p. m. Rev. J. C. Jones, of Bethel, is expected to preach to-night. Sunday morning Rev. R. B. John will preach on Christianity and Manliness; at night on Preparation for the Dignity of Womanhood. Roll of Honor Of Miss Joyner's school for the 2nd school month: Lizzie Jones, Irma McGowan, Leta McGowan, Mary McGowan, Mary Alice Moye, Annie Randolph, Henry Shepard, Appie Smith, Hattie Smith, Elmer Barrett, Willie Evans, Jennie Gladson, Charlie James. Highest average, Mary McGowan, 100. Improving. We were very much gratified with the compliment paid our young boys by the party of the Annie Seward Comedy Company last week. The principal actor in the plays said they were the best behaved boys he had seen anywhere. They did not slap their hands, whistle, or make any boisterous noise any way except laugh, and that was what he wanted them to do. Our boys have greatly improved of late, and we hope they will continue to do so and justly merit such praise. Opera House. The Seward Comedy Company held the boards at the Opera House last Wednesday and Thursday nights to fair houses. The company is small, but every one is an actor. On Wednesday night they put on "Life for a Life," and each one rendered their character well. Special mention should be made of Miss May Lewis, assuming four distinct characters, as being above the average. Mr. H. C. Wilwer, as Martin Dudley, has no equal as a villain, and every one was in high praise of his knack of acting. On Thursday night "A Romance of Erin; or True Irish Hearts" was presented and well rendered, Miss Lewis and Mr. Wilwer coming in for the lion's share of praise. A beautiful bouquet was presented Miss Lewis on this night by some admiring friends. Winning Honors. It is gratifying to the REFLECTOR to hear of such good reports from our ex-Bad Boy, Mr. C. L. Whichard, who is taking special courses at the Commercial College of Kentucky University. He has already won his diploma in stenography and telegraphing and type-writing, and will receive his diploma in stenography about the first of December. Last week we received copies of daily papers from Lexington, Ky., containing sermons delivered in that city by Rev. Dr. Wharton, of Baltimore, which were reported in short hand by Mr. Whichard and a young Mr. Brown of Alabama, the two reporting together. The sermons show excellent work and the REFLECTOR congratulates the young gentlemen upon their success. Killed by a Little Boy. A very sad homicide occurred four miles above Greenville Monday afternoon. The particulars, as we learned them yesterday, are that Mr. A. A. Forbes, who had come down to town with a load of tobacco for shipment, left word for his little son Alf and a negro named Bill, a half white man who lived on the place, to carry home a buggy that had been borrowed from a neighbor. Before starting with the buggy Alf had gone in his father's room and put the latter's pistol in his pocket. When they had got off up the road a bit the boy climbed up in the buggy to ride and told the negro to pull it along. While sitting in the buggy he began fooling with the pistol and fired it off in the air. He fired it again, the second ball striking the negro man in the back. The man fell in the road and the boy thinking he had done so in fun called to him and told him to go on with the buggy. Not getting up the boy went and jumped on the man playfully, and as he did so saw the man gasping in the last agonies of death. This frightened the little fellow and he ran back home and told what had happened. It is truly a sad occurrence, and draws out sympathy for the parents and family of the little boy. It should also be warning against boys fooling with pistols.
