WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, D. C., Jan., 28, 1939.

A sensational speech against the Hull bill for the increase of the regular army, which will be voted upon next Tuesday, was made in the House by Representative Johnson, of Indiana, a republican. He said of Mr. McKinley: "If William McKinley ever changes his policy regarding the Philippines he will bend to the weight of popular opinion, to which he bows, right or wrong." Identically the same sentiment, in slightly different words, had been expressed the day before by Jerry Simpson. Being interrupted by applause from the democratic side, Mr. Johnson asked that it be not repeated until he had finished, when Representative Henderson of Iowa, sneeringly remarked: "You ought to be able to stand democratic applause." Quick as a flash Mr. Johnson retorted: "I am ready to stand the applause of broadminded, honest men everywhere, just as I am ready to stand the criticism of narrowminded republicans." Speaking of the treaty of peace, Mr. Johnson said: "If I were in the Senate, I would rot in my seat before I would consent to that treaty."

The most carefully prepared speech against the Hull bill was made by Representative Hay, of Virginia, the ranking democratic member of the Military Committee, who said that the bill provided for too small an army to carry out an imperial policy and too large a one if we are not to have an imperial policy.

The absurdity of the charge that the anti-imperialists are holding up the treaty of peace became fully apparent in the debate on the treaty this week. Senator Gorman told the supporters of the treaty that its opponents were ready to join them in disposing of the treaty at any time, and twitted them by doubting their earnestness about taking a vote on the treaty. Senator Vest spoke plainer. He said: "We want it understood distinctly that we are not holding the treaty up at all. Name the day. We will agree to any date that will suit you. If you have the votes you can ratify the treaty; if not, it will be defeated; the question will be disposed of, and the Senate can proceed with other business." Under these taunts Senator Davis asked that the treaty be voted on February 6th and it was agreed to.

Senator Clay, of Georgia, who favors ratification of the treaty but opposes expansion, did some common sense talking this week, in the Senate. For instance, he said of the failure of the administration to announce a policy toward the Philippines: "If it be wise and statesmanlike to outline our policy as to Cuba before the adoption of the peace treaty, what reason or logic can the friends of expansion give for silence as to the policy of our government in dealing with our other territorial acquisitions?"

and of retention of the Philippines: "In my judgement, the acquisition and retention of the Philippines means an army of 150,000. It means that the annual expenses of the army will increase from $20,000,000 to $200,000,000. And a large standing army means that the pension list will increase from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 annually."

That there is something rotten about the War Department is every day becoming more apparent, in spite of the efforts made to keep down the truth. The War investigating Commission seems especially determined to save the contractors who furnished the bad beef, both refrigerated and canned, to our soldiers, by insisting that the beef was good, in the face of positive evidence to the contrary. Another proof of the rottenness of the War Department methods is furnished by the assertions made by Gen. Eagan's friends, that he is willing to accept a nominal punishment as a result of his court-martial for blackguarding Gen. Miles, and keep his mouth shut, but that if Mr. McKinley fails to set aside enough of the finding of the court-martial to make his punishment nominal, he will raise such a scandal as Washington has not had for many years, by telling everything he knows about war contracts and those who profited thereby. Eagan's plea before the court martial, of not guilty, although acknowledging the use of the dirty and disgusting language towards Gen. Miles, and his claim for protection under Mr. McKinley's promise, is believed to be the result of an understanding, and the belief is strengthened by his confident and nonchalant bearing during the trial. A sportingly inclined army officer offered to bet ten to one that a verdict of guilty would not result in Eagan's dismissal from the army.

Senator Lodge, in a speech in favor of the ratification of the treaty, did not go quite as far as Tim Campbell, who is said to have once remarked to Mr. Cleveland, "What's the Constitution between friends," but he must have felt about the same as Tim did when the Constitution stood in his way, when he said: "Constitutions do not make a people; people make constitutions." Like many other epigrams, that of Mr. Lodge is not strictly true. He does not read history aright who does not recognize the powerful part played by the Constitution in making the people of the United States what they are today.

Anti-Imperialistic sentiment will have full swing in the Senate this week, as nearly every Senator who opposes and who has not already spoken against imperialism, has given notice of intention to speak. The treaty of Peace will be voted upon February 6th, and the chances favor its ratification, because nothing would be gained by rejecting. A motion to reconsider would be made by one of its friends and it would require a majority to table it. That majority its opponents have not. So, if it were rejected February 6th, all Mr. McKinley would have to do would be to call an extra session of the Senate, in March, when it would be promptly ratified.

Within the last week, Mr. McKinley has been personally harshly criticized in both House and Senate, and in each body one of his critics was a republican. In the House, Representatives Jerry Simpson, and Johnson, of Indiana, jumped on him for bowing to public opinion, right or wrong; and in the Senate, Senators Gorman and Hoar gave him fits for declining to furnish the Senate with copies of the instructions given to the Peace Commissioners.

Senator Gorman has never posed as an alarmist, but he never fears to speak the truth because it may be alarming. Just before the Senate passed the regular pension appropriation bill, which carries $145,000,000, Mr. Gorman made a speech, calling attention to the fact that although it was estimated that the war with Spain would add 50,000 names to the pension roll, unless our troops were recalled from the tropics before the sickly season, no provision, whatever, had been made in the bill for the increase. Mr. Gorman concluded with this significant prediction: "Within three years from this date, the pension roll will amount to $165,000,000. If you add to that, the cost of maintaining your army (one thousand dollars a man), the American republic will in the year 1900, expend more for its army and pensioners than any other nation on the face of the earth. That is a fact, which the American people will have to face, and they ought to know now, in advance, what is coming to them, if the schemes and projects which are being forced upon us are carried out."

The attempt of the republicans to get democratic support for the Hull bill, which will be voted upon tomorrow, by amending it so as to make any increase of the regular army above 50,000 discretionary with the President, was not a success. It made no real change. The democrats proved by their votes for the first war appropriation, that they were not afraid to trust the President, but that did not change the principle of the party against the concentration of authority in the hands of one man. Such concentration does no harm as long as the right man exercises the authority, but who can say when the wrong man will come along? The change was not made for effect in the House, where its fate will be very much in doubt, unless the support of Senators, who are now inclined to oppose it can be secured. The subterfuge was so palpable that Representative Lund, of California, a republican, made a hot speech against it, plainly telling his party associates that they could not hope to catch suckers with such a bare hook.

Gen. Miles is still piling up evidence, official and unofficial, that the beef furnished our soldiers in Cuba and Porto Rico, was unfit to eat. He has already about convinced everybody, except the members of the administration, and of the War Investigating Commission, that his charge was true, but they seem determined to stick to it that the beef was good.

THE RAVAGES OF GRIP.
That modern scourge, the Grip, poisons the air with its fatal germs, so that no home is safe from its ravages, but multitudes have found a sure protection against this dangerous malady in Dr. King's New Discovery. When you feel a soreness in your bones and muscles, have chills and fever, with sore throat, pain in the back of the head, catarrhal symptoms and a stubborn cough you may know you have the Grip, and that you need Dr. King's New Discovery. It will promptly cure the worst cough, heal the inflamed membranes, kill the disease germs and prevent the dreaded after effects of the malady. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Money back if not cured. A Girl's Chance of Marriage.
A painstaking statistician has figured out "The American Girl's Chances of Marriage," and will present his conclusions in the March issue of The Ladies' Home Journal. He has discovered that in some States a girl's opportunities are much greater than in others, and that in America they are greater than in many countries of the Old World.

CATARRH CANNOT BE CURED WITH LOCAL APPLICATIONS as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It is prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

Danger in Calcium Carbide. Superintendent Murray of the Bureau of Combustibles, has made regulations governing the transportation, storage and sale of calcium carbide, which the firemen declare to be a source of danger in a burning building, because when water reaches it acetylene gas is given off. A number of stores keep it for use in bicycle lamps. Hereafter, in transit or on storage, it must be enclosed in hermetically sealed iron receptacles marked "Dangerous, if not kept dry." No package may contain more than 100 pounds. It must be stored in isolated buildings that are fireproof and waterproof. No artificial light or heat will be permitted in the building where it is stored. Not more than twenty pounds, in bulk or in cartridges, may be kept in any store or factory and this must be in a fireproof safe or vault above the street grade and it must be kept six inches above the floor.

The manufacture, transportation, storage sale or use of liquefied acetylene is absolutely prohibited within the limits of this city.—N. Y. Sun.

NO RIGHT TO UGLINESS.
The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming, woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at Jno. L. Wooten's Drug store.

Judge Wants "Hollering" Stopped.
In the last issue of The Landmark there was some discussion of the proposition to increase the number of Superior Court circuits and judges, and a way or ways suggested by which the necessity for this could be obviated. A judge of the Superior Court was recently heard to suggest still another—it was that a law be passed to allow the judge to make the lawyers stop "hollering." He said that he was just from a court which had occupied an entire week in disposing of business which could just as well have been transacted in one day, but the lawyers "hollered" five-sixths of the time, and about nothing. A lawyer, he alleged, makes his speech in twenty minutes and then repeats and screams and gesticulates and sweats for two hours longer. A lawyer standing by during this arraignment of the profession, declared that this judge before going on the bench, "hollered" as loud and as long as any of them, and proved it by another lawyer present; but whether this is true or not there is a good deal in what the judge had to say. There is no question that a great deal of time is wasted in courts by the repetition of questions on cross-examination and by vain repetition in arguing cases before juries. If we mistake not, time was when judges had the discretion to limit lawyers' speeches, but it was abused by Greasy Sam Watts in a case in Johnston county and the Legislature changed the law.—Statesville Landmark.

To Inspect Cotton Fields.

The Baltimore Sun has a telegram from New York, stating that Mr. John E. Searles, who recently resigned the presidency of the Western National Bank and also the secretaryship of the American Sugar Company, with a view to concentrating his attention upon Southern interests, and especially upon the development of cotton-handling methods, proposes to take a month's trip through the South to study the advantages of this section and to look closely into every phase of cotton handling.

The American Cotton Company, of which Mr. Searles is president and which is introducing the cylindrical or round bale system of packing cotton, has already handled about 200,000 bales this year. With the new plants that are under contract the company expects to handle next season from 800,000 to 1,000,000 bales of cotton. The success of this system in reducing the cost of ginning to the farmers and the cost of insurance and ocean transportation, has been so completely demonstrated that Mr. Searles has deemed its full development one of the greatest business opportunities of the age. Hence his determination to concentrate his energies in that direction.

In his Southern trip Mr. Searles will go through the Indian Territory, where cotton growing is becoming a leading industry, thence through Texas, from there to Louisiana and Mississippi, and then into the Central South, making a careful study of the business conditions of the whole South. He has requested Mr. Richard H. Edmunds, editor of the Manufacturers' Record of Baltimore, who is a personal friend, to accompany him on the trip, and they will leave New York in a few days on Mr. Searles' private car for a month's journey.

Love Your Lover.

Intimate acquaintance, congeniality of tastes and purposes, respect, admiration, material and social advancement—all these may appeal at some time to the young woman or the young man as furnishing the possible material for a prosperous venture into matrimony. But to those of us who are on this side of married life, with years of experience to give us insight, there never was a greater failure. I would say to all young women and I would I had the tongues of angels to say it as I should, "Love your lover or do not marry him." Respect and admiration may do for friendship; marriage absolutely demands love. You remember that when the apostle Peter sums up the qualities that go to make the perfect Christian character he does not begin by urging the necessity of faith. He assumes its existence at the start. He says, "Add to your faith, virtue; and to virtue, knowledge." It is as if he would have us know that faith is not to be regarded simply as an adornment to the Christian character. It is a prerequisite. It is the atmosphere in which the Christian life has its breath and being. So it is with love when the time comes to settle the gravest question of life.—Helen Watterson Moody in the February Ladies' Home Journal.

Snuff-dipping has become a "fad" among the "famous four hundred" of New York. They are away behind time. Snuff dipping has been a "fad" in Wilkes since the creation of the world, or before. The "famous four hundred" in some families begin the "fad" before they can stand alone. Although rather late in the century, we congratulate the "four hundred" of New York in showing some symptoms of civilization.—Wilkesboro Chronicle.

SOUTH CAROLINA DISPENSARY.

A gentleman living in Greenville having business in South Carolina made it a point to investigate the workings of the Dispensary system in that State and as a result the following effects upon business and society under the Dispensary system were noted:

He says he went to a Dispensary and bought a small bottle of whiskey in order to see the manner in which it was sold. Inside the Dispensary it looked very much like a drug store. He says: "I was required to put my name on the register, where from, for whom the purchase was made, and for what use I purchased it. I was told that I was not allowed to open it inside the Dispensary and that I could not purchase any more that day. I then asked the dispenser what were the effects of this method of dealing in liquors upon the social and business interests. He said the effects were marked and noticeable. A purer and better brand of liquors were sold for less money, that the profit, less the expense of handling it went to the school fund, that it disposed of country liquors, beyond the reach of police protection, that it absolutely eliminated the social features of the drink, the most fearful alluring and dangerous, attraction of the saloon."

This gentleman says that if any man in the county could see the operation and effects of this system of dealing in liquors, there would not be one, who has his own and his neighbor's interest at heart, excepting those who are interested in the saloons, that would not gladly vote unreservedly for the Dispensary system. In South Carolina today Tillman's strongest and most ardent admirers, five years ago were his worst and most bitter enemies. They admit frankly that Tillman's ideas of selling whiskey approaches nearer the solution of the liquor problem than anything else yet offered.

We clip the following concurring observation from The Kansas City Journal: "Those who are becoming impatient at the slowness with which United States Senators are elected should notice how little benefit the Senators are who are already elected. There is really no cause for hurry."

The further the investigation is carried the more corrupt is found the late management of the penitentiary. The management was reckless and careless to an astonishing degree. The institution is burdened with a debt of more than $100,000, and it will take double that amount to pay off the indebtedness and carry it through another year. What would have been its condition if it had remained much longer under fusion control?

Senator James passed his Greenville charter bill through the Senate. The bill is a compromise between the two sides of the question. It is a really no cause for hurry.

A Gun with a History.
Will Wallace, a young colored man, was rabbit hunting last Thursday when his gun was accidentally discharged and the entire load passed through the flesh of his left arm. Wallace was lighting a cigarette and tucked the muzzle of the gun under his left arm, which by some means it was discharged with the result that the wound is not considered serious.

The gun with which Wallace was shot has a history. It was formerly owned by the late Miss Tomlin, colored, and on one occasion it went off too soon and discharged its contents. Later it was accidentally discharged and killed a son of the late Isham Dean, colored. The gun then fell into the hands of William Hart, colored, and on one occasion the tube flew out and tore up his face. Wallace is its latest victim and probably the last. There is an impression that the gun is a "hoodoo" and it will probably be broken up.—Statesville Landmark.

The third of the series of bulletins by the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station on Food Adulterations relates to baking powders, and is the result of the work of Director W. A. Withers and Assistant Chemist J. A. Bizzell.

Twenty-five samples were purchased in the open market in Raleigh, Statesville, Durham, Henderson and Wilmington. In all cases the results may be taken as fairly representative of the powders in use throughout the State.

A Great Year.
The St. Paul Pioneer Press contends that the year 1898 was one of the most wonderful in the history of this country and sustains the statement with the following list of particulars:

1. Largest wheat crop except that of 1891.
2. Highest price recorded for wheat except in 1875.
3. Largest cotton crop.
4. Largest export of breadstuffs.
5. Largest exports of manufactured goods.
6. Largest aggregate exports of produce and merchandise.
7. Largest production of iron.
8. Largest production of pig iron.
9. Largest production of coal.
10. Largest production of copper.
11. Largest production of silver except that of 1892.
12. Largest production of gold.
13. Largest gold holdings.
14. Largest per capita circulation of all forms of money.
15. Largest aggregate of bank clearings.
16. Largest aggregate of railroad earnings.
17. Largest aggregate sale of bonds.
18. Largest aggregate sales of stocks of New York Stock Exchange since 1882.
19. Smallest number of failures and smallest aggregate liabilities since 1892.

This is indeed a remarkable showing, but it contains one item which we regret.

NOTICE.
The cotton crop, it is true, was a record breaker, but how much better it would have been for the South if several million less bales of cotton had been raised and the food crops had been proportionately larger, says the Atlanta Journal. Taking the record of the year together, however, it shows for this country a production of values and a volume of business never equalled by any other nation.

PORTERFIELD'S FAILURE.
The following account of the failure of Porterfield was taken from Washington, Jan. 30.—William A. Porterfield & Co., bankers and commission stock brokers, who have extensive connections in North Carolina, South Carolina and the South, and also a local business here, failed on Monday afternoon, making a total of $100,000 in assets and liabilities $100,000.
