Dogs Kill Calves.

Having completely destroyed the sheep industry in this country, the worthless cur dog is now turning his attention to larger and more costly game.

J. H. Neal lives just above the coal chute south of town and has a nice little farm, upon which he has been trying to raise cattle of the improved variety, and he has been doing very well.

Yesterday when he returned home from town his man on the place told him dogs had been playing havoc with his calves—that he went over to the pasture to look for them and found about eight dogs helping themselves to the fore-shoulders of two of the improved Jersey stock.

No one saw them in the act of chasing them, but it was plain that they had been run down like sheep, their throats cut and about half of the meat had been devoured when the depredation was discovered.— Greensboro Record.

Good Reasons For Going to Church.

"I should say," writes Rev. Ar-more H. Bradford, D. D., "What is the good of going to church?" In the June Ladies' Home Journal, an "artificial church" that you may worship God; that you may be brought face to face with "the doctrine of grace," which in hours of deepest need alone can satisfy either the mind or the heart. If you answer, "I believe in none of these things," then I reply, "Attend the church that you may hear the latest ideas presented by those who have no selfish ends to subserve, and that you may be kept sensitive to the normal order of the world in which all men are included, the violation of which means ruin, and misery, and harmony with which is followed by benefit and blessing."

There is nothing more beneficial to any community than the maintenance of good citizens. They often bring new ideas and new and improved modes of doing things and thus prove a great blessing.
But it often happens that men move into a community and ally themelves with the lower element of the country and thus become a great curse instead of a blessing.
All such are undesirable. But the importation of a goodly number of men—men who would ally themselves with the better classes of our people, and men representing all the occupations, would doubtless prove a great blessing to North Carolina. To bring about such results we need advertising. We have all that nature can offer or ought to offer. Whenever this is known just that soon will the tide set this way.—Lexington Dispatch.

One of the horses in a New York livery stable which caught fire the other day resisted all efforts of the firemen to lead it out of the burning building. It was made of wood —a fact which did not develop in the dim light caused by the smoke enveloped flames until nearly every man had tugged on the bridle. The horse was life size, and had been used to display harness. When not in active service it was kept in a rear stable.

The Medical Record gives the following "more or less good advice to doctors"—and it sounds as though it might also be good for their patients: "Drink less, breathe more; eat less, chew more; ride less, walk more; clothe less, bathe more; worry less, work more; waste less, read more; preach less, practice more."

Liver disease for over twenty years. Am now entirely cured.

Don't Wait.

A man over in Skamokawa who was too stingy to subscribe for his local paper sent his young boy to his neighbors to borrow one. As the boy was going home he fell down and broke his leg. His father heard his cries and went out to get him, but slipped and fell on the ice, dislocating his knee and tearing the bosom of his $10 pants.
His wife ran out to his assistance, leaving a 2-year-old babe on the floor. The babe crawled out the door and fell down the well, and while the mother was fishing the child out the house caught on fire and was totally destroyed.

The efforts being made to have the postoffice re-established at Lake City, S. C., shows that the officials of the postoffice department have rather a peculiar idea of justice. Two years ago the postmaster at that place—a town of about five hundred inhabitants—was killed by a mob of perhaps twenty-five persons, and as a punishment of the guilty parties the postoffice was discontinued and the residents of the town are forced to get their mail from another office, which is some miles away. It would never do for the internal revenue department to adopt this policy.—Charlotte Observer.

Cheering.

"Don't you have some uneasiness as to the result of this operation, doctor?" anxiously inquired the patient.
"Not a bit," cheerfully answered the surgeon, arranging his instruments so they would be handy when needed. "My dear sir, at least 15 per cent of the operations of this nature are entirely successful."—Chicago Tribune.

One Comfort.

First Actor—Well, the medical guy says I've got parosis coming on.
Second Actor—That ain't too bad as it looks. You know, a fellow with that generally happy and healthy, you ought to make a good living writing vaudeville sketches.—Indianapolis Journal.

Grounds For Devotion.

"I'm fond of you, Billy, and that's a fact."
"Is that so? We don't see each other often."
"No, but when I dream I'm hard up I always dream that you lend me some money."—Chicago News.

His Oath.

"I want my sn--shoes, my chest protector, my fur overcoat and an oil stove."
"Why, where on earth are you going?"
"To the spring picnic!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Special Lessons.

"Emily is taking special lessons in French. Uncle Jim has promised to take her to the exposition."
"What sort of special lessons?"
"Oh, the name of all sorts of things to eat and drink."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Everything Off.

"Eugenia isn't going to marry that rich octogenarian, after all."
"Why not?"
"He fell out with her because she couldn't remember the boys he used to play with."—Chicago Record.

We know she never could know.

A Diversion of Meaning.

Smart Housemaid—So you are the new gardener, are you? Well, you look pretty dirty. I must say!
Gardener—Ah, but Oh looks a lot prettier than—Punch.

His!

She—They say that it is love that makes the world go round.
He—If that were so I should think that getting married would stop it.
Yonkers Statesman.

English Equivalent.

French Teacher—I have brought you a package of bonbons. How you say bonbons in English, now?
Children (in chorus)—Goody, goody!
—Chicago Tribune.

Jealousy.

Smith—Is your wife jealous of you?
Dawson—Jealous is no name for it.
Why, on our wedding trip she would not even let me admire the scenery.— St. Louis.

A Xanthippe Obituary.

An Epitaph of a Xanthippe had the misfortune to live in a continuous quarrel with his wife, who was a modern Xanthippe and threatened to cast himself into the sea. It was her lot to suffer, but it was not so easy to carry out threat. The husband had the precaution to make an injunction in his will requiring his body to be buried in the sea, near his residence, and without ceremony. The injunction was complied with.

Names of Litigants.
In an old Indiana case a man named Shadlock undertook to live up to his name by running an unfettered ferry.
The decision of the court said to him, "You shall not erre."
The name of an advertisement in the Chicago News of a wife who was expelled, was R. H. Hantah.
A California woman who said in her will, "I leave no fear of the hereafter." O my Lord, how she to live right, then in doing there is no sting. Fore the prophetic Christian name of Enthanasia.
The name Dr. Physick, which might be looked for in some alibi, appears as the name of a real person in a recent law report.
Some peculiarly named five combinations of names in the titles of cases are these: Pope versus Baker, Priest versus Lacey, Rich versus Merry, Pro- rected House, Under versus Winter.
Grant versus Lockport Mountain Company.
In reminiscence of the early Minnesota bar Judge Charles E. Flannery tells in the Minnesota Law Journal of an argument before the supreme court in 1834 by ex-Chief Justice Goodrich on behalf of an Indian convicted of murder. The Indian's name was Zua-za, but as the counsel could not pronounce it he always referred to him in his argument as "my client, Ahase-rus."—Case and Comment.
