

EASTERN REFLECTOR

(GREENVILLE, N. C.)

D. J. WHICHARD, Ed. & Owner

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1899.

Even the great big papers get wrong sometime. The Philadelphia Record went to announce the appearance of 1900 calendars and put it 1899.

When Congress meets, the House Republicans will elect the Speaker to succeed Mr. Reed. The Democrats of that body will present a candidate for Speaker, and whoever may be thus honored will be the nominal leader of the minority upon the floor. By reason of his nomination by the Democrats, this leader will be given a place on the Committee on Rules, which governs the order of action upon business in the House. He will, also, control debate upon the most important bills before the House, and by courtesy and practice, have a good deal to say about the appointment of Democrats upon the committees. The nomination there lies something more than empty honor, and there will be an active campaign on the Democratic side in behalf of three leading members. These will be DeArmond, of Missouri; Richardson, of Tennessee, and Bankhead, of Alabama. Mr. Daily, of Texas, the nominal leader in the last House, seeks election to the Senate, and it is understood has no desire to continue his leadership of the lower body.

Favors a Primary

While in Raleigh last week Gov. T. J. Jarvis was asked by a reporter of the News and Observer if he was a candidate for the United States Senate. Sunday's issue of that paper gives the following as his reply:

"I have not announced my candidacy as yet. Since the results of the election of 1898, and in view of the active part I took there in many persons have suggested to me that they desired to see my return to the Senate, which of course has been very gratifying. I was there only a short while, but I have thought that my acquaintance with the leading men of the Senate and our nation, and my familiarity with public questions might enable me to render some service to the State creditable to myself, should it be the pleasure of the people to send me back.

"I have made no public announcement of any candidacy, and whether I shall hereafter do so or not, I am heartily in favor of holding a primary election at the same time the Presidential election is held in 1900, and let the Democratic voters say who they desire to represent them in that body. When our State convention last year declared in favor of the election of Senators by the people, I understood it meant what it said, and I know of no better way to demonstrate our good faith than by commencing with the first election.

"I believe in letting the Democratic voters control the Democratic party, and say whom they desire for their candidates, including the Senators, without any regard as to whom it defeats or whom it nominates.

"I expressed views similar to this in 1894, and they were then published, and the events since then have only confirmed me in these views. I believe they are stronger when the Democratic voters control it."

OVER THE COUNTRY.

After November 1 the people of Chicago will pay seven cents a quart for milk.

Pearl Hart, the escaped Arizona woman bandit, has been recaptured at Deming, N. M.

The next National Conference of Charities and Correction will be held on May 18 to 24, 1900, at Topeka, Kan.

Bogus lottery tickets are being sold in Mexico, bearing the forged signature of Colonel John G. Fisher, of New York.

By planning a fake wrecking scheme, detectives caught four suspected train wreckers, named Brockett, Fay, Carmalund Wilson, at Mason City, Ia.

First Lieutenant Ralph Ingalls, of the Forty-fourth Volunteers, a son of ex-Senator John J. Ingalls, has resigned his commission because of defective hearing.

A cash drawer of the tobacco warehouse at LaGrange was robbed of $100 Monday morning.

Ladies' Committee on the Winchester Monument

The monument to the North Carolina Confederate dead buried in the cemetery at Winchester, Va., will be completed, it is said, by the last day of November. The matter of unveiling it was discussed at the meeting of the Confederate Veterans' Association on Wednesday, Wednesday night. The following named ladies are a committee to aid the Veterans' Association to make arrangements for the unveiling and proper ceremonies and to represent the State at large: Mrs. J. P. Allison, Concord, N. C.; Mrs. R. L. Higgins, Winston, N. C.; Mrs. Armistead Burwell, Charlotte, N. C.; Mrs. Josh James, Wilmington, N. C.; Mrs. H. A. London, Pittsboro, N. C.; Mrs. Michael Hoke, Salisbury, N. C.; Miss Rebecca Cameron, Hillsboro, N. C.

Rutherford county has one of the youngest engineers, perhaps, in the United States. His name is King McIntire, living in Green Hill township, and is only seven years old. He runs and drives an engine at a saw mill. His father manages the sawing and another brother, only nine years old, hauls the shingles as they come from the machine.

Ends His Own Life.

Thomas Dillon, a white laborer, was found dead in bed Saturday morning at his home in Kidder's alley, leading from Seventh street, between Church and Castle. By his side was a four-ounce bottle of laudanum, and this, coupled with the fact that he had previously threatened to take his own life, leads his friends to believe that it is a case of suicide. In his manner he is very stolid, but his mind was very disturbed.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

Most men's wives are nearly as big a help to them as porons plasters.

Before he gets married a man swears to love always; afterward he generally loves to swear.

Old bachelors sometimes kiss ladies, but generally they kiss a lot rather take castor oil.

The average woman would manage to wear a fresh scalp tied into her belt if it were only in style.

Skirts are a terrible trouble to a woman in a life. When she isn't holding them up she's holding them down.

The best way for a woman to love her husband is to husband her love.

When a woman is first in love she always blushes when she says her prayers.

Probably the reason why girls are so sweet is because they like pickles so much.

A woman's idea of good manners, boiled down, is never letting other people know it when you don't like them.

Gov. Vance's First Composition

A lady of this city, one of the teachers in the graded school, has received from a first cousin of the late Senator Vance a copy of his first school composition. It has come into the possession of the Observer, which has every assurance of the genuineness of the document, and is given herewith as an evidence of his writer's then budding genius:

You told me to tell what I knowed about Toads. Well Toads is like frogs, but more dignity, and when you come think of it frogs is wetter. The warts which toads is noted for cant be cured for they is crocked but if crocked get well I'd stay in the house. My Grand father knew a toad that some lady had trained till it was like folks, wen its master whised it would come for flies. They catches 'em with their tong which is some like a long red worm but more like litena only litena hasnt got no gun onto it. The fl will be standing a rubbin its hind legs together and a thinking what a fine fat fl it is and the toad sit some distance away like it was asleep. While you see anything all plans as you ever see anything all at one it aint there—then the toad looks up at you solam out of his eyes like he said. What become of that fl; but you know he et it. Thats what I know about toads.—Charlotte Observer.

The Permanent Advertiser.

Advertising is an art that everybody knows; and never so much an art as in these days, when so much careful work is done in writing editorials. But advertising is also a science. A high authority says: "Advertising should be planned on the presumption that it is going to be permanent." That is a scientific statement. It means that advertising should be systematic, and not sporadic; that it is a distinct feature and department, and should be so administered. Announcements now and then cannot bring a train of steady benefits. They may do sharp sales, but when the sales run their course they are forgotten.

On the other hand, like the continents dropping that advertising in the scientific manner, day after day, year in and year out, becomes part of the reading matter of the great newspaper. "You never miss the water until the well runs dry." Newspaper readers do not know perhaps, how much entertainment and benefit they get from the advertising columns until they think about it. Then they realize that all these merchants who, day after day, talk to them through the newspaper, are their friends and pleasant acquaintances and they act accordingly.

A Constant Source of Profit.

The most convincing proof that lively and aggressive newspaper advertising pays is the enormous quantity of it which appears daily. Astute and progressive merchants are not wont to indulge in profitless expenditures; hence when they scatter their business announcements broadcast through the medium of the newspapers it must be taken as a self-evident fact that they are getting satisfactory results from their investments in advertising space. In fact, it is conceded by all practical and successful business men that the continuous publication of crisp and instructive trade announcements is a constant source of income to the advertiser.

NOTICE!

In order to be the better prepared to protect the interest of our customers and friends among the tobacco farmers of Eastern North Carolina in the sale of their tobacco we have recently made arrangements by which our Mr. Hughes will conduct a warehouse on the Danville, Va., market, and Mr. Joyce will manage the Farmers on the Greenville market. Danville is the largest wholesale market in the world. Here are the headquarters of the largest planters in the trade and here necessarily to a large extent the price of our tobacco is established.

After considering the matter in every light we have come to the conclusion that a warehouse connection in Danville would be of tremendous value to us and our patrons.

We wish to say to all who have tobacco to sell that Mr. Joyce will look after your interest in every way and his purchases, as a matter of course will get the undivided attention of Mr. Hughes at the other end of the line.

Thus you see, with one equally interested to handle our purchases we will be in better position to stand up to your tobacco and buy it if necessary than any Warehouse firm in North Carolina.

Thanking all our patrons for their favors and courtesies in the past we are

Your Friends O. L. JOYNER, G. B. HUOHES.

FRANK WILSON EASTERN REFLECTOR

NOTICE.

If there is a CROSS, MARK on the margin of this paper it is to remind you that you owe THE EASTERN REFLECTOR for subscription and we request you to settle as early as possible. We need what YOU owe us and hope you will not keep us waiting for it.

This notice is for those who find the cross mark on their paper

The improvements going on in Greenville are not alone in the way of new buildings and increased business, but a difference in the deportment of certain elements of the citizens is also noticeable. When Mayor J. G. Mays began his administration the first of last July he started out by impressing the fact that he was going to have the town ordinances observed or he was going to punish the offenders. And he has worked right along the line of his declaration. For awhile he had pretty full dockets, especially on Monday mornings, but now it is noticed that there has been a large falling off in cases. This Monday morning he never had a case to try, and for the past week he had but three cases, and they were of such a trivial nature that he did not even impose a fine but lectured the defendants and dismissed them. Let this kind of improvement continue and Greenville will be a model town.

New Office

The Mayor's office has been moved from the old building near the Mark's house to the hall over Mr. Frank Wilson's store. The entrance is on Fourth street. The new office is a great improvement over the old quarters.

Daughters of Confederacy

The Singletary Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy will meet Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Charles Laughinghouse. All members are requested to be present as some matters are to be considered in which all should be deeply interested.

Electric Lights

Strouse Brothers are a long way ahead of the general spirit of enterprise prevailing in Greenville. They have not waited for the town to put in electric lights, but have gone ahead and put in a plant of their own, and now their immense factory is brilliantly lighted by electricity. We hope seeing those lights will cause an electric influence to spread over the town.

Honest Folk

Kayton's Komediants arrived Monday evening to begin a week's engagement in the opera house. Before the curtain went up at the first performance Mr. Woodford, the manager of the company, announced that two of his specialists had deserted him after the company had rehearsed the depot at Norfolk to take the train for Greenville, and for that reason he felt that he could not give as good an entertainment as he had promised. Then that no one should be disappointed he asked the manager of the opera house to go through the audience and give all present a ticket for tonight's performance, or return them their money, whichever each individual might prefer. This was commendable honesty.

Even without the specialists referred to they gave a performance well worth the admission price. Other specialists have been telegraphed for and are expected to arrive Wednesday evening.
