GRIMESLAND'S SUPPLY HOUSE.
Merchants, Millers and Manufacturers.

If you want lumber to build a house, furniture to go in it, clothing and dry goods for your family, provisions for your table, or implements for your farm, we can supply your needs.

Our mill and ginney are now in full blast and we are prepared to gin cotton, grind corn, saw lumber, and do all kinds of turned work for balusters and house trimmings. We also do general repairing of buggies, carts and wagons.

When the girl gets the swimmer-gear it is a sign she is getting fat where it doesn't show any other way.

SHOES

FOR PARTICULAR WOMEN

We are proud of our shoe stock this season. We are certain we have the finest line we have ever shown and we are certain that no other store gets even a little bit ahead of us.

ULTRA and BROCKPORT Shoes for Women

are our strong cards, and we are able to meet the requirements of the most fastidious as well as the more conservative patrons, and we invite a thorough inspection of our line—ULTRA in name, ULTRA in character, ULTRA in every feature that contributes to fit, comfort and style. In finish, material and workmanship, we are proud to present to all lovers of good taste in footwear a shoe for which we have never yet had to make apology. The "Brockport" shoe is constructed on common-sense principles without sacrifice of those attributes that appeal to a woman's taste, and her price, in a well and stylishly dressed foot.

Our usually up-to-date line of children's and infant's shoes is even better than ever. We are positive we can insure you perfect satisfaction and save you money in your shoe needs.

The Only Way—

To get the confidence of the prospective of Pitt county by advertising is through the daily and semi-weekly editions of

The Reflector.

Ex-column.
Lonely I am today, and full of doubt. Questioning fate, and dallying with fate.
That vaguely whispers warning in my ear.
Of unknown dangers, past my finding out.
Until I wonder what 'tis all about—
My life on this unsatisfying sphere,
The solitary quest from year to year.
My soul within and all the world without.

And then I hear your footstep on the stair,
And feel the clinging question of your kiss,
O gently Love! My spectres, in despair
At your approach, have fled to the abyss.
How strange it seems that I should ever care
For any cause or purpose beyond this!

—Elisa Barker.

An Errand to Do.

One brother is a rich merchant in the Straits Settlements on the Malay Peninsula. The other brother was, until a few weeks ago, the cook in a cheap restaurant on S. Clark-st.

The merchant sent to the cook a draft for sufficient money to pay his expenses out to Asia, and the cook has given up his job and has started for his brother's home. The interesting thing about the whole incident is the letter, written by the wealthy merchant, which accompanied the draft.

In the first place the draft was made payable in New York.

"I send you the money in a draft payable in New York," wrote the brother from far-off Asia. "You can go over and get it cashed there. On the way I wish you would stop at Texas and see brother Thomas, I haven't heard from him for two years now, and I'd like to know how he's getting along."—Chicago Tribune.

Editor Poe's Apology.

We make mistakes, as some other people do, but we hope we shall ever have the manliness to acknowledge our mistakes when we see them. Re-reading our rather hastily prepared account of the Greensboro reunion, we are convinced that one reference to an aged and distinguished North Carolinian should not have been made—because it was unnecessary and because it so was unfortunately worded as to suggest lack of respect for a man full of years and of honors. No one, we are sure, is further from such a feeling than we are; and our only object was to question the wisdom of trading on the reputations of aged veterans when the effect of bringing them forward is merely to give a pitiful contrast to their old-time strength and eloquence.—Progressive Farmer.

It's the man who makes mistakes that does something; the man that makes none does nothing. The squirrel that lives in the trees which surround the capitol and the birds which sing in their branches make no mistake, but fulfill their narrow mission with unerring certainty, but the men who guide the affairs of state are often perplexed, and often make grievous blunders, which may demonstrate their powers to do things right.—Raleigh Times.

If North Carolina furnished the Confederacy more men than any other state did, it should have the credit of the achievement; if it didn't, it is high time the straight of the matter were arrived. But it did. The claim wouldn't otherwise have gone unchallenged so long.—Greensboro Telegram.

Internal Difficulties.
Little Archie Richards, at the close of the Thanksgiving dinner, says Lippincott's Magazine, sat at the table with his face suffused with tears. His mother was greatly troubled. With a sweet smile and with gentle intonation she put one arm around her little baby boy and asked:
"What is it mamma's little darling wants?"
But "mamma's little darling" continued to cry.
Mamma made another effort to find out the trouble.
"Does mamma's baby boy want some more cake?" she asked.
"No'm," said the child, while the tears continued to flow.
"Does he want some more pie?" she further inquired.
"No'm," he further replied.
"Well," said the mother, making a last effort to reach his case, "tell mamma what baby wants."
The little boy managed somehow so say between sobs, "I want some of this out I've got in."

The Bachelor's Psalm.
Lives of hen-pecked men remind us
Who have not as yet been caught,
That we might leave sons behind us,
But we rather guess we'll not.
She that's trim may be a fat one,
She that's sweet some day be grim,
When by merely looking at one
She will squelch the soul in him.
Let us then go billing, cooing;
Let us call them sweet and fair;
It is lovely to be wooing,
But you'd better stop right there.
