LETTER TO C. T. MUNFORD.
Greenville N. C.
Dear Sir: The easiest business in this world is dry-goods; the reason is, your customers want your stuff as much as you want to sell it; they come in; you show it and sell it. That's the whole business except you buying the goods.
Devoe comes next. It saves money, and people like money. They like some-body else's more than their own; they like to make it more than to save it; they like to keep it perhaps as well as to make it.
Buildings run-down fast, with old paint; poor paint is the same. Devoe is the means of stopping that leak; a big one. All we've got to do, to sell Devoe, is to show that a maas saves money by using it.
E D Jewell, Carry, Pa, painted his house 5 years ago with a mixed paint; 14 gallons. Last spring he painted Devoe; 10 gallons. Saved $15 to $20.
Yours truly
F. W. DEVOE & Co.
P. S. H. L. Carr sells our paint.
Dr. W. H. Wakfield, of Charlotte, N. C., will be in Greenville at Hotel Bertha, on Monday June 13th and until noon on Tuesday 14th. His practice is limited to Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat, and fitting glasses. e-o-d & w.

WILSON-BLOW NUPTIALS.
A beautifully brilliant wedding was celebrated at the Methodist church at 9 o'clock last evening, May 18th, 1904, the ceremony was performed by the pastor Rev. J. A. Hornaday.
The contracting parties were Mr. Walter B. Wilson and Miss Lizzie Blow—two of the most popular and beloved of Greenville's best people. The church was gorgeously decorated with the most artistic taste—a real Eden of white and green flowers—triple arch—with lovely ornamentations and mounds of flowers scattered in luxuriansness. Long before the hour of 9 o'clock the church was filled to its utmost capacity and hundreds stood in the lobby and on the streets in front and around the church, anxious to see the popular couple.
At the appointed hour the bridal party entered the brilliantly lighted church, the ushers in full dress, Dr. H. Carr and J. R. Moore on the right, and R. W. King and J. D. Garden on the left, following were the bridesmaids: Misses Lillian Cherry and Betsy Greene, Lottie Blow and Mary Higgs, Annie Lawrence and Myrtle Wilson. Following were the groomsmen: John R. Davis and Dr. Zeno Brown, W. L. Brown and W. B. Wilson, Jr., J. B. Higgs and B. W. Mosely. Following these were Mrs. W. H. Dal, Jr., Mrs. H. A. White and Mrs. Richard Williams dames of honor, and Miss Fannie Devoe, maid of honor. Then came the bride on the arm of her brother, W. J. Blow, up the left aisle, while the groom with his brother, Frank Wilson, up the right aisle. The wedding march was beautifully rendered by Mrs. J. B. Cherry. After the impressive ceremony was performed and the benediction pronounced the bridal party, and a host of friends, repaired to the home of the groom, in South Greenville, where a brilliant and delightful reception was held—where the chivalry and beauty were resplendent. Many costly and beautiful gifts were displayed, showing the great popularity and high esteem with which these contracting parties are held. The bride was handsomely and exquisitely dressed in white—point de esprit over tulle, the maids in pure white, carrying flowers, the dames in white silk with flowers. The groom and his attendants were in full evening dress. The weather was auspicious and all went beautiful as a wedding bell indeed and in truth.
The host of friends of the bride and groom wish for them much joy and happiness.—Daily Reflector 19th.

CLOSING OF GRADED SCHOOL A GREAT SUCCESS.
The closing of the graded school Friday was a great day of success for the educational interest of Greenville and vicinity. It was indeed joyable to every one present, and there was a large crowd of representative people of Greenville and surroundings. The occasion was truly, 'A feast of reason and a flow of soul'.
The exercises were begun by a musical duet by Misses Blow and Goodson followed by vocal duet by Mrs. J. B. Cherry and Miss Nina James. A beautiful and impressively eloquent prayer by Rev. J. B. Jones of the Wilson Christian church. Then followed, a beautiful vocal duet by Misses Blow and Goodson.
The speaker, Dr. B. F. Dixon, late auditor, was introduced by F. C. Harding in the most intelligent, artistic and beautiful piece of rhetoric that it has been the pleasure of Greenville to listen to ever before. Ornate, classic and altogether a sparkling, exquisite, masterful gem—that pleased every body and brought down the house.
Dr. Dixon in beginning his address said he wondered why he had been invited to speak on this occasion when we had demonstrated, with us already. For one hour and half Dr. Dixon spoke to the great dilectability of the audience. In a burst of eloquence would he rise to a flight supreme, then, with fauest wit and humor—pathos, and sarcasm.
The audience was kept in perfect delight, not realizing that time was passing so rapidly. There is but one Dr. B. F. Dixon—magnificently fine looking—a benignant that pleases everybody. A wonderful store of the milt of human kindness, beaming in his countenance,—with ripe varied experience in life—a statesman soldier and magnificent gentleman. Those who did not attend Friday have much to regret. Just such a day cannot be enjoyed again. The mark of respect, shown by the leading merchants closing their places of business from 11 to 12 o'clock and attending the closing scenes of the first year of the graded school shows the earnestness of the people before the subject of high and more general education. So note it be.

Funeral of W. L. Cobb.
The funeral of Warren L. Cobb took place Friday afternoon at May's Chapel in the family burying grounds in Beaver Dam Township. Heart failure was the cause of his death. His father, J. C. Cobb, four brothers, R. J., L. A. and J. H. Cobb, of Pitt County, and C. C. Cobb, of Norfolk, and two sisters, Mrs. C. D. Hooks and Mrs. Ola Forbes, survive him.
Closing of Farmville Graded School.

The Meeting.
The interest at the meeting in the Christian church is unabated. Last night the church was filled, and the greatest interest manifested. The young people are attending and listening with the closest attention.
Mr. Jones preached from the subject, "Behold I stand at the door and knock." With great earnestness he spoke of the various ways by which God knocked at the hearts of sinners. He knucks by his goodness, by warnings and by afflictions.
The interest manifested exceeds the expectations of the church, the meeting is one week old and there have been thirteen additions.
The subject for to night will be the "Model Church."
This afternoon Mr. Jones held a special service for the children. Tomorrow afternoon there will be meeting for "Men Only." Every man in town is invited to be present.

The Japs have demonstrated the utility of the torpedo boat and here after the nations of the world will hesitate longer before deciding to spend millions on many heavy battleships, each of which may be put out of business by one stroke from a smaller and less expensive vessel, containing but a few men. Hundreds of men are shut up in a cumbersome, floating sheet of steel, and against them are opposed a few who seek only the opportunity to place one quick blow which will send men and millions to the bottom. There is a serious similarity between these conditions and those which prevailed at the time armor was made of no effect by the utilization of gunpowder.—Atlanta Journal.

Col. Worthington Dead.
Col. Worthington was well known in this part of the state and had many friends who will regret to learn of his death. The News and Observer says of him:
"In the death of the late Col. D. Worthington, the state loses a patriot who served North Carolina well in peace and in war. He was but a boy in 1861 when the South seceded, but he promptly volunteered and won promotion by conspicuous bravery. He served several terms in the General Assembly, was chairman of the Judiciary Committee, and bore a conspicuous part as a leader. He practiced law at Williamston, Rocky Mount and Wilson and was an honor to that honored profession. He was the author of a delightful book, depicting the Southern life at its best. For more than a year, in failing health, he made his home with his daughter, Mrs. H. H. Horne, at Hanover, N. H. He passionately loved his State and his friends. He closed an honorable career in peace."

It is a topic of general remark among all strangers with whom we meet "that the people in and around Ayden are as sociable and pleasant as any with whom they are thrown in contact, and that our resources and surroundings are as great as could possibly be desired, if only the proper spirit of enterprise and zeal were manifested as they ought and should be. It is alone with our people to take advantage and develop that which is theirs in order that wealth immense may come to their doors." What will you do? Nothing is accomplished without an effort.

Discussing the speed attained on the railroads, The Manufacturers' Record says.
"We may expect to see a mile-a-minute through runs in the South and Southwest about as soon as in any other part of our country. The development of these sections has given a great impulse to the building and improving of railroads, and the wide stretches of territory to be traversed between centers of population tend to increase the demand for higher speed. As traffic conditions warrant more and more expenditures will be made upon the great lines of transportation that will result in a very high development of track which is the very foundation of all practical efforts to provide high-speed express service."

Counted Himself Out.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 16.—"One two, three." Raising himself to his elbow and slowly, but painfully breathing his last breaths, Dr. Crayke Priestly a great-grand-son of Dr. Joseph Priestly, of England, discoverer of oxygen, with seemingly studied emphasis counted time today against pneumonia death. As he faintly whispered "three," he gasped, his muscles relaxed and he fell back dead.

Dr. Priestly was one of an unbroken line of physicians of more than ordinary distinction since the days of the great London physicians His father, James Taggart Priestly, survive him. Young Priestly became afflicted with pneumonia a few days ago. He grew rapidly worse, but rallied and was thought to be improved. Suddenly he became worse and messengers were dispatched for friends, who came in time to see the young physician count himself out.

In any view of the matter, the controversy between Judge Peebles and the Roberson county lawyers is unfortunate. From the inception of the affair The Post deplored it, foreseeing that it must lead to unpleasant developments that would involve both parties in a bitter contest. The present situation justifies the paper's forebodings. In regretting the complications between the bench and bar it is not necessary to say whether the lawyers had a right to take the action which was the occasion of the offense to his honor, or not; or whether the judge ought to have taken it to heart in the way he did or not. Whatever the final judicial determination of the matter may be all good people must unite in deploring any measure of punishment or adum that may fall upon one or the other party to the controversy. In view of the answer and affidavits that were filed at Lumberton Monday, it now appears impossible for either side to the controversy to withdraw from it with honor.—Raleigh Post.
