BENSONIZER LUNG CURENO MORE EXILE FOR CONSUMPTIVES.

A Cure at Last Obtained, After a Searching Investigation, by St. Louis Interests.

A few months ago the attention of a few scientific and philanthropic gentlemen of St. Louis was directed to an entirely new method of combating that most dreadful of all diseases, tuberculosis, commonly called consumption. Out of 115 test cases, 77 were completely cured and 28 have shown such improvement that their ultimate recovery is but a question of a few weeks. So astonishing have been the results and absolute cures in cases pronounced incurable by all old methods that a company has been formed and is now prepared to furnish at a normal cost this cure to all sufferers of the "White Plague." One of its chief features is that patients can remain at home, surrounded by friends and relatives, and in a great many instances, especially the incipient or early stages of the disease, pursue their daily vocations and still become completely cured. Patients receiving the same treatment here in St. Louis have completely recovered as rapidly as those in Colorado, New Mexico and Texas. The wonderful results in question have been accomplished by the Bensonizer, and the company which controls this marvelous medical device have located their main office at 417 North Seventh street, St. Louis. They have also located a factory on Easton avenue and a laboratory has been built at Hillside, Mo. The cure will be known as the Bensonizer Lung Cure, and Mr. C. P. Benson, the discoverer of the fluid inhalant which is used, will personally have charge of the affairs of the company. Mr. Benson will personally meet all who call at the office of this company on Seventh street, and will answer all communications from sufferers who are unable to make a personal call.—From the St. Louis Globe Democrat.

The amount of valuation of real and personal property as listed for the town of Ayden for 1904 is $103,397, personal $196,707—total $300,104. Polls 168. There is something over $8,000, yet to be listed.

There are rumors of more brick stores, but we cannot yet tell for the wind listeth mightily and the sound thereof has formed no definite shape.

The increase in valuation of real and personal property over last year in Contentnea is exceeded only by one other in the county and that by a very small margin. Our increase was something over $40,000.

Had Pleasant Dance at Washington.

Friday afternoon a party of young people left here for the pavilion below Washington to attend a dance. Arriving at Washington it was found that the rains had made it too wet for dancing at the pavilion, so the young men of that town arranged for a dance in Elks hall in honor of the visitors, and they report a delightful time.

The party was chaperoned by Mrs. M. H. Quinerly and consisted of Miss Myrtle Moore, of Pittsboro, Miss Alice White, of Greensboro, Miss Makeley, of Edenton, Misses Mary Higgs and Nina James, J. Benj. Higg, J. Burt James, T. M. Hooker, Charlie James, C. S. Forbes, C. W. Harvey, Robert Howard, Argall Vick, Hill Horne and Fred Forbes.

Washington, August 4.—There is a probability that the national democratic congressional committee will inaugurate an attack on one of the big trusts without awaiting the action of the administration. The trust in question is the so-called tobacco trust, and moving spirit behind the proposed campaign is Congressman John Wesley Gaines, of Tennessee.

Congressman Gaines has been making an investigation of the tobacco trust methods, especially in Tennessee and Kentucky, and has gathered information bearing on the trusts in Ohio, West Virginia and Connecticut also. Much of the information is yet unclassified. The feeling at headquarters is most favorable toward the lending of the aid of the congressional committee to Gaines and his assistant investigators.

A Beautiful Sermon.

A preacher in Kansas the other day delivered a brief but very beautiful sermon. Here it is: "A word to you all. Post mortem praises and love are in the air. People stoop to kiss the dead who never stoop to kiss their living; they hover over open caskets in historic solb, but fail to throw their arms around their loved ones who are fighting the stern battles of life. A word of cheer to the struggling soul in life is worth more than the roses of Christendom piled high on casket covers. The dead cannot smell the flowers, but the living can; scatter them broadcast in their pathways therefore, and pluck out the thorns before it is too late.

Blood in the Cup.

Wilmington, N. C., Aug. 5.—Frenzied and half crazy after a protracted spree, Chris Eilers, a middle aged man residing in Wilmington, quarrelled with his wife, a most estimable woman, upon his return to Carolina Beach, early tonight, and drawing a 32 caliber pistol, shot Mrs. Eilers in the head. Then turning the pistol upon himself he sent a bullet into his throat. The wound of Mrs. Eilers may prove fatal, but that of the husband is slight.

An Index of Progress.

We learn from an exchange that the president of the Southern railroad reports that the past year has been by far the most successful one in the history of that corporation.
This statement must be regarded as significant, to say the least. As we have repeatedly urged, there is no better index to the progress or decline of a section than the increase or decrease in the net earnings of its railroads for this is indicative of a prosperity or retrogression that is not confined to any particular class of people. Judged by this standard alone it would seem that the south is making unprecedented progress along industrial lines just at present.
It is a fact that should be a source of peculiar gratification to those who are interested in the material welfare of this section.—Winston Sentinel.

There seems to be no cessation to the number of buggies daily run out by the Ayden Milling & Mfg. Co. Employing only skilled labor allowing no shoddy goods to leave their factory we are not surprised at the result and that too when they pay their workman prices in conformity with their labor. Naturally good and good alone most redound to the credit of such a firm. Proper appreciation all around is generally recognized everywhere.

We have been a resident of Ayden just four months yesterday. During that time more than thirty new houses have been built, five brick stores erected and a handsome new brick church completed. Something over one hundred people have made their home among us and there is an air of growth and development all around that is indeed encouraging. If only our men of means would take more interest, display greater enterprise, there is no telling what Ayden might be.

Life is probably the most uncertain thing in the world. You have it now—for how long? No one knows. One of the most certain things in the world is a good life insurance policy. See W. E. Hooks and get one immediately.

The game of ball here last Friday between Epworth and Ayden was just simply a walkover for our boys. There is nothing lacking on the part of Epworth only a little more home practice might prove to their benefit. The score stood 17 to 2 in favor of Ayden. Eight innings were played by the home team and nine innings were played by the visitors. Our boys were not amused, no, not even a little bit. They are craving something better.

THE EASTERN REFLECTOR

SEMI-WEEKLY—TUESDAY AND FRIDAY.

D. J. WHICHAID, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

Entered in the post office at Greenville, N. C., as second class matter. Advertising rates made known upon application. A correspondent desired at every post office in Pitt and adjoining counties.

Truth in Preference to Fiction

GREENVILLE, PITT COUNTY, N. C., FRIDAY, AUGUST 12, 1904.

If water works it is more than some people can be induced to do.

Front porch gatherings may make the noise, but the seat of quiet, telling war.

If the republican wave of prosperity rolls much further the other way it will be a trough instead of a billow.

The news has come again that Port Arthur has fallen. The reader can believe it or not, just as best suits his fancy.

Judge Parker has tendered his resignation of a seat on the Supreme court bench and enters the race for president with clear skirts.

Let us have our next governor Glenn to come down and make a speech in Pitt county. The people want to shake his hand and hear him speak.

This is the week for military encampment at Morehead about which Wilmington has raised so much noise because it did not go to Wrightsville.

The negro crum, of Charleston fame, was on the notification committee to break the news to Fairbanks. He got a prominent seat on the front porch.

In the eighth district convention it took seventy-eight ballots to nominate a man for congress. W. C. Newland captured the prize at the end of the long contest.

The orphanage at Montreat, near Asheville, was totally destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon. There were twenty-four children in the house but all were saved without much difficulty.

The Toledo, Ohio, boys and girls who secreted saws in bananas and passed them through the window of the jail to prisoners, were up to a sharp trick. I was discovered in time to prevent a jail delivery.

The excessive rains are doing much damage to crops. The prospects of a week ago, which were at that time the best on record, have declined greatly and every day that the rain continues makes the condition worse.

Greenville is slow about taking a step toward a building and loan association. When the fact is taken into consideration that a home could be paid for with the money given for rents it looks like everybody should be anxious for such an association. And to have the people owning the houses in which they live would tend largely to the prosperity of the town.

It is dollar wheat again.

From all over the state complaints are heard of injury to crops by the excessive rains.

The democratic national executive committee has made headquarters in New York.

The campaign this year will be confined mainly to September and October, making it a short and warm contest.

Governor Aycock has three bids in hand for the Atlantic & North Carolina railroad and other bids are in prospect.

New York butchers are joining in the strike through sympathy with the Westerns contingent. Republic can prosperity continues to move.

Now the dispatches say that the fall of Port Arthur is inevitable. It has fallen so many times already, but bobs up again at the same place.

Communication between the executive mansion at Raleigh and the chamber of commerce head quarters at Wilmington has been rung off. In the meantime Morehead is enjoying the military encampment.

A republican nominee for judge in West Virginia, and a republican nominee for presidential elector in the same state, have both resigned and declared for Parker and Davis. Wonder if that don't give Steve Elkins the shakes.

Another chapter of horrors has been added to the record of casualties for this eventful year. Near Pueblo, Col., a world's fair train crowded with people plunged through a bridge, the engine and two cars following into the swollen stream below. A hundred lives were lost in the terrible disaster.

As good as this old world is, some people get in a hurry to leave it without much concern as to how they go. A Memphis woman saturated her clothing with kerosene oil and applied a match to the oil. She regarded this brief torture as light to the mental anguish she was suffering.

The New York Sun says one result of the disfranchisement of the negro in the south has been the enactment of temperance legislation in nearly every Southern state. Then surely the whole country ought to commend the South for bringing about two good measures. Taking the elective franchise from persons incompetent to exercise it is good in itself, and removing the evil effects of saloons is even better.

NEITHER BORROW NOR STEAL

The Free Press is a modest little sheet in its way, yet it flatters itself that it is worth something. It certainly costs something to get it out, and unless the money we put in to it is lost in the general shake up the output should be worth a considerable sum.

At least we don't consider the Free Press deserves the fate of being either borrowed or stolen or put at the mercy of the deadbeat. Yet it is subjected to these three dangers.

Let's have a reformation in this matter. If the paper is worth reading it is worth the moderate amount we ask for it. Let's tote fair.—Kinston Free Press.

THE REFLECTOR feels like saying something along this same line. A heavy drain on a paper is its borrowing constituency, and there are many around Greenville who come under this class. Doubtless those who borrow and read a paper think it a small thing and perfectly legitimate, but in doing so they are appropriating just that much of the paper's capital without giving any return therefor. If all readers were paying subscribers the papers would be enabled to make more improvements, and every one who reads ought to be willing to pay the small subscription price.

PRESENT DAY NEWS.

Whenever a man gets in public position, even his private affairs become public property, and no little detail of his movements seems too small or trivial for the reporters to send to the papers. Here is an item we see about the democratic nominee for vice-president:

"Elkins, W. Va., Aug. 7.—In keeping with his usual custom, Henry G. Davis attended services at the Presbyterian church, both morning and evening, today, the interim being spent quietly about his home. After dinner he took a walk about the grounds, visiting his deer park, in which are a dozen West Virginia mountain deer and looking over other interesting scenes about his beautiful farm."

That is great news. In about the same way they tell when Judge Parker goes a swimming, and if Cleveland spends half an hour rocking the baby it is flashed over the wires for the public to read. And if Roosevelt comes out with a little blacker hued necktie than he wore the last time this is the foundation for an item. Even the female members of the households do not escape the reporter's pen, and sometimes equally ridiculous items are printed about them.

A case from South Carolina will be argued before the Supreme Court of the United States when it meets next October, which may have an important bearing on the dispensary institutions that now exist in North Carolina. The court will decide whether the dispensaries must pay the government retailer's tax.

The government revenue officials have held that the managers of the dispensary are actually liquor dealers, and as such must pay the tax imposed by revenue laws.

The state of South Carolina has entered a suit against the federal government for the recovery of such sums of money as have been paid in on this account. The suit, which was filed in the court of claims, was dismissed, and then an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court.—Wilmington Messenger.

EXTENSION OF R. F. D. SERVICE.

WASHINGTON N. C., Aug. 4, 1904. EDITOR REFLECTOR: I will ask you kindly to publish a brief communication in the interest of the extension of the rural free delivery service. The value and convenience of this service to the farmers who live more or less remote from existing post offices cannot be questioned. If one doubts it let him go into the homes of those who are now served by the rural carrier.

There are at present 57 routes in this district. The following counties have two or more existing routes: Pitt, Martin, Beaufort, Pasquotank, Chowan, Hyde, Perquimans and Washington. Pitt stands at the head of the list and has in actual operation 24 routes. The next in order are Martin county 8 routes, Beaufort county 6 routes, and Pasquotank 5 routes. The counties of Chowan Perquimans and Hyde have each 4 routes and Washington county has two routes.

There are petitions pending for 21 routes starting from a number of postoffices. It is significant that the applications for this service are more numerous and insistent where the service has already been established.

There are six counties in which no routes have yet been established, namely: Currituck, Camden, Gates, Hertford, Tyrrell and Dare. Applications are pending in Gates county for one route each from Corapeake and Sunbury postoffices and an application for one route in Hertford county is pending from Harrellsville postoffice.

It would be extremely gratifying if this service could be extended to Currituck, Camden and Tyrrell counties. It is probable that the service could not be established in any part of Dare county except in Roanoke Island where probably an ideal route could be arranged.

It is necessary that the people of the locality which desires this service shall first move in the matter by laying out a route and getting up a petition and a map and forward the same to their representative. All that your representative can do is to call the matter to your attention and emphasize its importance. Any citizen who takes an initial part in this movement will deserve the thanks of his community.

I shall be happy to hear from any citizen and to forward literature and blank petitions. Each route must start from a post office, preferably located on a railroad or at a county seat. It must embrace a distance of about 25 miles and there must be at least 100 heads of families to be served.

Very respectfully,
JOHN H. SMALL

We have it from the Nashville American that the Outlook editorially states that "the negro is really the most intelligent citizen in the South," and to this idiotic statement the Washington Post adds: "He is also more intelligent than some people who are writing editorials in the North." To this the Observer begs to add that he is also more self-respecting than those Southern white people who renew their subscriptions to the Outlook after this blanket insult to their section.—Charlotte Observer.

Right on the heels of that awful tragedy which took President McKinley from the stage of action, Mr. Roosevelt declared that it was his purpose to carry out the policies of his illustrious predecessor. Today there is but one man among all the prominent men of this country who says he has done what he said he would do, and that one man is the president himself. All the others say he has done so such thing.—Lexington Dispatch.

Drinking Men at a Discount.

Total abstinence pledges, prohibition laws, the exhibition of "horrible examples," and the preaching of intemperance as a sin may have had a certain amount of influence in deterring men from drinking, but the social sentiment against intemperance as an imprudence has accomplished far more. Drunkenness has become disreputable and is looked on as a deplorable disease. People are more sensible. The strain of modern social conditions, it has been found, compels sobriety. The drunkard cannot keep the pace, and falls behind those who hold their appetites in restraint.—Exchange.

Republicans claim that the Democrats are not fighting fair, in making the paramount issue of the campaign Roosevelt, instead of the tariff, imperialism or some other subject that they could more easily handle. But Roosevelt is not kicking. He likes to be in the public eye and he has conceit enough to believe that the public likes to gaze at him, and that his record can stand publicity. The tide against Rooseveltism is strong though, and unless there is a turn, he will soon be a private citizen of some New York county, for the first time since he last accepted a public office.—Wilmington Messenger.

The philosopher of The Wilmington Star says: "On the fence is no place for any kind of politician. The politician who straddles the fence will find out that it is all barbed wire, ready to help itself to pieces of breeches and hunks of meat. The fellow who hasn't got plenty of grit in his craw and a backbone that won't wobble had better stay out of politics till he learns to be a man." It may be added that the barbs on the political fence this year are particularly long and sharp. The "on the fence" man is destined to have a very uncomfortable time.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Notice.

I have made arrangements with the Norfolk and Southern Railroad Co. by which delegates returning from the congressional and judicial democratic convention, to be held at Edenton on the 17th inst., in returning to points on the line of said company may secure tickets at one-half the regular first-class fare on presentation of certificates signed by the secretaries of the two conventions. Such tickets will be on sale in Edenton from August 18th to 10th inclusive. This means the delegates to the two conventions may go to Edenton and return from points on the Norfolk and Southern railroad or steamer lines at the cost of one and one half fares.

Ruining Tobacco Crop.

Dr. F. L. Stevens, of the faculty of the A. and M. College, has returned from Granville county where he went for the North Carolina experiment station to investigate the reports of a disease destroying tobacco.

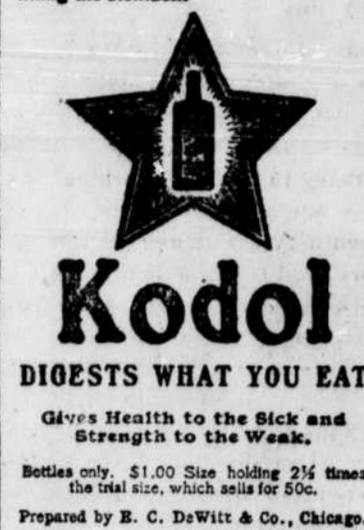

Dr. Stevens found an area about 22 by 18 miles infected with a serious soil disease which is playing havoc with the crop. This place is in the very center of the bright or golden tobacco belt, which has been producing a high grade weed. The complaint causes the leaves to wilt and finally reaches the root and kills the plants. Dr. Stevens says that the disease is extending into a wider territory each year. The only remedy suggested is to try some other crop on bank, stating in substance that the land and perhaps within 20 years the disease may be eradicated. - Raleigh Post.
