OUR SPLENDID GRADED SCHOOL.

EDITED BY REFLECTOR:

The good people of Greenville are the best people in the world, and when they make the effort, what they do undertake is done and done well. It is the remark of those who compare us with other places that Greenville, though slow, is sure to get there when it does start. It would be a revelation to the patrons, and in fact to every one who would take a trip up to the graded school and spend one hour in observing the daily routine work being done, the manner of doing it, and especially to see the training and discipline, being taught, and the splendid adaptability with which the pupils appreciate it. I say it would be a revelation to many. There are some kickers in every community who will not be ready to go when Gadiel blows his horn, or will want to go some other route, or who will not wish the "quick step" of the march. They want to go to the graded school, or anywhere else, if they can help it. They had rather stay away from such places for fear of being interested and entertained. They are not many, and they can go on in their wicked ways, but to those who do feel a substantial interest in the future of the boys and girls of the town and community I would specially ask that they go up without giving notice any time in the morning session, and they will be glad that such an institution is a part of the vestiture of the prosperous town they live in. Just look in at any time in any of the grades, and they will be astonished. The entire of teachers are exceptionally fine. We do ask the people to go and see.

Repairing Storm Damage.

New York, Nov. 15.—While considerable progress had been made in repairing the damage wrought by Sunday night's gale, conditions today had by no means become normal. After more than thirty six hours of steady work the repair crew sent out by the telephone and telephone companies had succeeded in patching up the main lines, but the wires in many cases were worked under most discouraging conditions and were unable to handle the great mass of matter that had accumulated. Good connections had been established between New York, Philadelphia and Boston, but beyond those points emergency circuits were still in use. Wall Street was in much better condition than yesterday. Direct communication between the Cotton Exchanges of New York and New Orleans, which was entirely cut off yesterday, had been established by the Western Union, and there were two wires between New York and the cattle and grain markets in Chicago.

In Eastern Maine where more than 1,200 telegraph and telephone poles were blown down during the storm, the wires were still out of service.

Dr. H. O. Hyatt will be in Greenville at Hotel Bertha December 5th, 6th and 7th. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for the purpose of treating diseases of the eye and fitting glasses. Those not able to pay a fee will be examined free.

THE KING AND THE KING.

Written for the REFLECTOR:

The Chieftain of J. and B. Now a part of the Greenvilleing; A marvelous kid indeed is he. To utterly vanquish an angry King.

The Chieftain of J. and B. Seemed greedy we must admit. He gave to the king only one out of three

Of the votes of the people of Pitt. This Chieftain of J. and B. So handsome and fat and sleek. Honored and trusted by all is he. While the angry King o'er his sins must weep.

This Chieftain of J. and B. To serve his people will surely try. For he's honest and true as all will see. As he enjoys his scripting pie.

And now a little advice we'll give To the King whose tears are hid. Never again so long as you live, Monkey with the Chieftain kid.

Free Mulberry Trees for North Carolina.

The past several seasons' experience in silk-growing in North Carolina has demonstrated that the women and children of this state may by light and interesting work during six weeks of early summer and without interfering seriously with the ordinary duties, each earn from $30.00 to $40.00. Those who can devote more time to the work may earn more. Every pound of silk cocoons grown in North Carolina in 1904 has been sold at 90 cents to $1.00 per pound.

It is necessary to increase the available supply of silk-worm food. Every farm and village lot in North Carolina, having dry soil, should have at least 100 trees.

The fruit of seedling mulberries is excellent for poultry and hogs. The roots spread widely near the surface of the soil and will prevent even steep hillsides from washing. We recommend that farmers plant seedling mulberries 12 x 12 feet apart, permitting the plants to branch low. Use the field as a run for poultry or hogs and allow the children of the family to have the leaves for feeding silk worms as a source of pocket money.

In order to encourage the planting of the white mulberry, the North Carolina Department of Agriculture will distribute during the fall of 1904, among the farmers of the State, rooted seedling trees in lots of 50 and 100. Not more than 100 will be sent to one person. Recipients of trees will be required to pay postage or expressage at the rate of one cent per tree. This amount must be enclosed with application. Seed stamps or money order—not bank checks.

Address applications to and make money orders payable to the undersigned.

GERALD MCCARTHY, Biologist, N. C. Department of Agriculture, Raleigh, N. C.

His Address is Greenville.

Some of the state papers in publishing the names and postoffice address of the members elect of the next legislature, give the address of J. B. Little, one of Pitt's representatives, as Pactolus. While Mr. Little is a citizen of Pactolus town, ship, his address is E. F. D. No. 5, Greenville.

GRIMESLAND ITEMS.

GRIMESLAND, N. C., Nov. 11.

For the last few weeks our people have been thinking and working upon two important matters the election and the Charitable Brotherhood picnic. The first passed off quietly Tuesday and we are all satisfied with the result. Yesterday the Charitable Brotherhood had one of the greatest and best picnics ever given in North Carolina. There were thirty nine barbecued pigs besides other meats and trimmings and several thousands of people to eat them.

The C. B. H. held a special meeting in their lodge room in forenoon and laid out a programme for grand parade, etc. The parade under the management of chief marshal J. L. Gibson, began at 11 o'clock and after marching through the streets of the town made halt at the long tables already laden with as tempting a dinner as it has ever been our pleasure to see. There was plenty and more than enough to fill the immense crowd that came for to eat. The Grimesland lodge is a very strong organization and is extended invitations to all the lodges in Beaufort and Pitt counties and they come too, and were welcome. Hon. Frank G. Paul of Washington, made a pleasant after dinner speech, setting forth the objects and plans of the C. B. H.

This writer, though not a member of C. B. H., has watched its work in this neighborhood, and can say that it has done a great and good work here.

Our best citizens are its members, both rich and poor, all working for each other's benefit. One thing especially in C. B. H. is, that their charity is not confined to its own members, but they have, and do help others outside of their order.

We are in a position to know that they look after the sick ones, and help the widows and orphans and have improved the moral tone of our community. They practice charity, and teach morality, and brotherly love.

May the order prosper and grow in number till every community in the state is organized and feels its good effect.

Snow.

The first snow of the season fell here Sunday afternoon. It came thick and fast for awhile, but the ground was too wet for it to stick.

Some Italian laborers are here working on the town improvement.

Mrs. J. F. Boyd Dead.

Mrs. Emma Boyd, wife of Mr. John F. Boyd, died at 3:30 this morning at their home four miles from town. Mrs. Boyd was a victim of consumption and had been in poor health several months. She was a daughter of the late Mr. John H. McCliner and a sister of Misses Sue and Len McCliner. She had been married forty-two years and leaves four sons and four daughters, all of whom are grown. The funeral services will be held in the Episcopal church here Wednesday afternoon, the interment being in the church cemetery. Daily Reflector November 15th.

Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Emma Boyd, wife of Mr. John F. Boyd, was held this afternoon in the Episcopal church, conducted by Rev. W. E. Cox. The interment was in the church cemetery. The pall bearers were:

Messrs. J. B. Cherry, H. Harding, F. Ward, McG. Erwin, J. J. Querry and R. Williams.

Critically Ill.

Clifford Tyson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tyson, is very ill at their home on Fifth street. He was taken Saturday with appendicitis, and Tuesday evening his condition became so alarming that Dr. D. T. Taylor, of Washington, was telephoned for and at 2 o'clock this morning he, with Dr. Laughinghouse and Moye, performed an operation. The little fellow stood the operation bravely and today his condition has been as favorable as could be expected, though he is yet very sick indeed. All hope he will get along well and soon be restored to health.

Tom Dewey Seen.

It will be of interest to many in this city to know that Thomas W. Dewey, late of New Bern, is living in peace and quietude in San Antonio, Texas, engaged in work as a chemist and sailing under the high-sounding name of Thaddeus Von Weber.

A gentleman who has been on a commercial trip in the southwest and when in San Antonio, suddenly met Dewey, with whom he merely exchanged salutations and learned from other sources as to his name and business.—New Bern Journal.

W. B. Wilson & Son.

W. B. Wilson has associated with him in business his son, W. B. Wilson, Jr. Mr. Wilson established a brokerage business here in 1885 and each year it has grown. His promptness, courtesy and careful attention to orders was for him the utmost confidence of the trade. His son is a "chip off the old block" and they will continue to enjoy a large patronage.

Handsome Work.

R. T. Evans, the photographer, is doing enlarged photo print work that is very artistic. He makes them from the original negative which give the picture the exact flavor and expression of the subject. It is far superior to crayon work, and shows the rapid progress he is making in his profession.

Some Italian laborers are here working on the town improvement.

BENSONIZER LUNG CURE
NO MORE EXILE FOR CON-
SUMPTIVES.

A Cure at Last Obtained, After
a Searching Investigation,
by St. Louis Inventors.

A few months ago the attention of a few scientific and philanthropic gentlemen of St. Louis was directed to an entirely new method of combating the most dreadful of all diseases, tuberculosis, commonly called consumption.
Out of 118 test cases, 79 were completely cured and 23 have shown such improvement that their ultimate recovery is but a question of a few weeks.
So astonishing have been the results and absolute cures in cases pronounced incurable by all old methods that a company has been formed and is now preparing to furnish at a nominal cost this cure to all sufferers of the "White Plague." One of its chief features is that patients can remain at home, surrounded by friends and relatives, and in a great many instances, especially the incipient or early stages of the disease, pursue their daily vocations
and still become completely cured.
Patients receiving the same treatment here in St. Louis have completely recovered as rapidly as those in Colorado, New Mexico and Texas.
The scientific results in question have been accomplished by the Bensonizer, and the company which controls this marvelous medical device have located their main office at 417-19 N. Seventh street, St. Louis. They have also located a factory on Easton avenue and a laboratory has been built at Hillside, Mo. The cure will be known as the Bensonizer Lung Cure, and Mr. C.
F. Benson, the discoverer of the field inhalants which are used, will personally have charge of the affairs of the company. Mr. Benson will personally meet all who call at the office of the company on Seventh street, and will answer all communications from sufferers who are unable to make a personal call. From the St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Kleptomania and Stealing.

The Monroe Enquirer scores a good point when it tells about how the Charlotte papers failed to make a news item complete last week when they refused to give the name of a young lady who stole a lot of goods there during the fair. The reason they refused to give the name was because the young lady belonged to a very prominent family and she was therefore pronounced a victim of Kleptomania, which is a newfangled disease that is said to affect the minds of rich people who steal. It never affects poor people. As the Enquirer says, "If that woman who is such a light fingered thief was nothing more than an ordinary corporate picker whose father was somebody's cropper, the name would be the first thing given." Certainly it would, and she would have been sent to jail and you would have heard nothing about "Kleptomania," either. This is another instance that shows how being prominent and wealthy covers up some awfully bad sins, for it puts a person up where medical science has discovered a disease that will apply in such cases without calling it stealing.—Marshville Home.

Mothers Prattle It.

Mothers everywhere praise One Minute Cough Cure for the sufferings it has relieved and the lives of their little ones it has saved. A cough cure for infants, cough and crouping cough. A. L. Spafford, Pastmaster of Greeter, Minn. says:
"Our little girl was unconscious from a severe cold and cough. One Minute Cough Cure quickly relieved and cured her and I cannot praise it too highly." One Minute Cough Cure relieves, cures, makes pleasant eating, cuts out phlegm, draws out inflammation, and resolves every case of a cough and stomach trouble. Sold by J. L.

REV. J. H. CLEWELL, Ph. D., Principal.

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., March 9th., 1904.

Mr. Chas. M. Stieff, Charlotte, N. C.,
Dear Sir:—It is a little unusual to file an order this late in the season, but we find that the more Steiff Pianos which we add to our music department, the better the results attained in the work. We have added quite a number of your instruments during the last few years, and they have all given good satisfaction. It requires a piano of unusual merit for the constant use which all practice pianos have within our school, but we are glad to be able to say that your instruments have stood the test, and we will continue to purchase from your firm from time to time as the need arises.
I think there are about a dozen now in the school.
J. H. CLEWELL, Principal.

A rare and magnificent display of these pianos can now be seen and heard at Greenville, at lowest factory prices and easiest terms. We also have on the floor several slightly used upright pianos at prices ranging from $175.00 to $225.00. Each instrument is guaranteed for 10 years.
We also have a fine display of organs at surprising low figures ranging in price from a tune.

CHAS. M. STIEFF,
G. G. FINEMAN, Factory Representative.

Yesterday morning on the plantation of A. B. Holton some five or six miles from here the dead body of Nancy Brown, a colored woman was found in the woods. The body bore every indication of foul play.
The clothing was all nearly torn from the person, several bruises about the body and the ground all around bore evidences of a terrible struggle. Further facts than these we could not gain. The coroner's jury when last heard from was investigating the matter and will do all to bring the guilty parties, if such there be, to a speedy justice.

G. Cox may not possibly be as busy as a West street broker yet it is plain as an insurance man gets there. He is not only a success, but has found it necessary to employ assistance. His companies are first class and every body realizes the fact, hence Mr. Cox is to be congratulated in being a buster and having something good to hustle.

J. R. Smith & Bro. treat all their customers with the greatest respect and all an extended an invitation to a local fair store.

Dr. Joseph Dixon has bought the C. L. Patrick property on Main and West Railroad streets. He will commence at a very early date the erection of five handsome brick stores, three facing West Railroad street and two facing Main street. This will be quite an addition and lend much to the general appearance of that part of the town. Dr. Dixon is one among the wealthiest and most progressive citizens. Truly that we had more like him. Such men are of great benefit to any town or community.

Those desiring first-class work in the enlargement of pictures will do well to see Hart Bro.

SHELMDERNE, N. C., Nov. 15, 1904.

Miss Emma Baker, a charming and fascinating young lady, from Kinston, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Stanley, has made many friends in our midst. We all wish to see her leave.

Mr. Crawford, representative of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Kinston, was in town today.

Mr. Fisher, a cigar and tobacco dealer, of Washington, was in town today.

Mrs. F. G. Whaley and friend, Miss Cotton, spent the day in Greenville Monday.

O. G. Calhoun, Supt., of the Beaufort County Lumber Co., dined with Mr. and Mrs. Bobbitt Sunday. Mr. Calhoun is a most charming guest.

The Shelmderne livery under the management of H. H. Stanley, is progressing very rapidly.

Little Emily Cole, who has been quite sick for several days, is convalescent. We are glad to see her on our streets again.

Miss Mary Bell Ricks, who has been sick, is improving, much to the delight of her many friends.

The engineers of the B. C. L. Co. have been much displeased concerning the size of the smoke stacks. We are glad to see N. T. Harrell has been successful in having his changed.

O. D. Baker, M. T. Sledge, C. H. Hobbs, Sidney Hayes, N. G. Sikes, were pleasantly entertained at H. H. Stanley's Sunday afternoon.

J. D. Cox, of Winterville, was in town today. We are always glad to see Mr. Cox.

Turkeys wanted in Shelmderne at market price.

We are glad to see P. H. Harrington out again.

THREE JURORS CURED

Of Cholera Morbus with One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. G. W. Fowler of Hightower, Ala., relates an experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Cleburne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some soured meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he and what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better. I would rather send it to me than the fix I was in. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner and one small bottle cured the three of us." For Sale at Woolen's Drug Store.

A Heavy Load.

To lift that load off of the stomach take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat. Sour stomach, indigestion, gas on stomach and all disorders of the stomach that are curable, are instantly relieved by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. S. P. Sions, a druggist at 297 N. 3rd street, New Britain, Conn., says: "Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is giving such universal satisfaction and is so surely becoming the positive relief and subsequent cure for this distressing ailment, I feel that I am always sure to satisfy and gratify my customers by recommending it to them. I write this to show how well the remedy is spoken of here." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure was discovered after years of scientific experiments and will positively cure all stomach troubles. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten.

A Good Complexion.

"Sparkling eyes and rosy cheeks restored by using DeWitt's Little Early Risers," so writes S. P. Moore, of Nicodoches, Tex. "A certain cure for biliousness, constipation, etc. Small pill—easy to take—easy to get. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten."

Next Door to the Bank of Greenville.

A FEUD

"I'll tell you, Frank, it's got to the point where something must be done," said Mrs. Burnett, and as she spoke she rapped at the small knuckles that were moving toward the sugar bowl. Morton, aged nine, jerked his hand out of the way and laughed at his mother, who pursed up her lips to conceal a smile.

"Don't do that, Morton," said Mr. Burnett. Then, turning to his wife, he asked, "What have they been doing now?"

"That boy and some more of his crowd put tin cans along the top of the fence and then threw at them to knock them off. About every other stone went over the top of the fence and went sailing across our back yard. If one of them had struck anybody he wouldn't have known what hurt him."

The Deakins lived next door, and although there was a dividing fence it had not kept the two families apart.

In the year during which the two households had dwelt side by side there had been a growing enmity. Yet Mrs. Burnett had never spoken a word to Mrs. Deakin, and her husband knew nothing of Mr. Deakin except that he worked with his hands for a living and spent a great many evenings at home.

There were two Deakin children—Lawrence, or Larry, aged ten, and little Willie, who at the tender age of three had learned to regard the Burnett tribe with scorn and hatred and suffer to some degree under the indignities heaped upon his family by that arch fiend of juvenility, Morton Burnett.

For when the Deakins sat around the supper table and cast up the accounts of the day it was Larry who posed as the persecuted and abused child, while Morton Burnett was pictured as an infant of dark intents, headed straight for the bride-well.

"If I was a man, Tom Deakin," said the wife, "I'll warrant you'd go over to that house and give notice that things are simply going too far. Today that boy got up on the fence and called Lawrence all kinds of names."

"He said that his mother had said that ma didn't have clothes fit a weaver," suggested Lawrence, who had begun to breathe hard during the recital of his grievances.

"Anyway, I don't try to make myself look like a peacock every time I start to church," said Mrs. Deakin.

This comparison of Mrs. Burnett to a peacock tickled the children, and they laughed immoderately. Tom Deakin restrained them with a quiet "Tut, tut!" and said that the proper way to get along was to pay no attention to the neighbors.

"I'd like to know how you can help it," said his wife. "That boy is up to some mischief every hour of the day, and his mother seems to encourage him in everything he does. He throws things over into our yard, teases Willie and makes faces at him."

"Next time I see him pick on Willie I'll give him another licking," suggested Larry.

"You'll do nothing of the kind," exclaimed his mother. "Don't you remember the talking to I gave you the other time you had that fight with him?"

Lawrence remembered the mild rebuke, and his inward resolution was not changed. Tom Deakin went for his pipe, oppressed with the thought that he had been very unlucky in his selection of neighbors.

These complaints had come to him day after day from the down-trodden members of his family.

Suppose Morton Burnett to be on the fence. His mother would open the back door and say loudly enough to make herself heard through the open windows of the Deakin house: "Morty, get down from that fence! Haven't I told you about that?"

Mrs. Deakin would hear and understand. Then she would wait her opportunity to appear on the back stoop and retaliate.

In summer time, when both women were out of doors much of the time, they occasionally exchanged glances which were more significant than anything they could have said.

When Mrs. Burnett put out her washing she knew that Mrs. Deakin was watching her and counting the number of clothes she had washed.

When Mrs. Burnett came to the back door and called out, "Come, Alice, dear, and practice your needle lesson," it was equivalent to saying to Mrs. Deakin, "Aha, we have a cottage organ in our house, but you haven't any in yours."

Mrs. Deakin has frequently informed Tom that the Burnett organ was a cheap secondhand thing.

One day when Mrs. Deakin came home from a funeral in a covered carriage there was consternation in the Burnett family, and accounts were not fairly balanced until a new coat of paint was put on the Burnett house.

The Deakin children told the Burnett children all that their mother had said about the probable character of Mrs. Burnett. Likewise the Burnett children repeated to the Deakin children all that they heard at the supper table. Mrs. Burnett knew that she was being reported to Mrs. Deakin, and Mrs. Deakin felt it her duty to learn what the viperish thing had been saying. Frank Burnett and Tom Deakin became convinced each that the other's family was probably more to blame over the fence, clothesline and garbage box issues.

Alice Burnett started to run across the street one day in front of a delivery wagon. She fell, scrambled to her feet again, and the horse's knee struck her in the back. She fell on the black pavement and lay quiet.

Mrs. Deakin saw it all from her front window. She ran into the street and gathered the muddled child in her arms. The frightened driver had left his wagon, and he followed her timidly to the front door of the Burnett house.

Mrs. Burnett screamed and then began to cry.

"Run for a doctor, you loony!" said Mrs. Deakin to the driver as she placed the limp little body on a bed and then ran for cold water and cloths.

When the girl opened her eyes she found her mother on one side, Mrs. Deakin on the other, while a reassuring physician smiled at her over the footboard.

"She's a little jolted up, but it was mostly shock," he said.

"Law me," gasped Mr. Deakin, "when I saw that child fall my heart just went into my throat. Don't cry, Alice, you ain't a bit hurt. The doctor says I can put some more poultice on your head old bump."

"I'll get it," said Mrs. Burnett.

"No; you sit still. You are as pale as a ghost."

That is how it happened that Frank Burnett, coming home from the works by the back way, found in his kitchen the hated vixen, the trainer of criminals, the woman without character—Mrs. Deakin.

She told him what had happened and begged him not to frighten his wife, as there wasn't any real danger.

Mr. Deakin was likewise surprised upon arriving home. Supper was not ready, and his wife had gone over to the enemy. He went after her and was taken in.

Mrs. Deakin told him she couldn't come home because Mrs. Burnett was all upset, and some one would have to take care of the child. So Mr. Deakin and his two boys ate a cold lunch with Mr. Burnett and his boy.

Mr. Burnett sent Morton out to get two cigars, and while the women sat by the bed in the front room the men sat in the back room and smoked, while the three boys, awed by the revolution, kept very quiet.

"If Morton ever bothers you, Mr. Deakin," said Mr. Burnett, "you just let me know, and I'll tend to him."

"I was just going to say to you that Larry's apt to be too gay now and then, and if I ever hear of him picking on your children I'll make him remember it."

In the front room Mrs. Burnett was thanking Mrs. Deakin, who was hoping that her children had never bothered Mrs. Burnett very much. The little girl went to sleep, and the Deakin family went home.

That was the end of the feud. In each household there was a general order that in case of a neighborhood riot punishment should be visited upon those nearest at hand.

These two houses, side by side, became the peace center of the west division.

The Deakin children were at liberty to go over and thump on the Burnett cottage organ.

But who ended the feud, the man or the woman or the six-year-old?

PLEMING-THIGPEN.

Beautiful Home Wedding.

Seldom do we witness a more beautiful wedding than that which was solemnized at the hospitable home of Mrs. Martha Thigpen, just two miles north of Greenville, Wednesday afternoon, when her youngest daughter, Miss Lydia, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. Julius Fleming, of Fictious. All through the house could be seen decorations of palms, ferns and trailing ivy, whilst the parlor was a scene of loveliness, palms, ferns, asparagus and white chrysanthemums here abounding in quantity.

Just as Miss Mary Higgs, of Greenville, skillfully started the favorite wedding march "Mendelssohn's" the ribbon boys, Masters Carey Harrington and Guy Cherry, dressed in pure white, marched in the parlor holding the ribbons.

Then followed Misses Anna Fleming, of Washington and Annie Fleming, of Greenville, dressed in Nun's veiling and carrying huge white chrysanthemums; next came the maid of honor, Mrs. Roper, of Washington, dressed in white silk with a secondarily plaited chiffon trimmings, carrying white chrysanthemums. Then the maid of honor, Miss Estelle Thigpen, sister of the bride, wearing a beautiful dress of white crepe cloth and carrying a bunch of white chrysanthemums.

Then came the bride and groom. The bride wore a beautiful white crepe de chene with real lace trimmings carrying a huge shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley, was a picture of loveliness itself. The Rev. A. T. King, of Greenville, in his usual solemn and impressive manner joined them together as man and wife, using the wedding rings which were borne in by little Miss Elizabeth Cobb, in white silk.

During the ceremony Miss Higgs softly rendered that touching melody "Schubert's Serenade." After congratulations were extended by the large crowd present the happy couple left on the evening train for an extended bridal tour.

Mr. Fleming is one of Pitt county's most popular and progressive young business men. The bride is one of her most beautiful and young daughters. The best of innumerable friends followed.

Buhmann-Dawson Marriage.

Winterville, N. C., Nov. 18.—Special.—One of the most beautiful marriages ever witnessed in Winterville took place this morning at half past seven o'clock, in St. Luke's Episcopal church, when Mr. F. G. Buhmann, of Ayden, and Miss Bertha Dawson, of this place, were united in the bonds of holy matrimony. The church was beautifully decorated in green and white, and the clear crisp morning lent additional loveliness to the scene.

Promptly at half past seven the ushers, Messrs. J. C. Green, of Winterville, and Claude Dawson, of Raleigh, marched up the aisle to the strains of Lohengrin exquisitely rendered by Miss Clyde Harrison, of Raleigh, who presided at the organ.

After them came the maid of honor, Miss Lena Dawson of Eureka, followed by Mrs. S. P. Burt, of Louisville, the dame of honor. As the groom with his best man, Mr. Walter Buhmann, of Greensboro, stepped from the vestry room into the chancel the bride, attired in a lovely blue going-away gown, and carrying bride roses moved up the aisle leaning upon the arm of her brother, Dr. W. W. Dawson.

The groom met her at the chancel steps and led her to the altar where they were united in marriage according to the beautiful ritual of the Episcopal church, Rev. W. E. Cox, of Greenville, officiating.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Buhmann left on the morning train for an extended bridal tour, bearing with them the hearty congratulations and good wishes of all their host of friends.

An informal pre-nuptial reception was given at the home of the bride on College street Tuesday evening. The beautiful display of presents attested the wide popularity of the happy couple.

Among the visitors present at the marriage were Rev. T. H. King and Messrs. Robert Ardson, D. S. Moore, Will Buhmann and David Dobb, of Ayden, O. L. Whitchard, Kinston, R. P. Abernethy, New York, B. C. Pearce, Sanford, N. C., Dr. J. R. Abernethy, Baltimore, Misses Olivia Berry, Ayden, Freda Buhmann, Greensboro, Lila Hazlett, Borden, N. C.

NO CIRCUS.

Forepaugh and Sells Stopped by Wreck. Greenville held a crowd of disappointed people Friday. Thousands were here from all directions expecting to see Forepaugh and Sells Brothers big show. When it was learned that one section of the circus train was in a wreck on the Atlantic & North Carolina railroad there was much disappointment. All the forenoon a crowd was collected around the depot waiting to see the circus train come in and unload, but it never came, and disappointment increased with each passing hour.

It was past 2 o'clock when the circus trains reached Kinston from the wreck and then it was learned that the show would not stop in Greenville at all, but would go on through to Tarboro where it moved from Kinston.

Greenville had been congratulating itself upon having a date with the biggest and best show traveling the South this season, hence there it was all the greater that circumstances interfered with the show here.

CIRCUS TRAIN IN A WRECK.

Two Cars Derailed at Hyman's Siding and Show Was Unable to make Greenville.

A wreck occurred to the second section of trains bearing the Forepaugh and Sells circus this morning at Hyman's siding, six miles west of Newbern, and the circus was unable to meet its engagement to show in Greenville today. The wreck caused a delay of traffic on all trains and it was nearly noon when the mail from Morehead reached this city.

The cause of the wreck is not clearly known, but is thought to have occurred either from the track spreading at the switch or the heavily laden car breaking in the middle. Two cars were derailed but no one nor any of the animals were hurt. The first section had cleared and come on to this city where it has hung up all day to await the arrival of the other sections, as it would be useless for it to go to Greenville without the other sections. There were four sections in all two following the section which was wrecked, but they were flagged and no hurt was done to them.

The two cars derailed were flat cars loaded with poles and tent fixtures, and they were so badly damaged that they will have to go into the shops for repairs, and the loads were transferred to other cars. The time required to remedy the trouble was so long that the circus will go right through to Tarboro and not stop in Greenville at all. At Tarboro the circus closes its season and has been sold and will be delivered to new owners, said to be headed by Al G. Fields, the great minstrel showman of Columbus, Ohio.

President Howland went from Goldsboro to the scene of wreck on a special and Mr. Sells being on the ground the to will probably reach a conclusion as to the cause of the wreck and arrange their difference on the spot. Mr. Sells, in speaking of the accident, was disposed to treat it philosophically and did not fret much, remarking that it all came along with the business, accidents, etc., and said his company had been very fortunate, the first wreck in 4 months.

The circus had a tremendous patronage in Newbern Thursday and it is said a very large crowd had gathered in Greenville to attend it there today and of course their disappointment was keen.—Kinston Free Press, 18th.
