But Come Out Without Injury.
There was a slight wreck on the Atlantic Coast Line Tuesday afternoon, three miles South of Wilson. A freight train was on the siding waiting for the passenger train from Rocky Mount to Selma to pass, when the freight by mistake struck by the engine of the passenger train and the engine turned over.
The engineer of the passenger train was slightly hurt but no one else received any injury. F. M. Hodges and S. T. White, who were enroute to Salisbury, were passengers on this train.

Dr. Martin at School
This morning Dr. Martin and son, Elbert, attended the opening exercises at the graded school and gave a most interesting and entertaining talk on Cuba.
The teachers as well as the pupils listened carefully throughout and enjoyed to the full the recital of some of the gifted speaker's experiences in the "Pear of the Antilles," while there in the interest of the U. S. government under the direction of the late President McKinley.
The Dr. was delighted with the excellent deportment of the scholars and congratulated Prof. Dove again and again upon his excellent management and assistance of such a splendid corps of instructors.
It was with regret that Dr. Martin had to decline an invitation to stay and see the work of the various departments.
He invited the children to attend the revival services as often as possible.

CREDIT CUSTOMERS.

Where They Have an Advantage Over Those Who Pay Cash.
"I should think they'd show more consideration to a good cash customer," exclaimed the shopper, who had just had a woeful encounter over an exchange with the floorwalker. "If they would take the trouble to look the matter up they'd find my name regularly on the delivery books."
"That's just the trouble—it's only on the delivery books and not among their credit customers."
"But I should think the firm would want a big cash trade?"
"It does, but firm and employees look at it differently. When a woman says, 'Charge, please,' the clerk sits up and takes notice. The woman who has an account is the woman who can most easily complain of discourtesy and inattention on the part of a clerk. The value of her trade is known to the firm. She prefaces her complaint with the words, 'As you know, I've had an account here ever since the store was opened.' The cash customer presents a single sale. She cannot prove how valuable her trade is to the house, and the clerk knows it. I've watched the rule work again and again. It almost discourages one in the self imposed task of paying cash."
"But, on the other hand," objected the tired shopper, "if a woman pays cash she buys more carefully, more providently."
"That is just the point," smiled her wise companion. "It is the woman who buys improvidently, sometimes foolishly, who commands the respect and attention of the attention of clerks."—New York Press.

Wanted Some Himself.
A traveling agent for a large wholesale grocery house was selling a bill of goods to one of his customers, a grocer in a little village. "Now," he said, "to wind up with, don't you want a few cans of our maple sirup? You'll find it the best you have ever kept in stock."
"No," said the grocer, "I've plenty of maple sirup."
"When did you get it? I don't remember selling you any when I was here on my last trip?"
"No, didn't. I got this in the country."
"Is it the real stuff?"
"That's what it is. My brother made it in his own camp. He's got 500 tons."
"I'd like to taste it."
"A sample of the country maple sirup was brought out. He tasted it and took the grocer to one side. "Say," he said in a low tone, "I'm not going back on the strictly pure good. I sell of course, but I want a gallon of this stuff for my own use."
The other writer says, "When men build their houses they had constitutions of oak; when they lived in houses of oak they had constitutions of reeds." This is a very fine, picturesque description of the injury which may come to us from fine houses too closely sealed to keep out the fresh air and too heavily curtained, preventing the entrance of sunshine, which is almost or quite as important as air. But it is not at all necessary to have our fine houses unhealthful, and it only requires intelligence and thoughtfulness to render a house of oak as prominent of health as a cabin. Fresh air will come from a well ventilated oaken house as well as through the open cracks in a house of reeds, and sunlight through a window in a palace as well as in a hovel.—Health.

Her Parting Shot.
An old lady well known in a Scotch town for learning and for "taking down" conceited people gave an evening party where a young man was present who was about to leave for an appointment in China, and he formed the subject of attention during the evening. As he was exceedingly extravagant in his conversation about himself, the old lady was all but silent during the evening until he was leaving, when she shook him heartily by the hand, saying, "Tak' care of yourself when ye're awa', for mind ye, they eat puppies in Cheema!"

A Wise Woman.
"Now, for $2," announced the test medium, "I'll sell you a philtar that will make your husband love you to the exclusion of all others."
"I don't think I'll invest," said the practical housewife, "but if you have a philtar that'll make him bring home some of his salary on pay days I'll allow you a percentage on the amount realized."—Philadelphia Bulletin.
An Amended Address.
"Mr. Hunter's married now," said the bride to be, preparing to send out her cards. "You will have to address his invitation to 'Mr. and Mrs. Hunter.'"
"Better not," her brother advised. "She's the boss, so you'd better send the invitation to 'Mr. and Mrs. Hunter.'"
FIVE AGED MEN.
And They Are as Good as Arc Found.
On Saturday afternoon five of our oldest citizens by chance gathered together at the office of Maj. H. Harding. As the conversation turned to old times the question of their ages came up. It was found that the combined ages of the five men aggregated 358 years, or an average of 71 3/5 years. Mr. J. C. Tripp led the party with 77 years behind him. Ex-Sheriff W. M. King came next, 74 years to his credit. The other three, ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis, Mr. Josiah Dixon and Maj. Henry Harding are each 69 and look young for their age. You do not come across better men in bunches of five, either.

CLOSING EXERCISES HELD TUESDAY NIGHT.

We heard a speaker say "the rural schools are the hope of the country." In Pitt county we are measuring up to this hope and the past year has shown remarkable development along educational lines. Not only have the town schools improved, but the rural schools have kept pace with them in the march of progress.

One of the best of the latter is the Quinley graded school, at Centerville, in the Southern section of the county. The people of that fine section come together and put up a splendid building and established a school that can be surpassed. Misses Eugenia Harris and Rosa Quinley were secured as teachers and enrollment was large.
The commencement exercises of the first session took place Tuesday night and the large audience was delighted with what they witnessed. There was a delightful program of vocal and instrumental music, recitations and drills that showed thorough training and preparation. Every pupil seemed perfect in the part taken. Little Miss Viola Kilpatrick, the baby eloquentist, gave several charming recitations.
The address of the occasion was delivered by Dr. James Dinwiddie, president of Peace Institute, Raleigh. His subject was "Character Building" and he gave his hearers much food for earnest reflection. He said if you get a person to do right because it is right and refuse to do wrong because it is wrong, and stand by this decision though the heavens fall, you have won a soul. He emphasized the importance of building wisely when we go about training or influencing a being for life and eternity. As a small stone near the fountain head will divert the course of a stream, so a single act may change the trend of a life and turn its course upward or downward. We are not controlled by our wills, but our wills do what our characters direct.
At the conclusion of the address County Supt. W. H. Ragsdale spoke with interest and earnestness of the educational progress throughout the county and especially of the excellent work done in this school. He congratulated the people and also thanked them and the trustees for the manner in which they had cooperated with the county board of education.

At the first career of the boat Mr. Gomprecht and Capt. Forbes were thrown out on the off side, and as it listed back Messrs. Pindexter, Holmes and Thomson jumped out on the side nearest shore. The latter three swam to land without much difficulty. Capt. Forbes could also have made land easily, but he heard a cry for help from Mr. Gomprecht and noting that the latter had become exhausted, bravely went to his rescue. Mr. Gomprecht had sunk three times when Capt. Forbes reached him, but he was in time to keep him up until others could go to their aid.
Seeing the two men struggling out in the stream, Mr. Holmes broke the lock of a skiff that was fastened at the landing and with Mr. Pindexter went out and got them ashore. The skiff was then used in getting all the others from the gas boat to the shore, and in saving the baggage and freight that was floating in the river.
When all were ashore the men went about to relieve their dilemma as far as possible. Mr. Stiel, being a trousers salesman and his sample trunk being in good shape, provided all with dry pants, and by helping each other out they all managed to get comfortably clothed. Capt. Forbes got the boat righted without much trouble and before night all were ready to resume the journey. The passengers were landed safely in Greenville about 10 o'clock.
The danger being over the passengers could see the humorous as well as the serious side of the accident. They said that Mr. Wolfson displayed marvelous acrobatic qualities by diving through a window every time the boat listed, alternating from side to side so rapidly that he saved himself from being thrown overboard. Another said he had his hands full holding the two colored women and keeping them from jumping overboard with the children. One of the women put up some loud praying. All the baggage that went overboard was damaged. Mr. Gomprecht was the heaviest loss. He had two sample trunks of cloth ing

GAS BOAT CAPSIZED.

Passengers Have Trilling Experience—Capt. Forbes' Heroism.
Friday afternoon as Capt. Ola Forbes' gas boat Altoero was on her trip from Washington to Greenville the boat was accidentally capsized, and there came near being a serious disaster.
The accident occurred about 3:30 o'clock when the boat was about 10 miles from Greenville. W. P. Symonds was on shore and hailed the boat to be taken on board and brought to Greenville. The landing was made and he was taken on board, and while the boat was being bucked out to the channel of the river it struck a submerged log that listed the boat and came near turning it completely over.
There were quite a number of passengers with several trunks and some freight on board. The sudden careening of the boat threw some of these overboard, while others jumped out in the water. The boat rolled back and forth several times and finally settled on one side. The engineer had presence of mind to stop his engine instantly, or the consequences might have been much worse.
The passengers on board were: Gus Gomprecht, Baltimore; Herbert Stiel, Baltimore; W. M. Pindexter, Chatham; L. D. Wolfson, Baltimore; R. A. Jones, Buffalo; J. P. Holmes, Durham; E. H. Thomson, Durham; W. P. Symonds, Greenville.
There were also two colored women with small children on board.
At the first career of the boat Mr. Gomprecht and Capt. Forbes were thrown out on the off side, and as it listed back Messrs. Pindexter, Holmes and Thomson jumped out on the side nearest shore. The latter three swam to land without much difficulty. Capt. Forbes could also have made land easily, but he heard a cry for help from Mr. Gomprecht and noting that the latter had become exhausted, bravely went to his rescue. GRIFTON GRADED SCHOOL.

End of the First Year's Work.
About one year ago the people at Grifton determined they would improve their educational advantages. They secured a consolidation of enough territory to give them children sufficient to have a large school. They built a splendid house and employed and put in charge of the school Miss Olivia Cox, principal, and Misses Bertha Waldrop and Mary Edwards, assistants. They made no mistake in the selection of their teachers. The school, though only one year old, has taken its place at once as one of the best schools of the county. The closing exercises of this first session took place Wednesday at night. In the morning at 11 o'clock Hon. B. R. Lacy, State treasurer, delivered the address. His subject was "Money". For nearly one hour this distinguished, practical, business man, in clear and strong manner showed the money value of education and training. There was a large audience present and every body was delighted both with Mr. Lacy as a man and with his splendid speech. His coming will prove a benediction to Grifton.
At night the exercises were by the pupils and a splendid and elegantly arranged program was presented. For more than two hours a great concourse of people sat delighted at what they were seeing and hearing. Every pupil did his or her part well showing both both talent and training. Some of the pieces were exceptionally well rendered. Both teachers and pupils are to be congratulated upon the night's exercise.
The following handsome young gentlemen in a handsome way acted as marshals at these exercises: S. K. Jackson, Vance Wall, R. F. Jenkins, R. G. McArthur. Much of the good order is due to their ease in seating the people and in their watchfulness for their comfort.
At the close of the exercises Prof. W. H. Ragsdale made some announcements as to the action of board of trustees at a meeting held in the afternoon. He stated that every one of the teachers of the past session had been unanimously reelected which announcement was received with applause. He also stated that the trustees would add another teacher to the faculty in the person of some splendid man. Prof. Ragsdale also urged the people to stand for and by their school, telling them that this day was just a taste of what was in the future for those should they thus act. The people are aroused and united here and Grifton has a future before it both materially and educationally.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Interesting Session and Much Business Thursday Night.
The board of aldermen were in regular monthly session Thursday night, all the members being present.
The several standing committees made report of work in their respective departments during the past month.
The lights and wells committee recommended that the well near the old market house be filled up and it was ordered done. The committee was also instructed to advertise and sell the old street lamps and posts.
The white cemetery committee reported that the fence around the enclosure had been completed.
The ordinance committee recommended an amendment to section 1 of chapter 3 of the town laws which was adopted. The amendment is that any person who "shall engage in illegal or improper diversion, or shall be guilty of any indecent or immoral language, or shall be guilty of any indecent, insulting or immoral conduct or behavior in any public street or elsewhere in the town, shall be deemed a disorderly person."
An ordinance was also adopted prohibiting the obstruction of any drains or ditches on the streets of the town, under a penalty of $10.
The fire department committee reported that the new hose reels had been received. The following places were suggested as locations for the hose reel stations: At Harrington's stables on Evans street, at Ficklen's stables in West Greenville, on Moses King's lot on Fifth street, at Parham's warehouse on T. R. Moore's lot in South Greenville.
The treasurer, tax collector, dispensary commissioners, chief and assistant police and chief of fire department, filed their monthly reports.
The police were ordered to procure nets and catch and impound all dogs found running at large on the streets on which tax has not been paid.
The board of internal improvements sent up a communication stating that they had accepted the water and light plants from the contractors.
The assistant police was instructed to inspect the premises around the distillery and order the owners to cleanse same if found needed and report to the mayor.
A watchman's clock was ordered purchased to be used by the night police.
R. J. Cobb, chairman of the water and light commission, made a statement relative to the plants and asked a loan of $2,500 from the general fund to enable the commission to meet bills until sufficient collections could be made. The loan was granted. The commission was also authorized to insure the plant.
Committees were appointed to confer with the commission relative to rate to be charged against the town for lights and water, and also in regard to placing additional street lights.
Permission was granted N. Constantine to run a merry-go-round in town upon payment of a tax of $2 per day.
Red Hawk Fire Co., petitioned for 24 caps and belts, two rubber coats and one pair of rubber boots. They were ordered purchased.
An agreement was made with D. C. Jones to number the houses of the town and furnish the board a detailed map of same, the cost to be 10 cents for each house numbered.

Dear Sir: What's the difference between 11 and 11?
Mr. Aaron Higgins, Plainfield, N. J., some years ago, put 15 gallons of well-known paint on his house and last spring repainted Devoe, 11 gallons.
How much was the former paint worth?
The tale is an average one; and the paint was an average one.

THE CANDY MAN IN MEXICO.

He Has an Ancient History Dating Back to the Aztecs.
The street candy peddler is one of the things that attract the attention of the tourist on his first arrival in Mexico, says Modern Mexico. As the climate is warm enough to be out of doors all the year around, the candy vendor is to be found at his post from one year's end to the other, including Sundays, Saturdays and most days. The candy man has a very ancient history. The Aztecs were very fond of sweets, of which they understood the art of making very many kinds and varieties. The soldiers of Cortes tell us that on their way to this city from Vera Cruz on that memorable march against the city of the Aztecs they were not along the way by vendors who sold sweets of many kinds, which became very agreeable to the taste when once they had got accustomed to them. The candy vendor takes up his place at the corner of a street, where he remains all day from early morning till late at night. As a general thing, too, you may find him in the same place all the year round. Once a vendor has possession of a certain place the other vendors recognize his right and do not molest him with competition. Sometimes a vendor will sell only one kind of candy. In this case he in all probability makes it himself. However, many vendors have lately been seized with the progressive spirit of the times and display quite a little stock in trade of kinds of sweets, most of which are not known outside of Mexico.

The candy vendor generally has a small folding table about 12 by 24 feet in dimensions. On this he piles all his wares. Therefore you have no trouble in finding exactly what you want, for there it is all spread out before you. If you do not find it there you need not make further inquiries. The vendor will not leave it.
There are over a thousand street candy vendors in the City of Mexico. Some of these have push carts, and others have a table. The progressive spirit of the times has led many of them to get up a table of modern Mexico. These are generally more ambitious than their fellows and generally go about from fair to fair. They are to be found about the better markets and the plazas on feast days, and they generally hang around outside the schools, where they sell to the children on school days. Some of these vendors, who are generally young fellows, have made considerable money.

Unnecessary Precaution.
The woman member of the village board of health had led gradually up to her errand at old Mr. Pettiman's, which was to ask him to whitewash his pigsties inside and out.
"They will look so much better," she urged artfully, "and, besides, it is hygienic, healthy, you know."
Mr. Pettiman, smiling, raised a horny forefinger, then crooked it.
"You come long of me," he said, and led the way to the sties.
"There," he went on, with a gracious gesture toward some enormous porkers sunk in the mud. "There they are. They speak for themselves. Don't you worry about my pigs, Mrs. Bolton. They're as healthy as they make 'em."

Colonel and Kerrel.
Colonel Carr's gardener was going through the woods belonging to his manor when he saw a man gathering nuts. As the colonel had given strict orders that this was not to be permitted, the gardener accosted the man.
"I've orders to keep all these nuts for the colonel this year."
"That's all right," said the man. "I'm getting 'em for the kernel."
A week later the gardener came across the same man again.
"Look here," he said angrily. "You're not getting those nuts for the colonel at all."
"I tell yer I was," was the emphatic reply. "Do you think I was getting 'em for the shells?"—London Telegraph.

How He Spelled It.
A Brooklyn physician, whose memory for names is very poor, recently had a patient in his office for whom he was asked to fill out an application for some position. Not wishing to betray the fact that he had forgotten the man's name, he casually inquired as he raised his pen above the paper:
"By the way, how do you spell your name?"
The man gave him a curious glance and said, "J-o-n-e-s—Jones."
—New York Press.

The Gentle Editor.
A Young Man (to editor)—Here is a little poem of a pathetic nature, sir. I showed it to my mother, and she actually cried over it.
Editor (after reading the poem)—You say your mother cried?
Young Man—Yes, sir.
Editor—Well, you go home and promise your mother never to write any more poetry, and I think the old lady will dry her tears.

Most of the patent medicine testimonials are probably genuine. The following notice recently appeared in the Atchison, Kan., Globe: "Dr. Tack, a well known engineer, running on the Pacific between Wichita and Kiowa, lately appeared in a big one, with a picture, and when he was in the office today, we asked him about it. He says terrific pains in his stomach, and thought he had cancer. His druggist recommended K-dol and he says it cured him. He recommended it to others, who were also cured." Koidol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and cures all stomach troubles. Just as surely as the sun shines your stomach can be brought back to its original perfect condition and life sweetened by this besting and truly the greatest digestant known. Sold by Jno L. Wooten.

A Montgomery Giant.
There lives near Cedar Springs, Montgomery county, one of the largest men in the State. John Dankins is his name. A subscriber living at Candor says Mr. Dankins is 5 feet, 8 inches high and weighs 500 pounds. It takes 17 yards of cloth to make him a suit of clothes. He is a giant in strength and is a carpenter by trade.—Lexington Dispatch.

Blind Bill was getting bloated. And his tongue was muchly coated. Patent "tonics" wouldn't cure him.
Companies would not insure him. All his friends were badly frightened.
But their spirits soon were lightened.
For Bill said—and they believed him,
EARLY RISER pill relieved him.
The famous little pills "Early Risers" cure Constipation, Sick Headache, Bilelessness, etc., by their tonic effect on the liver. They never grip or sicken but impart early rising energy. Good for children or adults. Sold by Jno L. Wooten.

PAPOOSE POPCORN
A New Food Discovery for FORAGE, POULTRY, POPPING
A subscriber to the Southern Agriculturist secured the original seed from an old Indian in Northwest Texas. After a short trial he wrote that paper: "With good ground and care it will make from 50 to 100 bushels to the acre, and planted thick and cut stick and it will make more feed and better feed than anything I ever saw. The old Indian said poultry feed it would never have the cholera. I have not lost a fowl with cholera since I have been raising it. It also pops beautifully." This article brought hundreds of requests for seed, and he made a few bushels and sold them for a 3 months' trial subscription to Agriculturist, Vol. 1, No. 39 C. P. Dole, Nashville, Tenn., and you will get the seed. It is a new corn, also, and a prize seed-growing contest.

Truth in Preference to Fiction

GREENVILLE, PITT COUNTY, N. C., TUESDAY, MAY 9, 1905.

HOME TALENT NEGLECTED.

It is a serious fact that a great many cities and towns when seeking for young men to fill important positions go far away from home. This is a serious fact and in many cases crushes the ambition in the home boy.

Up to date the president's hunting party in the Colorado mountains have captured ten bears, with a good sprinkling of small game and snakes thrown in.

We do not know how many languages Governor Glenn can speak in, but it is noticeable that he can keep silent in at least seven languages.

They are having a high old time overnucmicalaffairs in Wilmington. The newly elected aldermen are about equally divided in two factions.

They are bloody reports coming out from Chicago. The labor troubles in that city are giving Mayor Duane as much as he wants to look after.

The Patterson trial being at an end, and the Chicago strike heading for the same terminus, will force thousands of pencil pushers out on a strike for more news and better news.

And banker Bigelow advised these Milwaukee people never to invest their money in the grain market. He evidently wanted all the little game to himself.

The fact that Chicago owns her electric lights is reason to believe that she might shed a little light on the strike a middle.

The price of cotton is as uncertain as the weather. It bobs up and down to catch the dabbler in futures going and coming.

Getting warm enough for heavy underwear to scratch, but the cold spell in May has not got behind us yet.

Chicago, like St. Petersburg, has her hands full attending to the troubles at home.

Nothing succeeds like success, you say. Ever try failure?—Baleigh Post.

Some have. Did you never hear the saying that there are instances where men "fail to succeed?"

Some time they get their biggest chunk of "success" that way.

It is, therefore, a safe prediction that the hotel will this summer be kept in splendid style and its table will be unsurpassed.

The hotel will be opened in part on May 15th, receiving such guests as may care to come here at that time and will be formally opened on June 1st, as usual.

Greshams Lease Atlantic Hotel.

The Atlantic Hotel at Morehead City, owned by the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad, has been leased for the coming season to C. Gresham & Son, Charlotte, N. C., and will be under the management of Mr. Willis P. Collins.

The Greshams are well known all over North Carolina and the South as managers of famous eating houses at important points on the Southern, Atlantic Coast Line and Seaboard Air Line railways.

In preparation for the summer business a large amount of money has been expended in partially refurnishing many of the rooms of the hotel and refitting the dining room and kitchen.

It is, therefore, a safe prediction that the hotel will this summer be kept in splendid style and its table will be unsurpassed.

Major William M. Robbins.

The state loses a valuable citizen in the death yesterday of Major William M. Robbins, who passed away at the residence of his son at Salisbury, at the age of 74 years.

He was a native Tar Heel, born in Randolph county. He graduated with distinction at Randolph-Macon College, and afterward studied law, going to Alabama to locate.

When the civil war broke out he joined the Fourth Alabama Infantry and was gradually promoted to the position of major and served throughout the war. He was once desperately wounded at the Wilderness.

Owing to the altered conditions at his Alabama home, he returned to North Carolina, locating at Salisbury, and was elected to the State Senate of 1868—the reconstruction Legislature.

He denounced the numerous wild measures put through that body and worked with all his might and main to defeat them. He was re-elected in 1870. In 1872 he was sent to Congress from the seventh district and served six years.

He was a faithful and industrious member, being seldom absent from his seat. He returned to the practice of law in 1879 and built up an extensive business. During the last Cleveland administration he was named a member of the Gettysburg battlefield commission and was active in aiding to mark the positions of the various commands in that bloody encounter—Charlotte Observer.

The Census Bureau has issued the final report on the cotton crop grown in 1904, showing a total production of 13,584,457 bales of 500 pounds.

The crop exceeds that of 1903 by 3,841,896 bales, or 35 per cent. The largest crop produced in the United States prior to 1904 was that of 1898, which amounted to 11,235,000 bales, or 16 per cent, less than the crop of 1904.

The average crop for the five-year period ending with 1903 was 9,992,047 bales, or 26 per cent, less than the crop of 1904. If the crop of 1904 was in any measure due to the high prices paid for the preceding crop, it would seem that it would be comparatively easy to curtail this year's crop on account of the low prices.

There is apparently no lack of artificial elasticity in the production of the staple, as shown by the census figures.—Charlotte Observer.

Nearly Half Million Immigrants in Six Months.

During the six months ended March 31, there were 459,716 immigrants landed in the United States from all countries. This is an increase over the same period for 1903 of 35 per cent.

There were debared from all countries during the six months referred to in 1905 a total of 4,225, an increase over the same period in 1903 of 75 per cent.

The immigrants from Russia for the six months ending March 31, 1905, numbered 88,832, an increase over the same period of 75 per cent. This increase in the figures of Russian immigration is due largely to the Japanese war, as has been heretofore noticed in the immigration reports printed.—Washington Dispatch.

CLOTHES OF QUALITY.

Clothes don't make the man, to be sure, but its the only thing that nine-tenths of the people we meet have to go by.

The man, who does not make a good appearance in this Twentieth Century, is badly handicapped.

Clothes are the all important part of a man's make up and its right here that we come in.

Our Spring Suits are splendid specimens of modern tailoring.

Handsome, Stylish and Correct in Every Detail.

The fabrics are the latest and we believe that we can please any man with a Spring Suit, regard less of how particular or "fussy" he may be about his clothes.

We are as ready to show as to sell.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., May 6. Look up Mr. Cooper and ask him about prices of anything that you are interested in.

Spanish peanuts for seed at T. N. Manning & Co's. We have been informed that A. W. Ange & Co. pay the highest price for country prices.

We were shown a letter from a Virginia firm to A. G. Cox Mfg. Co., stating that their buggies were among the best buggies shipped there.

It would surprise you to see the number of wagons and carts that is being shipped and sold by A. G. Cox Mfg. Co., but we were in their shop yesterday and they had a nice lot of work just being completed and their trailer was fine.

Car load flour just received. Harrington Barber & Co. The A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. expect to reduce the price of their tobacco truck for the coming season until it is in easy reach of all tobacco growers.

Mrs. W. L. House returned from Ayden Wednesday. Notice—I have moved into my new store near the depot. I keep a good line of hardware. Have a blacksmith and repair shop and livery stable in connection.

W. L. House. The A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. are making heavy shipments of cotton planters and ground covers. Should you need anything in that line you had better order at once.

Just received another shipment of ladies, men and children shoes. Harrington Barber & Co. Don't your eyes feel like there is grit in them? Do they pain you and feel tired on reading? Do they become watered and adhere while you read? That denotes impaired vision and should be remedied by wearing eye glasses.

B. T. Cox and Bro. carry a full line of spectacles and can fit your eyes with the proper lens. Mrs. G. L. Moore and children, of Grindrod, came Friday to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith.

Wanted—2 or 3 men to solicit orders for nursery stock in Pitt county. For particulars enclose stamp. Box 54, Winterville; N. C. We handle T. W. Wood and Sons' guarded and milled seed.—B. T. Cox and Bro.

Nice lot of glass ware and crockery always on hand. Harrington Barber & Co. The A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. have just received a lot of excellent poultry fowls. If you are in need of any you better call and see it.

W. L. House returned from Wilkesboro Wednesday night. White's Black Lintment, specially recommended for the human family, fine for stock—a perfectly balanced, substantaneous counter irritant. For sale by B. T. Cox & Bro.

Don't worry over that little bit of cotton you had left over when you got through ginning your last lots. The Pitt Co. Oil Mill, buys seed cotton in any quantity, the best market price paid every day.—Charlie Skinner, of Greenville, was here Friday.

Wanted: 1900 prugood light-colored cart hubs. A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. Some try to meet Hunsucker buggies in price. A few try to imitate them in quality and finish. But none undertake to do both.

The Pitt County Oil Mill is now having Canton Seed. They pay the highest cash price or will exchange for meal. When yours are ready write for prices.

A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. has two car loads of different styles of farm fence and their prices are low. Our spring and summer stock of dress goods noticed ladies and gentlemen shoppers has arrived and our stock of ladies dress goods trimmings is more complete than ever before.

Consisting of mohair lustre, galatia suitings, valances batiste, weather proof, batiste in examine before buying elsewhere. All the latest designs, voiles, etc. The ladies are respectfully invited to call and inspect our line.—Harrington Barber & Co.

Mrs. Luther Barker is visiting relatives in Chowhioity. A few subscribers to the EASTERN REFLECTOR are a bit in arrears. I have the Winterville list and the list on all the rail routes from Winterville of all our subscribers and am prepared to give receipts for the paper. Come and see me and pay up, make me happy, make the editor happy, and get happy yourself. I've got a good proposition for all those who pay for a year in advance.

A. D. Johnston. Hay, oats and lime at A. W. Ange & Co. Prices right. Winterville is still growing, we are informed that we will soon have another row of brick stores and a bank.

The plates to get wire fence—The A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. have a big lot of the American fence and Pittsburgh perfect fence, also staples and bar wire. Be sure to get their prices before buying your spring supply of fence.

Miss Tessie Speight returned from Robersonville Friday. I repair shoes and do good work. Bring them to me either at my home or at the buggy shop, at Harrington Barber & Co. call and see them.

Farmers who raise their hay can be supplied with the well known Osborne. Mr. and Mrs. Lill Jackson came in on Friday's train to visit relatives.

There is no reason why Pitt Co. farmers should have to pay such high prices for their flour, they can raise their own wheat and the Winterville Mfg. Co. is thoroughly equipped for making splendid flour.

The best place in town to buy stationary is at the drug store. Rowan Cooper has moved his family to the country and J. H. C. Dixon occupies the house he vacated.

The best tobacco truck at $4.50. Customers that buy their tobacco trucks from us at regular price. We sell them our Handy tobacco trucks at $13.50 per set of three trucks. We are using steel outlets and our trucks has no equal for durability and is just what you need to take your tobacco from the field to the barn.

A. v. Cox Mfg. Co. New lot of poultry wire, just arrived at A. W. Ange & Co. Try a bottle of Dr. Kell's sure for indigestion at the drug store. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nelson went to Greenville Thursday. Corn, hay, oats lime and salt, cheap, at A. W. Ange & Co. For Pine Tar honey, Walkers tonic, Dr. Bell's Anti Pain Killer, Dr. Bell's Eagle Eye Salve, and a sure cure for all heart troubles, see T. N. Manning & Co. Corned herrings cheap, at Ange's. Highest price for cotton seed paid by Pitt County Oil Mill.

Don't forget to bring or send your cart hubs to A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. Fat lightweight is the kind they use. Go to T. N. Manning & Co. for fresh candies, nuts, raisins and choice confectionaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Flanagan, of Farmville, spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Manning. 19000 new corned herrings, just received Harrington Barber & Co. Have now on hand nice line of glass and crockery ware, all very cheap. Harrington Barber & Co. Our spring and summer stock of dress goods noticed ladies and gentlemen shoppers has arrived and our stock of ladies dress goods trimmings is more complete than ever before.

Mrs. Rankin endeared herself to the stout and sentimental cook by interested inquiries after the cook's numerous relatives, and the answers she received often compensated her amply for the time she thus spent.

"Was your cousin Gela married the last time she came, as she expected to be?" asked Mrs. Rankin on her return to town one autumn, and the cook's face changed from cheerfulness to gloom in a moment.

"She was not, poor Gela!" she said mournfully. "She was took of sudden with a fever. It was to her a double loss. There was the loss of a man, and there was the loss of the marriage."

Petalo Soup. Wash, pare and cut four medium sized potatoes into small pieces, cover with cold water, add a teaspoonful of salt and cook until done. Have ready a pint of milk scalded in a double boiler, together with a teaspoonful of chopped onion and a little celery or celery seed. Take the water from the pot, turn off the heat, mix, pour the hot milk on them and mix well. Season to taste, thicken with a tablespoonful of butter melted with a tablespoonful of flour, add a tablespoonful of minced parsley and serve with crackers or croissants.

Misconstrued Technology. The visitors were being shown through the immense newspaper plant. "Now," said the man whose task it was to explain to their anxious and incredulous comprehension the intricacies of the plant, "we will go to the makeup department."

"I'm so glad," murmured the sweet young thing to her mother, "for I've been expecting so in this department that I'm sure the powder must be all in streaks on my face."—Baltimore American.

A. S. Sinner. The principal of the school was talking with him about his boy. "By the way, Mr. Wipolonski," he said, "I have made a discovery about Jerry. He's ambidextrous."

"I don't see how that can be," replied Mr. Wipolonski, with rising indignation. "He hasn't never been exposed to it. Besides, he was vaccinated last year, we bathe him regularly every week and his mother always makes him wear a little bag of medicine tied around his neck. Some of the other boys has been lyn' on him."—Chicago Tribune.

Culinary Lore. Olive oil should be put into a dark corner. New bread may be cut as easily as stale if the knife is heated in hot water. Hot milk added to potatoes when mashing will keep them from being soggy or heavy. Before boiling milk or making any sauce with milk always raise the surface in cold water. Celery should be at least an hour in cold water or upon ice before being served in order to be firm and crisp.

Not long ago the authorities at Washington were taking steps to secure a high-class keepr, and the civil service commission advertised an examination for candidates. The stenographer who typewrote the advertisement made it call for "light housekeepers."

So Washington had its jokes about the weight limit of applicants and a proposed "department of domestic economy" and all the other puns and jokes which the error inevitably suggests.

All Fished. Millionaire—Want to marry my daughter, eh? Young man, how much do you earn? Sailor—I earn $7.50 per month. Millionaire (impressively)—My boy, I spend on that girl about $10,000 a year. How do you two propose to get along? Sailor (dejectedly)—We are in hopes that you will be willing to continue to expand approximately that amount.—Pittsburg Post.

When the Afro-American bank failed an angry depositor met the president and demanded his money. "Where my money? I want my money. I don't fork far de bank. I do want my money." "How I know where 'er' money?" said the president concequently? You ain't posted. We 'er' know 'bout business? When de bank fail hit des explode, and dey ain't no money.—New York Tribune.

What part of your house should not be blown to an honored guest? The door. What roads are ill natured? Crossroads. Why need nobody be hungry on Independence Day? Because there are plenty of eatables everywhere. What plant is fatal to most cats? Catnip.

INFORMAL RECEPTION. Dr. Martin Family Visit the Carolina Club. After the revival services Friday night Dr. Martin and family were informally received at the grand quarters of the Carolina Club.

A large number were present to greet the already popular evangelist and his staff of talented musicians. Miss Edna Martin, in response to many requests, consented to entertain the company with a few recitations and musical selections.

Miss Edna, who, by the way, is a graduate of the Chicago University, manifested unusual ability both as an orator and musician. Her mastery skill in rendering difficult piano selections, classed as well as in the interpretation of dialect pieces, drew forth rounds of applause and enthusiastic cheers.

The president of the club, Dr. D. L. James, delivered a brief address at the close of which he moved a vote of thanks to the "Martin Family" for their assistance in making the successful conclusion of the annual meeting of the church and the general body of the club.

Dr. Martin responded in his happiest vein and expressed his deep appreciation of the cordialness conveyed by the president and his delight in the hospitality of the people of Greenville. He expressed his regret was expressed by those present that Misses Genevieve and Noanne and Mr. Elbert were not prepared to respond in urgent request for musical selections.

The occasion was one of the most remembered and successful of the courtesy of the "Martin Family" and the club members alike. Ayden Graded School. The closing exercises of the Ayden graded school were held Friday night. We learn from a number who were present that they were very fine. A splendidly selected and well arranged program was so executed as to delight a very large audience which was present. The work in this school for the past year has been exceptionally fine and Friday evening's exercises was a fitting climax to the year's work. Our correspondent there will evidently give an account of the entertainment and this we cheerfully leave to him. He knows how to do such work.

Mistake Somewhere. Milton—I understand Froshelch is tied up with nervous prostration. Milton—I don't believe it. Nothing on earth could produce that fellow's nerve.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Real Wisdom. "He says he knows all about stocks." "I guess that's so. At any rate, I never heard of him wasting his money buying any of them."—Philadelphia Press.

Says Little. Colvagner—Money talks. Merritt—It's a pity it couldn't sometimes tell how it was made.—Town Topics.

ASURETHING
It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr. King's New Discovery for Constipation is a sure cure for all lung and throat trouble. Thousands can testify to that. Mrs. J. B. Van Meter of Shepherdstown, W. Va., says: "I had a severe case of Bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely. It's infallible for Croup, Whooping Cough, Grip, Pneumonia and Consumption. Try it. It's guaranteed by J. C. Wooten, Druggist. Trial bottles free. Reg. sizes 50c, $1.00."

THE "MARTIN FAMILY."
Program of Services for Sunday. A crowded house again greeted the "Martin Family" Friday night at the Christian church and the evangelist delivered a strong gospel sermon on "The Greatest Question of Life." Miss Genevieve delighted the congregation with one of her fine violin solos and Miss Edna sang with deep pathos Mr. Fillmore's famous hymn, "Tell Mother I'd Be There."

This afternoon at 3:30 a special service was held for the children at which special music was given to support a talk by Dr. Martin and an address by Mr. Elbert Martin.

A STARTLING TEST.
To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt of No. Melanopy, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes, "patient was attacked with hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles in children. From the first, and has not had an attack in 14 mo. this." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50c. at J. C. Wooten.

Brynm School.

LETTER TO C. S. FORBES.
Greenville, N. C.
Dear Sir: You all about shoes. How many customers have you who know anything about 'em? You have long and sold shoes for years, and have learned what your customers like and what they don't like. They find out by wearing 'em. So with paint; but we do deeper. Weave 150 years old in the business and we make, not buy—we make a good deal of paint.

We paint a good share of the railroad and steamship property in the United States, and may as well paint the private property. Yours as well as anybody else's. Do you lead and zinc is your paint. Costs half as much as mixed paint of lead and oil because it takes fewer gallons and wears twice as long. Mr. Ezra Rathbun, Williamsport, Pa., used 1 1/2 gallons of a well-known mixed paint for his house; he repainted it with Devco, bought 11 gallons and had 5 left.

Under all curable conditions

Mr. D. Kuehl of Mrs. W. W. Lay, Nevada, O., was cured by Kodol. He had chronic trouble which had effected his heart. "Chewing gum, mister?" he asked, sticking the box under his nose. "The passenger addressed looked at him solemnly a moment, stroked his beard, expostulated a long stream of ambrosia on the floor and replied curtly: "Naw, tobaccoer!"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

TIBET'S TEA TIPPLERS.

Tea, Soda and Butter Go to Make Their National Drink. Tea forms one of the principal articles of commerce throughout Tibet and Mongolia. The native is miserably without it and when it cannot be obtained is willing to cheat himself by various expedients, such as boiling dried onion heads, herbs or even an infusion of chips of wood in water, in order that he may not be at least without a suggestion of the thing he craves. The tea imported from China is pressed into small oblong shaped bricks, made up into cases of nine bricks, securely sewed in cowhide, and not only is it used as a beverage, but in fact forms a staple of currency as negotiable as Bank of England notes or American paper currency.

The native method of preparing this delicacy is not appetizing. The tea is first ground to a fine powder by vigorously pounding it in a mortar until no splinters of wood or other impurities are visible to the eye; it is then put into the kettle, when the water is hot, to boil ten or fifteen minutes. By way of giving increased flavor, salt or soda is added, and the part of the operation being completed, the all important business of drinking it commences. The family being gathered around the fire of yak dung, in order that atmosphere, as the painters would say, should not be lacking, each one draws from some hidden recess in the folds of his voluminous sheepskin coat a little wooden bowl, and with a satisfaction which must be seen to be appreciated, fills his private dish with the liquid. All this, however, is by way of preliminary. From a skin full of butter, placed in convenient range, each person takes a piece of oleaginous compound and lets it melt into his bowl of steaming tea. Then, oh joy! oh rapture! with furious gusto he draws the nectar to his lips and "heaven is opened unto him."

The bowl is again filled; into the steaming liquid he throws a handful of tsamba (parched barley meal), and, drawing forth the soddan dough, works it into a ball of brown dough with a deft movement of his left hand, and successively bites off and eagerly looks forward to the moment when gods and fate shall again become propitious.—Outing.

Properly Appared.
"The evening wear on," continued the man who was telling the story. "Excuse me," interrupted the would be wit. "But can you tell us what the evening wear on that occasion?" "I don't know that it is important," replied the story teller. "But if you must know, I believe it was the close of a summer day."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

A Compliment.
Miss Hippopotamus—I received quite a compliment from Mr. Tiger today. Miss Bannocross—Hope you don't associate with people of that stripe! Miss Hippopotamus—Indeed, and why not? He's as good as the best. He looked at me so admiringly! Then he said, "I congratulate you on the fact that beauty is skin deep." Wasn't that sweet of him?—Boston Transcript.

A Great Scheme.
"That was a great scheme old Shrewdly worked." "I didn't hear of it." "He gave it out that the first one of his eleven daughters to be married should have his entire fortune." "What was the result?" "Eleven elopements in one night. They can't determine which one was the first, so Shrewdly gets rid of the girls and keeps the fortune."—Liverpool Mercury.

A Civil Answer.
The news butcher, a box of chewing gum in his hand, stopped in front of a rural passenger. "Chewing gum, mister?" he asked, sticking the box under his nose. "The passenger addressed looked at him solemnly a moment, stroked his beard, expostulated a long stream of ambrosia on the floor and replied curtly: "Naw, tobaccoer!"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

MEMORIAL DAY REUNION.

Large Attendance of Confederate Veterans—Interesting Program of Exercises—Splendid Addresses by Gen. Roberts and Dr. Martin—Bountiful Dinner for Old Soldiers. Each recurring Memorial day brings back memories of the past. It recalls vivid scenes and incidents of the greatest struggle known in the history of our country as the few survivors of the bloody war of 1861-'65 come together again to greet their comrades in arms and rehearse the thrilling events through which they passed and which cemented them as a band of brothers. It is an occasion of both sadness and pleasure—sad because the hand of time conti ues to thin the already depleted ranks and leaves fewer to participate in each successive reunion; pleasure because those still left are permitted to come together and clasp hands once more, while those too young to be participants in those trying days and know of them only as handed down from our ancestors or through history, can do our part in honoring these surviving heroes and scattering sunshine about them in their declining days.

We are glad to have the old soldiers with us on this memorial occasion. We are proud to greet them as heroes. It is a privilege to march with them to the home of the dead and there spread fresh garlands of love upon the graves of the departed. Greenville has done herself proud in the entertainment provided for the veterans.

The early hours of the morning saw many of them coming into town from all directions—some in private cars, but on the battle field, others battle scarred, many with feeble steps, but all with buoyant hearts and gallant spirits. At 9:30 o'clock the members of Bryan Grimes Camp of Confederate Veterans met in the court house and held a short business session. When the roll was called seventeen deaths were reported since last meeting. Maj. H. Harding was elected commander of the camp, E. A. Moyer first lieutenant and H. A. Blw secretary.

At 10 o'clock the procession in command of Maj. Henry Harding formed and marched to Cherry Hill cemetery and faced in around the Confederate monument. After a song "Memorial Day" by a quartette the camp was addressed by Lieut. E. A. Moyer. The monument and graves of soldiers were then decorated with flowers.

The line again formed and returned to the Masonic temple opera house where the remainder of the exercises were held. The opera house was crowded to overflowing. The veterans occupied the center tier seats, the Singletary Chapter Daughters of the Confederacy to their right and the T. J. Jarvis Chapter were on the stage with the choir and speakers. The following program was carried out: Song, "Dixie Land Battle Hymn," by choir. Invocation, by Rev. J. A. Hornaday. Song, "America" by choir. Welcome in behalf of Mayor. Instrumental selection by Martin Family. Introduction of speaker, by Col. I. A. Snug. Address, by Gen. W. P. Roberts. Song, "The Old North State." Address, by Dr. R. S. Martin. Song, "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," by Quartette. Benediction, by Rev. H. H. Moore. Song, "God be with you (ill we meet again.)"

To Establish Tobacco Factories.
The North Carolina Farmers' Protective Association had a well attended meeting at the Guilford-Beechwood this afternoon and discussed the establishment of tobacco factories at various points. It was decided to open subscription books for a $50,000 factory at Madison and one may also be started at Rocky Mount. President John S. Cunningham, of Person county, presided and Mr. J. M. Sharpe, of Rockingham county, acted as secretary.—Greensboro Record.

Burial of Child.
The remains of the 10-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Brooks, of Kinston, were brought to Greenville on Sunday morning's train, the interment taking place at 9 o'clock in Cherry Hill cemetery. The service was conducted by Rev. J. A. Hornaday and the pall bearers were Messrs. D. L. James, R. C. Flammang, L. I. Moore, T. M. Hooker, W. B. Wilson, J. L. Carper, J. E. Nobles and J. B. Higgs.

THE MARTIN MEETINGS.

Large Attendance at Sunday Services. Sunday was a busy day with the evangelistic family, morning at the Christian church, afternoon at the opera house, and at the church again at night. Nearly all of Greenville was on hand at the services, so it would be indeed superfluous to attempt to write it up. The address at the opera house on "America, its dangers, delights and delusions" was a brilliant effort, and the full house attested its interest by listening most attentively for one hour and a quarter as the able orator unfolded his theme. Miss Genevieve and Mr. Elbert Martin favored the large audience with one of their beautiful violin duets. At the church at night Dr. Martin made a strong appeal to the young men and young women on the text "Come up higher." At the close four young men made the good confession and several promised to do so later. The musical features were of the usual high order and aided much in the success of the service. The Number of Confessions has Reached Eleven.

Beaufort Plow Boys.
Governor Glenn has received notice from the governor of New Jersey to the effect that it had been decided in connection with the ceremonies for unveiling a monument to the Ninth New Jersey volunteers, at New Bern, May 18th, to present to governor of North Carolina the "Beaufort Plow Boys" battle flag that was captured by the Ninth New Jersey regiment at the battle of New Bern when a gallant charge was made by the Jersey volunteers. It is to be restored by Governor Glenn to the survivors of "Beaufort Plow Boys" or to "Ladies of Beaufort," by whom it is inscribed as having been made.

WILLIAM CARTER.

William Carter, a Charlotte carpenter, fell 20 feet from a ladder, breaking both arms. W. A. Little was drowned Sunday afternoon while surf bathing with a party at Wainwrightville. The North Carolina Tobacco Growers' Protective Association has decided to establish tobacco factories in several of the tobacco towns of the state.

Miss Irma Cobb and Miss Annie R. Long at Peace Give Recital. A graduating recital was given at Peace Institute last night which was charming, and which showed the value of the instruction given and the capability of the two young pianists, Miss Irma Lee Cobb and Miss Annie Reade Long. In the charming recital they were assisted by Miss Corinne Heikel, Mezzo-soprano.

There was present a most interested audience and the program began with Eu Re-act, Op 35, (Duet) by Misses Cobb and Long. During the recital Miss Long rendered selections from Scarlatti, Bach, Mendelssohn and Sapphimo, while Miss Cobb's were from Schumann, Moszkowski, Leschetzky, Ole Olsen and Weber both young ladies doing clever work. Miss Heikel sang delightfully, her selections being "Every Morn I See Thee Violets" (Meyer-Heimann), "Like a Rose Should Be" (H. Clough-Leigher), and "Summer" (C. Chaminade).—Raleigh News & Observer, 6 h.

WHY NOT HAVE A BOARD OF TRADE?
EDITOR REFLECTOR: Is it not surprising that the business men of Greenville, and when I say business men, I do not mean the merchants alone, but any class of business men who feel a pride and interest in the welfare and property of the town, have never organized and established a "Board of trade"? There is much influence exerted by such an organization upon the best interest of the town and community. There are many things that are of vital interest to the growth and betterment of a thriving growing prosperous town, by having the combined efforts and efficiency of those who would constitute such an organization, and whose influences of individuality would concentrate in a body of men, that would be recognized and appreciated by other organizations. There are many necessities that would receive recognition and development. If the town would put forth concentrated forces, and energy that would give Greenville a status she has long needed and deserved. There is no doubt the railroad would listen, and heed the persistent efforts of a well established organized body of the business citizenship in matters of transportation, and schedules, and many valuable matters affecting the interest and business accommodation of the town if properly presented to the official management. But as we are now situated we have no rating, or standing, to be recognized, no official need to consult with, no one authorized to speak for the business interests as a whole, consequently we are not considered, and regarded as not worth considering. "He that won't provide for his own house has denied the faith." Let's have a splendid board of trade. ISAAK A. STOOB.

Invitations are out to the grand May ball to be given in Farmville May 19, 1905. Music to be furnished by the Tarboro Symphony Orchestra. All dancers are cordially invited. There is no beauty in all the land That glows with her face compare, Her lips are red, her eyes are bright, She takes Rocky Mountain at night.—Winterville Drug Store.

TRUCK HANDS SCARC.
Our truck farmers are having no little trouble about getting hands to pick peas. The scarcity of labor is due principally to so many colored people going into the strawberry patches between here and Burgaw. Suffice it to say that nearly all the householders are without servants. This is a most opportune time for the Women's Club, as it is so in this city, to take some action in this regard.—Goldensboro Health.
